BOTH RUSSIAN AND CHINESE FORCES MARCH

But Each Side Claims to Welcome Steps for Peace

By United Press.
While statements in many capitals moved to prevent war, military activity on the part of both Russians and Chinese was reported in the Manchurian trouble zone today.

The British and American consuls at Harbin, in the center of northern Manchuria, were understood to have decided to ask Japan to protect all foreigners in the province in event of armed conflict.

A Japanese correspondent at Harbin reported that the Soviet army had entered Manchuria on the northwestern border of Manchuria. Many inhabitants were evacuated to the northeast as a result of yesterday's cannonading between Russian troops and the combined border patrol of Chinese and White Cossacks.

Harbin was under martial law. Five additional brigades of Chinese troops were ordered to move northward from Murden, the Manchurian capital to Manchuria.

Meantime assurances came that both Russia and China welcomed the move of Secretary of State Stimson, concurred in by other world powers, to remind the quarreling nations that they were adherents to the Kellogg-Briand pact renouncing wars of aggression.

EDITOR SURVEYS SITUATION.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Scripts Howard newspapers received today a copyrighted cable dispatch from their foreign news editor William Phillip Simms, now enroute to Harbin, Manchuria. Simms was a member of the party touring the Orient under the sponsorship of the Carnegie, peace foundation but hastened northward from Shanghai when war in Manchuria seemed imminent. Simms is a former United Press war correspondent and was manager of the Paris bureau of the United Press during the world war.

Simms copyrighted dispatch is as follows:

(Copyright by Scripps-Howard, 1929.)

DAIREN, Manchuria, July 20.—(This dispatch relayed by Japanese consul at Chang Chun.)—The situation at Harbin arising from the dispute between China and Russia is extremely tense, according to information here. This information summarizes as follows:

The Russians are massing troops at four points, near Manchuria on the Chinese Eastern railway, at Blagoveshensk, near Linkiang at the junction of the Amur and Sungari rivers, and at Suihenko, a border town on the railway connecting Vladivostok and Harbin.

Danger also threatens Manchuria from thousands of Hungtze bands alleged to be in the pay of Russians.

"Factory of Hell" No Place to Loaf

By LOUISE TRAMMELL.
"Yes, sir, $5 will be satisfactory," the negro agreed when J. H. Moyer, district manager of the American Glycerin Co. engaged him with his team of mules to pull a truck which was stuck in the mud near Nowata, Oklahoma.

As he approached the brilliant red truck, the negro's eyes widened.

"What's yo' all got in that thash truck?"

"Nothing," Moyer answered. "Boss, that sho looks sp'icious to me. Is that thing got nitroglycerin in it?"

"Well, yes," Moyer conceded.

"Go on man! You ain't talkin' in to this nigger! Ah wouldn't hitch mah mules outa that thash truck for a thousand dollars. No suth! Cause when you stabs foolin' with that stuff fast yo is and then you ain't!"

"This Factory of Hell," as one correspondent for the Star-Telegram so aptly calls the nitroglycerin plant, is located in the center of 110 acres near Lake Bernie, ruggedly beautiful yet life with rattlesnakes and howling wolves.

Isolated Spot
A narrow winding road bedecked with tall cat tails leads along the lake and through a low gulley where the roadbed sinks so rapidly in the sort of quicksand that 150 loads of rock have been dumped here on top of 50 to 75 iron drums and even now it is extremely low.

Circling around through these low hills, the road leads to near huge steel tanks, iron drums, and pieces of machinery which he scattered over a wide area, evidences of the explosion in 1919 when two men were killed, and on to the unimposing gray colored plant.

At the top of the steep incline that leads down to the entrance, is a shed piled high with tanks of glycerin and nitric acid which are transported from the factory to the loading platform at Torpedo Spur on a private switch. The finished product is never freighted by railway but by trucks.

Fifteen hundred pounds of acid are drawn from these tanks and placed in a huge, round iron drum, called the sulator, which is covered except for a small square of glass and a small opening through which 300 pounds of glycerin flows slowly into a perforated pipe and in tiny, thin streams into the acid. Cooling waters flow through the double coils of lead pipe lining the tank, and a paddle continuously stirs the mixture as the "maker" closely watches the long thermometer placed in the liquid between the pipes. A few degrees above the danger line and more steel and iron will be sent flying above the hills.

Mixture Stirred
For an hour the paddle continues to turn and should the belt break or the engine stop, there is an emergency hand-crank to keep the mixture in motion.

Through a pipe, the solution runs into a grounding tank—a wooden tank filled with water—where the milky-white substance sinks to the bottom and passes into a washer, a smaller wooden tank of water. Here it washes for two or three hours, and then as a honey-colored liquid, it is drawn up through a rubber hose and drained through a rubber funnel into a ten quart can placed on the scales. When the exact weight is attained, one can is removed from the scales and another placed on them.

Some of the nitroglycerin is washed through the other washer and is caught in the catch-all-tanks. Removed from this, it is placed in the first washer again and drawn out. These proportions of chemicals, 1,500 pounds of acid to 200 pounds of glycerin, produce 600 quarts of nitroglycerin, a sufficient amount to occasion a making only several times a month.

From here the cans are removed to one of the three magazines, small houses constructed of steel walls lined with wood, and laid with sawdust floors. Stored in one of them at present is 3,615 quarts. There is also another plant on the land, larger than this one.

BODIES OF 3 DROWNED IN RIVER SOUGHT

SALIDA, Colo., July 20.—Searchers lined the banks of the Arkansas river here today, endeavoring to locate the bodies of three persons drowned yesterday when their automobile was swept from a highway by a cloudburst.

Charles Fugate, 24, his wife, 19, and their daughter, Edna, 2 of Pawhuska, Okla., were swept away when a torrent poured down the road and into a railroad underpass where a party of seven tourists were seeking shelter from a cloudburst.

Other members of the party, Lawrence Fugate, brother of Charles, Francis Hearlson, 27, his wife, 18, and daughter Jean, 1, of Caldwell, Oklahoma, suffered severe cuts and bruises. They were brought here for medical treatment.

Lawrence made a futile effort to save his brother and family when the Fugate car was pushed toward the Arkansas river by the flood, but the car had overturned into the river before he could reach the occupants.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Arrangements have been made for the sale of a New York curb exchange membership at $225,000, a new high record.

LEES ARE DUE TO LEAVE FOR CISCO MONDAY

A card received by Mrs. Leonard Simon from her brother, Quincy Lee, stated that Mrs. R. Q. Lee who recently underwent an operation in Washington is now sufficiently improved to make the trip from Washington to Cisco with Congressman Lee. Mr. and Mrs. Lee, accompanied by Quincy, will leave Washington tomorrow.

Sinclair Completes Contempt Sentence

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil baron, completes tomorrow his 90-day sentence in the district jail for contempt of the senate. He will not be released, however, until he finishes serving a concurrent six month term imposed for jury shadowing.

Committed to jail May 6, Sinclair has been allowed five days of each month for good behavior, thus ending the first term July 21. Deducting the good behavior allowance from his second sentence Sinclair should be released about November 22.

FIRST F. F. T. ENCAMPMENT OPENS MONDAY

Several Counties Will Be Represented Here

One hundred and fifty, more or less, youngsters from the rural sections of central West Texas, will be in Cisco tomorrow and for two days afterward on wholesome, outdoor pleasure bent. They are members of F. F. T. chapters from several counties in this area and the occasion for their coming is the first annual district F. F. T. encampment to take place at Lake Cisco.

Telegrams, phone calls and letters reveal that vocational agriculture teachers from numerous communities plan to attend this encampment bringing with them delegations of boys under their instruction. Among those who will be here are:

J. M. Binion, of Santa Anna; J. G. Bishop, of Olney; R. H. Mathis, of Coleman; D. M. Russell, of De Leon; F. T. Hughes, of Clyde; P. A. Lloyd, of Basing Star; Ben Whitehouse, of Ranger; Joe W. Edwards, of Gorman; Mr. Tull, of Abilene and others, all teachers who will come with boys under their supervision. In addition there will be Oil Belt Scout Executive Guy N. Quirl, of Eastland; Abilene Scout Executive Ed Shumway, of Abilene; E. R. Alexander, head of the department of vocational teacher training of A. and M. College; J. J. Brown, a member of the state board for vocational education; and J. C. Dykes, of the department of vocational teacher training, of A. and M. college.

Will Talk to Boys.
Mr. Alexander, Mr. Brown and Mr. Dykes and others will talk to the boys at stated times during the three days of the encampment. Mr. Quirl, Mr. Shumway and William (Bill) Curren, the latter of the Cisco Amusement company, will have charge of the games and water events.

Aside from the general entertainment features, such as swimming, boating, fishing and land games, there will be special features provided in the form of a watermelon feed, fostered by the Cisco Rotary club, a free vitaphone picture show by K. N. Greer, manager of the Palace theater; an agricultural tour including spots of interest at various places over the county, and so forth.

Mr. Alexander, Mr. Brown and others will talk to the boys at 2:30 Monday afternoon while the boys are to be the guests of W. W. Wallace at the Cisco Country club. These men will also talk at the watermelon feed.

The boys during their stay at the Weddington encampment grounds just north of the Lake, will live in tents, part of which will be provided by Wayne C. Hickey, secretary of the Ranger chamber of commerce. They will eat at a central mess hall where a chef will be in charge.

The encampment is in charge of the vocational teachers of the county. These are: E. H. Varnell, Cisco; Ben Whitehouse, Ranger; Joe W. Edwards, Gorman, and F. A. Lloyd, Rising Star.

The following is the program for the three days:

Monday: 9 a. m.—Arrival in camp. Getting quarters; 12:15, dinner at camp; 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m., welcome by Mayor J. M. Williamson; announcements by E. H. Varnell; 4 p. m. to 6 p. m., swimming and diving contests. Pathe News pictures to me made; 6:15, supper; 7 p. m., 10 minute program by each chapter; 8:30 p. m., swimming and boating.

Without a Country

"I could not kill even to save my mother," answered Martha Jane Graber, college honor graduate and trained nurse, when asked at Lima, O., her attitude on national deification papers. Barred from citizenship on this ground, she plans to carry her plea to higher courts. She was born in Alsace-Lorraine.

WITNESSES IN WILSON CASE ARE INDICTED

TYLER, July 20.—Mrs. May Wilson, wife of Lois Wilson, who is under three year sentence for murder of Rev. Fout Wallace, Troup Baptist minister, and two other persons, were indicted here late Friday for perjury in connection with their testimony at Wilson's trial last March.

Others indicted were J. L. Farley, who was constable at Troup in April, 1928, when Rev. Wallace was shot to death, and Edgar Cash, who did repair work on the church where Rev. Wallace was pastor and Mrs. Wilson choir singer.

A. S. Wilson, uncle of the convicted man, was indicted for attempting to get another to swear falsely.

The indictments came as a complete surprise to persons in this vicinity. When Wilson got a three-year sentence last March and appealed his case, Smith county residents expected to hear nothing about the case until the appeal was decided.

The indictment against Mrs. Wilson charged that she swore falsely when she testified that she met Reverend Wallace twice at the home of Mrs. Laura Dobbs at Tyler.

Farley was indicted for testifying that on two occasions he saw Wilson, the convicted man's uncle, was indicted for trying to get Mrs. Laura Dobbs to testify that she had given permission to Mrs. Wilson to use her home as a place in which to meet Rev. Wallace.

Mrs. Dobbs' testimony was one of the high lights in the trial of the case. It was her evidence that gave the state its first major victory during the hearing and it was her testimony also that caused Defense Attorney Duncan Maynor to take the stand to testify he had not attempted to influence her.

Pathe News Cameraman Is Here to "Shoot" Crowds at the Lake Cisco Swimming Pool Monday Afternoon

Every man, woman and child who presents himself or herself at the ticket office of the Cisco Amusement company at Lake Cisco tomorrow afternoon between the hours of 5 and 6 p. m. will be given a free ticket entitling them to spend the evening, if they wish, in the waters of the world's largest outdoor concrete swimming pool. The catch in the proposition is simply that the Pathe News will take motion pictures of the pool "to show New York how West Texas defies Old Sol without the aid of an ocean and beach" and a crowd is essential to a successful picture.

The Cisco Amusement company, in other words is trading a swim in the cool, invigorating waters of a 7,000,000 gallon pool, for a little of the time of each person. If that isn't a fair proposition there never was one. Those who take advantage of the offer should bring towels and swimming suits otherwise these will have to be secured at the lake where the regular fees will be charged.

Cameraman Here.

Guy H. Allbright, cameraman for the Pathe News, arrived in Cisco Friday evening to remain over until the completion of filming the resort scenes. During his stay here, his wife and two small sons, are enjoying themselves at the lake, fishing and boating and swimming. Friday afternoon they were the guests of E. P. Crawford and Miss Helen Crawford for boat rides over the lake and Saturday R. A. Williams and Judge J. J. Butts, acted as hosts to them.

Mrs. Allbright was delighted with the cool, invigorating climate and asked repeatedly if it "is like this all the time in West Texas."

At the swimming pool Monday evening Mr. Allbright will film races, diving contests and stunts of all character which will be on the program.

Border Patrolman Slain by Smugglers

EL PASO, July 20.—Ivan Scott, 25, a border patrolman was killed today by Mexican liquor smugglers when Scott and five other patrolmen engaged in a half hour night battle with smugglers along the Rio Grande.

The battle was described by papers as the fiercest in years. Several hundred shots were fired. The battle started when a squad of American officers attempted to arrest a man crossing the river on horse. As officers approached the horse, which was carrying liquor, Mexicans on their side of the river opened fire. The Americans returned the fire. In a few seconds the Americans were fired on by other gunmen ambushed on the American side of the river and were entirely surrounded.

Scott fell. The Mexican horseman was wounded but comrades carried him to the Mexican side of the river after his horse had been shot and killed from under him.

The Editor Off on Vacation

B. A. Butler, editor of the Daily News, leaves with Mrs. Butler today on a vacation of two weeks to be spent with relatives in northern Louisiana and central Texas. While he is away Mr. Newberry, who comes to the oil belt from Paris, Texas, will be in charge of the editorial department. Mr. Newberry is not entirely new to Cisco having come with the Daily News for a short while last year.

He was forced to give up the position he had accepted, however, when he became sick. Cisco people will find Mr. Newberry efficient and eager to serve and the Daily News speaks for him the splendid cooperation for which they are noted.

OPERATIONS TO BE COMMENCED BY JULY 25TH

J. A. Bearman, et al. of Cisco, Will Drill on Kincaid

One of the most important oil developments of several years insofar as its relation to Cisco is concerned has been brought into the realm of actuality by the announcement here Saturday that J. A. Bearman, et al. of Cisco, will begin operations on or before July 25 upon a well to be drilled on the Mrs. J. E. Kincaid tract, one-half mile north of the city limits of Cisco. Mr. Bearman announced the location of the well as follows:

Age two years. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Zed Ertin, 1492 K avenue, Cisco, Texas.

SHOPMEN OF RAILROADS TO GET INCREASE

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Shopmen of six southern railroads and two terminal companies, a total of approximately 9,000 men, were awarded increases bringing their pay to 80 cents per hour by a judgment handed down in district supreme court here today.

The lines and companies, whose shopcraft employees, linemen, ground men and general repairmen, are benefited by the decision are the Southern railroad, Cincinnati, Alabama & Great Southern, New Orleans & Texas, Northern Alabama, New Orleans and Northwestern, Georgia, South & Florida, St. John's River Terminal company, and New Orleans Terminal company.

Presents Flowers to Daily News

J. D. Sugg, publisher of the Pampa Times, weekly newspaper of Pampa, Texas, was a visitor to the Cisco Daily News plant Saturday morning. Mr. Sugg, who is on his vacation, inspected the Cisco plant with an eye to obtaining pointers for use in improving his plant at Pampa. He complimented the Daily News highly upon its equipment and especially its building.

In the center of the north one-half of the east 80 acres of the northwest quarter of section 30, block 4, H and T. C. railroad survey.

The well will be drilled to a depth of 4,000 feet unless production in commercial quantities is encountered at a lesser depth. Ed Keough, very successful Cisco contractor, has the drilling contract on this new test.

Expect Producer.
In making public his plans for the well Saturday Mr. Bearman said:

"The location of this well was made from a purely geological standpoint. We believe that it is a location that will produce. If successful it will be of extreme financial and economic importance to Cisco."

This is the first oil well, with this exception, to be drilled adjacent to the city of Cisco. The first well was the Luse, completed in the north part of town several years ago and still flowing naturally. The fact that it is being developed by Cisco citizens adds to its importance to this city.

Announcement of this project has aroused a feeling of optimism among local people who realize the value of the oil industry to this section and who are looking forward to a revival of this industry here. For that reason and for the greater reason that a successful well will bring about a stimulation of activity in the immediate vicinity the projected well is looked upon as possessing outstanding municipal benefit.

Successful Operator.
Mr. Bearman, who heads the organization of Cisco oil men who are putting down this test, is a very energetic and successful Cisco independent oil operator. He and his associates have been operating in Eastland, Brown, Throckmorton and other counties with merited success. Only recently he has opened up a new shallow field territory in Throckmorton county. He is a member of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce. He and his associates are to be commended for the great efforts they have made in putting over this project, which is fraught with so much of importance for the people of Cisco, especially at this time.

Newspaper For People Who Are Unable to See Is Published in Braille by Blind Man at Boston

By HENRY MINOTT United Press Staff Correspondent. BOSTON, July 20.—A newspaper, edited by a blind man for people who cannot see, comes off the press here every week—the only publication of its kind in the country.

No leather-lunged newsboy ever shouts its name in the streets; no newspaper ever displays it among its wares. Yet, through the untiring touch of the sightless, "The Weekly News" perhaps is read more thoroughly than any ordinary newspaper. And, in its own modest way, it probably accomplishes as much good as its conventional contemporaries.

Published in Braille, the code of the blind that is so hopelessly inscrutable to those who see, "The Weekly News" might easily be mistaken for a bound volume of blank paper but for the thousands of tiny yellow protuberances which speckle its 28 pages.

A blind subscriber, reading an issue of the paper, passes his sensitive fingers over these raised dots and is able to translate them into about 4,200 words, covering the latest news on politics, science, invention, music and a wide variety of other subjects of general interest.

Established in 1927, behind this unique project is Francis B. Ierardi, a mild-mannered, soft-spoken man of 42, who originated the idea of a newspaper for the blind and who has edited the publication since it was established in March, 1927.

Blind from the age of 12, the obstacles he encountered in seeking to keep in touch with the news of the day inspired him to create a medium through which a record of current events might be brought to regular intervals to the thousands of others similarly handicapped.

"The Weekly News" was started in a modest way. Two hundred copies comprised the initial issue. But America's blind were quick to grasp the value of the innovation, and the circulation climbed swiftly until, today, 850 copies are being published. There is a demand for many times that number, but since the publication has no subscription rate and carries no advertising, it is not financially possible to operate on a larger scale at present.

Editor Ierardi pointed out, in an interview, that the 850 figure was by no means an accurate barometer of the actual number of readers, because copies of the paper were passed from hand to hand, with a single copy in some instances being digested by more than a score of persons.

Proof Readers Blind Every week end, the United States mails carry "The Weekly News" without postage to subscribers in 30 states of the union.

Residents of five Canadian provinces also receive the novel newspaper, and Ierardi's ambition is to develop it into an international publication.

The workshop of "The Weekly News" is located on East Fourth street, South Boston. There, with all the staccato activity of an ordinary newspaper office, a staff of nine perform the strange functions incidental to the production of a paper for the blind.

The stereotyped and both proof-readers are blind, and the stitche is partly blind. Other members of the staff, who have normal sight, include a printer, a boy who addresses the papers for the mails, and three young women who assemble the pages.

Plates from which the printing is done are stamped by a blind operator who sits before a machine with his fingers on six keys that control the arrangement of dots in the stenciling device.

Two metal sheets, back to back, hang from an arm which reaches laterally along the top of the machine. The operator's foot throws the machinery into gear and the sheets, pressed out in the metal the various arrangements of dots.

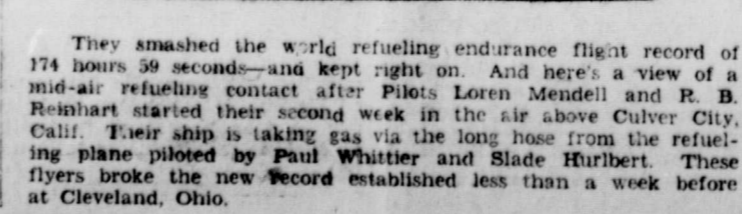

A Page of Jokes. When one of the sheets is filled, the two are turned around, the gauge of the machine is lowered slightly, and the second sheet is filled in the spaces between the lines of the first sheet. Thus it is possible to print on both sides of the paper sheets.

Downstairs, later, the sheets are assembled and bound together in proper order by a stitching machine.

Printed with an average of 150 words to the page, "The Weekly News" contains "boiled down" news reports from all over the world, a column entitled "The Trend of Events," a poem and a page of jokes.

For many hours each week, Editor Ierardi's wife reads newspapers for his benefit. From what he hears in this way, he selects what is to serve as the major portion of the contents of his paper's next issue.

"Radio has made it place in the lives of the blind, but it never can replace the written word," said Ierardi, in discussing the value of his paper. As an example of what his readers think of "The Weekly News," he produced a letter in which a subscriber said: "It adds another link to that every self-respecting blind man craves."

Dublin Team Invades Cisco Country Club Links Today

TOURNAMENT TO BEGIN AT TWO O'CLOCK

Card Will Be Featured by Two Promising Matches

A tournament, featured by two matches that should offer everything in the way of expert golfing and the thrill of close-fought competition, is on the card at the Cisco Country club this afternoon when the local golf team meets the strong Dublin team. With the Dublin team comes J. Dixon White, 16-year-old high school marvel and runner-up in the West Texas tournament, who will be matched with Lewis Mathews, Cisco professional; and Richard Snyder, 14-year-old, fast becoming one of the best golfers in the state, who will play a match with the pro from Albany.

In addition to these matches there will be others, the number to be determined of course, by the number of players coming from Dublin.

The tournament will start at 2 p. m.

The gallery is open to any person who wishes to watch the play.

The Cisco club is making a campaign to improve the quality of its golf, having recently employed Mr. Mathews, as the professional, to instruct members who wish instruction.

BOBBY JONES GETS CUP

Bobby Jones is shown driving away from a tee in the title-playoff in which he won the National Open championship by a score of 23 strokes under that of Al Espinosa at Mammoth. Below Jones is shown receiving the cup emblematic of the championship, for the third time, from Finley Douglas, president of the U. S. G. A., with Espinosa at the left. Jones' record of three victories in the open tournament has been approached by no other golfer.

U. S. WINNER OVER GERMAN TENNIS TEAM

Take Inter-Zone Finals Three Games to None

ROT WEISS TENNIS CLUB, BERLIN, July 20.—The United States won the Davis cup inter-zone final from Germany, three matches to none by winning the doubles today.

The United States will meet France in the challenge round at Auteuil July 26, 27 and 28.

John Van Ryan and Wilmer Allison, young Americans, defeated the German doubles team of Dr. Hans Moldenauer and Dr. Daniel Franz, 6-11, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3.

William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, American veterans, scored the other two victories in the opening singles matches yesterday. Two remaining singles will be played tomorrow, but will have no effect on the outcome.

The German team which eliminated Great Britain, three matches to two in the European zone final, put up a strong battle against the superior American forces, but could win only two sets in the first three matches. L. J. Perry won the first set from Hunter in yesterday's singles and the German doubles team won the first set from Van Ryan and Allison today.

In winning the first set of the doubles, the Germans outdid themselves, especially Moldenauer, who aroused cries of admiration from the crowd by his dazzling placement.

Although Van Ryan had trouble with his control in the first set, he rallied in the three succeeding sets to dominate the match. Allison scored many amazing shots but did not play so consistently brilliantly as his black-haired partner.

Point score:
United States .. 440 424 154-29-6
Germany ..... 224 140 431-21-3

Situation Is Tense in Manchuria Says Dispatch to America

40,000 Mongolians who are reported poised and ready to invade Manchuria.

Travelers report that Soviet airplanes are continually hovering over strategic points. Men between the ages of 18 and 35 have been called to the colors in the region about Vladivostok. Cavalry and tanks are stripped for action at the mouth of the Sungari river, but they will be unable to reach Harbin, because the river is too shallow.

Harbin resembles Paris at the outbreak of the World war. There are all sorts of rumors in circulation. The White Russians, particularly are excited, fearing Soviet punishment if the Russians invade Manchuria. Air raids also are feared, since the Soviet planes are within striking distance.

The Russian consul is withdrawing tonight. This accepted as presaging American Consul General Hanson is preparing to order the American colony of 50 to move southward if it becomes necessary.

HEAVYWEIGHT MAT BOUT AT PALACE TODAY

Lewis - Sonnenberg Match Shown in Sound Pictures

Sound synchronized pictures of the Lewis-Sonnenberg heavyweight championship wrestling match, which Sonnenberg won, will be shown at the Palace theater Sunday and Monday in connection with the regular bill.

This is an unusual feature and is being offered by the Palace as an additional item on a very excellent bill. No extra charge will be made.

The entire match will be shown just as photographed and sound synchronized at the ringside. The picture is declared by theater owners and goers who have seen it as "positively great." Wrestling fans and sport lovers should not miss it. It is being clamored for to such an extent that one theater can not keep a film of it over two days.

Bulls-Eye Nell

Bang! went her gun—and it was a bulls-eye. And pretty Nell Deater, above, of Shawnee, Okla., banged and banged away so effectively in the Oklahoma woman's pistol shooting championship that she scored 93 points out of a possible 100 to win. She's one "poor Nell" cruel villains had better stay away from.

PROBLEMS OF FINANCE GOING TO GOLF LINKS

Wall Street and Threadneedle Meeting Is Planned

NEW YORK, July 20.—Despite steps toward a meeting in the field of athletic competition between two great financial centers of the world were taken today when Governor F. B. Rowan, of New York, called for London carrying in Lombard and Threadneedle streets the informal challenge of Wall Street.

It is planned to have the two money centers meet on the golf links track and tennis courts of the movement in Wall Street sponsored by the Bankers Economic Service, Inc., and has the backing of several of the largest financial houses on the street.

IN CRITICAL CONDITION.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 20.—Victor L. Berger, Socialist party leader, who is fighting for his life with a fractured skull and internal injuries, still was in a critical condition today after spending a restless night.

Three Die as Plane Falls in Flames

TOLEDO, O., July 20.—Three men were burned to death when an unidentified plane burst into flames after crashing to the ground on the William Spiker farm, about five miles south of Perysburg, Ohio, today.

Though there was no identification, officials at the Transcontinental Airport, said they were certain it was not a mail plane. Several ambulances were called from Toledo.

All Bodies Taken From Wreck Scene

DENVER, Colo., July 20.—Officials of the Rock Island railroad here today announced that all bodies of the dead in the wreck of the crack "Colorado Express," near Stratton, Colo., Thursday, had been recovered today.

The officials, however, were not certain whether the body of Miss Julia Carlie, 21, of New York, had been found in the wreckage.

The ill-fated St. Louis-Colorado sleeper which carried at least nine persons to their deaths has been tilted on its end and will be removed from Spring Creek late today.

Houston building permits for year have passed 17-million mark.

Up in the Air in Texas

Considerable attention is being paid the idea of establishing an air line from the Rio Grande valley to the northern population centers for the purpose of transporting perishable fruits and vegetables. An investigation is being made now with the express purpose of obtaining figures in order that some definite idea of the cost and amount of shipments may be obtained. A papaya grower from Florida visited San Benito this week with the hope of interesting some one in planting papaya trees because he is interested in an airtel express service which may be started.

Approximately 75 airplanes, including all types from the baby monoplane to the cabin transport ships, thrilled some 20,000 visitors to the celebration at Graham, last week, when the city's new municipal airport was officially dedicated. Graham is 35 miles north of Breckenridge.

With the site for the Lubbock municipal airport purchased work is starting for the construction of hangars and field equipment. The city is spending $35,000 in this construction work.

Airplane enthusiasts had more enthusiasm than ever at Wichita Falls the first of this week when a seaplane piloted by Lieut. Henry Pomeroy of Greenville, landed on Lake Wichita. He carried passengers Saturday and Sunday.

Plans have been practically completed for the dedication service to take place at the opening of the Hensley field at Dallas. The junior chamber of commerce has charge of the affair which will be held the first week of September.

Need of an endowment of $500,000 by the engineering school of Southern Methodist university to establish a chair in aeronautics was mentioned Thursday, July 13, by Dean E. H. Flath, who said, however, that the sum was not yet in sight. A group of students in the school are forming a flying club and several are in the summer training school at Love field, Dallas.

Announcement has been made for the improvement of the airport at Breckenridge which will make it one of the best in that section of the state, according to Ben J. Dean, chairman of the airport committee.

Interesting figures concerning aeronautics have been compiled by the commerce department as follows:

In December, 1929, the average airplane miles flown daily was 10,830. In June, 1929, it was 70,000. In 1925 there were 2,041 miles of lighted airways; in 1929, 10,000.

Total number of pounds of mail has increased from 610,855 pounds in 1926 to 1,200,000 in 1929. The number of aviation schools has increased from 175 to 375 between 1926 and June, 1929. There are now 6,735 licensed pilots as compared with 3,242 in 1927.

Announcement has been made that the city of Dallas is in thorough accord with views of the chamber of commerce aviation committee in opposing any landing field in that city. The city already favors moderate storage charges against ships housed in hangars of any of the municipally owned fields.

Mandell May Try Hard Punching

CHICAGO, July 20.—Sammy Mandell's training activities indicate that he may divert from his usual style and try hard punching when he defends his lightweight title against Tony Canzoneri here August 2.

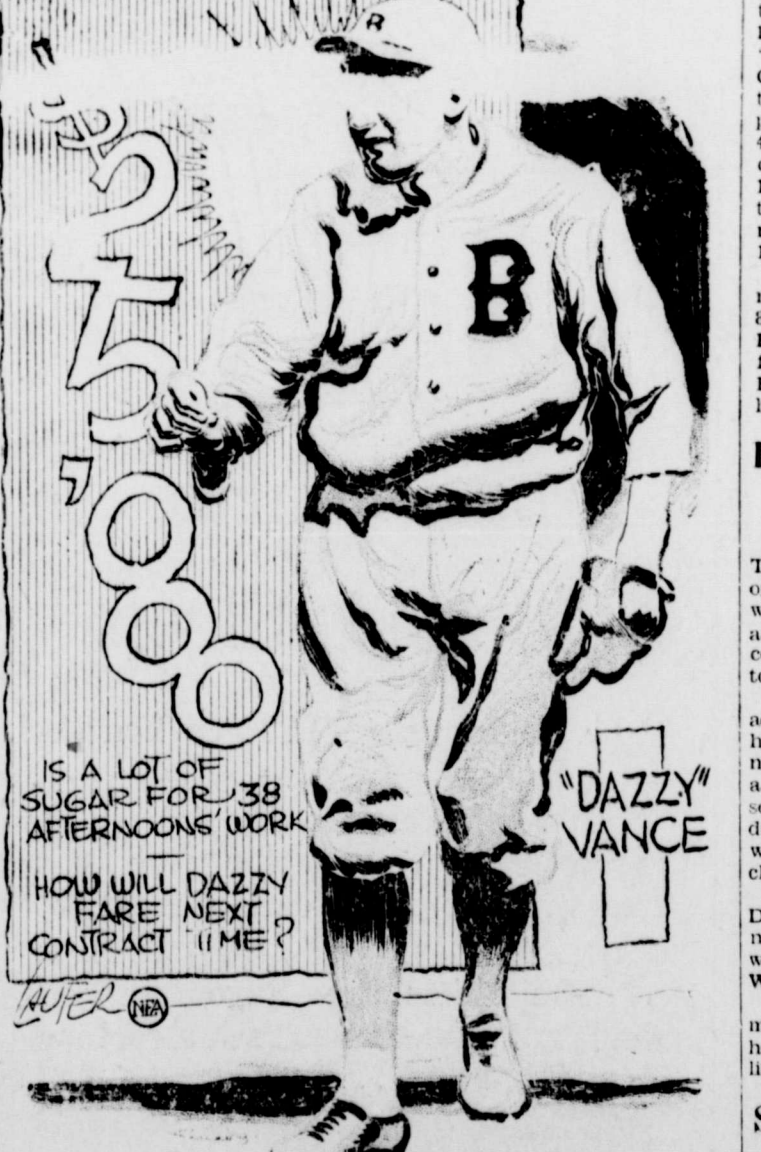

Until now Sammy has been content to outbox opponents but in his training yesterday he stopped one sparring partner in two rounds, another in one, and a third was hurt at the end of two rounds.

Canzoneri will arrive here Saturday or Sunday to continue training.

WILL CONTINUE TENNIS.

LONDON, July 20.—Helen Wills will continue to play tennis after the forthcoming marriage although she may not again enter the Wimbledon tournament, she told newspaper men here today prior to her departure for Southampton to sail to the United States on the Aquitania.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS By Laufer

LAST spring, when Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn's famous fire-ball pitcher, held out for $25,000 and got it, he set an all-time high water mark for pitching salaries.

And the owners of the Robins couldn't say they made a bad investment for Dazzy was generally acknowledged as the National League's greatest pitcher. But that was before Mr. Sciatia came on the scene.

No sooner had the Dazzy added his name to the record-breaking contract than sharp pains were felt in that great right arm. He was of little use during the training games and when the season opened could be called on only when he felt like pitching. Which wasn't often.

But in baseball a player really gets paid for his previous season's work and it is on this record a player generally bases his claims. Let's see just what amount of work Dazzy performed to get the 25 G's.

In 1928, he worked on just 38 afternoons. He completed 24 games and finished up other fellows' games on five occasions. All told he pitched 280 innings, winning 22 and losing 10.

If you figure 18 balls to the inning Dazzy gets just a few cents less than $5 every time he swaps the old soup bone around him. He'd have to get going pretty soon if he figures on having that contract renewed.

Roundup of Women Bootleggers Pushed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 20.—The roundup of women bootleggers of the southwest, who in the future will be given the same treatment as male dry violators was being continued in Arkansas and Texas today.

S. M. Gurley, deputy prohibition administrator of western Arkansas had his squad of raiders busy all night and indicated he would have a new batch of suspects in court sometime today. He previously had declared the 21 arrests already made were but the beginning of the cleanup.

The women arrested in Texas, Dorothy Benson, 20, and Mrs. Bonnie Fulmer were soundly berated when arraigned before Justice C. W. Ragland.

"Women smoke cigars, hold men's jobs, wear pants and cuss," he said. "I'm going to punish them like men from now on."

Strike Settles to Long Drawn Fight

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—The strike of 2,000 union street railwaymen, now approaching its fourth week, settled down apparently today to a long drawn out fight.

The Public Service, Inc., continued its program of expansion of service with strikebreakers, and broke off all efforts at immediate negotiation with the announcement they would not recognize the union or deal with it under any consideration.

Officers of 35 labor unions in the city announced an executive meeting for next Tuesday night to take up the question of a general strike. Union carmen planned to hold another mass meeting but the date was as yet undetermined, they said.

Wolves Cost Eastland County Many Thousands of Dollars Annually

F. B. MATHEWS TELLS HOW HE TRAPS BEASTS

Utmost Strategy Is Necessary to Outwit Animal

F. B. Mathews, government trapper for this district, sitting beneath a vine covered shed, skinning the wolf trapped the night before. The animal's wiry, lean body sleek with glistening reddish-brown fur, hung suspended by its feet from a chain. Blood poured from its nostrils and head which had been freshly scalped.

"What a beautiful animal—how cruel to make such a determined drive for its extermination! But such charitable thoughts were quickly dispelled by Mr. Mathews' first statement.

"Eastland county alone suffers a loss of from $10,000 to $25,000 a year due to depredations by these animals. The red timber wolf which inhabits this section usually preys upon chickens, turkeys, sheep, goats, and occasionally calves. Recently, one farmer near here lost 30 turkeys valued at $250 while another lost goats valued at $400.

Is Cunning.

"The wolf is so cunning and sly that only by strategy is man able to outwit him. His range extends sometimes over 10 or 15 miles, but always he travels over the same trails and always with his mate. Yet only the most careful observer and one who is experienced in the ways of Mr. Wolf can detect the signs of his trail.

"Along these invisible paths, the trapper sets his traps for the wolf is certain to return within four or five days. Traps of the best are furnished by the government—the No. 4 Newhouse. When set its smooth toothless iron jaws resemble an octagon in shape with the top and bottom sides the longer. In the center is the spring, a flat, round disc, which at the slightest pressure causes the jaws to snap shut. Attached to the trap with a long chain is a spiked anchor, which in case the trap is uprooted will hang to the brush and trees and prevent the escape of the wolf. Near by the ground and brush is sprinkled with bait. The bait is a liquid made by boiling the liver and other entrails of the wolf in water and adding a supply of fresh blood.

Wait Four Days.

"Some hunters set their traps four days before returning to bait them in order that the human scent may have cleared. Then with the aid of a long pole, the liquid is sprinkled near by. The nose of the wolf is very sensitive, and should a mother wolf discover that a human being had been near her den which may be a burrow beneath the ground or a cavity beneath a rock, she will move her pups within an hour.

"Attracted by the scent of the bait, the wolf approaches the spot and springs the trap. Some have been known to tear off their toes and parts of their foot in their wild efforts to free themselves. Upon his return, the trapper shoots the animal, preferably in the body, that the scalp may not be mutilated.

"The scalp and, in the winter the pelt also must be sent to the federal warehouse at San Antonio along with monthly report by the 75 trappers of Texas. The pelts of any fur-bearing animal trapped in the winter must be sent to the warehouse where they are sold.

"Wolves are trapped the year around but the best winter months, especially January, February, and March are considered the best."

Is Authority.

Mr. Mathews is quite an authority on wolves and animal trapping. Reared in Brown county, he has been trapping since he was 12 or 14 years of age. Since February of this year, he has been employed by the government and during this time, his catches have amounted to 18 full-grown wolves or 35 including the pups. He keeps his forty traps set all the time, moving them from one ranch to another as the owners request.

His largest catch was on the P. V. ranch—a wolf measuring 56 inches and weighing between 50 and 55 pounds. Recent reports from the Cedar mountain district state that two wolves have been killing calves on the Gordon Tomlinson ranch. These, Mr. Mathews thinks, are lobos, a few of which still exist in this section.

Tokio Hop Waits Repairs to Plane

TACOMA, Wash., July 20.—Lieut. Harold Bromley was awaiting arrival of new parts for his plane here today before beginning final preparations for a nonstop flight to Tokio.

He arrived here from Los Angeles at 6:50 p. m. yesterday, making a perfect landing in spite of the fact that four of the plane's seven gasoline-line valves were leaking badly.

Bromley said he would await favorable weather conditions for his takeoff on the long trip and was unable to set a probable date.

Had Rather Care for 12 Monkeys During Illness Than One Human

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—Being unwell to some 1,500 monkeys of all ages and breeds is not half the task it sounds, according to Miss Peggy Maner, who sees to the health of her Simian charges at the Los Angeles Monkey Farm here.

Miss Maner says she would rather take care of a dozen monkeys through sickness than one human—and she knows whereof she speaks.

Miss Peggy Maner and one of her Simian patients.

Her nursing experience has been varied and wide. She has worked in several large hospitals and served with the Red Cross during the World War, when she was wounded while on duty near the front.

"They Don't Complain. The poor monkey is a much maligned creature," she explained. "Everyone looks down upon them as being a lot of chattering, screaming, absolutely unnecessary evils, but people don't know them as I do.

"It is an accepted fact that one never knows a fellow man until he has tended him through illness. People when ill are prone to be querulous, quick tempered, inflicting their ill feeling on those about them and in general hard to get along with. But the monkey is different.

"He has a capacity for patient suffering that it would do us well to imitate when ill.

"Not that he lacks a mode of expression. For from a. Every movement of a monkey's face betrays some emotion, and the sounds they utter sometimes closely approach a language. I'm sure they do talk, if we could only understand them.

"They are so human. And the babies—they are the cutest things in the world. I've seen many a child come into the world that wasn't nearly as good-looking as some of these baby monkeys.

"They're No Disgrace. 'Of course, I believe in evolution. No one who has known monkeys as I do could disbelieve in the theory. But I don't think it is a disgrace for us to have them as ancestors. In fact, sometimes I think we are a disgrace to them."

The "monkey hospital" where Miss Maner works is a unique institution. It is as completely equipped as any hospital for human beings, and has a maternity ward, operating rooms and an emergency division. So appreciative are the animals of the care they receive that often those that have been treated return voluntarily to Miss Maner for fresh bandages—or just for sympathy.

JOHN MEYERS TRANSFERRED TO BRENHAM

John E. Meyers, since 1925, in charge of the land department of the Cisco district of the Humble Oil and Refining company, this week has been transferred to Brenham, Texas, where he will be in charge of the land department of the recently created Brenham district. Mrs. Meyers will join her husband in his new location later, spending the intervening time at Brownwood.

Mr. Meyers came to the Humble company at Cisco in 1925 as land man for the Cisco division. He came to this city from Graham. Last year he was married to Miss Grace Hardy of Brownwood.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Meyers are very popular in Cisco, and with the Humble company, and a host of their friends here regret the loss of their companionship while extending to them felicitations upon their success.

Goes to Death With Prayer on His Lips

OHIO STATE PENITENTIARY, COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 20.—With a prayer on his lips and a crucifix tightly gripped in his clasped hands, Rodney Ford, Cincinnati, was executed here last night for the murder of Marshall Peter Duncle.

A last minute effort to induce Governor Myers Y. Cooper to grant clemency having failed, Ford was strapped in the electric chair at 8:35 p. m. The lights flickered two minutes later as the current was turned on and at 8:41 p. m. a lightning physician pronounced his heart had stopped.

Ford had maintained his innocence at all times and his last words to the Rev. Father George O'Brien carried a reiteration of this.

OUTRIGHT SALES INVALID. AUSTIN, July 20.—Outright sales of University of Texas lands made since 1895 are invalid, the attorney general's department has ruled. The statute based then did not provide methods for outright sales. There have been few attempted outright sales. Most university land has been leased. Two tracts totaling about 140 acres in Lamar county were the occasion for the ruling.

Experience as Convict Valuable

WINK, July 20.—Experience as a convict proved a valuable asset to "Bob Williams" and he became the best thief-catcher on the Wink police force and his experience hadn't been enough to keep him away from officers who had power to put him in prison again.

Known as one of the "tough" boys of the Henry Star gang of outlaws that terrorized Oklahomans in 1914, Joe Archate, his name then, participated in 30 bank robberies and numerous train holdups, according to his own confession.

He was finally caught and was sent to McAlester penitentiary for 12 years. In 10 months he escaped, resolved to give up crime and use his knowledge of criminals to track them down. He was police chief at Nerflet, Ark., for six years. Someone recognized him, though and he disappeared and came to Wink. He was one of the best men on the force here, but someone recognized him again and the law has taken him back to Oklahoma.

Two Negro Slayers Believed Killed

PORTSMOUTH, O., July 20.—Two of the three negroes who murdered a white man from ambush were believed today to have been slain by possemen as they attempted to escape by swimming the Ohio river.

The posse, composed of Ohio and Kentucky officers, came upon the negroes hiding in a clump of willows on the Kentucky side of the river. The negroes jumped into the river and as the officers opened fire two of them sank beneath the surface. The third reached the Ohio shore and disappeared.

The negroes were hunted for the murder of J. C. Silvey, 30, signal foreman for the C. & O. railroad, who was shot from ambush near Louisville, Ky., after ejecting three negroes from the cook car of his work train.

CHICAGO VIA ATLANTIC IS GOAL OF POLISH AIRMEN

Chicago may have two air-minded visitors direct from Europe soon. The noted Polish aviators Kowalczyk (left) and Klisz are making final preparations to fly from Milan, Italy, to the mid-western American metropolis with only one stop en route—at Dublin, Ireland. Above you see the mammoth biplane Polonia in which they expect to make the eastward hop over the Atlantic. Nearly 50 persons grouped beneath the craft give a vivid impression of its tremendous wingspread. Of unusual design, the craft is the largest ever intended for a trans-oceanic flight. It is powered by two sets of tandem motors, and the upper wing is narrower than the main wing below.

State Budget Makers Prove Lenient and Question Now Is Whether or Not Function Should Go to New Agency

By The Political Analyst.
AUSTIN, July 20.—When the state board of control was created and given power to put the state on the budget system, and was required to furnish the legislature with what the experts term an "executive budget," there were fearsome forebodings in the departments and institutions that the heavy trend of the budget-makers would whack down appropriations to unheard-of low levels. Now the question is whether the board of control is so lenient with its budget that this function should go to another agency.

All But Uncle Sam Must Pay Gas Tax

AUSTIN, July 20.—All users of gasoline in Texas except Uncle Sam must pay the four cents a gallon gasoline tax, State Comptroller S. H. Terrell warned in a statement. An exemption provided for gasoline not used on roads or streets are taken care of by refund. The tax must be paid and a state warrant later is sent back. Wholesale dealers have 30 days in which to file applications for permits to sell. Bonds of not less than $1,000 must be given. The comptroller may require more.

METHODIST CHOIR WILL GIVE CONCERT

Program Opens at 8:15 Without the Preaching Services

The choir of the First Methodist church, under the direction of Professor Thomas Reid, head of the fine arts department of Randolph college, will present a program of sacred music this evening at 8:15 o'clock. Rev. Frank E. Singleton, pastor of the church, is in Fort Worth where he is engaged in a revival meeting. In his absence there will be no preaching service. The choir has been working on this concert for a considerable time. The following is the program: Consider the Lilies (Packard), Comfort Ye My People (Firth), Choir. Duet—O, My Soul, Bless Them Jehovah (Watson), Laura Fay and Aline Wilson.

The Lord Is My Shepherd (Packard), God Be Merciful (Tennez), Choir. Solo, He Knows the Way (Wilson), Mrs. R. Bettis. By the Rivers of Babylon (Stillman). Praise the Lord (Ashford), Choir. Solo—I Need Thee Every Hour, Helen Williamson. The Wayside Cross, Male Quartet. Duet—Seek Ye the Lord (Buck), Mrs. Statham and Mr. Reid. Awake, O Zion (Gabriel). O Gladsome Light (from Golden Legend, by Sullivan), Choir.

2,000 BUSHES PEACHES. COMANCHE, July 20.—Chamber of commerce officials say that there are probably 20,000 bushels of Florida peaches available for shipment from Comanche which would bring $20,000 additional money here. The first car of peaches were shipped two days ago from the T. J. Williams orchard.

HIGHWAY MARKERS. FORT WORTH, July 20.—The association of commerce of this city has started putting up 500 highway markers throughout the state of Texas. These markers will be placed on 3,000 miles of highway in the state. GRANDFIELD, Okla., July 20.—Several large cotton raisers of this community have predicted the largest cotton crop in its history.

Surprize Didn't Click: He Sues

TOLEDO, O., July 20.—Christmas joy is worth $2,500 to Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Mallory, according to a suit filed in common pleas court here against J. Nash Livingston, proprietor of the Livingston studios. According to the complaint a son of the Mallory's was photographed by the defendant in October, 1927, to provide a Christmas present for the father. The suit charges the picture was used

FOSSIL BONES.

MIAMI, July 20.—A search for fossil bones in the panhandle region has been completed with a remarkably complete assemblage of extinct animals that roamed the panhandle centuries ago. V. L. Vandercoff, field paleontologist of the University of California, Berkeley, and Joe Cress, assistant, Horton, Kansas, conducted the search which started five months ago. The purpose of the expedition was to secure fossils of Pliocene age to compare with similar forms in California. The men made their headquarters here during the search.

DAVIDSON TO ACCEPT 198 YEAR TERM

CORSICANA, July 20.—Lloyd Davidson, found guilty by a jury in district court here yesterday of the slaying of his father, W. T. Davidson, today faced a prison term of 198 years. The jury added a 99-year sentence to the one already returned against the youth when he was tried in Groesbeck for the slaying of his step-mother. The charred bodies of his father and step-mother were found in the chambers of their home near Coolidge on May 2. The state alleged that young Davidson clubbed the two to death and then burned their home to destroy the evidence. Defense attorneys today announced that neither case would be appealed, and that the youth would accept the sentences and go to the penitentiary immediately. The state sought the death penalty.

Livestock Show Greater Than Ever

OMAHA, Neb., July 20.—Contrary to some rumors that were circulated following the closing down of our race track, Omaha's livestock and horse show will be held this year on a greater scale than ever," said W. H. Schellberg of the Ak-Sar-Ben board of governors, in an interview. He has charge of the event. Coupled with the livestock show this year, which will take place, Nov. 1 to Nov. 8, will be a mammoth celebration commemorating Nebraska's seventy-fifth anniversary as a state. Schellberg assured livestock raisers that the Omaha stock show would be certain to take place as big as ever.

MODEL "A" -- Quality Plus!

Ask the next salesman who tries to sell you a car for $1,000 or less—why his car does not have the following standard equipment—WHICH THE MODEL A HAS: Transverse Springs, Torque Tube Drive All Steel Chassis, Timken Equipped Irreversible Steering Gear, Timken Three-Quarter Floating Axle, Timken Equipped Front Wheels, Houdaille Hydraulic Shock Absorbers, Fully Equipped with Timken and Roller Bearings, Gas Gauge on Dash, Electric Welded Chassis, Wool Upholstering, Triplex Safety Windshield, Steel Welded Wire Wheels, Thirteen Plate Battery, All Brass Radiator.

The reason he does not have these improved features is that the manufacturer of his car is building down to price, and quality and performance are not properly considered. Ford has built the Model A up to quality regardless of price. The result is that for comfort, power and general performance the Model A outdemonstrates 'em all.

"Maybe some of them do. I don't. Jack, are you going to miss me?"

"Miss you?" he cried. "I'd like to die for you, honey."

"I'll miss you, too," she promised. "But we'll write each other every day?"

"You bet," he agreed. "And twice on Sundays. I mean YOU write twice on Sundays, honey. And tell me everything about your job. And if any of those guys round there get fresh with you, send me a wire, will you, Molly?"

"They won't," she assured him. "They looked harmless as anything. Kind of old, most of them. That wasn't true, but it would make Jack feel better. They're bald, and fat. You know. Sort of shiny. Married looking. And she thought of the city editor who had tight curly hair, and looked as if he bought his clothes at a Bond street tailor."

"I'll tell them I'm engaged, as soon as I get a chance," she promised.

"Molly, you must let me take you home now," he said. "Put on your hat, like a good girl."

She pulled it on, the little blue vagabond felt that made her look so adorably childish. Then she patted his pillow with both her small pink palms. She liked knowing his head rested there, and fondled it with her hands.

"Oh, I forgot to tell you!" she exclaimed. "I phoned the Y. W. C. A. this morning, and I've taken a room there. Rita's going to send all my truck in for me. I'll write about it. And about my position."

"Call it a job," he advised her. "You don't call 'em positions when they only pay $18 a week."

They tip-toed quietly down the stairs. Past Miss Blake's room. The light was out now, and they could hear her snoring lightly. Molly giggled.

"I never knew before," she said, "that you could tell an old maid by the way she snores. Now wouldn't you just know she was a spinster?"

They took a taxi to the Y. W. C. A. because Jack declared it mightn't look right to be arriving after midnight her first night. And when they reached there a number of girls were on the steps, so that they had to say goodby most circumpectly. Molly was rather glad. She knew she would have cried, if it was dark or the street was deserted.

Tomorrow Jack would be on his way to New York. And it might be weeks and weeks before she saw him again! She flung her arms about him.

"Don't say goodbye, Sweetheart! Just good-night."

She kissed him swiftly, and ran up the stairs. He waited on the sidewalk until the door had closed behind her. She did not turn to wave. And he knew it was because she was crying.

That night she wrote Jack, and mailed it, next morning, with a special delivery stamp. It was in the office in New York, waiting for him when he reached there.

She also wrote her family, telling them at length of her "perfectly marvelous opportunity," her desire to be independent and self-supporting, and her determination to be happy through self-expression. She mentioned also her dreams of success and fame. It was a rather stiff letter, she was afraid, and she felt that she had not expressed herself very well. She sent it by air mail, and hoped for the best.

A few days later she received a reply from her mother.

Now, Molly's mother was a rather old-fashioned woman. She had no new fangled ideas about independence nor gainful occupations for women. Moreover, she was, at the time, a very lonely woman.

"Dear Daughter," she wrote. "Dad brought your letter from the postoffice this noon when he came home for dinner. It was strange, the way it arrived just as it did. I had spent the morning preparing a paper to read at the Wednesday Club. We are having a debate this week. Resolved, that the Modern Girl is Happier Than Her Grandmother. I had taken the negative. And it so happened that I had read recently an article in a magazine by some well known woman writer. I forgot her name at the moment."

"Well, daughter, she said something like this—'The point is,' she said, 'that there are grades in happiness and that the inferior kind based upon selfishness, competition and publicity may make the modern woman happier; but it is not so becoming to her, nor so beneficial to others, as the frugal happiness enjoyed by her grandmother.'"

"My dear daughter, your father and I believed that you were engaged to a fine young man whom we had hoped to meet this summer. We had thought our little girl was coming home to us, and we had planned such lovely times to have together. I had put your name up, dear, for the Woman's Club, and your poor father had been planning to buy you a little car. However, I do not wish to emphasize our own disappointment. But what about your young man, Molly? Have you, for the sake of securing more liberty, and a wisp or two of indignant personal happiness, broken your promise to him, as well as sacrificed your loyalty to us?"

"My dear child, your poor mother would turn in her grave if she could know what her money has led you to. And a position on a newspaper of all things! You write of the joy of living, and of self-expression. Your aunt Minnie certainly derived considerable satisfaction from living all her days without reproach. She was never heard to worry about self-expression, which is a new disorder. She believed that she expressed herself very well."

"She imparted a dignity, a spiritual elegance which younger women do not feel, being obsessed with the fear of being enslaved and suppressed. I have quoted that, Molly, as best I can from the article by the magazine writer, because it so exactly expresses what I would like to say to you..."

Molly dropped the letter impatiently.

"If that isn't just like mother!" she thought unreasonably.

Then a figure on the back page caught her attention. "$500." She snatched the paper up hurriedly.

Her mother had written, toward the end of the letter, "Your father and I have talked things over, and have decided not to stand in your way. After all, you have, I suppose, a right to pursue happiness in your own fashion. Aunt Minnie's estate will not be settled for some weeks. But your father is going to send you $500, to defray whatever expenses you may have, until such time as the executor sends you your entire inheritance..."

Molly's eyes filled with tears. "Dear old dad!"

"And now," she decided joyously, "I can take a little apartment! I can have a kitchenette all my own, and a nice big bath!"

CHAPTER VIII

Molly found an attractive apartment on Peterboro street, subtleting from an artist, who had done amazing things with packing boxes and a paint brush. There was scarcely a piece of real furniture in the place. But the walls were hung with gay, moth-eaten da-perfectly willing to. Besides, I'm glad he loves beautiful things."

Rita had grown very thin. And her red lips were like a bleeding gash in her white face. They made Molly think of blood in the snow. She tried to write a verse about them called "Rita's Mouth," but it sounded, she was afraid, like an autopsy.

Molly was getting along famously. She had had two raises, and was earning $30 a week.

Sometimes she saw Ruth Woods, who had lost her baby in July. Ruth was as pale and thin as Rita and usually looked as though she had been crying. She and Zip had rented the lower half of a two-part house in Merrymount. But Ruth seemed to have lost all interest in life.

Rita declared that she believed Zip made his poor little wife feel like a stone about his neck. Ruth had been ill for several months, and her doctor's bills were terrifyingly large.

There were times when Molly wondered if she wanted to be married after all. Consider her two best friends. Rita might fool most people, with her hysterical gaiety and her strident laughter. But Molly knew.

The trouble, Molly decided, was Rita and Ruth both loved their husbands more than their husbands loved them. It was ever so much more comfortable for a woman when the man loved her most.

Molly was doing an occasional theatrical interview now. Once she met a celebrated French actress who was married to an American producer. The actress told Molly that her husband sent her a telegram every morning, wrote every day, and telephoned every night.

She was a very happy woman. And, from continued observation, Molly concluded that there was a sort of aura about greatly beloved women. An ineffable radiance that distinguished them from their less fortunate sisters.

On the other hand, there was something piteous, she thought, about those unfortunate wives who give infinitely more than they receive.

Before long Molly was keeping a notebook, and penciling her observations of love and life. She had some rather hazy notion of writing a book. Something about a Woman's Soul. She thought of Love as a Flaming Passion that suffused humdrum lives. And she envisaged women as creatures made for either pain or love.

Unrequited affection was the curse, she decided, of the unloved sisterhood. And the blessedness of being beloved was, of all things, the sweetest and most satisfying.

Molly thought she was learning a great deal about life. She had studied, in college, Pope's "Essay on Man," and she remembered the quotation, proclaimed by the professor of English literature: "The proper study of mankind is man." It was a pleasant study, and Molly was an earnest student.

The Inquiring Reporter column had not lasted very long, and for that Molly was devoutly thankful. The first question she propounded was this: "Should an aviator, when he is married, give up hazardous flying?"

that prove it medium-price

Below are typical examples of comparison of the Oakland All-cars in its field. Study the showroom for additional information of other comparable land's unrivaled value. And the Oakland All-American medium-priced automobile.

What these features mean to you

Large piston displacement is needed to develop high power at moderate engine speed. Moderate engine speed is an important factor in the life of a car.

No name in automobile coach building means so much as Fisher. Fisher bodies are famous for style, luxury and roominess. In addition, they hold such advantages as sturdy composite hard-wood and steel construction, VV windshield, side cow ventilation, and adjustable drivers' seats.

Reasonably long wheelbase gives greater riding ease and road balance. Also permits use of longer, smarter, roomier bodies. At the same time, a small turning circle is essential to handling ease.

For safety, efficiency, convenience, smoothness and silence nothing has been found to compare with internal-expanding mechanical wheel service brakes with non-squeak bands. An entirely separate emergency braking system is needed as an extra safety factor.

Only Oakland and other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less-known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.

Only one car as low-priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.

Only Oakland and one other car, costing $200 more, use the fine type of brakes described opposite. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency brakes, although three of them exceed Oakland in price.

Oakland All-American Six, $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Tension Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list price. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Oakland's positive delivered prices include only reasonable charges for handling and financing when the G. M. A. C. Time Payment Plan is used.

They Still Shoot Bears and Panthers in Texas!

By NEA Service.
BY DAVIS, July 20.—The State of Texas, which has a large population, a network of automobile roads, a lot of refineries and many other refinements, is still a state where "wild life" means sometimes a hectic evening in a club.

Other words, Texas is a great for the big game hunters—the person of Mac Sproull, an on the most accomplished in the country.

At the beginning of the season Sproull has killed exactly 100 bears, or mountain lions, in the mountains near Fort Davis. In fact, he has killed in the same way 130 bears.

Mac Sproull's all rolled up in the early days of the century, he has only recently added last trophies to his collection. And he says there is plenty game left for any sportsman who cares to come and try his skill at the job.

Mac killed his first bear with a rattletrap army revolver when he was just 13 years old. His son Bob, who is now 13, also killed a bear—killed it a year ago, in fact, sighting a rifle across a boulder as a veteran.

Also Hunter.
 Sproull, also, is a hunter, as a bear and a panther to the.

Mac shot the panther on a hillside step for her horse to open. So she hurried down to keep the dogs from the skin of the dead animal. She got there just as one of the dogs did, and just as she was about to get off the three of dogs, panther and hunter began to roll down the hill.

Mac rolled and tumbled all the way to the bottom. "The panther and the panther, being felt as if it must be alive, on the half the time, and I know whether I was to be killed and chewed or not. And after we got down I had to fight off the rest of the pack, so as to protect the panther's skin, until Mac got there."

Incidentally, Mac doesn't kill bears and panthers for sport. It's a business matter. Mac is a rancher, and bears and panthers get their living by raiding the ranchers' livestock, and therefore a rancher must keep these predatory rovers in check.

100th Panther.
 Mac's most recent panther hunt, when he bagged his 100th panther, is a sample.

The panther had been killing Mac's goats for a month, and Mac set out to get it. One morning he found the carcass of a goat, slain by the panther the night before. So, knowing that a panther usually returns to a kill to make a second meal, Mac took his gun and his dogs and hid by the goat's body that night. Shortly after dark the panther appeared. The dogs gave chase and the panther fled to a three half a mile away, where the dogs kept him until Mac could get there. The panther, as it happens, is a great coward, and will usually

PARIS GIVEN BIG SHOCK BY SUN BATHERS

By RICHARD D. McMILLIAN
 United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, July 20.—The seemingly impossible has happened. Paris is shocked.

Given blasé, even bored, by long years of all manners of eccentricities in modes and manners, Paris had acquired the reputation of being immune from reactions to things daring. But not so, as a group of health-seeking young women have just proved.

Every morning recently these young ladies departed themselves in the altogether on the roof of a house near the fashionable Champs-Élysées where they sprawled in luxurious enjoyment of the warm, sunny weather.

All might have been well had it not been for the neighbors and office workers in the nearby buildings. The first manifestation was among the business men, who began to arrive at their offices earlier and earlier each day and this coincided with a brisk demand for long range field glasses. As news of the new cult spread, a keen competition for vantage points on the neighboring houses developed and the roofs each morning began to be thick with onlookers.

Now Paris doesn't mind people paying to go and see naughty naked dancing in Montmartre or any of the other thousand and one bizarre spectacles featured behind the closed doors in pleasure saloons but when it comes to free amusement along these lines, it's a different story. That just isn't done and when the police got to hear about it they were scandalized and promptly said so.

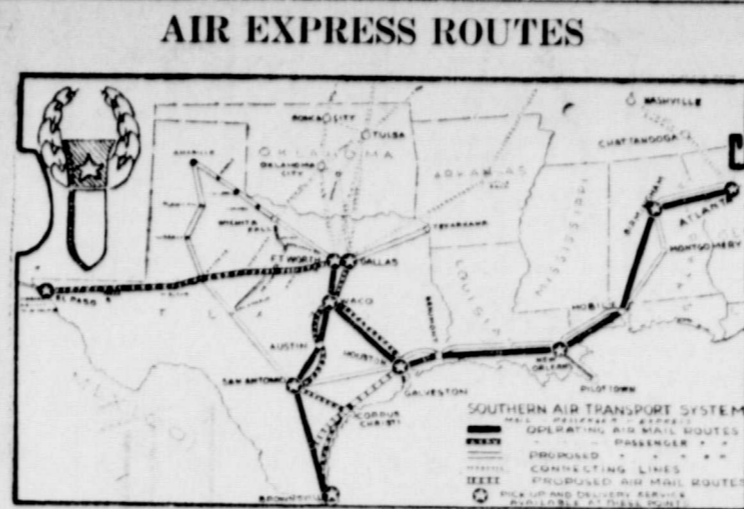

So the sun-browed maidens, blushing under their tan, were politely told this had gone far enough and that if they wanted to sun-bathe they should go down to the specially enclosed spaces on the Seine where they could join the other cultists on payment of a few francs.

Other groups of girls copied the first offenders but they were put a stop to in the same way. Now a policeman is posted every morning to scan the Paris skyline through a pair of field-glasses ready to stop any other attempts to shock French modesty.

ly run from a dog and take to the nearest tree.

The rest was easy. Mac arrived, saw the panther crouched on a limb, leveled his rifle and crack! It was all over, and he had added panther No. 100 to his list.

either the legislature or the governor.

Now the state auditor's department has been created. It will serve the purpose so far as possible of a civil service system in promoting efficiency and economy.

May Be Transferred The question now is whether the budget-making function will be transferred at some future time to this new and economy-promising branch of the government.

Obviously, the state auditor will have much to say about how much money shall be spent for each kind and division of public service. If his job pans out as expected, the auditor will be to the state very much what General Lord was to the federal government as director of its budget—a tight-fisted guardian of the state's purse strings.

Under such conditions, the question is being asked, why should not the department which is to prescribe and enforce economy begin back at the beginning? Why should he not write a budget to guide the legislature that will be so shot full of economy and efficiency that it could not be disregarded by a legislature in cutting below it, and from which the governor would have a hard time in finding even a single traveling expense to prune?

So far as the figures go, the board of control recommended $43,615,707 for the elementary, departmental, educational and judicial biennial bills. Incidentally, this was $18,856,853 below what heads of departments and institutions asked for.

In the previous session the legislature appropriated $44,673,071 in the four bills that were vetoed, along with claims, rural aid and special appropriations.

At this session the appropriations were cut to $42,416,236.

Figures for the appropriations as finally made, the vetoed former bills, and the board of control budget are:

	Vetoed	Budget
Final Bills
Judicial	$ 5,061,465	$ 5,124,678
Educational	16,495,545	17,894,212
Elementary	10,462,336	10,202,516
Departmental	12,638,225	12,320,888
Totals	$42,416,236	$43,615,707

BANDITS ARE BEING HUNTED BY CHINESE

HANKOW, July 29. — Bandit-suppression forces of the Nanking government gradually are rounding up robber bands in Western China which have committed widespread depredations against foreigners. A number of the bandit leaders, already have been captured and executed but scores still are at large causing serious embarrassment to the central authorities who already have major military problems in both the north and south.

The two missionaries were seized by bandits April 24, near Sungtao, on the borders of the provinces of Kweichow, Hunan and Szechuen, dragged by rortoes across a mountain range and over the stony bed of a dry creek to be imprisoned and tortured in a dark and gloomy cave. Truax was released after some days to obtain ransom from the Chinese Missionary Alliance headquarters in Hankow but Schwendener did not regain his freedom until May 13.

The bandits started with a demand for $20,000 silver in ransom and finally came down to $660 when they were convinced the missionaries were too poor to pay more.

The two Americans nearly escaped a few days after they were imprisoned in the cave but falling stones awakened their captors just as they were scrambling to freedom and thereafter their hands were bound behind them with coarse ropes which bit into the flesh.

TOO MUCH OF BUNK IN TIRE SELLING, SAYS

"There has been too much bunk in tire selling," says Mr. O. S. Carroll, local Dunlop Tire dealer. "In the first place most people are apt to be a little bit mad when they buy a tire."

"They don't get any fun out of it, as they would out of buying a new car or even new clothes."

"Too them it represents a disagreeable but necessary purchase, and the only thing they want to do is to make sure they are buying most wisely. But they wonder how to buy wisely, because most tire claims are as much alike as the statements of two prize fighters before a fight. Each agrees to knock out the other fellow in the first round."

"This situation is probably the reason why the Dunlop Surety Bond Guarantee, which is now offered with every Dunlop Tire, is proving so popular with our customers. This guarantee is just a simple common-sense, straight forward statement, covering the buyer against the twelve major tire troubles, even if he admits the troubles are his own fault. It has no ifs or ands and it applies even on Dunlop Pneumatic Truck Tires."

"We find that this 'plus value'—if you could so call it, which we are able to offer, does more to satisfy customers than all the high power salesmanship in the world. They can read through this simple guarantee, see that its faithful performance is guaranteed, not only by Dunlop, but by the American Surety company of New York, and buy with confidence that every claim will be fulfilled."

EXILE FOR KAISER TO END MONDAY

By FREDERICK KUH United Press Staff Correspondent. BERLIN, July 20.—The question as to whether the former kaiser will return to Germany has arisen again because, on Monday, the defense of the republic law will expire and the virtual exile of the wilhelm monarch will come to an end.

It is considered extremely doubtful, however, if Wilhelm intends to leave Doorn and return to the land over which he once reigned.

Von Lindener-Wildau, a Nationalist leader, has informed the United Press that he believes failure to prolong the defense of the republic act would have no practical effect.

One of the reichstag's most heated debates occurred over the government's measure to have the act prolonged. The vote was 263 for and 166 against, but a two-thirds majority was necessary for passage.

The Nationalists battled stubbornly against the prolongation of the law, principally, it was believed because of the so-called "Kaiser Faragraph." The Fascists and Communists, as well as members of the economic party voted against the bill.

The Nationalists fought so hard against the measure, Von Leindener-Wildau said, only to defeat the discriminatory legislation against the former ruler, restoring him at least to the privileges of ordinary German citizens and permitting him to live on German soil. Moreover, he added, it will remove the stigma which the law hitherto had affixed to the one-time emperor.

The result of the session was of great interest, especially in view of the fact that the members of the economic party hitherto—either neutral on many questions or else favoring the government, joined the opposition in the fight against the protection of the republic measure. It is understood that the Economic party voted largely in revenue because of a government housing measure it has fought.

The storm of the reichstag session rose to its height when the Socialist Minister Severing declared that the government was ready to apply paragraph 48 of the constitution in the event that the bill for the law prolongation was not passed. Paragraph 48 vests a temporary dictatorship in the president and the minister of defense, excluding the reichstag.

This virtually was a signal for the most riotous, most hectic scene witnessed on the floor of the reichstag in its history, shouting, cat-calling and hissing greeted the minister when he made the threat, although many of the members were unwilling to believe the government would resort to such measures.

which is used in case of emergency and during the busy season. Nitroglycerin may be made in both the solidified and liquid forms and is used for shooting wells and to some extent for blasting.

Greatest Care When transporting from place to place and over the rough roads that usually prevail in oil fields, the greatest care must be taken in packing. The boxes on the back of the truck range in capacity from 28 to 60 cans, are divided into small compartments into which the cans, encased in a rubber boot, fit snugly. When the can is filled, a heavy pad is placed over the cans and the wooden lid closed.

Even such precautions as these are of no avail at times and a severe jolting or a collision will set off such an explosion that truck, driver and all will be blown to atoms. At other times, miracles happen. A short time ago, Mrs. Meyer recalls two trucks which were overturned without disaster.

In drilling a well, when the oil sand, upon being reached, is found to be hard and will not produce freely, then a shot is laid. The owner calls to the nearest station and a truck loaded with nitroglycerin is sent along with a shooter. When it is delivered at the well, the shooter sends the nitroglycerin into shells, long slender hollow containers made of tin in sizes ranging from 2 inches in diameter to 7 inches, and holding usually from 10 to 30 quarts. The number of quarts used varies according to the depth of the well—5, 10, or 20 quarts being used in a shallow well and from 200 to 400 in a deep test. As high as 2,000 quarts were placed in one well by the American Glycerin Co. of the Freeport Sulphur Co. at Freeport, Texas, the largest shot ever placed in one well in the world. A special truck was purchased to transport this supply.

How Placed in Well A hook and line lowers the shell to the bottom of the hole, piling them up as each shell fills into the cone-shaped end of the one preceding it.

Though there are several means of setting off the shot, the most common method now in use is the King time bomb. In the nature of an alarm clock, it is contained in a glass jar about a foot long. Two fuses protrude which encircle the small cardboard box that holds dynamite. The clock is set and lowered into the well on top of the nitroglycerin. At the appointed time, the fuses automatically ignite, exploding the dynamite which in turn sets off the nitroglycerin. With the explosion a jar is felt. There is a cracking report and a geyser of rocks shoots over derrick. In case of a producer, a stream of oil may flow, or some wells have been known to remain inactive for several days. Still others bridge and refuse to flow until after the caving has been drilled out.

A risky job yet perhaps its risks are more obvious than those of other trades, and perhaps, too, there is a certain delight in taking that risk—a certain satisfaction in mastering such a powerful and deadly instrument. It is true, as one man said, "You cannot profit by your mistakes—only one mistake is allowed to an employee—though someone else may benefit by your experience."

Remuneration for the makers and shooters is ample—a bonus of $5 for each well shot in addition to regular pay and a present of a certain amount of stock in the company each year.

Recent Discovery Nitroglycerin is a comparatively recent discovery, so powerful that only a very few uses though extensive, have been found for it. The discoverer, Antonio Somero, born in 1812, was an Italian. Obtaining his degree of medicine and surgery from the University of Turin, he studied chemistry in Paris under the greatest scientists of the time. While making tests with nitric acid, he discovered the highly explosive power of its combination with glycerin. Glycerin itself is not explosive, but the corrosive property of the acid is shown by the fact that the body of a calf, subjected to immersion in a vat of this acid is consumed in six hours. Succeeding scientists have attempted to improve upon Somero's discovery, but with disastrous results.
