WALLACE AIDES EXPLAIN PLANS OF THE NEW AAA

Thirty Million Acres To Be Retired For Soil Conservation.

Midwestern and southern farm leaders, anxious to be about their spring planting are speeding critical debates tonight of the Agriculture and Commerce program, which would limit major crops to 270,000,000 acres for the nation.

As unfolded at Chicago and at a similar gathering in Memphis, Tenn., last week in a statement from Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, the program suggesting a $470,000,000 soil conservation subsidy included the main points:

1. A quota of 270,000,000 acres to be devoted to major crops in 1936 with 30,000,000 acres retired to soil building production in grasses and legumes.

2. Distribution of payments to individual farmers in two classifications—one with a national average amounting to about $11 an acre for retired land from major crop production; another suggested at 75 cents to $1 an acre for land already used for grasses and legumes.

These benefits would be distributed to the North and in the South on "proven" basis for the kind retired.

Retirement would be limited in 1936 to 10,000,000 acres with administration in principle through groups and a state board, maximum acreage of major crops to be set for each farmer benefit payment.

The program would trend development of state plans completely by 1935. Leaders at Chicago, numbered 200 who were called upon to propose for improvement the farming needs of a million acres, estimated the acreage under the program to be approximately the same as the new super-production arrangement.

Under the new plan, M. L. Wilson, assistant secretary at the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said that the program would be necessary to pay the assistance can and should be provided immediately.

I am a farmer in Hale county and deeply appreciate the honor paid me by the past by the members of the eight counties in this district, and if again chosen to represent this district I pledge my constant and continuous study of public questions and all problems connected with it.

At the present time, I am for putting the old age assistance law in operation at once and believe that revenues necessary to pay the assistance can and should be provided immediately.

Representative A. B. Tarwater Is Out For Re-election This Dist.

In this issue of the Journal, A. B. Tarwater, of Hale county, makes announcement of his desire for re-election as state representative from this district.

When first elected to the Legislature, he was pledged to sponsor and work for the passage of provisions in the Gasoline Tax law to take the tax off of gasoline used in farm machinery.

After a hard fight, this was done and since it became a part of the Gasoline Tax law it has saved the farmers of Texas about $10,000,000. Since the refund was put in the Gasoline Tax law, repeated efforts have been made to abolish it and I have always lead a successful fight to retain the refund in the gasoline tax law.

I have taken an active part in all fields of proposed legislation, especially on tax measures, and have served on the House committee on Revenue and Taxation throughout my service. In the 43rd Legislature I was chairman of the House committee on Agriculture.

I am now chairman of the House committee on Conservation and Reclamation and this committee will, under the new Federal Farm act, have control of any state legislation which may be necessary to carry out in this state the recent Federal Farm act.

Experience and training as a legislator can only be obtained by service, and in these times of uncertainty and changing conditions this district may decide to take advantage of the training it has made possible for me to have and continue my service in the Legislature.

My record in past legislatures should be a fair test of what my course may be in the future, and this record is open to all voters who wish to look it up. I am for orderly, effective legislation whenever necessary for good government and for the welfare of our citizens and shall always sponsor and support legislation essential to curb greed and keep open wide the door of opportunity for all. I am for a strong government, economically as it is possible to have it.

The people adopted by constitutional amendment the old age assistance section of the constitution by a heavy vote. I am for carrying out the mandate of the people and am for putting the old age assistance law in operation at once and believe that revenues necessary to pay the assistance can and should be provided immediately.

I am a farmer in Hale county and deeply appreciate the honor paid me by the past by the members of the eight counties in this district, and if again chosen to represent this district I pledge my constant and continuous study of public questions and all problems connected with it.

DAUGHERTY AND BILLINGSLEY OF LARIAT ARRESTED BY SHERIFF JIM COOK IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH

J. A. Gibson Dies From Knife Wound Saturday Night After Fights In A Clovis, N. M., Rooming House.

Raleigh Daugherty and M. C. Billingsley were arrested last Saturday night near Lariat about 12 miles northwest of Muleshoe, by Sheriff Jim Cook, of Bailey county, in connection with the fatal shooting of J. A. Gibson, wholesale liquor dealer at Clovis, N. M., which occurred about three hours before. The men were taken to the new Mexico state line, where they were turned over to officers there in custody. They made no resistance when taken by Cook and later made statements regarding the fracas resulting in Gibson's death.

A coroner's jury in session Sunday returned a verdict to the effect that Gibson met his death from knife wounds, and Daugherty and Billingsley are being held without bond in connection with the liquor man's death.

The killing occurred in a rooming house on Mitchell street, and various statements of details fail to give immediate information, some alleged facts being more or less crosswise of each other, probably requiring court evidence and testimony to bring out the real status of affairs of the killing.

Ruth Bowman, proprietress of the rooming house, declares that Daugherty and Billingsley, both strangers to her, came into the lobby of that place about seven o'clock Saturday night, Daugherty becoming involved in an argument with a girl rooming there. In some manner, during the altercation, a crash was heard, and the woman said she found a drain sink broken from the wall and lying on the floor. She claims to have remonstrated with Daugherty for the incident, that he became abusive to her, and that she in anger struck him in the face, and as he started to strike back, Gibson, who had just entered the room, intervened by stepping between them and pushing Daugherty back.

Daugherty claims this was followed by a fist fight in which he was attacked by three men, none of whom he knew. He claims he was severely beaten over the head, but finally got away from the bunch and into an adjacent room.

The sum of $15 was awarded commercial patrons of Muleshoe concerns last Saturday afternoon, J. H. Deering, route 1, Muleshoe, receiving $10; Rev. M. W. Hough, route 2, Muleshoe, $5; Mrs. I. G. Roberts, route 1, Muleshoe, $2. The names of Roy Trueslock, Goodland and Desnal Rannals, route 1, Farwell, were also called for awards but were not present.

A mattress of local make was also auctioned off by Manager Cook, bringing a good price.

There was a big crowd in town that day, and good patronage is reported by various business concerns.

There will be another cash awarding held here Saturday afternoon, to which all guests and business patrons are invited to attend. Those who have not yet registered are requested to do so.

At the regular Chamber of Commerce meeting held Friday noon the matter of a factory being located in Muleshoe for canning tomatoes and beans was ardently discussed, it being stated by one of the members present that such a factory could be secured if a reasonable amount of acreage would be planted for its accommodation.

The planting of more grape vineyards in Bailey county was also urged. It being pointed out this section was well adapted for grape production, several small vineyards already planted producing well.

MULESHOE TEAM RUNNER-UP IN AAU MEETING

Sterling All-Star Selection, Other Players Are Honored.

Officials and sports writers were unusually alike in the selection of a state A. A. U. all tournament basketball team this year. Of the 12 places on the mythical squad, eight were unanimous.

Ruby Sterling, Muleshoe; Reba Shaul, Plainview; Rachel Covington, Wimsboro, and Gienna Johnson, Emory, were in unanimous choices for guard position. The other players selected were M. E. Bagwell of Panhandle also made the all-star squad as guards of outstanding work.

Clayda Walker and Ruby Reddell of Plainview were selected forwards along with Lefty Davis and Jimmie Scott of Emory. Loyce Huff, Channing star, and Lillian Buford were the other forwards named by a special committee.

Muleshoe-McLean Game Playing a slow but deliberate game on a polished, slick floor, the Muleshoe basketball girls defeated McLean girls in a classic 29-27 point game.

McLean guarding with an unbreakable zone defense, hovered around the goal like a miser around his money, but they counted money too long and did not count long shots that "Dead Shot" Maida Chandler looped to get a lead of 19-13 at the half!

During the last of the game Jean William broke out in a scoring rush as McLean's tri-state guard smothered Maida Chandler with her glue-like tenacity.

McLean scored 27-29 to her down as Muleshoe climber the second and fatal rung to A. A. U. honors.

Muleshoe vs Rockdale Muleshoe, drew a pessimism (one of the three undefeated ones prior to the tournament) from Rockdale, near Temple in Central Texas.

This game was credited by officials and coaches as the outstanding one of the tournament, raising second to the final classic between Plainview and Wimsboro.

Ruby Sterling gained her all-state laurels in this tussle, by guarding Louise Barns, Rockdale's six foot ace forward.

The floor work was neat and scoring was perfect as the lead changed two points at a time while the ball alternated in possession of the contending teams.

25,000 Acres Will Be Terraced During 1936 In Bailey Co.

Preventing wind erosion and conservation of moisture by terracing and contouring is increasing in Bailey county, according to J. B. Waide, Jr., county agent. Five farm levels owned by the county are kept busy at all times and eight demonstrations have been given to assist farmers who were not familiar with the use of the farm level in running their lines and leveling the use of that instrument.

The majority of the terrace and contour lines were run by farmers who understood the use of the farm level. Waide stated that Dickey and Robb, of Electra, in cooperation with the soil conservation service were doing some of the best work in the county on terracing. The Dickey and Robb farms are located four miles west of Circleback. County road equipment is being used for construction of broad base terraces under supervision of the Soil Conservation service.

Waide stated that from reports received from all the communities in the county, it is indicated more than 25,000 acres of land will be terraced and contoured this year.

GRAPE PRUNING DEMONSTRATION

A grape pruning demonstration was given at the community farm agent, at the C. P. Howell place in Enochs last Monday, it being attended by about 20 interested farmers.

Waide explained approved methods of eliminated undesired branches, how to build trellises and attach the vines, and how to make and handle cuttings for new vines.

Several cuttings were taken from the vineyard, holed out, and will be used by Jimmy Roseboro, extension horticulturist, in a demonstration to be given in this county sometime in April, at which time further explanation of how to make cuttings, plant and care for them will be given.

The Resettlement Administration Is Of Co. Importance

Several land use adjustment, rural resettlement and other types of projects being developed under the Resettlement Administration general purpose program have been transferred to the regional office at Amarillo, according to P. L. Payne, rural supervisor for Lamb and Bailey counties.

Many of these projects, Payne said, are very important, looking toward adjustment of the rural population, calculated to curb wind erosion, meet acute agricultural problems and demonstrate practicability of resettling distressed farm families now on unproductive land.

Another type of project being established in this section is irrigation adjustments, looking toward establishing the best system suited to local conditions. The Muleshoe Migratory Waterfowl refuge, the only project of its kind in this region, also comes under direction of this administration, Payne said.

BORDER STATES MISSION SHOPS BRICK FOR APRIL 1

J. L. Taylor has rented his brick building on Main street, now occupied by the Mission barber shop, to the Border Grocery and Market, to be occupied about the first of April.

Mr. Border states because of his rapidly growing business added room and floor space is greatly needed, and in these larger quarters new lines can be added and larger stocks kept on hand.

Taylor will move his barber shop into the building farther up on Main street now being occupied by the Muleshoe Cleaners, it being large enough to accommodate both concerns.

Ex-soldiers Begin Improvement Of The Muleshoe Cemetery

Ex-soldiers of the local post, American Legion, last week purchased a 10-foot steel windmill and 20 foot tower which was erected at the local cemetery. Pipe is this week being obtained to be laid throughout the entire burying ground to this 100 feet of hose will reach any point desired for watering purposes.

W. B. McAdams has ordered 100 Guinness cement which he has donated for cemetery beautification, and a trip is to soon be made into the mountains of New Mexico to obtain cedar and pine trees to be located along the main avenues of the place. Plans are now being made for old-time cemetery working and up day to be observed as the nature, the men, and do the work furnish food.

SECURITY

These days a great deal is being spoken and written on this one word. The Social Security Act is before Congress. Insurance companies are busy selling a policy that guarantees an income after a certain age is reached.

In keeping with the trend of times, we are about to inaugurate a policy regarding the sale of Used Cars. This plan will definitely place every used car or truck in a certain classification, and every car in each classification will have a very definite guarantee delivered with it.

In this way, all "guess-work" will be eliminated on every used car we sell. Watch for announcement.

Experiment Station Use By Farmers Is Urged By Official

College Station—"Business men and farmers and ranchmen have a common problem in finding the way to restore agriculture to a paying basis, because as the president of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce so well pointed out in a recent speech "Civilization begins and ends with the plow, and so does prosperity." Prosperity not alone for farm and ranch families but for the families of men engaged in commerce, industry and other occupations" said Jack Shelton, vice-director of the Texas Extension Service and state agent in charge of men's work, in a recent interview.

"No one wants class legislation for the farmer—the thing which affects him affects every agency which sells to him or touches him in any way," Shelton said. "The farmer does not want class legislation nor any unfair advantage for himself either. All that he has ever asked for is an opportunity to produce and market and an equal basis with industry.

"We have been thinking a lot about the new agricultural program as we have been able to catch details of what Congress has been considering. The job is going to be to apply it to local conditions as they are found throughout the state so we have been studying how it could be applied to the Panhandle where the great wheat lands are located; how to apply it to the Plains where cotton and grain sorghums are important crops; how to apply it to the Blacklands—the central cotton belt; how to apply it to East Texas and how to apply it to the Rio Grande valley.

"As I understand it," Shelton said, "It is just a question of developing a good sound agricultural program in each region and on each farm. Nothing will be required except the application of those practices of soil utilization and conservation which have become recognized as the best for Texas. Farmers themselves should have a large part in applying this program. They will know not only the general conditions of their region, but special conditions applying to individual farms. "It is fortunate that there is a great deal of experimental information available to aid in establishing any new agricultural program which may be offered. There are 17 experiment stations placed in strategic positions over Texas, many of which have worked for a long period of years. They have accumulated much practical information which is going to be of great value in establishing what is proper land utilization and conservation," Shelton said.

Mrs. H. O. Soles Body Slashed With Razor Wednesday

Mrs. H. O. Soles, about 40 years of age, Tuesday morning about nine o'clock was the victim of several body slashes. It being alleged she attempted to commit suicide. She had been in poor health for the past year.

She had left the house and failed to return, according to available information. Other members of the household becoming alarmed at her continued absence found her in a small outhouse on the premises. There was a gash about two and one-half inches long in her throat, also a second one about one inch long, both narrowly missing the jugular vein. There were also six gashes across both wrists and across both ankles, said to have been made with a razor.

She was rushed to a local surgeon's office where the wounds were sitched, after the loss of considerable blood.

It is said the woman will recover unless complications of some kind arise.

Seed Buying Time Be Careful Says County Farm Agent

Now is the time that seeds salesmen begin their operations in offering products that are presumably of good quality, according to J. B. Waide, county farm agent, and some of these brands and trade marks are invariably questionable while some have no merit at all, he said.

Large multi-colored catalogs are now all the vogue, everything flourishing on paper and making one hungry just to read about them, yet one must be very careful in seed purchases for a mistake in so doing will work up big in the fall when harvest arrives and the crop is either there at all. Then it's too late.

ADVERTISING BUILDS INDUSTRY

A fine testimonial to the increasing value of newspaper advertising as a producer of business and industrial development was given in a recent public statement by L. A. Warren, President of Safeway Stores, Inc., a chain grocery system serving western America.

Citing his own company as a barometer indicative of the attitude of business in general toward advertising, Mr. Warren declared that he considered the growth of Safeway Stores and similar systems but a reflection of the power of newspapers to build and maintain public respect and public patronage. He added: "It is through advertising that people come to know and to understand the scope of any business concern's public service, and the commodities it offers for public consumption."

"It seems only natural that those concerns using newspaper advertising uninterrupted year after year, do retain the highest confidence of the public that they serve. Their customers have found out that they can truthfully rely upon the advertised product, service and economy which so often feature the display advertising of the chain stores."

"We have repeatedly endeavored to help farmers dispose of surplus or distressed crops by conducting widespread advertising campaigns on certain products at various seasons of the year. These campaigns have been eminently successful and the benefits to agriculture are both a tribute to newspaper advertising and the advantages of chain-store distribution."

Any kind of merchandise, chain or independent, will doubtless reflect Mr. Warren's views. Newspaper advertising is not only the best way to get business for a good product or service—it is also the best way to hold it.

EARLY GROWN ONIONS BRING FEWEST TEARS

Onions bring tears to the eyes because of the powerful volatile oil they contain—but their "strength" depends somewhat upon when and where they are grown.

"Onions grown during the winter, spring and early summer have a milder odor than those of the same variety grown later in the summer," says W. R. Beattie, of the Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture. "Hot growing temperatures enable the onion to produce more of the tear-producing oil than cooler temperatures."

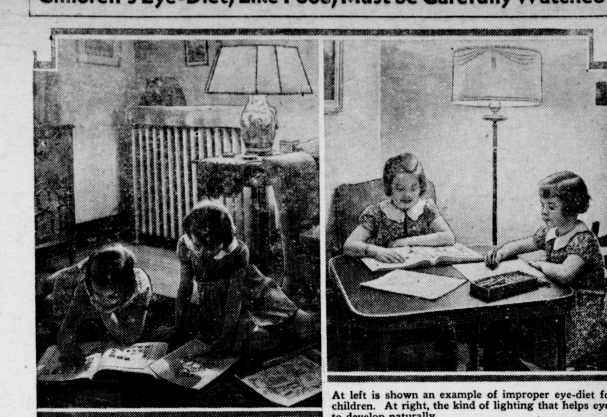

Discovery that tears from onions are caused by a volatile oil is accredited to a German chemist. He distilled more than a ton of onions to obtain less than one-tenth of a pint of pure oil. A drop of this oil is said to be enough to make the odor of onions noticeable throughout several large buildings.

One variety of Italian red onion is almost odorless when grown in its native Italy, but decidedly stronger when grown in this country. The most pungent varieties grown in the United States are the Red Creole, White Portugal, Australian Brown, and Ebenezer, and in the mildest group are the Italian Red and sweet Spanish types.

IMPROVING HATCHING QUALITY

It is just as important to chickens or animals as it is to human beings. Hatchability of eggs can be raised by use of green feed, according to E. M. Funk of Missouri state college. In regions where green feed is not available on the range alfalfa leaf meal should be fed. Bright alfalfa hay placed in the feed racks is almost as good.

Children's Eye-Diet, Like Food, Must be Carefully Watched

At left is shown an example of improper eye-diet for children. At right, the kind of lighting that helps eyes to develop naturally.

By Jean Prentice

ARE you one of those enlightened, modern mothers who serve carefully-planned, well-balanced meals to their children? If you are, you know the importance of proper diet to the child's health and well-being.

But do you know that just as the human system requires a well-balanced diet for good health, so do eyes require well-balanced lighting for easy, comfortable and safe seeing? They do. And lighting is no better a substitute for quality in lighting than in food. A combination of the two is just as important in the one case as in the other. The notion that the only thing needed for good seeing is a good pair of eyes is as out of date as a kerosene lamp. In total darkness, even the best pair of eyes is worthless, you know. And when children are permitted to read and study on poorly-lighted floors, their eye-diet is being neglected.

The illustration at upper left shows just what I mean. When children are too far away from the lamp to use their eyes safely for close seeing, when they are in their own shadows, and when their positions are such that both eyes cannot be in focus on the work, they are likely to develop eyestrain, or "indigestion of the eyes." When, on the other hand, they sit comfortably at a well-lighted desk or table, with an abundance of soft, well-diffused light coming from a modern table or floor lamp, they have a well-balanced eye-diet that afflicts one out of every five children today.

Young eyes, like young bodies, need care and attention. They should be regularly checked by an eye-sight specialist. And at all times, they should be supplied by plenty of good light, of right quality, so that their sight may be preserved for the long years ahead.

PLOW REACHED PRESENT STATE OF UTILITY LONG AFTER PAINFUL PROGRESS
The plow, first among basic farm implements, reached present utility only after centuries of painful progress, says a statement from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Research by the bureau of Agricultural Engineering shows that the first plows, fashioned from crooked tree branches, were pulled by one or more men, another forcing the crude implement into the soil. The barbarous custom of hitching draft animals to plows by their tails was practiced as late as 1631.

The statement relates that when effort was made to introduce cast-iron plows in the United States farmers declared they poisoned the soil and prevented crops growing. Sir Robert Peel, English statesman, in 1860 gave his farmers "two iron plows of the best construction." On his next visit they were using wooden plows, believing iron plows made weeds grow.

DOES IT PAY?
By MRS. C. C. MARDIS
Muleshoe H. D. Reporter

"Has it been worth while?" This is one of the questions asked in talking about the home demonstration club work in Bailey county.

In getting this report of the year's work of the Muleshoe H. D. club for 1935, I will say, I think it has.

The club was organized April 12, at Mrs. Sam Cook's with 15 members.

The first regular meeting was held April 22 with Mrs. Dudley Buzard. Since then we have held two meetings a month. Miss Stewart meeting with us in one meeting a month, also, had representatives at the Parliamentary school and the reporters school held at Muleshoe High school building. Mrs. Geo. Harmon of Lamb county being the principal instructor. We sent six representatives to the Short course at Canyon held one tile demonstration at Mrs. R. L. Jones; as she was our garden demonstrator. She laid 112 feet of tile in her garden. We gave our banquet to the Kiwanians of Muleshoe and sent two delegates to the Short Course at College Station. We held one demonstration on vegetable cookery in the home of Mrs. C. C. Mardis, and one on salad making and serving in the home of Mrs. Tyson, also, one demonstration on canning equipment in the home of Mrs. John Gaede and one on canning vegetables in the home of Mrs. A. C. Gaede.

The club was represented by several members at the beauty picnic at Robinson's ranch Aug. 21. One delegate attended the two day school in pattern making given by Mrs. Dora Barnes clothing specialist from A & M college in Muleshoe.

Six members attended the Dairy judging demonstration in Muleshoe given by K. M. Renner of Texas Tech. Most of our members entered exhibits in the Bailey county fair vegetables, canned goods, quilts and old relics.

The club won first on educational booth and first on garden demonstrator book, besides 21 ribbons, including 14 firsts, two seconds and five thirds.

When we had our Achievement day at Mrs. R. L. Jones' we began to realize the work and effort we had put forth when our garden demonstrator and 21 co-operators gave their reports we learned we had canned, dried, and preserved over 6,000 containers of food valued at $4,971. As we had an enrollment of 45 members most of the year, one can see what our record would have been, if all could have handed in their reports in time.

I think one can well say it has been worth while; when one realizes the social contacts we have made with the various club women over the county and know how much the work means to Bailey county in a social as well as financial way.

We give much of the credit to Miss Stewart our H. D. County agent, for without her help we could have done nothing. Last year was a short club year as Miss Stewart didn't get started until April, but we have very good evidence that a group of women can do when they all work together. What our club has done other clubs over the county have also done. Some much better than we. We have an active 4-H girls club of about 18 members, also a representative woman with the farmers association.

Build: Cellar
"I am so proud of our new cellar which is 10x12 feet," said Mrs. J. V. Lemons, cooperator of the Watson home demonstration club. "We have built 160 feet of shelves for my canned products. We used undressed lumber and the total cost of the cellar was $10 for labor and material," added Mrs. Lemons.

Plans to Build Clothes Closet
"I do not have a clothes closet in my bedroom, so I plan to build one," said Vinetta Van Camp, clothing demonstrator, Baileyboro 4-H club. "I have planned to paint or paper the inside, build a shoe rack, make hat racks, build shelves, and put up a rod for hangers," added Vinetta.

Will Remodel Closet
"I have a clothes closet but plan to remodel it this spring," said Nora Lee Dotson, clothing demonstrator of the West Camp 4-H club. She plans to finish the walls, move the rod, build shelves, make a shoe rack and some hat racks, cover the floor, and paper or paint the inside.

Does Not Dread Sewing
"I have always dreaded to make a dress and put it off as long as I could, but since I have my foundation pattern and know that a dress made by it will fit I am anxious to make a dress as soon as I get one," said Mr. O. N. Wilson, clothing demonstrator of the Circleback home demonstration club. Mrs. Wilson has supervised the making of 17 skirts and has some waists ready to be checked by the agent.

BRUCE BARTON

Make Home Building Easy
Home is a little white cottage with green blinds where love locks the door against the world, and the warm light of the open fire weaves a halo around every head. Yes, indeed.

Also, Home is a piece of land which you buy after weeks of horse-trading with a real-estate. Home is an expensive journey with a lawyer back through the title records. Home is a contract supposed to include everything, but which, by the time you have suggested a couple of little changes, such as a light in the front hall and some shelves over the kitchen sink, turns out to represent only a very minor part of your cost.

Home is a place where you hear the electrician who installs the door bell saying to the electrician who installs the lighting fixtures: "Do you think I am going to let you run your wires through my coat?" A place where you hear the plumber saying to the steam-fitter: "that is my job, not yours how do you get that way?"

Home is a place that was to be all ready for occupancy on October 1st, and into which you move on February 1st in order to get the painters out. Home is a place where every time you make the slightest improvement the tax assessor comes around and boosts your assessments.

The above remarks, intended somewhat in the spirit of good clean fun, doubtless will raise a small riot among such members of my congregation as happen to be engaged in real estate, law, architecture, contracting, or labor union management.

To all such I would say earnestly and prayerfully: "You have no idea how much more business you could do if you only would get together, work together, and iron out the hundreds of needless annoyances that now plague the builder of a home."

G-Men Give Much
In Washington recently I took occasion to pay my respects to J. Edgar Hoover, head of the G-Men. As we were friends, he gave me a little special attention, but any citizen is invited to visit the department.

Here are five million finger-prints, sent in by police departments all over the country. Some departments send only the prints of felons; others file prints of every one who comes in to even the slightest conflict with the law. It has happened more than once that an offender, picked up in one city for so small a thing as running past a traffic light, has proved to be wanted in another city for a major crime.

The finger-prints never lie, and so marvelous is the system of filing them that even you or I, with a couple of hours, instruction, could locate any particular set of prints.

Of the criminals the G-Men have brought to trial in the last year, nine out of ten were convicted. The principal reason for this astonishing record is that every G-Man must be either a lawyer or a chartered accountant; they know how to get the kind of evidence that will stand up.

The G-Men are paid altogether too little. The total expenses of the Department last year were about four million dollars, and it collected, in fines and recoveries, more than thirty millions. The wonderfully efficient and economical service of governmental employees who protect our lives and property, handle our mail and guard our health, should always be properly paid.

The unusing millions give an awful lot for the little they are paid. And right up near the top of this good list is Edgar Hoover and his G-Men.

NO TIME FOR FOOLIN'

A certain noted temperance worker was strolling through one of Washington's parks and noted a man stretched out on the grass, his hair tousled and face flushed. Concluding that the man was under the influence of alcohol, he paused to chide him gently.

"My friend, did you ever stop to think that if the price of a drink of liquor had been put out at compound interest at the time of the Queen of Sheba's visit to Solomon it would now amount to $7,921,763.11?"

"No," answered the prone one, "but I'm somewhat of a statistician myself and I'm telling you that if you aren't 121 feet from here in 9 seconds, I'm going to hit you on the nose 23 times and cause you to see 13,791 stars. I have just had 5 teeth pulled at $1.75 a pull and I'm in no humor for figuring."

LUBBOCK GAS ELECTION HAS FAILED IS COURT RULING

Final judgment in the bond election held in Lubbock last October 3 for a municipal gas service plant for that city, was given Monday by District Judge Clark M. Mullan of the 99th district court, when he ruled that a majority of votes cast by disqualified voters were against the proposition.

From evidence submitted, it appears a large number of citizens voted in the October election who were not qualified to do so, but there were more of such disqualified citizens who favored the bond issuance than those against it.

It was previously certified that the measure had carried by 24 votes, but a review of the ballots showed it to have been defeated by 71 votes.

Venezuelan History
The Spanish first landed in Venezuela in 1498, in the year 1530 Spain's king sent a German there as the first governor in the interests of a German firm of bankers to whom the king had leased the country in the adjustments of debts owed by the king.

OLD AGE PENSIONERS POUR APPLICATIONS INTO AUSTIN

Old age pension applications have begun pouring into headquarters office at Austin, more than 80,000 having been received this week, and approximately 40,000 more expected before the new week begins. There were 300,000 application blanks printed, and it is stated 80,000 will be required, so great is the demand.

A budget is a good thing for any family if the family will carry it out, but it won't work miracles by itself.

Farmers Who Will

That Bailey county will probably receive about $5,000 from the total soil erosion bill recently passed by Congress, is the statement of J. B. Waide Jr., county farm agent, this estimate being based on an approximate need of erosion work on some 20,000 acres of land in the county. The total allotment for Texas has been placed at $500,000.

A county wide set-up of committees will be made this week, under direction of the Extension Council of the Bailey County Farm association, to handle distribution of funds allotted this county, a committee of three being appointed, a treasurer, needed clerical assistance and a committee for each community in the county, Waide said.

Grants of 20 cents per acre will be made on wind blown land, where such land is contoured or is to be contoured.

The county has six levels, one of which will be allotted to each County Commissioners' district and two kept at the county agent's office. All are to be at the service of farmers needing them.

Douglas Fairbanks, former husband of Mary Pickford, was last week refused a marriage performance to Lady Ashley in France on the grounds the laws of that nation require that the couple reside before such ceremony would be legal. TREE WINDBREAKERS AN OLD IDEA

Tree planting had been authorized by the federal government more than 50 years before the institution of the Great Plains shelterbelt project. The Timber Culture act was enacted by Congress in 1873. It provided homesteads for those who agreed to plant a certain amount of land to trees. It was amended and then repealed entirely in 1891 because of abuses, even fraud being attempted to obtain free land.
