JURY FOR ALLEN HEARING COMPLETED Annual Lobo Banquet Is Set for Next Friday Evening LOVE BILL PASSES TEXAS SENATE

WILL PERMIT QUICK RULING ON CANDIDACY

Only One Amendment Is Made to the Bill

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—Senator Tom Love's bill to let courts rule without delay on the power of the state Democratic committee to keep his name off the Democratic primary ballot as a candidate for governor was passed by the Texas senate today. The vote was 24 ayes, one no and one pair. Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin voted against the bill. Senator Archer Parr of Benavides was paired against it.

The bill has yet to go to the house. Sixty-four members have signed a similar bill in the house so passage there is expected also.

The Love bill was passed in the form in which it was introduced with only one amendment. That amendment says that in filing petitions under it in courts of civil appeals the case must be filed in the district where the cause of action is claimed to exist.

Briefly the bill eliminates the delay necessary by filing a suit in district court by permitting the suit to be filed originally in the higher courts. In this way it is claimed a ruling can be had before the election day.

The state Democratic executive committee meets June 9 to certify candidates to the county executive committees for the Democratic primary ballot. The committee already had given notice it will not certify Senator Love's name because he supported Hoover after participating in the primary. Under his bill he can file a mandamus immediately after the committee certifies the candidates.

There is some contention that he can do so on the declaration of the committee's intention without waiting until June 9, if the bill finally passes the house and is signed by Governor Moody. It carries an emergency clause making it effective as soon as signed by the governor.

After acting on the Love bill, a penitentiary bill program was agreed to in the senate. The house bill is reported out at once by the penitentiary committee. Senator E. E. Witt will then move to substitute the senate bill, which already has passed to final reading in the senate. If it is adopted, it was admitted the house will refuse to concur. This will result in a conference committee.

The house took up a constable's fee bill for Dallas county. Dallas members were divided upon it.

WHEN TAFT, ILL., WAS CARRIED TO HIS HOME

Pale and worn and pronounced by physicians "a very sick man," William Howard Taft—a private citizen again after relinquishing his post as chief justice—is shown in this remarkable NEA Service picture as he was carried into his Washington residence upon his arrival from Asheville, N. C. The former president is pictured here as he was borne upon friendly arms from the automobile which conveyed him from the railroad station to his home.

3 INMATES OF CITY HOSPICE DIE IN BLAZE

BROCKTON, Mass., Feb. 11.—Three aged inmates perished today in a fire which destroyed the city home here early today.

Police and firemen were searching the ruins in belief that other inmates may have died in the flames. Police said they had difficulty in checking up on the casualties because the injured were taken to many different hospitals here and in nearby towns.

The city home was a three-story frame building located about two miles from the center of the city. It housed about 80 aged persons, 60 men and 20 women.

Eastland Native Dies Suddenly
EASTLAND, Feb. 11.—Ed C. Simmons, Jr., about 48, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. C. Simmons of this city, died suddenly at his drug store at San Saba at noon yesterday.

Details of the man's death were not known here as the family including brother and sisters, left immediately for San Saba upon receipt of the sad news.

Simmons was born and raised in Eastland and had many friends in his native city. Funeral arrangements had not been completed today pending the arrival of the parents and brothers and sisters at San Saba.

STEAMER BURNS, SINKS AT PIER

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Fire which cracked through the inflammable shellac in the hold of the north German Lloyd liner Muenchen, scuttled the big vessel today as she lay against her pier in the North river.

One fireman was killed, five were injured and three others were reported missing, according to first reports.

When it was apparent that it would be impossible to save the ship, which had arrived from Bremen today, more than a day late, her lines were cut loose and she was allowed to swing away from the dock and sink.

JUDGE KENNON PAYS VISIT TO CISCO TODAY
A figure familiar to every Ciscoan, R. W. H. Kennon, was welcomed back to this city for a few brief hours today. Mr. Kennon, affectionately known as "Judge" by virtue of having served as justice of the peace in Rockwall county, endeared himself to the people of Cisco through almost a decade of newspaper work. He was the founder of the American and later served as editor of that paper and its companion with the Daily News.

Almost a year ago he left Cisco to become editor of the Herald at Wink, Texas. When that paper was consolidated with the Wink Times some months later Mr. Kennon became editor of both. He gave up that position about three weeks ago.

Mr. Kennon finds the climate at Wink healthful, a statement that his robust appearance bears out. However, he said, business there is quiet. He announced that he will probably locate in Pecos where he will enter the insurance business.

ABOLITION OF SUBS URGED BY STIMSON

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The abolition of submarines in naval warfare was urged upon the five-power naval conference by Secretary Henry L. Stimson today as "a practical and common sense measure."

The chief American delegate told a plenary session of the conference at St. James palace that submarines were more costly "ton for ton" than any larger warcraft; that the sub-

TOKIO, Feb. 11.—Dismal failure for the London naval conference was predicted today by Admiral Viscount Saito, governor of Tokyo, and chief of the Japanese delegation to the tri-power conference at Geneva, "unless the Anglo-American viewpoints are modified."

marine is a weapon particularly susceptible to abuse which might cause recurrence of "the dreadful experiences of the past."

Standing erect beside the conference table, his right hand thrust into a pocket, Stimson was the second of five speakers who presented contrasting views on abolition of submarines. Great Britain and Italy supported proposals for ending submarine warfare. France and Japan opposed abolition and urged that the conference accept a French resolution toward a five-power agreement which would force submarines to obey the same rules of warfare that apply to surface ships.

The five powers were unanimously agreed that, failing to achieve abolition of submarines, strict limitation of their usage should be enforced. Great Britain joined with the United States in opposing the French contention that submarines provide cheap naval protection.

100 BUSINESS MEN ARE DUE TO TAKE PART

Jake Leach Will Be Toastmaster as Boys Are Entertained

Every man in Cisco with a dollar ahead of the sheriff is not only invited but expected to attend the annual Lobo Lobs Friday evening at 8 o'clock on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel. The committee in charge of the event has termed it a "Lobo Smoker" not to admit that the football boys smoke but to indicate that it will be a man's night with the boys and to promise that the event will be a whole lot more than a mere banquet.

The Lobo Lobs part in the affair will be to listen to entertainment provided for them, to hear their deeds extolled and Cisco's expectations for 1930 expressed, and to elect a captain in the stead of Willard Miller whose term of service expires with his graduation from high school at the end of the present year.

Five business men have been designated to make brief talks. An orchestra has been secured to enliven the time with rousing harmonies and a menu that in itself will be worth the dollar that each plate will cost has been ordered.

To cap the climax Jake Leach will be shanghaied into the job of toastmaster.

At least 100 business men are expected to be present for the smoker. Places will be laid for 200.

COUNTY WILL BE DISTRICTED FOR CENSUS
Lists of farmers in the eighth census district are being secured for the purpose of mailing out sample questionnaires prior to the beginning of census taking on April 1. These questionnaires contain many of the queries that census takers will put to citizens and through their study by the citizens the work of enumerating the populace will be expedited.

Maps of each county have also been obtained with the aid of which each will be districted. The city of Cisco has been laid out in four districts, and each enumerator will have approximately 2,000 people to count.

W. L. Homesley, of Gorman, has been appointed to take the census of the manufacturing industries of the county.

Impeachment May Be Carried Over

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—A ruling that the house of representatives may sit to consider the charges initiating impeachment proceedings against State Comptroller S. H. Terrell after the close of the present session is announced by Speaker W. S. Barron. Hearing of these charges is to begin Thursday morning. If not completed in the four remaining days of the session, Barron holds the hearing can go on.

To return articles of impeachment another session would be necessary. This can be called by the house members themselves, Speaker Barron said.

If impeachment is voted by the house, it will act as an automatic suspension of the comptroller and the governor is authorized to make a provisional appointment until the senate decides on the impeachment. Mark Wington, secretary to the governor was formerly state comptroller and he might be named temporarily for the place.

Eighteen counts are set out in the charges against Comptroller Terrell which were placed before the house shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Failure to account for $54,563 deposited in the Austin National bank in a special account and the allegation that there was misapplication of this fund is the principal charge.

YOUNGEST OFFICIAL FACES CRISIS
AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—Following in the footsteps of his father who preceded him in the office he holds, State Comptroller Sam Houston Terrell forged his way up from a doughboy back from France to a position of responsibility and trust.

But the vote of scandal has been raised. The youngest man ever to hold the office of state comptroller this week is to face accusing fingers, and hear voices which will question his handling of state funds.

It is the first time the question of his integrity has been raised. Terrell has enjoyed political patronage and trust, and there are those who have predicted a bright future for him in public life.

Terrell was raised in west, McLennan county, near Waco. His father operated one of a string of Texas newspapers which was published there, and was for years a member of the house and the state senate. Later he became comptroller and died while holding that office.

Wigington succeeded Dan Moody's present secretary, succeeded him by appointment. Lon A. Smith, railroad commissioner, later was elected comptroller and served two terms. Sam Houston Terrell ran for the office his deceased father held and won it.

TESTIMONY IS BEGUN TODAY AT 1 O'CLOCK

15 Witnesses Will Be Called by Each Side

E. V. Allen's mentality was impaired by two attacks of scarlet fever suffered in his youth, Dr. W. D. Haney, of Kingston, Oklahoma, the Allen family physician, testified in Allen's sanity hearing at Eastland this afternoon. Dr. Haney was the first witness called in the case.

Another witness was a deputy sheriff from Dallas county. Witnesses for the defense testified that Allen, in discussing his case with the pardon board, told the board members that he and H. F. Hyden, who is under 99-year sentence for the Carbon bank robbery, came to Texas from Oklahoma and on the night before the Carbon robbery stopped to spend the night at the home of a widow three or four miles from Carbon. They said he told the board that he and Hyden had a falling out that night and that Allen left early the next morning for Oklahoma and that Hyden went to Ranger where he picked up "Whitely" Walker and the two went back and robbed the bank, so Allen was informed.

The taking of testimony in the E. V. Allen sanity trial in the 88th district court was to begin at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The selection of the jury, which was begun Monday morning, having been completed just before noon 12 o'clock this morning.

TAFT OUT AND HUGHES IN.

William Howard Taft resigned the chief justiceship of the supreme court of the United States and President Hoover, an hour after the Taft resignation had been received, nominated Charles Evans Hughes for the place. To be chief justice of the supreme court of the United States is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon an American of the legal world. To be an associate justice of the United States supreme court is an honor that all lawyers may dream of but few attain.

William Howard Taft, who retired to prevent life at 72, is broken in health. He resigned for the reason that his physicians told him that his career would be shortened unless he stepped down from the bench and enjoyed the quietude of the simple life.

He had been a state judge, a federal judge, a noted diplomat, a secretary of war, chairman of the United States commission of the Philippines and the first American governor-general of the Philippines. He had been president of the United States for a term. He had been defeated for reelection by Woodrow Wilson.

He had been named chief justice of the court of last resort by Warren C. Harding. Now he is out of the picture, a great jurist, a great administrator, a man of the highest integrity, and he will be known in all history as a Republican chief magistrate who had the moral courage to name for the chief justiceship an associate justice who was an uncompromising Democrat, a veteran of the Confederate army whose body was covered with scars, and who was a member of the Roman Catholic church.

Charles Evans Hughes is as widely known as his predecessor. He was an outstanding governor of New York for two terms. He was recognized in the legal world as one of the outstanding members of the American bar. He was an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. He was a presidential nominee of the Republican party in 1916 and was defeated by Woodrow Wilson.

He was made a member of the world court by President Coolidge, and now he steps into the shoes vacated by William Howard Taft. This great son of Ohio who has resigned the cares of high place had the distinction of serving as president of the United States and as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, an honor no other American since the birth of the republic has enjoyed.

Charles Evans Hughes served as an associate justice of the supreme court; he resigned the place when made the standard bearer of the Republican party. Defeated for election, he returned to the general practice of the law and now the highest honor in the American world that a lawyer can attain is his.

He is the last successor to date of John Marshall, the illustrious Virginian whose name and whose fame are immortalized in the pages of American history.

D. J. Moran, president of the Continental Oil company says: "That confidence is the outgrowth of truthful representations by everyone associated with the business life of useful industries. Honest merchandise, uncontaminated by the tricks of chemistry or inventive swiftness, will always win its place in proportion to its utility among the trade, dependent, of course, upon a measure of ability to deliver your message to the consuming public."

It is no secret to anyone that the rapid growth of gasoline as a necessary commodity has lent itself to promotion and unethical practices much beyond the physical limitations of legitimate and responsible units to meet and counteract. It is necessary for the public to sit in judgment of such a situation by discriminating against those whose sole aim is misrepresentation to a gullible clientele. They are selling a quart of oil and a gallon of gasoline without scientifically prescribing for the motorists' needs and posing as oil men in communities that deserve a better citizenship.

Mother Won't Lie to Save Her Son

EL PASO, Feb. 11.—She would do it to save her son from the pen. An 18-year-old youth pleaded guilty in federal court to driving a stolen car from Oklahoma City to El Paso. He told in court that his mother was seriously ill in California and his father refused to finance a trip to visit her.

But attorneys injected a new angle in the story. They read a letter from California justice agents telling how they called on the mother. She told them that she had not been sick; that her son had written begging her to say she was; but she didn't intend to lie even to save him.

Hughes Will Probably Assume Office of Chief Justice of the U. S. February 24

By HERBERT LITTLE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The chief justice of the United States is "the most important judicial officer in the world," according to Charles Evans Hughes, shortly to assume that office.

In the oft-quoted words of the supreme court's doorman, "there ain't no appeal from this cete, 'cept to Almighty God."

And Hughes, a "lawyer's lawyer," former associate justice, ex-governor of New York, and unsuccessful candidate for the presidency, will assume the heavy black robes of the court's chiefman on Feb. 24. Senate confirmation of President Hoover's nomination of Hughes to replace William Howard Taft is virtually certain.

COURTS WILL LIKELY DECIDE BOLTER ISSUE

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Feb. 10.—The effect of the decision of the state Democratic executive committee to bar Tom Love and other who supported President Hoover from places on the Democratic ballot as candidates for state office still is the subject of lively discussion.

It is good party discipline, but may be doubtful expediency in the view of Alfred Fetsch of Fredericksburg, and his expression summarizes the opinion frequently heard here.

Love himself took the decision with utmost good humor. He sat laughing and smiling in the committee room when the action was taken. He believes the courts will nullify the committee ruling.

Even had the committee omitted the direct barring and insisted that candidates make a binding "sin-no-more" pledge with no reservation of judgment or conscience, Love would not have taken such a pledge. During a recess of the committee, he was asked if he would take such a pledge.

MOVEMENT TO FORM LIBERAL PARTY WATCHED

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Seasoned political leaders are watching with keen interest development of the infant movement for a third party built along slightly new lines—a liberal party professing tolerance in all things as its underlying purpose.

Most practical politicians are frankly skeptical of success for any such new party as proposed by Samuel Harden Church, president of the Carnegie institute, at a recent meeting of the association against the prohibition amendment. Some, however, connect it with the current restlessness of the existing political order and wonder if it may not produce something.

Church's idea is to draw from both the old parties liberal elements whose aim would be to work for abolition of hypocrisy, fanaticism.

She's Getting Thinner Every Day Her Fat is Melting Fast Away

All over the world Kruschen Salt is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free from fat figure that cannot fail to win admiration.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salt in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dozen that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning.

The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body; and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salt at Moore Drug Co., or any drug store (lasts 4 weeks) with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

One Montana woman lost 19 pounds of fat in 4 weeks and feels better than she has for years.

and cowardice, of which there is so much among Democrats and Republicans." It would go beyond a fight against prohibition and embrace a campaign against religious intolerance, as well.

That there are not only many of the rank and file but also leaders who are ready to throw aside an old party label and pick up a new one was demonstrated in the last campaign when some old-line Republicans deserted their party and voted for Alfred E. Smith.

It is this class among which the leaders of the new movement plan to do their first work, apparently.

They also regard as significant continued dissatisfaction among responsible party men with their parties, notably the recent denunciation of the Republican party in the house because of its stand on prohibition by Representative James M. Beck, of Pa., former solicitor general of the United States and similar criticisms.

Mother-in-Law Is Free in Gun Slaying

TEXARKANA, Ark., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Hanna Johnson was exonerated in a municipal court hearing yesterday in connection with the fatal shooting of John Pourier, slain at her home seven miles east of here Saturday.

Pourier had made threats to kill Mrs. Johnson, who was his mother-in-law, and his estranged wife, the woman said, and she feared for her life when he went to her home and approached them with a hoe handle.

Pourier died of a load of buckshot which struck him in the abdomen.

HELD IN LIQUOR CHARGE

LAREDO, Feb. 11.—Frank M. Leatherman, claiming Dallas as his home, was held to the grand jury under $2,000 bond today following his arrest on charges of violating the liquor laws. He was apprehended near Cotulla and officers said they found 897 pints and 48 quarts of Mexican liquor in his truck.

BUS STATION REMOVED TO NEW LOCATION

Location of the Cisco passenger station of the Southland-Grayhound bus lines has been moved from a former location at D avenue and Eighth street to 105 Fourth street, where up-to-date quarters have been provided in the Laguna hotel building.

This new station is modern in every respect and adjoins the lobby of the Laguna. M. Burge, lately of Sweetwater, and R. D. Murray, lately of Roswell, New Mexico, are the agents at the new station. A driveway and loading shed have been provided next to the station where passengers may board or leave the busses under shelter. This location, it was announced, has been leased for a term of five years.

Reduction in rates has been made, better equipment is being installed on the lines and better connections to distant points are now available," the company announced. "We are attempting to offer the people of Cisco and other communities frequent schedules and modern, comfortable busses at lowest rates."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Judith Cameron, New York typist, marries Arthur Knight, executive of the publishing house in which she is employed. Knight is a widower with a daughter, Tony, 18, in Paris, and a son, Junior, 16, at school. Their Bermuda honeymoon is interrupted by news that Tony is on her way back to America. Tony arrives and denounces Judith as a gold digger.

Tony is secretly continuing a flirtation with Mickey Mortimer, wealthy and married. When Junior comes home for the Christmas holidays he also treats Judith coldly.

Andy Craig, whom Knight has helped through college, takes a position with the publishing firm. He has been in love with Tony for a long while. In a fit of anger Tony tries to convince her father that Andy and Judith are carrying on an affair. Knight denies this but Tony tricks the pair into a compromising situation.

Tony's flirtation with Mortimer is revealed when they are arrested for reckless driving. Tony wins her father's forgiveness and promise of a trip to Miami. Preparations are interrupted when Knight comes home seriously ill. Dr. Shephard, the family physician, diagnosis the case as pneumonia. Two nurses are installed in the household. Junior is summoned from school. For several days none of the family is permitted to see the patient. The nervous strain begins to tell on Judith. At last Knight begins to recover.

CHAPTER XXXIII

Arthur Knight was going to get well.

Late March merged into early spring. Yellow sunlight, not yet warm enough to take the nip from chill air, showered its deceptive radiance over all out-doors. Serpentine shrubs became tufted with foliage.

Gradually since the tense strain of anxiety had lifted in the Knight household its members resumed their usual habits. The atmosphere of the dwelling changed. The home began to catch up with the world outside it.

Judith acquired the habit once more of walking for an hour or so each morning. On these expeditions Sandy always went along.

A faint tracery of color crept back into the girl's cheeks. The tragic, brooding look was gone from her eyes. She was still too thin but so improved in appearance that the doctor began to pay her compliments.

Each afternoon Judith spent several hours with Arthur. The two nurses, Miss Owens and Miss Mallory, were still in charge. Their patient's convalescence was to be

MRS. MARY BRANDON.

"For seven years I was the helpless victim of stomach trouble of the worst sort," said Mrs. Mary Brandon, 5889 Maffitt street, St. Louis. "It did not matter what I ate, belching and often vomiting spells followed the simplest meal. The gas so pressed against my heart that I became short of breath and faint. Sour hot liquids scoured my throat until the heartburn was often frightful. I grew weak and lost weight and strength. No medicine I tried helped me."

"Day by day and week by week after I began with Konjola, my system improved. The gas no longer forms in my stomach now and the bloated sensation has passed. I have an excellent appetite and can eat a hearty meal without the least discomfort. The pains of heartburn are a thing of the past. I have gained weight and energy and my friends remark upon the change in my appearance. I can never express my gratitude for the relief which this great medicine brought me."

Konjola is sold in Cisco by Moore Drug Co. and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

guarded against the least possible resumption of a relapse.

There were flowers now in the sick man's room—a large bowl of tulips, usually, as well as fragrant potted hyacinths.

When Judith was there she sat in a low chair beside the bedside where Knight could see her without shifting on his pillow or raising his head. When he was tired of lying in one position the nurse lifted his shoulders and rearranged the pillows. Such effort was too much for the man's dwindled reserve strength.

It was pathetic to see him lying so still and feeble, but after the anguished loneliness of the week past, to Judith this seemed a slight tax.

Knight's voice was barely above a whisper. He had been cautioned to spare himself even this exertion and most of the day he was silent. His brown eyes, though, remained on Judith whenever she was in the room. With her nearby he seemed to drift into contentment.

Junior was nearing the close of his week's absence from school. He and Tony both visited their father's bedroom daily. Tony's manner was quiet and tender. The boy seemed slightly ill at ease under the eyes of the nurse and his stepmother. "What's the matter with Knight other members of the household seldom saw him except at meal time.

It had been agreed that Junior should depart Sunday morning so that he might be on hand for his classes Monday. He himself had made the suggestion, musing his words and looking off to one side as he spoke to Judith about it.

She agreed this would be best. Arthur Knight's safe recovery would assuredly be only in interference with the boy's school work for Junior to remain home longer. This was particularly true with Knight in such a weak state that there could be no real companionship between the two.

Saturday evening Judith came downstairs to find Arthur Junior lying on the rug before the fireplace with Sandy in his arms. The sharp rat-a-tat-tat of the terrier's little tail beat upon the floor.

The dog looked up, welcoming his mistress; he did not stir. Judith sat down.

"Sandy's getting fond of you, Junior," she said. "Pretty fine little dog, don't you think so?"

The boy nodded.

"I used to have a dog," he said. "Avalade. A car ran over him and after that I didn't want another."

"I know," Judith nodded understandingly. "Accidents are so terrible and they happen every day. I'm trying to be awfully careful with Sandy."

The boy's arms gripped the little dog in a tight hug. Then he sat up and for several minutes studied the floor silently.

Sandy nuzzled against Junior's hand but was ignored. After several seconds of wistful appeal the dog moved on to Judith, who patted his head but gave him no encouragement to settle beside her.

Again the terrier sought attention from Junior. He was neglected.

Quite without introduction the boy suddenly turned toward Judith and said huskily:

"There's something—I mean I want to—I want to tell you something before I go back to school."

She looked at him, too surprised to interrupt. Junior continued swiftly:

"Christmas time I didn't want to come home when I knew you were here. I didn't even want to see you. You wouldn't know—well, I guess I can't explain the way I felt—but what I'm trying to say now is I'm sorry! I'm sorry I talked the way I did and said what I did. I was—wrong!"

It was quite a long speech and an embarrassing one for the boy. Judith was thoroughly amazed by it. There was no reply on the tip of her tongue. None came for a full second after Junior had finished:

"Oh—it's awfully generous of you to say that! Junior—do you mean we can be friends?"

The boy appeared to be quite busy examining the strap of Sandy's black leather collar. He nodded, bending over the dog.

"O. K. with me," he said.

Judith face was radiant. She longed to show by word or act how much—how terribly much—this truce meant. She wanted to slip an arm about Junior's shoulders and tell him that for weeks she had prayed for just such news. She wanted to tell the lad he could count on her, not to try to take a home-like home, to listen to his confidences, to understand his problems.

Each of these impulses Judith suppressed. She was afraid of the way a 16-year-old youth would receive any show of emotion.

"It's O. K. with me, too," she said. "Junior, when you're here Sandy'll be your dog just as much as he's mine."

"All right. Thanks."

Immediately she began to ask questions about the dog's care, what Junior's opinion was on the merits of two different dog foods, how to handle the weekly bath which to Sandy remained a terrific ordeal. The boy answered gravely. Suddenly, Judith's great delight, she found that talking to Arthur's son was easy and stimulating. He really did not hate her. He seemed actually friendly!

Judith was so overcome by this discovery that she could not keep from mentioning it.

She came over where the boy was sitting, knelt down beside him and put out her hand.

"Let's shake hands, Junior," she said. "I'm not going to forget what you've said tonight."

The boy gave her his hand awkwardly.

"That's all right," he told her. "I really wasn't trying to be mean before. Seeing how bad you felt about Father being sick and all you've done for him sort of made me see things differently, I guess."

Judith smiled at him happily. She did not spoil the moment by prolonging it.

"Why don't you go up and say goodnight to your father now?" she suggested. "I'm sure Miss Owens will be willing to break a rule since this is your last night at home."

"Think so? Well, guess I'll try it. Can I take Sandy up?"

Tactfully Judith discouraged this last notion. When the boy returned downstairs, having bade his father good night, the living room was empty. Happiness over the evening's victory was so great Judith felt she must celebrate it solitarily.

Winning the confidence of Arthur's son was such a triumph. She had felt helpless over his grim position as incapable of dealing with it! Now the boy—of his own will—had surrendered.

Was it too much to hope that Tony, who was his sister, would do the same?

Judith Knight pondered all this long after she had turned out the light in her room and slid beneath the covers. She drifted to sleep in a rosy glow of optimism.

Foolish Judith! Once more she made the error of underestimating Tony Knight's endeavors. How little she dreamed that what in prospect she appeared to be a peaceful future was to bring the bitterest blow.

At 10 o'clock next morning, after cordial farewells had been exchanged, Arthur Junior departed for the railway station. Bert went with him, driving the large car.

Andy Craig came for Tony later in the day. Andy had proved himself a true friend throughout Arthur Knight's illness. He had called frequently for bulletins, always with an air of assurance. Judith had blessed him because he had occasionally been able to persuade Tony to stop moping about the house and go out with him of an evening.

This Sunday Andy and Tony went motoring in the girl's own roadster. Though the ban had not been lifted officially, Tony had taken to driving her car again.

Judith watched the pair disappear down the drive way. Then she mounted the stairs and entered Arthur's room.

He greeted her cheerfully.

"Miss Mallory," said Judith impulsively, "it's a gorgeous day outside. Why don't you go out for a couple of hours? I'm sure I can get anything Arthur wants. He's had his medicine, hasn't he?"

"The nurse smiled doubtfully. "He doesn't really need me," she agreed, "if you're going to stay."

"Oh, I want to! Really, you might just as well be enjoying yourself. You're willing to risk your fate in my hands, aren't you, Arthur?"

"Well, if you think it's all right—" Miss Mallory countered. "Of course I do."

"All right then, I would like to run into the city to see my sister just for a few minutes. I can be back in four or five o'clock."

"Until four o'clock, then," said Judith.

The nurse withdrew. Judith brought her chair a little nearer Arthur's bed, sat down and reached out to clasp his hand. Knight's fingers twined about his wife's, then lay still upon the counterpane.

"Tony's driving with Andy," she told him. "Isn't it nice—after so long—to have a little time all to ourselves, dear?"

She realized, the minute she said it, that she ought not to be urging him to talk. Knight's strength was not equal to conversation.

He eyed her seriously.

"Yes," he said in a slow voice. "Judith, there's something I want to talk to you about."

MORAN AND MACK HERE IN FIRST PICTURE

Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, now add to their phonograph and radio fame by making their first screen appearance in Paramount's all talking comedy "Why Bring That Up?" a rapid fire story of the vaudeville stage introducing many of the numbers that they have recorded. In addition to these they present many new Moranisms and Mackities.

"Why Bring That Up?" is from an original story by Octavus Roy Cohen, the famous author of negro stories.

In the picture you see Moran and Mack, the forming of the famous team—their struggle for recognition and you climb with them to success. They show you just how they make up their funny patter and best of all you see them in real life as well as black face, doing their ribcracking dialect.

Moran and Mack, the two Black Crows, have the backing of an elaborate musical show, in the final scenes of their opus. A dazzling array of stage talent! "Why Bring That Up?" is real, you fairly feel every situation and they are all of such character, just like their records, that a child of eight years can fully understand.

"Why Bring That Up?" is the all

How They Grew Thin

You will be surprised, if you look around, at how many people have grown thin in late years. It is evident that some new method has come into very wide use.

It has been found that a weak gland is a great cause of obesity. So modern physicians have been fighting that cause, without starvation diets.

This right method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in almost every circle the delightful results are apparent.

A book in each box of Marmola tells you how and why it acts. The formula is given. Go try this remarkable, this natural means. Ask your druggist today for a $1 box of Marmola. You owe that to yourself.

at the Palace beginning Saturday of last week. The Palace has been showing to packed houses every day since "No, No, Nanette" opened, evidencing the appreciation of the patrons of this section for the advanced policies of the Cisco show house.

LOBOS AND EAGLES WILL MEET TONIGHT

Queens to Entertain Frankell Sextet Wednesday

Both high school basketball teams, the Lobos and the Lobo Queens will see action this week on their home court. The Lobos will play first, meeting the touted Abilene Eagle squad here this evening at 7:30 for the first time this season.

Prominent in the Eagle lineup this season are two brothers, the Crosclose boys, whose height compare with those of the national champions of last year—the Athens Hornets—a team which eliminated the Cisco boys in the semi-finals of that state championship race. The Crosclose boys are expected to cover a lot of territory not only horizontally but vertically. Some fast action is consequently in store for the Lobos tonight.

Tomorrow night at the same hour the Lobo Queens will entertain the Frankell sextet, a team that has always been heard from in the state race. Frankell is noted as the home of a large number of girls who have starred in the court and the Queens will have no easy sailing of it tomorrow evening if the Stephens county team lives up to its traditions.

The Cisco sextet, however, appears to be developing rapidly. The Queens' defeat of the strong Boswell Dairies team last Saturday evening was, aside from its sensational features, evidence of the strength that the local team possesses. They went into the game very decidedly the underdogs but the manner in which they came back to overcome a top-heavy lead and win the game showed that the girls have that never-say-quit spirit that is as vital to championship teams as blood is to life.

Chicago Will Get Army-Irish Game

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 — The 1930 Army-Notre Dame football game will be played at Soldier's field, Chicago, instead of at Yankee stadium, New York.

After a conference of officials of the two schools here yesterday the game was transferred to Chicago to prevent the Notre Dame squad from losing more than two successive weeks from classes.

Sandwina Knocks Out Knute Hansen

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 — Ted Sandwina, German-American heavyweight, held a one-round knockout today over Knute Hansen, Danish conqueror of Phil Scott.

Sandwina stopped Hansen after 1 minute, 49 seconds of fighting in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout at the St. Nickolas arena last night. Sandwina weighed 194 1-4, Hansen 205.

Hansen was down five times before he was counted out.

RANGER TRUCK GARDENER IS FOR ORGATONE

Helps Suffering People by Telling His Experience With Orgatone.

"It didn't take many doses of Orgatone Iron to satisfy me that I had found the right medicine for my case at last," declared Mr. W. N. Huddleston, a well known truck gardener residing at 1220 Young street, Ranger, Texas, the other day.

"For 30 years," continued Mr. Huddleston, "my stomach was in such a terrible condition that everything I would eat bloated me up with gas until I was miserable most all the time. My appetite went back on me and I just had to force down a little I did eat and I constantly belched up hot water. My nerves were in such wretched shape that I couldn't half sleep and I would get up in the morning feeling so fagged out that I couldn't do anything like I wanted. I was weak and run down and felt so tired and worn out all the time that I was hardly fit for a thing.

"I got a bottle of Orgatone Iron and began to pick up right off. My appetite has improved so much that I can eat and enjoy everything set before me and I sleep like a child. I have gained some in weight, am stronger and have more energy than before and I can do any work in my garden with more satisfaction than in a long time and I am doing my part to help suffering people by telling what Orgatone did for me."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained from Dean Drug Store.—Adv.

SPORT SHOTS

DALLAS — After they had taken a fall each, Billy Edwards, Kansas City chiropractic headlock ace, was disqualified in the third fall for following after being warned by the referee, giving the grappling bout Al Karasick, Russian lion, here last night.

The lion took the first fall in 32 minutes and Edwards the second in eight minutes. After the third had gone 23 minutes, Edwards threw Karasick out of the ring and refused to return to his corner, thus losing the match.

ATHENS — Tyler high school boys had no better luck with the local national champions in a basketball game here last night than they had experienced on their own court earlier in the season. The Athenians inflicted on the lions the latter's third defeat of the season, one of the others having been at the hands of the local squad. The score was 34 to 25.

At the end of the half the winners were leading 20 to 7, and Coach Jimmie Kitts gave his reserves a chance, thus cutting the eventual margin.

Benny Tompkins of Athens accounted for 12 of his team's points.

NACOGDOCHES — Traditional rivals clashed here on the basketball court last night when Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks scored an easy victory at the expense of the Sam Houston Bearcats. The score was 40 to 13. The two teams meet again tonight.

DALLAS — Sunset high school's basketball squad virtually assured itself of its second consecutive city championship yesterday by trouncing the Woodrow Wilson Quintet, 36 to 12. The Bisons remain undefeated for the season, and have but two more games to go. A win in either will crown the flag for the last year's champions.

The Forest high Lions registered an easy victory over the Dallas Tech Wolves, 40 to 18, in a listless encounter that lacked championship bearing to lend it importance.

CARNERA READY FOR BOUT WITH UNKNOWN COP

ST. LOUIS — Feb. 11 — Primo Carnera, the Italian colossus is ready for his ten round bout with the little known Boston Martin, Tulsa cop here tonight. Primo finished his training yesterday with a few rounds of shadow boxing, rub-down, a shower, and a quarter of beef for dinner.

An interview with the fighter reveals little. No matter what the question, a torrent of "si, si, si" is the reply, accompanied by grin which shuts out the light and leaves spectators wondering if that hole surrounded by 270 pounds of bone, flesh and muscle, has ever been filled.

Martin, who sealed a mere 265 pounds, is optimistic over his chances against the big Italian, the consensus appears to be that he will not last more than three rounds.

Martin says that he is going to concentrate his attack on that great void where Carnera stows away his extra six feet of sitting, almost a necessity since the Italian towers over the bluecoat by four inches.

TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 11 — The Jenkins & Scott Oil company is moving in casing by truck to resume operations at its three outstanding tests in Shawnee county, which have been shut down for some time. Twelve miles southwest of Topeka is the SE-8-12-14-E, the company's No. 1 Hayden was showing a million cubic feet of gas when operations were shut down.

Its other tests are No. 1 A, Sherman, in the NE-NW-NE-23-10-15-E, nine miles northwest of Topeka, now bottomed at 862 feet, and No. 1 Milliken, ten miles east of Topeka, in the SW-NE-10-12-17, now at 490 feet.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper figure, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

"DISARM THE GANGSTER" IS WATCHWORD

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Disarm gangland was the watchword today as the campaign against lawlessness in Chicago entered a new phase with a stern and militant acting chief justice installed in the criminal court and the power of the grand jury at the hand of law enforcement officials.

Judge John P. McGority called a disarmament conference of his own after he had been installed yesterday. He summoned grand jurors into the courtroom and enjoined them to do everything humanly possible to stamp out crime. Vigorous enforcement of the law against carrying concealed weapons, he said, is the most effective method.

His ultimatum gave impetus to the drive police have been carrying on since Saturday to rid the streets and hotels of gunmen, bombers lat- or slingers and hoodlums.

More than 1800 arrests had been made since the roundup started, a tabulation revealed today.

Death and kidnaping threats added to police worries. Judge Otto Kerner, who last Saturday sentenced August Vogel, young "whim slayer," to the electric chair, re- vealed he had received several warnings that he would be assassinated if Vogel's sentence is carried out.

SNAKES FREEZE TO DEATH
LOVELAND, Colo.—Saint Patrick may have driven the snakes out of Ireland, but it took a cold wave to do the exterminating here. Telephone linemen found 50 baby garter snakes frozen in a nest near Loveland.
