Deadline for filing passed at midnight Wednesday of last week.

Dr. Carl J. Sohns, secretary of the school board, announced the following filings in this order: Forrest Walker, Charlie Sowell, Edwin Baum, D. C. Jones, Vernon Phillips, Dan Johnston and Billy Dillard.

Absentee voting is scheduled March 30, with A. J. McCuin to start March 15 and end serving as absentee judge. Ballots will be available at McCuin Insurance Agency on Main Street here.

Ten Beat Deadline With Council Filing

Four more candidates filed for the City Council before the deadline passed Saturday. Ten men are now seeking the three posts.

Latest filers included: Freddy Tatom, T. T. Nichols, Gerald

Bowden and Garland Gary. Tatom is presently a member of the council, Nichols and Gary are both former members, and Bowden is making his first bid in local politics.

Previously announced candidates in the same race are: C. H. Dawson, Tom Lee, Dale Bishop, J. P. McCord, L. F. Foster and Howard McGowen.

Order in which the names will appear on the ballot will be determined by a drawing conducted by Mayor M. E. Roth at the City Hall.

City Councilmen are chosen for two year-terms. Hold-over members of the body are: the mayor; Roy Cox, who serves as gas commissioner and Ira H. Hall, who serves as water commissioner.

Presiding officials for the April 6 election are to be: Mrs. Melody Strickland, judge, and Mrs. Elvis B. Scott and Mrs. L. D. Koenig, clerks.

Guarantee Must For Recreation Proposal

With one big exception final approval of the huge proposed recreational center at Lakewood Country Club looms near.

That one big exception was presented local board members in a letter received here yesterday, and the letter from the state office of the Farmers Home Administration in Temple read, "We see no reason why this loan cannot be approved upon receipt of the information requested."

The state office recommendation was that proof be shown of support of the 200 families signed to pay $5 monthly dues for the first year of operation to insure solvency.

The request read as follows: "In order for us to convince our National Office that the association actually has a paying membership of 200 people, it will be necessary that you furnish us with a list of these members and evidence that they are purchasing a membership in the recreational center by putting up at least one-third of their annual membership dues with the board of directors. The balance of the annual fee of $60 can be paid on a monthly basis beginning with loan closing. The $20 to be paid by each member at this time should be deposited with the board of directors and placed in an FDIC bank in a special account with the understanding that it will be returned to the members provided the loan does not materialize."

"The list of members should indicate the name and address of each family, number in the family and vocation of the head of household — farming, business or profession.

"The statement from the board of directors that they have the $20 per member on deposit will be sufficient evidence for this office. Membership certificates can be issued at a later date on advice from this office. The money on deposit is needed to assure the Government and the board of directors that funds will be available to begin operation as soon as the facilities are ready. These funds will remain with Lakewood Recreation Center and will not be required as a contribution toward building of the facilities, but will be used to defray operating expenses."

R. D. (Bob) Needham of Cross Plains, president of the organizing board of directors, said that arrangements have been made at both the Citizens State Bank in Cross Plains and the First State Bank in Rising Star for holding the required funds. He urged prompt action on the request because "the quicker we have proof of support, the quicker approval can be granted and construction started."

Needham pointed out that the $20 can be mailed to either financial institution or can be taken care of in person.

Board of directors members from Cross Plains are: Needham, president; Dave Lee and Luther Forbes. Members from Rising Star are: James Rutherford, secretary; Bill Tyler, Jack Jackson and A. N. White.

Extensive improvement to the golf course, clubhouse construction and building of many other structures is planned when the loan is approved.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Millward visited Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Culvahouse in De Leon Monday.

2 Local Boys Take Prizes At Houston

11-Year-Old Burkett Girl Wins Hearts Of Crowd And $1,000 At Houston Exhibition

An 11-year-old Burkett girl captured the spotlight and $1,000 at the big Houston Livestock Show Thursday.

She did it with a flair for showmanship, believed to have never before been equaled by a Texas junior livestock exhibitor.

Vicky Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy H. Brown, has won many championships with her prized lambs in recent years, however, her entry at Houston finished in an undistinguished 15th place in its class. To a perennial winner the showing was discouraging, however, the Burkett lass was not through.

She took her 84-pound lamb to a Houston beauty salon, had its wool dyed to a delicate pink and given a poodle clip. When it went to the auction block, Vicky had the animal wearing a rhinestone collar.

Edgar Brown of Orange, prominent Gulf Coast industrialist, was intrigued by the makeup. Vicky's originality captured his admiration and he promptly offered $1,000 — or $12 a pound — for her lamb. The price was $251 more than was paid for the show's grand champion lamb. Brown called the Burkett girl to his side and asked that she keep the lamb, as a present from him.

Vicky is no new-comer to livestock show laurels, having exhibited the grand champion Southdown at Coleman in both 1964 and 1965. Thursday's prize, though, is believed to be the most unusual she, or any other junior exhibitor in Texas, ever captured.

In addition to the big cash bonus the little Burkett girl is said to have won the hearts of spectators at the big Houston show.

MRS. VIOLA TYLER ENTERS HOSPITAL

Mrs. Viola Tyler, mother of Juanita Rhodes of this city, was rushed by Higginbotham ambulance Monday to Medical Arts Hospital in Brownwood. Her condition was not known here at press time.

Riding Club Horse Show Scheduled For Saturday

Cross Plains Riding Club will sponsor its second annual American Paint Quarter Horse Show Saturday at the club's arena on the west edge of Cross Plains. As an added attraction West Texas-New Mexico Paint Horse Club will present its annual high point halter mare, gelding and stallion, and high point performance award at the show here. Mrs. Horace King, whose husband is president of the A.P.Q.H.A., will receive two of the trophies. Her mare, "Princess," was high point halter mare and another of her animals, "April," won the high point performance diadem.

Entry deadline for Saturday's exhibition is 9 a.m.

An open show for juniors, ages 12 and under, and seniors, 13-19, in Western Pleasure and barrel racing, will also be held. Entry fee for this competition is $3 and is open to registered and unregistered animals.

The local riding group has scheduled three more shows for later in the year. April 10 an Appaloosa show will be held, and slated for July 23 is an exhibition of the American Quarter Horse Association. An open breed show is also carded, but the date has not yet been set.

GARDEN CLUB SLATES MEETING AND LECTURE

Cross Plains Garden Club will meet Friday at 2 p.m. in the City Hall. A Mr. Sifford, who is associated with the Carl Pool Laboratories of San Antonio, will give a lecture on "Growing Roses and Their Care" at 3 o'clock.

Post Office Error Gave Name To Cross Cut Community

When Jim M. Blutworth pulled up his ox team 87 years ago at the fertile mesa which was to become Cross Cut, a lonely coyote howled a questionable welcome. The country was young and undeveloped. Only a few years had elapsed since savage Indians had infested the prairies and even then came frequent rumors of marauding bands.

Settlements were sparse, yet there was a sprinkling of ranchers in the Cross Cut area. Realizing the possibilities of a frontier trading post Blutworth established Cross Cut's first mercantile business. The store was located in the valley about a half mile east of the present Cross Cut townsite. It handled most everything from fancy colored calico to grindstones, including groceries and common medicines.

A mass meeting of settlers was held at the Blutworth store to petition for a post office in the community. When time came to submit a designation for the post office it abruptly dawned upon the gathering that the settlement was nameless. After a rather lengthy discussion and conflicting opinions as to what the place should be called, a man named Stanfield rose to suggest that since there was so little to the town it might just as well be called Cross Out. Everyone laughed but the suggestion caught on. When the official application went to Washington it requested the community to be named Cross Out.

Typewriters were not in use and somewhere along the line a government clerk misread the "O" in "Out" for a "C." Hence, when the designation was finally approved it came down Cross Cut, instead of Cross Out. Names were of little significance in those days and people of the little frontier community were so delighted with securing a post office that no one troubled to complain that Washington had changed the name.

The Westermans bought out the Blutworth store and ran it until 1885 when it was sold to Dick Pentecost who moved its location to the present townsite.

Pentecost employed a Brownwood surveyor named Durham and laid out a complete township, where the village of Cross Cut is now located. A map on file in the Clerk's office in Brownwood shows the village to have streets named: Main, Live Oak, Pecan Mesquite, Clark and others.

Earliest families in the Cross Cut locality were: the Blutworths, Westermans, Praters, Arvins, Newtons, Manns, Edingtons, Coffmans, Eldeberries, Gaineses and others.

Indians gave little or no trouble to early citizens of the area, however, settlers lived in constant fear. Bright moonlight nights were said to have been most opportune times for marauding savages, and on these occasions every precaution was taken. Lights burned low, guns were hobbled in ravines. About the only real damage done after 1880 was thievery, horses being the principal quest of the Red Man. Nearest they ever came after the town was established was to Indian Creek in South Brown County. Horses were driven away but no one was molested.

Only two murders stand to mar the history of this tranquil little township. The first was more than 81 years ago. An elderly man named Davis was the victim. He died of knife wounds. The other was in recent years.

One of the most eventful

Home Towner

It is generally believed that because of scientific advances in agriculture (improved seeds, specially-adapted fertilizers and knowledge gained through long experience) that the Cross Plains area is far more productive than once the case. Is this real?

Dallas newspaper, published 62 years ago, tells of Warren Price's grandfather, late Captain W. J. Maltby, having grown the following items on his farm and having them on exhibit at the Texas State Fair: a 103 pound squash, an ear of corn 18 inches around, onions weighing two pounds each, a lot of okra large as a quince and Mission grapes of unbelievable size.

Youngsters learn quickly these days. Little Terry Jane Whitton was recently given a new purse and asked for some folding money to carry in it. She was handed a couple of toy bills, the kind used in the game of monopoly. The four-year-old examined them critically and remarked: "Those won't do; want bills that have on them the picture of the man who cut down the cherry tree."

Hollywood probably never filmed a stampede equal to the one seen in Cross Plains in the late 1880's.

The late Mont Jones, who came here in 1873, told the story thusly: Between 800 and 1,000 horses were being herded from Nagodoches through the area to be sold further west. The animals were being herded in the same manner as the cattle on the old Fishholm trail. A small boy of the unusual sight approaching and hid in a small tree. As the lead horses were driven with him he jumped down and gave them a start. The stampede swept through the herd and an uncontrollable stampede followed.

This was clear, wooded country at the time with no underbrush. Old timers recall that the trail left by stampeding horses was visible years afterward. Wranglers in several days of hard riding to reassemble the herd. A few of the horses were never found.

Winter is about gone and spring is waiting in the wings. A glance at the calendar shows the vernal season is due to arrive March 20, a week from Sunday. Kenneth Jordan, remembering the thunder in February, remains adamant that there's due frost in April.

Husbands and wives have days had their differences. This is attested by the fact that the first case ever tried in the 42nd District Court at Cross Plains was one for divorce. Fidelity of the wife was the charge. The case, docketed No. 1, was heard by Judge L. Hutchinson in the Autumn of 1880.

Somewhat different from present day procedure was the fact that the early-day divorce was before a jury. Such controversies are now generally before a judge.

Divorces in the long ago were in rapid verdicts. It is said to have required but one vote to dissolve the marriage ties.

Cottonwood Baptists start Revival Sunday Cottonwood Baptist Church will begin a week's revival Sunday which will run through March 21. Evangelist A. C. Hardin of Cross Plains will do the preaching at the services, which will begin Sunday at 7:30. The Rev. Jimmie Jenkinson, Cottonwood pastor, cordially invites the public to all services.

Truck Stop Quintet Wins CPML Keg Championship

Cross Plains Truck Stop bowling team won the championship of Cross Plains Mixed League last Thursday night.

The Truck Stop quintet, which had led the loop almost the entire season, sewed up the title with a 4-0 blanking of Sisters Cafe although it took the victors all 10 frames of each game to subdue the determined Sisters squad.

D. C. Lee Gulf aided Truck Stop in claiming its first league triumph with a 4-0 drubbing of second place George Hutchins Mobil. In other action Johnston Truck & Supply dumped Mayes Flower Shop 4-0.

With two weeks remaining on the schedule, battle for second place takes the spotlight. Mobil holds the upper hand leading the Gulf quintet by three games with eight left. Mayes Flowers still figures in a third place battle with Gulf, although trailing the latter by seven and one-half tilts.

Bill Mayes, Mayes Flowers, turned in high game of 204 last Thursday. He was followed by two Gulf teammates, Dick Grider with a 199 and Benny Glover with a 198.

Individually in series competition Glover emerged on top with a 546, an average of 182. He was followed by two Mayes Flower keglers, Bill Mayes with a 529 aggregate for a mean of 176 and Ted Souder's 513 for an average of 171.

Gulf dominated team statistics with the top series of 2,361 pins and first two single game totals of 834 and 796. Johnston Truck's 755 was third, and its 2,200 series was second. Truck Stop claimed third high team series with a 2,131 pin effort.

Thursday night Gulf takes on Sisters while pinning its hopes on Johnston Truck battling with Mobil. Truck Stop marks time in colliding with Mayes Flowers.

Sabanno People Eagerly Await Arrival Of Spring

By Mrs. Edwin Erwin

If the old axiom "If March comes in like a lion..." holds true, this month should "go out like a lamb." Everyone seems anxious for Spring to arrive.

Funeral services were held at the Sabanno Cemetery for Mrs. Nettie Hollis Thursday afternoon. She was buried beside the grave of her late husband, Sargent Hollis, who predeceased her in death in 1953. Mrs. Hollis had been a patient in Graham Hospital at Cisco for several weeks. We extend our deepest sympathy to the family.

Several in our community have been ill recently, including Josie and Alma Morris, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lusk and Mrs. Clarence Casey, and possibly others. We hope all will be well soon.

urday night. He is the oldest son of the former Edna King.

Mrs. George Heridge and daughter Linda of Ballinger visited her aunt, Mrs. Mary Hollis, and Minter B. Saturday.

We are proud of the Cross Plains band, and we feel our community has contributed a big part to its success, with James Switzer, Peggy Erwin, David Williams and Mike Lusk all from this community, being members. James and Peggy reported they brought back four out of five trophies.

Miss Alma Morris attended the bridal shower for her niece, Melba Kent, at the Union Center Club House Friday night. Melba will be married to Sam Cathey, Jr., of Fort Worth in the near future.

Local Board Opposes Connally School Plan

Board of Trustees of the Cross Plains Independent School District in regular session on the night of February 8, 1965, went on record as opposing pending Senate Bill 124 and companion House Bill 446. These two bills contain Governor John Connally's proposals relating to Texas Public School Systems.

The Board of Trustees cites added local tax burdens as its major reason for opposing Governor Connally's educational bills.

The action of the Board of Trustees is recorded in the following resolution:

"Whereas it has come to the attention of this Board that Senate Bill 124 — House Bill 446, also known as the Governor's Proposed Program, has been offered in the Legislature of the State of Texas, Fifty-Ninth Texas Legislature; and

"Whereas the said Senate Bill 124 — House Bill 446 propose to place added responsibilities on the taxpayers of the local school districts by adding the costs of textbooks and the matching share of the Teacher Retirement Fund to the Minimum Foundation Program; and

"Whereas the proposed raise in salary to teachers will not be sufficient to attract and hold promising beginning teachers in the teaching profession; and

"Whereas local school districts in Texas are limited to one source of revenue, that being the ad valorem tax on property in the school districts, while the State of Texas is not limited in scope of taxing possibilities;

"Therefore be it resolved by the Board of Trustees of the Cross Plains Independent School District that this body opposes vigorously the passage of the aforementioned Senate Bill 124 — House Bill 446, and be it resolved further that these views be made known to legislative representatives of this school district."

Baird Girls Win Regional Crown

Baird High School Bearettes captured their second straight state play-off berth Saturday by winning the Class A Region II girls basketball tournament at Denton.

The Bearettes, District 10-A winners and defending Class A state champions, swept to an easy 59-17 victory over Clifton Saturday morning and then edged Milsap 44-41 in the finals that night.

Vicki Jones fueled the Bearettes to both victories with 27 and 17 points respectively. Sally Green helped out considerably with 17 and 14 markers, and Yvonne Shellnut contributed 9 and 13 points.

Local Students Take Two National Tests

Nine sophomores and 12 freshmen Cross Plains High School students took the three-hour National Educational Development Tests Monday, according to Wayne Ford, principal.

"The NEDT battery," he said, "is a series of tests in English, social studies, mathematics, natural sciences and word usage, which have been designed to measure each student's ability to apply basic learning skills rather than his ability to memorize particular facts or specific subject matter."

"They have been used here since 1960," Ford said.

Ford also announced that 13 juniors took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test Tuesday. All students who wished to be considered for Merit Scholarships in 1966 took the test.

It is a three-hour examination of educational development. The test is the first step in the eleven-year annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and sponsoring corporations.

The test scores of students who are examined in March will be reported to their schools before May 15. The scores are used by counselors in many high schools to help students make decisions about college attendance and field of study and individual strengths and weaknesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Shields and sons were Coleman visitors over the week end.

What to do until an emergency happens

Emergencies have practically no sense of fair play. And almost always pick the worst possible time to happen.

People seem to prefer the day your insurance lapses to trip on your sidewalk, for example.

And the car usually waits until your bank account registers empty before demanding expensive repairs.

There's no fighting it. But you can be ready. By tucking away some reserve funds in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Bonds, themselves, are emergency proof. You can't lose the money you invest in them, even if fire, flood, robbers or plain carelessness causes you to lose the Bonds.

And when something expensive happens, you can just take them in to any bank and get yourself solvent again.

In the meantime, Uncle Sam uses your Bond dollars to handle other urgent matters, like taking care of your freedom.

Buy Bonds where you bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Get yourself really prepared and you might even discourage a few emergencies from ever happening.

Keep freedom in your future with Its hooves were painted blue and eye liner was applied. A lovely little net and flower hat was put on its head and Vickie led it by a blue leash down the escalator and through the coliseum, bringing down the house with cheers. Bidding on the unusual little animal rose to $1,000 and for this sum, millionaire Edgar Brown bought it. To make Vickie even happier, Brown then gave Baby back to her, pink and beautiful, to show her friends back home.

Mrs. J. T. Byrd, Guy and Wanda of Crane spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Byrd and Lawrence.

WILL SING HERE— The Highlanders, widely-known gospel quartet, will sing in Cross Plains Thursday night.

New Baseball Loops Formed Here Sunday

Three Cross Plains teenage baseball teams will play in a new district this summer it was announced yesterday.

Two new leagues were organized here Sunday afternoon at a meeting held at Odum's restaurant. The new loops which will encompass a junior and senior division will be known as Inter-City Teen-Age Baseball Leagues. Members of the conference are Cross Plains, Bangs, Santa Anna and Comanche.

One set of officers will govern both brackets. Elected Sunday were: M. E. Roth of Cross Plains, president; G. H. Fletcher of Comanche, vice-president; and Wendel Byler of Bangs, secretary.

In the junior league, for boys age 13 through 15, Cross Plains and Comanche will enter two teams, and Santa Anna will have one.

Senior league will sport four teams, one from each of the member towns.

Tentative plans call for beginning of play around the first of June and will end July 24. Winning team of each league will represent the conference in post-season tournaments and will choose two players from other loop teams.

charge and Mrs. Charley McCowan, pastor at the Gospel Mission, stresses that the public is invited. A brief service will precede the concert.
