MOVE TO SEND BAND TO EL PASO

DESCRIPTION ST HEADED DAILY NEWS

0 Necessary to transport Twenty- five Players

Cisco high school band to El Paso! It is up to us to raise the $300 necessary to transport the players along with the team so that they may go to a victory over El Paso eleven a week from today. This was the sentiment of the chamber of commerce last night and it is the sentiment of the people of Cisco. The success of the Lobo athletic teams in the past has been a source of pride to the spirit, the enthusiasm of the 25 or 30 young men of the team the Lobo band. Unless the band is sent to El Paso the disadvantage of the Lobo band help the team to make the trip. The Daily News is going to head a subscription with a donation of $75. It is doing this because it is the sentiment of the people of Cisco, men and individuals, feel the same way and are ready to contribute liberally. The Daily News is a newspaper that is a success and who wants to see it succeed. The Daily News is a newspaper that is a success and who wants to see it succeed. Board of Directors of Chamber of Commerce Undertakes Plans to Send Band to El Paso Game

At the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce last night plans were set on foot by which it is hoped to send about 25 members of the Lobo band to El Paso for the annual inter-sectional tilt between the El Paso high school football team and the Cisco Lobos. The scarcity of funds at the command of the chamber at this time precludes its sending the band at its own expense but the plan which was adopted at the meeting last night is expected to solve the problem without difficulty. Cost of sending the band was placed at $300.

7 CLUBS PLAN EXHIBITS FOR COUNTY FAIR

Seven clubs in Eastland county will enter exhibits tomorrow in the women's department of the Eastland county fair at Eastland, Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent stated this morning. The clubs to be represented are of Scranton, Elm, Okra, Nimrod, Grapevine, Flatwood and the North Star club of Rising Star. All exhibit entries are to be entered at the exhibit headquarters, Hall Battery building, 209 South Lamar street, and no exhibits will be accepted after 12 o'clock noon tomorrow, Miss Ramey states. Some of the exhibits have been entered and the others are expected early tomorrow morning. In the women's department the judges selected are Miss Helen Swift of College station, district home demonstration agent, and Miss Viola McKenzie, of Breckenridge, county home demonstration agent of Stephens county. In the agricultural department the judges are A. C. McGee, county agent from Albany; A. M. Cooper, Callahan county agent, and Frank Lochridge, Stephens county agent. Judging will begin in all departments at one p. m., the judging to take place at the various exhibit windows in the business district. Anyone desiring to buy products exhibited in the women's department are asked to communicate with Miss Ramey.

FOREST FIRE IS BELIEVED TO BE HALTED

SANTA PAULA, Cal., Sept. 18.—Aided by heavy rains which fell in Southern California last night and early today the forest fire which swept more than 15,000 acres in Ventura county was thought to be under control today. Although the blaze did damage estimated at $3,000,000, burned down almost 100 oil derricks and scores of homes and indirectly caused the death of one person, it stopped short of the rich Ventura avenue oil fields and Ventura itself. The fire was giving most trouble today in the Santa Paula district but it was expected that the entire situation would be in hand by noon. Firefighters said the weather conditions were favorable for halting the flames. The rain, an off-ocean wind and back firing ended the advance of the flames toward the Ventura avenue oil fields. However, the route over which the flames roared presented a spectacle of devastation. STORMS SWEEP FRANCE. PARIS, Sept. 18.—Emergency relief corps were being hastily organized today to aid the victims of violent storms which swept all France during the last 24 hours and killed at least seven persons.

CISCO WILL SEND FLOATS AND EXHIBITS

Exposition Will Occur Three Days Beginning Tomorrow

The chamber of commerce, the vocational department of the Cisco high school and other local organizations are preparing today to take part in the Eastland county fair opening at Eastland tomorrow. The chamber of commerce is preparing a float to represent this city in the parade while the vocational department of the high school, E. H. Varnell, instructor, will enter a dairy exhibit. Other local institutions, among them women and civic clubs, are also expected to have entrants either in the parade or the exhibits. Eastland is making preparations to entertain the largest and best fair that the county has ever had. The cooperation of all the cities and towns in Eastland county has been secured to this end and with fair weather in prospect the plans appear to be confronted with success. To Run Three Days. The exposition will run for three days beginning tomorrow morning at 10:30 with a mammoth parade. The three days will be taken up by the many agriculture exhibits, athletic events, the community plays, horse races, band concerts and other forms of amusement and competition. The many outlying towns which have been holding their community fairs the last few weeks will all be well represented and it is expected that several thousand people will visit Eastland during the fair period. The fair is being put over very economically and without any great expense to anyone due to the fact that many of the citizens of Eastland have given so much of their time to its success. The fair will officially begin Thursday morning at 10:30 with the big parade of decorated cars and floats. The prizes for these decorated cars will come under three groups: individual, civic and industrial. In each of these groups two prizes will be offered, first $10, second $5. In the first class any individual may enter a decorated car and have a chance at the prize. In the second division any civic organization in the county is allowed to enter a float and any that wish to do so are welcome. In the last group many firms and industrial concerns in the city and throughout the county have promised to enter cars and many of these are working hard towards the prize. The automobile dealers of the county are included in this last group and besides the decorated car that each of them will enter, they will have running in the parade all of their new models for the public to see and examine. Is Chairman. Garrett Bohning is chairman of the parade committee, with Alex Clark vice chairman, and Harry Brelsford the grand marshal. Much interest is being centered in the agricultural exhibits. The long drought during the summer months seems not to have affected the good quality of the products for County Agent J. C. Patterson who has been to all of the community fairs to examine all of these exhibits, declares "Of course the lack of rain this year has cut down on the quantity and amount of the crops, but I am glad to say that I have found that the quality of the products at the various community fairs far exceeds that of any previous year." These agricultural products will be exhibited in the windows of the various merchants around the plaza. Prizes have been offered for the best grade of all the different farming products and much keen competition is expected in this field.

ROOSEVELTS PRESENT RARE PANDA SKIN TO MUSEUM

ARGUMENTS ARE STARTED THIS MORNING

Rogers Confident His Wife Will Be Acquitted

NEW BRAUNFELS, Sept. 18.—The boom of lawyers' voices rose and fell in the little district courtroom here today as attorneys launched their final arguments in the trial of Becky Rogers, the Texas co-ed who is charged with bank robbery. Late this afternoon Becky's fate will rest with the jury of 12 farmers and the three year old fight of Otis Rogers, her husband-at-large, to save his Becky from jail will have ended. If Becky is found guilty the jury may impose a prison sentence or even the death penalty if they so choose. Death in the electric chair is the maximum penalty for robbery with firearms in Texas. The defense admits the robbery but contends that Becky was insane when she poked a pistol into her bag and robbed officers of the Farmers National bank of Buda of $1,600. Otis is confident that the jury will find her not guilty by reason of insanity. "I have put up the best fight I know how and feel sure she will be acquitted," he said. Lee Dittert, assistant district attorney, opened the state's arguments this morning and reviewed the oft-told story of Becky's folly. He said there was nothing unusual about the case except that the defendant is a woman and warned the jury not to let pity for Becky influence its verdict. A letter written by Becky when she was employed in the office of the state historical society was read by Dittert. He said the wording and construction of the letter was proof that Becky was not insane at the time of the robbery three years ago. The rangers, headed by Captain Frank Hamer and Tom Hickman, announced that they had definitely established the motive in their investigations of the shooting down of the prosecutor in the back yard of his home. At the same time announcement was made by the executive committee of the Rotary club, after its Tuesday meeting, that a resolution of confidence in the ranger occupant of Berger has been passed. The ranger investigation of the killing has been going on relentlessly. This has brought about the confidence as expressed by the two organizations. At first there was a hesitation on the part of many persons to talk because of fear of what might happen if it was known they had given information. Rangers declined to go into details of their findings, but indicated they were the same as had been previously suggested, the conspiracy charges which the federal grand jury was to investigate. T. P. MAN VISITOR HERE. L. B. Sangoioski, assistant general passenger agent for the Texas and Pacific lines, was a visitor to Cisco today. Mr. Sangoioski was here in connection with the plan to run a special train from Cisco to the El Paso-Lobo football game next week. SPECIAL TERM WILL PROBE HOLMES DEATH

By L. A. WILKE
United Press Staff Correspondent.
AMARILLO, Sept. 18.—A special term of the present session of the federal grand jury here may be necessary for the investigation of alleged conspiracy charges which may have brought about the death of Johnny Holmes, prosecutor at Berger, last Friday night. This was indicated by U. S. Assistant District Attorney Alex Mood after declaring he had spent two days on routine investigation of narcotic cases without having had time to get into the investigation of the slaying of Holmes. Friends of Holmes and officials believe he was slain because he possessed information which would bring about the wholesale indictment of a group of men in Berger in connection with violations of the liquor laws, Dyer and Mann acts. Holmes was to meet with Mood in Amarillo this week to go over these charges. As a result of his death at the hands of assassins his evidence now is missed and it will be necessary for most of a new set of evidence to be worked up by other investigators. It is expected that some of this will come out with the investigations now being conducted by the Rangers who are investigating the slaying of Holmes.

Once Proud Singer Finds Trail's End in Theft Charge

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—A head that not so many years ago bowed to tribute from audiences in theaters on two continents is bowed and eyes that once flashed the conquest of an internationally known beauty are filled with tears. Trudy Shattuck, she of the golden voice, has come to the end of the trail. Last night she sat at the detective bureau and sobbed over and over, "Why did I do it?" She didn't know exactly why she tried to steal a $16.50 dress in a department store yesterday. "But a woman must dress if she wants work," she went on in a tired voice. "So maybe...but, oh! what a position for one who once snook hands with a king." Truly Shattuck's story has been the heights gained easily and majestically. Some 20 years ago she was at the pinnacle—an actress whose beauty and talent were applauded here and in Europe. Then, as beauty faded, came high class vaudeville; then in 1921, the movies. Then came retirement and a return to the footlights via the rejuvenation method, this time to the Moulin Rouge cabaret here. Then a traveling vaudeville company that went broke here three months ago. Since then—cheap boarding houses, search for work, failure—and the dress.

BORGER GIVES ENDORSEMENT TO RANGERS

BORGER, Sept. 18.—Main street today had endorsed the presence in Berger of state rangers to clear up the details of the killing of District Attorney John R. Holmes here last Friday night by persons believed to be behind a gigantic liquor conspiracy in this boom oil field town. The rangers, headed by Captain Frank Hamer and Tom Hickman, announced that they had definitely established the motive in their investigations of the shooting down of the prosecutor in the back yard of his home. At the same time announcement was made by the executive committee of the Rotary club, after its Tuesday meeting, that a resolution of confidence in the ranger occupant of Berger has been passed. The ranger investigation of the killing has been going on relentlessly. This has brought about the confidence as expressed by the two organizations. At first there was a hesitation on the part of many persons to talk because of fear of what might happen if it was known they had given information. The sales are effective Oct. 1. A consideration of $1,150,000 was paid for the lines purchased. NO CLUE TO SLAYER. LLANO, Sept. 18.—No clue has been found to the slayer of L. C. Calloway, 52, who was shot to death here last night on a downtown street. Six shots were fired by Calloway's assailant, all striking him. Calloway who was a plumber and electrician leaves a widow.

Countrywide Search for Missing Youth

DALLAS, Sept. 18.—A country-wide search for Ashford Hughes, Dallas youth, who disappeared while on his way to the Kemper Military school at Booneville, Mo., centered today in Kansas where the boy is said to have left the train at Parsons. Parents of the youth, Mr. and Mrs. Huey Hughes, learned from the Pullman porter in charge of his car that Ashford made an effort to leave the train at Muskogee, Okla., but was cautioned against doing so by trainmen. AUSTIN, Sept. 18.—Texas will have only a forty per cent pecan crop this year, a condition statement issued here today by federal statistic H. H. Schutz indicates.

Union Organizer Tells of Attack

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 18.—Dragged from his bed early today in his underclothing, Cleo Tessler, 24, a union organizer of Kings Mountain, was forced into an automobile by three men and taken to a lonely spot in South Carolina, severely beaten and warned if he returned within three months he would be killed, he said here today. Tessler came to Charlotte to have his wounds treated. He said three men came to his home about 1 a. m., and asked his wife where he was sleeping. She directed them to his bedroom. "Get up and come with us," one man shouted, Tessler said, after they had approached his bed. When he inquired the nature of the trouble, Tessler said the men informed him they had a warrant for his arrest.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

By United Press
Yesterday's hero: Eddie Moore and Johnny Morrison. Brooklyn players recruited from the minor leagues in mid-season who prevented the Chicago Cubs from clinching the national league pennant. Moore singled in the ninth inning of the first game driving in two runs which enabled the Robins to win, 8 to 7. Morrison relieved Ray Moss with the score tied 5-5 in the second game and held the Cubs safe while the Robins went on to win, 9 to 6.

The Pittsburgh Pirates hammered out an 11 to 7 victory over the Phillies, scoring eight runs in the seventh inning.

Sad Sam Jones held Detroit to one run and Washington beat the Tigers, 4 to 1. Sam West had a perfect day at bat, getting a double and two singles in three trips.

The Boston Red Sox beat the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 4. The Pittsburgh Pirates hammered out an 11 to 7 victory over the Phillies, scoring eight runs in the seventh inning.

DALLAS, Sept. 18.—In preparation for their game Saturday with the Denton Teachers, the S. M. U. Mustangs breezed through a hard scrimmage session under the big arc lights last night.

More than 10,000 free tickets to the S. M. U.-Denton game are being distributed among Dallas ward and high school students.

AUSTIN, Sept. 18.—Waiting to test their strength Saturday in a game with Southwest Teachers' college, the Texas university Longhorns today continued heavy scrimmage sessions. All 45 men are in excellent condition.

Both coaches will be on the field with their charges Saturday and the score will not be counted.

"Flatfeet" Not Applicable Here
HOUSTON, Sept. 18.—The term "flatfeet" by which some individuals designate policemen was proved to be devoid of the truth, at least as far as the Houston cops are concerned, here recently.

The police force proved 90 percent perfect after having "footprints" taken by Dr. Frank A. Silver, and Dr. O. N. Sheely, specialists in foot hygiene. Similar tests are to be conducted by the doctors in other cities.

The Innocent Cheat

By Ruth Dewey Groves
AUTHOR OF "RICH GIRL-POOR GIRL," ETC.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Helen feels unhappy when classmates accuse her of being in love with her handsome fiancé, Leonard Brent. But she knows that she has promised to clear up the mystery of her father's death after she graduates.

However, a chance meeting with a beggar causes Brent to reveal all his plans regarding the future. Before the man tells Brent that his name is Charles Owens Nellin, his wife is dead and that he has a hidden daughter from a young girl named Helen. Possessing newspaper man searching for material, Brent secures evidence which aids his search.

When Helen graduates she reveals her guardian that he has used to tell her about her father and is amazed when she tells her she is the heiress of Cyril Cunningham. He shows her a picture which he had secured from the man who told her the name of her mother, Evangeline Cunningham Nellin. In accordance with a promise made to her father, he tells her she must see her grandfather. During an interview with Cunningham, Brent introduces Helen as his granddaughter and tells her the truth.

As Brent had said, there was another locket; it was Evangeline's mother, Mr. Cunningham told them. He was deeply moved, forgetting his suspicions and doubts for the moment.

"There was another locket," he said. "I don't know what became of it; probably Evangeline took it with her. It contained my picture."

"Of course," Helen breathed softly, "she would want it."

Mr. Cunningham smiled faintly. "You think she did not hate me?"

"I'm sure of it," Helen cried. "How could she hate her father?"

"But you hate me," he reminded her. "And I'm your grandfather. That's quite a close relationship."

Inwardly Brent was beaming but Helen had not yet capitulated. "No," she said gently, "I don't hate you, because I am sure you have suffered terribly. I'm sorry for you."

"Hm," Mr. Cunningham said shortly. Helen's straightforwardness was beginning to impress him. "May I keep the locket?" she asked of him, reaching out her hand for it. "I have nothing else that belonged to my mother."

Mr. Cunningham looked at Brent. "Have you no further proof that your story is true?" he questioned.

"None," Brent said. "You can, if you like, verify facts I have given you. Helen has been in a girl's school—Miss Spann's—since I brought her from Mexico. As soon as she was able to understand I told her that I would reveal her parentage when she was grown. It scarcely seems to me that further proof is needed. Had I, on my own behalf or Helen's, been interested in your fortune, sir, I might have come to you years ago. In that case I would not have run the risk of your dying intestate or leaving your money to charity."

"Why do you call her Helen?" Mr. Cunningham fired at him unexpectedly when he finished.

"I have always called her Helen," Brent returned smoothly. "I do not care for the name Evangeline."

"Well," Mr. Cunningham returned, "let me tell you that I think you have a very poor claim, Mr. Brent. You might have come upon this locket and the story by accident."

CHAPTER XII
"I didn't want to come here, Mr. Cunningham. I've grown up under Mr. Brent's care and I want to remain with him."

understand that," he appended, speaking to Brent.

Brent inclined his head. "Certainly," he said. "But we care so little about convincing you, Mr. Cunningham, that we have brought no proof."

"No proof, eh?" Mr. Cunningham repeated, and who shall say that there was not a note of disappointment in his voice?

"Except your daughter's photograph in a locket that Charles Nellin gave me," Brent added easily. "Let me see it!" The scrawny hand extended eagerly, impatiently.

Brent took the locket that he had stolen from Nellin from his pocket and handed it over to Mr. Cunningham.

The latter held it close, examining it with the avidity of a starving man searching for a crumb of food. They heard him mutter something that they could not understand.

Then he opened the locket and a real cry was wrung from his lips.

Long he bent over the pictured face and soon the tears were streaming unchecked down his furrowed cheeks. Brent secretly exulted over the sight but Helen turned her face away.

He lifted his head at last. "It is my daughter," he said chokingly. "It is Evangeline. This is the locket I gave her mother. Her name was Evangeline too."

Brent nodded. "Under your daughter's picture you will find another," he said.

Eagerly the old man sought to remove his daughter Evangeline's the honest truth, before I taken this Orgatone a week feeling so much improved could hardly believe it myself. E. O. Greene of 300 E. St., Beckenridge, Texas, a known retired jewelryman, had a very bad case of stomach trouble that had been with me since I was a small boy," he said. "That about every three weeks knocked me out so I wasn't worth a cent as far as my feelings were concerned. Much was in such an awful state that I would eat everything I would eat with me and made me feel all the time. I would be so sick during these attacks that I would develop a very severe case of constipation. Sometimes I'd get so dizzy I was just like a drunken man and tried to do everything I could without any relief. One of my friends had been Orgatone and told me it was a bottle to try. Well, sir, it surprised me, for I began to feel better right from the very first and before the week was over I was feeling like a different man and have been improving since. I never saw anything like this before to give such relief. This Orgatone and I have had a single symptom of my trouble since I finished my bottle. The Orgatone may be in the Cisco, at the Dean Drug Store. Adv.

hope you would do something for me," she confessed reluctantly, "but I don't need your help now. Leonard has taken very good care of me."

"But your mother undoubtedly wished you to win my fortune for her," Mr. Cunningham tempted. "And I can do a great deal for you—I'm a very rich man, my dear. My money belongs to Evangeline's daughter. You have no right to refuse it. I shall ask you to give me your word to return here at 3 o'clock this afternoon, at which time you will meet my attorney and tell your story to him."

Helen hesitated until Brent spoke for her. "We will do as you ask," he said curtly. "I should dislike very much to leave any doubt in your mind."

"There will be no doubt in my mind," Mr. Cunningham returned shortly. "If I accept this girl as my granddaughter it will be only after a thorough investigation, which, warn you, will make you both criminally liable if you have tried to cheat me."

JOLSON FILM TO BE SHOWN ON TOMORROW

K. N. Greer, manager of the R. and R. theaters here, announced today that the picture, Al Jolson in "Say It With Songs" will positively be here for showing beginning Thursday. The film will be run for five consecutive days.

This feature was booked for showing beginning last Sunday but due to the fact that one reel of it was lost from a bus during transportation from Dallas and never recovered, the plans of the theater, like those of mice and men, went awry. Since then Mr. Greer has been exerting himself desperately to remedy the situation but relief to be had was at New York. He consequently sent a rush order to the film exchange there and the print is coming by the fastest possible way and will be here Thursday morning.
