FINAL DETAILS FOR REVUE ARRANGED Town Is Saved When Wind Shifts Raging Forest Fire BRECKENRIDGE ROAD RECONDITIONED

THOROUGHFARE BEING WIDENED AND REWORKED

Widening of Bankhead Highway Progressing Rapidly

Reconditioning of the Cisco-Breckenridge highway is now under way. County Commissioner Birt Britain is erecting new shoulders on the thoroughfare and widening it from six to seven feet on each side. As soon as this work is completed the road will be thoroughly patched with asphalt and crushed rock to place it in the best condition possible. This road has been one of the eyesores of the highway system in precinct four and the action of Commissioner Britain in remedying the situation has met with gratification by the people and especially by those in business, requires frequent reworking of the road will be completed by the 15th of this month. Meanwhile excellent progress is being made in securing additional right-of-way in preparation for widening the Bankhead highway through this precinct.

Right-of-Way Secured
East of Cisco, Mr. Britain announced, all right-of-way in the precinct has been secured with the exception of that from one landowner. This has been done with no expense to the county except for moving fences back and the setting of new cedar posts 20 feet apart. Mr. Britain said he found the landowners along the way very congenial and willing to cooperate with the county in the move. Work will begin on the west side of Cisco within the next few days.

The highway is being widened from 60 feet to 100 feet, 20 additional feet being secured on each side.

Actual widening of the highway will be started by the state highway department as soon as all fences are back, the right-of-way cleared and certified copies of all deeds in the hands of the state department.

Work of moving back fences on the route through precinct No. 1 will be started today.

40 MEMBERS OF HOUSE ON HAND TODAY

AUSTIN, July 3.—Forty house members registered today when the third special session of the 41st, was supposed to convene. This is 60 short of a quorum and 100 short of full attendance.

Adjournment from day to day until a quorum is present is the only parliamentary procedure, Speaker W. S. Barron announced. First adjournment was until 2 p. m. Thursday.

HERE COMES YOUR SHORTER "LONG GREEN"

Money—Money—MONEY! There's more of it here than you ever saw at one time in your life, unless you've toured the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington. That's what the photographer was doing when he took the above photos, the first ever to show the actual process of money making as the government does it. This special occasion was the manufacture of the new, small-size currency that will replace the kind you're carrying in your pocket now. The new "long green"—which is three-quarters of an inch shorter than the present size—will be issued on July 10, so now the government factory is grinding out many millions of dollars worth. At the top is a view of the Examining Division, where every sheet of the uncut paper money is carefully inspected. Lower left is the stacking room, where the bills are made into bales. A printing press at the lower right is shown making money faster than Ford and Rockefeller combined.

PETITION TO ASK HIGHER WOLF BOUNTY

Walter Ray thinks that by another 12 months of the present predatory animal eradication program is continued in Eastland county, it will be reasonably safe to raise sheep and goats in the county. He said, however, that at least four trappers are needed in the county.

At the chamber of commerce is a petition asking the county commissioners court to pass an order under the new state law recently made by the legislature, offering a bounty of $5 on predatory animals. The present bounty is $2. Right now is a good time to trap for the animals, it is pointed out, and numerous young ones may be caught by the farmers and stockmen. By offering a $5 bounty a greater inducement to trap for the animals will be made with the result that a great many more of them will be caught. It is necessary to take the scalp of the animal caught to the county seat to secure the reward.

Anyone wishing to sign the petition will be welcomed at the chamber of commerce.

Family of Six Found Murdered

DETROIT, Mich., July 3.—The bodies of Paul Evangelist, 43, his wife Santina, three young daughters and their three year old son, Mario, were found hacked to death in their beds at their home shortly before noon today by a neighbor who investigated the absence of activity at the Evangelist household.

The six murders evidently were the result of a fiend, according to police reports.

Polo Game Played at Aviation Field at 10:30 Tomorrow

The polo game between Woodson and Coleman, a feature of the Fourth of July celebration here will be played at the Municipal Aviation field and not the Chesley park. It was at first planned to stage the game at the park but later this plan was changed in the interest of better accommodation both for the teams and the crowd.

To repeat: The game will not be played at Chesley park but at the Aviation Field. Admission is 50 cents.

The Coleman team is in the city. The players and their ponies arrived yesterday. Woodson will arrive today.

The hour for the game is 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

Cisco Girl Stars in Two Plays

Miss Zelia Blanch McClinton starred in the two plays, "Just a Little Mistake," and "The Recter," put on last week at the Strand theater in Marlin by the Fort School of Expression and Dramatic Art of Waco.

Miss McClinton is the daughter of Mrs. Ben McClinton and is well known to Cisco people. She is a graduate of Cisco High school and afterwards attended S. M. U. During the past year she was instructor of speech at Randolph College.

Miss McClinton is staying in Waco this summer with Mrs. Minette Fort, a graduate of the Leland Powers School of Speech in Boston, and a teacher of recognized ability and talent.

TOOLDRESSER KILLED

PAMPA, July 3.—C. C. Kellerman, tool dresser, was killed Tuesday when he fell from a tool box on which he had been asleep into an oil rig engine wheel.

PLENTY OF PARKING SPACE IS AVAILABLE

For the convenience of those who wish to park their cars where they will be policed during the celebration at Lake Cisco tomorrow the city firemen will run a parking stand on the top of the hill just this side of the lake. A small fee will be charged, the proceeds to go to the volunteer firemen.

Ordinary parking next to the fence at the swimming pool will be prohibited. Parking east of the resort and toward the fish hatchery will be free and local people are requested to leave their cars there so that the space nearer the resort will be open to visitors in the city.

Lights are being strung in all roads into and from the valley for the convenience of the public who wish to park their vehicles.

Step-Father of Mrs. Triplitt Dies

B. F. Sullivan, aged 83, step-father of Mrs. J. W. Triplitt of Cisco, died last week after a brief illness in the hospital at Santa Anna. Mr. Sullivan, whose home was in Rockwood, was a pioneer settler of Coleman county, moving there before the county was organized. For about 40 years he had been employed in the postal service at Rockwood and other towns in Coleman county.

He is survived by his wife, and eight children who with the exception of two, were at his bedside when death came. Burial was in Bangs.

MILLIONS OF DAMAGE DONE IN CALIFORNIA

Playground of San Francisco Swept by Flames

By CARLE E. BENNETT.
MILL VALLEY, Cal., July 3.—A shift in the wind today turned a raging forest fire up the slope of Mount Tamalpais and spared this town from destruction after it had been in danger of being wiped out through the night.

The breeze fanned the flames for hours, but after damage of a million dollars was done and 100 homes burned, the fire swept up the slope of the mountain where it burned briskly while Mill Valley reorganized its force of several thousand volunteer fire fighters.

It was the worst disaster in the history of "Marvelous Marin" county, the playground of San Francisco and the home of the famous Muir Woods and Mount Tamalpais.

Small towns of the vicinity resembled military camps more than anything else when morning came. There was no sleep for anyone last night while flames were wiping out beautiful pieces of timber and burning summer homes.

The burned area is approximately 20 square miles. Damage is at least $1,000,000. More than 500 persons are homeless.

Eighteen persons were injured in fighting the flames, but none seriously and no fatalities have been reported.

It was a night of terror for Mill Valley when the wind whipped the fire to a near fury, sending it raging through the tree tops directly toward the town. Then the wind shifted and the flames receded back on the slope of majestic Mount Tamalpais.

Not only was Mill Valley thereby spared, but the flames were turned from the path of Muir Woods of California's best stands of giant redwood trees.

Chief of Police Alex McCurdy, of Mill Valley, today expressed the opinion that a burning cigar or cigarette, tossed from a train, caused the fire. He explained that undergrowth in the vicinity of the origin of the fire is so dense that hikers could not have gained access to it.

Down beautiful Blytheville canyon the fire roared, then up the side of the middle ridge of Mount Tamalpais and along the east side of Mill Valley. It was here most of the homes were burned.

A United Press staff correspondent walked over smoldering territory today and noted approximately 50 stone and brick remains of fire places which once were parts of summer homes.

There were many acts of heroism and seemingly miracles of the fire. Japanese servants, refusing to desert one house, fought for hours while fire was burning on four sides, and early today emerged smoke-begrimed, but victorious. They had saved the home of C. M. Cole, their employer.

LOVE HAS ANNOUNCED FOR GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, July 3.—Tom Love of Dallas formally announced as a candidate for governor today with this statement:

"With malice toward none and charity for all, I shall be a candidate for governor as an anti-Tammy Democrat before the Democratic primaries next year. I have a message to carry to the people and I know of no other way to do it."

"During the past few months literally thousands of men and women in all sections of Texas have expressed their desire that I become a candidate and I feel that the time has now come when my friends and my enemies as well are entitled to know that I choose to run."

LIONS HEAR BOY SCOUTS IN PROGRAM

Lion Orn presided at the Lion Luncheon Wednesday at which a Boy Scout program was rendered. Scout Master H. D. Chisholm, of troop No. 1 had the following scouts present: Coleman Williams, Billie Murray, Carl Siddall and Fred Mitcheam. After a very interesting discussion of some of the things taught a scout, Mr. Chisholm called on some of the boys to do their stuff. Billie Murray made a talk on archery and displayed a bow and arrow made by Chisholm. Coleman Williams demonstrated the tying of various knots as did Carl Siddall. Mitcheam, the Will Rogers of troop No. 1 then displayed his skill as a rope twirler, which received a great deal of applause.

L. A. Tullos, Jewell Poe and V. G. Locke were appointed as a program committee for the next meeting.

TEACHER DIES

HOUSTON, July 3.—Miss Mabel Thibodeaux, 29, school teacher, died Tuesday of injuries received in an automobile accident at China Friday.

BOY DROWNED

PARIS, July 3.—While swimming in a gin pool at Brookston Tuesday afternoon, Bert Turner, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Turner, was drowned. A companion recovered the body a few minutes after Turner disappeared under the water but efforts to revive him failed.

Mysterious Murder of Man and Woman Near Houston Today Without Single Clue

HOUSTON, July 3.—Guy Gouge, 29, contractor is dead, and Miss Lillian Bissett, a waitress, is near death.

And every available officer in Harris county Wednesday was seeking the person who shot the couple Tuesday night on the beach at Morgans Point.

It is one of the most mysterious crimes on record in the county, officers concluded after a thorough search that offers not a single clue as to the identity of the murderer.

Miss Bissett, the only person who might shed light on the identity of the killer, is in no condition to talk. She lies, with the barest fighting chance to live, at Baptist hospital. Opium, given to ease her suffering took away any possibility of officers getting a rational statement from her.

Stories of the shooting obtained by Sheriff T. Binford and his deputy, George Anderson, who were on the scene all night were:

Returned at 10:30
Binford, however, places most confidence in the account given by Mrs. N. A. Segall, operator of a soft drink stand at Shell Reed, near Morgans Point, who told Sheriff Binford that about 10:30 p. m. Tuesday she heard report of pistol shots—two of them in succession.

"I heard several auto horns and in a moment someone called for help. I sent my daughter to Miller's Inn to call the officers, and after waiting about 10 minutes I walked some 70 yards to an auto parked near some bushes. I had thought the cries for help came from this direction.

"A girl was standing beside the machine moaning and crying. A man lay dead beside the car, his body half under the running board. The cushion had been taken from the roadster and was resting on the ground immediately in front of the car."

Mrs. Segall said she turned to the girl and asked, "Honey, what's the matter?"

Explosion

"There's been an explosion," she quoted the girl as replying. She then helped Miss Bissett to the soft drink stand where she bathed the wounded girl's head and tried to give her some medical attention.

Gough, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Gough, was shot once, the ball entering his left arm pit. The bullet did not leave his body. Death, according to Justice Milam, who need the inquest, was instantaneous, the slug penetrating his lungs and heart.

The man made a terrific struggle, apparently to see his assailant after he was mortally wounded. Marks on his car indicate that he jumped to his feet almost as the shot was fired. The shock, however, caused him to stagger and he grabbed the front fender of his car in an effort to keep from falling.

NO ROTARY MEETING

Due to the fact that Thursday, the regular meeting day of the club, falls on July 4, there will be no luncheon of the Rotary club tomorrow. Action to dispense with this meeting date was taken at the session of the club last week.

ACCIDENT FATAL

VERNON, July 3.—Injuries received in an automobile accident three miles east of Oklahoma proved fatal for Mrs. Betty Graves, 60, and injured six other persons. The car in which Mrs. Graves was a passenger crashed into another machine that had been parked without lights.

STAGE BUILT IN CENTER OF BATHING POOL

Brilliant Lights Will Play Upon Charming Scene

The area about Lake Cisco and the big swimming pool where the annual West Texas Bathing Revue and July Fourth celebration will take place tomorrow, is the scene of much bustle and activity today. City firemen were called out early this morning—that was the occasion for the blasts on the fire siren—and a crew under the direction of Fire Chief C. O. Pass has been busy throughout the day washing out the big concrete tanks as that Fourth of July bathers will find fresh, clean water for their diversion tomorrow.

Meanwhile in the center of the shallow pool a large dais has been erected surmounted by a small platform upon which West Texas pulchritude will one by one stand tomorrow night to match charms for the honor of being named "Miss West Texas." Connecting the platform with the island is a 25-foot walkway, railed for protection. The girls will promenade along this walk to the platform and back one at a time while judges seated in boats below the dais will determine the winning beauty. Lilies, and greenery of various kinds appropriate to the event will be massed about the platform in such a manner that it will assume the appearance of an emerald island of blossoms.

Revue at 8:30

The revue will take place at 8:30 o'clock p. m.

Each girl as she passes along the runway to the dais and as she stands upon the platform will be clothed in the white beams of a spotlight so that she will move in an arena of brilliant light against a background of more subdued light furnished by a multitude of many-colored bulbs. Floodlights at strategic places about the pool will keep the entire natural amphitheater in proper illumination.

So far thirty girls have been entered in the contest. The latest to enter are: Miss Mabel Hooks, as "Miss Belmont"; Miss Lela Dalton as "Miss Olney"; and Miss Monteen House as "Miss Norvell and Miller."

Loud speakers are being installed about the pool today so that the crowd no matter how large, may hear perfectly all that goes on upon the stage. Bands, the Eastland, Olden and Cisco organizations, will play during the revue, while motion pictures will be taken of the girls.

Holland's Cabinet Submits Resignation

AMSTERDAM, July 3.—Holland's cabinet d'affaires, handed in its resignation today in the belief that the general elections would make it possible for a normal party cabinet to begin its functions.

The cabinet d'affaires, which has conducted the government business the past two years, was composed of members of all the principal parties in Holland. The general elections were being held today.

This tournament is a Scotch Foursome, a mixed affair with lady and gentleman playing lady and gentleman. The ladies will draw for partners.

This foursome will begin at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. Other events on the course during the day will consist of a handicap tournament and a blind tournament at 2 p. m. and a driving contest.

OIL NEWS OF SOUTHWEST

HOUSTON, July 3.—The average daily production of the Gulf Coast fields, including those of the southern Louisiana, last week was 1,196,764 barrels, a decrease of 1,196 barrels from that of the previous week.

The Plymouth Oil company's No. 1 Bailey, a three-quarter of a mile extension to the southwest of the Yates pool and the Taylor-Link Oil company's No. 1 University, flowing 100 barrels and opening up Peos county's fourth oil pool, were bright spots of development in west Texas last week.

Drilling activity in Louisiana for the first six months of the present year shows a considerable gain over the same period in 1928. So far a total of 429 drilling permits were issued by the minerals division of the Louisiana state conservation commission as compared to 365 for the first half of last year. Wells abandoned during the first six months of 1929 totaled 271, compared to 269 during the same period last year.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 3.—Pawnee county has two new wells added to its list of producers in the Devonian No. 2 Copeland and the Edwards No. 1 Edmonson, both small wells, which came in this week.

Cuttings were brought up from a depth of 4,567 to 5,065 feet in the Wirt Franklin No. 2 Lowry in the Oklahoma City field that appeared to contain oil particles. New products in the field are reported holding up well. Twelve wells were completed in Kansas last week. Eight were oil wells with total initial production of 4,240 barrels. The Panhandle showed a slump this week, when nine wells were completed and 12 first reports came through. New wells coming in, however, indicated more locations and completions would be added to the totals during the next week.

HOUSTON, July 3.—The South Texas Production company obtained its fourth deep sands producer on the south side of the Humble field when its No. 5 Morris was completed Monday at 5,150 feet flowing 2,500 barrels pipe line oil.

An important extension in the Refugio field has been reported in the completion of the Mission Drilling company's (subsidiary United Gas company) No. 1 Huddleston completed at 3,653 feet, flowing 450 barrels pipe line oil on a quarter inch choker. This well is 2,000 feet east of production on the east flank of the structure.

Raccoon Bend in Austin county has supplied a good well in No. 2 Tracey, flowing 500 barrels on a three-eighths inch choker at 3,559 feet.

North Louisiana production in light crude was 29,515 barrels, compared to 30,060 barrels of the preceding week. Heavy oil also registered a 100 from 5,920 to 5,820 barrels.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

By United Press.
Yesterday's hero—Jimmy Foxx, Philadelphia infielder, whose home run in the last of the ninth inning, second game at Philadelphia, counted three runs, enabled the A's to win their 50th game of the season.

The score of the second game between the A's and Washington was tied at one run when Foxx boosted the ball into the bleachers to give the Mackmen a 4 to 1 decision. They won the first game from the Senators, 7 to 4.

New York trailed with three runs in the last of the ninth to tie the Boston Red Sox at New York and added another in the tenth to win 4 to 3. Until the ninth Ed Morris, on the mound for Boston, had pitched shut-out ball.

Chicago dumped two extra inning games at Cleveland 4 to 3, and 5 to 4. In the first Cleveland scored a run in the ninth to tie the score and went on to win the tenth. In the second Chicago scored a runner in the ninth to tie the count and then jumped in the 11th and let Cleveland win by one run.

St. Louis dropped to third place, behind the Yankees, when beaten by Detroit, at St. Louis, 10 to 4. Detroit piled up an early lead and was never threatened seriously.

The Chicago Cubs had a narrow call in their game with Cincinnati at Chicago, but eked out a 5 to 4 victory in the 11th inning. The Reds held a two run lead when the Cubs came to bat in the ninth but a single, triple and passed ball let Chicago tie the score. Two singles and a sacrifice won the game in the 11th.

Pittsburgh refused to halt its beautiful day by dividing a twin bill at Boston. Melvin Ott hit his 23rd home run of the season in the first game, which New York won 6 to 3. The Braves won the second 3 to 2.

DALLAS—Skeet shooters from all parts of Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana will have a chance to display their skill here July 4, 5, 6 and 7, when the first sectional champion skeet ever held will be staged at the Dallas Skeet and Gun Club range. A cash award of $500 and many trophies will be presented the winners.

DALLAS—"It looks like an awful tough race," says Milt Stock, manager of the Dallas baseball club, in referring to his opinion of the prospects for the second half of the split season in the Texas league. "All of the southern clubs have been strengthened, and some of the northern ones. There was very little difference between Dallas, Wichita Falls, Shreveport and Fort Worth in the first half and it looks like a tossup between the same four in the new half."

BOYD POPULAR AS STAR OF TALKIE FILMS

Take a Pathe star like William Boyd, a supporting cast that includes Owen Moore, Carl Lombard, Diane Ellis, Billy Bevan and Phillips Smalley and a virile, dramatic story laid in the snow covered Sierra mountains in California, mix well with the latest in talking picture technique and serve as a 100 per cent dialogue attraction under the title of "High Voltage" and motion picture fans have delectable screen entertainment.

That's why manager Greer of the Palace theater takes special pains to announce this new Pathe picture as his feature attraction for next Wednesday and Thursday, and that's why this popular playhouse is bound to be one of the brightest spots long the local Palace during its run.

"High Voltage" is William Boyd's first all-talking picture and, if skilled picture viewers may be relied upon, William Boyd's popularity as a star in the silent drama is destined to be eclipsed by William Boyd, talkie star. The story is a tensely dramatic one, and yet, by way of relief, there are many moments of hilarity provided by Billy Bevan, former Mack Sennett comedy star, Carol Lombard and Diane Ellis supply the feminine interest, and the scenes in the High Sierras are considered to present some of the finest examples of snow photography yet shown in a picture.

Howard Higgin directed "High Voltage" and it is a worthy successor to his previous production, "The Leatherneck." Elliott Clawson wrote the story and James Gleason is credited with the dialogue. It is a Ralph Block production.

Man Sat by Wife; Theater Was Closed

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3. — American movie fans don't realize how lucky they are. There was one lone moving-picture house in the little Dutch town of Rucyhen. Now there is none, the cinema section of the commerce department has been advised. It was closed because a man sat by his wife.

According to the municipal laws of Rucyhen, it was explained, male and female patrons of shows, on grounds of "public morality," must sit separately. Police raided the theater one night and discovered the two "culprits."

Changes in Grid Rules Contained in New Football Guide

NEW YORK, July 3. — Changes in fumble and point-after-touchdown rules are contained in the official 1929 football guide placed on bookstands by A. G. Spalding.

Under the 1929 code, a ball fumbled and recovered by the opponents after striking the ground is dead automatically and may not be advanced beyond the point of recovery.

The rule restricting players of the kicking side from advancing the ball on legally recovering it has been extended to cover kickoffs, free kicks and kicks that do not cross the scrimmage line.

The try for point after touchdown will be made next fall from the two-yard line instead of the three yard line as formerly.

602 Die From Auto Accidents in Cities

WASHINGTON, July 3. — The department of commerce announced today that during the four weeks ending June 15, 78 large cities in the United States reported 602 deaths from automobile accidents.

This number corresponds with a total of 506 deaths in a similar period in 1928. Most of the deaths were the result of accidents which occurred within the corporate limits of the cities reporting, although some accidents occurred outside the limits.

Considering by four-week periods since May, 1925, the lowest total deaths from auto accidents in the 78 cities appears for the period ending March 27, 1926, and the highest for the period ending December 29, 1928.

CONTRACTS TO BE LET

FORT WORTH, July 3.—As soon as the plans and specifications for Fort Worth's new $7,000,000 Texas and Pacific railway freight and passenger terminal are completed, the contracts will be awarded, according to E. F. Mitchell, chief engineer of the road. He did not say definitely when that work will be finished.

SPLIT SEASON IN EFFECT IN TEXAS CIRCUIT

DALLAS, July 3. — While there has been no official announcement of the ballot in the voting by Texas league club owners of the split ball season which went into effect yesterday, it has been authoritatively learned that every club owner favored the change with the exception of O. N. Biederharn of Shreveport and Aivin Gardner of Wichita Falls.

Fort Worth, San Antonio and Dallas officials had previously been quoted as being opposed to the split.

It is understood that formal motion for the new arrangement was made by the Houston club in its eighth place Beaumont Exporters. It is a once evident that the majority of the owners were strongly in favor of the motion, the only difficulty in its passage arising over the date on which it should take effect.

Shreveport demanded that the split begin on July 4, which would have given the team a fighting chance to clinch the crown for the first half which could have been accomplished had they won two games and Dallas lost two. They will appeal the decision, they have said.

MANY BOATS TO TAKE PART IN REGATTA

Paschall in Charge; Wallace and Wright Officials

Between 30 and 40 boats will be entered in the races during the regatta on Lake Cisco which is to be a part of the July Fourth celebration tomorrow afternoon, according to Crigger Paschall, who is in charge of the regatta. Mr. Paschall announced that W. W. Wallace will be the judge for these races while F. D. Wright will act as official starter and handicapper.

At least four races will be held over the course staked out down the main body of the lake. Every foot of this course will be clearly visible from the shore and the large array of boats will present a strikingly attractive water scene. From Breckenridge will come a number of boats at least one of which is noted for its speed. These boats will present a pretentious taret to the superiority of Cisco boats on their own waters and demand that the sporting spirit of local enthusiasts rally to the defense of their prestige.

Albany and other cities will also send representations. Cisco boat owners who desire to see this sport developed here can aid to a great extent by universally taking part not for the sake of the prizes but for the sake of the sport and Cisco's big lake resort, said Mr. Paschall.

Announcer for the events will be Jack Moss.

Pop Warner, Stanford Coach, Is Secured as Member of All-Star Faculty S. M. U. Coaching School

DALLAS, July 3. — Southern Methodist University is fortunate to have secured the services of Glen S. (Pop) Warner, head coach of Stanford University, and dean of American Football Coaches, as a member of the all-star Faculty of the Warner-Rockne Coaching school which begins in Dallas on August 19th and lasts through August 31st.

GLEN S. (POP) WARNER

Warner is one of the oldest and most universally known coaches in the game. His style of coaching is recognized throughout the nation.

The Stanford mentor became nationally known in the athletic world as an all-around athlete coach, his Alma Mater, Cornell, where he spent four years coaching football. Warner made a series of changes as coach from one school to another, each change making him more widely known. During the period from 1904 to 1924 Warner coached Carlisle Indians, Cornell Institute and the University of Pittsburgh. In 1924 he went to the West Coast as head coach of Stanford University, and has been there since.

The Warner-Rockne combination is attracting National-wide interest. The 1929 edition of the S. M. U. coaching school is expected to be the largest attended school of its kind in the United States this year.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Because she is in love with her employer, JOHN CURTIS MORGAN, successful lawyer, NAN CARROLL, secretary, decides to resign. She lingers however when the lerns Morgan is to defend a supposed friend, BERT CRAWFORD. Morgan wins Crawford's acquittal and leaves town at once. IRIS, Morgan's wife, follows closely, writing back to Morgan that she will never return. She cleverly omits reference to Crawford, whom Morgan trusts implicitly.

Nan saves Morgan from despair by forcing him more deeply into his work. For six months she acts as long-distance housekeeper for him, winning the love of little CURTIS, his son, and bringing comfort to a man who ironically thinks only of another.

Morgan finally stutters a proposal, and after a quiet wedding they are prevented from going on their honeymoon by the unexpected arrival of a pleading client. Nan urges Morgan to stay with the case.

For three months their farcical marriage continues. Nan is on the verge of despair. She decides to leave but Morgan finds her packing. He confesses he adores her but has believed she married him out of pity. She confesses she thought the ghost of Iris was forever between them. The next morning, while they are at breakfast, Iris returns.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Estelle found her standing on the last step of the stairs—a stiff white-faced, blind-eyed little thing.

"Please, ma'am," Estelle whispered, coming close enough to touch Nan's loosely clasped, cold hands. "The mister went me to find you. He wants you in—there," and she jerked her head toward the dining room. "Listen, ma'am; don't you let her get away with nothing! Stand up for your rights, Miss Nan! YOU'RE his wife now, and she ain't got no more right in this house than—than a cockroach! Don't you take a word off her, Miss Nan—"

Blindly, but with odd dignity Nan made a slight gesture of dismissal toward the maid. "Go on, Estelle; you've got your work to do," she said, and she turned away with a stiff jerkiness toward the dining room door. Her groping hand found the knob, was about to turn it, before Estelle's words penetrated into her dazed mind. "YOU'RE HIS WIFE NOW—"

She passed an uncertain hand before her eyes as if to dispel the mists through which she had been moving. Of course! What a fool she was to be so frightened! She WAS John Curtis Morgan's wife! Estelle, watching from the stairs, saw the little brown head go up, the slim, boyish shoulders straighten, before Nan turned the knob. With a sob of relief, the maid darted around the stair case to the kitchen, to pour the latest news bulletin into Maude O'Brien's avid ears.

"She's going to fight for her man, Maude—God bless her!" Estelle exclaimed. "Fair knocked her out, I thought, for a minute that the poor little dear would pack her things and beat it, leaving that hell-cat to get her claws into the poor mister again."

"What stumps me," Maude O'Brien marveled, scowling prodigiously and clattering the dishes in the sink to keep her words from penetrating to the dining room, "is why the high and mighty Lady Iris come back? Anyone that was blind in one eye and couldn't see out of the other coulda seen she didn't care a snap of her finger for the poor dear man when she had him."

"Hunk!" Estelle snorted, dabbling the tears from her eyes with her apron. "That's don't bother me none, Maude! That crook Crawford that she run off with give her the air—Oh, Lord! Listen!" she gasped, as a scream rose and rose till it reached nerve-shattering crescendo, then broke abruptly.

CHAPTER XXXVI
Nan Carroll Morgan was not one of those women who thrive on drama. She had never lost her little-girl horror and sick distaste of scenes. Her own well-bred home had been singularly free of open discord, but once, inadvertently, when she was a child, she overheard her mother and father quarreling bitterly. For days her shamed eyes had avoided them, fearful of seeing those two she had idolized in that dreadful state of soul-nakedness to which their quarrel had stripped them.

Now, her hand on the knob of the door beyond which an unspeakably shameful scene was being enacted, every ounce of physical courage which the girl possessed had to be desperately summoned before she could force herself to go on.

A wave of nausea swept over her, but she had had only herself to consider she would still have done as Estelle had feared—she would have fled the house, leaving Iris in possession. But, as always John Curtis Morgan came first. What was it he had said last night? "I was a slave in bondage—"

Could she, whom he had loved as his deliverer, consign him to slavery again? He had said, too, "I hope I shall never see Iris again." Well, now that he had seen her again, . . . But he had sent Estelle to find HER. He needed her. She had never failed him yet.

Nan's icy fingers turned the knob slowly, noiselessly, though with no intention of muting her entrance. She forced her eyes to take in every detail of the tableau before her:

Morgan standing tall and stiff, his pale face stern and forbidding, but such agony in his deep-set black eyes that Nan could have screamed. Swaying against his stiff body, her hands locked behind his rigidly unbending neck was an Iris Morgan such as Nan in her most uncontrolled flights of imagination, could not have pictured.

The divorced wife had torn off her hat and thrown aside her fur coat—the same mink coat in which she had gone away to join Bert Crawford. The glorious red-gold hair was in wild disorder, the thick knot on her neck almost shaken free by the violence of her emotion.

Before Nan became aware of the words Iris was pouring out, she saw her husband's eyes took in, with unswerving detachment, the fact that Iris' normally slender body had become painfully thin. But somehow, subtly, her beauty had fed upon the wasting of her body. Undoubtedly Iris had suffered, and as a result was far lovelier than ever. Even her voice had a new quality, a throbb of sincerity in what had formerly been an artificial, beautifully modulated ripple of music. Gradually her words beat into Nan's still half-dazed brain:

"It can't be true, Jack! You've said these horrible things to punish me. I'm punished! See! I'm crying, Jack! Now put your arms about me. Kiss me! Hold me so tight I can never leave you again! And then tell me—tell me—"

"Over the wild disorder of red-gold curls Morgan's harassed eyes toward the dining room. "Listen, ma'am; don't you let her get away with nothing! Stand up for your rights, Miss Nan! YOU'RE his wife now, and she ain't got no more right in this house than—than a cockroach! Don't you take a word off her, Miss Nan—" white cheeks, Nan quietly moved out of range of Iris' returning vision, took her place at the end of the couch, her grave eyes fixed in an unwinking stare upon her husband's ravaged face.

A white hand rose feebly, wavered, then fluttered to rest upon Morgan's black-and-silver head. "Such a horrid dream, Jack," a thread of a voice whispered. "I knew all the time I was dreaming, but I couldn't wake myself up. Dear, silly Jack!" The long white fingers ruffled his hair feebly.

With a groan of sheer agony the man dropped his head to her breast again. Nan knew he did not even remember that she was there. The thread-like voice went on:

"So tired, Jack—so tired! Poor Iris has been awfully sick. Did you know? So sick! Tried to—commit suicide. So sick, Jack. . . Wanted YOU, Jack. So lonely. Ashamed to come home—but I did—I came home—" The thread spun itself gossamer-fine and broke; the eyelids fluttered down over the blue-green eyes.

"Oh, my God!" The words were wrung from the man on a sob that shook his body. "Jack! Silly Jack!" There was a ghost of a laugh. "Everything's all right. Iris has come back to you. You're glad, aren't you, Jack? In that horrid dream you told me you'd divorced me and married Nan Carroll. Wasn't that a foolish dream, Jack?"

The long white fingers twined about a lock of the man's hair, tugged at it with feeble playfulness, which suddenly became frantic as his head remained bowed on her breast. "It WAS just a dream, wasn't it, Jack? Tell me!"

Suddenly, though how she knew she could not have told to save her life, Nan was sure that the fainting spell had been faked, just as this feebleness of voice and hand, this childlike prattling of a "horrid dream" were faked—for the purpose which had been so completely accomplished—of bringing John Curtis Morgan to his knees.

She might have known—she told herself with that queer, aloof calm that had descended upon her—that Iris would fight like this. What other weapon had been left to her? Well—Nan shrugged mentally—it seemed to be a very effective weapon. Odd how little pain she felt; just an absorbed, grave curiosity, as if she were looking upon the melodramatic second act of a drama whose conclusion she could not guess. Her queerly aloof mind elaborated the metaphor: "A modern problem play entitled RIVAL WIVES, starring Iris Morgan, with a notable cast, including John Curtis Morgan and Nan Carroll Mor-

She felt a smile twist at her lips; wondered "Am I going crazy? Or am I just having what Iris calls a 'horrid dream'?"

But if it was a dream her husband's voice—or was he Iris' husband, really?—seemed amazingly real. She listened with grave attentiveness.

"You mustn't talk just now, Iris," he was saying slowly hoarsely, as if each word was wrung from him. "Close your eyes and try to sleep, darling—" He caught himself, remembered Nan, flashed her a look of such piteous appeal that her numbed heart stirred, lunged sickeningly.

LARGE ROADS BATTLE FOR SMALL LINE

FORGER, July 3. — A 57-mile railroad system, the Beaver, Meade & Englewood, in the Oklahoma Panhandle, is the point of dispute for two of the great railroad systems of the Southwest, the Rock Island and the M. K. T.

The short line, extending from Beaver to Forger and thence west to Hough, touches one of the richest agricultural sections of this region, and the control of the line has started a bitter battle between the two larger roads.

Recently the Rock Island purchased the road from Jacob Achback, of Hardner, Kansas, and C. J. Turpin, of Oklahoma City, the president and vice president of the little line. The consideration was said to be in excess of $1,300,000. The Rock Island has asked permission of the interstate commerce commission to complete the purchase, but now are being opposed by the M. K. T., who claim that they have done much toward aiding the small line and should be allowed control of it.

Z. G. Hopkins, of St. Louis, assistant to the president of the M. K. T., secured the unanimous approval of his railroads protest to the interstate commerce commission. He outlined the efforts of his company to aid the short line.

"We made it possible for the B. M. & B. officials to secure ties at much less cost than they could have purchased them," he said. "We loaned them steel which is at present on their right of way; we secured and furnished them cars without any per-diem charge and power with which to move their 1928 crop of wheat. But after all these courtesies had been extended to the line, the property was placed on sale without any expression of such sale reaching our St. Louis offices.

Several mass meetings have been held in Kooker, at which officials of both roads have presented their sides of the controversy. Rock Island officials contend that the short road will be operated as a separate road and will retain its own officers and personnel. Plans are underway, Rock Island officials stated, to extend the road west of Hough into New Mexico. The Rock Island will determine the probable amount of business to be had before making its decision.

FLYERS GET WARM WELCOME

DREAD LEPROSY STILL WITHOUT CERTAIN CURE

By REUEL S. MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
HONOLULU, T. H., July 3.

Leprosy is still without a definite and positive cure, according to physicians engaged in working with the disease in the Hawaiian islands.

Despite improvement in treatment the disease continues to manifest itself in isolated cases with persistence.

At the close of the last fiscal year there were 496 lepers at the Kalouppapa settlement on Molokai, and 164 cases at the Kailihi hospital in Honolulu, or a total of 660 known cases in the islands.

Twenty years ago the total number of lepers in the territory was 791. During this time the territory has increased from roughly 200,000 to 350,000, indicating progress in the elimination of the disease.

Medical Opinion

During recent years the progress has been made in the treatment of the disease with derivatives of Chaulmoogra oil. The opinion of medical men, however, was well expressed by Dr. J. R. Judd, former president of the Hawaii Territorial Medical association and authority on the disease, when he declared:

"Clinical improvement is not

COURT RULES HORSE TRADE MUST STICK

MOBERLY, Mo., July 3. — "A horse trade is a horse trade," and that's all there is to it.

That in effect was the decision of a Randolph county jury in circuit court here. While tremendous interest centered about the trial, and the court room was crowded at every session, the facts were simple. Frank Owens, a mail carrier out of Cairo, swapped a mule for Jackson Toles' mare. Frank said the mare was represented as genuine free from blemishes and would haul the mail cart over the dirt roads of Randolph county with docility and the requisite energy.

But a trial showed the mare had a broken hip, was short of wind and inclined to demonstrate fierceness when he tried to hitch her to a vehicle, the plaintiff told the jury. She just wouldn't do at all, Frank said, and he wanted the deal called off.

Jackson Toles denied any warranty. He said that he and Owens sized up the two animals and agreed to swap. He wanted a mule and Owens wanted a mare. Each trader risked his judgment, and was to take what he got. He didn't know any more about Owens' mule than Owens knew about Toles' mare.

At first trial the court sustained

PLAN OUTING

EASTLAND, July 3. — A picnic outing for members of the Churches of God of Cisco, Eastland and Gorman will be held on July 4 at the drive of the Warner Memorial University, according to plans now underway.

The picnic will be an all-day occasion. A program of speaking, music, etc., is to be arranged.

OFFICERS SEEK PARENTS OF 11 YEAR OLD GIRL

BRADY, July 3.—Officers here are looking for the parents of little 11-year-old Florence Carson, in keeping of Sheriff Love Kimbrough.

How the little child had been abused and mistreated by her uncle and aunt by marriage, with whom she had been living for more than a year, was revealed by officers upon their return from Rochelle, near here, where a court of inquiry was held after neighbors had witnessed whippings and beatings administered to the child.

The family with whom Florence had been living, Byers by name, came to McCulloch county about three weeks ago, and had been living on a farm near Rochelle. Neighbors noticed the little girl was being abused by members of the family. Upon closer observation it was revealed she was undergoing pain and agony in her daily mistreatments.

Officers were told Florence had been compelled to sit in the broiling sun, and that they had seen her get whippings, beatings, kickings and every other form of punishment given a child, usually for no reason whatsoever.

Florence said that her mother was dead, but that she had a father, E. Carson, who lived at Athens, Texas. She told officers she was given to the Byers family by her father about a year ago. She is now in the keeping of Sheriff Kimbrough until relatives can be located.

The child at first resented being taken from her only home; but when new clothes were obtained for her by Rochelle citizens, she immediately became a proud young lady. Her real happiness was not revealed, however until she was given a yo yo top, the first she had ever played with.

No charges have been filed against members of the Byers family, officers stated.

LIGHTHOUSE FOR SALE

LONDON, July 3. — England's oldest lighthouse is for sale. It is situated on the Mersey embankment at Leasowe and has a good command of the sea. The lights of the beacon were extinguished in 1908. Now the property is being listed by real estate agents who describe it as an ideal spot for a catering business or even for a private residence.

"Jack! Silly Jack!" There's a shout of a laugh. "Everyth'ng all right. It's all come back to you. You're glad, aren't you, Jack? In that horrid dream I told me you'd divorced me."

NEW PETRIFIED FOREST FOUND AT EAGLE PASS

EAGLE PASS, July 3.—A forest of petrified trees rivaling the Redwood giants of California in size lies partially buried beneath the sand hills northeast of here.

Hidden by sparse growth of mesquite, cactus, and bush grass, the fallen giants are almost unknown even to the scattered residents of the surrounding country. The trees are buried, except for a few, beneath the sandy soil of low hills.

Cylindrical sections of the ancient trees vary in size from six to 12 feet. Some lie scattered above the surface. Others have one end above the ground with another end buried.

The area, though little known now, is a paradise for geologists and paleontologists. The rock trunks show bark rings and grain effects of wood. In some places, bumps and knots supporting olden limbs are visible. Some of the trees have spongy looking wood with wide grain and heavy outside bark. Other specimens are closely grained.

The color of the stone varies from a deep black with streaks of brown and red, to a speckled grey.

CELEBRATES TENTH BIRTHDAY

Miss Marie Tune, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Tune, celebrated her tenth birthday Tuesday afternoon with a party at her home, 1510 J avenue.

Many games and contests were played and prizes awarded to the winners: Bobby Burkett, Mildred Whitman, Hazel Agnew, Bob Whitman, Buster Mathews, Tylene Warrington, La Yerne Dill, Elsie Pulley, Ona Ruth Marchman and Bessie Rae Coats.

Punch was served throughout the afternoon and Mrs. Tune, assisted by Mrs. Dud Hutton and Mrs. Frank Wansley, served ice cream and cake with flags as favors to the following guests: Mildred Whitman, Bob Whitman, Tommy Wilson, Bobby Burkett, Ona Ruth Marchman, Hazel Agnew, Julian Flaherty, Leo Ree Clifton, Betty Gross, Pansy Erwin, Raymond Evans, Tylene Warrington, Buster Mathews, Carolyn Bailey, Bessie Rae Coats, La Vern Dill, and Elsie Pulley.

LIFE FOR $25 THEFT

FRESNO, Cal., July 3.—James Bowright of Fresno must spend the rest of his life in Folsom prison because he stole a $25 automobile tire here, Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled. The state prison board asked Webb's opinion of the case. Webb ruled that since Bowright had served four previous prison terms that the tire theft brought him into the classification of a habitual criminal. A petty theft becomes a felony when committed by a former convicted felon, Webb ruled.

BOOTLEGGER DENIED PAPERS

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., July 3.—Because he admitted violating the national prohibition law, Philip Loback of this town, was prevented from becoming an American citizen. Following this admission, his application was denied at a naturalization hearing by Justice Bernard B. Ackerman of Belmont. Loback divulged to the court he violated the law several years ago.

A NEW KIND OF CAR THEN—A NEW KIND OF CAR NOW!

the Chrysler is a new type of motor car, which holds entirely novel sensations for every motorist. The fact is, that Chrysler engineers have in this car employed the fundamentals of motor car design in a manner fully as revolutionary as the application of the steam turbine to ocean-going ships. Your first ride in a Chrysler will compel a new conception of automobile transportation.

—Advertisement Saturday Evening Post Oct. 11, 1924

WHAT YOU EXPECT OF CHRYSLER

The imposing succession of Chrysler accomplishments has led the public instinctively to expect more of Chrysler than of other cars—and it is the completeness with which Chrysler fulfills these higher expectations that explains the ever-rising tide of Chrysler success.

You expect of Chrysler a charming individuality in style, and you get it. You expect a livelier and more thrilling spirit of performance, and you get it. You expect a more luxurious feeling of cradled comfort, and you get it. You expect a greater sum total of actual value in Chrysler, and you find it.

Chrysler today exerts a tremendous influence over the entire industry—and justifiably. In the five years of its meteoric rise, Chrysler has done more than any other force in the automobile world to revolutionize and modernize motor car standards.

That is the reason why the volume of Chrysler sales has increased to such mighty proportions—and why Chrysler enjoys such prestige in 93 countries.

We invite you to take a Chrysler demonstration—expecting more of Chrysler than of any car within several hundred dollars of its price.

CHRYSLER "75"—$1535 to $1795—Eight Body Styles. CHRYSLER "65"—$1040 to $1145—Six Body Styles. All prices f. o. b. factory. Chrysler dealers extend convenient time payments.

There was plenty of soap. The clothes were scrubbed thoroughly, and rinsed. But the water was hard. The soap mixed with the hard water, and formed a dirty ring around the basin—scum! The scum got into the fabric of the clothes. That's why the clothes weren't clean.

But they can be clean. How? By washing them in soft water. And how can hard water be made soft? By adding MeLo. The water is now a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap; and the soap much more effective. Get a can today at your grocer's.

ABILENE, TEXAS. MAN ENDORSES ORGATONE

"My son was in a very run down condition—Orgatone Proves to be a good system builder."

Mr. J. A. Stowe, of 2417 S. First St., Abilene, Texas, makes the following remarkable statement regarding his son's health, and what Orgatone did for him:

"My son has been in a very poor run down condition for several years. He has been bothered with stomach trouble and had to be very careful with what he ate or it would disagree with him. He was nervous and restless and didn't seem to have any energy at all or didn't take an interest in anything. He was gradually growing weaker and took all kinds of medicines and treatments but nothing seemed to do him any good. We realized that he needed a good tonic and strength builder but couldn't seem to find the right medicine for him.

"We read so many local statements in the newspapers about the benefits people had derived from Orgatone and decided that he should try it. It seemed to be the right medicine for him, he is in much better health now than he has been for several years. His general health is improved greatly. He can eat most anything he wants now and seems to be stronger and have more energy than he did. Orgatone has proven to be a mighty good system builder and tonic in my son's case and it has helped him more than anything else and we both are glad to recommend it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment sold in Cisco exclusively by the Dean Drug Co., under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.

CUP CUSTARDS

"A delightful dessert, quickly and easily prepared; you can't beat mother's delicious cup custards. They just melt in your mouth. Mother's skill and milk from the Cisco Creamery are surely a winning combination. To have good luck with your desserts, use milk from the Home Dairy," says The Brindle Bossy.
