Austin, March 26.—Removal of all farm families from the general relief rolls to the rural rehabilitation program was a step nearer this week as officials of the Texas Relief Commission announced that henceforth all farm families residing on farming acreage will be classed as rural rehabilitation families...

760 OF COTTON GROWERS IN CO. SIGN CONTRACT

Bankhead Follows May Reach 1000 By Closing Date.

Seven hundred and sixty Bailey county cotton producers have signed the necessary papers to participate in the 1935 Cotton Acreage Reduction program. This includes 470 who signed 1934-35 Cotton Acreage Reduction contracts. There were 610 contracts signed in 1934.

J. B. Waide Jr., stated that the sign-up had been slow among the 1934-35 contract signers, because most of them thought that it would not be necessary to sign papers for 1935. The 1934 signers are being urged to complete their contracts for 1935. Mr. Waide added that the 1935 program calls for a 25 to 35 per cent reduction from the base acreage. The base established in 1934 is used except where adjustments are granted by the county committee.

This is one of the choice locations of Muleshoe for such a business, being at the junction of three state highways where abundant opportunity will be given for tourist service.

TEXAS CORN-HOG APPLICATIONS TO EQUAL NUMBER OF 1934 CONTRACTS BAILEY COUNTY INCREASING NUMBER

College Station.—Texas is the first state in the United States to report as many corn-hog applications signed this year as contracts signed in 1934, according to E. M. Regenbrecht, Extension swine husbandman. Thirty-three thousand applications have been signed to date and more will be signed before the closing date of April 1. Of this number, 3000 of the 1935 signers did not take part in the 1934 program, Regenbrecht said.

Your county has completed tabulating and adjusting the final contracts. These contracts are now before the State Review Board for final checking and will then be sent to Washington. This is the first county in the State to reach the Review Board.

Disbursement of the third and final installment of benefit payments due under the 1934 corn-hog contracts began last week. Claude R. Wickard, chief of the corn-hog section in Washington, has announced. A total of $956,810.22 was disbursed in the first set of checks sent out.

PATTMAN BONUS BILL PASSES IN HOUSE BIG WAY

Will Override Veto; Bailey Co. Vets To Get $76,638.

The Administration-opposed Patman bill for paying off the soldiers' bonus by issuing $2,000,000,000 of new money was passed last Friday by the House and sent to the Senate. The vote was 218 to 90 more than the two-thirds required to pass the measure over a presidential veto. President Roosevelt has threatened several times to veto the legislation if the limit allowed by law, which is 50 per cent of the total bonus, is not passed. Senate approval was freely predicted, but administration leaders counted on that body to refuse to pass the measure over a veto. That would require a two-thirds vote.

What's Happening In Washington During Congress of Interest

The Senate is showing a strong tendency to have anti-trust laws restored. The sum of $600,000,000 was earmarked last week for relief use on various flood control projects, of which there are now about 400 undertakings. President Roosevelt and members of the House and Ways committee last week practically agreed on the draft of an all-inclusive social security bill. It may not include old age pensions.

The Senate Interstate Commerce committee, Washington, has passed the $4,889,000 work relief bill with measures that are "merely temporary palliatives" and urged a compulsory reduction of the work week through industry generally to 30 hours. Speedy enactment of the 36-hour week bill was recommended by the committee.

Diesel Engine May Revolutionize The Fuel Problem In U. S.

Many people have been interested in noting the progress which the Diesel-type engine has been making the past few years. The Diesel engine differs from this ordinary gas engine in that it does not require gasoline, but runs on crude oil, or oil only slightly refined. Many ships are now propelled by Diesel engines. Successful airplane engines of the Diesel type have been flown. Now a Diesel-engine automobile has been developed, which has made a speed of 115 miles an hour.

The success thus far in applying this simple and economical engine to all the uses to which gasoline engines have been put suggests that we may be facing new technological changes which will render obsolete to a great extent the existing manufacturing equipment and practice.

The history of scientific research and of the invention which follows close upon the heels of the invention is that a constant and steady change is going on in every line of human activity all the time. That is why it seems foolish to put any restraints upon the free and unhampered development of new ways and new machines.

This constant change in methods and machines makes us a trifle unconcerned about the outcry that we must conserve our petroleum reserves. In the first place, nobody knows what these reserves are. In the second place, the general use of Diesel engines will result in a reduction in the amount of oil consumed per engine.

Most important of all considerations, however, is that the Diesel engine, we understand, doesn't have to have petroleum at all. It can run just as well on soy-bean oil, for example, or perhaps peanut oil. There isn't any limit to the amount of vegetable oils that we can produce, if there is a market for them! and if all the petroleum were exhausted and a more volatile motor fuel than soy-bean oil were essential, science has already shown the way to produce alcohol cheaply even from corn-cobs, while invention has produced several types of engines that run as well on alcohol as on gasoline.

Perhaps the ultimate salvation of American agriculture is going to come through raising motor-fuel on the farm instead of pumping it out of the ground.

Whooping Cough Time Is Drawing Near And Babies To Be Guarded

Austin, March 28.—Whooping cough is a disease of the spring and summer months. It is a real problem in households where there are a number of very young children. Statistics show that cases terminating fatally are greater among females than among males. The younger the child when attacked by whooping cough, the greater the cause for alarm for recovery. Babies, therefore, should be safeguarded and kept away from persons known to have been exposed to whooping cough. The dangerous mucus is spread through contact with the secretions of the nose and mouth, which may come from sneezing, the use of contaminated handkerchiefs, toys, cups, and in fact from any agencies which allow close contact.

There are three or more distinct stages noted in whooping cough. The symptoms of the first, or catarrhal stage are similar to the ordinary cold, with an attendant cough. If the trouble is whooping cough, the cough grows worse instead of better as in an ordinary cold. The expulsion of mucus or vomiting commonly ends the attack of coughing.

Pneumonia and convulsions most frequently occur among children who are suffering from malnutrition. There is no communicable disease which exacts a higher toll among very young children than whooping cough. Whooping cough, a highly communicable disease and the young and poorly nourished should be protected in every way from coming in contact with this infection.

Sen. A. P. Duggan Proposes Writing A History Of Texas

Austin, March 28.—Importance of writing of an intrinsic history of Texas and dictionary of Texas biography was stressed in the Senate last week by Senator A. P. Duggan of this district. "Celebrations may come and go," said Senator Duggan, "but a great history of Texas will last forever."

"I am going to ask that the amendment for the writing of the history be changed to read 'historical writing,'" Senator Duggan is author of the original amendment to Senate Bill No. 1, the Centennial Bill, providing for appropriation of $50,000 for this work.

This change would be made in accordance with a plan submitted by Dr. William Curry Holden, professor of history at Texas Technological college, and that more talent may be attracted to the writing of the history.

Dr. Holden suggests the history be written in four parts of a historical novel. He suggests four prizes be offered: one of $10,000, the second for $7,000, the third for $5,000, and the fourth for $3,000. Also $2,000 would be set aside for incidental expenses in conducting the contest.

Another plan has been proposed by Dr. Eugene C. Barker of the University of Texas. Dr. Barker's plan is to write a dictionary of Texas Biography at a cost of $200,000 for preparation and $200,000 for printing and binding of the 5,000 copies. The work would necessitate a trained staff of historians; would include 3,000 biographical sketches in the 1,500 pages, covering the Spanish, Mexican and Anglo-American history of Texas. The sketches would deal only with lives of men now dead. An alphabetical index to other printed compilations of Texas biography would be included in the book.

Dr. Barker's plan.

A hundred years ago about 180 Texans were, after spirited fighting, overwhelmed and massacred in a ruined church by the forces of the state. Today 180 Texans in the legislature make sure that the story of these men who died in the old church, and all the other stories of Texas history, will always be remembered.

Congressman Mahon Sponsors Emergency Crop Loans Here

George Mahon, Congressman from this the 19th Texas District, spoke on the floor of Congress last week urging the immediate passage of a bill which was designed to make the Emergency Crop loans available to farmers.

The bill calling for $60,000,000 to be provided for emergency loans for the 1935 crop passed the House and the Senate several weeks ago. The lack of funds made an appropriation bill necessary. The deficiency appropriation bill which was considered last week contained the Crop loan item. It did not have much opposition and was speedily passed by the House and sent to the Senate for its consideration.

In urging the immediate action on this problem, Mr. Mahon said in part: "The people have already waited a long time for this loan. . . . as crop planting time in some sections, and shortly it will be critical planting time in my district. I know that this loan must be made immediately available to the people in my section if they are to make a crop. The terrible drought has brought on a critical condition. The sandstorms are racing across the areas of West Texas. The people are discouraged. Congress can not do a more meritorious thing than to immediately pass this measure. . . . This appropriation will make it possible for many a farmer to produce a crop in 1935, feed his family, retain his confidence and self-respect. In many instances, it will mean the difference between expensive relief rolls and profitable employment."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

And if a horse be divided against itself, that horse cannot stand.—St. Mark, 3:25.

The multitude which does not reduce itself to unity is confused the unity which does not rest on the multitude, is tyrannical.

DON'T BE MISLED

Leaders in Washington City, men with the best interest of the country at heart, are now sending out warnings that patriotic citizens should heed. They point out that radicalism is spreading, and that seed of discontent are being sown by self-appointed leaders through fiery speeches against this or that branch of government. They promise rich rewards to all who accept their radical theories, either in the forms of votes or pensions. At heart they are more interested in keeping themselves in the public eye and of fattening their own private purses.

We believe everyone around Muleshoe is acquainted with present conditions and how easy it is under such conditions for radicalism to attract a following. Men out of a job are going to follow the fellow who makes them the most tempting offer. So are those men who seek a living without having to work for it. In the end, however, they are sure to find themselves following false prophets. But that will be too late to remedy the harm done to the nation as a whole.

This nation wasn't built on wild-eyed promises nor on tempting bait in the form of votes and pensions and property grabbing tactics. It will not return to the conditions it once enjoyed under such promises. There should be no room in it for these glib-tongued speakers and radio orators. But there are here, so the best thing to do is to make up your mind that you are going to do your own thinking; that you will stand by the principles of your forefathers, and that you will pay no heed to false aims and false prophets who deal only in pet theories and impossible recovery plans.

THE SHIFT GOES ON

Two million Americans have forsaken the cities and their industrial ways during the last two years and have gone back to the country. Most of them have settled on small farms, close to the cities and towns and plan to live by part-time employment in factories and by raising most of their own food from a few acres of land.

The trend has been a voluntary one, it should be noted. This is important in that it reveals the people themselves began doing what the government has been studying as an organized plan. In most instances those doing the moving are making the change while they still have sufficient funds to finance themselves, or at least make a new start in a new direction. City life of today, with its curtailed opportunities through economic and industrial conditions, has lost most of its charm. So the old pioneering spirit is stepping in, and the heira to rural sections goes on at the rate of a million families a year. There is room around Muleshoe for more good citizens, and those who come prepared to finance their efforts will be welcomed. There is no place here, however, for those who are merely seeking easy conditions at the expense of others. To those desiring new homes, however—those who are confident of their ability to make their own way—the hand of fellowship is always extended by the people of this community.

A HAPPY SUGGESTION

Another old custom that seems to have passed out of existence and yet has not the faintest of its charm. Entertainment is the making of scrapbooks. Older Muleshoe citizens can remember when it was quite a fad, and when someone in almost every family boasted a scrapbook and took great pains in searching out good and helpful articles to be pasted upon its leaves. Many of these reminders of other years are no doubt still to be found in the community, but no one appears to know why so few members of the younger generation now indulge in this pastime.

Never before was there the opportunity to gather excellent scrap-book material as great as it is now. The scrapbook made today will prove an heirloom and a family treasure in a few generations to come, to say nothing of the enjoyment one can get out of making it. The world has gone back to the simple things of life within the past few years. Now all it needs to complete the program is to return to scrap-book making.

SEWER SYSTEM NEEDED

When one considers the great need of a sewer system for Muleshoe, it is no doubt still to be found in the community, but no one appears to know why so few members of the younger generation now indulge in this pastime.

The trouble recently reported by various property holders of cesspools caving in and the stench that arises from certain portions of the city is going to become enhanced as summer advances greatly to the injury of healthful conditions as an undesired sanitary condition.

The Journal has not investigated the matter thoroughly, but is of the opinion that a very satisfactory sewer system can be installed in Muleshoe at a cost of between $30,000 and $35,000, and can be paid over a period of 40 years time from its income.

The citizens would probably have to vote a certain amount of bonds for the project, federal funds could be secured for part of the construction cost, and in all probabilities there would be a federal donation also.

It is believed by the Journal that such a system could be figured out, put into paying operation and at a cost not to exceed from 75 cents to $1.00 per connection.

It certainly should be done!

STILL IN SEASON

Muleshoe citizens are still in the season of the year when colds are prevalent, so perhaps another word about them won't be misplaced. Few people realize the potential dangers of a common cold. Aside from the immediate dangers, such as pneumonia which last year claimed 20,000 more victims than tuberculosis, there are the after-effects to be considered.

In the U. S. there are over 5,000,000 people afflicted with some sort of heart ailment, and doctors agree that the foundation for most of these cases were laid in early childhood by colds, tonsillitis, influenza, or some other acute infection.

Many of these sufferers will live long and useful lives, thanks to modern medical science, but likewise many of them would be normal today had they received proper treatment at the time.

WHAT HE WANTED

There is now going the rounds of the press a unique "Help Wanted" ad which recently appeared in a Kentucky paper. It was inserted by a farmer who knew what he wanted, and it is an interesting commentary in this fast moving age. Here it is. Read and enjoy it.

"WANTED—I want a man to work on my farm. I don't give dancing lessons. I have no piano. I can't serve breakfast three times a day. I do give three square meals, a real bed and fair wages. If any man knows a cow from a talking machine, can hear an alarm clock and get up at 5 o'clock and wants a job, I will agree not to treat him like one of the family, but a darned sight better."

Jaunty Journalettes

Muleshoe boys may think they are smarter than old Dad, but they wouldn't if they'd stop to figure where their spending money comes from.

One objection to bossy Muleshoe wives is that they are sometimes inclined to boss all husbands except the ones who need it.

A free land is one where "nice people" feel no obligation to obey a law they consider silly. Wonder if there are any of that kind in Muleshoe.

Remember, at the same time one Muleshoe parent is teaching their little boy to grow up and make a fortune, some other mother may be teaching her little boy to grow up and take it away from him.

Success is never an accident with any Muleshoe citizen. It comes only to the man who does his work a little bit better than his needs be done.

We sometimes wonder why it is that the Muleshoe man whose pay goes on times no Muleshoe man could win except by waiting for somebody else to help him.

Don't blame the times. Even in boom times no Muleshoe man could win except by waiting for somebody else to help him.

Muleshoe people don't dread hell as they once did. Any region seems more attractive as it gets more crowded.

Back in the good old days in Muleshoe, horses had their faults, but they didn't stomp in front of a house and hunk into a young lady came out.

To win the average Muleshoe man's liking, all you need to do is get him to do something for you so he can feel like Santa Claus.

Maybe the Muleshoe woman who has no mind of her own got that way by giving it to her husband piece at a time.

Pavement Pickups

O. N. Robinson says he really never expected to see the time when a man by the name of Townsend would step in and take the place of Santa Claus, but he hopes he does.

Sam Lawrence points out that the weather is about the only thing one can be for or against now days without making a lot of enemies.

We know a certain editor down at Litchfield by the name of Mr. Morley Drake who, these fine springlike days we suspect would be willing to join the army of the unemployed if Uncle Sam would feed him and the fish were biting.

We heard a relief client remark the other day he was tickled pink to discover he could make more by doing nothing than by working, and if he had discovered this principal earlier in life he could have been a millionaire by now.

Hugh Davis, who is attending State University, writes home that it is a great co-educational institution, bright boys and girls matriculating with pleasure and both using the same curriculum.

Preacher Hough says he wonders why Secretary Wallace has never included the sowing of wild oats in his crop control administration.

BLASTS OF SAND And Grit Chunks

During the recent surge of sandstorms sweeping from farther north states over the Panhandle some freakish things have happened, some of which are really unbelievable.

The Journal notes just a few of them—the most interesting, as follows: W. B. Lee, of the Baileyboro community, rode a mule into town one day, hitching him to a telephone post while he went on about business. Late that afternoon when he returned for the hybrid he found it dead, hanging by the halter. The wind had blown all the sand out from under his feet where it was standing, the animal gradually strangling to death.

Pat Bobo and Julian Lennu participated in a rabbit hunt Tuesday of last week. They claim to each have killed several hundred, it being perfectly easy. They declared the rabbits were blinded by the sand whipping into their eyes and it was no difficult matter to club them to death. Julian said he saw several rabbits whose noses were so irritated they twitched themselves to death.

Coyotes crossing the sand range southeast of Muleshoe were said to have given an especially long and loud wailing howl, presumably saying their last prayers before taking the great adventure.

Bob Canfield, who has been here since the year one, when struck in the face by a drop of water a few days ago fainted. It required several buckets of sand dashed in his noble countenance to revive him.

Jess Murray, while driving a school truck, reported seeing prairie dogs digging into the ground 40 feet up in the air.

Mrs. Jeff White, ordinary artist for Editor Mitchell, polished all the kitchen aluminum ware by merely holding the vessels to the keyhole in the door. The sand whizzing in through the small aperture polished them spic and span.

Chet Layne noticed that sparrows were flying backward to keep the sand out of their eyes.

Alex, digit expert at the Valley Motor Co., struck matches by merely holding them out of his car window, friction from rapidly passing grains of sand quickly lighting them.

Harry Roberts, state highway engineer, while working on No. 7 highway, discovered the west line of Bailey county was blown 200 feet over into Parmer county, thus increasing the population and taxes to be paid in this county next year.

B. O. Sanford, coming here from Plainview, saw a brand new hat lying on the asid beside the road near Earth, stopped his car and got out to pick it up when he discovered a man under it. "Can I help you out," Sanford inquired. "No, I'll make it alright. I'm riding a mule," he replied.

Practically everyone in these parts has decided it takes plenty of grit to live in this country, and judging from the above stories, our editor opines to believe the leading Ananias club of North America could be organized here.

LIMIT OF NUMBER OF SHELLS IN SHOT GUN IS FEDERAL LAW

The long-looked-for reduction in the killing capacity of magazine shotguns has at last been realized.

President Roosevelt has approved an amendment to Federal hunting regulations that places a 3-shell limit on auto-loading and other repeating shotguns. The regulation, which becomes effective immediately, applies only to automatic loading or hand-operated repeating shotguns used in hunting ducks, geese, and other migratory game birds. Users of these types of weapons are required to have the magazines stopped with plugs that cannot be removed in the field, or must have the magazines cut down to the required shell capacity.

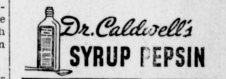

Read all the medicine ads and you'll feel all the symptoms.

The "liquid test" ... it ENDS bowel worries for many people

This is a test that tells you whether the system needs a cathartic change. If you have constant sluggish spells or bilious attacks, and laxatives seem to make things worse, it would be wise to try this:

Stop all use of any laxative that does not encourage variation from a "fixed dose" (which may be entirely safe for your individual need). Use instead, a liquid laxative that you can measure and regulate as to dose. As necessary to repeat, take smaller doses, less and less often, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

Doctors use liquid laxatives, and a properly prepared liquid laxative, containing natural laxative agents like senna and cascara is a joy and a comfort; a real help in establishing regularity. Ask your doctor about this (Doctors use liquid laxatives.) You can get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a most dependable liquid laxative, at any drug store.

May Take The Farm Families From Off The Relief Rolls

The Texas Relief Commission has announced a policy of removing all needy farm families from the general relief rolls and including them in their rural rehabilitation program, under which they would receive no aid except in credit advances.

"We want to include all our rural cases in the rural rehabilitation program and get away from further out-right relief grants," said E. A. Baugh, assistant director of the State Relief Commission. "Under the rural plan, we analyze the needs of the family, set up an operating budget and farming plan for a year and provide management to enable the family to maintain a sufficient income to meet the needs given all advances made from relief funds."

Since many of the families affected by the new order are tenants, landlords will be required to waive claims on this year's crops before any further advances will be made by the Relief Commission. If the landlord refuses such waiver, the tenant family will be removed from the relief rolls.

"The major portion of the increases has been in rural areas," she said, "and we believe that many landlords have taken advantage of the relief organization in refusing to finance tenants."

Washington Heeds A Land Nailing-Down Call From the West

With urgent calls for help and relief rolling into Washington from the south and southwest, officials there have begun to sit up and take notice of this important situation, and last week given different governmental agencies began movements calculated to be of some assistance in this direction.

Secretaries Ickes and Wallace have suggested that this soil-anchoring campaign should be rightfully turned over to the Department of Agriculture for supervision, perhaps using some of the Civilian Conservation corps in the nailing-down process.

Plan Study of Soils Dr. Charles K. Kellogg, acting chief of the soil survey of the Bureau of Chemistry and soils, recommended to farmers a study of their soils, use of special types of plows and cultivators, planting of shelter belts, more carefully planned crop rotation and better control of grazing.

Artificial Cotton Is Looming As A Great Threat To The South

Rayon, which is 55 per cent wood fibre and only 10 per cent cotton, came as a threat to cotton growers a few years and now it appears that synthetic cotton may become a still greater threat. National Industries magazine recently carried the following article regarding development of artificial cotton:

"Foreign markets for American cotton are now threatened by the successful development in Italy and Germany of synthetic products which offer a satisfactory substitute for cotton at a low price.

"Germany's synthetic cotton is called 'viscra.' It is made from wood pulp with a 30 per cent mixture of low-grade natural cotton. Two enormous factories for the manufacture of this product are now operating day and night in Germany, and two others will go into production shortly.

"Italy's cotton substitute is called 'snaficcoco.' Studies of it just made on behalf of the American cotton growers by the Country Home, a national farm magazine, shows that it is being produced for four cents a pound. It is made, like viscra, from wood pulp, with a 25 per cent mixture of rough cotton. It resembles the best long staple cotton except that it is cleaner and more uniform in appearance.

"There have been in the past many rumors and scares among cotton growers as to the threat of synthetic products. But this time it is not just talk. The representative of the Country Home was enough impressed by the Italian product to make a special trip to Washington with samples of 'Snaficcoco.' When these samples were spread out in the office of a government expert, and other officials were called in to look them over, the whole group was clearly impressed.

"This is economic dynamite," said one, handling the clean white machine fibre. "If Italy carries out her plan to build Snaficcoco factories all over Europe, the cotton growing region of America will have to find something else to grow."

"The first three months of the present cotton-marketing season saw only about three-fifths as much American cotton moving into consumption as had been expected. Indian cotton is selling at Liverpool for about four cents a pound below American cotton."

General News Over Texas And Adjoining States For The Week

Texas Senate has passed a bill, 28 to 1, making vehicles used exclusively by schools exempt from taxes.

Citizens of Clovis, N. M., last week overwhelmingly voted to issue $65,000 in bonds for a new high school building.

Gov. Allred has ordered that more than 100 convicts be returned to prison, they apparently having forgot their furloughs had expired.

The Plains Museum Society will hold its sixth annual meeting at Tech college March 29, afternoon and night, in the Engineering auditorium.

The champion steer at the Fort Worth Fat Stock show last week sold for $125 per pound. It belonged to a 4-H club boy.

Sulphur was the leading mineral produced in Texas during 1933, aside from petroleum, there being 1,082,967 tons of it mined at an aggregate value of $19,493,406.

The sum of $8,000,000 has been set up by Congress for diverting water in the San Juan river to the northwestern part of New Mexico, into the Rio Grande, for irrigation purposes, $2,000,000 of which will be used this year.

Nearly 40 people have been vaccinated against rabies, the past week near Gotebo, Okla., and all dogs over a wide radius ordered shot or penned for observation. One man has died from hydrophobia.

Truck and fruit crops of the Lower Rio Grande valley are greatly increased this year, it now being estimated 25,000 carloads will be shipped out this year, the value said to be around $15,000,000. There are nearly 15,000 trucks now engaged in hauling this produce to 28 different states.

A total of 20,326,889 pints of food was canned last year by 67,699 rural women and girls working in 3,335 home demonstration clubs in 144 Texas counties. They also dried and packed 12,658,443 pounds of food, the total value of their labors amounting to $3,608,634.74 in food they saved.

The junior livestock judges' team of Tech college, Lubbock, placed first at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show held last week at Fort Worth. Finishing ahead of the next team by 18 points, Tech's team led the field of nine colleges and universities.

There were 3,015,971 barrels of cement made in Texas in 1933, valued at $5,268,605. Clay products produced the same year were worth $2,600,000; 1,215,920 tons of stone were valued at $1,140,589 and gypsum totaling 112,106 tons was worth $1,058,989.

There were 126,000 tons of asphalt mined in Texas in 1933 valued at $293,847 coal and lignite, valued at $935,000; Fuller's earth, 45,395 tons, worth $411,350 lime, 36,286 tons, valued at $239,203 and other miscellaneous minerals valued at $925,596. There was a total of 194,702,037 barrels of petroleum produced at various values on the market.

Reports from the Secretary of State show there were 142 new corporations organized in Texas during February, a 25 per cent decline from the previous month, yet a 10 per cent increase over February a year ago, their total capitalization being $1,569,000. There was a 21 per cent decline in commercial failures in February over those of January, and 41 per cent lower than February a year ago.

A check of Lubbock sales shows between 300 and 400 having gone out on farms from that place, while every other surrounding town dealer reports a favorable quota, Muleshoe dealers having sold approximately 40 tractors, with one concern here having agency for a leading make, with several orders turned in, but unable to supply their customers because the demand of this particular tractor is so great they cannot secure deliveries.

Increased sales of dealers throughout this area reported to be from 25 to as high as 100 per cent over those of last year, the drought being largely responsible for the increase. Feed is scarce and high, and tractors do not consume feed only when being used, and it is being maintained by many farmers that the idea of cheaper service being obtained from horse mules is in the final analysis, a fiction.

Many farmers have traded in their teams for tractors, others clean their barns entirely of live mottos, power and purchasing types of tractors capable of doing all kinds of chores as well as direct field work.

Many farmers have been needing more machinery for some time, but during the past two or three years of the depression have been unable to buy it. Now that the depression is letting up somewhat, they are investing, not only in tractors, but huge sales of other machinery, including listers, planters and cultivators of different kinds are being sold.

APPROXIMATELY A MILLION DOLLARS HAS BEEN INVESTED IN TRACTORS BY FARMERS OF THE SOUTH PLAINS AREA

That approximately 1,000 tractors have been sold this spring by dealers on the South Plains is the substance of statistics assembled by J. Sam Lewis, leading writer on the Avalanche, Lubbock, Lewis having made a survey of such sales throughout this area.

A check of Lubbock sales shows between 300 and 400 having gone out on farms from that place, while every other surrounding town dealer reports a favorable quota, Muleshoe dealers having sold approximately 40 tractors, with one concern here having agency for a leading make, with several orders turned in, but unable to supply their customers because the demand of this particular tractor is so great they cannot secure deliveries.
