MISSING FROM LINER WHEN IT DOCKED TODAY

Radio Operator Wanted in Clothes Lost Slaying.

FRANCISCO, June 6. — L. Tallman, charged with the murder of Mrs. Patty in Los Angeles, was from the liner Admiral when it docked here short-ly. Captain M. A. ...

The radio operator was last seen about 9 o'clock last night when he served dinner in the stateroom where he was held captive. At that time the Admiral Benson was about 200 yards off-shore in Half Moon Bay.

Among the crowd gathered at the dock when the Admiral Benson arrived was Harry Tallman, the hunted man's father, who was at loss to explain why his son dodged questioning in connection with the murder.

NEW EVIDENCE IS UNEARTHED.

LOS ANGELES, June 6. — New evidence, through which police hope to identify William L. Tallman, as the center of the "love apartment" in which Mrs. Virginia Patty was murdered, was unearthed today by C. Morton Booth, attorney for Frank D. Patty, husband of the slain woman.

Booth said he had described several men's garments found in the apartment to Mrs. Patty's mother, Mrs. T. P. Scott, in Sioux City, Ia., and that he said they corresponded to the clothing worn by Tallman when she last saw him three months ago.

5 Line Will Dispose of $7,500 Estate

DALLAS, June 6.—A five line will was filed for probate here today. It is Mrs. Estelle M. Greenfield, who died last Saturday, disposes of an estate valued at $7,500. It was one of the shortest wills ever filed here.

Show Girl Jumps Seven Stories to Her Death After Informing Hotel

CHICAGO, June 6. — A torn dairy and a seven-word declaration of love told the story today of the 12-story leap of Miss Barbara Cole, show girl who played in "Rose Marie" and Ziegfeld's "Blue Boy."

Miss Cole took the receiver from her phone last night in her luxurious northside apartment and called the hotel office. "Tell Miss Cole, I am going to jump from my window," she announced calmly to the startled operator.

The only note police could find was a single sentence written across the fly leaf of her diary. It read: "I love Ed Page, 1209 Astor street." Edwin Page, La Salle street broker, lives at that address and when communicated with said he and Miss Cole had had a love affair but it was broken off yesterday afternoon after a quarrel.

PASSAGE OF BILL DELAYED WITH ATTACK

AUSTIN, June 6.—Senator Joe Moore of Greenville has postponed passage of the senate appropriation bill for eleemosynary institutions by an attack on proposed establishment of a state psychiatric hospital in connection with Baylor Medical school at Dallas. "If the Baptists of Texas want to establish a psychiatric school, they should pay for it," said Moore.

ERUPTION OF VESUVIUS IS ABATING NOW

NAPLES, June 6.—Mt. Vesuvius' new eruption and the lava flow which has continued for three days had abated considerably today. The long stream of lava, extending from the eruptive center in the southeastern crater of the volcano almost to the town of Terzino, had lost much of its heat and was turning black, which indicated its power was lessening.

Only one death was reported from the three day outbreak. An aged farmer was found dead a few feet before the slowly advancing wall of lava which was passing over his land. It was believed he died of a broken heart at seeing his lands submerged.

The farmer had fled from his home with other refugees, but slipped away from them and returned to sit near his farm and watch it as it was engulfed.

Letters on Wing of Plane Are Explained

FORT WORTH, June 6. — Did you ever notice those letters N. C. S. X and what have you in front of the license numbers on airplanes? As might be expected, there's a reason. Texas Air Transport officials here explain that an X means experimental unlicensed ship; N means licensed for international service; S licensed for commercial service; C government service, and E, preceding a factory identification number shows that the plane is not yet licensed.

ROTARIANS HERE REPORT ON CONVENTION

In the absence of a formal program the Cisco Rotary club at its noon meeting today engaged in an informal but deeply interesting review of the international convention of the great service club at Dallas recently. Bruce Boney, delegate to the convention from the Cisco club, led the discussion, calling upon various members to give their impressions of certain actions or occurrences at the gathering.

On the other hand, he pointed out the true significance of the word as it is understood by Rotarians does not mean money profit alone, although a reasonable profit of that character is contemplated. But the full meaning takes into consideration mental, spiritual and social values. With this fact in view the resolution was put aside and the slogan continued as hitherto in force.

Leon Maher in an able description told of the magnificence and impressiveness of the "Procession of Flags" which took place at Owenby stadium as a feature of the entertainment program. In this procession the flags of the various nations were carried by young ladies to the strain of national music, displayed from a platform and finally placed in a revolving wheel the ceremony demonstrating the influence of Rotary in binding the nations together in accord.

E. P. Crawford also spoke on certain phases of the work that was done at the Dallas convention. Discussion of the convention will be continued at further meetings of the club here.

Visitors present today were: Ross Boerster, wholesale grocerman of Henryetta, Oklahoma; S. R. Beeman, of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, of Cisco; D. M. Wilson, of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, who is moving to Cisco; Walter Jarrett and E. R. McDaniel, of the Coca-Cola Bottling company of Abilene and Cisco; and Floyd Jones, attorney of Breckenridge.

17-Year-Old Cisco Boy Is a Foreman

Finnis Guthrie, son of Mrs. Georgia Guthrie, left this morning for Memphis, Tenn., where he is in the employment of the American Telephone company as construction foreman. Guthrie is only 17 years old and was born and reared in Cisco. His father was W. C. Guthrie, who for years was employed by the Katy railroad.

CASE OPENED AT HUNTSVILLE THIS MORNING

Fort Worth Slayer Faces New Charge of Robbery.

BRYAN, June 6. — Taking of testimony by which the state hopes for a second time to assess the death penalty against Bob Silver was expected to get under way early this afternoon before District Judge Davis.

Seven jurors had been chosen at noon to try the young convict for robbery by firearms. Little trouble was being encountered in getting a jury.

Mrs. Mary Louise Silver, the defendant's mother dressed in black sat quietly beside her son, closely watching each move.

BRYAN, June 6.—A huge crowd from Houston, Huntsville, Bryan and surrounding area was gathered in District Judge Davis' court room today as the trial of Bob Silver, Fort Worth slayer, was called.

Silver, whose death sentence was commuted by Governor Moody to life imprisonment, faces a charge of robbery by firearms, along with three other convicts for taking an auto at the point of a pistol in an escape about two months ago from Wynne state prison farm. Prosecutors announced they would ask the death penalty.

A special venire of 75 men has been called in the Silver case. Special venires also having been called for three others charged with him—Robert Hill, John Reid and W. M. Asbell. The quarter commanded an auto in Huntsville, after walking four miles from the Wynne tuberculosis farm, and drove to Houston on the night of April 12. Silver later was captured in Houston.

Silver's trial was to be called first, attorneys agreed. Silver's mother, Mrs. Mary Louise Silver, was to take her place beside her son during the trial.

New President for Westminster

MEXIA, June 6. — Election of Dr. Frank W. Stephenson, secretary of the board of religious education of the Methodist Protestant church, as president of Westminster college at Tehuacana was announced at a meeting of the board of regents of the college here Wednesday.

Rain Postpones Hops to Rome and Paris

EAST AURORA, N. Y., June 6. —Two persons were killed and 11 others were injured, two perhaps fatally, when a gas well being brought in by the Iroquois Gas corporation exploded and burst into flames last night. Cause of the explosion was unknown.

C. I. A. Yell Leader Helped Loboes Win

DENTON, June 6.—Back in 1925, when the eyes of Texas football fans turned toward Cisco as the fighting Big Dam Loboes made their way into the state semi-finals, a little freckle-faced girl led her high school and the entire citizenship of the suddenly football-mad town in one of the most enthusiastic and unanimous pep campaigns the state has known. Katherine Moss, then a child who was still wearing short socks, was elected as yell leader by her classmates, who had discovered that this tiny sprite could produce an ear-splitting yell from thousands of throats with the twist of her wrists or a turn of her rhythmic body.

"KITTY" MOSS

Yell leaders of rival schools weakened and became hoarse, but Kitty Moss was as energetic and as fresh after a long season of hard games as at the first of September. Throughout the rest of her high-school career, she led the uniformed pep squad of the Cisco high school in pep stunts and yells, and the squad fast gained a state-wide reputation. No movie collegian had it on Kitty Moss when it came to agility and her famous hand springs that followed exciting Cisco touchdowns became a tradition.

Today the little enthusiast, now a freshman at the College of Industrial Arts, has put up her hair and has assumed the dignity that collegiate standing demands, but her remarkable vitality and ability as a yell leader is the same as when the tiny figure first stepped courageously out in front of her home-town crowd and yelled: "Fifteen for Loboes! C'mon, let's go!"

As yell leader today for the 1,810 students of C. I. A., Miss Moss used the technique that her years of high school experience taught her. "It wasn't hard to get a response in Cisco because of that old Cisco spirit," she says. "And it's just as easy here, because everybody is peppy." Her commands for yells are almost military-like. Instead of the "Now, come on, everybody, please yell a little louder," it's "Snap into it, gang. That last one was rotten!" with Kitty Moss. And her enthusiasm lies in the fact that her chief hobby is yell leading, she says. "I'd rather be out in front of a crowd helping them support a football team than anything I know of," she insists.

ABILENE GAS BLAST DEATHS REACH THREE

ABILENE, June 6. — With the death of Mrs. Gene Frank Lawler, the toll in Abilene's gas explosion had mounted to three today. Efforts to save Mrs. Lawler were futile and she died in a hospital last night.

Her husband and year-old baby, Doris, were the first victims of the explosion. The family had gone to inspect an apartment and when Lawler struck a match the explosion followed. Lawler and his daughter were badly burned and Mrs. Lawler was hurled through a window.

MOODY GRANTS WEEK'S STAY FOR MCKENZIE

AUSTIN, June 6. — Governor Moody this afternoon granted John A. McKenzie a week's stay of execution.

McKenzie was to have been electrocuted after mid-night. The delay is to enable the governor to confer with former District Attorney Chambers of San Antonio. McKenzie was convicted of killing Detective Chief Sam Street of San Antonio.

NEW PREMIER CALLS UPON RETIRING ONE

LONDON, June 6.—J. Ramsey MacDonald, the next British prime minister, called at Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's official residence, 10 Downing street today, accompanied by Labrite leaders.

The Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, who frequently has been mentioned as the possible foreign secretary in the MacDonald cabinet, and the Rt. Hon. Phillip Snowden, the possible chancellor of the exchequer, were with MacDonald.

Current Comment

BY HARLEY W. MITCHELL In Aeronautics

If someone had suggested to George Washington that he should seek out the comparatively useless gentleman who ran the Navy, and gently seek his permission before crossing the historic Delaware, George, who had good sense, would have gazed rather sorrowfully at him and locked him up where he would be safe.

The good general believed somewhat as the illustrious Bonaparte, that battles are fought on the field of battle. He undoubtedly felt that he knew more about his kind of fighting than anyone else within calling range, and he meant to fight it out first and seek advice later.

The mad and unbelievably selfish attitude of our civilian and military politicians, who cavalierly subordinate the good of the country to their stubbornness and private ambitions, is one of the most curious developments of this era. They justify their attitude with the most idiotic drivel same men ever gave voice to.

The forces of the air ARE NEITHER A TOY NOR AN ACCESSORY and it is about time the public conscience became aware of the fact. The forces of the air ARE OUR MOST IMPORTANT LINE OF DEFENSE and time will prove this.

Congress should be aware that neither a politician nor a land officer, whose ideas are wholly colored by his education and the needs of his own particular brand of sense, is qualified to judge the air freely and impartially.

Congress should create a new and separate line of defense with its own chiefs and officers—men schooled to the air, to whom it is their whole existence. It is in this specialization that power lies.

A great new military college devoted wholly to the aeronautical service, should be built to which young men will go by rigid appointment, as they do to West Point and Annapolis.

This should be built somewhere on the open plains of the Middle West, perhaps at Wichita, Kans. or in the north of Texas.

The president of the United States is the only proper commander to whom the judgment of the aeronautical admirals should bow. Anything else is mad and dangerous.

The people of America should force Congress to act upon this matter before it gets so balled up with the military, naval and swivel-chair forces that nothing short of disaster could change it.

Your correspondent found Brand, a small, mild-mannered former superior court judge, more or less smothered with letters and newspaper editorials endorsing the stand he took on prohibition sillings.

Athens recently, now that he had spoken so frankly. But two clergymen stopped him on the street there to congratulate him, numerous women assured him he was lead right and all his friends cheered.

Brand concludes that most people are willing to agree with him but reckless and ruthless killers are too much to pay for the kind of prohibition enforcement they are getting now. He has not declared for any change in the existing laws, but he will if the killings continue.

"Not one person in a million is satisfied with prohibition enforcement," he says. "I think whatever President Hoover's commission reports will have a profound effect on the situation. What we need is something which public sentiment will support. You can't blame the people for not supporting the kind of enforcement we have now."

Brand would like to see some "acid test" of prohibition enforcement, but he sees no hope of Congress providing for a national referendum. The reason for that, although he did not bother to explain in the interview, is that the dry organizations oppose such a referendum and most congressmen dare not defy them, though many wish they could get rid of prohibition as an issue.

Senators should be taught that the people are the masters and to quote from an editorial in a Texas contemporary, "they have an indisputable right to know the basis of the senate's action on every appointment and certainly they are entitled to know how the senators voted on this, as on every other matter."

A senator should not be permitted to serve two masters. A senator should be taught that a public office is a public trust, that he is a servant of the American people and he should vote in the open at all times.

ONE GOOD DAIRY COW VERSUS MANY ORDINARY ONES

HIGH PROFITS FROM HIGH PRODUCTION

One 40-Pound Producer Makes More Than 7 Poor Ones.

May records of cows that are being tested in the local parcel post testing association have just been completed by E. H. Varnell. He is conducting this work for 27 men and farmers of this section. The records of the 10 highest for the month are furnished by Mr. Varnell.

It will be noted that all of these have produced 40 pounds of fat or more during the month. They are therefore entitled to appear on the 40 pound list. Owners of cows and their records are:

Myrick Dairy—
40.9 pounds.
40.7 pounds.
Myrick—
40.3 pounds.
42.2 pounds.

Lawrence—
40.4 pounds.
40.4 pounds.
42.2 pounds.
Blackburn—
42.8 pounds.
42.2 pounds.
40.9 pounds.

Average 42.3 pounds.
These 10 cows are 42.3 pounds of fat in the production of 10 months per year, and at 50 cents per pound, will average a gross return of $21.50 per cow. Average for all other cows on test for the month of May is 26.4 pounds which, figured on the same basis, is $130 for the year.

Disregarding the greater value of calves from the ten good cows it is seen that their average production in a year is worth nearly twice as much as the production of an average cow on test. There is a little difference in the cost of feeding and feeding one of the average cows as compared with the cost of upkeep for the 40 pound producers.

Allowing $10 per month for handling and upkeep of the average cow and $12 per month for the higher producers, it is seen that one of the good cows makes nearly as much profit in a year as 7 of the average cows. As a matter of fact, when the additional labor cost of the larger number of cows is considered, it is in the case of one of these cows worth more than seven average cows.

These records show that a cow must produce at least 150 pounds of butterfat to show any profit at all, even under the most favorable circumstances. It is even shown, also, that the profit in butterfat production from a cow producing 500 pounds of butterfat per year may be even more than 20 times greater than that from a cow producing only 150 pounds of butterfat in a year. Frequently herds of from 10 to 20 high producing cows are found to make more profit than a much larger number of average cows.

The following is a list of dairymen and local farmers with cows on test: O. P. Weiser, U. G. Kinard, J. H. Dye, E. B. Blackburn, J. M. Blackburn, Buck Myrick & Sons, Charlie Wende, W. B. Starr, S. Townsend, J. B. Camp, Pies, E. N. Strickland, Ed Town, C. H. Lawrence, A. Z. Myrick, B. T. Leveridge, W. C. Yeawill, E. Tomlinson, A. Birt, W. Allen, L. C. Reed, Edward Lee, H. R. Roark and W. B. ### 30 Baptized at Close of Revival

RANGER, June 6. — Fifteen days of steady service and results that were highly pleasing is the history of the Coffman and Rucker meeting at First Baptist church.

No higher type of evangelists have ever visited our city, declared the crowds who attended.

The sweet message of love has been delivered in sermon and song. The good accomplished can never be computed in this life. Husbands and fathers, mothers and children have been led to surrender to the call of God for a higher and better life.

Last evening, the pastor, W. H. Johnson, had the pleasure of baptizing 30 converts and nearly as many more to come at a later date. Many united in other forms.

The orchestra under the leadership of Brother Lee Maddox did much for the service, while Miss Satterwhite's skill at the piano was of the highest character.

Such a meeting, that leaves a sweet savor behind it, can only be a blessing to any city.

The church thanks all for interest and help rendered.

Letters on Wing of Plane Are Explained

FORT WORTH, June 6. — Did you ever notice those letters N. C. S. X and what have you in front of the license numbers on airplanes? As might be expected, there's a reason. Texas Air Transport officials here explain that an X means experimental unlicensed ship; N means licensed for international service; S licensed for commercial service; E government service and E, preceding a factory identification number shows that the plane is not yet licensed.

EXPLANATION OF CONVICT'S DEATH SOUGHT

Bill Lawler Stabbed Fatally at Prison Farm Wednesday.

WACO, June 6.—Relatives of Bill Lawler, convicted at Hillsboro for murder of the Rev. A. J. Motley, his father-in-law, today sought an explanation of his death Monday at one of the state's penal farms.

Lawler was fatally stabbed by some one unknown to relatives and buried at Dawson Wednesday. Neither the governor's office nor prison officials at Huntsville offered to throw any light on the matter.

It was reported that Lawler had been stabbed by a cellmate. The prison physician at Huntsville, however, was quoted as saying he knew nothing about the matter. Relatives are endeavoring to find out where the stabbing took place so as to learn the details of the slaying.

HELD IN $75,000 ROBBERY

Mrs. Minnie Rayl, right, socially prominent widow of 55, whose home is Hutchinson, Kas., was detained by police at Oklahoma City in connection with the $75,000 holdup of a bank messenger in Oklahoma City. Police said she drove into Hutchinson with more than $10,000 of the stolen money in her auto. Above, left, is C. W. "Doc" Thompson, brother of Mrs. Rayl, who is said to have been identified as one of the robbers, and below is Mrs. R. B. Thompson, wife of Thompson's stepson, both under arrest.

TRUCK AND BUS COLLIDE; TWO ARE DEAD

Tragedy Takes Place as Children Return From Show.

TEXARKANA, June 6.—Tragedy stalked in the wake of a truck load of boys and girls returning home from a medicine show last night and today Bill Ward, 15, and Morris Norris, 17, are dead. They were killed when their truck collided with a passenger bus enroute from Texarkana to Dallas. Three of the party, all kin to the dead boys, were injured. They are Pearl Ward, Orval Ward and Edward Norris. Passengers in the bus escaped injury.

Association for Cisco-Waco Highway Is Formed at Meridian Tuesday

BE KNOWN AS "INDIAN TRAIL ASS'N"

Mammoth Celebration Planned for First Week in July.

"The Indian Trail" was adopted as the name of the Waco-Cisco highway Tuesday, when delegates from eight towns met at Meridian, formed "The Indian Trail association," and planned a mammoth celebration for the first week of July. The object of the celebration will be to advertise that the Indian Trail is not only the shortest line from South Texas to West Texas, but is also one of the state's most beautiful routes, and passes through a country richer than any other in the legend of pioneer days. It has been seventy-five years this summer since Major George Erath led the white men into the country, and organized the ties of Bosque and Erath, nothing but live oak groves shelter for the first group.

The celebration next month hereafter commemorate the "and jubilee" of the white making over the trail from Indian. Festivities will center pageant of Indian maidens girls selected from each take part. They will be along the "trail" as a party of raiding "Hua-raiders" to be represented two caravan which will each town.

GIRLS SMOKE BECAUSE IT IS STYLISH

AUSTIN, Tex., June 6. — Girls smoke cigarettes because it seems smartly stylish, up-to-the-minute to do it, because it depicts their making use of modern equality, and in response to alluring appeals to beauty and charm, according to University of Texas and Austin observers.

Few co-eds or women smoke because they like it, half a dozen civic, health and educational workers said here. All admit that the smoking habit is acquired in time, but the original incentive is "to be a good sport," rather than a desire for nicotine, they believe.

As cigarette advertising for the first time openly depicts women smoking, and as the Women's Christian Temperance union has raised the demand that laws be enforced prohibiting minors, boys and girls, from being sold tobacco. Austin people admit that smoking has come to be widespread among girls.

An attitude of "aloof observation" is adopted at the university though smoking is forbidden, by rules of each of the girls' dormitories.

College boys drink, when they drink, principally just because it seems to be "the thing to do" in the opinion of Dean V. I. Moore. And it's the same way with girls smoking, he believes. It seems the stylish, modern thing to do.

So far as Dean Moore is concerned—and he expressed a personal sentiment identical with that voiced by others—he doesn't like to see women smoke; and he wouldn't permit his daughter to smoke. But girls and cigarettes mingle pretty freely, even in Austin, it is admitted.

Girls now smoke in restaurants without any pretense of hiding it. Many women may be seen in cars nonchalantly puffing away at cigarettes.

It is the type of modern, stylish young women who smoke now that spreads the fad, in Dean Moore's opinion. In the old days, the ancient women in the Kentucky hills could be seen puffing on clay or corn-cob pipes, he pointed out; but they didn't set a fashion or weren't followed for style.

On the "social equality" side, Mrs. Bess Ledbetter, president of the Altruse club, pointed out a woman has the same moral right to smoke as a man. She says smoking is a health problem for young women; that smoking always is injurious physically. "I wouldn't start a vicious habit myself," she added, "but I admit a woman has the same moral right to smoke as a man." It was treated as a health problem in training in social hygiene at Columbia, which she took, Mrs. Ledbetter pointed out.

Mrs. Virginia Leberman, president of the Business and Professional Women's clubs, vigorously disagrees with the necessity for a woman to smoke to be considered "au fait." "I take the stand," she said, "that it is not good for a woman to smoke, because of its influence upon younger women, and because of its bad effect upon health. To get the best out of life, one should be in the best health. I wouldn't advise any woman to smoke."

Mrs. Claude de Van Watts, pres- stretch being the only part of the route which is not now an "all-weather" road.

Officers directors and committees were called again Friday, June 7, at Ireddell, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

HONOR HERO OF AIR

Lightning slashed an army balloon during the Pittsburgh balloon races last year, burning fatally one of the pilots. Lieut. Usal B. Ent, the other pilot, didn't desert the balloon in a parachute as he might have done, but instead brought the ship through a fierce storm to the ground where an attempt was made to revive his companion. That was "the most meritorious and outstanding act of valor" in the Army Air Corps last year, and for his heroism Lieut. Ent is shown above, right, being presented with the Cheney award—a bronze plaque—and a $500 check by Secretary of War James Good.

well ahead of the books of social usage and etiquette. These volumes have not yet chapters to tell them how to smoke at ease in various public gatherings, or when to smoke and when not to smoke.

Emily Post, indeed, reflects a modern trend. She dismisses the whole subject of women smokers in one well-bred "aside." She says a "gentleman" may smoke under the following circumstances, in the presence of ladies, especially in the presence of those

Texas Is Rich in Mineral Deposits

STAMFORD, June 6. — Out of 116 minerals in Texas, 50 have a high commercial value, is the thought recently expressed by Henry M. Payne, geologist of the American Mining Congress. Of these 50 which have potential possibilities, a very large number are in West Texas according to a statement issued by the Stamford headquarters office of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

This June, Lone Star Gas Company rounds out its first 20 years of service. Twenty years! And what eventful years! The fastest moving 20 years in the world's history! The 20 years during which the Southwest has had its greatest growth!

To meet the growing natural gas demands of an ever increasing number of Texas and Oklahoma communities has been Lone Star's part in this swift development . . . and we have tried to play it well. These 20 years have brought a greatly increased use of natural gas, with many new gas uses unknown 20 years ago. Gas refrigeration, for instance!

Natural gas . . . supplied through Lone Star pipe lines to nearly 250 communities and more than a million people . . . is one of the Southwest's greatest assets. Much of the Southwest's growth in the next 20 years will come from the industrial utilization of this rich fuel resource, and the Lone Star organization will continue to play a big part in this development.

As we reach the 20th milestone, we pause an instant for a brief backward glance at the trials and triumphs of the past . . . then we face . . . FORWARD!

YOUNG McCARTY TO MAKE TOUR OVER EUROPE

EASTLAND, June 6.—Milburn McCarty, Jr., youthful page of the United States senate during the past two long sessions, page of national statesmen, the vice champion, a son of Milburn McCarty, Sr., of Eastland, sailed from New York City last week for a tour of European countries, accompanied by his sister, Mary, and his mother.

The party will return from Europe in August, and Milburn will enter Eastland high school in September, a member of the senior class. Mary will be a member of the sophomore class.

European cities which Milburn and his sister and mother will visit include London, where they will spend one week; Paris, where they will spend four days. Their tour will take them through Italy, Germany, England, France, Sweden, and other nations. They will land at Plymouth, England, June 6, on the United States steamship "America." They will return on the "Majestic."

While in London, Milburn will visit Ambassador Davies. Milburn is well known to newspaper men throughout the United States, due to the fact that he was personal page of Governor Smith during the presidential campaign last year, page at the national Democratic convention at Houston and personal page of President Hoover during the inauguration ceremonies. He was also closely associated with Mr. Daves as a page in the United States senate. He is a close personal friend of Mr. Daves and Mr. Smith.

At tennis, which is his chief sport, Milburn won the preparatory schools singles championship in Washington during the past school year, as a representative of the Devitt Preparatory school. He will be a welcome addition to the ranks of Eastland high school's tennis team for the coming school year.

Both as page in the national congress, as page for famed statesmen, and as tennis star, the nation's press has printed photographs and news stories of Milburn time after time.

"I WAS ALMOST IN DESPAIR," SAYS CISCOAN

Cisco House Wife Suffered From After Effects of Flu, Orgatone Brings Relief.

Another wonderful endorsement for Orgatone that will be read by thousands of frail, suffering women, was given recently by Mrs. M. S. Mann residing at 1705 Eighteenth St., Cisco, Texas. In describing her troubles and failures to heretofore find relief, to an Orgatone representative, Mrs. Mann said:

"I have been in very poor health for the past several months ever since I had an attack of the 'flu' last winter. My condition has been wretched for many months and I had to stay in bed some of the time until I began taking Orgatone several weeks ago. I suffered from stomach trouble, nervous indigestion and terrible headaches. I was a mighty sick woman, and only those who are afflicted as I was know how I suffered. I paid out a lot of money for treatment and medicines of different kinds, but I kept getting worse. I was willing to try anything when one of my friends who had been so wonderfully benefited by Orgatone begged me to try it.

"Oh, I can't tell you how glad that I listened to my friend and took Orgatone. The two bottles I have already taken have given me more relief than all the other treatments and medicines that I took put together. My indigestion is so much better that I hardly notice it any more, my nervousness don't bother me anything as much like it did, and my awful headaches are broken up. Orgatone has saved me a whole lot of suffering, and I have improved wonderfully in every way and feel that in a short time my troubles will be relieved entirely. Only those who have experienced the great relief I have can realize the joy I feel over what Orgatone has done for me and I gladly recommend it to others suffering as I did."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy and is sold in Cisco exclusively by Dean Drug Store who are direct laboratory agents—Adv.

OIL NEWS OF SOUTHWEST

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 6.—The Texas Panhandle is providing more interest than any other section of the midcontinent field. With active operations in Gray county, hardly a day passes that a new producer is not added.

Operators Oil No. 7 Jackson in Bowers section of Gray county has a flow of 513 barrels an hour. The well first made about 260 barrels a day from granite wash at 2,745 feet. Encountering gas pay at 2,960-63 feet, the test showed 659 barrels an hour for the first seven hours.

In the same area, Magnolia Petroleum company No. 4 J. B. Bowers, which came in for an initial of 9,600 barrels a day, is now making but 37 barrels an hour due to mud and paraffin. Production is expected to come back when the hole is cleaned.

Interest was lagging in the Asher, Okla., area today as two wells were standardizing. Tom Slick No. 1 Weidon, an east offset of the discovery well in the area, had casing set at 3,674 feet. No. 2 Weidon was drilling in the Woodruff at 3,545 feet.

Tom Slick's No. 1 Bledsoe reported no production yesterday after the well had been shot with 29 quarts of nitroglycerin at 3,769 feet and was cleaned out.

No. 1 Stamper of the Sinclair Oil & Gas company is expected to hit the pay horizon within the next two days. The well was standardized at 6,190 feet in shale. Sinclair and Amerada No. 1 Kinter was fishing today at 6,170 feet. The well made 75 barrels of pure gasoline in nine hours.

Gypsy Oil's No. 1 Barker, in the Mission pool of the greater Seminole oil area, gaped two feet and shot with 16 quarts was making approximately 1,400 barrels daily on oil lift. Production for 24 hours, Tuesday was 3,115 barrels.

The five Indian tribes were richer today by $26,374 for sale of oil, gas and mining leases on 129 acre tracts. The auction was held Tuesday at Muskogee. Fee land sales brought more than $11,000.

The largest price paid was for 160 acres in Hughes county, which sold for $25 per acre. A 40-acre tract in the same county sold for $39 an acre.

EMMIHOLE, Okla., June 5.—The greater Seminole oil field showed an increase of 3,664 barrels on Tuesday's gauge. Total production was 282,226 barrels from 1,931 wells. The St. Louis produced 90,069 barrels.

HOUSTON, June 6.—Having successfully mastered the black shale with three producers at Humble, Cullen & West plan to go after the deep pay at Demos Mound, where shale has spelled bad fortune to many drillers in this field in past years.

Cullen & West have made location for their first well, No. 1 Smith estate, on the Patton survey.

The Pure Oil has also obtained an 80-acre tract from the Smith estate.

The Yount-Lee Oil company's No. 6 Latrelle at Evangeline, La., which had an initial flow of 5,000 barrels Wednesday had settled down to around 2,560 barrels.

Gulf Production completed No.

29 E. R. Taylor Tuesday at Pierce Junction with an initial flow of 1,233 barrels pipe line oil on a half-inch choker from a depth of 3,800 feet.

WINTERS, June 6.—Four miles from the nearest well, drillers have resumed work after several weeks of shut down on the Tilton & Nouse, Crumer No. 1 wildcat south of here. Arrangements have been made to deepen the well to 4,900 feet. It is at 3,920 feet in salt water at present.

WICHITA FALLS, June 6.—When gas became ignited destroying the rig on the F. H. E. Oil company's well on the Leffel farm near Bryan, Jack county, J. W. Sanders and Paul Hansard, both of Calumet, were seriously burned. Hope for Hansard's recovery is slight.

"I'm not down and out yet, and I never will be. If you don't want the money give it to Iris."
 "Now," thought Nan, her narhave had the audacity to come here and say goodby to her husband if he were taking her? And if he doesn't take her, what will Iris Morgan say and do when she learns that her lover has left her $20,000 as heart balm?"

At 2 o'clock, after Nan had returned from an almost untasted luncheon, Morgan shrugged into his overcoat and announced cheerfully—a little too cheerfully, so that Nan knew he was still hurt: "I'm going to snatch a bite to eat, Nan, and then step over to the bank to meet Mrs. Morgan. If she calls up, tell her I'll be there at a quarter to three.

Nan had to watch him go, unprepared for the shock that might be awaiting him. If, after three, the hour the bank closed, he came back to the office troubled and bewildered, with the news that something must have detained Iris, since she had not met him, then she—Nan—would know that it was all over, that Iris had taken the train with Bert Crawford.

What would he do, oh what would he do when he learned the truth? Her fingers were so cold with nervousness that she could not type. An hour to be lived through! Wasn't there some way of annihilating time? Desperate, she invaded the private office where Evans, the clerk, and Blake, the young lawyer on salary, pursued their uninteresting duties. "Well, what kind of Christmas did you boys have?" she demanded with fictitious cheerfulness. (To Be Continued)

THIS HAS HAPPENED
NAN CARROLL discovers after three years' work with ATTORNEY JOHN CURTIS MORGAN that she is in love with him, and having a high sense of honor, determines to resign. Her resignation is postponed, however, because she believes Morgan is going to need the services of a faithful secretary during his defense of BERT CRAWFORD, a supposed friend, who is indicted for embezzlement. Nan distrusts Crawford and IRIS MORGAN, beautiful wife of the lawyer.

Nan overhears by means of a listening device a conversation between Crawford and his switchboard operator in which he "fixes" the girl's testimony to divert suspicious evidence from him. When Nan confronts Crawford with what she has heard, and tells him her price of silence is that he give up Iris Morgan, he angrily agrees. Morgan defends Crawford ably. On the last day of the trial, Nan prepares to go to the courtroom when Iris rushes in, accompanied with little CURTIS MORGAN, whom she leaves on Nan's hands for the morning. Nan is furious. When the little boy drops asleep, Nan finds beside him a note, evidently stolen from his mother's handbag, in which Crawford protests his love for Iris, admits his guilt, and lays plans for their elopement.

Nan hurries to the courthouse. She is too late. The jury comes with a "not guilty" verdict. Outside the courthouse she meets WILLIS TODD, an old suitor, who tells her to lunch. Knowing her trustworthy, she shows him the note and he advises her to tear it up. She tucks it in her bag, knowing well she would have died if she would have hurt Morgan with that note.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

"Merry Christmas, Nan?" John Morgan greeted his secretary cheerfully on Tuesday morning. "Look! I'm wearing the tie you gave me. Best-looking one I had."

Carroll could have burst with relief. The two since she had seen him had a period of almost intolerable suspense. Her mildest night had pictured him alone on his day, deserted by his "best friend"; her ear had been that he might be dead on his living room. His sightless eyes turned to the portrait of the woman he betrayed him. She had actually not possessed the courage to read the papers.

"You always say that!" she forced her trembling lips to retort flippantly, hoping that her eyes did not too shamelessly betray her. The cravat of dark-blue and silver-gray striped silk did suit him amazingly well. "Yes, I had a nice Christmas," she lied. "I've been trying to frame a letter that would adequately express my thanks for the roses and the check, but—"

"Don't be a goose!" Morgan interrupted brusquely. "I'm so indebted to you for your help on the Grace Cox case and the Crawford case, to say nothing of all the other cases, that all the thanks passed between us should come from me. Consider the hundred salary bonus and not a tenth of what you're entitled to."

He passed on into his private office, and Nan sat staring at her typewriter, the tears, which she had had to control in his presence, slipping hotly down her cheeks. Her need to resign, to get away from this man whom she loved so much and so hopelessly, had become a desperate pain on Christmas Eve, when his roses had been delivered to her and the sight of his handwriting on the card and check which had accompanied them had made her ill with too great joy.

The buzzer on her desk sounded. Nan dabbed furiously at the tears on her cheeks, snatched a powder puff from the top drawer of her desk and covered the traces of her self-pity; then took notebook and pencil and went into him, smiling. . . .

A few minutes later, when he was dictating with a day-after-Christmas leisureliness and tendency to irrelevant conversation, Bert Crawford charged into the private office without knocking. "Hello, Jack! How's the great criminal lawyer in the United States? By golly, you're certainly a demon for work! Why don't you knock off for a few days? Hello, Nan! Happy New Year!"

Morgan frowned slightly. For the first time Crawford's blithe badinage seemed to annoy him.

"Anything special, Bert? We're pretty busy this morning." Crawford laughed boisterously and slapped his friend on the back. "Nothing very special, old timer; just thought I'd get rid of a scrap of paper while I was in the neighborhood." And he drew his wallet from his pocket, abstracted a check, and ostentatiously laid it before the lawyer. "You wouldn't give me a bill, old man, so I let my conscience be my guide."

"Twenty thousand?" Morgan exclaimed. "I should judge then that you had a very troublesome conscience!"

"Twelve good men and true said 'not guilty,'" Crawford reminded him, laughing good-naturedly. "But seriously, old boy, you've earned that and more too, and I'll be glad to make the check bigger if you'll let me."

"I told you there wouldn't be any fee, Bert," Morgan frowned. "This business cost you dear enough, old knows."

"Fortunes of war, Jack!" Crawford shrugged. "I'm not down and out yet, and I never will be. If you don't want the money, give it to Iris. A woman likes to have a little fortune of her own tucked away in the bank."

Morgan's face lighted up with the tenderness which his wife's name always evoked. "That's not a bad idea, Bert, if you insist on paying. I'll open an account in her name today. She'll certainly be surprised and pleased. Mighty decent of you."

But Nan, sitting quietly, with pencil poised over her notebook, did not for a moment believe that it was "decent" of Crawford. He was either being diabolically clever or insolently caddish. If he was really going to run away with Iris Morgan, Bert Crawford would not lose the $20,000 so grandly presented to the man he had used and deceived; he and Iris would have every penny of it, in addition to the quarter of a million that Crawford had stolen from the Mid-West Packing Company.

And if he was not going to keep his promise to Iris, was planning to abandon her as he had doubtless abandoned many other women, then this $20,000—a small sum to a man who had a quarter of a million salted away—was a card's way of cancelling his love debt. And John Curtis Morgan—blind, trusting darling that he was—thought Bert Crawford was "mighty decent!"

"I didn't like to throw a damper over the Christmas gayeties yesterday but the fact is, Jack, that I'm going to shake the dust of this man's town from my heels."

"What?" Morgan exclaimed. "Isn't this a hasty decision, Bert?" Crawford shook his handsome blond head emphatically. "No, old man, I've been mulling it over since the blow fell. The Mid-West Packing Company is bound to bust, I'll be in the hands of a receiver by the first of the year. And in spite of the fact that I was acquitted, my name won't be any too fragrant in these quarters."

"I'll move on to fresher, greener lands. In fact, I've already sent in my resignation and signed over my stock, whatever it may be worth, to help reimburse the poor devils who will suffer most from the bank's 'reality'—the small stockholders. I'll make a fresh start somewhere else. So it's goodbye, Jack. . . . No, keep that check! Give it to Iris, like I told you!"

Lord man, I'm not a pauper." "You're really leaving?" Morgan insisted incredulously. "When?"

"Today," Crawford answered. "On the two-forty-five east-bound. Don't ask me where I'm going, or what my plans are. I don't know myself yet, but I'm keen to get away."

Morgan, still frowning, nodded comprehension if not approval. "Have you told Iris good-by? This is going to be a blow to her. She thinks a lot of you. I'm not much good at playing wounding and swooping it up, and she loves it. I'm afraid she's going to find life pretty dull for a while. . . ."

"I'm going to have lunch with her at the Traylor and break the news then," Crawford admitted candidly, his blue eyes flicking a glance at Nan. She no longer had the power to keep him from seeing Iris Morgan, his mocking eyes reminded her. "But don't you worry about Iris, old boy. She will bear up under the loss of her playmate too well to suit me. By the way, I'll tell her to meet you at the bank at half past two, if you're really going to open an account for her with that check."

"Thanks, Bert. I wish you would," Morgan agreed, a little stiffly. It was obvious that he was

This "Scientific Detective" Surely Knows His Bullets

By JOE LOVE
NEA Service Writer.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Every body is familiar with the detective story sleuth, who solves murders by twiddling microscopes and picking up specks of dust with tweezers.

In real life such detective aren't so common. The average police would shoot a sleuth of that nature on sight.

Major Calvin Goddard, however, who helps solve Chicago's gang murders, is one man who comes pretty close to the detective story standard.

He uses methods that smack of fiction—including microscopes. And he has solved many a murder which had the police completely baffled.

Sherlock Holmes could look at a corpse and announce that the murderer was a six foot Italian with a black mustache and a cast in his left eye, who came to the scene in a cab drawn by a black horse that was lame in his right front foot.

Links Guns and Bullets

Major Goddard can do that. But he can point to a revolver and say, beyond the possibility of a doubt, "there is the gun with which the man was killed."

"No two guns are alike," he says. "Any gun inevitably leaves tell-tale marks on a bullet."

Major Goddard is known as the foremost ballistic expert in America. His method of operation, briefly, is this: every gun makes characteristic scratches on its bullets—marks that no other gun can "duplicate." All bullets fired from the same gun have identical marks.

Given the gun of a suspect and the bullet found in the body of a murdered man, a test bullet is fired. If its markings coincide with the markings of the bullet from the dead man's body, then it is indisputable that that gun was used by the murderer.

A pleasant, mild-mannered man, a graduate of Johns Hopkins university and the U. S. Army Medical school, Major Goddard has a private arsenal containing more than 1,000 different weapons. He is familiar with practically every known make and size of firearms in the world.

Under the Microscope

A few years ago, working with P. O. Gravelle, of New York, he invented a "comparison microscope," which makes the work of comparing two bullets a simple job. It shows views of the two bullets in one field of the instrument, and permits the bullets to be rotated slowly while the observer studies and compares them. Here are the steps by which the major works.

Suppose a man is arrested accused of murder. The bullet from the dead man's body, and the gun of the suspect, are given to Major Goddard and he is told to find out if the bullet came from the gun.

A mere glance tells the major if the bullet and gun are of the same caliber. If they aren't, of course that ends it. If they are, the major fires another bullet with the gun and then puts this bullet beside the original one in the comparison microscope.

Has Tell-Tale Marks

The barrel of every revolver or rifle is reamed, or rifled, to give the bullet a revolving motion and keep it on a straight course. A bullet always bears scratches made by the rifling. And no two guns scratch a bullet in the same way—ever.

Suppose however that the bullet that killed the victim cannot be found, but that the empty metal shell case is found. Major Goddard can solve the puzzle just as easily.

MICROSCOPE HELPS SOLVE MURDERS.

Major Calvin Goddard is shown above with his "comparison microscope" and at the right are microscope views of a bullet and a cartridge used in the Chicago gang massacre of St. Valentine's Day. Top, halves of a test bullet and a fatal bullet are pieced together to show they were fired from the same gun. Notice

When the charge of powder in the shell explodes, the base of the shell case is knocked hard against the breech plate which contains the firing pin. The breech plate bears tiny marks made by the firing of the shell case shows all of these marks in detail—and they are never the same on two guns.

In addition, the firing pin leaves its mark on the shell—and there, too, the microscope reveals the pattern.

No Two Guns Alike
"There is no more chance of two guns leaving identical marks on bullets or shells than there is of two persons having an identical set of fingerprints," says Major Goddard. "Of course, the test shot must be fired while the weapon is in the same condition as at the how the markings match up. Below, a test cartridge and a fatal cartridge compared.

time of the fatal shot. Corrosion and rust do change a gun's markings. However, if a gun is kept in good condition, it is as easy to get evidence from it 10 years after the crime as 10 hours."

Even the machine gun, favorite weapon of Chicago's gangs, marks its bullets. The automatic extractor and ejectors put their trade marks on the shell cases, while the rifling marks the bullets.

When the comparisons are made, Major Goddard photographs the results so as to have tangible evidence which the jury can see with its own eyes. Since 1926 he has investigated more than 230 murders. He believes that eventually his science will be as universally accepted, and used, as finger printing now is.

Why Worry About Petty Charge Like Swindling, Anyhow?

DALLAS, June 6.—E. V. Allen, under the death sentence for the holdup of a bank at Carbon, Eastland county, who admits to other inmates of the Dallas county jail that he has a "sweet tooth," recently ordered several boxes of candy from a canteen in Los Angeles, Cal.

The candy arrived and everything was satisfactory until Allen's checks, given in payment for the candy, reached the bank.

The checks proved very, very hot. In fact they "bounced back" because Allen didn't have any money in the bank.

"But why," he said, "should I worry about a petty check swindling charge when I'm under penalty to die in the electric chair?"

Cisco Team Blanks Dynamoes in First Home Game

BRECKENRIDGE TEAM GARNERS ONLY ONE HIT

Pippen and Smith Lead Hitting for Local Nine.

The Blease Motor company baseball team won its initial contest of the season Wednesday afternoon when they defeated the Breckenridge Dynamoes by the score of 2 to 0. The game was featured by the pitching of Bryan and Pippen for the Blease team, who held the Dynamoes to one scratch hit. They were assisted by some brilliant fielding by Van Horn, Blease shortstop, and J. Pippen, third base. Neither team scored until the sixth although the Dynamoes had the bases loaded with one out in the fifth. Two errors and the Dynamoes' lone hit filled the bases and Bryan proceeded to strike out the next three batters. In the sixth J. Pippen led off with a line drive to left field for a single. Moore reached first on an error and both runners moved up on a passed ball and scored when Russell, Dynamoes first baseman fumbled Purvis' grounder. J. Pippen and Smith led in the hitting. Pippen getting two singles and Smith getting a two baser. Hinson, Dynamoes shortstop, got the only hit made by the Dynamoes when he beat out a bunt in the fifth. Bryan, who pitched the first five innings for the Cisco team, got five strike-outs. Pippen, two, and Westerhede, Dynamoes pitcher, got seven. Van Horn, Blease shortstop, robbed Merchant and Russell of hits in the ninth inning when he scooped Merchant's hard hit grounder and threw him out at first and then made a brilliant running catch of Russell's line drive for the final out of the game.

The Blease team has matched several games for the near future. With the class of pitching and hustling play they had Wednesday they should develop one of the best teams in the Oil Belt.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS

WHAT ABOUT BALL PLAYERS' GOLF???

Every year about this time someone generally brings up the subject of what effect golf has on a ball player's batting eye. The subject gets discussed more and more each season, but a definite conclusion is as far removed as ever.

Managers of big league ball clubs differ in their opinions and both factions can offer plenty of argument. Some enforce rigid prohibition of golf for their players while others even encourage it. With John McGraw's Giants, the game is taboo. Miller Huggins is an enthusiastic golfer himself and if the Yanks want to play, it's jake with Miller, provided the boys don't overdo it.

Both sides of the argument have concrete examples to present. Sam Rice, best golfer in the major leagues, plays at every opportunity and he has always been one of the most consistent batters in baseball. Arnold Stutz, who gave promise of being a great outfielder, is said to have ruined his batting with the golf swing.

He was good enough golfer to play in major tournaments and he didn't make good with the cuts or rouins because he forgot how to pick a baseball.

It is interesting to reverse the idea and see what a professional golfer can do with a ball bat. Several years ago Tommy Armour, former national open champion, in an argument with Pitcher Carl Mays, decided to prove that hitting baseballs was pie for a good golfer.

They went out to the Polo Grounds and after Carl warmed up with a catcher, Armour stepped to the plate. He hit the first ball Carl served him out of the park. But he didn't even touch 25 subsequent pitches.

A Smack at Der Paulie
DER PAULIE BERLENBACH, who quit the boxing racket and went back to his first love, wrestling, was hauled in recently before the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission. The commissioners had a very low regard for the art that was demonstrated in a match between Berlenbach and Pat McKay.

Berlenbach was notified that he had been suspended and was asked if he had anything to say in his own defense.

He is a simple and innocent sort of a lad and he protested that he had not stalled or carried his man and that he was doing the best rassing he knew how.

And the chairman of the commission popped back at poor Paulie: "Well, you'll stay suspended now. If that's the best you can do you ought to be kept out of the ring."

Moody Stops Mat Match by Mistake
AUSTIN, June 6.—Advised by the attorney general that a prize fight was scheduled in Plainsville, Governor Dan Moody inadvertently stopped a wrestling contest there, it was revealed here today. "The courts have held that wrestling is not a pugilistic encounter," Moody said when he learned of the mistake.

Wheeler—New jail building will be constructed here in near future.

And One for Der Gus
A FEW minutes later the commission slapped the plaster on Der Gus Sonnenberg, der heavyweight rassing champion, with the official decree that it would behoove him to acquire matches elsewhere than in the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The commissioners accused Der Gus of rassing undesirable foes and of refusing to give a real rasser a chance to dump him.

Hard to Figure Out
THE rapid descent of Berlenbach from the light heavyweight boxing champion of the world to the condition of what the racketeers call a tumble-bum, is one of the mysteries of the decade.

Berlenbach was a great champion. Old Bill Muldoon said he was the most admirable champion he ever had seen. He never quibbled about an opponent or the price. He fought them all and he was a good fighter. But suddenly he went completely back. The boxing fellows said he had become punch drunk. He was always a fellow willing to take one to give one and he took plenty.

Here's Another Story
RECENTLY we heard another theory. And perhaps a logical one. It was given by a neighbor who went to school with him and followed him in all his fights.

When he was just a kid he climbed an electric light pole to retrieve a kite that had become fastened in the wires. He came in contact with a high tension wire and was thrown violently to the ground. The shock destroyed his hearing and his speech. For a number of years he had to attend an institution for the deaf and dumb. His hearing and speech returned gradually but he still had a serious impediment in his speech. Perhaps it was his muzzling way of expressing himself that caused the fellows in the racket to think that he had been punched too much.

When he came into the possession of large money, this friend told us, he went to specialists and sought an operation that would repair his defective hearing and speech and the operation was performed.

The operation was successful in its original intent but it weakened the muscles in his jaws and gave him a glass chin, according to this friend.

OTHER SCHOOLS IN BIG TEN FACING PROBE

Athletic Committee Is Determined Get to the Bottom.

By BERT DEMBY
United Press Staff Correspondent.
CHICAGO, June 6.—Next to the question of "Who got the money?" the predominant subject in discussions of the Big Ten athletic situation today was "Where, if any place, will the athletic committee strike next?"

Just what the evidence is, was not definitely known but Coach Everett Case of the Frankfort, Ind., high school was to appear before Major John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner to tell what he "knows about Purdue."

It appears that Case was incensed because he was alleged to have received credits from Iowa in return for influencing athletes to attend the Hawkeye institution.

Case denied this and countered with the statement that the Iowa charge was preferred against him because he had refused to send his high school stars to Purdue.

The whole situation has reached the "What will happen next?" state. Edward Laufer, the new athletic director at Iowa was reported to be endeavoring to find out who, if any, athletes at his school received improper financial aid.

REDEEMS SELF.

EPSON DOWNS, Eng., June 6.—Reish Count, American thoroughbred, redeemed himself today when he won the mile and a half Coronation cup over the derby course at Epsom Downs. The race was worth nearly $10,000 and a $1,000 gold cup to Mrs. John D. Hertz, of Chicago, owner of the 1928 Kentucky Derby winner, who has been beaten in his three previous starts in England.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

By United Press
Yesterday's hero—Rube Walberg, Philadelphia Southpaw, who held the St. Louis Browns to four hits and enabled the Athletics to increase their lead in the American league to six and a half games with a 5 to 2 victory.

Two of the four hits were home runs, one by Melillo and the other by Kress, keeping Walberg from a shutout. The defeat dropped the Browns to third place.

The New York Yankees moved up another notch by checking Cleveland 6 to 5, in a 12-inning game. Lazzeri sacrificed with the bases full in the last of the 12th to score the winning run.

Washington attacked three Detroit pitchers for 10 hits to score an 8 to 2 victory at Washington. The Tigers were unable to solve the pitching of Fred Marberry, who allowed only five hits.

Boston pounded Chicago all over the field to score a 17 to 2 victory at Boston. The high spot of the comic travesty came in the eighth, when, after eight runs had been scored off Dugan, Manager Lena Blackburne took the mound for the White Sox to retire the side.

A four run rally in the last of the ninth gave the Chicago Cubs a 4 to 3 decision over the Brooklyn Robins at Chicago. McWeeny, who pitched shutout ball for eight innings, crumbled in the ninth.

The New York Giants pushed the St. Louis Cardinals out of first place in the National league by beating them, 6 to 4, at St. Louis. Mays started for the Giants but was replaced in the second when the Cards scored three runs. Walker, who replaced him, was given credit for the victory. Mitchell pitched the whole game for the losers. St. Louis' place atop the heap was taken by Pittsburgh, although the Pirates' game with Boston at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Cincinnati slugged three Philadelphia pitchers for a 21 to 4 victory at Cincinnati. The Reds made only 19 hits but were aided by five errors by the Phils.

Ranger Pistol Team Will Go to Tyler

RANGER, June 6.—A pistol team representing the Ranger police department will be entered in the shoot at the East Texas Peace Officers convention, which will be held in Tyler, June 11 and 12, according to Chief of Police Jim Ingram.

Many of the best marksmen among the peace officers of the state will compete in the contest. The local experts have been practicing industriously with high scores and are being counted on in the Tyler shoot.

PRINCIPALS IN BIG TEN ROW

Western Conference athletic circles await further developments from conference officials over the expulsion of the University of Iowa on the charge of subsidizing athletes. Faculty members from all schools, meeting recently, expelled the Iowa institution, but failed to announce specific charges. Iowa alumni and officials plan to fight their decision and has intimated that athletic conditions at other schools may be investigated at this time. Here are Dr. Walter Jessup, president of the school, whose athletic policy is under fire, and Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of Big Ten athletics.

WHERE LINDY MARRIED ANNE

The stately country home of Ambassador Dwight F. Morrow at Englewood, N. J., where the most historic wedding of modern times was performed when Miss Anne Morrow, the ambassador's daughter, became the bride of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, is shown here. The wedding was conducted so quietly that reporters and photographers waiting outside, as they had been for days, were not aware of it until several hours later when formal announcement was made.

The capital consisted of $350 put in by Yarbrough and a few years experience by Martin. The contract was, as I remember it, for one year. I was a witness to the contract.

The house was built about where the north steps of the Baptist church are. Next to the drug store was a very small grocery owned by Miller and Wisco. The next was a general store owned by W. A. Stephens, a brother-in-law to Bob Cune. It was the first store built in Cisco. Next to that was a store operated by James Caldwell for his father at Red Gap. Across the road was a saloon owned by Mr. White. Next was a boarding house operated and owned by W. D. Chandler. Next was Mrs. Phoebe Hays Road, then a saloon owned by Captain Whitehead and operated by a Mr. Dyer.

Mr. Adams and sons built first east of Martin and Yarbrough and ran a grocery store. More than half of the houses were covered with cloth. Mrs. Hays commenced to build before the lots were sold and was going to build another where the Mobley now stands but some of the railroad company objected and she secured the lots where the old Burton and Long Lumber company once stood. The house was a 26 by 85 with an "L" 20 by 40, two stories high. Besides the lobby, dining room and kitchen, it contained about 48 rooms. After the frame was up and the building partly sided she moved in so she could entertain the people that attended the lot sale. She had temporary braces knocked out of the lower mechanics and the next day, after the sale, a light storm blew the building down. But no one was hurt in the crash.

EARLY TIMES ABOUT CISCO

(By ISHAM LAMB)

second stage of the early of the Cisco Country begins. The Texas and Pacific had made preliminary before that time—the road was built and one could have passed north near Red Gap but laid off no town. There never was a store there. The store of W. T. Caldwell was a mile west of Cisco. It was established in 1878 or 1879. Those who did speak of Red Gap being a town do not know much about the early history of this part of the country. Cisco was the first town here. It was the creation of the Texas Central railroad and was named for one of its stockholders, John J. Cisco. Major Perry was the advance agent of the Central railroad and prospecting for coal in this part of the country. He believed that the entire country was underlain with coal. The most favorable outcrop was shown up just southwest of the lake, hence they located Cisco as near as they could to that point.

They built a switch east of where Cisco now is with no thought of making a town as it was on a branch with no outlet except by climbing the hills with which it was surrounded. They called it Red Gap but laid off no town. There never was a store there. The store of W. T. Caldwell was a mile west of Cisco. It was established in 1878 or 1879. Those who did speak of Red Gap being a town do not know much about the early history of this part of the country. Cisco was the first town here. It was the creation of the Texas Central railroad and was named for one of its stockholders, John J. Cisco. Major Perry was the advance agent of the Central railroad and prospecting for coal in this part of the country. He believed that the entire country was underlain with coal. The most favorable outcrop was shown up just southwest of the lake, hence they located Cisco as near as they could to that point.

just north of where the T. & P. station house now stands.

As soon as they secured the land they surveyed the road to this point. The Central owned every alternate section of land which had been given them by the state. The T. & P. road didn't have much to do with the Central for some time. Soon after the Central sold town lots here, which was on the 20th day of May, 1881, a man came to me and introduced himself as Mr. Long. He said he was sent here to represent the T. & P. railroad and engaged me to fit him up an office in a box car that was set out just west of the passenger station on the north side of the track. Mr. George Langston was the first operator here.

Mr. Long did not remain here long. The first freight depot was built at the present site. It was built at Doherty but after Cisco commenced to grow it was moved to Cisco. From the first it was very much too small.

Before the lots were sold people began to come here and camp. Some built houses and went into business. The first stores were built on the old Belle Plain and Eastland road which ran on a line from where the hide house is, thence by the Baptist church, up the hill where the Presbyterian church now stands. Most of the houses were on the south side of the road.

The first drug store was built by J. J. Martin and Mr. Yarbrough. It was 14 by 30 feet. The writer built the counters and shelves where his house stood, which was while the building was being built.

The Texas and Pacific did not give much attention to founding towns in this part of the country.

BY VERNE WICKHAM
The most bothersome play with is one who will line up his putts, how long or how short, what seems like hours of putt.

His knees he will go to the route from the ball to the hole. Then he gets up and walks around to the other side of the green and gets down on his knees to sight the route from the cup to the ball. Then he stands up and looks the entire greens, fairway and course over for the last time before going into his trance over the ball. He'll stand in his trance for minutes and then usually—miss the putt.

All putts have to be lined up. Every good golfer does it and if done with proper moderation there can be nothing said against it. On an undulating green you have to line them up with care—no question about that. The breaks are there and you have to watch for them but it is a bit of golf form which can be carried too far.

Remember there are usually four golfers who have to putt on each green and if you take more than your share of time your partners will probably hurry their putts and miss.

Don't fuss around too long with your putting. If your putt misses, don't drop several balls one of the old ship pocket and practice the old length putt several times with the rest of the foursome. Remember, the others are anxious to putt and back down the fairway is another foursome of fine fellows anxious to play to the green.
