Dedicated to the Progress and Development of Bailey County and the South Plains of Texas

VOLUME 13

MULESHOE, County Seat of Bailey County, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1935

NUMBER 25

COMMITTEE IS AFTER HIGHWAY WORK ON NO. 214

Big Road Work Plans In State Soon To Be Started.

Following announcement by Harry Hines, chairman, Texas State Highway commission, of a meeting of that board to be held in Austin Monday and Tuesday of this week, and the further announcement from that source that a biggest road-building campaign ever attempted in this state was soon to be inaugurated, a committee composed of County Judge J. E. Adams, Neil Rokey, C. F. Moeller and Jess Mitchell left here Monday for a conference with members of the Commission relative to improving State Highway No. 214 from Muleshoe south to the Cochran county line. It is understood more than 50 committees from various sections of the state have already secured audiences with the Commission.

"We are giving special attention to farm-to-market roads for West Texas as they are relatively the most high way system," Hines has announced, and since State Highway No. 214 is a farm-to-market highway and is also closely related to other state highways, connecting with Nos. 7 and 48 at Muleshoe, it is believed by citizens here that an appropriation may be secured for such road improvement.

It is stated Texas now has five different funds from which money is available for road improvement, one fund alone, amounting to more than $35,000,000 will furnish work for 15,000 men. This state expects to be able to spend approximately $250,000,000 in road improvement work, Hines said.

Finances Over The State Are Better Says The Auditor

Texas political subdivisions showed great improvement in their financial status during the past two fiscal years, clipping a total of $42,629,997 from their outstanding indebtedness.

State Auditor George Simpson has released a report listing total indebtedness of all subdivisions, exclusive of the state obligations, at $679,963,751 as of September 1, last. Bonded indebtedness and time warrants outstanding decreased $38,165,874 for September 1, 1932, while current warrants outstanding decreased from $13,979,724 to $9,521,600. Simpson reported the true value of all property assessed in 1934 at 220,753, and that the debt of governmental units averaged $8.44 per $100 true valuation. Property generally, Simpson said, was assessed at 47.9 per cent of its true value, some counties assessing as low as 20 per cent and other as high as 80 per cent.

Analysis of the amount assessed tax disclosed delinquent tax collections for 1934 were more than twice the amount collected in any year in the past decade, although current tax collections of 79.6 per cent of the amount assessed were about four per cent off. The last fiscal year also was the first in ten years in which the amount of taxes collected exceeded the amount of assessments.

Exemption of $3,000 of the value of residence homesteads from state ad valorem taxes resulted in a 20 per cent reduction from this source, Simpson reported. He estimated political units could anticipate a similar reduction if the exemption is extended to local taxes.

Joyland H. D. Club Serves Delightful Dinner Saturday

The members of the Joyland Home Demonstration club served dinner Saturday in the local American Legion hall, under the direction of their president, Mrs. L. L. Daniels.

There was a good crowd of Muleshoe folks present to participate of the delicious lunch prepared before them, which consisted of fried spring chicken, new potatoes, English peas out of the garden, crisp salads, topped off with ice cream and cake. Many of those present stated it to be one of the most satisfying lunches they had ever partaken of in Muleshoe.

The ladies realized about $9 for their lunch, which fund will be used toward paying the expenses of a delegate to the Short Course at A & M. college the latter part of this month.

Matador citizens have drafted plans to fight the railroad of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific Railroad Company to abandon its eight-mile line extending to Matador.

Bailey County May Get Part of Ninety Million U. S. Fund

The United States has been divided into 11 regional districts for the purpose of supervising expenditure of $91,000,000 for rural rehabilitation, according to announcement made this week by Rexford G. Tugwell, resettlement administration, Washington, D. C. Dr. G. E. Wiley, head of Economics department, State University, Austin, has been appointed to care for needs of Texas.

Since these funds will not be handled by states, it is the purpose of the administrator to place such where need is most evident. Funds will be used for making loans or grants or both to individual families, for livestock, farm supplies, equipment, repairs and taxes for farms, for subsistence, food clothing, and for establishing community centers where farm land will be purchased, improved and needy settlers placed on same with a long period to pay back to the government the cost of their farms.

Bailey, Lamb, Castro and Parmer county citizens are very much interested in securing a home-sold subsistence project in this area, 8,000 acres having already been plotted and offered to the government for such purchase and settlement. A hearing will be held before Dr. Wiley at some near future date, according to information received here by chairman of the Bailey county planning board.

County Officials and Employees, Families Have Chicken Supper

Various county officials, employees at the court house, AAA executives and committee members and their families gathered at the sandhills east of town Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock for a chicken barbecue and all the accessories.

J. B. Burkhead, county clerk, was chef for the evening and general manager of the affair, aided by Deputy Clerk Miss Elizabeth Harden and Miss Alma Stewart, home demonstration agent.

About 35 chickens were barbecued to a palatable degree over an open pit and basted with an excellent sauce which was the product of Miss Stewart. At nine o'clock they were pronounced to be fit for a table of a king, and supper was served.

The menu consisted of barbecued chicken, potato salad, bread and lead followed by a dessert of ice cream cups. Plenty of ice water was provided throughout the evening.

Seventy-three were present to participate in this most enjoyable outdoor occasion.

Muleshoe Wins Off Bulla 2-1 In Pitchers' Duel, Sun. Afternoon

Last Sunday afternoon the Muleshoe baseball team played a winning game with the Bulla team on the latter's field. In the final winding the scores stood two and one, Muleshoe being victorious, and very happy of the fact.

The game throughout was a thrilling pitchers' duel, Muleshoe's six hit by Ted Tidwell and Coffman, and Bulla got only four off Newby Moore. Both teams played errorless ball.

The game was a baseball fans that witnessed the game expressed their opinions to the fact that this was by far the best game the locals have played this year.

Next Sunday afternoon, July 21, the Amarillo baseball team will play here with the local squad. Everybody has a very special invitation to attend as this will be one of the most interesting games ever played in Muleshoe.

TO INSPECT GASOLINE TANKS OF FUEL HAULING CONCERNS

Beginning last Monday all haulers of gasoline and other fuels will have to appear at Amarillo headquarters during the coming three months to have their tank capacities officially tested, according to J. O. Brown, state weights and measure inspector for the Department of Agriculture.

The State Comptroller wants to know the exact capacity of these truck tanks for taxation purposes and Brown wants to know so that filling station operators and consumers may have the proper protection.

It is estimated there are 500 trucks in this section now hauling liquid fuels. Inspection certificates will be issued following each test.

CONGRESSMAN MAHON PERSISTS IN SECURING SURVEY APPROPRIATION FOR UNDERGROUND PLAINS WATER

$100,000 Fund Asked For Testing Sheet Water Supply in Five States Embracing The High Plains Area.

In keeping with an application of the Federal Bureau of Mines, asking for an appropriation of $1,619,000 to have for subterranean water supplies in dry areas, Congressman George Mahon, this district has applied for $100,000 to be used for a water survey of the High Plains area in this section, embracing a strip of country approximately 125 miles wide and 500 miles long in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

Mahon explained to Frank Walker, head of the Works Progress division, that towns, cities and farms of this area were entitled to such information and that people of this area were anxious for it.

Numerous sections of this high plains area are now using the underground sheet water for irrigation purposes, some sections finding copious quantities, others observing it to be in more or less fluctuating quantities. Some sections are not yet fully developed are anxious to go ahead with their plans of progress, but do not know just how far they may advance with reasonable safety. It is felt that the investment of irrigators who have already moved into these new sections is entitled to receive adequate protection, yet other irrigators are desired, such as will not overtax and draw down the underground water supply to the point where irrigation will not be profitable to all.

Spacing of wells certain distances has already been started in some sections of these various states, irrigation districts with certain protective requirements have been formed in some, while some states have put forth necessary legislation to control and regulate the irrigation projects of their respective areas.

This vast water supply, has been proven dozens of times, in various sections surrounding both the state and the Federal government, owing to lack of funds, have not been able to make a definite survey.

Rain, generally plentiful in this country, sometimes fails, or comes belatedly. Each farm equipped with a deep water well and pump solves this the richest soil in the world, a certainty.

DETAILS OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS TO BE VOTED AUG. 24 ARE GIVEN BY STATE SECRETARY

All Amendments Will Be Numbered On Ballots So Confusion of Voters May Not Arise; Study of Each Is Advisable.

The first proposition to be found on the ballot in the August 24th special election on Constitutional amendments is the so-called Old-Age Pension amendment.

This Old-Age Pension amendment was proposed by the Legislature and the amendments will be numbered, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann.

The Old Age Pension amendment proposes to give the Legislature the authority to pay these pensions to persons over the age of 65, who are not habitual drunkards nor habitual criminals, nor inmates of any State Supported institution. Those who are eligible must have lived in Texas at least 5 years, during the nine immediately preceding application and in the State continuously for one year.

All other restrictions and limitations would have to be set up by the Legislature.

The amendment authorizes the Legislature to accept money from the Federal government for the same purpose. It is presumed that Federal funds would match State funds. The maximum amount to be paid by the State would be $15 per person per month. It is presumed that the Federal government would match State funds. The total pension per person per month in this case it is presumed would be $30. The amounts might be smaller, however, but not larger.

It is estimated that the cost of this pension to the State would run between forty and fifty million dollars annually. No provision is made for the income. It would be up to the Legislature to determine where the money would come from. The Legislature would have to enact such laws as it deemed proper to utilize the right granted by the amendment. Luscious Peaches 10-in. In Circumference From Henry Lavigne Farm

Henry Lavigne, Jr., prominent young farmer living nine miles east of Muleshoe, paid the Journal office a call Tuesday morning and brought a sample of some of the peaches taken from four year old trees he has on his place.

The peaches were almost perfect in shape, measure ten inches in circumference, beautifully colored and as fine a flavor as can be found anywhere.

Mr. Lavigne has 280 acres in row crops, consisting of corn, saffir, maize, cotton and sudan. He irrigates the entire acreage, having two wells, one of which can be developed to 1100 p. m., and the other, reaches 1800 p. m., operated by a 25 h. p. Fairbanks-Morse engine.

Mrs. Lavigne has an unusually nice garden this year, some of her products already being on the market.

Before leaving the Journal office, Mr. Lavigne ordered a year's subscription to the Journal mailed to his father, Henry Lavigne, Sr., at Auburn, Neb., who is well known here, having visited his son many times during the past few years.

MAPLE GIN NOT SOLD

P. F. Cooper, one of the owners of the cotton gin not sold in the southern part of Bailey county, advises their gin has not been sold, as reported in the Journal in a recent issue, and corrects the statement is gladly made.

Mr. Cooper states they had good showers in that section of the county last Saturday and that cotton prospects are not much better than they were last year. The Maple gin turned out about 800 bales of staple in 1934, but are expecting to gin between 1800 and 2,000 this year.

Cooper said, "Cash income from the East Texas tomato crop this year is estimated to amount $2,000,000."

MOISTURE OVER SOUTH PLAINS; GOOD CO. RAIN

From Quarter To Two Inches Boosts Row Crop Prospects.

Rain, falling gently and steadily, visited Muleshoe and this area of the South Plains Friday night boosting planted crops several thousand dollars in prospective values.

At Muleshoe the precipitation was approximately one-half inch, but many other areas report considerably heavier rainfall. In the vicinity of Baileyboro and Longview, this county, from three-quarters to an inch and a quarter are reported by some citizens. West of Muleshoe the rain was from one-quarter to an inch. There was a heavy rainfall at Farwell Saturday afternoon, and Clovis, N. M., just across the Texas line, reported .66 inch.

Plainview, 60 miles east of Muleshoe, reported .95 inch. Northeast of Muleshoe toward the Lamb county line, as much as two inches downpour was reported. In this direction and southeast of Muleshoe in the Fairview community, some damage from hail is reported.

Most of the wheat harvesting is about over, only a few growers being held up temporarily by the rains. Most spring crops are now well in hand, only a few farmers, some having to do replanting, being a little behind normal in their crop work.

Present indications are for an exceptionally large and heavy row crop this year, greatly needed by farmers, many of whom were exceedingly short of feed for their stock last year.

Sunday night there were showers reported in several sections of Bailey county.

Full Eclipse of Moon Seen Here Monday; First Time Since 1927

The moon was in full eclipse Monday night, the first time in this section since 1927.

During a period of five hours, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, the shadow of the earth slowly dropped a curtain across the face of the moon. The earth was in direct line between the sun and moon, blotting out the sun's rays.

The earth's shadow covered the moon completely for one hour and 26 minutes, the time required for the lunar body to traverse the 5,850-mile breadth of the shadow at its point in the sky.

At the beginning of the eclipse the bright surface of the moon at its eastern edge began to darken as it entered what is known as the penumbra, or outer area, of the shadow. About 9:15 o'clock the umbra, the darkest portion of the shadow, touched the moon's surface. From that time until about 10:10 o'clock the shadow darkened until the moon slowly began to reappear, hardly discernible in the sky. By 1:45 o'clock the moon was entirely out of the shadow again.

At the time of the eclipse the sun was about 94,419,000 miles away from the earth and the moon 226,740 miles away on exactly the opposite side. The earth's shadow is cone-shaped, its base being a cross-section of the earth through its 8,000 mile diameter. It extended into space about 639,100 miles beyond the moon.

HEART AND MENTAL STRAIN Some men endure mental strain and worry better than others; but, it still remains a fact that the over-taxed brain, in any man, affords one of the most certain routes to "death from heart attack."

The case of former President Wilson may be cited. He was a brilliant mentality which was worked to more than capacity limit. I never have known a man who endured greater strain, till the collapse and the crash. His circulation gave way to cerebral hemorrhage.

The strain was the real cause of death. Then Warren Harding. A man not fitted for bearing heavy mental burdens that were his. He simulated laughed, struggled, and steadily weakened. He was the best of men. He dropped almost as from a gun-shot.

President Coolidge. I couldnot call him either a physical or mental giant, rather a plain, honest little fellow, capable within certain limits. The big fellows did his figuring, while he wondered what it was all about. Sensing catastrophe he announced, "I do not choose to run." Self-preservation warned—he heeded the message, maybe not knowing exactly why. At least he recovered.

President Coolidge. I couldnot call him either a physical or mental giant, rather a plain, honest little fellow, capable within certain limits. The big fellows did his figuring, while he wondered what it was all about. Sensing catastrophe he announced, "I do not choose to run." Self-preservation warned—he heeded the message, maybe not knowing exactly why. At least he recovered.

I could name many others, if space permitted, where men simply strained themselves into the most certain of deaths from heart disease. Yet men in this letter is, to urge YOU to avoid worrying over affairs that you cannot alter to suit yourself.

An old farmer near me has had 105; I never knew him to worry about anything.

For lovers of ease there is "Elysian Fields," "Comfort," and "Paradise," while for those who prefer a more rigorous life there is "Board House," "Bald Prairie," "Frost" and "Mud."

Bee Lovers are particularly well remembered. There is "Bee House," "Beeville," "Honey Grove," and "Honey Island."

Card fans will find an "Ace," and a "King," but no Queen.

Literary-minded persons will find many characters they have known in fiction. Shakespeare's Othello must have made a big impression in the early days for there is both a "Desdemona," and an "Iago."

Sir Walter Scott, also, it appears, was well read by the early settlers. There is a "Midlothian," and an "Ivanhoe."

Lovers of gaiety would do well to visit "Jolly," or "Joy," or "Follie," Flirts would find a big welcome at "Wink."

Star gazers might do well to visit "Venus," "Vega," or "Etoile."

Texas, too, can have all of the advantages of travel along with the comforts of home. They can visit "Albion," or see the "Alhambra," go to Dublin, Jericho, London, Moscow, Naples, Northern New Ulm, Paris, China, Rhone, or Tokio—all without leaving the borders of the state.

Or they can go to Telephone and Call Louise, or Fred or Katy, or Margaret or May.

Cowboys will particularly like Lariat, Bronco, Snake, or Spur.

Barbers ought to be at home at Razor, and farmers at Pumpkinville, Blossom or Muleshoe.

For soldiers there is a Fife, and a Flagg, and for sailors an Admiral.

Business men should find Acme, Progress or Prosper attractive.

There is almost no end of trick names in the Lone Star State. The last town in the directory is "Zybach," but an more appropriate one to end the list on is "Goodnight."

PRAYER . . . a boy's life. Almost the whole population of a little New England village met in the old white-painted church one night last week to pray for the life of a little boy.

Next day they said he had a chance. The third day, a decided improvement. Another day—out of danger!

Do our New England folk still believe in the power of prayer? We hear much of the decline of the ancient faith of our fathers. It is still a living force, up here in Berkshire.

FAITH . . . today I know a surprisingly large number of people who tell me that they have found courage to face the economic disasters that have befallen them, and peace of mind such as they have never known in prosperous times.

I saw hundreds turned away for lack of room, not long ago, at one of the tri-weekly religious meetings in the grand ballroom of one of New York's largest hotels.

These people are seeking help to adjust their minds and spirits to the realities of life. Many of them are succeeding, and they are the only really happy people I know.

YOUTH . . . experience. Whenever I hear some one declaring that there is one sure way to set every thing right, my first inquiry is: "How old are you?"

As one gets older, he is not so sure that the world needs a complete remodeling, nor that it would be better for being "done over" even if that were possible.

I am constantly being reminded of a remark of Dr. Benjamin Jowett, the famous "Master of Balliol," one of his graduating classes at Oxford.

POLITICS . . . this fall. The Presidential Campaign of 1936 is already under way.

PREPARING POULTRY FOR EARLY MARKET

Sell Light-Weight Broilers Soon as Possible.

In order for the poultryman to realize higher prices for his broilers he must have them ready for market at earliest opportunity.

To secure satisfactory growth the broilers should be fed the chick starter mash throughout the entire growing season.

Starting Turkey Poults Requires Greatest Care

Starting turkey poults is more difficult than starting baby chicks, since it is often difficult to get the turkeys to eat.

Toe Picking Habit

The toe picking vice often starts innocently enough in the brooder house, but must be watched so it does not spread.

Observe Regular Habits

Regular habits are one of the important factors in the successful management of layers.

Turkey Eggs

To stimulate turkey hens to early egg-laying, P. H. Gooding, Clemson college, South Carolina, extension poultryman, suggests a dry mash kept before the turkeys at all times.

Fresh Water Important

Few people realize the importance of fresh water for the growing stock. Water helps the chick to control its body temperature.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

CRIMINALS ON PAROLE

Since Uncle Sam started in to rid the country of kindapers, and he has been doing a good job of it, the public has been surprised to find there are so many criminals on parole. Almost every gang arrested is found to be made up largely of paroled men and women. In fact, of the 11,000,000 people listed by the government as having "criminal tendencies," 6,000,000 of them have been paroled at some time or another.

The average Muleshoe citizen, like his neighbors all over the country, has not been paying much attention to the parole system in effect in his own state. It has never occurred to most people that paroling prisoners has become a "racket" in some parts of the country, and that politics, money and crooked lawyers have been using the parole system to further their own ends. Through this system there has been turned loose from our prisons, with sentences scarcely a quarter served, an army of criminals, most of whom return to lawless careers. If they have friends or relatives on the outside with a little money—and it doesn't take much these days—they can start pulling wires that soon gain them a parole and liberty.

FARM ACCIDENTS

This paper has called attention from time to time to the danger of accidents in the home and on the highway. But until now no figures could be secure showing the seriousness of accidents on the farm. So it will doubtless come as a surprise to all Muleshoe people to learn that there are more accidents on the farm than in any other occupation. Since agriculture is not generally covered by compensation laws, the accident situation on farms has received less attention than in other industries. However, it is estimated that 4,400 persons were killed in accidents on farms last year. This may be compared with 1900 in manufacturing plants, 1600 in mining and oil and gas operations, and 2300 in the construction industry.

The chief cause of farm accidents, according to recent federal reports, is machinery. Such accidents cause about 20 percent of agricultural fatalities. Second in importance are accidents caused by animals. Falls and vehicular accidents each cause nine percent of the fatalities. Excessive heat and lightning are important factors. Machinery is third cause of accidents in other types of industrial operations. There the major cause of accidents is "handing objects. All of which tends to show that the farm is not, after all, the safest place in the world, as most people had supposed. Carefulness is demanded on the farm if accidents are to be avoided, just as it is everywhere else.

FARWELL OFFICE ROBBED

Every once in a while somebody pulls a bonehead, which was the case in point last week when the office of the State Line Tribune newspaper office at Farwell. However, Editor Graham just happened to have $2.00 in his safe that night to pay the thief for his trouble. Ordinarily, newspapers have little if any money nor much of anything else of general value in their shops. Most editors have a custom of leaving their shops unlocked and in the summer time they are left wide open. We know several editors who haven't locked their shops in such a long time they don't even know where the key is now. While Graham locked the front door of his shop, yet he hung the key up on the door casing. The thief knew its location and had no difficulty in making entrance.

Finger prints left on the key by the thief have been taken, and it is stated the grand jury will do some investigating in the near future, probably resulting in it costing the paroled criminal much more than the two bucks he obtained.

Perhaps next time he will try a bank. No one of any experience is going to attempt robbing a newspaper shop, because not in one case out of a thousand would they get enough to pay for the trouble, to say nothing of the risk.

BELLS ON CATS

Now here's something for Muleshoe cats to worry about. Organizations of bird lovers and promoters of wild life have started organizing for the bell-ing of all cats in cities and towns throughout the country. They take the matter seriously, too, and declare that this country's bird population is being slowly but surely wiped out by predatory cats.

"They contend that if tiny bells were attached to the neck of each cat it would serve to warn the birds in the neighborhood of the animal's approach and they would not fall victims of the silent and swift-moving enemy. Some cities are actually said to be preparing ordinances requiring the bell-ing of cats. Whether the cat lovers of the country will organize to fight this new movement remains to be seen. In the meantime it seems that a matter for the cats to worry over. If man beings have so many other worries to take on this new one, and yet we suppose a lot of them will.

BOOTS AND MEN

Many older people around Muleshoe can recall the thrill that came with a new pair of boots. If they had red tops they were a footswear de luxe. The fresh, leathery smell of a new pair of boots brought an exhilarating thrill to a boy. One fellow sees quite an analogy between boots and men.

He expresses it thus: "Boots go on feet, so do men. Boots sometimes get light; so do men. Boots shine when polished; so do men. Poor boots are run over; so are men. A boot, to get on, needs a pull; so do men. Some boots have red tops; so do some men. Some boots are imitation calf; some men are the same. A boot can't stand water; neither can some men. When a boot is well soaked it is a sorry mess; so is a man. A boot needs a mate; so does a man. A boot when well heeled is comfortable, and so is a man."

Pavement Pickups

It is reported a charming old maid living a few miles north of Muleshoe has a cow that is so modest she won't let a man milk her. Judge Vaughan thinks criminals are a stubborn lot. He says every now and then one of them pleads guilty and instead of leaving it to him or the jury to decide.

It is said that one woman in Muleshoe who calls her husband "Theory" because he seldom works. He, in turn, calls her "Crystal," because she is always on the watch.

A Bailey county club home demonstrator was explaining to her fellow members the other day and remarked, "If I lay three eggs here and five eggs here, how many eggs will I have?" One of the member's husband who happened to come along with her scratched his head and said, "I don't believe you can do it, madam."

They have these three little public weighing scales at the Western drug store. One day a rather large woman came in and stepped on the scales to get her weight. They were out of order temporarily and the registered only 78 pounds. A kid standing by and noticing the weight exclaimed, "Gosh, she must be hollow!"

Mrs. Elmo Hedges, whose husband is in the poultry business here, handling considerable chickens and cackleberries, had been reading some of those Texas Utilities company ads. In the Journal about the advisability of employing electrical accessories to cut down personal labor, so she bought an electric egg beater, largely because they get in so many cracked eggs and have to use them one way or another. A few days after receiving the new-fangled contraption, she was beating up some eggs for dinner when something went wrong with the beater. There was a spurt, a queer choked sort of a squawk, and before her very eyes a chicken grew up in the bowl. With a wild cry it jumped from the bowl to the table, then on to the floor where it whirled around so fast it wrung its own neck. When she picked it up she discovered it had whirled around so rapidly generating so much heat in its circular motion it was nicely cooked in an ad once decided to have it for dinner. While she and friend Elmo were in the midst of eating the delicious young fowl a game warden stopped her up in his private boarding house on top of the county court house.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by REV. CHARLES E. DUNN

DAVID Lesson for July 21st. I Samuel 26: 5-12.

Golden Text: Phil. 2:4. We are impressed by the extraordinary versatility of David. "In his own person," writes Wm. Lyon Phelps, "he represents the athlete, the shepherd, the poet, the musician, the mystic, the man-of-war, the father, the friend, and the statesman."

David is perhaps best known as the resourceful courageous athlete who had become so skilful with the sling, courageously defeated Goliath, the heavyweight champion of the Philistines. This famous tale vindicates the value of long training. The young lad had become so skilful with the sling, through incessant practice, that he was able to hit the giant with but a single shot. The story also illustrates the magnitude of the Bible, which is a perfect embodiment of this distressing vice. We also observe here the truth that David's five stones represent the insignificant but vital weapons placed by God in faithful hands to slay the giants of evil. But the finest lesson of this historic combat is the priceless value of self-reliance. "Trust thyself," wrote Emerson, "every heart vibrates to that iron string."

Advice given to writers around Mule shoe since the depression includes about everything except having their tonsils taken out.

There are some folks in Muleshoe who can agree on about everything except religion, street dances and the size of halibuts.

It occurred to us the other day that we haven't seen a Muleshoe man drink out of a mistake cup for a long, long time.

Bragging may not bring business; but did you ever see a Muleshoe man who had caught a big fish dodging up an alley with it on his way home?

Maybe worry drives some Muleshoe folks crazy; but one has to be a little bit crazy to worry over things they can't help.

Some of the very conscientious of Muleshoe should offer up prayers of thanksgiving for the Supreme court. Without it they might go on using a law for years without finding it was a bad one.

There are but three ways to get money without labor—and it stinks it, or say "Darling will you be mine?" Alas, for the young squirts of Muleshoe, their hopes are about nil.

The Shepherd of Hermas, which were loved.

When discussion began as to which books ought to be read regularly, there was immediate agreement on the most important ones, the four Gospels and the larger epistles. There was a good deal of doubt about Revelation and Second Peter and the two short epistles of John, which were relatively unimportant, as was then acknowledged and is still evident. But gradually there came to be agreement, not by authority but by the test of general usage, and the translation, and later the printing of the Bible, finally fixed the list.

If anyone asks whether we know absolutely that every book in the Old and New Testament is holy above all other books, the answer is, We do not. No one can say that Esther, which is in the Bible, is nobler than Ecclesiastes, which has been dropped out; certainly it is not so religious and so sweet in spirit. No one can say that the Epistle of Jude is more inspired than the Epistle of Clement. The mountain range of the Bible shades off into foothills, and we do not know just where the range begins or ends. But the range is there, towering magnificently above all other literature. Scholars may discuss its measurements and limits; the theologian may argue its value and its "inspiration." Let them argue. What the world needs is more folks to read.

We come now to the second question. How were these chosen books preserved through the ages and passed down to us?

Until the invention of printing, which was desired mainly that the Bible might be published, copies were made by hand, and errors inevitably crept in, no matter how scrupulous the copyist's care. Hence in making translations it became desirable to have as many of them for comparison as possible. The earliest manuscript copies that have survived to our time date from the Sinaite, will illustrate the vicissitudes through which they have passed.

GIRL SCOUTS HAVE 42 PARTY

Friday evening of last week the Girl Scout organization of Muleshoe entertained with a domino and 42 party at the American Legion hall.

Miss Catherine Hobbs, leader of the scouts, was in charge of the entertainment.

A good crowd attended and two tables of dominoes and three tables of 42 were played.

The girls had previously sold tickets for the occasion for 25 cents. Several people bought tickets and were unable to attend, due to the rainy weather.

Delicious refreshments of cookies and lemonade were served and mints were on each table.

The proceeds of this affair will be used by the scouts on their summer outing which they plan to take the latter part of August. Plans are now that they will visit at Taos and Santa Fe, N. M.

The leaders of the troop are making the summer interesting by many outdoor sports and some handwork.

What's Happening In Washington And Other Cities Of Importance

Property damage estimated at 10 million dollars, also loss of 40 lives came last week as result of severe floods near Albany, N. Y.

Business and industry, as represented by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, has unleashed a furious and long-forecast assault on President Roosevelt's tax program.

Lobbying in Congress appears to be the vital theme of discussion now, the entire House membership being invited to participate in the investigation taken up. Accusations of wire tapping are rampant, and those guilty may be apprehended.

The government's forecast of this year's corn crop issued last week indicated a production of 2,044,601,000 bushels, based on July 1 conditions. Last year's corn crop totaled 1,390,716,000 bushels while the 10 year average from 1923 to 1932 was 2,562,000,000 bushels.

Following an eight-year search for a safety gasoline, a product having the consistency of cheese was tried out in New York City last week in very satisfactory manner. It is said to be non-explosive and will not even burn only in absolute contact with a flame.

The United States and Soviet Russia have signed a trade agreement which is expected to treble the value of trade between the two countries. The Russian government is pledged to purchase at least thirty million dollars worth of merchandise in the U. S. during the coming 12 months.

Governor Jose Caselle, of the Argentine Chaco, South America, last week put up to Texas congressmen in Washington a plan to import Texas cotton raisers to that section, which met with slight approval. It is stated 120 acres was offered each Texas farmer who would move to the Chaco area and raise cotton.

Just a few minutes before members of the National Geographic—U. S. Army stratosphere Balloon crew were ready to start into the upper air, the balloon to pilot the gondola blew up, the entire top of it bursting off and falling down over the metal ball. No one was injured, but all are wondering what was the cause. There was no explosion, but 375,900 cubic feet of helium gas was lost.

Intensifying antagonism of organized business toward the New Deal has already produced much restlessness throughout the nation as well as among members of Congress, now in session, and present indications are that such bad temper has only begun. The share the wealth plan of President Roosevelt, certain phases of utilities, labor, coal, TVA, and other bills are now producing much oratory, a generous portion of which is unfavorable to such passage. Several prominent political prophets have already gone so far as to forecast Roosevelt's defeat in the election next year, because of many failures in his New Deal and his attitude of taxation on many matters of national import.

CHANGES URGED IN BANKING BILL

Business Men and Bankers Agree in Objecting to Political Control Over Banks.

AMENDMENTS ARE SUGGESTED

Political Domination of Federal Reserve Board Declared to Be Undesirable for Depositors as Well as Their Banks.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Business men and bankers alike who have appeared before committees of Congress to present views regarding the Banking Act of 1935 have found common cause for criticism in those provisions which they agree would create the means for undesirable political control over the Federal Reserve System and thereby over individual banks throughout the United States. They have made the point that this undesirable condition would affect depositors in banks even more than the banks themselves.

This view has been stressed in criticisms by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and the question of partisan control over banking was the central theme of a statement presented by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, who appeared before the Senate Sub-Committee on Banking and Currency hearings here. Mr. Hecht declared that his organization is actuated by a desire to be helpful to Congress in enacting effective and workable banking legislation in the interests of all our people." He said in part:

"It is finally decided that it is necessary carry this legislation through at this session, we are strongly of the opinion that special care should be taken to keep our credit control and banking mechanism free from any sort of political considerations.

"In making this statement I do not wish to appear to question the propriety of the government's exerting a certain amount of control over banking operations so far as they affect the nation's currency and general monetary policy. Nor do we object to the powers of supervision over the operation of our banking institutions because of the semi-public responsibilities they carry. But when it comes to such matters as the granting of credit and the making of investments by our banks, these are questions of business policies that surely should not be under the sole control of a board so constituted as to be dependent upon partisan or political considerations under any administration.

The Basis of Sound Credit. "The real conditions that create the necessity for the expansion or contraction of credit arise from the needs of agriculture, industry and trade themselves, wholly independent of the administrative policies of the party which happens to be in power. We feel that the financial requirements of the nation's business constitute a continuing economic process that is not related to political changes. The fundamental principles of sound credit do not vary with variations in public thought. All experience teaches that the quality of credit is sound only so long as it is based purely on the requirements of sound business. It is not sound when any other considerations or motives enter into its composition.

The Banking Act would centralize in the Federal Reserve Board at Washington means aimed to control the supply of money in the country, which term includes the sum total of currency in circulation and demand deposits in the banks which become current through checks. The powers which it is proposed to give the Board are intended to enable it to influence the quantity of this deposit money through open market operations, the discount rate and reserve requirements.

The Need for Independence. "That is the reason why we are so strongly in favor of making the Federal Reserve Board a body of such independence and prestige that it would be definitely removed from all political thought, influence and dictation. Its members should be free to study and to act in accordance with the needs and conditions of agriculture, industry and trade. The policies of the board should have no reference to the politics or the changes in politics of the national administration.

"In our studies of the bank bill, we have been strongly impressed with the fact that it would set up a situation under which the Federal Reserve Board and its policies might be subject to control from the political administration of the country. In saying this I do not charge that it is the intention of the present administration to bring about any undue control over the nation's banking mechanism. The point is that if the bill passed as now proposed, opportunity for control would be there for the use of the present or whatever future administration might be in power.

"Our criticisms of the bill are not aimed, therefore, at the motives of the present administration, but they are wholly impersonal and non-political and are aimed entirely at the basic principles involved.

Desirable Changes Proposed. Careful study by his organization, Mr. Hecht said, had resulted in a number of suggestions for constructive revisions in the bill which he submitted to Congress. On the other hand, he declared that many of the changes proposed by the act in existing laws "are of a constructive nature and should have the support of bankers, if the method of appointment and the tenure of office of the members of the Federal Reserve Board, in whose hands it is planned to concentrate greater power than ever before, could be so altered as to insure, as far as possible, the absolute independence of the Board from partisan or political considerations." He added:

Supreme Court of Banking. "Since the passage of the Federal Reserve Act over 20 years ago, opinion in Congress and among bankers has been striving towards the ideal of making the Federal Reserve Board a body of such independence and prestige that it might be described as the Supreme Court of Finance and Banking. We believe there is greater need now than ever before for realizing this ideal."

R. S. HECHT

Mr. Hecht emphasized that it is "the genuine desire of the banking fraternity to be helpful and constructive in making suggestions in connection with this pending legislation. The changes we are urging are we believe essential to the continued independence of the Federal Reserve System."

"We have made it clear that we do not object to a measure of public control in the adoption of interest for proper coordination of our manifold credit operations," he said, "and we do not believe the sponsors of the legislation desire any political domination over these activities through our Federal Reserve System.

"Under such circumstances we feel that the adoption of political control is favorably acted upon because they would enable the reconstructed Federal Reserve Board to function freely as a nonpolitical body actuated only by the dictates of sound financial and economic policies conceived in the interest of all of our people.

Banks Rapidly Reduce Debt

Although the sum of $1,860,000,000 has been advanced to banks and trust companies by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since it began operations in February, 1932, down to April 30, 1935, these institutions have repaid no less than $1,340,000,000, or more than 72%. This rate of repayment is reported as being considerably in excess of that made by any other type of borrower.

Loans were authorized by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to 7,396 banks and trust companies in an aggregate amount of $2,350,000,000, but of this sum $1,860,000,000 was withdrawn or cancelled and $140,000,000 has not yet been taken out by the borrowers.

Simplification of Bank Checks

New York.—In a bulletin issued by the Bank Management Commission of the American Bankers Association, plans are described for carrying on the simplification of bank checks, notes, drafts and similar instruments in respect to size and uniformity of arrangement of subject matter.

Detailed recommendations for this end were formulated by the association about ten years ago, the bulletin says, and promulgated by the United States Department of Commerce among banks, business houses and other numbers of checks, commercial stationers and lithographers. As a result about 85 per cent adherence to the recommendations was brought about. The present bulletin, which describes the standard specifications in full, is issued to maintain this high level of adherence to the recommendations.

National Bank Notes

Changes in our money on the scale of about $800,000,000 are now going on through the retirement of national bank notes. This is reflected in increasing deposits in the Treasury of lawful money to replace bonds held against outstanding notes which will require some time for withdrawal from circulation.

The change in the currency will require a considerable shift of bank funds in many cases, but it is doubtful if so large a volume of currency has ever been retired and replaced in any country with so little disturbance.

TEXAS CROPS IN BETTER SHAPE THAN YEAR AGO

June, July Rains and Sunshine Give A Better Outlook.

Government crop observers at Austin reported last Saturday June rains and sunshine combined to make the July 1 condition of all field crops much better than a year ago, while July conditions have mostly been favorable, too.

"Moisture supplies are good in practically all of the state," the United States Department of Agriculture report stated, "except in a few counties in the extreme western portion, and in these moisture deficiency areas, conditions are greatly improved over those of a month ago."

Except for citrus fruit, the department said, "the outlook is for a much better fruit production than was obtained last season."

Cotton acreage standing July 1 was estimated at 11,357,000 acres, five per cent greater than on the same date last year. No estimate was made of production.

Acreages in various other crops, except wheat and Irish potatoes, were estimated greater than last year. Unfavorable weather last fall and winter caused heavy abandonment of wheat.

Corn acreage of 5,709,000 acres was reported 12 per cent greater than last year, and based on a condition of 81 per cent, nine per cent higher than a 10-year average production of 108,471,000 bushels was forecast.

Acreage, condition and indicated production respectively, in other crops included: Oats, 1,747,000 acres, 13 per cent increase, condition not estimated, 40,181,000 bushels.

- It was all over—that dream that he and she were one! The wife arose unsteadily and put on her hat. She was weary, weary to the very bone—weariness of it all—weariness of his dreams, his promises, his unmanly evasions, his slams, his weak, miserable subterfuges. But her eyes were resolute. "It's no use," she said bitterly. "I'm going!" At the door she paused, took a glance at herself in the mirror to see how her hat looked and if her nose was properly powdered, set her lips with a cold, unyielding rigidity and fixed her eyes on him, while he poured forth the very sound of an injured man and husband in one last anguished appeal. "Think of me!" he cried desperately. "Think of your father and mine! Think of our son—" "It's no use," she retorted bitterly. "I've borrowed from my neighbors long enough. In going to have a subscription to the Muleshoe Journal for myself and feel upright and independent, no matter what you think or say."

Beauty Winner

Miss Adella Beavers, of Muleshoe, who was awarded title of "Miss Eastern New Mexico" at Beauty Pageant in Clovis, N. M., last week.

Miss Adella Beavers Wins High Honors in N.M. Beauty Pageant

Miss Adella Beavers, Muleshoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Beavers, and a Senior at W. T. S. T. college, Canyon, was awarded the title of "Miss Eastern New Mexico," in the final judging in the Fifth Annual Beach Fashion Parade and Beauty Pageant, in which 40 of the loveliest girls of Clovis, N. M., and neighboring towns were competing for the titles of "Miss Clovis," "Miss Curry County," and "Miss Eastern New Mexico," in Clovis, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

The other winners were: "Miss Clovis," Miss Helen Miller; "Miss Curry County," Miss Wilma Taylor.

Tuesday the audience voted by secret ballot for the fifteen most outstanding girls, judging on poise, personality and figure. The winners in this popular election were not made known until Wednesday night, when, after all contestants had appeared on the stage, the fifteen girls who were to remain in the contest returned to the stage individually.

The five judges, three of Lubbock and two of Roswell, were then confronted with the task of choosing from these beauties the six most outstanding, four from Clovis and two from out-of-town.

Russell Hardwick, acting as master of ceremonies, then presented the six elected by the judges. The two out-of-town selections were Miss Evelyn Kyker and Miss Adella Beavers. It then remained for the judges to elect their three alternates. While this was being done, all participants except the seven still in the contest paraded on the stage for the grand finale. After several minutes of suspense for audience and contestants alike, Mr. Hardwick, manager of the theatre, announced the winners and Miss Ruth Lee Jones, "Miss Queen of the Southwest" for 1934, presented the ribbons to the fortunate. The winners were as follows: "Miss Clovis"—Miss Helen Miller, representing Mandell's; "Miss Curry County"—Miss Wilma Taylor, representing the Bi-State Motor Co.; "Miss Eastern New Mexico"—Miss Adella Beavers, representing Muleshoe. The alternates chosen were Miss Rena Glenn, appearing for Fox Drug Co.; Miss Rowena Taylor, appearing for Raton Creamery, and Miss Evelyn Kyker, appearing for the Fox Drug Co. at Farwell. In the event that any of the three winners should be unable to attend the final contest at Roswell, the alternates will replace them in the order named.

Immediately after the Beauty Pageant, a dance was held at the Hotel Clovis in honor of "Miss Clovis," "Miss Curry County," and "Miss Eastern New Mexico." The three will receive a five-day trip to Roswell where they will enter the finals and compete for the title, "Miss Queen of the Southwest." During their stay in Roswell they will be royally entertained with dances, swimming parties, luncheons, etc. They will also go through the Carlsbad Caverns and visit other places of interest. The winner at Roswell will be awarded a two weeks trip to Hollywood where she will make a screen test at the Paramount Studios and be entertained at many of the famous spots in California. A trip to Caliente, a visit to the Exposition at San Diego, the royal suite in Hollywood's leading hotel, a star escort, and luncheon with the stars are a few of the privileges she will enjoy while in the movie city.

During the last few weeks there have been semi-final and final contests in 35 towns throughout Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico. From these towns 25 girls have been chosen to go to Roswell to compete for the "Queenship," among them these three representatives. These 26 young ladies will be guests at the Lyceum Theatre on August 15, and the populace at Clovis will be able to hold an unofficial election to see if they can determine who will be the final winner. The beauties will appear on the stage at the Lyceum on that date, and afterwards there will be a dance in honor of the visiting contestants.

GOVERNMENT FURNISHES FISH

Frank T. Bell, head of the U. S. Fish Commission, Washington, is making a survey of lakes and stream in the Panhandle area with a view of stocking them with bass, perch, charr and catfish.

It is understood that parties owning lakes and ponds where the water is perpetual and who will care for the fish may secure such for stocking.

State taxes on gas reached a new high total of $565,927,000 in 1934, and added to federal gasoline taxes of $170,109,000, increased the cost of motor fuel by a grand total of $735,136,000.

Reports of 1934 state gasoline tax collections, received from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads by the American Petroleum Industries committee, indicate that receipts from this source were roughly $47,000,000 higher than the $518,196,000 collections of 1933 and approximately $30,000,000 higher than the previous peak income, $538,397,000, collected in 1931.

Texas is fifth New York state again collected the largest amount, $43,927,000, or $583,000 more than in 1933. Ohio was second with $37,618,000, or $3,679,000 more than in 1933. California was third with $35,960,000, representing an increase of $743,000. Pennsylvania was fourth with $33,409,000, an increase of $2,570,000, and Texas fifth with $31,640,000, an increase of $3,161,000.

Two increases in state tax rates were made during the year. The Arkansas rate was raised to 6 1/2 cents per gallon from 6 cents February 3. Colorado's 4 cents rate was increased to 5 cents between February 1 and September 1. The bureau's report showed the weighted average tax rate for 1933 to be 3.66 per gallon. This is increased one cent per gallon by the federal tax. Taxes were paid upon 15,494,461,000 gallons of gasoline in 1934 as compared with 14,224,321,270 in 1933. Refunds, representing exemption from taxation for gasoline used for purposes other than propelling motor vehicles on highways, amounted to $26,698,000, with no comparable figure for 1933 available.

The Household

By LYDIA LE BARON WALKER

ONE of the petty annoyances that every one has who wears shoes that fasten with ties or shoestrings, is the coming in of the knot. That is unless these persons have learned the way to make the bows secure, and few have found the solution. So let me tell you today of a method whereby this bother can be prevented. It is so easy any one, even a child, can do it.

Make the first twists of the strings about each other, as usual, which is loosely termed tying the knot. However, as defined as intertwining parts "so that they will not slip," the usual method is scarcely correct. But we will understand what is meant whether we signify this crossing of shoe strings (one over and one under the other) by making the knot together or knotting them.

Make a loop of one of the strings close to this tying as usual and proceed to loop the other end about it exactly as you do when tying a bow. But, instead of making the second loop immediately, draw the whole length of the string or ribbon through and proceed to make the second loop. Draw tight as is customary. This bow will not come undone or work out.

Make Bow Straight.

It is easy to understand that when the strain and rub come on the bow, the knot beneath, instead of working loose, tightens. We now have a real dictionary type of knot for it "will not slip." This is no theory, but a practical working plan, one I have used for many years and found absolutely successful.

Selecting Silverware.

Selecting silverware is a pleasant task which, at one time or another falls to the lot of every homemaker. It may be the silver for her own home, or it may be for a wedding present for a new home. In either event the person sees the beautiful pieces, reproductions of choice old patterns or new pieces and new styles. As silverware has both a decorative and practical purpose, it should fulfill both missions, and always prove an artistic pleasure.

The shapes and sizes of flatware and hollow ware have been carefully thought out by makers in order for each piece to fulfill best its special use. The name flatware refers to knives, forks, spoons and all such pieces as lie flat on the table and are service or individual pieces. The name hollow ware pertains to all containers, which in order to hold things must be hollow, such as pitchers, coffee and tea pots, sugar bowls, and plates, dishes of all sorts and descriptions that are made of this precious metal. Trays and platters, although they may be flat, yet nevertheless are containers and under the category of hollow ware. Flatware consists of small articles. Hollow ware pieces are larger, although their sizes differ widely.

Lacquering New Wood

If new wood is to be lacquered, a wood filler is required to secure a finish that is entirely smooth. The filler is applied in the usual manner, being brushed on, the excess wiped off, the surface allowed to dry. Lacquer is applied with a soft hair brush and "flowed" on rather than stroked back and forth. It should smooth itself out and never be gone over a second time if it is possible to avoid it.

Hot Water Bottles

Hot-water bottles should always be light in weight. Don't make the common mistake of filling them to bursting point, thinking they will keep hot longer. A bottle should be filled to about one-quarter its capacity. Press the bottle to allow the steam to escape before you add the stopper.

Paint Basement Floor

A good grade of deck paint that resists dampness is most satisfactory for concrete basement floors. It comes in medium brody tints, yellow, stone, medium gray, dark red and other colors.

Buttonholes

Buttonholes made with a fine crochet thread do not tear out so easily as those made with ordinary sewing thread, and can be made faster.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, July 17 (Auto-caster)—How far will the House of Representatives go in its revolt against the President? That is by all odds the most widely-discussed question in Washington these days. The lower House of Congress, having overwhelmingly voted down one of the President's "must" orders, the "death-sentence" clause in the Utilities Holding Company bill, is feeling its oats. It may take the bit in the teeth and run wild.

The boys have been ordering without open protest, though with a good deal of grumbling, for the sake, mainly, of party harmony and their own chances of re-election. A lot of them, particularly from the South, are getting word from back home that the folks are getting tired of having new projects spring on them, and wish Washington would slow down for a while.

There was pretty general resentment in Congress of the President's effort to have his new "share the wealth" tax program rushed through on five days' notice, and that resentment was not materially cooled by his concession that they might take all summer to consider the bill. They may or may not work out a new tax bill that will meet the President's views. Talk of adjourning and letting Congress study the tax matter, for report and action at the next session, is heard on many sides. What is more likely is that the boys will stay here until Fall and maybe try to put over some of the measures which the President does not want.

It is more than likely that, instead of a bill to tax only huge incomes, enormous estates and wealthy corporations, such a President Roosevelt asked for, Congress may give him a general revision of income and inheritance tax laws, running all the way down the scale. Also, new greenbacks, silver and bonus bills for good measure.

Lobby Investigation

Another thing that has got the boys on Capitol Hill all stirred up is the open charge that the Administration sought to buy votes for the "death-sentence" measure, by promise of patronage and three million dollars in relief funds. Representative Ralph Brewster (R- of Maine made the flat statement that one of the "brain-trusters" who drew up the "Revolving Company bill, Thomas G. Corcoran of the R. F. C. staff, had warned him that if he voted "wrong" the funds for the Passanunody power project would be held up.

The result is a professional investigation of lobbying by both outsiders and insiders.

The President's latest bombshell is his letter to Representative Sam B. Hill, of Washington, urging Congress to disregard the Constitution in considering the Guffey Bituminous Coal Mining Regulation bill. Mr. Hill is chairman of the sub-committee having the bill in charge. Mr. Roosevelt wrote: "I hope your committee will not permit doubts as to constitutionality, however reasonable, to block the suggested legislation."

The President explained in his letter that the only way to find out whether coal-mining was subject to Federal regulation, was to try to regulate it and so bring the question to the Supreme Court. "A decision by the Supreme Court relative to this measure would be helpful," he said, "as indicating, with increasing clarity, constitutional limits within which this government must operate."

The Constitution Issue

Now the boys are asking each other whether that would be good politics for them individually and for the Democratic Party. The Opposition would like nothing better than to fight on the battleground of the Constitution. Indeed, it becomes more nearly a certainty, from week to week, that the question of Constitutional amendment to permit the Federal Government to do a lot of things this Administration has been trying to do, but which the Constitution, as interpreted by the Supreme Court, says it has no power to do, will be a major issue between the two parties next year.

Some of the President's closest friends are wishing that his wise old political strategist, Col. Louis McHenry Howe, were not disabled. Nobody else has the complete confidence of Mr. Roosevelt; from nobody else does he recognize political advice as uncolored by personal ambition.

Tuesday, about 7 p. m., according to report, the Chevrolet sedan owned by J. L. Actinison, living in the Progress community, collided with a truck loaded with cats, on the dealer from Muleshoe to Clovis, near the residence of Geo. Nelson.

Mr. Actinison, it is stated, received some scratches and cuts on the face, his car was badly damaged, estimated cost of repairs being around $200. The truck load of cats was said to have been turned over, spilling the cats, but the name of the driver has not been ascertained.

DETAILS OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED AUG. 24 GIVEN BY STATE SECRETARY
tion of alcoholic liquors (except 32 beer). This prohibition would be stricken out by adoption of the repeal amendment.
The proposed amendment specifically prohibits the return of the open saloon—and it would be up to the Legislature to define the term "open saloon."

No machinery is set up for the sale of liquor. The Legislature would have the authority to determine just who and just how liquor is to be sold. This could be done by State monopoly or through private channels. The Legislature would have the authority to pass laws regulating local option elections.
If the amendment is adopted all counties, cities and precincts that were dry in 1919 when the statewide prohibition was adopted would be dry now—at least until local option elections were held to determine otherwise.

It is well to remember, that there will be an election next year in November to determine whether the State shall sell liquor through a State Monopoly system. If the repeal amendment is adopted in August the State may establish a state control and monopoly system. If the repeal amendment is defeated in August, it will in effect be submitted again in November, 1936, in the State Monopoly amendment which says the state shall have a liquor monopoly. To retain the present dry status both the August 24th amendment and the November 1936 amendment must be defeated. Passage of either will repeal the present prohibition section of the Constitution.

for officials now receiving fees in such counties. In counties of under 20,000 population the Commissioners courts may put their county and precinct officials on a salary basis if they so desire. The Amendment does not specifically state who shall set the salaries of such officials in this case.
If this amendment is adopted all district officers must be compensated on a salary basis.
The amendment provides that fees shall continue to be collected as at present but they will go to the county instead of the officer. The evident purpose of this amendment is to place as many public officials on straight salaries as is possible and thus abolish, in so far as is possible the payment of officials through the present fee system.

Free Text Books for Private and Parochial Schools
The Texas Constitution at the present time provides that the State is without authority to furnish free text books to other than public schools. Proposed amendment number seven would permit the State to supply free textbooks to all schools, private and parochial. Such textbooks, it is presumed, in so far as is possible the payment of officials through the present fee system.

Advocates of this amendment state this would entail no additional expense because the State now purchases more books than are necessary. Advocates point out that they pay taxes to support public schools but that if they choose to send their children to private or parochial schools the least the State can do is to supply the textbooks free.

Probably the most important and less publicized provision of this Amendment is the fact that it proposes to rewrite Section 5 of Article Seven of the Constitution so as to permit the apportionment of school funds on some other basis than scholastic population.

For many years there has been considerable agitation in certain quarters to abolish the "school census" or scholastic population system of apportioning school funds and substitute in lieu thereof the "average attendance" basis or some other basis. The Legislature would determine just how this was to be done, if this amendment is adopted. If adopted this proposed amendment number seven would mean, in effect: (1) that the State would furnish free textbooks to pupils in all the schools of Texas; and (2) that a new basis for apportioning school funds other than the scholastic census basis, could be set up.

Seasons Affect Wool Growth
Growth of wool is subject to fairly wide seasonal variations even among sheep kept on a uniform diet, according to experiments conducted at the University of California. The most rapid growth occurs in the late spring, early summer and early fall. Rate of growth of wool is markedly affected by the nutrition of the animal, it was found.

Suspended Sentence or Probation Amendment
Proposition Number 5 reads: "For (and against) the Amendment to the State Constitution authorizing the Courts to place defendants on probation."
Proponents claim that if this amendment is passed, many who are now sent to the penitentiary for first offenses will be permitted to enjoy suspended sentences under restrictions of the court.
The only restriction under the present suspended sentence law is the fact that the defendant must not be convicted of a felony—that is, a crime punishable by confinement in the penitentiary. The judge or court has no control nor can it set up or impose any other restrictions.
It is the understanding of those who have studied the amendment that if passed it would permit the Legislature to pass laws giving the courts the right to suspend sentences and place defendants on such probation as the court might deem proper. In other words the court could suspend sentences subject to certain limitations. If those restrictions or limitations were not observed the Court would have the authority to have the defendant committed to the penitentiary without further ado. Many courts now refuse to grant suspended sentences for the reason that they have no control over the defendant after the same is granted. It is pointed out that this would prevent many first offenders from having to go to the penitentiary and reclaim many of them for society.
If a suspended sentence is given under the present law the only limitation is that the defendant must not be convicted of a felony. The court has no control over him nor can it impose other conditions.

Abolishing Fee System for Paying Officials
Proposed Amendment No. 6 provides that the fee system as a method of paying certain precinct county and district officials shall be abolished in counties having 20,000 or more population according to the last Federal census. The Legislature, if the amendment is adopted, set the salaries

HASSELL MURDER CASE TOLD IN A DETECTIVE MAGAZINE
The gruesome details of the George J. Hassell murder case, which occurred near Farwell in December, 1926, appears in story form in the last issue of "Famous Detective Cases" magazine, being a rehearsal of that case by Attorney J. D. Thomas, Farwell, who was prosecutor at that time, and told to Rhea Vernon, of Abilene.
Both parties to the story are well known in Muleshoe, and because of the nearness of the crime setting and local acquaintance of the writers, the rehearsal will be of interest to people of this section.
