CISCO POULTRY GROWER PROFITS WITH GOOD STOCK

WALTER RAY HAS SUCCESS WITH TURKEYS

Investment in High Class Birds Beats Bad Market.

WALTER RAY, who has made a success with turkeys this season, says that the poor market conditions that have prevailed here this year most of which has been sold at prices that make him a very satisfactory profit.

Ray began turkey raising by raising high class turkeys in the Barton-Laney Turkey Co., Dallas. These three tons have cost him $275 but this investment is a very profitable one.

Large Crop

One of the largest turkey crops ever was raised in this section here, but for the most part the birds are smaller than usual and have a great deal of discoloration in their buying. As a result the returns to the growers are not as satisfactory as last year.

CALIFORNIA WORM FARM LUCRATIVE

ALHAMBRA, Cal., Dec. 5.—California is noted for its queer roadside cafes, its unique cafes and its cafes.

Fire Plugs for Eastland

EASTLAND, Dec. 5.—Four additional fire plugs are being installed in the four city blocks surrounding the square, according to O. Tatum, city manager.

Changes in Auto Registration Provide Plenty of Grief for Clerks

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent. AUSTIN, Dec. 5.—County clerks over Texas can anticipate a lot of grief when the new automobile registration period opens on January 1. Registrations will be on a widely different basis under the new registration law, which was enacted in conjunction with a four cent gasoline tax.

True, the owners of small cars will get about half reduction but the "big car" owners get much less off. As an aid to collectors, the state highway department has completed an official rate book which gives the official registration weight of all makes of cars in general use.

The lowest possible fee is 24 cents; the highest $30. A person registering a car weighing between 900 and 1,000 pounds in December will have to pay only 24 cents; a car weighing 3,500 pounds or over will require a $30 license fee if licensed in January.

PILOT SAVED IN CRASH BY QUICK WITS

LONDON, Dec. 5.—An excellent tip for American air travelers as a possible means of escaping serious consequences from a crash was provided by the action of Lieut. Commander G. C. Glen-Kidston of the Royal Navy who was the only survivor of the ill-fated Junkers' passenger plane which recently crashed and burst into flames near Godstone, England.

Seeing a crash was inevitable, Commander Glen-Kidston hung on the luggage rack overhead and took the shock on his arms in tension. The ground all the other passengers were apparently shot forward from their seats into a huddled group in the front end of the cabin. Commander Glen-Kidston released his hold on the luggage rack and scrambled out the door or a broken window, escaping on a moment too soon for the machine was already being surrounded by burning gasoline.

Fire Plugs for Eastland

EASTLAND, Dec. 5.—Four additional fire plugs are being installed in the four city blocks surrounding the square, according to O. Tatum, city manager.

A $26 registration fee—a $3.95 cut compared with a $7.84 cut given the small car owner.

The 1930 model of cars will have a registration fee from $25.50 up to $28.50, according to the registering weight of different models which vary from 5,100 pounds to 5,700 pounds.

So far, there has been only one case in the city—an unusually low record even for Cisco whose number of diphtheria cases is few in comparison with that of other cities. However, that this record may be retained, preventative measures must be taken.

Jones Is Not the Right Jones

EASTLAND, Dec. 5.—County Attorney Joe Jones received an unusual letter Tuesday.

Maybe it wasn't the letter itself that was so unusual as he receives several daily, but a newspaper clipping within the letter was a little perplexing to the reader when he first glanced at the picture.

Four of Girls Ball Team Hurt

WACO, Dec. 5.—Four girls were injured, one seriously when an automobile in which six members of the Watt school girls basketball team collided with a large oil truck near Prairie Hill late Wednesday.

BRIDGE RECORD CLAIMED

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 5.—What is claimed as a record for points scored in consecutive bridge hands was made here recently when a Phoenix couple made five small slams, two grand slams and two five-bids in 10 consecutive hands.

DIPHTHERIA SEASON IS HERE NOW

Citizens Warned to Take Preventative Measures.

As the season for diphtheria approaches, city health officials are urging that all possible precautions be taken to prevent an epidemic of this disease in Cisco.

So far, there has been only one case in the city—an unusually low record even for Cisco whose number of diphtheria cases is few in comparison with that of other cities.

When there is diphtheria in the family, or when a child has been exposed, the antitoxin is used—resulting in immunity which lasts about 30 days.

Interested in Big Gas Well

EASTLAND, December 5.—Dr. J. H. Caton of Eastland is eagerly watching the developments of a gas well on his lease about five miles north of Breckenridge.

Man Slugged, Dies in Unconsciousness

WELLINGTON, Dec. 5.—More than two weeks ago a man well past middle age was slugged into unconsciousness in what appears to have been a highway robbery near here.

Four of Girls Ball Team Hurt

WACO, Dec. 5.—Four girls were injured, one seriously when an automobile in which six members of the Watt school girls basketball team collided with a large oil truck near Prairie Hill late Wednesday.

BRIDGE RECORD CLAIMED

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 5.—What is claimed as a record for points scored in consecutive bridge hands was made here recently when a Phoenix couple made five small slams, two grand slams and two five-bids in 10 consecutive hands.

Moody Squelches Third Term Talk

United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Dec. 5.—Governor Dan Moody took occasion this week to squelch beyond a doubt the intermittent rumors that he has been in conference with friends, discussing the possibility of announcing himself a candidate for a third term in the executive chair.

Not Up to His Weight Standard

WAXAHACHIE, Dec. 5.—Sheriff Joe Lee, all 230 pounds of him, was the most disappointed man in Waxahachie, when he won the "men's contest."

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Between 11:45 and 12:15 Saturday night, June 29, old Mrs. Emma Hogarth, said to keep a money hoard in her room on the second floor of Mrs. Rhodes' boarding house, is strangled to death. Bonnie Dundee, "cub" detective, assist Lieut. Strawn in the investigation. Police suspect Emil Sevier, former boarder, whom Mrs. Hogarth accused of trying to rob her and who has disappeared.

Cora Barker, boarder and theater pianist, thought to have had an affair with Sevier, is arrested as a material witness against him, but is released on bail. Other boarders under suspicion are: Henry Dowd, Norma Paige, Walter Styles, near bankrupt, who had quarreled with Mrs. Hogarth; Bert Magnus, amateur scenario writer who is heard typing in his room until 12:15; Daisy Shepherd, absent from her room during the murder and whose removal from the Rhodes' house and subsequent return within 30 hours arouses wonder.

But he was not laughing when he returned Daisy Shepherd's unfinished letter to his coat pocket. To whom did that letter, in its final form, go? And what did that person want Daisy Shepherd to do? How easy it would be to leap to conclusions! So easy to connect the board-beating A. B. Wheeler, who had written Daisy from Chicago, with the long distance call which had come on Saturday night at 12 o'clock, and which Daisy could not be found to answer. So easy to put two and two together and make it add up to five! For he had no proof at all that this peculiar message in his pocket had ever been intended for A. B. Wheeler, or that it even remotely concerned Mrs. Emma Hogarth's "hidden hoard."

"Why the devil doesn't Strawn wire that description of Griffin?" he asked himself angrily, and then charged up two flights of stairs to make the same demand, but more tactfully worded, of Sergeant Turner.

"I've been ringing you, but you didn't answer," came the detective's retort. "Just got a wire from Strawn. Says he's leaving Belton tonight, but prefers to wait till he gets here to give you the news. Trip not very successful, he adds."

"What does he mean—not very successful?" Dundee cried. "If Griffin lived and worked in a bank in Belton, I guess he can at least get a description of the bird, can't he?"

"Lieutenant Strawn is my superior—and yours," Sergeant Turner answered brusquely, and hung up the receiver without the formality of good-byes.

"Damn!" Lieutenant Strawn's new subordinate slammed the receiver upon the hook. "Nothing to do but to mark time for another 24 hours—"

Deeply discouraged, he transferred his little collection of "clues" to his suitcase and locked them up contemptuously. "Maybe Mrs. Rhodes is right in her estimate of me—just a kid having a lot of fun at playing story-book detective! Clue! Huh! Bet there's not a real honest-to-God clue in the whole lot!"

But he felt better when he had had a cool shower, washing away all traces of his trash-burrowing, and had arrayed himself handsomely in his best summer suit. Maybe Norma would join him for a stroll about the grounds this afternoon before dinner. . . .

But though he strolled most conspicuously, taking care to keep within sight of her window, he was again doomed to disappointment.

It was nearly 5 o'clock when the sight of Dusty Rhodes shambling toward the abandoned hot-house on the west lawn reminded the young detective that he had neglected to search that particular place.

"She says I gotta mow the lawn for an hour before dinner."

Dusty replied to Dundee's idle question. "Lawn-mower's in the hothouse. Allus got some'n for me to do. If it ain't this it's that; and if it ain't one durn thing it's two."

"Life's like that, Dusty," Bonnie sympathized hypocritically. "Mind if I have a look at this old greenhouse of yours? . . . Hmm! Pretty sad, isn't it?"

"I'm aimin' to get around to settin' out some plants, but she's allus got some'n else for me to do." Dusty sighed, as he trundled the squeaking law-mower out into the sunshine, leaving the young detective to stare about at the desolation within.

At least half of the glass panes which formed the walls and the sharply peaked roof were broken and those that remained were opaque with dust. Scattered about the dirt floor and upon sagging shelves were ancient flower pots, the burying places of long-dead plants. But in one of the pots, half hidden under the sere leaves of a dead geranium, made a faint showing half of the name of a brand which Dundee recognized as a Cuban import—a cheap cigarette but not very popular because of its biting strength. He was about to leave the hothouse when he caught sight of a piece of paper blown against the underside of one of the lower shelves. He retrieved it, and then his heart sank. So Strawn was right after all, and Sevier HAD been on these grounds as late as last Saturday.

For the thing which Dundee held in his hands was a program of the Little Queen Theater, folded in accordance with the program he had found that afternoon in the trash bag. And while this program was not lavishly autographed by Emil Sevier, there could be little doubt that the same nervous hands had folded both.

Twenty minutes later Dundee was making Sergeant Turner, his nominal chief during Lieutenant Strawn's absence, a present of his two finds.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIII
"Hello, folks! How's tricks?" Jewel Briggs demanded gaily, as she took her place at the dinner table that evening. "Everybody happy? I am! Made $12 today! Big beauty-and-leg man from the east. Press agent for a musical show that's going to make us hicks sit up and take notice. You never saw such a flock of letters and wires, and I charged him double the usual rates without batting an eye."

"By winking an eye, you mean, don't you?" Daisy Shepherd chuckled.

"Now, Daisy!" Jewel pretended not to be angry, but just very, very hurt. "At that, he did tell me he could get me a job in the first row of the chorus, but I told him I could make more as a public stenographer, so long as nice old suckers like him stopped at the hotel. . . . Oooh, look! Our Henry is actually smiling! What's happened to YOU, Henry? Land yourself a swell job?"

Henry Dowd cleared his throat and stuck out his chest a bit. "I was fortunate enough to make an advantageous connection—yes," he admitted.

"He means he got a job," Jewel elucidated to Bonnie Dundee, on her right. "And say, what about YOU, boy friend? I warn you I'm an expensive sweetie, so if you want me to be true to you, you'd better make an 'advantageous connection' yourself."

"Don't let Jewel fuss you," Daisy advised comfortably. "If a man walks down the street with her once she makes him stop at the jeweler's to pick out a wedding ring. But if you're really up against it for a job, Mr. Dundee, I can speak a word for you at Marcus-Crane's. There might be an opening for a floor walker."

"Can't you just see him in a morning coat and striped trousers, and a gardenia in his buttonhole?" Jewel cried, clasping her hands ecstatically. "They'd need a traffic cop in his department."

"Thanks, Miss Shepherd," Dundee responded gratefully, ignoring Jewel. "I've been lining up what I thought was going to be a good job, but it doesn't look so good right now."

"That being the case, you need cheering up," Jewel decided. "I can't have my sweetie sad! This is your night off at the theater, isn't it, Cora? What say you play the piano for us so we can dance?"

"That would be rather a bus man's holiday for Miss Barker, wouldn't it?" Dundee suggested, after a keen glance at poor Cora's tired, ravaged face. "I'm sure she would rather rest—"

"No, I'll be glad to play for all of you, I—I don't want to be alone," Cora answered huskily. And across the table her tragic black eyes sought Bert Magnus', with such wistful appeal that Dundee felt his throat constrict painfully. "Don't you worry, Cora!" Jewel sang out brightly. "The worst of this awful business will be over, after the inquest tomorrow. Won't it be thrilling to attend a real inquest? I'm going to be there, too, though I really don't have to be, since I wasn't here Saturday night. But I wouldn't miss it for the world—Why, Norma! What's the matter, honey? We haven't had dessert yet—"

"I—I don't feel very well," Norma Paige gasped, as she rose hurriedly from the table.

"Aren't you and Walter going to dance?" Jewel persisted incredulously.

"Aren't you and Walter going to dance?" Jewel persisted incredulously.

"I hardly think dancing is in very good taste—just yet," Walter Styles said sternly, as he rose to follow his fiancée from the dining room.

"A slap o' the wrist for you,

Jewel!" the little stenographer addressed herself pertly, but her eyes snapped angrily. "This is a boarding house, and none of us is kin to old Mrs. Hogarth, so far as I know!"

And although the others seemed a little self-conscious at first, as they gathered around Cora Barker at the piano, Jewel seemed to have voiced the majority opinion. "Play something snappy, Cora."

Jewel urged, and as the first notes of a new fox trot followed the swift play of Cora's thin fingers, she held out her arms to Bonnie Dundee.

Jewel danced as auagiously as she talked, and there was a faint flush on the young detective's cheek before the fox trot was finished. As they danced past a window he saw Norma and Walter

"The Business of the Apothecary is a Mystery—"

King James I of England was the originator of the modern slogan "Your Druggist is more than a merchant." In the 16th century the apothecaries of England were forced to unite with the grocers in a Guild. King James, however, was influenced to give the apothecaries a separate charter, and in reply to the protest of the Grocers Guild he said: "Grocers are but merchants; the business of the apothecary is a mystery"—which at that period meant art or profession.

And pharmacists as a class have entrenched themselves ever since as professional men. Colleges of Pharmacy have been established. The problems that face the pharmacist in the materials he handles make it necessary for him to have a wide acquaintance with the sciences upon which his art depends. In order to maintain a prescription pharmacy, he must be a merchant, too. De Leon Gets New 30,000-Egg Hatchery

DE LEON, Dec. 5—The Lions Club has been working for some weeks on a deal which was completed last week. An invitation was extended to the firm, Comer & Davidson, who own a $2,900 egg commercial hatchery at Hamilton, to put in a hatchery here. It being known that they contemplated installing other plants, Messrs. Comer and Davidson came to De Leon some three weeks ago and spent a day as guests of the Lions Club, being guests at a dinner at the Travelers Hotel. They visited the Hampton Hatchery, the Central Texas Produce Co. and a number of foremost breeders while in the city, and the result of their investigation is a new 30,000-egg plant for De Leon.

The necessary deal was between C. C. Hampton and Comer & Davidson. Mr. Hampton does not desire to conduct a commercial hatchery. His business primarily will be a breeding plant and egg farm. He will sell high class breeding stock from his fine flock. And in order to make the necessary change, Mr. Hampton sold the largest of his two incubators to the new firm, they in turn trading it on the new and larger 30,000 egg machine which will be brought here.

The new plant will be in operation by January 1st, it is thought. A convenient location in the business district is being sought. Fulton Smith has been employed to operate the plant. The firm will equip the new plant with storage brooders to care for surplus baby chicks for which no immediate market is had. However, this plant will do custom hatching and will offer baby chicks for sale at one day old and over.

Texas center of population moved from Lamar county in 1880 to McLennan county in 1929 and probably will be in Coryell by 1930.

Sydney Has Gang Warfare

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 5.—A marked increase in the number of underworld feuds in this city, is reported by the police who declared the feuds are resulting in many murders and vicious attacks.

Police say that there is nothing chivalrous about the Sydney gangster. With a victim at his mercy will shoot or slash at him, but when the odds are even, the action will be postponed until a more favorable opportunity.

Hitherto the police have found it almost impossible to deal with the situation, but the new Crimes act has strengthened their powers and now enables them to arrest habitual associates of convicted criminals.

The police at present are endeavoring to deal with the difficult problem of tracing the murderer of a man whose dismembered body—the head and legs being missing—was found in a bag in the bed of a creek near Narrabri, New South Wales.

SHOT HIMSELF

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 4.—Miss Faye Hanway, a nurse, scolded her brother-in-law Harry Deakin, 41, for whom she had been keeping house, because he drank too much. Deakin apologized for causing her any trouble, stepped to the other side of the room, and shot himself through the heart.

CAR HITS NEWSBOY

EASTLAND, Dec. 5.—Clyde Johnson crippled newsboy, who sells his wares on the streets of Eastland, was struck and injured Monday when a light car driven by a man unknown to Johnson, struck him as he was crossing the streets. Other than getting a scare and a little bruise or two Johnson was not hurt and continued his work.

NO TRUTH IN REPORTS

Reports current at Eastland this morning that "Cy" Bradford, veteran peace officer of this section, had been shot and killed at Strawn, his home, last night, were without foundation it was revealed later in the day.

EUROPEAN DRYS GAINING IN LIQUOR LAWS

By WALLACE CARROLL

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The American thirst is not the only one restricted by law.

A United Press survey of Europe has revealed numerous regulations and also has shown that methods of evading the liquor laws which Americans consider peculiarly their own are in vogue in half a dozen continental countries.

In Helsinki, the capital of "dry" Finland, the bootlegger still visits the hotel room of the thirsty traveler despite enforcement laws and anti-smuggling treaties with other countries on the Baltic.

In Brussels, where the law frowns on public drinking of spirituous liquors, the right kind of wink will get a cocktail at a bar run by an English Cockney.

And in Riga, the man who is persistent can secure a bottle for a week end party, although liquor theoretically may not be sold in Latvia between Saturday noon and Monday morning. The "Volsteads" of northern Europe have directed most of their attention to spirituous liquors, leaving beer and light wines practically unrestricted.

The Swede with a taste for whiskey, gin or brandy must have a "spirits book." Those who own a book may purchase a limited supply of spirits monthly from the alcohol monopoly.

Anyone whose habits are above suspicion is allowed a book. Nevertheless, evasions are frequent. Rum-running from the Baltic ports is a profitable occupation and holders of the spirits books have been known to sell their surplus.

The Case of Iceland

Iceland made a successful attempt at prohibition—for a time. Isolated from the rest of Europe, the law was easily enforced in the little island.

Diplomatic complications soon arose, however. Spain bought large quantities of Iceland fish and expected Iceland to buy Spanish wine. Iceland still has a dry law, but Spanish wine is the life of an Icelandic party.

Wood alcohol almost became "popular" in Holland for a time. To save the nation, the government cut the excise tax on the Dutch cognac and is proud of the quality of his liquor, while the price fits his purse.

The British Isles have an elaborate system of liquor control. In Glasgow the "pubs" close at nine o'clock, in Edinburgh at ten. All the "pubs" in Scotland and Wales are closed on Sunday.

In London the varying regulations have given rise to the great outdoor sport known as "pub-crawling." In some districts the "pubs" close at 10, in others at 10:30 and in still others at 11. Clubs may sell liquor until midnight, and on special nights until one or two o'clock. Residents at hotels may obtain liquor all through the night.

The expert "pub-crawler" starts the night in a 10 o'clock district, moves on to a 10:30 "pub," then to one in an 11 o'clock district, then to his club and concludes with a sprint to his hotel room.

Less Saloons in Italy Premier Mussolini of Italy is a water-drinker. The number of saloons in Italy has been reduced under his regime. Wild high school parties are unknown in Italy, for no alcoholic beverage may be served in school premises.

Nevertheless, the "two-bottle man" is far from a dodo in several countries. Temperance reformers have made little progress in France since the war. In the cafes of Vienna lager may be quaffed to the tune of a Johann Strauss waltz until dawn.

In Czechoslovakia, barrels of pill-sener await the thirsty tourist. In Hungary, a wine country, drinking is said to be considered a patriotic duty. Besides, the Hungarians say, the water is bad.

Things Are Improving. GENEVA, Dec. 5.—Celebrating his 98th birthday recently, Sheldon H. Slaughter paused momentarily to observe to newspapermen that "the world is getting better, despite boot-leggers, home brew and poor liquor."

ALL THE GOVERNORS LINE UP.
 Many governors of the 48 states have lined up with the appeal from Pres. Hoover for co-operation in the present disturbed financial situation of the country over.

No, not all the governors. Gov. Bulow of South Dakota would only furnish temporary relief, postpone the agony and effect no permanent cure.

Vast sums of money will be expended in many states for highway construction. And Governor Moody of Texas has promised full cooperation in the president's effort to speed up house building in an attempt to offset any economic disturbance caused by losses on the stock market.

This R. is that the taxpayers of the nation all members of the Jones family who till the soil, must do their bit toward making good the economic losses inflicted upon society by the gamblers of Wall street and their patrons without the pale of Wall street.

Credible prosperity linked with Hoover prosperity for less than one short year appears to have gone up in smoke. Now the makers of dollars which are not gambling dollars realize that a get-rich-quick program was not the program of the fathers who made America what it is today.

Regardless of this the American sun is shining, the future is bright, the ship of state will sail proudly through the breakers and the most prosperous and freest of all lands will continue to press forward regardless of the snags in the Wall street channel or the sunken snags in any other channel of national life.

IN OLD MISSOURI.

DEATH IN THE ELECTRIC CHAIR
 Lee Roy Merriman died in the electric chair at Huntsville Thanksgiving night. Ben Aldridge of Dallas is in the death cell at Huntsville awaiting execution. These men were convicted of the crime of ravishing two young girls.

They showed their victims no mercy and the jury showed no mercy to the ravishers. Governor Moody refused to interfere.

Black ravishers are either shot to death, hanged to the nearest tree or cremated in the states of the south and southwest. Why should white ravishers of the innocent expect mercy at the hands of jurors or the intervention of the governor of a commonwealth?

RANGER DESK SERGEANT TESTIFIES

"I Know Now Why So Many Are Praising Orgatone" says Officer

"I don't believe there's a medicine in the world that will make you feel as well and strong all over as Orgatone does. At least, if there is one, I have never found it" said R. B. Patterson, the popular desk sergeant at the police station at Ranger, Texas and residing at 1212 Young street a few days ago.
 "I have been in general bed health for some time" continued Officer Patterson. "I was all run down and didn't have enough energy to walk or take much exercise as I should, and I suffered from constipation. I couldn't digest my food and most everything I tried to eat just made me feel sluggish. Really I had no appetite in fact, it has been many years since I ever felt like I was hungry. I began to go down hill every day, and just had to force myself to go about my work."
 "I had read so much about Orgatone and knew of so many people who had been benefited by it, when nothing else seemed to do them any good, that I decided to try it myself and now, after taking the first bottle, I am well and happy as I ever was in my life and my appetite is so fine that I eat almost anything in sight and nothing hurts me in the slightest. My general health has improved wonderfully and I just feel like a new man all over. I am full of energy all day and get the old time pleasure out of my work and I've found out why it is so many people endorse Orgatone and I am glad to add my name to the list."
 Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Cisco, Texas, at Dean's Drug Store.—Adv.

Confession Solves Series of Murders

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Five murders which wiped out the entire Garcia-Alvarez family—husband, wife and three children were solved today with the confession of Armando Boltaras, a 24-year old San Fernando truck driver.

Deputy sheriff said that Boltaras explained that "I hated them all." He added that he hated Mrs. Garcia most because she had resumed his attentions to Carmelita and had interfered in his love affairs with Dolore Uthappa, who is held as a material witness.

Vernon was in the Pawnee county jail where he is held on a charge of looting a Southern Pacific train near Saugus, Cal., and robbing the passengers. He also was believed to be the man who wrecked and robbed a Union Pacific train near Cheyenne, Wyo.

He is wanted by California and Wyoming, who have speeded their legal machinery to gain custody of the prisoner.

A hearing was called by Baxter Taylor, Attorney for governor Holloway, for the two states to present their claims.

Extradition papers for Vernon's return to Wyoming were filed with Governor Holloway last night by Sheriff G. H. Ronsa.

The California papers were to arrive today by air mail. Requisition of Vernon has elicited greater interest than that of any case that has ever gone across the governor's table, attaches said.
 Vernon, whose life led him into wild west shows and western movies has served five prison terms for various offenses, records showed.

Many Trades at Major Leagues Session Are Forecast

NEWSPAPER CHARTERS PLANE

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
Press Staff Correspondent

ANY DEALS ARE ALREADY UNDER WAY

Session to Be Held Next Week in New York.

Many major league trades are forecast at the meetings of two leagues at New York next week if mood of the ten major league managers at the national association meeting indicates.

The ten managers here indicated they are willing to talk and many of them have deals to spring in the major league clubs, the Indianapolis Cardinals, have purchased high minor league stars here.

Chicago Cubs paid a fancy price for Malcolm Moss, young pitcher. They gave a sum of $35,000 and one player, and won less than he lost.

St. Louis Cardinals to trade with the United States. He could get a big salary in return.

Did the Waco sports writer attend a single Oil Belt game this season? We doubt it. But he can sit down there in his office and, with an X-ray eye, see events that are happening 200 miles away.

Let us consider the pretty little fairy tale that the celebrated Waco author has composed. He says Abilene beat Cisco Friday by a score of 10 to 7. That is correct.

Now anyone who saw the game knows that Dewey Mayhew is not entitled to all the credit for the victory. That is unless Dewey was out there in an Eagle jersey and was the lad who tackled the speedy Whitehead so hard that the speedy Whitehead was injured and had to be taken out of the game.

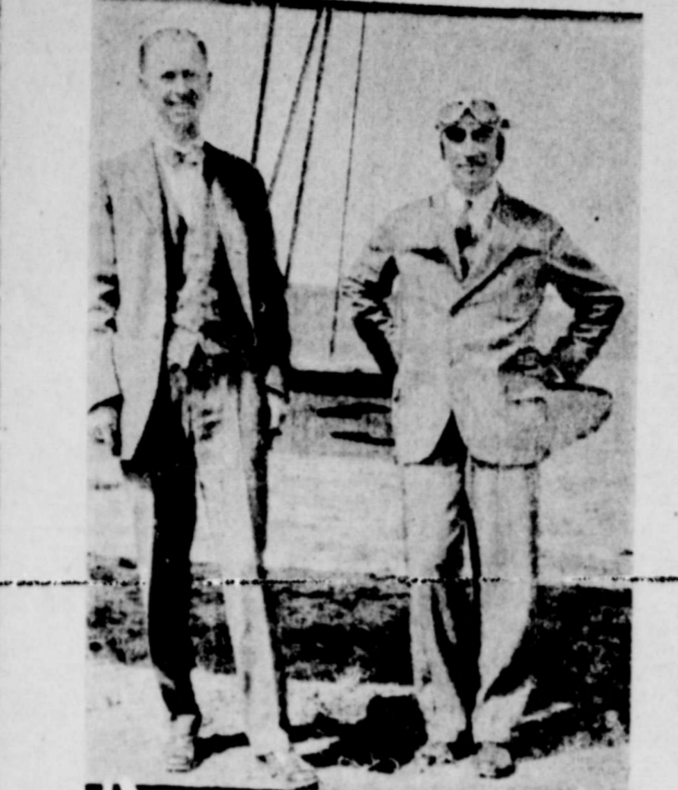

But this is neither there nor here. The statement that we really object to is the slur on the ability of the coaches of this district.

The Waco writer thinks—or perhaps we should be more cautious and merely say that he de-

The above picture is an echo from the late oil belt football season. It appeared recently in a national publication—the Publishers Auxiliary—and records the first time in the history of the United States that a newspaper chartered an airplane to cover a high school football game. At the left is shown Boyce House of The Ranger Times and, right, Wayne C. Hickey also of Ranger, who flew 300 miles to the Big Spring-Ranger game.

Oil Belt Scribe Resents Remark Made by Waco Writer on Coaching Talent Here

By BOYCE HOUSE
Brethren, we will take as our text today: "Abilene beat Cisco Friday by a score of 10 to 7. We'll have to give Dewey Mayhew credit for that victory. Cisco had the more powerful team. They have lots of coaching staffs are not up to the coaching staffs of a let. We doubt if there is a let. Bill Bissett of San Angelo, P. E. Shotwell of Breckenridge is good and so is Dewey Mayhew, but that's all."

No, children, this is not taken from one of Uncle Billy's bedtime talks. It's by that great fiction writer of Waco, who is supposed to be a sports editor, as quoted in the San Angelo Times.

Now he may know lots about Coach Bill Tyson and the Waco Lions and about Coach William Jennings Bryan and the Baylor Buffaloes but he knows less about Oil Belt football than we would know about his home town clubs if the names in the first half of this sentence were actually our knowledge of the names of the Waco coaches and clubs.

But when anyone makes the sweeping assertion that only three out of the 10 coaches in the district are good, he is going to be challenged for his uncalculated, unsupported, incorrect and unfair representation of the ability of men whose life's work is football, whose only "trades" is their skill in building teams and in the reputation that they are entitled to thereby.

How about Gibson? We will not run down the ability of any coach in the state of Texas. We will not even run down the ability of a sports writer, connected with a great newspaper who ought to deal justly with his fellow men and not hold them up in a false light in his column.

Did the Waco man see Eastland play this year? Has he ever seen Eastland play? Has he ever been in the town of Eastland? Does he know anything about who are enrolled in the Eastland High school? Does he know any of the conditions under which the Eastland coach has to work? Does he know how many boys

LOBOES START WORKOUT FOR BASKET BALL

Prospects for Another Winning Team Are Fair.

The Cisco Loboes have turned their attention to basketball and workouts have been in progress this week under Coach W. L. Hill. The Loboes have made excellent records during the past three seasons, winning their way to the state meet each of the three years. Prospects for another winning team are fair. Of the team that last year won third place in the state tournament, four letter men will return. O. C. Ray, captain elect, and guard, "Chuck" Van Horn, center, Cebron Yeager, forward, and Wendell Whitehead, forward, will be back.

The Loboes will sorely miss the great play of George Van Horn, captain of the last year's team, and chosen as an all-state guard and the most valuable man at the State tournament last year. "Cotton" Phippen, Ollie Little, Orin Price, Garth Daniel, and "Curry" Kellogg, are the other five letter men who helped carry the Cisco colors to third place, who will not be back this year. From last year's Lobo Pups several likely looking prospects are Walter Purvis, Lyman Preston, J. B. Hanks, Julius Karkalits, and others, who may make the grade. Among the new comers showing up well are Paul Cole, Louis Purvis and the Blackham brothers, Graham and Fletcher. All four of these men are tall and have had previous basketball experience.

Coach Hill has announced that no games will be matched until final announcement is made regarding the playing of the football game in Brownsville on New Year's Day. If the Loboes play this game practically all the basketball team will be on the trip with the football team.

Eastland except it is where the horned frog came from and where they held the lynching? Does he know that Coach Joe Gibson had almost entirely a green line and the heaviest man weighed 175? Does he know that Coach Gibson saw his best interference runner carried off the field with a fractured leg in the first practice game of the fall? Does he know that Coach Gibson saw little Connie Smith, who would have been the greatest running and passing back in West Texas, broken from the gridiron with a broken leg, before the conference season opened?

And does he know that this team defeated San Angelo? Maybe they shouldn't have—frankly, we don't see how it was possible—but the fact remains that they did. And does he know that when the Mavericks played San Angelo, the captain of the Eastland team—Foster, and Cheatham, the team's greatest backfield man, did not even play the first half?

Now, in view of the fact that Coach Gibson's team won that game as well as having held Breckenridge scoreless until the last quarter when a disputed decision paved the way for victory—don't you think that maybe Coach Gibson is entitled to a little more credit than you give, oh, most noble author?

In fact, don't you think that a man ought to know something—just a little bit—anyhow, regarding what he is talking about before he talks about it?

That "Material" And as for the statement that "they have lots of material in the Oil Belt," just consider this: The population of Waco is about 60,000—maybe a lot more, we don't know. If it's more, we apologize to the Waco Chamber of Commerce for our lack of information.

But let us assume that the population of Waco is 60,000. The population of Eastland county is 60,000. Waco has ONE football team in the interscholastic league. Eastland county has SIX.

Ranger, Cisco and Eastland are in Class A. Gorman, Rising Star and Desdemona are in Class B. Now the point we are making is that if the gridiron material of Eastland county were grouped into one team instead of being divided six ways, our team would go to the state finals every season.

And in making this statement—and all the preceding statements—we have not been running down anybody's coach, team, or town. We have merely been defending our own standing before the eyes of Texas.

SPORT NOTES

DALLAS, Dec. 5.—Eighteen varsity letters were awarded Southern Methodist football players by the university athletic council. The squad members will elect a 1930 captain at a later date.

DALLAS, Dec. 5.—Invitations to compete with the Southwest conference all-star football eleven against an all-Big Ten team here New Year's day were mailed today to 50 players who are eligible to compete. Ray Morrison, Southern Methodist mentor, will coach the team. Practice will start Dec. 26, he said.

HOUSTON, Dec. 5.—The Rice Owls, hopeful of a more successful basketball season than football, tonight will play their first game with the basketball team. M. C. A. quintet.

Coach Daugherty has four letter men as a nucleus for this year's team. BROWNWOOD, Dec. 5.—The Howard Payne Yellowjackets today had visions of wearing the Big Six football conference crown another year as they prepared to invade Abilene Friday where they clash with the Simmons university eleven. To win the title, the Yellowjackets must defeat the Cowboys.

A special train carrying more than 600 Howard Payne rosters is assured. This game will close West Texas 1929 gridiron program. AUSTIN, Dec. 5.—Southwest conference athletics, especially football, probably will undergo a thorough examination for traces of "subsidization" of athletics when officials meet in Dallas Dec. 9.

The finding of the Carnegie report probably will be the basis for the examination. The officials also will discuss revising the present eligibility rules and study the present scholastic requirements.

NO RAIN IN U.S. FORT WORTH, Dec. 5.—For the first time in 29 years, no rain fell in the United States Wednesday. That was the report received on Thursday by the local weather bureau. Extreme temperatures here during the last 24 hours were 68 and 41 degrees.

ITALIAN KING AND QUEEN CALL ON POPE

By THOMAS B. MORGAN, United Press Staff Correspondent

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 5.—Pope Pius XI received King Victor Emmanuel III and Queen Elena of Italy today, marking the first visit in history of sovereigns of United Italy within the Vatican and bringing to a historical end the quarrel which separated the church and state 59 years ago.

Their majesties arrived at Vatican City in an automobile escorted by a squadron of bicycle police and plain clothes guards, after a colorful passage from the Quirinal Palace through troop-lined and flag decorated streets.

More perfect weather could not have been sought for the historic event. Arriving at Saint Peter's square, their majesties were received by Commander Camillo Scrafino, Governor of Vatican City, who read an address of royal welcome. Then with Prince Camillo Massimo, papal superintendent of posts, also in parade dress, he accompanied them within the confines of the papal state.

It was a colorful array of papal soldiery the multi-colored uniforms of the Swiss guard, designed by Michel Angelo, gave a medieval aspect to the scene, reminiscent of the splendor of the papacy in the past centuries.

The bugles of the Palatine guard sounded a royal welcome as the sovereigns were driven along the route. Arriving at the cortile of St. Demasus, the band of Palatine guards sounded the Italian royal march and the Pontifical anthem.

Here the king and queen alighted. They were received at the entrance to the papal palace by Monsignor Benjamin Hardone, secretary of the ceremonial, attired in purple robes.

DIED OF INJURIES HOUSTON, Dec. 5.—Henry Williams, 50, died here today from injuries received when struck by a street car Tuesday. He was knocked down by a street car he was attempting to board.

Salesman Acquitted on Attack Charge

DENVER, Dec. 5.—Gilbert H. Sapp's room at a hotel all night man, was acquitted by a jury here on a charge of attacking Mrs. Mildred Ingalls, 24, pretty stenographer. Mrs. Ingalls testified she was kept an unwilling prisoner in Sapp's room at a hotel all night and that he assaulted her. Sapp told the jury the woman made no objections to staying with him but said she needed some money to pay her bills.

SOCIAL WORKERS NEEDED DALLAS, Dec. 5.—Women religious and social workers are needed more now than any other time in the history of the United States, members of the Southern Methodist church, meeting here were told today by Miss Mary Britt of the Kansas City National Deaconess Training School. She was introduced by Bishop Mead.

Grand Prairie—Talkies installed at Texas theater.

Sullivan to Get Commission Today

CHEYENNE, WYO., Dec. 5.—Patrick J. Sullivan will leave for Washington to assume his duties as United States Senator from Wyoming after receiving his commission here today. Sullivan will serve until a special election is called to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Francis E. Warren.

Moody to Attend Attorneys Meeting

GALVESTON, Dec. 5.—Gov. Moody, together with city attorneys from many cities in the state, are expected to be here tomorrow for the opening of the annual convention of the Texas City Attorneys association.

The meeting will be called to order by President John McGlasson, Waco city attorney. Leonard—Five oil tests will be started in this locality by Jan. 1.

SENATE MOVES TO VOTE UPON VARE QUESTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Getting down to business, the house took up the $160,000,000 tax reduction resolution today and the senate moved toward a vote upon the three year old Vare case. Leaders believed they have a good chance to dispose of both these major problems before night.

A somewhat embarrassing but hardly formidable opposition is hindering the program for adoption of the tax reduction resolution. The farm bloc members have not taken kindly to the administration proposal. Privately they call it "a Wall Street tax reduction," but thus far no organized attack against it has been lodged.

For the present the objection centers around the extension of Representative C. William Ramseyer of Bloomfield, Iowa, that the leaders are exerting too much haste to get the legislation through.

Law certain is entertained by the senate leaders who are hoping to end the Vare case and return to the tariff bill, but there appears to be a general trend toward holding debate to a minimum in order that a final vote may be reached before night.

A report was submitted by the privileges and elections committee holding Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania won his election in 1925. It was signed by the Republican members of the committee. The Democrats submitted a minority report refusing to agree Vare was elected, but making no strong effort to gain the seat for Vare's Democratic opponent William D. Wilson.

While such election cases, sometimes require weeks for consideration, the Democrats appeared to be willing to vote upon the matter without a lengthy fight.

ORGANIZE CLUB

J. C. Patterson and Miss Ruth Ramey met with the boys and girls of Pleasant Hill Tuesday morning and organized a 4-H club. Every boy and girl was interested and joined the club. The following officers were elected: President, Ray Kinard; vice president, Bennie Trott; secretary, Virgie Hastings; reporter, Lenzo Wyatt; song leader, Jack Kuykendall; and yell leader, Willie Mae Lockhart.

Tragedy Victim Had Case in Court

B. T. Belyet, who lost his life Tuesday night in a fire that destroyed his home at Gorman, had been at Eastland that day attending the trial of a civil case he had in the county court and left there late that afternoon for Gorman. A jury in the case was deliberating on the case at the time of Mr. Belyet's death and Wednesday reported to the court that they were unable to reach a verdict and were discharged.

72 PER CENT OF BUDGET IS FOR DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Applying the principles of household accounting to the $3,830,000,000 budget of the federal government for 1931, Pres. Hoover has calculated that approximately 72 per cent of the expenditures, or $2,733,213,293, will go to national defense and the fiscal burdens of past wars.

Only eight per cent of the budget estimates—$300,307,000—will be required for the normal departmental governmental functions, including $50,000,000 for the postal deficit.

Governmental aid projects, social services, research, public works and similar functions will require $611,193,000, which is 13 per cent of the total budget; and the remaining seven per cent, aggregating $283,731,000, will go chiefly to fiscal operations of the treasury department for tax refunds, trust fund administration, operations, and miscellaneous items.

The chief executive's private tabulations were made public at the White House without comment. The large proportion of war expenses, however, recalled to officials the president's twice repeated admonition against the nation's constantly rising military outlay, and his advocacy, in his message to congress Tuesday, of a policy calculated to lighten the war burden.

With the public debt at $16,500,000,000 almost all of which represents bonds issued to finance the world war, the 1931 budget

Oil Field at Paris in Prospect

PARIS, Dec. 5.—Encouraging of a brown sand, carrying a high showing of oil and gas, at the Johnson-Lauberham test well of here late Wednesday, is said by oil men to be excellent assurance that Paris will have an oil field.

The sand was encountered at about 2,920 feet and after going into this formation about eight inches, drilling was stopped and a core was to be taken today.

This core will be subjected to a local test first then sent to state authorities and to other laboratories for thorough analysis.

"We passed through a hard gumbo; ten feet of hard blue shale, then picked up a brown sand that has a light showing of oil and gas," said D. S. Head in charge of drilling operations.

"Figuring the depth of the well and the formation passed through the sand was picked up at about the proper place and should produce either gas or oil," he said.

Poultry Show at Denison Opened

DENISON, Dec. 5.—Denison was the capital of the poultry industry for this section today as hundreds of fowl went on display in the tenth annual Interstate Poultry and Pet Stock show.

Breeders from several surrounding states have entered their prize birds and competition promises to be keen. Duck and turkey displays were especially large.

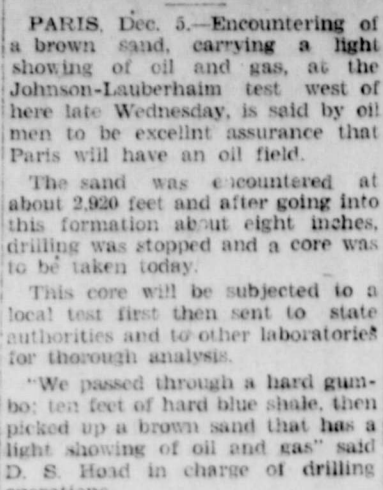

The show will continue through Saturday night.

WAY DOWN SOUTH IN DIXIE!

It doesn't snow often in Dixie. But when it does, who wouldn't envy the snow man when the builder is charming Ruth Miller of Memphis, Tenn.? Her smile testifies to her delight in King Winter's recent surprise visit when Memphis was covered with a white blanket five inches deep, the heaviest November snow in 49 years.

AS CREWS DUG PILOT AND PLANE FROM 10-FOOT GRAVE

Here is the scene that was presented as rescue crews attempted to extricate Pilot George Cuddihy, crack navy flyer, and his little English combat plane, buried 10 feet in the ground when the ship fell 10,000 feet at Washington. Workers dug for more than a half hour before freeing the pilot's body and it was necessary to use a crane to haul out the wreckage of the plane. Cuddihy was testing the plane, which had been purchased from England, and had put it into a terrific dive when the ship broke under the strain.

DEFENSE PLANS FOR TUNNEY ARE COMPLETE

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—It was reported today that Gene Tunney and his lawyers virtually had completed plans for defense of the suits brought against the former heavyweight champion by Katharine Pogarty of Fort Worth, Tex., and her husband, John Tunney and his wife, who just arrived from Italy, are staying temporarily at the Hotel Dorset here, but it was said that they planned to leave soon for Stamford, Conn., where Tunney built a home for Polly Lauder before their marriage.

George W. Whiteside, Tunney's attorney, has not decided whether it will be necessary for the former

Oil Leasing at Frankston Spurts

FRANKSTON, Dec. 5.—Oil lease business took a spurt here today as the result of the good showing made by the E. B. Birdwell well, 10 miles south of here, when drilling passed the sand chalk at 3521 feet. Peyton Bros. closed one land deal for $8,000 and royalties were changing too fast to keep up with the deals. With casing and cement set the Birdwell well will be brought in "some time this week and if it proves to be a good producer will open a new field north around Frankston.

There are 2,050,000 Texans "gainfully employed" under the Census Bureau definition of that phrase.

BOTH SIDES MARK TIME CREAGER

BROWNSVILLE, Dec. 5.—Both sides marking time had reached a tentative agreement with the court today that seemed probable. R. B. Creager-Collier's million dollar libel suit tried about Jan. 13.

Federal Judge Estes eastern district of Texas expected to hear the case will be busy the first of January, but on Jan. 13 will be at liberty to try it. He is expected to report Hutcheson in the case of the latter's request. Judge announced that in his friendship and confidence the integrity and confidence of Creager, republican national committeeman, he would not sit in the case.

Jury Had the Wrong Man

DALLAS, Dec. 5.—Sitting on the trial of a man supposed to have been charged with insanity and then finding that the man had been discharged, was the experience of 12 jurors here.

Often, when insanity cases are tried, the defendant is, because of his condition, unable to appear in court. In such cases, the jurors hear the arguments and then are taken to examine the defendant.

A doctor testified that this man was dangerous. The jury heard the arguments and then prepared to view the prisoner. He had been discharged as well.

Creager said today that not been for "dilatory" Collier attorneys, the case already have gone to a jury and "obtain justice" against him "10 years."

The suits, two of them 600 each, followed public articles, one dealing with policies of Creager in the other with the position in Hidalgo county.

THE BOY WHO BIT THE DOG

It's an old journalistic rule that "for a dog to bite a man is not news, but for a man to bite a dog is news," and so Kansas City newspapers had a printable item the other day when Donald Koppel, four years old, bit his pup so severely on the back that the dog had to be treated at a hospital for animals. Donald told his parents it was in retaliation for the pup biting him while at play in the kitchen. But Donald and his pet are fast friends again, this picture having been taken after they became reconciled.

OIL DEAL NEAR ALBANY CONSUMMATED

One of the largest oil deals to take place in this section was consummated last week with the sale of 50 acres of production out of the east side of Section 32, ETRR survey, 10 miles north of Albany, to the Messersmith & Lamb, of Ardmore, Oklahoma, for a cash consideration of $100,000 as made by the Dull-Earl Texas Oil Company.

GREEN WELL DRILLING AT 1,775 FEET NOW

The Arab Gasoline Corporation is drilling at 1,775 feet in its Green well, two or three miles south of Albany. Some gas and a good deal of water has been encountered. Drilling is being erected for the Messersmith Oil Company's well on the eastern edge of the city and between the Cisco and Albany streets and the Texas and Albany streets.

north of Baird where a shallow well was completed a short time ago for excellent production. The move forecasts an active drilling campaign in that territory.

OIL NEWS OF SOUTHWEST

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5.—Lack of gas pressure prevented the Oklahoma City field from having another producer today, but preparations were being made to get oil from the Sinclair No. 5 by the gas lift method. The hole was full of oil yesterday. This is the second well in the field to use the gas lift method to obtain oil.

Total production from 18 wells yesterday was 53,770 barrels. Total recovery from the South Oklahoma City field since its discovery a year ago was 6,961,144 barrels. The production from the wells.

Pure Oil increased activity in the Salskwa area by adding a producer in No. 5-Bates which flowed 1,102 barrels in 12 hours. No. 6 is running the pinch to the Viola and No. 7 is cementing the 6-inch at 4,050 feet in the Viola.

Two new locations have been added to the Bebe area in Pontotoc county. Dixie Oil has staked No. 3-Payton and University Oil & Gas has made location for No. 1-Martin.

BANDITS GET $6,000. BELLE PLAINE, Minn., Dec. 5.—The youthful, well-dressed bandits, held up the First National bank of Belle Plaine here today and robbed three employees of $6,000 in currency.

$100 REWARD—IDENTIFY THIS HOUSE

Who recognizes this house? A reward of $100 will be paid to the first person who can identify it. The above picture was found in a secret drawer in the home of Mrs. Beecher M. Crouse, right wealthy society woman of Utica, N. Y., after her disappearance recently. An international search, spurred by her husband's offer of a reward, has failed to disclose her whereabouts, and those in charge of the hunt believe the house seen above may furnish a clue. It also is feared that she may be a victim of amnesia.

Morrow Valuable to Mexico Says Rubio

HOUSTON, Dec. 5.—If Ambassador Morrow decides to accept a post as senator, as reported, Mexico will be losing a valuable friend, and will regret it very much, said Pascual Ortiz Rubio, president-elect of Mexico, who arrived here last night. Rubio, who will take office in February, entered the United States yesterday, on a journey in which he will attempt to recuperate strength lost in the recent election.

All Survivors of Freighter Removed

*PAGO PAGO, Samoa, Dec. 5.—All remaining survivors of the wrecked British freighter Norwich City have been removed from Gardner Island, radio advices received here today from the steamer Teongate said. The rescuers battled a rough sea infested with sharks, to reach the stranded crew with their small boats.

A previous message had appealed to the governor of American Samoa to dispatch a cruiser with seaboats to land in the lagoon on the island as it was feared surf boats could not negotiate the rock-filled waters. Eleven members of the crew of 24 were drowned when the ill-fated freighter grounded on a reef last Saturday. The Laredo section alone will plant 4,000 acres to onions this season and expects to market from 1,500 to 2,000 cars. Texas last year shipped 6,763 carloads of Texas Bermudas.

HICKMAN TO SPEAK TO METHODISTS

Judge J. E. Hickman, chief justice of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals, and a prominent layman of the Methodist church, will speak at the 11 o'clock services at the First Methodist church here Sunday in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Frank E. Singleton, who is attending a missions conference in Raleigh, N. C. The services will be in charge of J. J. Youngblood.

Judge Hickman is known as a speaker of force and originality, distinctly a man's speaker. He was for years the teacher of the Morning Tower Bible class of 500 men at Breckenridge.

Waco Invites Texas to Holiday Opening

WACO, Dec. 5.—Mayor T. D. Brooks of Waco, in a proclamation Wednesday, invited the citizenship of Texas to be guests of this city Friday night of this week at the official opening of the Christmas holiday season which will be featured by a program at the Cotton Palace coliseum rendered by a negro choir of one thousand voices.

The choir has been organized from among members of the negro race in Waco by Frank Baldwin, editor, legislator, and is announced as a Christmas present to Texas from the city of Waco. In addition to the choir, negro chorals clubs of Fort Worth, Waco and Houston will appear in a tri-city contest for singing honors.

Coincident with the opening of the Christmas season in Waco, close friends of Gov. Dan Moody of this city are honoring him with a dinner at the Waco City club prior to the coliseum program. Rep. George Parl of Dallas will be toastmaster.

TO QUESTION ALDREDGE IN GIRLS' DEATHS

DALLAS, Dec. 5.—Still clinging to the hope that the mysterious and brutal slaying of Bessie Lynch and Cleo Lingo, Dallas girls, Nov. 4, 1928, may be solved, police here plan to question Bennie Aldredge on the eve of his execution, Dec. 19.

The bodies of the two girls were found in a cornfield west of here. They had been mutilated. Aldredge will be executed for an attack on two Dallas girls.

For more than a year, police and county officers have been confused in the maze of conflicting evidence concerning the identity of the slayer or slayers. City investigators, however, still maintain that it was Aldredge and Lee Roy Merriman, executed at Huntsville recently, as one of the slayers. Aldredge so far has refused to talk. Merriman went to his death with sealed lips. If Aldredge will tell what he knows police today expressed the belief he can clear one of the most baffling murders ever confronting local police.

Remarks Cited

Police base their belief on remarks made by both Aldredge and Merriman when they were being held in jail here following their arrest and testimony of their victims concerning remarks they made at the time of the crime. The two girls were reminded "of what happened to those two Dallas girls in the cornfield west of Dallas."

Police also maintain that Aldredge declared that Merriman "knew something about the slaying" Aldredge, more affable than the sullen Merriman who sulked in his cell, is expected to "talk" before he starts his last march up "death row." Detective Jones reported, that Aldredge although neither surly or discourteous, was so wrought up over the execution of his "pal" and his refusal to bid goodbye, that he asked to be left alone.

Merriman went to the chair without making a statement of any kind—not even the consolation of a minister. Feigning insanity until the last, he refused to speak to prisoners in adjoining cells or the guards who administered to him. Refusing to speak all Thanksgiving—his last day—he ate a turkey dinner and smoked countless cigarettes.

Guards, hoping to break down his feigned insanity, forced him to ask for cigarettes before they purchased them for him. A letter, which the doomed man had failed to open, was found tossed in the corner of his cell after he had gone to the chair.

LEADERS IN BUSINESS ARE MOBILIZED

By RAYMOND CLAFFER, United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Business leaders of America mobilized here today under the leadership of President Hoover to send the nation's economic machine into the winter under increased momentum. Among those invited were Henry Ford, Owen D. Young and John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Their task is to carry on the work begun by President Hoover in his recent White House economic conferences which turned up a total of nearly $10,000,000,000 in basic business for the coming year.

With this cushion of general construction, railroad, utilities and public works development already in sight, the business men believe the general business of the nation will show little effect from the stock market situation.

About 400 leaders of American business were invited to today's conference under the auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

President Hoover prepared the opening address.

A thorough analysis of every major industry was prepared for discussion at the conference which in effect puts the nation's business under the X-Ray for a more complete diagnosis than it ever before has received.

This experiment is unique in that never before has business as a whole faced a problem with such nation-wide unanimity. The pledge of chief industrial leaders to President Hoover recently that wages would not be cut is another unprecedented action.

President Hoover has found unexpectedly in the business situation an opportunity to give the test of fire to his belief that the government must co-operate with civic organizations toward a common end.
