"Or we'll arrange a short tour in swine identification for Dale at the next State Fair if you'll be sure to get him down here," Don says.

The Rev. Billy Foster, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Bayard, N. M., writes to renew his subscription to the home town newspaper and says to say hello to friends of all his family, which includes: Billy June, Randy, Lynn and Mike.

Last Rites Held Sunday For Prominent Rancher

W. T. McClure, 80-year-old retired Cross Plains rancher and former Abilene machinery dealer, died at 6:40 p.m. Friday in West Texas Medical Center in Abilene after an extended illness.
Funeral services were at 2 p.m. Sunday at Higginbotham Funeral Chapel here. Officiating was the Rev. W. C. Crawford, pastor the First United Methodist Church of Cross Plains. Burial was in the Pioneer Cemetery. Masons conducted graveside rites.
Born in Stephens County, July 12, 1888, Mr. McClure moved with his parents, Tom and Sidney McClure, to Pioneer when he was one month old. His mother and father were affectionately known in the community as "Aunt Sid" and "Uncle Tom". His father, who was a rancher when he came to Texas in 1872 and settled west of Brownwood, built the first frame house in Brownwood, hauling the lumber from Waco. "Uncle Tom" was a school teacher and ordained preacher who often filled the pulpit of the Baptist Church.

Mr. McClure's first adventure into business came when he was 13 years old and started buying cattle. When he was 18 he became postmaster at Pioneer and served three years. Legally, he was supposed to have been 21, but his friends and residents of the Pioneer community signed a petition urging him to be their postmaster.
Leaving Pioneer in 1912, Mr. McClure went to live in New Mexico near Deming where he worked as a cowboy for a year at $45 a month. From there he moved to Magdalena, N. M., and hauled ore and mined lead and zinc as he once said "not very successfully" for seven years. After World War I in 1919 the mines shut down, and with some horses he owned, Mr. McClure started in the general contracting business, constructing highways and railroads.
He returned to Texas in 1932 and continued in the general contracting business until he moved in 1934 to Abilene where he went into the machinery business.
Upon selling his business in 1951, Mr. McClure moved to his ranch 10 miles north of Cross Plains. Ambitious to grow grass that "would reach stirrups", he used bulldozers and goats to convert 8,400 acres of tree and shrub-covered land into grass land area for livestock. Mr. McClure retired from ranching in 1958.
He and the former Bertha Zimmermann were married March 28, 1934, in Tulia. Mr. McClure attended public school in Pioneer and went to Hardin-Simmons University one year after passing entrance exams to enroll. He played football at the college.
A member of the Masonic Lodge at Magdalena, N. M., Mr. McClure also belonged to the Dallas Consistory and was a charter member of the Shrine at San Angelo.
Surviving are his wife; three sons, Mike McClure of Baytown, Hubert McClure of Abilene and Victor McClure of Cross Plains; one daughter, Sidney McClure of Cross Plains; one brother, Bryant McClure of Los Angeles, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. E. E. Stewart of San Fernando, Calif., and Mrs. W. H. Barlow of Kaufman, and three grandchildren.
Palbearers were Mark Adair, Dave Lee, Damon Jones and Ike Neal, all of Cross Plains; Dr. Hubert Seale of Abilene, and Ray Alderman of Winters.
