FAIR WEEK

BAILEY CO. FAIR IS AT MULESHOE, SEPT. 30 TO OCT. 2

MODERN FAIRS ARE HISTORY ANCIENT

The Fair is by no means a modern institution. It dates back thousands of years ago. Hieroglyphics of the brick books of Babylon revealing the fact that as early as 3800 years B. C., during the reign of Sargon in Sumeria, fairs and bazaars were held to encourage trade among the people. A thousand years later, laws for the proper conduct of such fairs, known as the Code of Hammurabi, were announced by the Babylonian emperor of that name.

FAIRS IN BIBLE TIMES

While it may be generally thought the Fair is a comparatively modern institution, yet the fact of the matter is it is one of the most ancient ideas and organizations of history. The Bible tells of a fair which was held about 600 B. C., at Shushan, in the palace of the Persian King, Ahasuerus. According to the Book of Esther, Ahasuerus in the third year of his reign, showed "the richest of his glorious kingdom, and the honour of his excellent majesty many days, even a hundred and four score days." The exhibits consisted of white, green and blue hangings, "fastened with cords of fine linen and purple to silver rings and pillars of marble; the beds were of gold and silver. And they gave them drinks in vessels of gold, the vessels being diverse one from another. From that time on down to the present day, fairs have each year been one of the interesting events of civilized man.

In China, the Emperor Fu-Hi issued orders regarding the conduct of fairs as early as 2532 B. C. Later came the Greek festival fair at Delos with its familiar Olympic games. Fairs were common occurrences in the days of Abraham, of Bible times—many of those days being held under religious authority. Orientals annually held fairs where they exhibited their blooded horses and showed their camels and other animals, while the women of various nations exhibited choice needlework.

The famous fair of Leipzig, Germany has been held regularly for the past 675 years, and many others have a long history behind them. As an educational institution, the modern fair is distinctly American. One of the first held in this country was at Reading, Pa., organized in 1752, another being at Cambridge, Mass., beginning in 1804. August 1852 the North Carolina Agricultural Society came into existence holding fairs annually, and today still sponsors the State Fair of North Carolina.

In 1815 Ekanah Watson, of New York, organized a society for promoting fairs and cattle shows in many counties of that state, and so successful did they prove, that four years later the New York legislature made an appropriation of $10,000 for six successive years to be paid as premiums on agricultural and manufactured products. The Columbia Agricultural Society city held the first exhibit of this kind in Washington, D. C., in 1810. Since those days fairs, larger and more important exhibits of show and competition have become common, until today there are approximately 4,500 fairs of different kinds and magnitude held each year and attended by 30,000,000 people.

DUDLEY'S SHOWS, RIDES AND MANY CONCESSIONS TO FEATURE THE FAIR

An interesting feature of the Bailey County fair next week will be the D. S. Dudley shows which will move onto their show grounds next Monday, spending the entire week here furnishing exhilarating fun and amusement of various kinds. This carnival organization has been showing in several nearby towns of the South Plains this year, giving general satisfaction. The organization consists of six different kinds of shows and rides, and there will be 20 concessions of various kinds—a wide variety of program appealing to everyone. A feature of the shows will be Tex Crawford and his trick roping, Australian whip cracking, magic feats, trained dogs and monkeys and numerous other delightful features. Everyone attending the fair here next week will want to enjoy the shows and carnival features brought here by Dudley and his skilled assistants.

FAIR TIME IN U. S. IS A CHRISTMAS RIVAL

Next to Christmas time, fair time is getting to be the big day on the modern calendar, people gladly laying aside every care and duty, no matter how pressing or important, to enjoy a few days at the community, county, state or regional fair, some frequently attending a half-dozen such shows each year. The American fair has become a great institution, folks frequently driving many miles to attend them, drink red lemonade, eat striped candy, wear balloons, inflate squawking McGinty babies, ride on the carnival swings, throw rings at walking sticks, see the menageries and feed elephants peanuts. Rodeos frequently are modern adjuncts to county fairs, and the carnival has become a necessary and pleasurable attraction. Folks wander about in the aroused dust, greeting old friends, finding new acquaintances.

Fit For The Fair

Litter of 23 Pigs
W. A. Harris, an Ebert county Georgia farmer owns a sow, which last week brought him a litter of 20 pigs. Feeding has been arranged in relay, since mama pig has accommodations for only 12 at a time.
Six Calves Are Born
A Holstein cow belonging to Peter Roth, dairyman at Clarkburg, W. V., last week gave birth to an entire herd of calves, there being six in the litter.
Another Holstein and a Guernsey cow are assisting in the nursing problem.
Dr. H. O. Henderson, husbandryman specialist at West Virginia University, believes this multiple birth is a record for bovines in the nation.
setting their noses sunburned, and when night comes they have the backache from the crown of their heads to the soles of their feet, the pocket-book is so empty a lone penny replenishing therein turns green with envy because it couldn't be spent—resolutions are made to "never again so indulge" but next morning finds them once more right in the middle of the big crowd.
Nearly everybody has stood about the farm and livestock exhibits and heard exhibitors tell how "the biggest fish got away." In other words, these exhibitors had had something better than the specimens exhibited,—but something happened to it, or it got away, or there was some other reason they couldn't bring it to the fair. Every woman glazes over her accomplishments of the year, looks with more or less jealousy upon what some other woman has done, which may be a mile better than her good works, and secretly avows she'll "beat her" next year.
Cows in exhibit stalls get nicely rubbed down and have their hair carded. Stegs are not common grunting quadrupeds on this occasion. They receive numerous hand-pats and a brand of treatment commonly accorded two-legged aristocrats. Horses get their manes and tails plaited with variegated colored ribbons and their sleek coats shined like milady's mirror. Chickens strut about their coops with ladylike airs, while exhibitors, in anticipation of winning blue ribbons, have the air of multi-millionaire captains of industry with millions of dollars in their bank accounts and the importance of Old Gabriel just before he blows the last trumpet.
Taken altogether the County or Regional fair has become one of American (Turn to last page, please)

Attend The Fair

THE BAILEY COUNTY FAIR to be held in Muleshoe, September 30 to October 2, inclusive, gives promise of being one of the most impressive Fall Festivals ever held in this county for many years past.

Fair officials report a large list of exhibitors making reservations for space, thus showing the general interest throughout the entire county in the beautiful crops and livestock produced and sure to result in keen competition for the coveted blue ribbons and other prizes offered.

Home demonstration club women and members of the Boys and Girls 4-H clubs are going to be well represented, and the exhibits they will show will be both interesting and educational.

Carnival shows and other fun festival features will be on the program—and everyone attending is assured a delightful period during the County Show next week. There are no admittance charges at the gate, and everybody is greatly welcomed.

Saturday will be special school day, when all schools of the county are urged to attend, teachers and pupils taking part in the big parade to be held, bringing with them floats appropriately decorated.

Plans are also being made for a football game to be played at Warren park during the fair.

Musie will be furnished by a local drug store during the entire fair, using a Zenith radio and loud speaker public address system.

Fire-Prevention Is Urged By The Mayor In Property Cleanup

Urging state-wide observance of the annual Fire Prevention week, Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, Austin, has written mayors of Texas towns and cities, Muleshoe included, requesting their support of this protective civic project during the week of October 3 to 9, and appropriately calling "Fire Prevention Week." Adlai Stevenson has affirmed his interest by issuing an appropriate proclamation to that effect.

"Fire, uncontrolled, is one of the most serious problems that confront us today," said Commissioner Hall. "For years it has taken far too heavy a toll in life and property. The fire that never starts, never gets out of control," he said, "and keeping them from starting is all-important. Property is thus saved, lives are protected and sometimes wide spread holocausts are prevented."

In keeping with this important movement, Dr. A. E. Lewis, Muleshoe mayor, has manifested his spirit of co-operation and genuine interest in the welfare of this city and its people in a proclamation calling upon all people, during this announced week, to exercise due diligence in cleaning their various premises, removing all trash, debris of any kind, make due inspection of flues, gas pipes, or any other like hazard, and giving attention to any other delinquencies of a nature to produce loss of life or property.

Trucks will be furnished by the City to gather up and haul away all trash from property, if piled in accessible places, without cost to householders, Lewis said.

Fifty thousand bass were put into the Abilene, N. M., lake back of the dam this week.

FIRE PREVENTION PROCLAMATION

KNOW ALL MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN BY THESE PRESENTS:

WHEREAS the life, health, happiness and general welfare of each citizen is dependent upon existing living conditions in our municipality, and WHEREAS, the life and property of our several people is endangered by fire caused from rubbish accumulation in and about homes, offices, store buildings and other structures, and

WHEREAS a city is largely judged by its general appearance, its cleanliness and beauty, and the low key rate of insurance paid is, in turn, largely granted from lack of fires generally caused by hazards of various kinds, and

WHEREAS fire to a large extent is prevented through cleanliness and a more intimate knowledge of the means of prevention and protection, now THEREFORE, I, A. E. Lewis, Mayor of the City of Muleshoe, do hereby proclaim the week of October 3 to 9 as Fire Prevention Week, and during which time I respectfully urge members of our various local organizations of our schools and citizens generally to cooperate with city officials toward removing and eradicating any undue fire hazards of any kind from within our corporate limits, that due inspections of flues, gas pipes and any other fire liability may be thoroughly inspected for imperfections, weeds be removed from about premises and debris of any kind and all kinds be hauled away, so that upon inspection of officials this little city may have adequate protection from fires.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto signed my name and affixed my seal of office on this the 26th day of September, A. D. 1937.

A. E. LEWIS, Mayor City of Muleshoe.

H. D. CLUBS PLAN FOR FAIR EXHIBITS

Ten Home Demonstration clubs of Bailey county sent delegates to the County Council meeting held in Muleshoe, Saturday, Sept. 18.

Plans were made for the council to put up an educational exhibit at Bull school fair; South Plains fair and Bailey county fair at Muleshoe.

Mrs. D. O. Chester reported that kitchen improvement and food preparation would be done in 1938. She said much time would be spent on getting water in and out of the kitchen.

Five of the clubs reported 196 people attended suppers given for the husbands or families. The clubs having had entertainments are: Enochs, West Camp, Halleyboro, Goodland and Fairview.

Plans were made for four women to attend the Texas Home Demonstration association meeting in San Antonio, Sept. 28 to 30. Those planning to go are Mrs. Claude Gage, Joyland; Mrs. Guy Berry, Enoch's; Mrs. Win G. Kennedy, Progress; Mrs. M. A. Snider, West Camp.

Plans were made for the Home Demonstration clubs to have educational exhibits at the Bailey county fair. The exhibits selected Saturday are as follows:

Goodland's Production of Clean Milk; Joyland's Help Your Child to Help Himself; Progress, Balanced Diet; West Camp, Buffet Suppers; Halleyboro, An "A" Lunch.

Cotton Adjustment Details Given By Co. Agent Taylor

Following numerous requests from cotton growers for further information regarding the Federal government guarantee for price on staple, the following information is given by W. C. Taylor, county agent:

Anyone may borrow who will obligate himself to comply with the adjustment program for 1938 as may later be formulated.

All cotton grown is eligible to loan, according to grade: 7-8 inch or better drawing 9c; 13-16 staple, 8c; under middling, not below low middling, 7-8 inch or better staple, 7 1/2c.

Four per cent interest per annum will be charged on notes which mature July 31, 1938.

Cotton may be placed in the loan plan and withdrawn later, if desired.

The rate of adjustment payments will be the difference between the average of the ten spot markets on the date the producer makes a bona fide sale of his cotton and 12 cents; but not to exceed three cents per pound. Adjustments will be made on not less than 65 per cent of producer's crop as calculated on the 1937 basis. Growers who did not co-operate under the 1937 plan may obtain an adjustment basis from the County committee.

Cotton must be sold on or before July 30, 1938 for producer; to become eligible to participation in adjustment payment. Cotton sold before this formulation is eligible to adjustment payments the same as sold afterward.

No date has yet been set for payments. In any event proof of compliance must be given before payment is made.

The highest price paid for cattle in 17 years—$19.10 per cwt, was established at Chicago Thursday of last week.

BULA COMM'TY TO HAVE FAIR

FRI. SEPT. 24

Sponsored by Aggi and Home Economics Departments.

The Bula community, in east Bailey county will hold its second annual county fair in the Bula High school gymnasium, beginning Friday noon, Sept. 24. Everyone is urged to bring exhibits of any farm products, canned foods and vegetables. Ribbons will be awarded for first, second and third places. Anyone may enter exhibits, according to Prof. G. M. Daugherty, superintendent of the Bula schools.
 Daugherty said that outstanding products in all divisions of the community fair will be exhibited at the county fair to be held at Muleshoe the following week. He asks that entrants turn their exhibits over to members of the Agricultural and Home Economics departments not later than ten o'clock Friday morning.

Judges for the occasion will be W. C. Taylor, county agent; Miss Alma Stewart, home demonstration agent; and Mrs. Robert Thomas.
 Some of the crops are a little late, said Daugherty, but Bula will have the best crop of grain sorghums in the history of the community. A free watermelon feed will be the closing number of the fair program, and everybody is cordially invited to come and bring their friends.

A feature of the watermelon eating event will be a contest between C. L. Pruitt and J. A. Johnson, two local gluttons for the "nigger fruit," to see which can hold the most. Each man claims to have a very expensive equator, made principally of rubber, guaranteed to stretch to utmost capacity when filled with the luscious, juicy fruit. Wagers on both contestants are already said to be running high.
 The school building will also be open for inspection of all departments from noon until 4:00 p. m. Friday. People from all over this area are invited to attend.

Calling together more than 100 state AAA officials, President Roosevelt is taking his first steps toward national crop control for next year.
 A concerted campaign was begun this week against the "junking" of men over 40 years of age by the American Legion in its annual convention held at New York City.

Growing One Variety Cotton Is Being Urged

By A. & M. Officials

Farmers of several counties are coming to realize the value of growing one variety of cotton, and the necessity of it. If they are to participate in the government guarantee. Short staple cotton, which has been largely grown in the Plains area, is falling into the discard, and a longer variety is being substituted.

A larger percentage of the farmers of Floyd county last year united in growing Pepper cotton, all of them ginning at one place where the seed was secure pure and not mixed with any other. Lamb and Hockley counties are already making arrangements for growing some one particular kind of cotton the coming year.
 It is said where occasionally a grower produces a bale of longer staple cotton than is common to his particular section many spinners, including their owners for cotton are specifying that no cotton from Texas and Oklahoma be included in the sale. Miller also said four exports of cotton are on the down grade, and it is going to be necessary to improve the quality of the staple to meet increased competition of foreign countries.

A concerted effort under direction of the A. & M. Extension department is now being made to get growers to plant longer staple cotton the coming year. Officials have already attended 27 different growers meeting in the state besides contacting numerous farmers and farm leaders with the suggestion of growing longer staple.

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSION

By JIM FERGUSON

(Editor's note: This article is published as a news item and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only.)

While the awful crime wave is sweeping every part of the country; while the war clouds are hanging low in all the foreign nations; while the President is expressing his alarm at the danger of another world war; while labor troubles grow worse day by day and fascism and communism is silently and secretly moving among us, the Texas legislature is to meet in special session at the call of the Governor on September the 27th to consider the levy of more taxes on the people. It is unfortunate, indeed, that this ever-vexing question of tax revenues was not settled at the regular session. It looks like the legislature makes the mistake every time it meets, of considering immaterial and non-important question to the exclusion of the very important issue of taxes.

I sometimes think it would be a wise move to pass a constitutional amendment providing that no legislation except mileage and per diem should be considered until all revenue and taxation legislation is disposed of for the regular term. This would do away with most all special sessions and would force the legislature to consider the most important legislation that affects the welfare of the people.

It certainly would prevent a recurrence of just such a situation as now confronts this special session.

While the discussion of the tax matters are yet respectful, it is quite apparent there is already a lack of good feeling between the Governor and the legislature, and everybody is expecting a cat and parrot scrap before the session hardly gets started. The Governor and the tax leaders in the Senate seem to be set in their ways, and the poor taxpayer is holding his breath and wondering just where the tax operation will begin.

Unfortunately there is not yet developed any leadership for or against the levy of additional revenues. No body is even mentioning the reduction of appropriations or present revenues. Verily, verily, there is no relief in sight for the taxpayers until there is a change in administration and the tax-spender is riding high and the backs of the people are bending low under the load.

With only thirty days for a special session I do not look for the legislature to finish its labors in so short a time. The people need not be surprised if we see a second call session.

We hear much about the collection of delinquent taxes. I think most everybody that is able have paid their taxes and to now, when the depression is still on us, institute arbitrary and oppressive litigation in the courts would do more harm than good, and it ought not to be done. It would not collect very much delinquent taxes, and it would persecute and humiliate many people who will pay as soon as they can.

The legislature passed one good law, but by its terms it expired September 1st. This law provided that delinquent taxes could be paid in equal installments extending over a period of twenty months. Many people would have taken the opportunity had they known such a law was in force. But the advantage of this law ended September first. The legislature should by all means reenact this law and give the people until January first, 1938, to begin making the payments in installments.

But watch the Governor and the Legislature. Maybe an irresistible force will meet an immovable object.

Every Great Attempt is Glorious Even if It Fails

THE BAILEY COUNTY SHOW WINDOW

Everybody, townsman and countryman alike, enjoys now and then looking into the show windows of stores. Frequently real art is displayed in the arrangement of the merchandise contained therein, for the storekeeper is quite likely to put some of his best goods on display. His purpose is, of course, to attract the attention of the public and draw people inside to examine the articles with a view to sale.

In a similar way, a County Fair is the big show window of that particular county—a place where people assemble the products of field and lot and home for public view. Not so much with the idea of selling such for a profit; but rather of letting other folks who look in at that show window know what they have done and get an idea of even greater accomplishments in the future. Putting these fine products in the County Show Window is not even with the fundamental idea of gaining big cash awards. The vying with one another in neighborhood and friendly manner, the spirit of competition, the old idea of the "survival of the fittest" brought down to date, and the supreme job of being able to carry back home with them a little strip of ribbon indicative of the acknowledgement of judges their products were of a superior nature, is worth all the time, labor and thought necessary for such honor and appreciation.

Money isn't all of life by any means. If it were not for kindly encouraging words, the sense of fellow appreciation, the recognition of merit, this would be a pretty dull existence. County fairs have an effect, not only upon individuals, but the entire county as well, that is of a worthwhile encouraging nature, causing each and all to be proud, not only of their own accomplishments; but also of their neighbors' and the folks living in other portions of that particular political subdivision. The county show window develops a sense of friendly rivalry. It is the one time and place where folks may compare their products with those of other folks and become enthused to improve their own during the coming year. Methods of accomplishing, plans of better doing, are discussed with others of kindred thoughts and aspirations, new visions are aroused, higher ideals engendered, and the entire citizenship of a county is inspired thereby.

So the Bailey County Show Window which will be undraped to public view in Muleshoe Thursday morning of next week will be an important event in the history of this county. Bailey County has this year innumerable products of the highest quality. Nature has showered upon its people its most divine blessings, and coupled with its initiative, energy and foresight of its people, there has and is being produced a bountiful harvest. People should be happy of the privilege and proud of the opportunity of displaying to public view their choicest products. Just as the merchant, after decorating his show window, steps back to view it with pride, so citizens all over this and adjoining counties will have the privilege and pleasure of viewing their own County Show Window. Let everyone who has something worth while bring it for exhibit in this show window. If perchance, you live in town and do not have any contribution, attend anyway. Remember, it's OUR fair, so be there!

Jaunty Journalettes

It has been frequently noted that the Muleshoe man who keeps his nose to the grindstone invariably keeps it out of other folks' business.

It may be true no new sin has been discovered for 2,000 years, but some fellows around Muleshoe keep right on trying to find one.

One trouble with so many "distant relatives" of Muleshoe folks is that the distance seems too short.

We've observed that Muleshoe women might be able to understand each other better over the telephone if they'd talk one at a time. Perhaps the same rule would apply to the men.

Some Muleshoe folks knock so loud themselves they never hear the knock of Opportunity. Another reason is that Opportunity is so frequently accompanied by his hard-boiled partner Work.

One of the worst things that can be taught the average Muleshoe youngster is to teach it to say: "Charge it to Dad."

Most Muleshoe folks have already discovered that troubles are often like ugly dogs—they look worse coming than going.

We've often wondered why so many Muleshoe mothers worry so for fear some girl will marry her sons, and for fear some boy won't marry her daughter.

A store-room in the average Muleshoe home is just a place where they put things until it comes time to throw them away.

In the good old days when you said a Muleshoe woman was quite capable, it didn't merely mean she knew where the can-opener is kept.

Tell the average Muleshoe man some thing he already knows and for you are a great man; but try telling him something he doesn't know, and you are a cockeyed liar.

A Muleshoe citizen who bought some "all wool" blankets at a recent sale in Clovis, says he suspects they were so labeled to deceive the moths.

The turning grey of some Muleshoe people's hair serves to remind others that the time is drawing near "when the frost is on the pumpkin."

Some Muleshoe girls whose cheeks are like peaches and cream, just need the sugar added to be delicious to the taste of the boys.

A Muleshoe chump who wears her dress touching the kneecap of her ugly fat legs may think her schoolgirl attire will catch a husband for her; but it mostly excites criticism and disgust that a woman that age has no better sense.

Our idea of a accomplished Muleshoe wife is a woman who knows 10 different ways to use up stale bread.

SNAP SHOTS

The most promising men in the world today seem to be those who make political promises.

Civilized man has now progressed to the point where the only thing he has to fear is civilized man.

Our observation is there seems to be something radically wrong with our radicals.

One of the good things about some popular songs is that they are not popular very long.

Americans nowadays are soaked more for taxes to protect them against foreign foes than the foreign foes would soak them if they captured the country.

It won't be long now until a lot of newspapers can fill up a little space by again painting "When the Frost Is on the Pumpkin."

Pavement Pickups

Rep. Reynolds suggests that perhaps the Tower of Babel was Solomon kept all his wives and lady friends.

Henry Ford sees a long stretch of property ahead; but Neal Rockey suggests that few if any of his dealers have got Henry's start.

Engineer Ogle says that he has always been mysterious to him why so many fellows can feel so smart driving a mortgaged car over a bonded road.

Bob Canfield says a sucker is a fellow who thinks the oil well stock is good because he bought it from a man belonging to the Second Baptist church.

Cecil McLaury, local poetic philosopher, says "passion is the spirit thistle of Love while marriage is the emergency brake."

John Benson, Muleshoe public-health inspector, says the fan dancers at the Fort Worth fiesta were just nudists with personal air cooling systems.

Glen Rockey, he suspects high heels were invented by the girl who was so short of stature her sweetheart had to kiss her on the forehead.

J. E. McDermett says he's not going to worry any how much smaller the government makes a dollar bill, just so that little piece of green paper don't get to "acting smaller."

There are not many fires occurring in Muleshoe; but O'Neil Rockey, local fire chief, suggests it might be a good idea to carry a dog on the fire engine so when they do have one a fire plug could be quickly located.

Beth Harden says when they get to making purchases of cellophane she is going to buy the first one on the market as she is getting tired having to stoop over every night to see if there is a man under the bed.

Reading in the papers that "no woman could be trained to drive an automobile after she is 35 because she is muscle-bound" Clay Beavers remarked he knew women 90 years who could drive a car and use nothing but their tongues.

Connie Gupton, Bailey County fair manager, suggests that now the Fort Worth fiesta has closed, folks who did not get to attend it may come to the Bailey county fair. He promises it will not contain so many naked women as the Fort Worth disgust; but will be more educational along more important lines.

GAS TAX MONEY

Under a new federal law the government is withholding $250,000 in road funds from the state of New Jersey as a penalty for that state's use of gas tax revenues for other than road purposes, and the motorists of the nation will be glad of it. As every motorist around Muleshoe knows, car owners have not been getting a square deal in the past few years so far as their gas tax money is concerned. Legislatures in all states used the diversion as an excuse for diverting gas tax revenue to sources for which it was not legally collected, and as a result the nation's highway system is not going forward as it should.

The owner of an auto pays the same general tax as the man who does not own a car, and on top of this he has to pay through the nose for the privilege of operating his car on the roads. The law specifies that his gas taxes shall be used to maintain those roads. When it is diverted to some other use the motorist is being cheated. Uncle Sam now has in this new law the power to check such cheating, and other states besides New Jersey probably will be long ind out that here, in reality, is one law that has teeth in it.

Farmers Leap Into Distinction With A Special Disease

Farmers may now boast as being very distinctive, as a new disease resembling tuberculosis; but is not, and which attacks only tillers of the soil, has been diagnosed by physicians, according to reports made at a convention of medical men in Chicago last week. It is caused by farmers breathing mold from hay or grain into their lungs, its effect being similar to silicosis in the lungs of miners. Heretofore it has been diagnosed as tuberculosis or asthma; but it is not, being caused by the fungi of mold in grain handled by men of this particular occupation.

Signs of this particular disease is indicated by labored breathing, slow progressive ability to do any work, frequent paroxysms of coughing, sometimes accompanied by light fever, some cases showing practically signs of tuberculosis, though no germs are ever found.

Certain vaccines are prescribed as a treatment, and administration of potassium iodide has been found helpful.

WEEKLY LAY SERMON

BY JESS MITCHELL

A few days ago I read in the newspapers that the Texas-New Mexico Utility Co., was getting ready to install a giant electric generator costing $300,000 in their already immense generating plant at Turo, near Abernathy. In size it is to be 10,000 horsepower, representing in equivalent the ability of the pulling power of 10,000 horses and mules. I thought to myself that is a tremendous power. Then I recalled this one company furnishes electrical power, heat and light to nearly 50 different cities over this western area of Texas. The potential energy being carried over multiplied hundreds of miles of copper wire, where the voltage runs up into the thousands of volts, and I was not surprised that such a giant generator was required.

The thing that puzzled me was the ingenuity back of it, and I realized this wonderful utility service, not primarily demanded by the public at large, but fundamentally offered to it by far-seeing men interested in human advancement and welfare, had been gladly accepted and is now enjoyed by the thousands of business concerns, factories and home-owners of this area in answer to their desires for greater convenience, enjoyment and satisfaction.

I visited this Turo plant some time ago and saw the great generators there that were manufacturing and collecting this wanted power now of such common usage in this twentieth century. I saw a little box beside one of those massive generators. Yankee like, I inquired what it was, and was told it was an "exciter," a little mechanical contrivance which picks up the residue magnetism in the coils and armatures of the generator, using it as a kind of starter or incentive toward inducing the machinery to pick up its full 10,000 horsepower load and force this mysterious power over the wires to the nearby 50 towns and communities where it may perform appropriate services.

Knowing something of human nature, I thought to myself how much machinery is like folks. Our tendency is to take life easy, to sleep or rest too much, or to at least loaf on the job, and "exciters" of some kind are required to make us wake up and get busy if anything is to be accomplished in this world. An ordinary team of horses must occasionally be excited to keep them at a normal pace of duty. The whip must be applied to their flanks, and here was a little whip of a box whose sole duty was to keep this monster generator on the job of supplying "juice" to the thousands of patrons of this utility concern who were depending upon it for their convenience, comfort and efficiency in this particular life.

I long ago came to the conclusion that the various standards of living among various peoples of this world were not essentially God-given, but rather came about as the result of human excitors who, prodding the inherent ambition of folks, provided them with the means for greater enjoyments and accomplishments. The American people today possess innumerable means and mechanisms of admonition toward the acme of perfection for which they daily strive, not because of mass ability; but rather because here and there some "exciter" has furnished the idea, the method or the machine which made such benefits widely possible.

Of times these excitors operate under great handicaps. It took the combined effort of numerous pros and persuaders before the energy of coal oil lamps in more than 25,000,000 American homes was transformed into electric incandescent bulbs, yet no one today would do without them if they could be obtained. Thirty-five years ago the automobile was branded as a "fool contraption," but today it has become one of the leading essentials of greater pleasure, convenience and efficient business conduct. When Joshua Coppersmith, some 50 years ago, proposed to transmit the human voice over a copper wire, the idea was condemned as impracticable and of no great value if at all possible; but Alexander Bell came along and developed the notion, resulting in a telephone being in practically every town and country home of today.

When Stephenson first suggested the railroad, farmers ran his surveyors from their land, Stephenson was branded as crazy and finally put in jail, while the British Parliament voted if the fool idea did come to realization the speed of trains should be limited to not more than nine miles per hour. Ministers of the Gospel looked upon locomotives as an invention of the devil and warned their congregations against riding on trains.

President Roosevelt is today looked upon by a great many citizens of this country as a crack-brained socialist fanatic because of the various methods he employs for economic betterment of the citizenry of this country, yet there are others who consider him one of the world's greatest excitors for better government.

Chambers of commerce in various towns are frequently condemned by the majority of the citizens as being undue agitators, and individual patriotic citizens come in for their personal share of opprobrium, yet invariably they are the excitors which furnish incentive for municipal betterment and advancement. We paid Will Rogers a million dollars a year to enjoy his constructive wit. We pay multiplied thousands of dollars to cartoonists for the privilege of looking at their crazy drawings and reading their silly appellations, yet it furnishes a form of needed recreation—a needed excitement.

Books have been written by authors who were vociferously condemned, and in less than another generation these same men were lauded by the public as being exceptionally great and wise. Prophets of various kinds are frequently derided before they are praised. Too many people are "from Missouri," and plenty of them have to be convinced after new things have been well proven. There seems to be an innate hesitancy and timidity in the race regardless of its natural anticipation and ambition. However, cantankerous opposition does not come entirely from the masses, even some of our more advanced scholars must overcome that tendency.

Numerous scientific theories and adventures have been condemned as useless and foolish by the supposedly wise, and later were praised for their accomplishments. Philosophical hypotheses, hitherto unimpeachable, have been advanced as silly and afterward proven of the highest order of truth. Every pioneer has something to overcome. Everything that is new meets with some opposition, and it is folks with magnificent vision who spur this world on toward the nobler and greater things of life.

Our social and religious ideas are constantly changing and advancing regardless of those of today still living in the "horse and buggy age" who are perpetually "howling" and "cavering" against the efforts of modern excitors for better understandings, greater efficiency and wider application of newer discoveries. That utility company spoken of in the beginning of this thesis would not have installed that monster new generator had there not been a need for it, the government and similar ideas notwithstanding. Had they not, thousands of future homes needing light and hundreds of business concerns and factories needing power, would have been denied aid, and the persistence of evangelists are needed today more than during any age of the past. These excitors have really opened a vision of prophecies and the persistence of evangelists are needed today more than during any age of the past. These excitors have really opened a vision of prophecies and the persistence of evangelists are needed today more than during any age of the past.

Had they not, thousands of future homes needing light and hundreds of business concerns and factories needing power, would have been denied aid, and the persistence of evangelists are needed today more than during any age of the past. These excitors have really opened a vision of prophecies and the persistence of evangelists are needed today more than during any age of the past.

Some two thousand years ago there appeared a humble gentleman in Asia Minor who became the world's greatest "exciter," because he set an example and declared a type of living which, if followed, was for the ultimate betterment of the entire race. He was frequently condemned and still sometimes is in this advanced age; yet the ethics of this teaching, the psychology of his own life have been proven advisable in millions of instances since he was crucified, largely because he was ages ahead of the times in which he lived. He was the world's greatest moral, social and religious exciter. He furnished the basis of thought, the foundation of activity, the fundamental of initiative that has prompted hundreds of other excitors since his day. Just as the lowly Nazarene looked forward into the realms of eternity, so there have been many of the race, catching the theme of his teaching and the spirit of his enterprise, who have looked forward in investigation, discovery and invention toward fitting the race so it might approach somewhat in its status of earthly living and its relation toward one another an attitude better fitting for that future estate emphasized by the Judean Carpenter.

This world is constantly in need of new things, new ideas, higher standards. In its several departments of life and living, every power and light plant needs an "exciter," so does every man and woman. May our highest praise and honor be given the men of wide vision, long-distance eye-sight, incalculable ambition and consuming desire for world betterment. These human excitors become life's greatest benefit and civilization's greatest boon, furnishing the highest possible incentives for a happy future existence when beings have been transformed and transferred to another realm.

COOK THE MODERN ELECTRIC WAY

Better cooking results is one of the most important reasons for buying any range. It is the BIG reason why we recommend a Westinghouse Electric Range. While you are away, it cooks a complete meal to a perfect goodness that the family will rave about. Fat example, shrinkage of meat is practically eliminated as the healthful juices are cooked IN and NOT evaporated. The golden brown cakes, pies, and biscuits are always a treat to the eye and the appetite. So, for goodness sake, cook with a Westinghouse Electric Range.

THIS IS US COMING BACK FROM OUR HONEYMOON

Mr. Frank Phillips, President, Phillips Petroleum Company, Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Dear Sir:

It all started when I got something in my eye while we were riding with the top down.

It hurt and I cried and Harold— that's my husband—flared up and called me a cry-baby.

Oh, he's usually a Dear. But our engine was overheating and puffing steam like a steam train. And such steam like a steam train. And such steam like a steam train.

Well, I was practically frantic with my eyes. I rubbed my good eye. I pulled the lid of my bad eye three times. I really tried everything. But no use.

Suddenly, of all the marvelous things to happen—right there, practically in the middle of Wisconsin, we saw a gas station. Harold drove in, slammed on the brakes, and yelled to the man "What have you got for cars here in the west?"

As polite as could be, the man answered: "There's a big, well-lighted mirror in our rest room. Wash, and water and clean towels. And with that, he started cleaning the fuzzy spectacles off our windshield.

In a jiffy I had the black speck cut, and what a relief! Harold felt so bad about being such to the man that he bought some gasoline. By the way, he bought some gasoline. By the way, he bought some gasoline.

P. S. The snapshot is of our honeymoon.

reason I am writing to you. Well, you never saw such a change in a car. It ran like and cool as an ice-cream and as light as the girl who gives it to you. The motor started and Harold grinned and says, "She sure runs deep-dooey on Phillips 66. Wonder what that Poly gas has been all my life?"

From then on, he was all smiles the whole trip. Every time we needed gas, we'd wait till we saw a 66 shield.

To make a long story short, from the time we started using Phillips 66 gasoline and motor oil, we had a perfectly marvelous trip.

In fact, we had such a swell honeymoon with Phillips 66 that I felt simply had to tell someone—and since you are president of the company I thought I'd write to you and you could thank that polite young man up in Wisconsin for starting us using Phillips 66 and holding also Phillips gas and oil.

I certainly saved us money. And so now, if I may even have saved my husband, we certainly are going to use Phillips 66—and holding also Phillips gas and oil.

Yours very truly,
(Mrs.) June Miller

What's Happening In Washington And Other Cities Of Importance

It is now reported that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, famous aviator who has been in England for the past two years, may renounce his American citizenship and become a British subject.

Beginning with the warships and expected to be greatly increased, the biggest hunt for pirate submarines in history was begun last Thursday by England and France in Mediterranean waters. Several ships have recently been sunk by unknown subs.

Seventy-five million postage stamps of a bright reddish-purple color, have been ordered printed by the Government in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the adoption of the U. S. constitution. They may be purchased at your local post office.

U. S. Government owned ships are forbidden to traffic in war munitions of any kind with combating nations. Private owned ships delivering munitions under the U. S. flag will do so at their own risk. President Roosevelt has ordered.

Nathan Sturdy, mining engineer and member of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington arrived at Tucson, Ariz., to search for the "mine with the Iron Door" which is said to contain 500,000,000 in gold. It is said in the nineteenth century Spanish missionaries accumulated the gold from the Indians; but never shipped it back to Spain because they could find no trustworthy ships. Hundreds of people, during past years, have searched for this mine of fabulous wealth.

New Federal Edict Every 40 Minutes

Washington—The National Archives of the United States, a division of the Federal Register, has figured out that 39 Federal edicts are promulgated during that 16-month period, the magazine "Iron Age" comments editorially. That publication adds:

"If a child who suffers from too much personal management is to be pitied, what about the present-day business man? Think of the bombardment of don'ts and do's that he is undergoing in these days.

"Four thousand eight hundred and two do's and don'ts, each having the force of law, were launched at business in a period of 16 months. On the basis of 26 working days per month, do's or don'ts are coming from Washington at the rate of 132 per 8-hour day, or one every 40 minutes."

Buildings At Lubbock Overflow With Exhibit Many Fun Features

Lubbock, Sept. 22—Final preparations are being made for the Panhandle South Plains fair, and according to schedule, the gates will swing wide Monday morning, September 27, unfolding to the people of this section the accomplishments of over a quarter of a century on the South Plains.

With the additional exhibit space that has already been added to the huge Agriculture building, almost every county on the South Plains will be on parade. The livestock building likewise will offer one of the best exhibitions of its kind ever to be shown in this section. The Industrial building, packed to overflowing with commercial exhibits, the implement and farm machinery exhibits, the Women's building and the large Boy Scout exhibit, all lend toward making the 24th annual exposition the best ever to be presented.

Fair officials announce one of the largest entertainment programs ever to be offered. With the fine time six-day race meet; the Million Dollar Midway featuring the T. J. Tidwell show; the beautiful fireworks displays each night; J. C. Michaels Big City circus, with afternoon and evening performances; band concerts morning, afternoon and evening; and the big top, three-ring circus of Russell Bros., a performance of exceptionally high merit, and recognized as one of the nation's foremost "big top" organizations; and scores of other attractions, fair visitors should plan to spend several days at the exposition this year.

THE INTELLIGENT PUPIL

The teacher put a small worm in a glass of water. The worm swam around and seemed to enjoy it. She took it from the glass of water and put it into a glass of whiskey. The worm wiggled a few times and died.

The teacher asked the pupils what the demonstration proved. Johnnie, who was popping his fingers loudly, was given permission to give his version "If you always drink whiskey you will never have worms."

TAX BILL HIGH

For every dollar that industry spends on payrolls, it must spend another 84¢ in taxes. In one large industry alone the tax bill last year equaled a year's wages for more than 74,000 employees.

ca's greatest institutions, billions of dollars being spent each year in their promotion and multiplied billions of dollars of benefit and enjoyment coming back as returns to the millions of people visiting and taking a part in them. They stimulate improvement in livestock, agriculture and various kinds of domestic development. People have the opportunity of seeing what the other fellow has done and of making resolutions to do a little or a whole lot better themselves during the coming year—and it all makes for better farming, better living and higher thinking. A county fair often literally takes hold of the four corners of that county and lifts it to greater heights of happiness and prosperity. The educational and inspirational feature is always of greatest and most lasting importance.

Whether ribbons or cash premiums are offered does not make so much difference. Of course, folks like a few dollars in awards; but after all, it is not a money grabbing proposition, rather one of competitive honor, and blue and red ribbons can not be spent in the near future. They are more lasting, and in the years to come may be pointed to with pride as having been won on such an occasion as the home county fair.

Citizens who have the foresight, recognize the great value of county fairs are to be congratulated on such ability, while those who have the initiative and local patriotic pride to attend and take part may invariably be counted among the best folks of any given county. It takes time, thought, labor and money to provide such an institution for the glory of any given county and the benefit of its people, and no one ever does not expect to make a single dime from such laudable endeavors. It is purely a labor of love, of community development, of county pride, which prompts folks to put forth their very best endeavors in such directions.

County fairs are wonderful confidence builders. People attending fairs and seeing the accomplishments of other folks of their county, become inspired to greater endeavors themselves, while the hundreds of visitors attending from more or less distances have first hand and positive information as to the fine crops and livestock produced in a given county, many of them becoming so interested that they make investments of a financial nature, some even buying homes in that county and becoming future citizens of much worth to the county.

Taken all in all, there is nothing quite so human, so personal, so interesting and so full of possibilities as a County Fair. The night before it is to open, it may seem as uncertain as an old maid and hard to handle than a twentieth century jelly-ban; but these fairs are as interesting as a modern flapper and as necessary as a mother-in-law. They are the best character index of the folks that can be had in any county, for these folks react to a fair and take part in its activities largely according to their worth to their various communities and value to the county of their residence.

The County Fair, as one of America's greatest institutions for social enjoyment, fraternalism, entertainment and educational benefit, wide publicity to a given area, is here to stay. Its shadow will ever lengthen. Its possibilities will forever increase. Its patronage will grow larger. Its benefits will be constantly magnified. There will always be leaders to continue sponsoring it and there will be other thousands who will regularly attend.

A Soil Conservation Bill Drafted By The St. Representatives

W. G. Kennedy, George Damon and Ves Garner attended a very important meeting of the Texas Soil and Water Conservation association held at Brownwood last week, the principal purpose being to draft a conservation bill for the state which would be acceptable by the Federal government and at the same time meet approval of majority members of this state legislature to become a law.

Commenting upon the deliberation of delegates at this meeting Judge Kennedy stated after several tentative bills had been submitted, the fine points of each were taken out and embodied in one bill which was finally unanimously agreed upon about four o'clock in the morning. This bill, it is said, with the exception of a few minor details, meets approval of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The meeting was largely attended by members of various organizations, publishers of several farm journals and other newspapers, prominent farmers and other interested citizens. It is hoped by delegates attending if the special session of the Texas legislature can quickly clear the docket of tax measures which Governor Alfred D. Smith must be settled, that the proposed soil and water conservation bill may be given favorable consideration before adjournment is taken.

INDIRECT EMPLOYMENT

The indirect employment provided by manufacturing industry is equally as important as direct employment. 50,000 food manufacturing establishments, for example, buy raw materials from some 6,000,000 farmers and 75,000 fishermen provide business for 45,000 wholesale establishments and approximately 500,000 retailers of food products.

NEW JOBS CREATED

Jobs in America have increased faster than a swiftly growing population. Since 1879, eighteen new manufacturing industries alone have created, directly and indirectly, an estimated 10,000,000 new jobs.

In 1880 a 30 car freight train of the Kansas-Pacific Railroad started on a trip and no trace of the train or its crew was ever found. A flood or a landslide were blamed.

WORK WEEK SHORTER

The average work week in manufacturing industry has declined from 60 hours a week in 1890 to slightly more than 40 hours a week today.
