FLIERS EXCEED RECORD BY HOURS

TWENTY-HOUR MARGIN MADE EARLY TODAY

St. Louis Robin Plane Establishes Mark After Days in Air

ST. LOUIS, July 24.—Rounding out the hours with monotonous regularity, the St. Louis-Robin passed the 267th consecutive hour of its world record endurance flight at 9:17 a. m. today.

Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine, pilots of the trim orange monoplane, reported everything "OK" except that "a couple of gliders sound like they have the bothache."

Whatever the ultimate future may hold in store for them, Jackson and O'Brine reiterated in a note dropped to cheering thousands at Lambert St. Louis field.

"We can last as long as there is any run left in the motor, which doesn't seem to be weakening."

The motor, a Challenger 6-cylinder air-cooled affair which took them aloft at 7:17 a. m. a week ago last Saturday and carried them on the longest flight in the history of aviation, hummed reassuringly.

Its roar was heard above a crowd of approximately 20,000 admirers which gathered at the field last night to witness a display of fireworks touched off in their honor.

Messages of congratulation came in such numbers that additional telegraph operators were put on the job at the field. Among the first received was from Lorenz Mendell and Roland Rinehart, pilots of the Anzelo, whose record of 246:43:22 the St. Louis-Robin eclipsed.

"These boys deserve a lot of credit. We take our hats off to them. It's a great thing for aviation," said the message.

THEY CALL HER "TREE TOPS"

She's North Dakota's first and only aviatrix. And they call her "Tree Tops." Above is Mrs. Florence Kingsmith, 22, in charge of flying activities at Fargo's airport, whose air-enthusiasm caused merchants to buy her a monoplane coupe that she might advertise the town. She hopes to obtain a commercial pilot's license soon.

FIRST CAMP IS ATTENDED BY SUCCESS

Agriculturists Name Event As One of Worth

Perpetuation of the F. F. T. encampment here as an annual affair of the chapters of this district was practically assured today, if the enthusiasms, opinions and interest manifested by the members and visiting vocational agriculturists is any indication.

The boys and vocational agriculturists from this section and from A. and M. college are for an annual F. F. T. district encampment here.

The first annual district encampment of the boys in this district of West Texas closed this afternoon, with success attending the event, each of the three days given over to it.

E. E. Alexander, director of vocational agriculture, A. and M. college, says:

"The F. F. T. is a national organization. The Texas F. F. T. will apply for affiliation in the national organization. There are nearly 2,600 members of the order in Texas, incorporated in 112 state chapters."

Mr. Alexander and every visiting vocational agriculturist expressed himself as being highly pleased with the results of the first district encampment here—and the first to be held in Texas—and all are of the opinion that the event should be repeated, and grow with each repetition, year after year.

Youngsters attending the camp represented 12 towns and cities in this section of the state.

Woman in Jail Refuses Food

BORGER, July 24.—Refusing to eat if she is held in jail but declining to make bond, Mrs. Irene Head, pretty beauty parlor operator, was in jail here today, charged with perjury.

Mrs. Head is the divorced wife of Dr. J. M. Head, Borger physician. The perjury charge followed her suit for divorce which she won in district court. Her attorney, Joseph H. Aynesworth, filed the suit when he was unable to collect his fee.

Aynesworth declared the woman was to pay him a portion of what she recovered from her husband.

The woman ate nothing yesterday, and told Jailer Burt Bryan she would not eat until released.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY PLANS GIANT MERGER

CHICAGO, July 24.—The Standard Oil company of Indiana by acquisition of the Pan American Petroleum and Transport companies is planning one of the biggest oil mergers since the days of the old Standard Oil trust.

Announcement of the plans were made yesterday by Edward G. Seibert, president of the company. The Standard company already holds a controlling interest in the voting stock of the company, but does not own a majority of all stock.

Under the plan, Standard of Indiana will exchange seven shares of its stock for six shares of either class A or class B Pan American stock. To do this, it was necessary to increase the authorized capital stock of Standard of Indiana from $75,000,000 to $45,000,000.

The consolidation will bring under one company properties valued at $755,000,000. Pan American has 1,000,000 shares of $50 par class A stock and 2,422,041 shares of $50 class B. The class A is voting stock, of which Standard of Indiana held a majority.

Standard of Indiana is one of the largest refining and marketing oil companies in the Midwest while Pan American is a leader in the crude oil field, with properties in the United States, South America and Mexico.

STRIKE THREAT DISPELLED BY LABOR UNIONS

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 24.—The threat of a general sympathy strike of organized labor in New Orleans was definitely dispelled today after representatives of 35 unionized trades and crafts decided such a step in support of striking street car men would not be propitious at the present time.

The two met on the street last night. In an exchange of shots Walraven received bullets through the chest and abdomen and Reynolds was shot twice through the body.

The policeman had been connected with the Texarkana force for almost 25 years. Both he and Reynolds had families.

OFFICER DEAD, ONE WOUNDED IN GUN FIGHT

TEXARKANA, July 24.—A Texarkana officer was dead and the man whom he arrested on a liquor charge lay seriously injured in a local hospital today as a result of a gun battle late Tuesday.

Policeman Jim Walraven died in the hospital soon after he "shot it out" with Jim Reynolds, agent for an independent oil concern, whom he had arrested on a liquor charge about a week ago. Physicians said Reynolds had very little chance to live.

The former president arrived at union station at 7:05 a. m. for a 12-hour stay, during which he will participate in White House ceremonies incident to proclamation of the Kellogg anti-war pact.

Requisition Revoked By Acting Governor

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., July 24.—Revocation of a requisition for the return of a man to another state on a charge of murder, a new executive procedure in Oklahoma, was made today by Acting Governor James C. Nance.

As a matter of routine business a requisition for the return to Texas of W. E. Hanna, Tulsa business man, had been granted. Nance revoked the order.

Nance said Hanna was charged in a grand jury indictment with murder in the death of a child in an auto accident in Lamar county, Texas. Nance also said that the Lamar county attorney refused to file charges when Hanna surrendered to him after the accident and that Hanna had been no-billed by two grand juries.

WHITE HOUSE IS SCENE OF PROCLAMATION

Representatives of Many Countries Uphold Pact

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The Kellogg-Briand treaty in which nearly all nations of the world for the first time in history pledge themselves to renounce war as an instrument of national policy, became officially effective today when the Japanese instrument of ratification was deposited at the senate department by Ambassador Debuschka.

The Japanese document of ratification was officially deposited exactly at noon EST, at which moment the Kellogg pact became officially effective throughout nearly all of the world.

The document, bearing the great seal of Imperial Japan, was delivered by Ambassador Debuschka to Secretary of State Stimson in the diplomatic room of the state department.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN, United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The Gods of War were blasphemed as craven images and false idols today when diplomatic representatives of 41 nations assembled in the historic East Room of the White House to join President Hoover in impressive ceremonies proclaiming effective the Kellogg-Briand treaty renouncing war as an instrument of national policy.

Prejudging and acts of aggressive warfare as illegal under the terms and usages of international law, the treaty marks a new milestone in the post-war quest of world diplomacy for a formula to effect lasting peace. Forty-six governments have deposited formal notices of ratification with the American state department and 16 others declared their intention to ratify as soon as the necessary legislative steps can be taken in their respective parliaments.

"It is a direct blow to the institution of war, even to its very vitals," said Foreign Minister Briand of France, in eulogizing the pact at the signatory ceremonies in the famous Salles Des Horloges in Paris last August.

Former President Coolidge, in whose administration the treaty was negotiated and signed by 15 world powers, and former Secretary of State Kellogg, who conducted the delicate negotiations through seven trying months, were honored guests at today's ceremonies.

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY, United States Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Calvin Coolidge—private citizen—and insurance executive—came back to the capital today.

The former president arrived at union station at 7:05 a. m. for a 12-hour stay, during which he will participate in White House ceremonies incident to proclamation of the Kellogg anti-war pact.

MAIL AVIATOR ENDS MILLION MILES IN AIR

CHICAGO, July 24.-E. Hamilton Lee, senior pilot of the United States air mail, tonight celebrated completion of 1,000,000 miles in the air with a radio speech paying tribute to his pioneer comrades and lamenting that the "good old days of thrilling experiences in the air" have passed. "It must make an old cowboy mad to see a fellow in shiny boots and polo pants riding a sleek horse," Lee said tonight. "A man flying along over an ocean of black fog at night, with no idea of where he was, no communication -nothing but a couple of flares and a parachute was not exactly attending afternoon tea. A flier in the old days was in life, clear up to the hilt. "One year ago, the pilot was his own general, making his decisions on his own judgment alone. Today he receives the advice of a corps of weather observers, and the orders of ground superintendents, by radio telephone-not in code but in spoken words. Directive radio, by dots and dashes,

TEXAS PUBLIC SCHOOL STATISTICS

State Supt. S. M. N. Marrs has let it be known there has been a healthy increase in scholastics this year, and he predicts a new census will show approximately 1,400,000 within the age of 7 and 17 years. This is an increase over last year of 40,000 children. According to the record the 40th legislature fixed $15 as the maximum per capita appropriation and the 41st legislature changed it to $17.50. There will be sufficient funds in sight to go with that figure even with the increased scholastics. This is made possible by the fact that the $15 limitation has caused a large surplus to accumulate to the credit of the available fund and by September 1st, the beginning of the new fiscal year, the balance will be over $3,000,000. This, the superintendent says, "will be gladsome tidings to the schools of Texas. That will be a large nestegg to go with and increase a payment of at least $2 per capita at the very start of the next school year. By the time the schools actually start more funds will have accumulated and the first payment may go to $3 per child, establishing a record."

POT SHOTS - POLITICS

Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald. -AUSTIN- Wood Head of Game Commission Former State Sen. A. E. Wood has been appointed by the governor as a member of the state game, fish and oyster commission. Appointment was confirmed by the senate. Wood was given a long term. This commission was created by act of the regular session of the 41st legislature and became effective on Sept. 1. Chairman Wood is a former citizen of Williamson county. He was prominent for years as a member of the upper house. He was defeated for re-nomination in the primary last year. A prominent member of the Travis county bar, he is largely responsible for the act which reorganized the department, providing for a commission of six members, the chairman and other members to be appointed by the governor from different sections of the state. It is said that Will J. Tucker, state commissioner by appointment of Gov. Moody, will be made secretary-manager or directing executive of the commission when the law begins to function in the coming month of September. Wild game is to be given protection in Texas and the fisheries of Texas inland lakes as well as the Gulf fisheries are to be developed as well as protected in coming years. This is as it should be.

ANOTHER SLICE OF TERRITORY FOR TEXAS.

Approximately 28,500 acres or 44.6 square miles of Oklahoma land would be added to Texas if the supreme court of the United States should approve a report filed by Samuel S. Gannett, its commissioner. According to the Gannett report the present boundary between Oklahoma and Texas from the Red river running north was run by the Jones-Brown-Clarke survey in 1859-1860 and Oklahoma since becoming a state has exercised sovereignty over land which belongs to Texas. Washington correspondents say the Gannett report will be presented to the supreme court for approval when it convenes in October and Texas and Oklahoma will be given opportunity to be heard. Texas lands for Texans should be the slogan. It is said there are 75,000 former Oklahomans voting citizens of Texas. There are twice that number former Texans voting citizens of Oklahoma. Send the flowers to Commissioner Gannett. He is a genuine engineer-surveyor. He knew where to find the ancient landmarks.

A NEW FACE IN THE PICTURE.

There will be a new face in the big dome picture in the near future.

ture-that of state auditor to be named by Gov. Moody. One of the most important offices ever created is the act creating that of the department of auditing. All institutions of the state will be given a close-up accounting and all state officials, appointive or elective, are reminded that there will be something new under the Texas sun. Texas needs a real auditor and real auditors or accountants or investigators should be named as his assistants. There is a state highway department that disburses millions annually. There is a railroad commission with its adjuncts; there is a department of education; there is a land office department and many minor departments, all maintained by the tax money taken from the pockets of the people. Economy in government is necessary as well as honesty in government. There should be no waste of the public funds.

Protecting the Lands of the People In the closing hours of the third special session of the 41st the senators and representatives enacted a law withdrawing from the market all unsurveyed public school lands and river beds and channels. In other words, the bill withdraws from sale the surface and mineral rights to the unsurveyed public lands and beds and channels of Texas rivers. A step in the right direction. The fathers of Texas knew what they were doing when they set aside large tracts of the public domain for the education of all the children of all the people. It is for the men and children who are now on earth and to protect this heritage handed on by the fathers of the Lone Star empire commonwealth.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma.

That the East can often learn from the West. Out in the West is located the Mountain States Power company. It is setting an example to the companies in the East. It operates in scattered districts of Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Oregon. Through its eagerness to serve the people in its territory and its progressive ideas in newspaper advertising, it has built up a market for electrical merchandise unparalleled in the East. In this rural territory are homes in many cases better than those seen in many cities. There are rural lines which were developed before experiments of this nature were started in the East. There are lines reaching into agricultural sections, providing the farms with electric service adequate to operate motors of sufficient size to drive silo fillers, water pumps, electric milking machines, refrigerators, and all other electric equipment that might be required on a modern farm. The homes have the latest house lighting equipment and they enjoy all the comforts of an electrical home. The Mountain States Power company is indeed an empire builder. It early learned that progressive ideas sold through newspaper advertising brought lasting results in profit to themselves and profit to the communities they serve.

FEWER BABIES IN 1924

WASHINGTON, July 25.-Fewer babies were born in America during 1923 than in 1922, the commerce department reported today. Statistics compiled by the department revealed that with the exception of three states from which figures were not available, the average number of babies born for every 1,000 persons last year was 19.7, compared with 20.7 in 1922. "I was bothered almost constantly with kidneys for forty-five years," Mr. Lamb continued, "and I would have terrible pains across my back almost all the time. Sometimes I could hardly bear to stand up. I suffered so, and even when I would lie down it didn't seem like I could get any relief. I felt dull and listless and with out strength or energy and I was so racked by the pains that I kept falling off in strength and my nerves started going to pieces so that I couldn't sleep hardly any. Then on top of all these troubles I suffered from indigestion, which just made life miserable for me and no matter what I did or what treatments I took, nothing seemed to do me any good, but I just kept going down hill and getting worse from day to day. Poetry Cures Marital Ills

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 24.-If your husband beats you, try poetry; some of the sentimentality which surged through his breast years ago may still linger there, needing only a gentle fanning to bring it into flame again. The plan was worked in at least one instance, according to Miss Alice Yonkmen, chief of the family service bureau, whose job is to untangle family difficulties. In this case the worker assigned to the case discovered that the husband often cut poems from papers and magazines. She suggested that he try writing poems to his wife. Pleased with the idea, he tried it and now, says Miss Yonkmen, he is falling romantically in love with his wife again.

"I've gained in weight and strength on Orgatone and feel better than I have in forty five years," said I. J. "I was bothered almost constantly with kidneys for forty-five years," Mr. Lamb continued, "and I would have terrible pains across my back almost all the time. Sometimes I could hardly bear to stand up. I suffered so, and even when I would lie down it didn't seem like I could get any relief. SCHMELING IS ON CONTRACT WITH FUGAZY

Athletic Commission Announces German's Position

NEW YORK, July 24.—The New York State Athletic commission has announced that Max Schmeling is under contract to fight Humbert J. Fugazy, rather than under contract to fight against Phil Scott, Brit heavyweight.

The commission was openly charged the commission had no interest in making Schmeling fulfill his contract with Fugazy. Other than that a fight with Scott would mean money in the jeans of "Inch" and his brother.

The New York district of the world became indignant over the affair and protested a commission would display favoritism.

Yesterday the commission replied to a statement issued from Madison Square Garden last night, which had not retracted a statement in its stand on the Schmeling fight, that the German must fulfill his contract with Fugazy or would not be allowed to show his wares again within its jurisdiction.

The commission also made it clear that Phil Scott was not nearly the only opponent Fugazy might fight, but that Schmeling would fight anybody Humbert decides to send against him.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

By United Press.

Yesterday's hero—Charley Root, former ace of the Chicago pitchers who returned to form and pitched a four hit game for the Cubs, scoring a 2 to 0 victory over the New York Giants.

Carl Hubbell opposed Root in the game and also allowed four hits. Two of these were doubles, however, and the first Chicago run was earned.

The Pittsburgh Pirates found the Brooklyn artillery in great form and were outslugged, 10 to 2, at Pittsburgh. Rhiel hit a home run for the winners with the bases full.

The Philadelphia Phillies were able to make but two runs out of 10 hits and lost a ball game at St. Louis, 8 to 2. The Cards, aided by three errors, made their runs off seven hits.

Cincinnati won the first game of a double header from the Boston Braves 9 to 5, but were shut out in the second, 6 to 0. Delaney held the Reds to seven widely scattered hits in the final game.

New York opened its park to visitors from the west after a tour through that territory, yesterday, and the first to accept the hospitality, Detroit, was tendered the low end of a 7 to 5 score. The Tigers outhit the Yanks but handled the ball carefully.

Cleveland won and lost at Philadelphia. The A's beat the invaders, 4 to 1, in the first game, but lost the second, 9 to 3. Rube Walberg held Cleveland to eight hits in the first game.

St. Louis won a 13 to 4 victory at Boston when the Red Sox found it impossible to bunch their 13 hits.

Red Faber held Washington to four hits in seven innings and Chicago won at the capital, 3 to 2. Faber was taken out in the eighth inning for a pinch hitter and McKain finished the game without allowing a hit.

Wichita Falls, under the guiding hand of Milton Stengraf's snake-like twisters, retained its league leadership by dropping the San Antonio Indians, 8 to 4. Turgeon poled out a homer with one on base to aid the Spudders in the eighth.

Dallas stayed on a level with the San Antonions at the bottom of the league yesterday when Beaumont won the second game of the series, 5 to 2. Beaumont's victory placed the Exporters in second position.

In a thrilling pitcher's battle yesterday, the Waco Cubs nosed out Fort Worth, 4 to 3. Cox's homerun with one aboard in the eighth put the Cats in the running but not far enough to clinch the game.

Shreveport hustled yesterday all the way through and took the battle from Houston, 6 to 1.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF CISCO: That, whereas, the City Commission of the City of Cisco has heretofore by ordinance duly passed and approved ordered the improvement of the following streets in the City of Cisco, to-wit:

DISTRICT A-1: Park Drive South from the East line of Blocks "B" and "D" to the West line of Blocks "A" and "C." and Randolph Street from the South line of Park Drive to the North Alley line of Blocks "C" and "D." all in Belmont Park Addition to the City of Cisco, Texas.

DISTRICT A-2: Park Drive North from the North line of Park Drive South to the West line of Pershing Street, and Pershing Street from the North line of Park Drive South to the North line of Blocks "A" and "B" all in Belmont Park Addition to the City of Cisco, Texas.

Each unit or district shall be and constitute an entirely and wholly separate and independent unit of improvement. The construction of said improvements in each separate unit or district shall be wholly independent of the construction in any other unit or district. The assessments to be levied in each unit or district shall be made according to the cost of the improvements in that particular unit or district, and in accordance with the benefits accruing to the property by reason of said improvements in that particular unit or district, wholly and entirely independent of the cost of the benefits accruing by reason of the improvements in any of the other units or districts; and

WHEREAS, Plans and specifications for the improvements of said streets have been duly prepared and approved as required by Chapter 11, Title 22, Revised Statutes of Texas of 1911, now Chapter 9, Title 22, Revised Statutes of Texas of 1925, and the Charter and Ordinances of the City of Cisco; and

WHEREAS, As required by said Charter and Ordinances and bids for said work of improvement had been made, said work of improvement was let to Edwin M. Rabon to improve with a base consisting of 8 inches of gravel, 2 1/2 inches of crushed stone and a top of one inch of Uvalde Rock Asphalt, cold rolled, with curbs and gutters and necessary work in connection therewith, as provided by said plans and specifications; and

WHEREAS, A written report of said work has been entered into by and between the City of Cisco and Edwin M. Rabon for the construction of said improvements; THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF CISCO: That the report or statement of the City Engineer, describing the abutting property and giving the names of property owners and numbers of front feet and the cost of improvement property and its owners, having been duly examined, is hereby approved.

That the City Commission does hereby determine to assess the total cost of curbs and three-fourths per centum remaining of said improvements against the owners of the property abutting thereon, and against their property, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 11, Title 22, Revised Statutes of Texas of 1911, now Chapter 9, Title 28, Revised Statutes of 1925, and the Charter and Ordinances of the City of Cisco. assessed against such property owners and their property shall be in accordance with the Front Foot Rule of Plan, in the proportion that the frontage of the property of each owner in each particular unit or district bears to the frontage of the whole property in that particular unit or district; provided, that if such plan or apportionment be found to be not just and equitable in particular instances, the City Commission shall apportion all said cost as to produce a substantial equality between all such property owners abutting on the particular unit or district, having in view the enhanced value of that property and the benefits derived from such improvement, and the burden imposed upon them by such assessment, and that no event shall any assessment be made against any owner or his property in excess of the enhanced value of such property by reason of such improvement. That the proportionate cost of such improvement which is contemplated to be assessed against such owners and their properties shall become due and payable as follows: One-tenth one year after the completion and acceptance by the City of Cisco of the improvement in the particular unit or district; one-tenth two years after said date of acceptance; one-tenth three years after said date of acceptance; one-tenth four years after said date of acceptance; one-tenth five years after said date of acceptance; one-tenth six years after said date of acceptance; one-tenth seven years after said date of acceptance; one-tenth eight years after said date of acceptance; one-tenth nine years after said date of acceptance; one-tenth ten years after said date of acceptance, together with interest from said date of acceptance at the rate of eight per centum per annum, and reasonable attorney's fees and all costs of collection in case of default. That the total proportionate part of such cost which is contemplated to be assessed against such owners and their respective properties and the names of the owners of property abutting upon said streets aforesaid, properties to be improved, and the description of that property and the several amounts proposed to be assessed against them, respectively, and for curb and gutter, and the grand total thereof, is as follows:

M., in the City Hall of the City of Cisco, Texas, and which said hearing shall be continued from day to day and from time to time as may be necessary to give all said property owners, their agents or attorneys and the interested person or persons, a full and fair hearing, and said owners, their agents or attorneys and any interested person or persons shall have the right to appear and be heard in any manner concerning the said improvements or assessments, and the benefits thereof to their said property, or to any other matter or thing in connection therewith, or to contest said assessment, and at such hearing, a full, fair opportunity shall be extended to said property owners, their agents or attorneys, and to all interested persons, to be heard with respect to such improvements.

MAYENCE MOST RESENTFUL OF FRENCH TROOPS

Editor's Note: Following is the second of a series of five articles from cities in the occupied area of Germany, which may soon be evacuated.

By RALPH HEINZEN, United Press Staff Correspondent. MAYENCE, July 24.—The Versailles treaty left Germany full of sore spots but none sorer than Mayence. Here Germany feels the heel of occupation, and under the treaty will feel it longest unless statesmen can agree around a conference table on some means to barter evacuation for cash.

Mayence is the capital of the Allied forces of occupation, a French city in spite of the heavy German architecture of its houses. The horizon-blue uniforms which fill its streets move in a wide stream. Nowhere else in the Rhineland is the occupation so visible, and nowhere else is so apparent the satisfaction that France obtains out of victory.

General Guillaumat lives here with his great staff, occupying the beautiful Ducal Palace, while in smaller palaces nearby are the liaison officers of the British and Belgian armies. The general staff took over for itself the Law courts building, and the troops moved in to the Prussian barracks, almost lost in those great structures, although 10,000 Frenchmen live there. If Coblenz is the center of architecture, Mayence is the best disciplined city in Germany. The 110,000 townsfolk never do anything exactly as they would like to. With three different foreign army detachments camped on them and an unusually large force of "Schutzpolizei" their life is well regulated for them.

Most Disciplined Force
The Schutzpolizei are the most disciplined force of police ever assembled. Like automatons, with their immaculate white gloves and grotesque and rigid gestures, they move Mayence on its way at right angle movements. Even the ordinary slow moving Rhine seems to brace up and rush through the town with some semblance of military order.

Less enthused with patriotism than their brothers at Coblenz, the Mayence Germans are, nevertheless, confirmed advocates of evacuation. They want to return to a normal life and as soon before 1935 as is possible for Berlin statesmen to arrange it.

In the street cars, around the factory gates of the great chemical plants of Calle & Co., in the narrow streets dodging off the famous old "dom," one hears over and over the word "raumung," evacuation. But there is no passion of patriotism in their voices.

Over at the town hall, a beautiful old Renaissance building in spite of its staid restorations, the municipal officials are busily engaged smoothing the relations between the foreign armies and the civil population, whose anger has risen many times in the past and caused no little bloodshed.

"Occupation no longer has any reason to exist," Dr. Ehrhart, tall, blonde Bürgermeister, told me.

Two-Family Stores
"These foreign garrisons stay here without any contact with the population. They are foreign by language and foreign by customs. Many of the soldiers' families live in houses requisitioned for them, but from which the Germans have never moved. They cook their dinner over a common fire, and that is annoying and humiliating. "We keep bad memories of the period of passive resistance. Five thousand Germans were expelled by the military authorities at that time and we suffered greatly. But things have changed since the Conference of London and the coming of General Guillaumat. "The new regime is tolerable, and the French authorities are technically absolutely correct in their ways. They know how to tell us politely things which seem to us to be very hard to execute. But the occupation has lasted long enough. It is prejudicing our industries, our tourist business. Factories which would like to locate here hesitate because of the military control. Some families are without homes, because houses were taken for the soldiers."

But the opinion of Dr. Ehrhart is not shared by the entire municipal council. At a council meeting, the Socialist faction asked the mayor what steps would be taken to meet the situation which was sure to arise when the foreign troops were withdrawn and took their gold with them. Thousands of business men and their families live off the soldiers, the French now and the Prussians before them. But when the Rhineland is demilitarized, there will be no more garrisons stationed here; no soldiers to keep the merchants happy.

Monster Celebrations
The Nationalists are not worried by economic clouds on the horizon as are the Socialists. They are already planning monster manifestations to mark the liberation of the valley when the last Allied soldier marches out. The municipality here has kept a balanced budget, but only by means of the subventions of the Reich, which comes in the form of credits for "Deutsche Kultur-paganda." General Guillaumat is a great soldier, as respected by the Germans as he is admired by his Allies and loved by the French. Clear blue eyes, gray moustache in a young face he is a typical soldier. On his tunic he wears a single decoration, the French military medal, the highest decoration a French officer can earn.

"I am here by order of my government," he replied to my question. "I try to organize the occupation in a human fashion within the limits of my orders and international arrangements. During the five years I have been here, I have had no grave incidents."

"There is a little nest of agitation, Pirmasens in the Palatinat, but we do not keep a garrison there. There are internal quarrels which bother the inhabitants. There are industries there which employ quite a few Communists. Everywhere else, all is quiet on the Rhine. I have the greatest respect for my allies; Sir William Thwaites is a great soldier and a gentleman. "There is never the slightest discord among the Allies. I inform them of my decisions and they put them into effect unhesitatingly. As for the German agitation for evacuation, we must expect that. We would do the same thing in their place."

Disliked Food Gives Health

EAST LANSING, Mich., July 24.—Eating things she did not like is the reason given by Miss Helen I. Norberg, 16, of New Era, for her being chosen girl health champion of southern Michigan at contests held during the 11th annual Boys' and Girls' 4-H club week at Michigan State college.

Two years ago, before she won the health championship at the 10th annual club week, Helen was underweight. But she ate food according to instructions given her by the nutrition specialists of Michigan state college and soon was able to bring her weight to normal. "I was told to eat carrots," the health champion said. "I don't like them but I ate them because I knew they would help me to become healthy."

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MOLLY BURNHAM, reporter, has come off the celebrated BARROWS trial. Barrows, wealthy and socially prominent, was tried for the murder of BERNICE BRADFORD, a rather famous woman, beautiful and undeniably immoral. To everybody's surprise he was acquitted. Molly covered the trial in brilliant fashion, and a reward of merit has been given her for a bonus and a week off.

Molly happens to be very much in love with a poor young man named JACK KOWLES, but she has decided to postpone her marriage until such time as Jack has saved a little money. Meanwhile she is leading all her efforts to the task of writing something really worth while. She is a clever little girl, and will probably succeed.

One night as she is revolving in her mind the plot of a story, her bell rings. It is RED FLYNN, police court reporter, with astonishing news of the Bradford murder. Red says that he has just left a boy named PERRY INGERSOLL, who was engaged to Bernice Bradford. He declares that Perry and Bernice were about to be married. And Red admits that he doesn't know exactly what he is going to do with the boy. Meantime, Perry is sleeping in Red's bed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Go on," she besought. "I won't say another word. Start at the beginning, Red. Where did you meet this Great Lover?"

"Up on Beacon Hill. In one of those so-called Bohemian dives. The kid was crying like a fool. He looked like a decent sort, and he was alone. Slim and I were sitting opposite him, and you know Slim's big heart."

"I know yours," interrupted Molly.

"No, it was Slim's," he insisted. "Slim says, 'There's a poor son of a gun, making a fool of himself over some woman, most likely. What do you say, Red, if we take him for a walk?'"

"Well, the proprietor was all set to kick him out, so it looked like a good idea. Just a couple nice boy scouts—me and Slim. We got him between us, and we walked down the Hill. And pretty soon he stopped his crying, and he began to babble. Kept talking about 'Bernice.' Naturally Slim and I perked up our ears."

"I gave Slim the high sign, and he began to propel our fine young lad over to my room. He'd begun to sober off a little by the time we reached there. Not much, but enough so he was half rational. Then he got a talking jae. Nothing would do but he must talk."

"And of all the people he picked to talk to!" breathed Molly.

"Now, see here," protested Red. "That's no way to talk. We've been darn white to that kid, me and Slim. We've fed him black coffee watching over him like a guard. An angel, until such time," amended Red honestly, "as we decide what we're going to do with him."

ed Red honestly, "as we decide what we're going to do with him."

CHAPTER XI
Once a reporter, they say, always a reporter. And to a good newspaper woman everything is copy. Life, and Death, and Love and Hate. Obviously, then, this Ingersoll boy was copy. Rattling good copy, too.

Molly leaned forward eagerly. "And what," she demanded, "ARE you going to do with him, Red?"

Red shrugged narrow shoulders eloquently.

"Darned if I know," he admitted. "There he lies—God's little gift to newspaper men. But you know, Molly, it seems a shame to tell the world."

"I don't know why," she retorted. "If he's spilled a solution of the Bradford murder, Red, it's your civic duty to 'tell the world.'"

"Maybe," he admitted. "But to tell the truth, dear, I haven't any of that stuff called civic pride."

"You're just soft-hearted," she accused.

"Soft-hearted nothing!" he rejoined indignantly. "I'm practical that's all. And, just now, I've got an idea, Molly. A great big idea."

Molly sighed. "Go on," she urged. "I'm dying of curiosity."

Red told her about the Ingersoll kid, and never mind your beautiful idea."

Red lighted another cigarette. "Molly, darling," he informed her. "I love you and all that, but you're a durned dumbbell. Can't you see there's a plot for a play or a novel, in this Ingersoll kid?"

Why throw the thing away on a newspaper yarn? Why not collaborate on something worth while? What's a bonus from the old man, a measly little $50, when we can make a fortune? I tell you, Molly, we can knock Broadway dead with the stuff that brat spilled tonight!"

"But TELL me," she besought. "Red, you're infuriating. You haven't told me a thing. You're simply talking your head off. I don't know what it's all about."

"No? Listen, then." Solemnly Red began. "Perry Ingersoll fell in love with Bernice Bradford."

"Yes, yes," Molly nodded. "And because she was gay and charming, and very, very wise, this young Ingersoll found her captivating. She was different from all the nice little girls he'd known. The good girls, who smoke a lot and drink a little, and pretend to be very, very bad. Bernice didn't have to pretend. She was just herself. Beautiful, and loving, and sinning. So Ingersoll fell in love with her, did he?"

"Well he thought he did," amended Red, "and that's pretty much the same thing, as near as I can make out. She was just the glitteringest thing that had ever come into his life. And, when she gave him a little attention, he fell like a load of bricks. Did I tell you he wrote poetry to her? Called her his golden girl, and all that trash. His Glamorous, Golden Girl. Doesn't it give you a pain, Molly?"

"No," she said. "I think it was rather sweet of him, Red, and awfully pathetic."

Red chuckled. "Just a born little romanticist," he chided. "And you a newspaper woman, Molly!"

"Go on!" she pleaded.

"Well, as I was saying, young Perry Ingersoll got a poetic passion for this woman, and pretty soon he started glorifying her. Wanted to marry her. But Bernice knew how to play her cards better than that. An adoring kid might be some use to a girl in her profession, but what the heck could she do with a sophomore husband?"

"You say he knew about Barrows?" questioned Molly.

"Oh, Barrows darn near broke the poor sap's heart," rejoined Red. "The kid was so jealous he couldn't see straight. That's why he was ready to swallow Bernice's proposition, hook, line and sinker."

"What proposition?"

"Don't be in such a hurry," he instructed. "Ain't I trying to tell you? First, you see, the kid was imploring Bernice to marry him and she was laughing at him. Then, when he'd given up hope and made up his mind she meant it, she suddenly turned the tables. One night she asked Perry to marry her! I can imagine the poor boob's heart busting with joy when Bernice promptly took all the joy out of life."

"For a consideration," she says. And then she outlined her scheme.

"Now, Ingersoll's the sort of chap that would cry, and carry on like a woman. But he's a welcher at heart. If he wasn't he'd never have consented to her proposal. And consent he did."

"Bernice knew he was infatuated with her, and that she could twist him right around her bejeweled little finger. She knew, too that he was broke and desperately in need of money. There seems to have been something about gambling debts at the university, and the kid was afraid of an exposure."

"Well, Bernice said she'd marry him, and give him a few thousand besides, if he'd be a good little boy, and do exactly as she told him. And then she confessed that Barrows was beginning to tire of her. Not that she gave a hoot whether he LOVED her or not. Oh, no, Bernice wasn't one of your sentimental models. I don't suppose she'd ever given a snap of her fingers for a man in her life. But there was a lot of money in the Barrows outfit."

"You remember Barrows' aunt was supposed to have provided the defense fund. Well, that wasn't his own aunt. She was his wife's aunt. And for Mrs. Barrows' sake the old lady would go through anything. Barrows' wife's people wouldn't stand for any scandal. And Bernice knew the game from a to z."

"But THIS was to be high class blackmail. Nothing small-time about Bernice. Barrows was too well known to have his private life concealed from anybody. It would not do Bernice any good to say she didn't know he had a wife."

Perry'll have to come home some night, and catch Barrows there. He's just to be the boob, that's all.

"Perry'd have to make a scheme, she said, and make off he wanted to kill Barrows. Then Bernice was to interfere, and try to patch things up. And in the end they'd have Barrows promising them anything they wanted. He could get money, you see, from his wife's aunt. There were two reasons why the old lady would give it to him, and Bernice knew them both."

"That being that, our heroine reckoned a husband would be a good bet. And this night I'm telling you about how she laid her cards on the table."

"We'll get married," she told young Ingersoll, "and then you'll threaten to sue Barrows for alienation of my affections."

"At first the kid didn't get it. And then she tells him she means to continue to play Barrows' blackmail. Nothing small-time about Bernice. Barrows was too well known to have his private life concealed from anybody. It would not do Bernice any good to say she didn't know he had a wife."

"That being that, our heroine reckoned a husband would be a good bet. And this night I'm telling you about how she laid her cards on the table."

"We'll get married," she told young Ingersoll, "and then you'll threaten to sue Barrows for alienation of my affections."

"At first the kid didn't get it. And then she tells him she means to continue to play Barrows' that. "But don't forget, Molly that the kid was absolutely infatuated with her—and after all he is a kid. And anyhow, he swears he had no intention of complying with her schemes. After they were married, he never meant to leave her. The poor sap was going to make her love him. That was what HE thought."

"Do you believe it?"

"Oh, I don't know. The kid's no Galahad. The point is, he promised he'd go through."

"And Bernice went and bought a wedding dress. That girl sure had a sense of humor. A white satin dress and a flock of tulle."

"I know," murmured Molly.

"First, there was the way she loved her niece. Then there was the scandalous end of it. If the thing threatened to become a court case the old lady'd peel off a hundred thousand to save the family honor."

Molly gasped. "You do mean to tell me," she cried, "that Ingersoll agreed to it?"

Red nodded contemptuously. "He did," he affirmed, "just about the way she looked. I said hers was a beauty made Death amorous!"

New Aviation Grade Gulf No-Nox Fuel

It may be truthfully said that most motorists appreciate quality in all things — Quality Fuel or Quality Oil means quality performance of the motor—When the motor goes well—all is well—Automotive Engineers are seeking to perfect the motor by reducing the size of the combustion chamber thereby increasing compression. This increased compression calls for a slow burning fuel that ignites with a powerful push downward instead of just an explosion.

The old time gasoline and even the modern knockless fuel has not proven to be efficient to the extent required—Hence it has become necessary to increase the efficiency of Gulf No-Nox Motor Fuel to a point almost fifty per cent greater—This increase takes No-Nox into the aviation class of Motor fuels — Motorists who have been using No-Nox to their satisfaction will be amazed at its performance since the change—speed—power—pick-up—in fact, everything that may be desired will be found in this new fuel—Aviators and motorists may purchase from any Gulf Service Station or dealer—this improved No-Nox from the same pump.

Some motorists may confuse color with efficiency—which is not the case—The Orange color has nothing to do with efficiency—it would be just as good if water white in color. You may identify Gulf No-Nox by the Orange color—The Gulf Refining company were the first to color Gasoline Orange for identification purposes on account of orange being a trade color in the Orange Disc.

The New NO-NOX MOTOR-FUEL

Increased Anti-Knock Properties

Now Aviation Grade

Keeping up with Automobile Engineers has revolutionized motor fuels . . . Nothing but the highest quality should be used in modern motors...they are purposely built for greater power and speed...Higher compression demands a fuel of the highest quality and efficiency . . .

Gulf No-Nox Motor Fuel has kept up with these demands and is now AVIATION GRADE.

It may be procured from any Gulf Dealer either for the plane or the car...It stops knocks and silences the pings and clicks so prevalent in the new cars...The Orange color is for identification only...it has no effect on NO-NOX efficiency... NO-NOX is a pure petroleum product... no dope.

The Original Orange Gas from the Orange Pump . . . At the Sign of the Orange Disc . . .

REVOLUTIONARY IN 1924—STILL MORE SO TODAY

"It was inevitable that Chrysler should attract a degree of scientific interest accorded no other car in the past fifteen years. + Engineers, naturally, were first to appreciate that Chrysler, while adhering strictly to soundest principles of design, is a distinct departure from previous motor car practice and performance. + They recognize in Chrysler an advance in automobile engineering as revolutionary as the development of the X-ray in medicine."

HOW HAS CHRYSLER DONE IT?

When an unknown motor car sets out—as Chrysler did—to grasp the leadership of a great industry, and with the speed of a meteor, sweeps to a foremost position in popularity and sales, it must possess extraordinary quality and ability.

When the first Chrysler car was placed on exhibition five years ago, the whole industry looked in amazement at what Walter P. Chrysler had accomplished. Within four years, Chrysler had leaped to third place in the industry.

How has Chrysler done it? What is the secret of this success? Simply that Chrysler gave in the beginning—each year since has given increasingly—and today gives in still greater measure—not only a finer grade of basic quality but a higher order of performance, beauty, style, power, acceleration, safety, comfort—all at most reasonable prices.

Such sweeping success must prove inevitably to the buyer of a Chrysler car today that he can count on the most advanced, the soundest, the safest and the most satisfying motor transportation his money can command. Let us prove these facts in a demonstration.
