THEY'LL JUMP INTO MATRIMONY

Matrimony will be a come-down for these two, for the sky's the limit at their wedding. It's perfectly natural, of course, for such proficient parachute jumpers as Marjorie Klenger and Donald Babcock, pictured above, to leap out of a plane, but this pair is planning to do that after their wedding ceremony, which will be planned to do that after their wedding ceremony, which will be planned to do that after their wedding ceremony...

REQUEST OF WYOMING IS NOT GRANTED

Nine Charges of Train Robbery to Be Filed.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Dec. 7.—Governor Holloway today honored requisition from California for the return to that state of Tom Vernon, who officers say has confessed to wrecking and holding up passengers of a Southern Pacific train near Saugus, Cal. Wyoming authorities sought Vernon on a similar charge, but after a hearing that lasted until this afternoon, the governor gave the custody of Vernon to California authorities.

Governor Holloway said he surrendered Vernon to California authorities because, he believed, California had a stronger case against the former movie actor, world adventurer and former inmate of five penitentiaries. District Attorney Baron Fitts of Los Angeles, presented California's claims at the hearing. He told the governor that with Vernon he believed he could assist California officers, in breaking up a gang of train wreckers.

Serious Situation in Haiti Explained by President in Message to Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Hoover sent a special message to congress today explaining the serious political situation developing in Haiti and informing congress he had ordered dispatch of the additional marines to the republic. Just before the message was sent to the capitol, Secretary of State Stimson announced a contingent of 500 marines will sail from Hampton Roads today. Mr. Hoover's message as read at the capitol soon after a dispatch to the state department announced the death of five Haitians and wounding of several others in a clash with marines at Aux Cayes, a coffee port. The message was read to the house shortly after the start of its session at noon. It was immediately referred to the committee on foreign affairs.

Friday Lucky Day for New War Secretary

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Life is just a succession of Fridays for Patrick Jay Hurley, of Tulsa, Okla., selected by President Hoover to succeed the late James W. Good as secretary of war. If the Friday's hold out there is no telling how high Hurley's career may take him. Friday is his good luck day. He will be the youngest secretary of war, so far as a quick check of records show, when the senate confirms his appointment. He is 46. Hurley was born on Friday, Jan. 2, 1883, in the Choctaw nation, Indian Territory. He was graduated from National University here on Friday, was admitted to the Oklahoma state bar on Friday, joined the army on Friday and was cited for the distinguished service medal on still another Friday. When Hurley married the daughter of Admiral Henry B. Wilson the calendar said Friday and when he was sworn as assistant secretary of war last spring it was Friday again. Yesterday was Friday and on that day Mr. Hoover sent Hurley's nomination as secretary of war to the senate.

FIVE NATIVES ARE KILLED IN SKIRMISH

Small Band of Troops Attacked by 1,500 Haitians.

By SAM LOVE
United Press Staff Correspondent
PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Dec. 7.—Open revolt of Haitian natives was reported today at Aux Cayes and Jacmel after an engagement between 1,500 natives and a small force of marines in which five natives were killed and 20 wounded. The marines suffered no casualties. The growth of revolt and bloodshed in the republic, arising out of a students' strike and festered by native leaders inimical to the present administration, was revealed in an official announcement today of the attack at Aux Cayes.

BRITISH SHIP REPORTED DOWN WITH ITS CREW

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The British steamship Rader of 2,350 tons was reported to have sunk with all hands today in the British channel. The Rader carried a crew of 20 or 25 men. The ship was seen to disappear off Hartland Point and it was feared that all hands had been lost. The Rader previously had reported by wireless that it was sinking and that the crew was having difficulty in launching lifeboats. It gave its position as off Hartland Point, which is a lofty promontory at the south entrance of the British channel.

Returns Home After Week's Visit Here

Curt Herrmann of Staten Island, N. Y., has returned home after a week's visit here. Mr. Herrmann came to Cisco for the purpose of drilling in the Meredith-Benton estate well in Buchanan county, but his satisfaction with the climate here almost equaled his pleasure at seeing a stream of oil shoot over the derrick.

AGENTS BACK FROM MEET AT ABILENE

EASTLAND, Dec. 7.—County Agent J. C. Patterson and Home Demonstration Agent Miss Ruth Ramey returned Friday night from Abilene where they attended the mid-winter district meeting of county and home demonstration agents. The sessions began Thursday morning and were concluded late Friday. The main theme of the discussions Patterson said, were to determine how the extension workers could be of most service to their respective counties. He reports that this was the first mid-winter meeting held in four years. The headquarters staff from A. & M. college was present for the sessions and took part in the lectures. One of the leading topics of the men's division Patterson said was the discussions of soil conservation. It was reported that no plan or program for permanent improvement of farms is practical unless the farm has first been terraced.

Marines Are Sent to Haiti

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Hoover has ordered 500 marines to Haiti to cope with political disorders in that negro republic, Secretary of State Stimson announced today. The marines will leave Hampton Roads, Va., today. The marines were concentrated at Hampton Roads under orders issued yesterday and are ready for embarkation. Stimson said the department had been informed of the death of five natives and the wounding of several others in a clash with marines at Aux Cayes. He said the marines were attacked by a mob and exercised great self control, firing into the air several times before firing at their attackers. Dispatch of additional marines to Haiti which will bring the number there to 1,300 was ordered, Stimson said, under a Haitian-American treaty ratified in 1916 which he said would not expire until 1935. Stimson did not attempt to disguise his concern nor to deny the extreme seriousness of the Haitian situation. He said his policy would be one of perfect frankness so far as publicity was concerned. It is a bad situation, he told reporters, adding they might as well know it and say so.

The attack at Aux Cayes, an important coffee shipping port on the south coast, occurred late yesterday afternoon when a band of 1,500 natives refused to disperse, on orders of a marine patrol. The marines fired volleys overhead and the natives replied hurling rocks and other hand missiles. The strange battle took place 300 yards from the marine barracks, around which the few homes of the American colony are grouped. A shallow river runs in front, with cane fields on each bank of the colony. A patrol of 20 marines, armed with one machine gun, six automatic rifles and Springfield for each man, encountered what appeared to be a band of 150 natives. The natives demanded permission to enter the town and join the strikers there. They were told that the strike in the city was over.

New Test Started on Land Near Moran

MORAN, Dec. 7.—The derrick for the Calloway No. 2 is up and machinery is being installed this week. This is the second deep well on the Calloway property, the first coming in recently, making a nice flow of gas. The Brooks No. 3 rigging is being put up and a third well on the Brooks property will begin in the near future. The No. 3 will offset the Henry No. 3 and Brooks No. 2. These wells are drilled to the 2,200 sand. The Lone Star people are drilling a large number of wells in that area, where gas in large quantities has been found at several depths. The first well there was drilled to 3,850 feet. Other sands are found at 3,500 and 3,200 feet. Some eight or nine producing wells have been drilled east of town by the Lone Star company. Jesse L. Douglas drilled in a 10 barrel well on the Palm ranch west of Moran and Albany last week. This is the second well he has drilled in on that property.

CROSS PLAINS TO BEGIN WORK ON LAKE SOON

CROSS PLAINS, Dec. 7.—All preliminary work on the actual commencement of work on Lake Cross Plains are about completed to the satisfaction of the city officials and it is believed that dirt will be broken for the big dam the first of the coming week. Verification of titles to the land which the city has purchased for the lake site are expected to be received and approved by the city council shortly. It is the urgent desire of the city officials that the lake be completed in time to impound the fall of the spring rains, and the Municipal Engineering Co., of Dallas, who have the contract for its construction and maintenance, have agreed to push the work and assure its completion by that time. The lake proper will cover about forty acres, with a watershed of about 700 acres. Should the spring rainfall be not as copious as usual and fail to supply a total of water needed for the use of the city, it will augment the source from which we are now getting water and insure a safe supply for all purpose until the lake fills to meet the demands.

New Revolution in Mexico Threatened

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 7.—The arrival in San Antonio of Jose Vasconcelos, defeated candidate for the presidency of Mexico, was awaited today to clarify a tense situation which has sprung up in Mexican circles here over the purported "war manifesto" issued Friday by Dr. Francisco Del Rio Canedo, former secretary of the defeated candidate. Prominent Mexicans here said Vasconcelos was not due in San Antonio until Sunday. La Prensa, Spanish language newspaper, declared Vasconcelos was last reported in El Paso. It was presumed he was en route to San Antonio but his arrival was not expected before the end of the week. The war manifesto issued by Dr. Canedo called upon supporters of the defeated candidate to rally to his aid in a revolution to prevent President-elect Pascual Rubio Ortiz from taking office. It said funds for the revolution already are available in Mexico. While the manifesto created quite a stir in Mexican social and political circles here, leaders of the local colony awaited the arrival of Vasconcelos for first hand information and declined to discuss the manifesto to publicity.

Bones on Exhibit Here Are Objects of Much Conjecture on Part of Passersby

The immense bones on display in front of the Manhattan Cafe this week have been object of much conjecture on the part of passers-by. Imaginations ran riot envisioning hideous giants whose seven-league boots carried them over the land or prehistoric animal who calmly waived about nibbling the tops of high trees. In reality, however, the gigantic vertebra which measures about 3-2 feet across and somewhat resembles a Dutch windmill once belonged to a whale. The rib measured about 7 feet in length and was one of the smallest. The bones were obtained recently by Oscar Comer, Mickey Carroll and Mack Carr on their hunting trip to the coast. The whale, which is believed to be one of the largest ever found in this section, was washed ashore on Matagorda Island near Rockport sometime in September. It had been dead several days—its death believed to have been caused by the warm water of the gulf into which it swam on its way from the north. The sea mammal measured 87 feet in length and 14 feet in height. The bones were saved for the Cisco men by Fred and Horace Brundlett of Rockport.

"AWAY DOWN HERE IN TEXAS" Gov. Moody wired the president of the United States that expenditures for building purposes in Texas in 1936 would touch the $350,000,000 mark.

He likewise wired the president that the farmers of the Southwest are entitled to financial consideration and that as the federal government and the big heads of big business are getting ready to spend millions or billions, it would be an act of justice to see that the country dwellers should not be overlooked by the great father of the little fathers or the banks of the Potomac.

Now that the stock buying market is a thing of the past the bond buying market should come into its own and thus Wall street may be able to do something substantial in the near future.

Farm relief is a burning issue that is certain to play a prominent part in the campaign of the coming year.

TEXAS TEACHERS ARE REMINDED Texas teachers held a session. Some of the educational problems of the day were presented to the association by Dr. L. H. Hubbard, president of the Texas State College for Women at Denton.

He declared educational advancement in Texas has been rapid the last three decades and the outstanding achievements were the expansion of facilities; increased financial support; consolidation of rural schools; improvement of the professional preparation of teachers; reorganization of the state board of education.

There was a time when Texas was very low in the list of states, speaking of its classification as an educator of all the children of all the people. There has been rapid progress along modern lines in recent years, but there are millions of illiterates in Texas and illiteracy is a crime in an American commonwealth.

Ignorance is the mother of bigotry, the running mate of superstition and the instigator of intolerance. It should be blotted out under the skies of the Lone Star.

workers in the fields. It was thought the natives might attempt a general sacking of the important coffee stores in the port.

The seriousness of the general situation was only revealed today with official statements of the engagement at Aux Cayes, with Swink reporting the countryside there in open revolt.

Extensive smuggling of arms also was believed to have been discovered at Jacmel, in the south of the district, where the captured, who were accused of threatening dock laborers, were found to be armed with a German type of automatic pistol. Porter reported four similar pistols were taken later from other captives who were caught carrying papers in French, German and Spanish.

Authorities believed the papers were orders for pistols and rifles from Hamburg, and they were sent here by airplane for the names to be deciphered.

Two guard officers and 52 men were hurried by trucks to Jacmel, reaching there at 2:30 a. m. today. Wholesale arrests were regarded as a possibility. Reports persisted from Jacmel that the peasants might attempt a march on the city.

The region of Port Au Prince and the remainder of the country was reported to be quiet. In Port Au Prince, David Johnson, in charge of the customs, reported his house stoned last night, which appeared to be the only disturbance. Marines and members of the native guard were unable to find the attackers after a telephone call from Johnson, whose altercation with a native was reported.

Aux Cayes is nine hours by road from Port Au Prince, making it difficult to send reserves in a hurry.

The American families at Aux Cayes boarded the Colombian liner Martinique this morning and sailed for Port Au Prince via Jeremie.

Swink reported the city was quiet today but the inhabitants were in great fear of an invasion because of old enmity between the dwellers in the town and the natives.

Only an hour elapsed from the time of the first parley until the action was over, most of the time being consumed in efforts by Swink to persuade the natives to disperse.

Heroes of McAlpine Epic Arrive Home WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 27.--Fleetly gaunt, tired heroes of the McAlpine epic of the northern ice were home to civilization today after battling death in the Arctic wastes for nearly four months.

Three planes swooped down from the northern skies bringing Col. C. D. H. McAlpine, fellow members of his exploring party and their rescuers. They had flown from the Pas, Manitoba, after reaching there from the point beyond the Arctic circle where they were marooned.

The leader frankly termed the expedition a "failure" because it failed of its objective but said valuable information regarding the nature of the country had been secured.

"Our Eskimo friends supplied us with food and aided us in other ways," McAlpine said. "I don't know what we would have done without them."

Haitians and U. S. Marines Clash; 5 Natives Are Slain

The natives then demanded that two of their leaders be permitted to enter the city and report the facts. The demand was granted.

The marines were unaware of the true size of the native force, the bulk of it being hidden in the cane fields.

When the native envoys returned and advised their followers that it was true that the strike was over, shouts and curses were heard as the word spread and the band moved forward.

The natives were armed with hatchets, mahogany clubs, stones and farm implements, but no rifles.

As the band surged forward from the canebrake, Swink and Blanchard realized the size of the attacking force and deployed their men to cover the widest possible front, since the reserves left in barracks only totaled 20 men.

The marines then fired three volleys overhead. The Haitians responded with jeers and three rocks. They then began surrounding the scattered marines.

Whereupon, Swink ordered his men, lying flat on their stomachs, to open fire; two hundred and fifty rounds were fired, proving effective and scattering the natives.

They fled in all directions, leaving dead and wounded on the field.

The fanatical bravery of the leader of the band was remarkable. He penetrated the marine position, tackled and bit a marine.

Only an hour elapsed from the time of the first parley until the action was over, most of the time being consumed in efforts by Swink to persuade the natives to disperse.

Swink reported the city was quiet today but the inhabitants were in great fear of an invasion because of old enmity between the dwellers in the town and the natives.

Only an hour elapsed from the time of the first parley until the action was over, most of the time being consumed in efforts by Swink to persuade the natives to disperse.

HAROLD LLOYD TO BE HEARD HERE IN TALKIE

After an absence of nearly a year and a half, Harold Lloyd is returning to the screen, making the occasion an auspicious one by presenting his first all-talking picture, "Welcome Danger," at the Palace theater starting Tuesday for 3 days.

The comedian spent many months mastering the new screen technique, and in "Welcome Danger" is said to have developed what will prove the fastest production shown since the advent of talking pictures.

The region of Port Au Prince and the remainder of the country was reported to be quiet. In Port Au Prince, David Johnson, in charge of the customs, reported his house stoned last night, which appeared to be the only disturbance.

Marines and members of the native guard were unable to find the attackers after a telephone call from Johnson, whose altercation with a native was reported.

MY BARBER TOLD ME HOW TO GET RID OF GRAY HAIRS

In Six Weeks My Hair Was Back to Its Old Dark Brown Color, and No Artificial Look At All.

MRS. WAYNE TELLS OF HOME TREATMENT

I began to have gray hair too early in life. I started getting gray when only 18 and at 25 they were very noticeable. I was actually looking 10 years older than I really am but not any longer. My barber told me about Lea's Hair Tonic, and the marvelous things it was doing for patrons, so I began applying it at home, and in six weeks time, using it every night for a couple minutes, my hair was back to its dark brown color, and looking splendid.

SANDIES FALL VICTIMS TO BRECK 13-0

while later three Buckaroos broke through the line and blocked a Sandy punt. Wholford recovering on the eight yard line. He did not know that he could run with the ball but after being inspired by his mates attempted to dash across the line but was downed on the five yard marker. Breckenridge had time for one plunge to the two yard line before the half ended.

Panhandle Champs No Match for Powerful Buckaroos.

Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm subsided into but a gentle breeze on Buckaroo field at Breckenridge yesterday afternoon as the ragged but mighty Breckenridge high school team upheld the tradition established by its predecessors and sent the Sandies home with their perfect record of defeats in interdistrict competition with the oil belt unmarred by a victory.

The Buckaroos outplayed the Sandstorm badly throughout the contest. The vaunted panhandle team never penetrating the 20-yard stripe of the oil belt champions. Only once did they approach the 25 yard line. The Buckaroos played a defensive type of football playing for the breaks which they capitalized upon in almost every instance. Both of the Breckenridge touchdowns were the direct result of this uncanny ability of the Green Wave to turn the disadvantages of its foes into golden opportunities. A recovered fumble about the 30-yard line was the beginning of the Buckaroos' first score. A few jabs at the beefy Sandy line and Boone Magness preceded by David Graham, shot off the Sandies' right tackle for 22 yards and the initial score. A. Magness made the kick for point good.

This score took place early in the second quarter after the Buckaroos had lost a chance to score from the two-yard line in the first quarter when Graham fumbled and recovered with 10 yards or more less.

Breckenridge scored again a few minutes after the first touchdown when a swarm of Buckaroos broke up a lateral pass and recovered on the eight-yard line. Boone Magness tossed a short pass to David Graham in an open field and Graham stepped the remaining few yards for the point. The kick for point hit the cross bar and bounded back so that the score stood at 13 to 0. A short

Two Winning Essays in Contest Conducted by First Industrial Arts Club Here Are Announced

Misses Maynel Edmondson and Marcia Mobley were declared first and second place winners in the essay contest conducted by the First Industrial Arts club recently among the pupils of the grammar school. The subject upon which the children wrote essays was "The Ten Most Beautiful Things in Cisco."

Two hundred and thirty grammar school children took part in the contest. Twelve of these, in addition to the two winners, who received pictures as prizes, were given honorable mention. Mrs. E. E. Morehart took active charge of the contest for the club. The club will make this essay contest an annual affair.

FIRST PRIZE

By Maynel Edmondson
Life is a matter of comparison. People are considered good or bad in comparison with the rest of their generation. Places are considered beautiful in much the same way, by comparing them with other things of their kind.

There are many pretty homes in Cisco, but I think the most beautiful one is the home of Mr. Mancill on West Fifth street. The house is English style, having a steep roof with a chimney in front. There is a side terrace with an iron rail around it.

Everyone in grammar school is working hard to get in high school. This school is on Seventh street, covering a block. It has two stories and a basement. A well kept yard adds to its attractiveness.

The West Texas Utilities park is a very pretty place, having grass, shrubbery and flowers, such as roses and chrysanthemums. There is a small stream of water running through the park and over this are two bridges.

When a person is walking down Main street, he always notices the store windows. Most of the stores always have attractive windows. In Cisco the most beautiful window display is at Garner's. The front of the store is modern and kept in perfect condition.

Brown's Sanitarium is located on Sixth street. It has two wings with flowers all around the building. There is a very beautiful patio that adds to the beauty of the sanitarium.

The Laguna hotel is on Avenue D and Fourth street. It is eight stories in structure, has 110 rooms and baths, a roof garden, and a coffee shop. The hotel is very beautiful and helps make the town very attractive.

A church helps make a town attractive when it is pretty. I think the most beautiful church in Cisco is the Methodist on Eighth street and Avenue H. It has two stories and a basement. The church is built of white brick with large white pillars in the front.

SECOND PRIZE
By Marcia Mobley
In looking around the city of Cisco, I am convinced that the ten most beautiful things of Cisco are the following: Lake Cisco, the Dam, the swimming pool, the Laguna hotel, the West Texas Utilities park, the relay station of the Southwestern Telephone company, the Mobley hotel park, the Presbyterian church, the city hall and a group of homes on West Seventh street.

One of the first things that attracts the eye around Cisco is Lake Cisco. It lies about four miles north of the city. It has an estimated shore line of about 30 miles. The mayor of the town noticed how Sandy creek flowed between a range of hills and decided that if it were dammed a great reservoir of water could be formed. With this in mind, the city built the Williamson Dam across this creek. A great amount of water has been impounded in this reservoir in the last few years, and it has been stocked with fish. During the fishing season, fishermen from far and wide come here to angle. The state of Texas operates a fish hatchery in connection with the lake, thus keeping it well stocked. The water is of sufficient depth that motor boats can run on it. Many private boats are seen on the waters. An artist might travel to find a more beautiful picture than sunset on Lake Cisco.

The Williamson Dam is one of the most prominent features of Lake Cisco. It is a substantial structure, being made of hollow concrete. A beautiful bridge is built across it, well lighted and sufficiently banistered. It is wide enough for two cars to pass each other easily. This dam holds the distinction of being the largest dam of its type in the world.

After one has examined the lake and dam they turn to the third feature of Lake Cisco, which is the swimming pool. It is one of the largest artificial swimming pools in the world. With its brilliant lights shining over the water, it forms a picturesque piece of scenery. There is a large bath house, a sandy beach and many water devices for amusement.

The Laguna Hotel is a modern building with seven stories and a roof garden. It is built of white brick. The first floor contains a coffee shop or cafe, a drug store, and a lobby with lovely furnishings. It is built so that each room has an outside window and a separate bath.

The West Texas Utilities park is located east of the Katy tracks of Sixth street. Shrubs, trees and flowers have been planted. Rustic arbors have been built and with grape vines trailing over them, they are very pretty. The lawn is well cared for and everything is tended. This park is a favorite place for picnics.

On the corner of Seventh and Avenue E is the relay station of the Southwestern Bell company. It is built of white brick, and is not completed on the inside or the grounds cleared of rubbish, but the building itself is a beautiful piece of architecture.

The Mobley hotel park is a very attractive place. It has a lawn that is well kept, with beautiful trees and flowers. In the center, a fish pond has been built of native stone. The pond had fish in it for a time, but so many people fed them the water could not be kept clean so they were disposed of. In the summer the blooming shrubs and flowers add to its attractiveness.

The Presbyterian church has a picturesque setting on West Sixth street, being built on mission style, of native stone and bricks. The stately trees that almost surround it lend an austere beauty to this place. A large pipe organ, nice pews, and stained glass windows help to make the inside lovely.

The city hall on Seventh street is a brick two story building. It is almost covered with English ivy. The lawn is well kept and a California Privet hedge is kept well boxed the year round. In the fall of the year when the leaves are red and brown it is a delight to the eye.

The group of homes in seven hundred block on West Seventh street owned by J. E. Tichenor, Mr. Ruppert and West Texas Utilities are beautiful places, worthy of consideration. They have large shrubs and many plants surrounding them. The first home is built of stucco of old English design, the second a brick veneer, and the third a stucco of Spanish style. The three homes, taken as a group, are among the most attractive homes in Cisco.

Barber 55 Years and Still at It
CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Dec. 7.—A wielder of the razor, scissors and clippers, not to mention the brush and hot towels, for 55 years G. W. Talent, dean of Cape Girardeau's barbers, has worn the hair of at least 250,000 customers. Talent holds forth in a small shop on the local Broadway, where he is lord of all he surveys, for the shop is a "one-chair shop."

The veteran tonsorial artist gained his first experience at Millersville, Mo., where he bought a complete barbering outfit, including the building, for $15. After some years of practicing on the residents of Millersville, he became adept and moved to Jackson the county seat. During these years, Talent says, a barber's equipment consisted of a razor and a pair of shears. Massages, shampooing, fancy oils and tonics, and the like, were practically unknown to the rural barber.

Talent has two sons who have followed in the profession of their father, locating in Chicago. The 68-year old veteran says that he will probably close up his shop in 1930, and he himself to the big city, where he will aid his sons in taking care of the World's fair business.

Prison Near Austin Pictured in Report

AUSTIN, Dec. 7.—A state prison near Austin growing foodstuffs and manufacturing supplies for the seven state institutions here, doing the state printing; making automobile license plates; quarrying rock for state buildings and roads, furnishing "trusties" to work about the state capitol and institutions is pictured in a majority prison report drafted by State Senator Edgar of Waco to be submitted to a prison committee meeting here on Dec. 15.

The draft of the formal report has two divergences from previously understood proposals. It puts no mileage limit on the distance from Austin, and it provides for annual expenditure of $250,000 a year for completing the prison work after it is started instead of $500,000 a year. An initial expenditure of $1,000,000 is recommended.

Opposition to location on sites now owned by the state is discussed. Objections are: The distance from state institutions that are to receive prison produced supplies; distance officials have to go from the capital to prisons on official trips; difficulty of providing adequate medical attention for prisoners and alms; unsuitability of soil on some sites and danger of river overflow on others.

THE HI-LIFE

In Which the News of Cisco High School is Presented
MARY BETH LANGSTON, Editor

The Cisco Chamber of Commerce-Big Dam Fighting Lobo-High School Band entertained the student body in assembly Friday morning. This program was one of the best given in the auditorium this year, and the school is justly proud of its band. The program consisted of national emblem, Panorama Overture, "Asleep in the Deep," base solo by Alton Roan, charter member of the band; "Lullaby Moon," violin solo by Evelyn Collum, nine year old daughter of the director, and "Kaefer's Special March." Mr. Collum had selected some other numbers, but the scarceness of time would not permit his giving them. One of the numbers, "Panorama Overture" was the selection with which the band won the contest held in Abilene last spring. The band is looking forward to the contest this spring and hopes to make a good showing. Forty members participated in the program and Mr. Collum could scarcely find space to seat them.

The debating teams and their sponsors, Miss Neely, left Friday afternoon for the contest at Colorado Saturday.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

By Ahern

Avenging Parrot

by Anne Cluston

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Between 11:5 and 12:15 Saturday night, June 29, Mrs. Emma Barker, inmate of Mrs. Rhodes' house, is strangled to death by Bonnie Dundee, "sub" detective, assisted by Lieut. Strawn in investigation. Emil Sevier, boarder, whom Mrs. Hogarth accused of trying to rob her, is arrested. Dundee, theater pianist, is arrested as a material witness. Other boarders under suspicion are: Henry Dowd, Paige, Walter Styles, practicing a bankrupt, who had quarreled with Mrs. Hogarth; Bert, amateur scenario writer, Daisy Shepherd, Jewel Briggs, photographer, away for the week-end, not quizzed.

From papers secreted in Mrs. Barker's trunk, Dundee learns Sally Graves who wrote her a month ago that her daughter had the "D." mentioned in diary is Dan Griffin, son-in-law, of whose turning over the keys to the house Dundee has serious doubts. Details of Sally's life in New York June 2, Bon concludes Griffin murdered women and that he is in the house! Dowd and Magnus, arrived since Sally's murder, watched. Dundee is excited to find an old envelope had held a rail ticket, with name on it, showing he left New York June 3. Sevier picked up but insists he is not the man and incriminates Cora, admitting planning to rob Mrs. Barker that Saturday night. He climbed to her room, saw there dead and Cora rummaging about the desk.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Do you think?" Sevier asked back in his hard straight chest heaving, a flame of anger and triumph in his red-rimmed eyes. "Cora Barker! That's the name I'm accusing." He mimicked Dundee's grammar. "I wouldn't mind on her if she hadn't tried to kill me. She wouldn't help after all that had been between us, and after promising to help me get hold of the key if I'd marry her, but she'd do the job for somebody else — a new sweetie, I guess."

For the first time since he had been in the institution of Emil Sevier, Dundee felt a thrill of hope in his cherished theory of the case was not yet wholly busted by the capture of this suspect. He was willing to acknowledge himself in the wrong, but now like that!" Sevier cried futilely. "I'll tell the truth all right, whether you believe me or not! I did go to the Rhodes House Saturday night, but it wasn't till half-past 11. Right up to the last minute I didn't have any intention of going, but—well, I was broke and I'd been fired, and I knew it might be a long time before I got a job, what with the talking movies having their own musical accompaniment, and all that. I had a notion I might still persuade Cora to help me—"

"I can't quite understand why you needed Cora's help so badly," Dundee interrupted. "It seems rather a one-man job to me, simply searching a helpless, sleeping old woman's room for hidden money."

"The plan was for Cora to give her just a tiny bit of chloroform, not enough to hurt her but enough to keep her asleep while we searched the room," Sevier explained. "Cora used to be a training nurse when she was a young girl, and she knew how to do it. I was afraid to try it by myself, because I didn't want to take any chance on killing the old lady with an overdose. Cora said the smell would blow out of the room by morning, with the window open, and we thought Mrs. Hogarth wouldn't know she'd been drugged. We sort of counted, too, on Mrs. Hogarth not looking for her money for several days—long enough to give us a chance to get clear away. And she wouldn't have been able to say just when it was stolen either."

"A very clever scheme," Dundee commented without malice. "You had the chloroform, I suppose?"

"Yes, I'd had some for a long time—got it for a toothache," Sevier answered. "I threw it away out of the train window—"

"Suppose you begin again, Sevier, at half-past 11 that night," Dundee interrupted.

"Well, I came up the alley and crawled along the drive way hedge till I got to the greenhouse. I wasn't going to try anything till Cora came home, because I thought maybe if I'd make love to her a little she'd still come across. A lot of the glass panes are broken in the greenhouse and I could see the house and the front walk clear to the street. I had to wait so long for Cora to come home that I finally took a chance and smoked a cigarette, and I guess I folded that theater program, just like you said," Sevier conceded. "Cora was so late that I was about to give up and go on to the station, and I was nervous anyway, because the light was on in the corner room—that room I had when I boarded at the Rhodes House—and I knew I'd have to pass by Dowd's windows if I went to Cora's or Mrs. Hogarth's room by way of the upstairs porch. But the light went off finally—"

"When?" Dundee interrupted sharply.

"About 10 minutes to 12. I got a radiant dial wristwatch and I kept looking at it, because Cora was so late. And when something else made me nervous—"

"What?" Dundee interrupted, a strange exultation in his voice.

"I didn't know then what it was, but now I guess it must have been that cap of Dusty's, because I didn't have it—never had the thing in my hands or on my head in my life. Anyway, something threw something from off the upstairs porch or out of a window, for it came sailing down into the hedge not far from the greenhouse. I was so nervous about what I was planning to do that I didn't sneak out to investigate—thought at the time it didn't amount to anything anyway—just one of the boarders throwing something away. Dowd had just turned his light off and I thought it was him."

"It appeared to come from that part of the upstairs porch?" Dundee pressed.

"Yeah, but I didn't see it coming. I just heard it hit the hedge, and I doped it out that it came from Dowd's window."

Dundee considered for a moment, his eyes narrowed to blue slits, as he pictured the west side of the Rhodes House. If Sevier was telling the truth—and Dundee believed he was—the cap could have been thrown, so that it would strike the hedge from any one of three windows—Henry Dowd's, Lawrence Sharp's, or Norma Paige's.

"The something—whether the cap or not—was thrown soon after Dowd's light went off, you say?" Dundee asked.

"Not very soon—maybe 10 minutes afterward. About 12 o'clock, I'd say," Sevier, almost at ease now, replied eagerly. "And it was exactly 10 minutes after 12 when Cora at last came up the walk. The greenhouse isn't near enough to the front porch for me to have attracted her attention, and I didn't try. I just waited till I was sure she'd had time to get to her room, and then I climbed the rose trellis. I left my straw hat on the ground by the trellis, and when I came back down I stepped on it and smashed it. But that's getting ahead of my story," Sevier caught himself up.

"The Business of the Apothecary is a Mystery—"

King James I of England was the originator of the modern slogan "Your Druggist is more than a merchant." In the 16th century the apothecaries of England were forced to unite with the grocers in a Guild. King James, however, was influenced to give the apothecaries a separate charter, and in re- sponse to the protest of the Grocers Guild he said: "Grocers are but merchants; the business of the apothecary is a mystery"—which at that period meant art or profession.

And pharmacists as a class have entrenched themselves ever since as professional men. Colleges of Pharmacy have been established. The problems that face the pharmacist in the materials he handles make it necessary for him to have a wide acquaintance with the sciences upon which his art depends. Moody Charges Money Collected From Utility Patrons in Texas Used to Influence Maine Election

CALVESTON, Dec. 7.—That money collected from Texas public utility patrons was spent in Maine to influence an election there was a charge made by Governor Dan Moody in an address here today to the Texas Association of City Attorneys.

In that campaign, Governor Moody said, it was alleged that $250,000 was expended that had been made from utility users in Maine. The representatives of that utility company replied that the money expended in the campaign was not money made from Maine consumers but was made in transactions in Texas. Governor Moody said: "Are the people of Texas to be traded on, money to be made and extracted from their pockets by utility companies for use in elections in the state of Maine?" he asked. "If the people of this state are to say if hydro-electric power producers in the state might be exported."

Other alleged utility practices criticized by Governor Moody were: Creating favorable public opinion by sale of blocks of stock with little power in the company control and little return as compared with other stock; placing prominent and popular citizens on boards; seeking to influence newspapers and seeking to influence college and university teaching.

"I have no accusations to bring against Texas newspapers because I know of no effort to control their opinion or to subsidize their columns," the governor continued. "It is, however, I think, a proven fact that utility concerns that either own businesses in Texas or are affiliated through inter-corporate connections with businesses in Texas have sought to gain control of newspapers in other states. The newspaper is the greatest medium of public information in this world today. Its responsibility to the public in matters of leadership is tremendous and its obligation to the public is as great as any obligation could be. The effort of utility companies to gain control of newspapers and thus destroy the independence of this medium of information is something that should attract the attention of every citizen interested in the welfare of his country. If utility concerns out of the state that own interests in utilities in this state or are connected with utility interests in this state through inter-connections, are conducting a business which prompts them to this undertake to control the newspapers in these other states, it is time that the people of Texas might give attention to the subject."

Governor Moody discussed his view of the need of a state regulation of utilities, reiterating his arguments as given in a message on the topic sent to the last legislature. Inability of small cities to bear the expense of adequate rate litigation and difficulty of allocating the share of operating cost when the same company serves many communities were stressed as reasons for state control.

50 Ministers Are Expected at Meet

EASTLAND, Dec. 7.—Rev. H. M. Sell, pastor of the Church of God, here Saturday announced that he was expecting an attendance of approximately 50 ministers to the annual Texas Ministers' Meeting of that church, which will be held in Eastland this year beginning on Tuesday, December 10.

Due to the fact that Warner Memorial University, a school founded by the Church of God, is located in Eastland, a number of pastors from Oklahoma and Louisiana are expected to attend the meeting, Rev. Sell said.

The five daily service sessions will be held at the Church of God on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 10, 11 and 12. The meeting is scheduled to take up congregational work and to hold discussions on individual problems and exchange of ideas. An advance program was not made public.

The association has no regular corps of officers but as each service is started, it was announced by Rev. Sell, a chairman is selected by the meeting.

DON'T LET BRONCHIAL COUGH KEEP YOU FROM SLEEP NIGHTS

Thousands Testify That It Is Easy to Stop Such Coughing.

READ WHAT ONE SAYS WHO COUGHED NIGHTS

"I suffered with Bronchial trouble and catching cold very easy on account of it I frequently would cough so bad night after night, I couldn't rest. I naturally tried the old time remedies and cough syrups but without relief. Then one night I noticed an advertisement in my farm paper about Lin-O-Nine and sent for two bottles and that was all I needed. It gave me relief right from the very start so I know it will help other people the same as it did me and gladly say so in writing," declares Emelia Hecht, well known farmer of Troy, Ill.

Druggists here are rapidly obtaining Lin-O-Nine from their jobber for customers who have tried other remedies without result. And it is amazing how many are reporting wonderful relief. Lin-O-Nine isn't so well known here but in many sections where winter coughs and colds are common as in Northern States it is a household word and doctors prescribe it too. Fishermen actually engaged in catching cod fish off the banks of Massachusetts swear by it in preference to Cod Liver preparations and they have real colds in winter. If the reader would like to try this pleasant tasting, harmless, snowy white emulsion of Flax-seed, Eucalyptus, Betula, Cassia, Irish Moss and Glycerine they should ask druggist to get a bottle if he hasn't it already, or send yourself to the famous Kerr Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md., and they will send bottle return mail. They guarantee results or money back without question. The price is 50 cents for a 7 ounce bottle and $1 for 15 oz. large size. (They pay postage).—Adv.

Test Near Cross Plains Below 1,000
 CROSS PLAINS, Dec. 7. — Fast drilling has been in progress on the Harvey Vestal deep test, located a few miles north of Cross Plains, during the past two weeks, having passed the 1,026 foot depth the first of this week. At the end of the week they will probably reach a depth of 1,300 feet. 4,000 feet or over, is the goal of this test, unless pay is struck before reaching that depth. It is not a great distance from the old discovery well on the Elmer Vestal place, which came in a gusher near the 4,000 foot depth, and started the first oil boom in Callahan county. Its outcome is being keenly watched by the oil fraternity.

The shallow test near Cottonwood, which was completed a few days ago, to reveal anything except a small quantity of gas, and has been pronounced a dry hole.

Grundy Is Seen as Vare's Successor
 PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 14.— Speculation over a successor to William S. Vare, whom the United States senate, entered today around Joseph R. Grundy of Bristol, well-known for his activities in Washington as leader of the high tariff lobbyists.
 It was the general belief in political circles here that Grundy could have the post if he desired it. If the senatorship is not to his liking, it is certain that his views on the appointment will carry much weight with Governor John S. Fisher.
 Governor Fisher has declined to discuss the situation, however, he made it clear that he will not attempt to put Vare in the senate by an appointment.
 Speaking at the national guard association meeting in Reading, Governor Fisher made it clear that regardless of any threats made on the floor of the senate yesterday, or previously, he would select the man he thought best fitted to represent the state in the upper house of congress.
 I have just learned that a sena-

OIL NEWS OF SOUTHWEST
 PARIS, Dec. 7.—Top of pay at the Johnson-Lauberhelia test well, west of here, should be reached with very little more drilling if the test continues to log the same as the discovery well in the Van field, according to oil men who are watching developments at the local test.
 From the beginning the test has logged almost identical with the Van discovery well.
 Another core was taken Friday and will continue to be taken until the test is completed. It is believed that top of pay will be reached in the next 15 or 20 feet of drilling. The core taken Friday was in brown shale. The bottom of the core carried a blue gas sand.
 The test is now down about 2,820 feet.

Voice of Harold Lloyd on Screen

"Christmas comes but once a year—and so does Harold Lloyd, with almost as much attendant excitement and interest on the part of young and old as the Yule season brings.

This time Harold appears in his first all-talking picture—"Welcome Danger" at the Palace. The show opened there yesterday.

"Welcome Danger" is all that the title implies. It is plentifully supplied with chilling thrills. And Lloyd, of course, is all that his name implies—namely uproarious comedy.

In the opening of the narrative we see him as a young man, a resident of Boston, who has a deep interest in botany and horticulture. His father, now deceased, had held high hopes that the lad would become a "chip off the old block," an iron fisted police chief and foe of the underworld such as he himself was in San Francisco. Since the father's demise the more crooked Chinatown's underworld have been running wild in San Francisco and friends of the late chief, in a last-minute resort, wire Harold to come west and take up the battle with the crooked politicians and Tong men.

Harold goes to San Francisco and by a lucky break gets the reputation of being a hard-boiled wielder of the law. Then he is plunged into a series of amazing battles in the underworld in which thrill after thrill and laugh after laugh are produced by that rare Lyndian genius for fun and excitement.

Fine Arts Pupils to Give Recital

A Betsy Ross operetta and flower review will be presented Friday evening at 7:30 in the highschool auditorium under the sponsorship of the mothers of the Holmesly Fine Arts school. Children of the grammar schools and several high school freshmen will take part in the program, the proceeds from which will go to the piano fund for the high-school.

The operetta includes the origin of the flag with the characterization of George Washington, George Morris, George Ross, and Betsy Ross, a representation of the different states, and the flag. The flower review is a picturesque portrayal of fall flowers, featured by staging and dancing.

Malice Aforethought Must Be Alleged

AUSTIN, Dec. 11.—Malice aforethought must still be alleged in a murder indictment to sustain a penalty of more than five years, the court of criminal appeals ruled here today in passing on the statute recently passed to simplify murder case procedure.

The decision was written by Judge C. S. Lindheimer in the case of John Swiley who had been given a life sentence in Liberty county on a charge of killing H. J. Hendrix on Oct. 18, 1928. The indictment merely charged killing with a gun. The case was reversed and remanded for new trial.

A 15 year case against Obbie Davis, Jr., in Harrison county on a charge of killing Chapman Jarrel with a gun in Panola county also was reversed and remanded. In deciding this case the court held that the trial judge must rule on the admissibility of evidence without making comment upon it before the jury.

Will Try to Prevent Rural Aid Payments

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 11.—Attempts to prevent the state school board from distributing any part of its $5,000,000 rural aid fund will be made in district court here Dec. 27.

An injunction will be presented

King and Murphy Recommend $1,000,000 Prison to Be Built on Imperial Farm

AUSTIN, Dec. 11.—A million dollar prison to be built on the Imperial Prison farm, 20 miles south of Houston, is recommended by Representatives A. H. King of Throckmorton and E. T. Murphy of Livingston in a draft of a minority report on prison centralization to be submitted to the centralization committee Friday.

Another minority report which is being prepared by Sen. Nat Patton of Crockett will recommend rebuilding a prison at Huntsville. Fourteen members of the committee will favor a $4,000,000 industrial prison near Austin. State Sen. Edgar Witt of Waco, who is preparing the majority report, said.

The King-Murphy report suggests that the building be done with prison labor and begin by replacing wooden barracks with concrete. They recommend also that appointment of the prison board be taken out of the hands of the governor "as it is manifestly unfair to saddle the management of the penitentiary on the governors," and that the offices of warden and prison manager be combined.

If the legislature does not approve of the Imperial farm site, King and Murphy say the next best proposal is to modernize the plant at Huntsville. Overflow danger is minimized in the King-Murphy report. The only serious overflow, they say, was caused by simultaneous rises in three streams and that it was before drift had been removed from the Colorado river. Such overflow as can occur in the future, they report, will be beneficial. Sen. Witt countered this statement with the report that B. P. Williams, state reclamation engineer, estimates that it will take $2,000,000 to properly levee prison land that is subject to overflow. Witt has prepared an exhibit to show that in the past 20 years the prisons have cost Texas $10,900,000 above the revenue derived from them.

at that time. Hearing on the temporary order was continued until Dec. 27 yesterday. If the order is granted, the use of funds will be tied up until the next legislature can rewrite the bill so as to aid schools which need the money. The plaintiffs declared the bill and law are unconstitutional because it violates the states and national constitutions in relation to the equal rights of citizens.

Time About Is Fair Play

AUSTIN, Dec. 11.—When a husband opens a bank account for his wife, and himself fills out the signature card, he has a right to sign her name to checks for the money, supreme court has decided.

Mrs. Clara Shelburne's husband at Houston deposited $750 in her name in Public National bank, and gave her the pass book. Later he checked the money out. She sued the bank for it. But trial court, civil appeals court and supreme court all said "No" to her claim.

POULTRY SHOW TO BE HELD IN RANGER SOON

RANGER, Dec. 11.—The second annual Oil Belt Poultry show will open Thursday morning in Ranger.

Four hundred birds, including some of the finest chickens and turkeys in this section, and 100 rabbits will be on display.

Doors of the exposition will open at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and the show will remain open until 5 o'clock each evening. It lasts three days. The public is invited to attend. There is no charge.

Chickens from Frankell, Weatherford, Breckenridge, Eastland, Cisco, Rising Star, Carbon and other sections are expected.

Three hundred dollars in prizes is offered.

In addition to the awards for the customary divisions in a poultry show, there will be a prize for the heaviest turkey. There will be prizes for the finest dozen white eggs and the finest dozen brown eggs.

Merchants have arranged booths. Montgomery Ward, E. C. Jones Milling company, the Texas Electric Service company, the Young Street Floral company, the Graham Milling company, Dudley Bros. Hatchery and perhaps others will have booths.

Dan Dudley is superintendent of the show and Ben Whitehouse, vocational agriculturist, is secretary.

The judging will be done by E. C. Johnson, who is in charge of the famous egg-laying contest at John Tarleton college.

It is expected that the show will be the most successful ever held in this territory. Last year, large crowds attended and even greater attendance is expected the three days, beginning Thursday. The show is being held in the former J. M. White building on Main street.

Lions Vote to Send Buckaroos Message

Coaches W. B. Chapman and W. L. Hill had charge of the program at the Lions club today noon. Miss Blanch Van Horn read for the club and Joe Carothers sang two numbers. The meeting was held in the first floor dining room of the Laguna.

Dr. C. C. Jones made a motion that was passed, that the club send a telegram to the Breckenridge Lions club wishing the Buckaroos success in Saturday's game with the Waco high school Tigers. Jake Leach was the only Lion present dissenting from this motion.

Program next week will be in charge of Rev. Acker C. Miller and Principal L. W. Hartsfield of the high school.

Convicted Man Condemns Jurors

LUBBOCK, Dec. 11.—Clay Lester, sentenced to serve 99 years in the penitentiary for murdering his wife, today condemned the twelve jurors for the verdict they returned.

"I should have either been sentenced to the electric chair or acquitted," he declared. "If I was sane at the time, I should be executed, if I was temporarily insane or drugged, I should have been acquitted."

Lester killed his wife for "running around with other men." After shooting he beat her in the face with the butt of his gun. Defense attorneys said he was a drug addict and was under the influence of paranoias when he committed the crime.

About fifteen soldiers reside in or near Cisco, and it is hoped that the majority of these, if not all, will be able to come. About twelve were present at the dinner last year. Among them were J. C. Tally, R. F. Weddington, Dr. W. E. Mancell, John Sawyers, Tom Johnson, Mr. Lockhart, and Mr. Marshman.
