How They Do It

Mrs. David St. Clair, president of the Watson club, keeps meat from getting strong and keeps bugs off by wrapping it in newspapers and whitewashing the paper, after the meat has been cured.

Mrs. T. G. Miller, of the Watson club, suggests a way to use a hot bed to a chicken brooder. She digs a pit three feet deep, filling it with manure to within a foot of the top, then puts on a layer of straw over the manure. A wooden frame having a slight slope is placed in the pit and a window put in the frame. In this way the chicks will keep warm for three or four weeks. She uses this for either a hot bed or a chicken brooder.

Mrs. M. W. Holloway, of the Maple club, suggests a good way to make lettuce head is to put a rubber band around the lettuce as it begins to leaf.

Mrs. A. J. Neugebauer of Watson community, has raised cauliflower heads that weighed as much as 16 pounds each in Bailey County. These heads were left in the garden until the first zero weather.

FOR FULL MOTOR PROTECTION

Say "OK-Drain" - FILL WITH CONOCO GERM PROCESSED MOTOR OIL

Modern cars must have oil with extra oiliness

THE development since 1931 of motors of 80 to 180 horsepower has brought about correspondingly increased bearing pressures and crankcase temperatures. Motor manufacturers have turned to new alloy metals of extra strength and durability to meet these new conditions.

For full protection of such motors, you must have oil with enough extra oiliness and film strength to get safe lubrication under extreme pressure and heat.

Yet motor oils generally have no more oiliness and film strength now than they had ten years ago. Some oils have, because over-refining to eliminate carbon and sludge has robbed them of oiliness and film strength.

There is one exception—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. It, too, is free from carbon and sludge troubles, as its users know after millions of trouble-free miles of driving. But more important, Almen and Timken machine tests prove it has more oiliness and 2 to 4 times the film strength of any straight mineral oil! That added oiliness and film strength protect your motor under all conditions.

Germ Processing—adding concentrated oily essence to highly-refined oil—gives other valuable advantages. Because Germ Processed Oil penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, a "Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and cuts down starting-period wear. Germ Processed Oil gives longer mileage with greater motor protection, as proved by the famous Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Say "O.K.—Drain"—fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and get full motor protection!

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips.

Slander is a vice that strikes a double blow, wounding both him that commits, and him against whom it is committed.

COLLECTING SOUVENIRS

Most people have a mania for collecting something; some are regular pack rats, and in a physical way, this writer pleads guilty to the charge.

Back east, where houses were larger, attics used to be the place that caught the storage of this extra accumulation.

Once in a while we take out an idea and brush it up, thinking we will use it again; but somehow it doesn't just click; it seems unwieldy, not quite so appropriate as it once was.

The passage of time, acquiring of greater intelligence, new philosophies, new discoveries, a better psychological understanding of human nature.

Many of our old ideas, theories and beliefs. Many of which we cling to more or less tenaciously, yet seldom if ever use.

twentieth century have forced us to change many of our ideas if we would be honest with ourselves.

Man is more or less a creature of his thoughts and habits and every day or so we run across some specimen of the genus homo who has become a victim of his own ideas and customs.

Of course, no one is going to deliberately set fire to their mental attic but a deliberate renovation, cleaning up and eliminating with many of us would be very helpful and of untold value in future life.

A WHEAT MIRACLE

No matter whether he is directly interested in farming or not, the average Muleshoe citizen will be interested in a history of marvelous wheat raising that has just reached this country from Italy.

It is stated that Prof. Stampello has since the World War raised the average yield of wheat in Italy from 15 to 24 bushels to the acre.

What effect this new "miracle wheat" will have on world markets no one can tell until it is produced on a vast scale.

less-productive types. At any rate the U. S. Department of Agriculture is giving this new wheat close attention and will be ready to encourage American wheat growers to adopt it.

PASSING OF THE PARLOR

Many happy moments cluster beyond the old-fashioned parlor of bygone days. It was close and dark for six days of the week, but it was opened on Sundays.

SUPPORT THE CHURCHES

This is the time of years when budget committees of various congregations are making their estimates.

But how much has congress or the government expended so far toward the upkeep and operation of the nation's churches? Funds for the churches seem to come reluctantly.

Why not rally to the support of the churches—in and around Muleshoe and in every other community in America?

Some one asked Lloyd Garrett, from chair tonsorial artist at the Mission barber shop, why a woman can't grow a moustache.

Jaunty Journalettes

Don't pity the Muleshoe man you see wielding a hoe. He may only be digging fishing worms.

Muleshoe young men find out early in life that it's easier to fool one's own mother than to fool any other woman on earth.

There may be plenty of Muleshoe people who are not good enough to love their enemies; but they should be wise enough to not waste time trying to get even with them.

Where would this country be now if the pioneers who first settled this vicinity of Muleshoe had ridden across the prairies in vehicles that had kneecap and no-draft ventilation.

Every Muleshoe citizen should be thankful for economies. It's one subject we can all discuss without knowing anything about it—and, incidentally, it is something some of our great statesmen may practice without being a darned bit wiser than we are.

One reason there is more wickedness in a big city than there is in a town the size of Muleshoe is because it's harder to hide from the neighbors.

Mark this the Muleshoe man needs advice when he hasn't sense enough to take it. That rule seldom fails.

Few people around Muleshoe understand much about economics; but the high cost of living is as plain to them as the nose on their face.

We are now approaching the season of the year in Muleshoe when it will be difficult to tell whether the man with a backache got it from digging fishing worms or from sleeping on the floor when house-cleaning was in progress.

SNAP SHOTS

The Mississippi river washes tens of thousands of tons of rich black soil down into Louisiana every year; but the Phewey Lott picks it up and flings it right back. In a way his croding helps our erosion.

Slowly we learn that nature is going to take its course in spite of the laws passed to help or hinder it.

Almost anyone can save time by waiting a week to answer a letter. By that time it don't seem worth answering.

A youngster in the act of ruining his life is one engaged in doing the things we did at that age.

DALHART WILL TRY TO MAKE RAIN FALL

Dalhart citizens feeling they have used every reasonable government method of relief from the continued drought are now going to take up direct methods with nature.

Tex Thornton, Amarillo oil shoosier and explosive expert, will be in charge of the experiment. He does not claim any previous experience as a rain-maker; but says he is willing to try anything once as a measure of much needed relief.

Explosives will be set off with timed bombs carried by balloons up in the air, while other concussion will be produced on terra firma, on the theory that the detonation of the high explosives will loosen the moisture from the overhead clouds.

Some of the citizens there, including John McCarty, editor, are said to be anticipating a real cloud-burst of such magnitude the soil erosion commission working in that vicinity may have to transfer their activities to Amarillo or come on to Bailey county.

Herr Moeller writes back that he was raised on in Louisiana, and it is reported the local Kiwanis club will send a delegation to the Cap Rock at Post to enlarge the crack the road runs through so Moeller will be able to crawl through upon his return.

With the next year or two look out for some tall fish stories from Jim Cook. He put 100 baby channel cat fish in his farm tank last week. They ought to be about good frying size by next election time, and voters favorable to the sheriff's re-election will be probably given first consideration in fishing rights.

BACK TO FARM MOVEMENT ON
Preliminary returns from the U. S. Farm census indicate a marked increase in the number of farms. In 1930 there were 6,300,000 farms, while the new census shows about 500,000 more. While the farms are smaller the population is larger, but whether the acreage will be increased has not yet been announced. Of course, several of these new farms are government subsistence projects.

There have been 100,000 Baptists baptized in Texas during the past three years. The fact is interesting since in 1800, 200 years after the first colonies were settled here, there were less than 100,000 Baptists in the entire American country.

COLORADO HAS BLIZZARD

A blizzard, which accounted for cooler atmosphere in this section, swept the State of Colorado Friday of last week, resulting in snow drifts four and five feet deep within 36 hours' time. The storm also invaded Western Kansas and the Panhandle of Oklahoma, bringing much relief from recent dust-storms and settling the earth so that the effects of such storms will not be so drastic on this section of Texas.

BLASTS OF SAND And Grit Chunks

During a dust storm last week, an aviator thought he landed at Amarillo, got out of his plane and walked half way to town before he discovered that he was up in the air 2,000 feet.—Donley County Leader.

The supposed airplane that went over Muleshoe Sunday night a week ago, is now said to have been a 1935 Chevrolet that got away from K. K. Smith as he was returning from Clovis, N. M. It was later found in the Yellow House canyon, near Lubbock. Kay says Chevys, are some high flyers.

Now, I lay me down to sleep. I pray thee, Morpheus, my soul to keep And if in slumber I should snore, With dust and grit in every pore, The light of day I fall to see, Sand will bury me on the lone prairie.

Pat Bobo, local relief director, awoke a few mornings ago to discover a lot of stuff piled in his front porch by the sand storm of the previous night. Investigating, he itemized a cancelled mortgage, a goat skin which once had a goat inside of it when it was a few weeks ago, six empty meat cans of Federal origin, and an Indian papoose, later identified by an Indian expert from Tech college as belonging to a tribe located on the eastern slope of Colorado. Friend wife wanted to keep the Indian baby, but Pat insisted they would have to build an extra room for it, and refused to change the plans of his new home now in process of construction.

Mr. and Mrs. John Glasscock, who recently returned from an extended trip to Oklahoma, report finding their home resembling an Esquimau igloo more than a South Plains civilized abode. The roofer was practically killed with dust, according to Mose, who disclaims any relationship with one Ananias, of Biblical fame. With the combined efforts of both man and wife they succeeded in forcing open a crack in the front door through which the sand gradually sifted out as the door was pushed open. About six inches of the stove pipe was visible next to the ceiling, one bed post was discernable, the sand being banked over the bed against the wall, outlines of pillows else were distinguishable, resembling nomadic Arabs whose forms were crouched in prayer on the sands of the Sahara; but it is said the kind of praying Mose did is not to be found in the Bible, Koran, Zandavesta, Talmud or any of the other sacred books either ancient or modern.

Ye editor's wife says one reason she likes living in old Hurley is because the sand has a better flavor than it did around her former home.

After all why worry about a few dust storms when the country is being thoroughly gassed by the Washington statesman brigade!

The ancients realized they were safe from further storm when they saw the rainbow shining in the skies, and moderns may likewise realize they will not utterly be destroyed by sandstorms when the Texas bluebonnets blossom—and they're now out.

Self preservation is the first law of nature. Think of your home city first and spend your money here. Muleshoe merchants charge no more for the accumulated sand on their goods than do business men at Clovis or Lubbock.

It is very much doubted by many citizens if Bailey county had any business participating in the Soil Erosion campaign that closed last Wednesday night. There are probably some instances where the money was needed; but plenty of them who took their share without actually needing it. A check-up a little later on may prove embarrassing to some of our farmers. Anyway, it was fine, so why not get while the getting's good!

They All Come Back.
Some of our citizens have been complaining about the dust storms. But the old timers and the hardy Westerners, that have lived in the west for years are still staying right in and pitching. The timid hearted are going places, to get away from the dust storms, but they will come back to dear old West Texas as the following have. One family left here and went to Oklahoma, there they met up with a twist-er and wrecked their new home; one family went to California and was disgusted with the terrible earthquakes, and another family left out for the Mississippi valley, they were almost drowned with floods. They have all returned to make their home in West Texas where the sand and dust blows, but no one is ever killed, drowned or their property shaken down. What's a little dust to a real West Texan?—Briscoe Co. News, Silverton.

Out Where the Dust Begins
Out where the wind blows a little stronger,
Out where the drought lasts a little longer,
That's where the dust begins.
Out where the prospects once were brighter,

Where the alkali fields are growing whiter,
Out where the money's a little tighter,
That's where the dust begins.

Out where the farmer's a trifle bluer,
Where good wheat crops are fewer and fewer,
That's where the dust begins.
Out where the stream's too dry for fishing,
Where the soil will not "stay put" for sowing,
What the harvest will be there is no knowing,
That's where the dust begins.

Out where the landscape's "still in the making,"
Where long lines of listers the fields are breaking,
That's where the dust begins.
But out there no time is lost in repining,
There's more of whistling and less of whining,
The stout heart looks through the silver lining.

Of the cloud where the dust begins.
By Ethel Thornburg in Kansas City Star, with the writer's apologies to Arthur Chapman, author of "Out Were the West Begins."

SENIOR CLASS PLAY BENEFITS

Thursday night of last week members of the Senior class of Muleshoe High school presented their play, "Attorney For the Defense," at the YL school auditorium. The play had not been previously advertised or announced publicly, although a very good crowd attended and about $12.00 was realized. Friday night of last week the same play was presented by the Muleshoe Seniors at Lubbock and a good crowd attended there.

Some additional entertainment was furnished between acts. Proceeds received at YL and Lubbock will be added to the money received when the play was presented at Muleshoe two weeks ago, and all will be used to help pay some of the graduation expenses.

Maple News Items

There was a light shower last Sunday night that helped the farmers some, but they need more soon.

B. E. Christie and Mrs. Hall were in Muleshoe Tuesday attending go business.

F. N. Woodfin and Mr. Hall attended to business in Muleshoe Thursday.

The Baptist church members have been taking a study course for the past week.

The High school entertained the seventh grade Monday night of last week. We all met at the school house at 7:30 p. m., hiked about two miles southeast of Maple and stopped in an old lake about a half of a mile from M. B. Tomb's. After playing for a while, we were served salmon sandwiches and cookies. After playing a little more we started off on a hike for home, in which we had a good time on the way. It was about twelve o'clock when we reached home.

The High school pupils are planning going to Goodland taverns, N. M., soon after school is out.

The demonstration agent met at Mrs. M. V. Holloway's and put down some tile for sub-irrigation, but did not level just right. They will have another demonstration Friday of next week at Enochs.

M. W. Holloway and family, B. B. Christie, Mrs. Charley Shaw and Mrs. Wanita Stephens attended to business in Muleshoe Saturday.

Most of the Baptist people visited Goodland Sunday in their first anniversary.

Our school will be put the 10th day of May.

ELECTRIC REFRIGERAT'N

FOR HEALTH, PLEASURE AND SATISFACTION

As Springtime slips around the corner and Summer draws near more care and attention must be given to sanitation and preservation of foods—and here is where your electric servant may become your very best friend.

It is unanimously agreed that keeping the food compartments uniformly cold, is perhaps, the outstanding advantage in electric refrigeration. Housewives are considered "smart managers" who add to their daily savings through the use of an electric refrigerator. Grocers and market-men have full confidence in the proper conservation of wholesome food values that they sell when stored in a good electric refrigerator.

It is the responsibility of this company to see that a dependable electric service assures you maximum efficiency from your refrigerator. And then, you will be greatly pleased with the low operating costs required to keep foods in a state of healthy conservation—a matter of no small consideration.

Be sure to let electric refrigeration protect your family's food.

Care of One's Teeth
Best Means To Avoid Neuralgia, Says Dr.

Austin, April 30.—Neuralgia is one of the commonest of medical terms. And naturally so, because neuralgia is an exceedingly common complaint. Few people, however, could accurately define it. They well know when they have it, though. As a matter of fact, the term neuralgia is rather an inclusive affair. It applies to any pain that follows a nerve's course, though it is usually applied to the nerve which lies close to the surface of the cheek. This nerve sends branches and sinuses behind the eyebrows, nose, below the cheek bone and to the teeth. It is frequently very difficult to locate the real cause of this type of pain. There are many conditions that arise in the areas of influence of this nerve. And when one of them develops, the result is suffering and usually there is plenty of it. In this respect, as one authority aptly puts it, "The tiny part which is inflamed is like a radio station and relief clients have been urged to use more of these 'protective foods.'"

Chief significance of the analysis, Mrs. Swanson said, is that although

ADEQUATE WEEKLY FOOD ALLOWANCE FOR FAMILY OF FIVE HAS INCREASED
16 CENTS SAYS MISS HELEN SWANSON

Austin, April 30.—Average cost of an adequate weekly food allowance for a family of five in Texas has increased 16 cents since October, 1934, it has been announced by Mrs. Helen Swanson, consultant dietitian of the Texas Relief Commission, who recently completed a study of reports from 12 Texas counties. Average division of the food dollar, if an adequate food allowance is to be provided at low cost, is 30 per cent for milk, 30 per cent for fruits, vegetables and legumes, 15 per cent for cereals, 12 per cent for fats and sugars, 9 per cent for meat and eggs, 3 per cent for coffee, soda, salt and other foods. Average cost of milk in Texas in March was slightly over that, 11 cents per quart, and very slightly less than it was six months ago. Milk, fruit, vegetables and eggs show an expected seasonal decrease in price and relief clients have been urged to use more of these "protective foods."

Miss Swanson stated that the food survey was taken in order that the social welfare department might have an itemized index to use as a guide in setting up food budgets, in adjusting prices for school lunches and in making specific recommendations to individual counties regarding economy of certain items; to guide the field administration department in appropriation of funds; the commodity distribution department in making available larger quantities in counties where the article being distributed costs more; the rural rehabilitation department in choosing counties in which to make a greater cost of food along with other factors influencing designation of the areas for the rehabilitation centers.

WHEN I AM TWENTY-ONE

By MISS SIBYL COKER, Muleshoe School
Winner of First place, Essay writing in Bailey County Intercollegiate League Meet. Miss Coker for the second year wins the beautiful loving cup awarded by the Muleshoe Journal to the winner of first place in this event.

I have often heard expressions of ecstatic joy by those who have just become twenty-one. There seems to be much enthusiasm shown by everybody when they realize that they will soon be "free, white, and twenty-one." These people often feel that they become grown almost overnight, that this idea seems foolish and almost shallow to me.

I wish to live now in such a manner that my habits when I become twenty-one will be such that will aid me to be ready for the problems which confront those who are citizens today that I may help solve them in a worthy manner when my generation shall take their place. It is only the simple who believe that their childish habits can be cast off the instant they are twenty-one in the same manner that old clothes are discarded. If this were true we would be practically without character, because habits and character do not spring up over night. The little rhyme which follows expresses that clearly.

In other words, when I stand on the threshold of womanhood at the age of twenty-one, I want to be able to look back on a happy well spent girlhood well worthy of my pleasant surroundings, my christian environment, and happy family life. I want to look forward to my mission in life equipped with knowledge, a healthful body, a keen mind, and a character so far above reproach, that if God sees fit to give me as a help mate to one of His chosen in the same mission as mine. I can be a part of the perfect experience of pure true love such as God meant for man and woman to have one for another without a feeling of shame and self reproach.

It is said that success comes only when one is able to put forth drudgery to fulfill the dreams. I have the dreams and my God grant me strength to make the drudgery possible, will be my continuous prayer from now and until long after I am twenty-one.

JUST A FABLE

The following fable, which is probably of Turkish origin, is not without a touch of truth:
As a woman was walking along the highway, a man looked at and followed her.
"Why," said she, "do you follow me?"
"Because," he replied, "I have fallen in love with you."
"Why so? My sister, who is coming after me, is much handsomer than I am. Go and make love to her."
The man turned back and saw a woman with an ugly face, and, greatly displeased, returned and said, "Why should you tell me a falsehood?"

The woman answered, "Neither did you tell the truth; for if you were in love with me, why did you look back for another woman?"

TILE MAKING DEMONSTRATED TO BAILEY CO. GARDENERS

gardeners of that section are already planning to tile garden and flower plots.

The value of irrigation generally speaking is well known in this section and now that sub-irrigation is being explained by county officials it is being recognized for its great value. Controlling one's own rainfall in any form, through irrigation, is a big asset to growing of any kind of crop, and where that controlled water may be supplied underneath the soil, away from the vaporizing effects of sun and wind, a much less supply of water is needed and goes a great deal farther in liquifying the soil necessary before the tiny rootlets can suck it up, incorporating it in their growing system.

Among those attending this meeting were: Mesdames J. F. Bright, Wallace Kelley, John Williams, J. H. Stone, Ida Bates, C. J. Cotham, O. L. Thomson, Earl Daniels, F. O. Boone, E. L. Burkhead Tells Tall Tales Of Fishing In East Texas Rivers

J. B. Burkhead, the honorable county clerk of this state political subdivision, returned last week from a week's vacation fishing trip around Denton, his excuse for getting away from the office being that he must visit his aged mother. He was accompanied by friend wife, and that they got plenty of the ichthyological specimens is amply proven in the fact that they brought several pounds of the finny tribe back with them to be divided among their friends, which didn't happen to include the Journal editor, though he voted for Burkhead both times he has been a candidate for office.

Burkhead said as he swung toward East Texas he began to encounter rain, and, mingling with the dust, it produced mud in the air, the first time he ever saw anything like that except during a political campaign.

Mrs. Burkhead said fishing was exceptionally good, and she never before saw fish so glad to be caught—every one of them were wiggling their tails with joy as they were pulled out of the water.

Burkhead said the drouth, while not so bad in that section as it has been out here, had been pretty hard on fish, most of them having their fins nearly all worn off from wiggling across the sand from one pool of water to another. "Fish are pretty smart tho," he said. "In one instance I saw a big mud turtle, which must have weighed close to 200 pounds, with mud chains on, totting a batch of fish from one water hole to another."
