HOLLOW SHELL - Top photo showsa protion of the skelton that remains of the Cross Plains Elementary School building which was destroyed by fire late Wednesday and early Thursday. The loss, estimated to be $250, 000, was the greatest incurred by this city in many years, possibly in history. The blaze could not be contained in Star and Coleman. The fire Principal Scot Edington viewing the ruins, and pondering possible solutions. A bond the near future to try to get funds to replace the structure which was built in 1926. Insurance on the building and furnishings was expected to total about $70,000.
