FIRST PHOTO SHOWS START OF ARAB REVOLT IN PALESTINE

This remarkable picture—the first to come out of Palestine since the bloody warfare began between Jews and Arabs—shows fanatical Moslems gathered outside historic Jaffa Gate, Jerusalem, while an Arab orator incited them to violence. Note the staffs of the Arabs raised aloft as they acclaimed the speaker, while mounted policemen strove to preserve order in the unruly mob. This exclusive photo was taken surreptitiously with a tiny concealed camera. Then rushed to this country by NEA Service.

RETURNS HOME AFTER RITES FOR BROTHER

W. K. Johnston returned Sunday from Arizona where he had gone in response to a message telling of the death of his brother, H. H. Johnston, prominent contractor, near Nogales, Arizona. His brother was shot to death by a Dr. Pruitt, living four hours after a bullet was fired without warning into his brain one morning about 10 o'clock. Burial took place at Tooele, Utah, where the deceased was for many years a citizen, and the following account of the tragedy is extracted from the Transcript-Bulletin of that City, Sept. 6.

H. H. Johnston, highly respected former townsman, who was murdered near Nogales, Arizona, Thursday of last week, was buried from the South ward church Wednesday afternoon in one of the largest funeral services ever held in this city. The body had arrived here Tuesday evening.

Bishop Samuel Park was in charge of the service. Pres. E. M. Orme, Pres. C. Alvin Orme, and Harold Shewell of the American Legion were the speakers. The choir rendered selections. Bryant Caldwell played a violin solo, and vocal solos were sung by S. W. Lee and Scott Taggart. R. J. Huntington gave the invocation and Archibald Bevan the benediction. Peter M. Clegg dedicated the grave at the Tooele cemetery.

The Lions club and the Legion paid full honors to Mr. Johnston, a highly respected member. Floral offerings were most profuse.

As we published our last week's issue only a very meager account of the tragedy had been received locally. In doing contract work near Tooele, Arizona, some of Mr. Johnston's men it appears, had bought water for their stock from a Dr. Pruitt, who owns a ranch in that vicinity. Mr. Johnston had been to San Diego, and on returning had suffered an auto accident which injured his hand severely. He had just started back to work and the day prior to the murder he and Dr. Pruitt had been in conference over the water bill.

The next morning at 10 o'clock which was Thursday of last week, Pruitt returned, and without warning shot Mr. Johnston, as he sat in the car.

COMMISSIONER WIO, Sept. 11.—Paul Dural West has been appointed by the department of the fatal A. T. air liner in accordance with departmental policy of "no

KISS NOT WORTH $10.

DALLAS, Sept. 11.—In the eyes of the District Attorney here, a kiss is not worth $10. Also, a kiss is not "personal property" and a man can not be prosecuted for stealing one. Alleging a young man had given her a bad check for $10 in exchange for a kiss, a girl appeared in the attorney's office to demand his prosecution. After declaring that the kiss was not worth $10, the man was released. The Texas swindling law states a person can not be found guilty unless he gets some personal property in exchange for the worthless check at the time it is given.

GYMNASIUM IS DISCUSSED BY CISCO LIONS

Lion President Clayton L. Orn presided at the luncheon today. Lion Ed Kikinson led the roar and Lion J. R. Burnett gave the invocation. Singing led by Lion Acker C. Miller. The feature of the program was suggestions for major activities for the remainder of the year. Lions Jack Anderson, J. R. Burnett and Hugh White led the discussions with suggestions.

SITUATION ON MANCHURIAN BORDER GRAVE

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Sept. 11.—The situation along the Manchurian-Siberian border continued grave today, with the Chinese desperately concentrating against a menacing Russian force along a wide front. Communication with important border points was severed, and only intermittent reports came through. The chief centers of fighting were at Manchuli, Pogranichnaya, and Suifengho. The Chinese were defending the Manchuli sector against determined attacks of artillery, armored cars and airplanes.

Rubber Employed to Make Planes Safer

DALLAS, Sept. 11.—Airplanes equipped with rubber landing gears that will bounce when they land instead of cracking up, may be the result of the 50,000 mile experimental flight now being made by eight single motored Anzani monoplanes of the General Tire Co. fleet, officials of the flight said today. The fleet of planes landed here late yesterday and will leave Thursday.

Walker Named to Succeed Robison

AUSTIN, Sept. 11.—J. H. Walker, for 21 years chief clerk of the general land office, today was appointed by Gov. Dan Moody to fill the unexpired term of J. T. Robison, who was buried here yesterday.

CONGRESS TODAY

SENATE: Continues debate on Vore case. Audit and control committee considers Borah resolution to investigate activity of ship builders at disarmament conference. HOUSE: Not in session until Sept. 23.

HARD TO GET JURY TO TRY BECKY ROGERS

NEW BRAUNFELS, Sept. 11.—Difficulties which beset previous attempts to convict Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rodgers, former university of Texas co-ed, on a charge of bank robbery, apparently have followed her into the courtroom of District Judge J. C. Watson. Of the 121 taxmen examined since the trial opened Monday morning, only nine have been tentatively accepted for jury service.

Calms Settle Over Textile Sections

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Louis Marshall, noted New York attorney died at Zurich, Switzerland, at 3 a. m. today, his law offices here announced. Word of Marshall's death was received in a trans-Atlantic telephone call from Zurich.

Five Negroes Face Slaying Charges

CARTHAGE, Sept. 11.—Five negroes were held in the Panola county jail today facing charges of murder in connection with the slaying of Constable John Fleming, who was shot down by a volley from a crowd of negroes at a colored church in the Clayton community.

AUDITORIUM CROWDED FOR FIRST PROGRAM

Enrollment This Year Greater Than Ever Before

Randolph college opened this morning with the regular schedule of classes and the first chapel program of the year. Every seat in the auditorium was filled with either students, graduate and former students who still hold a keen interest in their alma mater, or visitors.

Rev. E. L. Miley opened the program with the reading of a passage from the Bible which was followed by a piano number, March Militaire (Schubert-Tausig), by Miss Alice Adeline Boyd, a violin solo, Old Refrain (Kriesler) was played by Mrs. Ben Krauskopf, and the musical program closed with the vocal solo, Tommy Lad (Margaron) sung by Thomas Reid.

Dr. T. T. Roberts made a short talk on the improvement and growth that he had witnessed in the college since his coming here five years ago. The enrollment this year is considerably greater than that of any previous year, he said.

Open to All. And I wish to advance the idea that Randolph Christian college is open to any denomination. Every year we have inquiries as to whether only students of the Christian denomination are admitted. Religious beliefs are in no way restricted. At present, among the 15 ministers which have enrolled in our Bible course, 3 are Methodist ministers.

Dr. Roberts concluded his address with the introduction of Rev. C. O. Shugart, presiding elder of the Cisco district of the Methodist church, of three members of the board of trustees who were present, J. B. Cate, Oscar Cliett, and C. R. West, and of the faculty.

The chapel period tomorrow will be occupied with the organization of classes and the student body. The program closed with a song and the benediction said by Rev. Shugart.

Noted U. S. Lawyer Dies at Zurich

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Louis Marshall, noted New York attorney died at Zurich, Switzerland, at 3 a. m. today, his law offices here announced.

Word of Marshall's death was received in a trans-Atlantic telephone call from Zurich. The distinguished lawyer, who was 72 years old, had undergone two operations for pancreatic abscess. For days his life was despaired of, but yesterday he was reported to be improving after a second blood transfusion.

Haggard Bank Head Glad It Is Over as He Confesses Coup to Save Institution

NEWCASTLE, Wyo., Sept. 11.—Assuming the role of a modern Robin Hood, C. D. Wagner, the Telluride, Colo., bank president whose main street shrewdness cost Wall Street's wizards $500,000, confessed here today that he alone conceived and executed the gigantic New York bank swindle to repay depositors for the losses they had sustained through the closing down of large mines in the Telluride district, owned by eastern and English interests, and the withdrawing of deposits by the owners of those properties.

Within a few hours after his arrest at Chambers park, a resort north of here, last night, Waggoner had dropped his assumed name and confessed to the swindle. He had confessed to the swindle in the small town business man. His confession was complete. It was given without a word to any of the sheriff's deputies in a dismal cell of the county jail here.

"I'm glad it's over," Waggoner said. "I knew it was coming and was not surprised when officers found me."

"I suppose that I shall go to jail for the rest of my life. The way I feel now, I don't know whether I shall ever hire a lawyer when I get to Denver."

Only to Save Bank. Waggoner declared that he had realized nothing personally from the transactions and that his only aim was to save the bank at Telluride and prevent the depositors from losing.

"There is no one to blame but myself," he explained. "The bottom has dropped out of things in Telluride and I considered that nothing but a desperate move was necessary and the only way out."

A man of 54 years, slight and unprepossessing, Waggoner, after he had changed back to his "working clothes," appeared tired and worried by the 10-day hunt for him. He told his story as rapidly as possible.

"My bank (the Bank of Telluride) had deposits at one time of $1,750,000. The mining industry there went to the bad. I wanted to get some money for the Telluride bank that the New York banks couldn't get back."

"It was my belief that it would be better to have the banks of New York lose than the people of Telluride, who had worked all their lives to save the money which was in my bank."

"First, I sent the coded telegrams and then went to New York and presented the drafts which transferred the money from the Chase National bank to the credit of the bank of Telluride."

Known in New York. "I had been doing business with the New York banks for many years. I was known there and believed they would accept the drafts. This idea of evading something all the time was beginning to get on my nerves."

He then described briefly the swindle which amazed Wall Street. The telegrams, which Waggoner said he wrote and fled himself, were written in bankers' code. They were sent from Denver to New York banks asking for credits for tremendous amounts. On Aug. 31, Waggoner appeared in New York, identified himself, and the New York banks, accepting the telegrams from the Denver banks as authentic, honored them and Waggoner collected $490,000 in certified drafts. With $260,000 he paid a loan to one bank and instructed that institution

HOOVER AFTER REAL FACTS IN SHEARER CASE

Borah Resolution Is Adopted by Senate Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The senate today adopted the Borah resolution authorizing an investigation of the activities of the American ship-building companies at the Geneva preparatory disarmament conference in 1927.

HOOVER HAS SOME IDEAS.

By LYLE C. WILSON. United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Possibility of whitewash senatorial investigation of the Shearer-ship builders' propaganda for a big navy dimmed today when it became known President Hoover had some ideas which are expected to guide the committee in going to the bottom of the affair.

As outlined to the United Press, the administration hopes the committee will select a hard-hitting counsel from the staff of the department of justice and then compose itself as a jury than as an inquisitorial body while the counsel goes after the facts.

The senate today was to adopt a resolution authorizing the naval committee to investigate. Before witnesses are called, the committee is expected to provide itself with all information regarding William B. Shearer and the Brown-Boveri Co., the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co., and the Newport News Ship and Drydock company against which President Hoover has complained.

If high officers of the navy are involved in any irregular practices they will be sacrificed without hesitation, the United Press understands.

CONVINCED OF SHEARER INFLUENCE

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Daily Mail printed a dispatch from its Geneva correspondent today stating that league officials were convinced that William Shearer had much to do with the failure of the three power naval conference in 1927, the correspondent said.

Shearer, it was stated, never concealed the fact that his mission was to prevent the United States reaching an agreement with Britain.

PLANES SEEK SHIP.

TOKIO, Sept. 11.—Naval airplanes from Yokosuka made a fruitless search of the sea off Choshi today for traces of the Taiho Maru, a coastal ship of 2,600 tons which sent out a radio S O S late last night. Great fear was felt today that the vessel had sunk. The number of the crew was unknown.

Just Commencing to Feel His Oats!

WE'VE ONLY JUST STARTED!

THE THINGS THAT MEAN PROSPERITY TO A CITY.

That it means that all the people must enthusiastically get behind every enterprise.

That they must put forth successful efforts to get everything required.

That they must take a personal interest, sometimes a financial interest, and always an unquenchable boosting interest.

That no one is foolish enough to contend that new industries do not make a city more prosperous.

That wishing, hoping, praying and dreaming do not bring better business to a city, nor do they bring new industries; it is the doing of things that counts.

If a city wants increased population, if they want more industrial institutions, if they want the business increase and activity that go with a larger city, if they want the natural rise in real estate growth that attends the growth of a city, it is square up to all the people to get busy and stay busy until they get them—then go after more of them.

THE BOYS WALK HOME. $2400 For Nursing. Pages of the Past. Oldest Runaway.

The 15-month-old baby at Waco who was declared an incurable drug addict, is slowly winning its fight for life, as it is being cared for in a hospital.

Tom Harris met an unusual death at Alice, Tex., when the jack slipped from a car he was repairing.

STANDARD SEES LIGHT In deference to public sentiment the Standard Oil company of California has caused 1,200 of its billboards to be torn down, according to an official announcement, which says in part:

"To permit the defacement and uglification of these highways is to disgust visitors and drive them away, which most certainly is 'bad business.' Any practice which arouses the contempt, anger or resentment of motorists on the great annual pilgrimage from all parts of the state at large, highway advertising as now practiced in many places has this effect."

It is beginning to dawn upon many billboard advertisers that their highway signs which mar the natural beauty of the countryside are an eyesore and an irritation to the great army of motorists who hold the chief buying power of the nation. Instead of making good will for the advertisers, these signs make bad will, and therefore represent good money worse than wasted from an advertising standpoint.

Executives of the Standard have seen the light, and their example might be followed with profit by others who defile the landscape with offensive billboards.

Did You Ever Stop to Think? BY KESON R. WAITE, Okmulgee, Oklahoma.

Complaint that the elevator was not running was the only inconvenience felt by the occupants of a five-story brick building in Dallas when the building was put on wheels and moved 18 feet.

A couple of 14-year old runaway girls at Dallas were taken by probation officers to be returned to their homes. "What have you been doing?" the officers asked.

"Sorry, but you are too young to hear the details," one of the girls retorted.

This might be a page out of the news of 1900, but it is taken from this week's Texarkana Gazette: "Jefferson City—The express company has just replaced old dohban and the big horse-drawn drays by motor trucks."

LAYOUT FOR MODEL PRISON FOR TEXAS SHOWN HERE

This sketch is the first tentative outline of the new prison plant which the joint prison locating committee voted Friday to recommend to the legislature and Gov. Dan Moody.

This plan was drawn by Dr. F. E. Giesecke, architect for the joint prison committee, as the working basis for shaping the building plan.

The prison plant, as outlined in this sketch, is estimated to cost $4,563,000. The walls, to be 32 feet high, will enclose 32 acres of land. Buildings are provided to house 3,000 convicts, 1,500 negroes and 1,500 whites. Ten cell blocks are included, and eight industrial buildings. The plant is capable, as sketched, of indefinite expansion, by the addition of more cell blocks and other occupational buildings.

CASINO CENTER OF DEAUVILLE'S MAD PLEASURE

By PRINCESS ALI FAZIL
United Press Staff Correspondent
DEAUVILLE, Sept. 10.—The pleasure loving races of antiquity left the ruins of gorgeous baths as monuments of their greatness; the pleasure loving races that roam Europe will probably leave the traces of their wealth and leisure.

A few days at Deauville, during the grande semaine, convinces one that where reverses risk a thousand dollars or so on one little chip, where as much as eight million francs have been lost in a single night's play, there is sure to be some kind of ruin at the end—human or architectural.

During the big season, the casino is the focal point at Deauville. The casino is the great flame that attracts the motes, moths from every clime, motes draped with pearls glistening with emeralds and dancing and dining and flirting and spending thousands of dollars, pounds, pesetas, francs, marks, their money as some birds' else, hoping eternally to break the bank.

Here the game is roulette, for roulette is forbidden. But baccarat lures them on. All day long the women at Deauville play, some away from their husbands, some still on the husband chase, others free and secure in the regular remittances of alimony checks.

A "Money Factory"
The Deauville casino is one of the most formidable in Europe. It is a factory, a well organized money factory. It is a kind of mint where money is taken from circulation and stacked up in piles. The seriousness of gambling is hidden by the white lights, by jazz music, by seductive turns from the restaurant orchestras. There is a famous bar inside the casino, where whiskies and soda make a constant traffic, where men tired of gambling, and women tired of dancing, idle about and drink until they are tired of drinking.

The casino is attached to the restaurant of the Ambassadeurs. There life begins languidly at 10 o'clock in the evening. That is the dinner hour. Inasmuch as watches, pearl studded and diamond encrusted, are carried at Deauville for ornaments an not timepieces, no one cares about time. Something moves this gaudy throng along about nine or ten o'clock. They get dressed and go to the Ambassadeurs for dinner.

Billy Arnold's orchestra is already playing, perhaps something semi-classical, if there is such music, and the ladies and gentlemen are sweeping in. The casino is almost dead, except for a few inveterate gamblers. After the Ambassadeurs, the crowds gradually move into the casino. Women and men going into the middle salons where the bulk of the gambling is done. Beyond that is the private salon, where one has to be introduced to get in. There the play is 20,000 francs a point. A Greek syndicate presided over by Monsieur Zografos is there. Perhaps Monsieur Andre Citroen, the French automobile

MEXICAN TRAIN FIRED UPON BY BANDIT GANG

LAREDO, Sept. 11.—Passengers aboard a train bound from the border of Mexico to the United States today told how they had been fired on by a bandit gang five miles south of Salinas, Mexico.

Aboard the train at the time were 47 Mexican school children en route to various places in the United States to attend school. The attack took place Monday evening as the train moved through the barren section south of Salinas. Shouting and cursing, the bandits, some of them on horseback, fired several hundred shots into the train.

Some of the bullets entered the coaches and created a panic among the school children but no one was hit. To escape the fire the children threw themselves on the floor of the coaches until the train had left the bandits far behind.

Officials of the railroad line attributed no significance to the fact that the attack took place while the children were on the train. They believe the robbers sought to stop the train for what they might find.

Upon their arrival here the children were questioned to make certain none had been hit by bullets, but all reported they were none the worse for their exciting experience in running the gauntlet of a bandit raid.

AUSTIN — Underground water survey soon to begin.

"That isn't the story at all. She never came home. You just listen to me if you think Evangeline Cunningham would come crawling back!"

...in his small, steamy eating place. Brent said he represented a newspaper syndicate in New York. Out on a story about the old families of the east, Doing New York and vicinity at present. "Some day you picked," the other commented. "Best kind of weather," Brent explained. "Find people where you expect them. Ready to talk, too." "Well, if you're looking for somebody to talk you go see old man Bruite at the Three Corners Drug Store. He'll tell you plenty. That old fellow's been here all his life. Worked in that same store since he was a kid. It's his boast that he knows everything of importance that's happened around here in the last 50 years. He'll give you the lowdown on the old families, all right."

"Thanks," Brent said gratefully. "That's a fine lead. Well, how much do I owe you? I'd better catch Bruite when he isn't likely to be busy." He paid for his coffee with a dollar bill, and when the change was handed him he also received directions for finding the Three Corners Drug Store. As he expected, the place was all but deserted. Brent asked at once for Mr. Bruite and introduced himself, with a flattering pling to the man's vanity. "I was sent to you, Mr. Bruite," he said, "because my people were told that your long association with the prominent families of this community has put you in a position to afford us information that we can get from no other source." Mr. Bruite beamed a trifle. "Yes," he said, "I am an old resident here. I've seen families come and go. I guess I could tell you some things. Newspaper story, you say?"

pencil. Fifteen minutes later he had a formidable list of names and jotted facts. But Bruite had not yet come to the name Cunningham and Brent did not wish to press him. So he went on taking down the man's broadly encompassing idea of human interest, beginning to wonder if he was wasting his time. Then, and somewhat reluctantly, but drawn to it by his own growing interest in his recital, Bruite mentioned Cyril Cunningham. "Maybe you've heard of old Cunningham who lives out at Bramblewood," he said cautiously. Brent nodded. "Oh yes," he said. "We've already an article on him. But it's sketchy. If you can help us fill it out... but I understand that there's a story there we can't get... no one knows about it."

ARAB SWO... "Well, Bruite cleared his throat for his important announcement. "Well, I know that story, and I guess I'm one of the few that does. I think our version has it that she came back a few years later and begged the old man to forgive her. I don't suppose you know anything about that?" he added cunningly. "Don't!" Bruite bristled. "I know that isn't the story at all! She never came home. Don't you go printing anything like that about her. You just listen to me if you think Evangeline Cunningham would come crawling back!"
