name of Jim Baum's family is spreading. By now it is probably subject of conversation around messes of fighting men in Vietnam.

three-pound package sent last week to Capt. Gray, an Army pilot in the combat zone.

Cowan, who will be his family here July they were from Lufkin to head the program at Cross Plains High School, gets a recommendation from Winfrey.

played high school football under the man," says the merchant, "and not only under him an outstanding but one of the finest of boys I've ever seen."

GAY TIME — Things are always lively when people of the Burkett area gather at the Community Center there for their regular monthly suppers. Favorite among the entertainers are the Burkett Playboys, a string orchestra, pictured here. Shown from left to right are W. M. Stansbury with the steel guitar, W. B. and Carl Blutworth picking standard guitars, Frank Spencer with the mandolin, George Johnson and his sister the fiddlers standing, Freddy Thate seated and picking a standard guitar, and Tom DeArmond the base fiddler. The piano player with only a portion of his back pictured is Gilder Adams.

Lakewood Recreation Center proving so popular, many who once played have resumed the game.

To this category belongs Jim Baum. He cast his sticks aside some 20 years ago and hadn't played a game since. One day a week he joined a foursome of his old mates and only beat every one of them but shot a better score than his custom a generation ago.

Some persons have wondered why Caddo Peaks near Cross Plains are so named. Old timers point out that two prominent terrain features were once look-outs for the Caddo Indians, sometimes strayed into Comanche hunting ground. The men learning of the custom named the peaks for them long before it was a Callahan County.

There seems to be no end to the jokes told on Texas & M graduates, but Pat Neel has one which is at least on the nicer side.

"Have you heard about Aggie," he asks, "who up on his plow backwards and unplowed 40 feet before noticing the plow?"

B. (Slim) Harmon seemed a heck of a hurry Monday morning.

"What's the rush?" asked the man.

"I slowed down just long enough to say: 'I left my milk and she had both full. I'm hunting a barrel.'"

Art Fisher, Rising Star winner in Sunbelt medal play golf tournament at Lakewood Recreation Center, was the only player to reach the trophy. His winning 88, though, is about what his wife normally shoots.

ART FISHER'S FIRST ACE

Art Fisher, Rising Star winner, scored the first hole-in-one at Lakewood Recreation Center's revamped golf course one afternoon last week, when he hit a perfect six-iron shot on the 145-yard number 8 hole.

James Rutherford and Lane Wells, co-workers with Fisher who were playing with him at the time, said that the ball carried the green, bounced two times and landed squarely in the cup.

Fisher is one of Lakewood's better golfers and shoots the course consistently close to par.

OLD TIMERS — Two of the old timers down the Burkett way, who enjoyed the community supper and entertainment there the night of June 17 are shown above. They are Earnest Harris, left and G. Boyles. The two men have a combined residence in the Burkett locality of near 150 years.

Mrs. Scott Odom

Donna Rasch Becomes Bride Of Scott Odom Friday Night

Miss Donna Rasch of Coleman and Scott Odom of Cross Plains were married Friday, June 30, in Coleman. Her parents are Mrs. Minnie Rasch of Coleman and A. A. Rasch of Reston, Va., and his are Mr. and Mrs. Morris Odom of Cross Plains.

Jim Hance of San Antonio, former minister of Cross Plains Church of Christ, read the double ring rites at 7:30 p.m. in Coleman Church of Christ. Music was presented by the James Crowder Quartet, an a capella group from Abilene Christian College.

Forming a background for the ceremony were multi-tapered candelabra, tall twin baskets of white gladioli, stock and chrysanthemums accented by a row and streamers of wide bridal ribbon, and a large center arrangement of the same flowers.

The bride, when given in marriage by her father, wore a demi-fitted A-line organza gown accented by a long sleeved lace cage which swept to a chapel length Watteau train. The redingote front, the yoke and the bottom edge of the cage were scalloped and pearl-ed. Her chapel length veil of illusion, which fell from a queen's crown of pearls, was trimmed with appliques of lace.

She carried a bouquet of white roses atop a white Bible, and wore a pair of diamond earrings which belong to her mother. She also carried a white handkerchief which belonged to her late grandmother, Mrs. W. F. Fenton.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Brian Rasch, wore an A-line gown of true blue peau de soie, and carried a nosegay of white roses. Her headdress was a fingertip veil of blue tulle with blue rosebuds on satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jimmie Folkner, Miss Rita Roberts, Miss Fancine McClure and Miss Charlotte Frick. Their costumes and flowers matched those of the matron of honor.

Mitzi Burns, cousin of the groom was flower girl. She wore a short A-line dress of blue peau de soie and carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

Best man was the brother of the groom, Sam Odom, of Cross Plains. Groomsmen were the brother of the bride, Brian Rasch of Coleman; Tommy Purvis, Reggy Stover, Eddy Don Edmondson, all of Cross Plains.

Candlelighters were Arnold Childers and Kent Bowden, and ushers were Jimmie Hargrove, Arnold Childers, Gary Odom and Kent Bowden.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in Coleman County Rural Electrification Cooperative.

The couple have returned from a brief honeymoon trip and will reside at an apartment at the Mrs. Juanita Mayes place until September, when they will move to College Station and he will enter Texas A&M.

11-Inning Marathon Closes Little League Season Here

An 11-inning thriller was the fitting climax to a successful Little League season in Cross Plains Thursday night.

The extended game featured the champion Buffs and runner-up Cats which the league kings finally won 20-19. The game was not necessary because final standings could not be changed regardless of the result, but it was a matter of utmost importance to two fine, high-spirited Little League teams.

It all started on a routine note with the Buffs posting a 5-0 lead in two innings. Cats, however, knotted the count in the third only to fall behind by eight runs. Again Cats arose in the fifth and sixth tallying the needed aggregate to send the game into extra innings.

A scoreless seventh was followed by the Buffs taking a 14-13 lead in the eighth, but Cats countered. Each team scored twice in the ninth and once in the tenth before the fateful eleventh.

Buffs pushed three runs across home plate in the top of the eleventh with Calvin Corley scoring what proved to be the winning run on a double by Eddie Weiss. Cats quickly pulled within one, 19-20, but winning pitcher Eddie Wyatt tagged what would have been the tying runner out at the plate to end the marathon.

Wyatt was the last of four Buff hurlers, starter Jerry Fortune, Jerry Lewis, Calvin Corley. Eventual loser was Cat Buddy Dillard who hurled six innings of relief of Tony Golsen who replaced starter Roger Crawford.

Buff Bruce Johnson provided the only fence-clearing hit of the night, a two-run clout in the fifth inning.

Share Third

Kilowatts overcame a five run deficit and thrashed the Scouts 16-5 to gain a share of third place in the final standings in Thursday's opener.

After the Scouts five-run outburst in the first, pitchers Eddie Koenig, winner, and Lynn Koenig pitched shutout ball. Losing hurler was starter Ricky Potter, and Jimmy Bates and Carl Thomas saw mound duty.

Eddie Koenig upped the Kilowatts lead to 12-5 in the third inning with a two-run homer in the third.

In gaining a share of third with the Scouts, Kilowatts also clinched the runner-up spot for the Cats. However, Cats had assured themselves of at least a tie for second place with a 12-11 triumph over the Kilowatts in the opener Tuesday of last week. Golsen was the winner although he had help from Roy Dillard and Crawford. Eddie Koenig was the loser with help from Lynn Koenig.

Scouts upset the champ Buffs 7-5 in the nightcap Tuesday. Rodney Renfro was the winner in going the six innings, and loser was starter Danny Corley with help from Ricky Kirkham and Jerry Lewis.
