Deposits Set All-Time High At The Citizens State Bank

A statement of condition of the Citizens State Bank here, appearing in this edition of the Review reveals that deposits are at an all-time high, at $2,417,384.94, for an increase of $147,194.97 over March of this year, and $186,243.30 over this same period last year.

Fred V. Tunnell, president, stated that he could not point to any single factor to cause the increase in deposits, but felt that the condition was brought about by the general increase in prosperity in the Cross Plains area.

SCS NEWS NOTES

Conservation accomplishments in Texas Soil Conservation Districts surpassed all previous records during the 1959 fiscal year, according to E. J. Hughes, Area Conservationist of Brownwood. On June 30, 1959, over 55% of the total farms and ranches in Soil Conservation Districts and 64% of the agricultural land were covered by farmer-rancher-district cooperative agreements.

During the fiscal year of 1959, a State summary showed slightly more than 113,000 farm and ranch operators received assistance from the SCS in Texas through locally organized and operated SCD's. Technical assistance of the SCS is made available to landowners and operators for help in developing farm and ranch conservation plans. Soil Bank Program, Great Plains Conservation Program, Watershed Work, ACP responsibilities and Standard Soil Surveys, with more than one-half of all total time being devoted to direct assistance to farmers and ranchers in planning and applying measures on the land, Hughes reports.

Progress in the Brownwood Area has likewise been unusually good during the past year in accomplishments such as watershed work, proper use on rangeland, grasses grown on cropland as rotation hay and pasture, root plowing and re-seeding of rangeland that has become heavily infested with brush and standard soil survey work.

Special emphasis for the year ahead calls for a stepped up watershed construction program that is coordinated with the conservation treatment work of Soil Conservation Districts; continued assistance to farmers and ranchers in planning programs to meet the need of land in a period that is undergoing unprecedented change in agricultural culture; and to provide technical assistance in conversion to standard soil survey work which is a part of the nation-wide soil inventory program.

The Cross Plains Buffaloes captured their second victory of the season Friday night as they subdued the Gorman Panthers, 20-8.

Cross Plains came back after intermission to wipe out a two-point deficit and gain their second win in six outings this season. Host Gorman drew first blood early in the initial period of play, and the two-point conversion was good. Cross Plains came right back, three plays later, for their first quarter score, but they failed to get the two extra points. Gorman protected their two-point lead until early in the third period when the Buffs got their second counter. Late in the final quarter the Buffs put the affair on ice with another TD.

Statistically, the Buffs outplayed the Panthers in every department. Cross Plains rolled up 274 yards rushing to the host's 87, and picked up 13 first downs to the Panther's five. In the passing department, Cross Plains held a slight edge with 98 yards on four completions while Gorman tossed for 91 yards on five completions.

It's Eeazy to Check Your Social Security Records

The the Social Security Administration has the responsibility for maintaining approximately 126 million earnings records, Mr. Weatherly, Field Representative of the Abilene district office pointed out today that it is the responsibility of each individual social security card holder to check his record periodically to make sure it is correct.

He also stated that everyone should check his social security record at least once every three or four years. In most instances the Social Security records become final and not open to adjustment after three years, three months and 15 days from the end of the taxable year for which the earnings were reported. There is another point to be considered too—the sooner an error is found, the easier it can be corrected. This applies to everyone whether he is working in his own business or for someone else as an employee.

The manner of checking a particular record is simple. Just ask your social security office for postcard form 7004, fill in the blanks and drop it in a mail box. The form is a self-addressed postcard. In about two weeks you will receive a statement showing the actual earnings credited to your social security account. It will also show a yearly breakdown of your credited earnings for each of the past three full calendar years. If, after receiving this statement, an error is noticed, get in touch with your social security representative. He will be glad to help correct your account.

Mr. Weatherly stresses the fact that your social security benefits will depend on this record of your earnings. Social security is a valuable insurance for you and your family, so don't delay. Get form 7004 from your local social security office today, or from Mr. Weatherly when he is next in your town, and check your social security record.

He will be in Cross Plains at the city hall, Monday, Nov. 2.

Oct. 16 Is Deadline For Soil Bank Acreage Applications

All who made that request have received or are about to receive notification of the basic rates established for the land they propose to place in the reserve. This may be either part or all of the cropland on the farm.

The next step is for the farmer, if he wants to participate, to apply for a contract at any amount below the per-acre rate established for his land. After entering this information on the application, he returns the form to the county ASC office for final approval. This is the step that must be taken by Oct. 16.

After the applications are returned to the county office, contracts that can be accepted under the regulations will be offered to farmers for signature before the 1960 crop season begins.

PHILOSOPHER GLAD TO LEARN SOME OF THOSE QUIZ FOLKS ARE JUST ORDINARY

Editor's note: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson-grass farm on the Bayou views the quiz show scandals this week.

Dear editor:

I'm not exactly a television fan, television programs don't turn up out here like newspapers, people can't hand you a television program like they can a newspaper, but nonetheless I manage to look at a few programs now and then and I was interested in reading in a newspaper I borrowed out of my neighbor's mail box yesterday that Congress has been investigating the quiz programs which were so popular last year on television.

As I understand it, several contestants have testified that the quiz programs were rigged, that the answers were given to them before they went on the air.

Now this struck some people as outrageous, they think something ought to be done to the television producers who worked such a fraud on the public.

I disagree with this attitude completely. Personally, I am very satisfied to learn that some of the contestants claim they were given

PHILOSOPHER GLAD TO LEARN SOME OF THOSE QUIZ FOLKS ARE JUST ORDINARY

I watched those people rattle off answers to almost impossible questions, week after week, and their vast store of knowledge was making people like you and me at least me, feel inferior. It just wasn't human to have that many facts crammed in your head.

It's a pleasure to me to get this thing brought to light.

As for working a fraud on the public, that's an unpleasant thing, but let's not carry our outrage too far. Congress doesn't want to get too energetic about it. People demand a certain amount of fraud in their entertainment and possible in their politics.

Nearly everybody knows the gunmen in TV westerns use blanks. There never was a woman's hat that some man wouldn't brag on, and everybody knows there are some hats that the only way you can brag on them is to lie.

There's nothing wrong with hokum, as long as the people know it's hokum. Congressmen know that, especially do Congressmen know that.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Home Accidents Take Large Toll of Lives Every Year

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home—despite the accident statistics.

The statistics might make you wonder about "home, sweet home".

1. Home accidents kill more children 1-4 years of age than any disease.
2. Home falls take 12,000 lives a year.
3. Home fires and other burns take the lives of 5,500 persons annually.
4. Accidental poisoning in the home claims 1,000 victims a year.

Home accidents, reports the Texas Safety Association and National Safety Council, kill 27,000 persons a year, and injure more than four million, in the U. S. Home accidents in Texas alone claimed the lives of 1,202 persons and injured more than 72,000.

"In view of these facts," J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, said, "you may well be concerned with the safety of your home."

But when you stop and consider the great number of hours spent in the home, the statistics are more understandable even if the danger is just as real.

A hazard free home, Musick said results from practicing the safe way of doing things. "You'll soon do them automatically," he predicted, and suggested some danger signals to watch out for in the home:

1. Water or grease on the kitchen floor.
2. An unlighted stair, or toys and boxes piled on stair steps.
3. Oily rags or papers left in a corner or garage or basement.
4. Dull knives, which are dangerous because they force the user to apply too much pressure, and because most people don't have the proper respect for them.
5. Pots on the stove, the handles turned out for little hands to grab.
6. Rubbing alcohol, candy-coated laxatives and aspirins left for small children to sample.

Shelter Is Important For Dairy Animals

Many natural advantages for dairy are found in Texas. But to these advantages many Texas dairymen have been led to believe the North would be put out of the dairy business. Yet, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman, Northern and Mid-West dairymen are not only still in the dairy business, but are supplying milk to almost every major market in the state.

Meekma says that Texas dairymen have taken literally the term "natural advantages." Too long the barbed wire fence has been considered sufficient shade and shelter. Texas dairymen do not require the elaborate, expensive arrangements of the North, but adequate arrangements to provide protection for dairy animals should be provided to protect them from the cold winter rains and the summer heat. In Meekma's opinion, dairy cattle should be protected from the summer sun even more so than winter cold.

A pole-type, open shed, which is very inexpensive as construction costs go today, will do an excellent job. The shed should provide 50 to 70 square feet per cow. Well-fed dairy cows do not need warm or elaborate quarters. They thrive when housed in open sheds, protected from prevailing winds and summer heat. Meekma adds that some protection should be provided, at least more adequate than the barbed-wire fence.

Woollypod Vetches Provide More Winter Growth

Lana, Auburn and Oregon woollypod vetch are three comparatively new vetch introductions. R. J. Hodges, extension agronomist, says the only difference between Hairy vetch and these new varieties is that they produce a larger percentage of their total growth during the winter and early spring.

In North Texas, adds Hodges, this earliness should provide more winter cover and green matter to turn under unceding spring planted crops than is possible with Hairy. But, he notes, even though the woollypod vetches are early producers, their total green matter production for a full season is equal to or only slightly better than Hairy.

Due to this one advantage of producing more growth during winter and early spring it would be recommended in Texas where Hairy is grown. But, he adds, seed are not available in Texas very limited quantities at prices.

Tests have been made at the Texas Agricultural Stations since 1956 with Lana and Oregon woollypod. Lana began in 1955. The vetches, regardless of variety, have been at or near the top total nitrogen production in all tests. They proved to Hairy in winter hard total forage production.

Common and Williams are recommended for So. adds the agronomist. No woollypod vetches nor Hairy any advantages in that area.

State Capital NEWS

By Tom Simpson

Austin.—Rural and small town residents will have an advantage over their city cousins when the new auto insurance rating plan goes into effect January 1.

Under the new system worked out by the State Board of Insurance, a driver's auto insurance premiums will be raised or lowered according to his driving record. Each accident or ticket for a moving traffic violation puts a "black mark" on the driver's record and moves his insurance premiums up a notch.

In the congested streets of the larger cities, one wrong move, even if unintentional, often brings a ticket or a crumpled fender or both. In most small towns, the local lawman is not usually too exercised if one of his friends and neighbors makes a U-turn on the main street.

Purpose of the plan is to put the biggest part of the burden for insurance payments on the people who bring on the most damage and expense. People who have a history of numerous traffic violations, according to Department of Public Safety statistics, are the ones who have the most accidents.

It is also hoped, of course, that the plan will encourage careful driving with its cash incentive.

Drivers with no record of an accident or violation for the past three years will get a 20 per cent reduction in their insurance rates. Drivers with one point against them will pay current rates.

Those with from one to five points against them will pay increased rates on a sliding scale, and those with six or more points will pay through the nose—double rates.

Some activities will be very expensive, point-wise. Drunken driving, hit-and-run driving and negligent homicide will cost four points. An accident with damage over $25 brings two points; running a red light, only one point.

In most cases, the effect of a violation on insurance premiums will hurt the pocketbook worse than the usual fines.

Still At It—For the umpteenth time, Texas' high-powered legal talent has gone to Washington to do battle for the state's tidelands before the United States Supreme Court.

Gov. Price Daniel and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson head the team presenting Texas' claim that it owns the submerged lands for three leagues—or nearly ten miles—into the Gulf. Federal attorneys argue that the state owns the land only three miles out.

Former Supreme Court Justice James P. Hart and J. Chrys Dougherty, a former assistant attorney general, also went to Washington to join in the presentation.

Other Gulf Coast states which are "in the same boat" with Texas on the tidelands issue are all participating in the now historic struggle.

Saunders Asks Re-trial—Former Insurance Commissioner J. Byron Saunders is asking for a new trial of the perjury charges against him. Saunders was convicted in an Austin district court and sentenced to two years in prison.

He was accused of having lied to a legislative investigating committee as to why the now-bankrupt ICT Insurance Co. paid him $7,000 while he was insurance commissioner. Saunders contended the money was payment for his interest in oil royalties on a piece of property he sold the company.

It is the first time in history of the state that a person has been charged with perjury as a result of statements to a legislative investigating committee. Saunders' attorneys have vowed to take it all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Panel On Aging—Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro has been named to head the Governor's Conference on Aging.

This group will study problems of elderly people and take the state's report to the 1961 White House Conference on Aging.

Also named by Gov. Daniel to the panel are State Welfare Commissioner John Winters; State Health Commissioner J. E. Peavy; State Employment Commissioner Perry Brown; Dr. C. J. Ruilmann, state director of mental health and hospitals and Jess Irwin, the governor's budget director. Also, Mrs. William B. Ruggles, Herbert Shore and Eldred Thomas, all of Dallas.

Gibbs Re-called—Joe P. Gibbs has, for the third time, been trapped to join the high command of the State Board of Insurance.

Gibbs was appointed by Gov. Daniel to succeed Board Member David B. Irons who will leave Nov. 1 to join a Dallas law firm. Irons said his resignation was not triggered by the Department's recent difficulties with the Legislature which cut salaries of top officials.

Gibbs served as an insurance commissioner from 1941 to 1952 as an appointee of Govs. W. Lee O'Daniel and Beauford Jester. He served again from 1957 through February, 1958, after Gov. Daniel made appointments to an entirely new, reorganized board.

More Appointments—Other new appointees announced by Gov. Daniel are:

To the State Finance Commission: Lacy Boggess of Fort Worth, W. B. Russell of De Kalb and Walter Taylor of Tuscola.

To the board of Texas Southern University: Dr. W. R. Banks of Prairie View.

To the Seed and Plant Board: Owen Gilbreath and Arthur Young of Lubbock, Emmett Harper of Martindale, Heino Staffel Jr. of Austin and C. B. Godbey of College Station.

As chief justice of the Seventh

Court of Civil Appeals, Amarillo: James G. Denton of Lubbock. Howard Davidson of Lubbock was named to serve Denton's unexpired term as judge of the 88th district court at Lubbock.

Hospitals, Colleges A-building—With a new fiscal year begun, state boards and agencies are busy making plans for building programs.

State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools announced that a 1,000-bed nursing hospital for mentally retarded patients will be built at Denton. Construction of new cottages to house mental patients at Denton is already underway.

University of Texas Board of Regents is beginning a $17,895,000 building program spread over the various branches of the huge system. Most recently approved by the regents are three buildings for Texas Western University, El Paso. They will include a classroom-office building, a warehouse building and gymnasium-field house. Other UT projects, either begun or being planned, include improvements at the Medical branch at Galveston and at McDonald Observatory, a new headquarters at the Institute for Marine Science, Port Aransas, and five buildings for the main campus at Austin.
