SCANS LAW ON PROCEDURE IN IMPEACHMENT

Doubts Power of House to Continue Investigation

AUSTIN, Feb. 18.—Governor Dan Moody this afternoon is considering seriously convening the fifth called session of the 41st legislature tomorrow. The fourth called session will end at midnight.

The governor said this afternoon he will decide upon the time for the next called session after he has completed an investigation on impeachment procedure.

From a casual reading, he said, he doubted the power of the house of representatives to go ahead between legislative sessions in consideration of the charges initiating impeachment proceedings.

He did not think the case cited by advocates of that plan goes farther than to say that impeachment proceedings begun in one session may be continued in another. Governor Moody said. In the case cited an impeachment voted by the house at one session was acted upon by the senate at another.

Recess Until 2.

Both house and senate recessed shortly after noon until 2 p. m. The senate then was considering a bill to require five hours a week teaching of illiterate convicts.

All attempts to agree on prison building at this session, apparently had been abandoned. Conference were meeting on the sulphur tax bill and the fee bill needed only signatures to become effective.

House conferees on the sulphur tax bill expressed the belief that a compromise will be worked out under which the senate will adopt Rep. T. N. Mauritz' provision that the amount raised by sulphur tax shall be taken from ad valorem taxes, and that the house will agree to some reduction in the sulphur tax rate.

A minor conference committee was at work on a bill providing that paupers may secure statements of facts from court reports without cost. The disputed point is whether the court reporter can draw pay from the county treasury for such a transcript.

Accepts Amendments.

The house accepted senate amendments to a bill to have the courts of civil appeals and supreme court send copies of decisions to the district judge who originally tried the cases they decide.

The house committee on state affairs was going through state treasury records accompanied by State Auditor Moore Lynn preparatory to making a report to the house. State Treasurer Hatcher had demanded a public investigation following the filing of the state auditor's report in which the treasury department was criticized.

P. O. Buildings for Coleman, Sweetwater

The post office department has recommended post office buildings for both Sweetwater and Coleman, a telegram from Congress R. Q. Lee states.

Both these buildings will be located on lots which the government has owned for several years, it was pointed out.

No Frilly, Frothy Things

But honest-to-goodness, sensible food of the sort that makes husbands contented and homes happy and keep bodies healthy and well-nourished will be prepared at the Daily News Free Cooking school next week.

Miss Clara Alden Spence, the home economics expert from Kansas City, who will conduct the Daily News Free Cooking School, in the old Daily News building, Feb. 26, 27, and 28, is not coming to this community to give recipes for a lot of frilly, frothy things for "company dinners."

Miss Spence, who conducts a model kitchen laboratory in Kansas City, is interested only in the average housewife and the every day problems she must meet and solve.

A change in menus should be welcomed by any housewife. What to have for dinner is the universal question. Practical creations that can be served at any meal are Miss Spence's specialties.

"Realizing the average woman has no time to work out new things for the table," Miss Spence recently wrote in a letter to the editor of this newspaper, "I believe I am offering a real service to housewives. I try out new things, demonstrate them in the Cooking School and the women get the actual results. They can try any of my recipes in their families without being doubtful of results."

The Larabee Flour Mills company, which makes possible the experimentation of Miss Spence in her model kitchen, has instructed her from the start, to keep in mind the average housewife, and the average family income and the average kitchen equipment.

Miss Spence, of course, often hears housewives say that the home economics expert has "more to do with" than the average housewife.

"I am fortunate usually," she says, "in being supplied with the"

ROUITS GANG OF HOODLUMS WITH FISTS

Four Men Languish in Jail as the Result of His Blows

VAN, Feb. 18.— Even a mushroom oil town may have time for politics when a Robin Hood appears.

Long and lanky and sinewy of arm is Ed McIntosh, who most people call "Pipe Line Slim," and though he is only an oilfield rouster and the grateful and admiring citizens of this new oil town are branding him for mayor.

"Slim" came into his rightful fame as a bouncer last Friday night when four men carrying gas pipes, stove wood and other heavy articles of combat essayed to pin the town red with the blood of its citizens just for the excitement of it.

Sam Farrow, brother of A. B. Farrow, Dallas policeman, was their first victim. He is still in a hospital suffering from the brutal beating he got at their hands at the start of the rampage.

Drive Stopped.

When the quartet entered a restaurant, however, their drive stopped. One at a time, "Pipe Line Slim" measured them out on the floor with one right hook per man. Then he nonchalantly dragged them outside and laid them out.

A fifth man got into a car and they fled, but not fast enough. County officers overtook them, and put all four in the county jail at Canton.

Charges of assault with intent to kill have been filed against all of them for the attack on Farrow.

"Pipe Line Slim" is back on the job, none the worse for the exercise he got, while his friends are attempting to properly honor him for his courage.

TWO JAILED ON THEFT CHARGES AT EASTLAND

EASTLAND, Feb. 18.—Nobra Gentry of Abilene and "Red" Marshall of Comanche found themselves in the county and city jails respectively late yesterday facing charges of theft of an automobile and for being drunk as the result of an escape here a few minutes before they were arrested.

Z. E. Haynes, Ranger insurance agent, came to Eastland to call on a client at the Stanley hotel and parked his car at the curb in front of the hotel. When he came out of the building less than five minutes after he had entered, the car was gone. Witnesses to the incident gave information which aided Traffic officer Bob Hammett in tracing and retrieving the lost machine and the arrest of the offenders.

The men were said to have driven the car off the Eastland-Ranger highway about two miles from Ranger and about 150 yards from a cafe operated by Jim Hubbard. The men were at Hubbard's when arrested about half an hour after they first stepped in the car. A punctured tire was reported as the only damage to the machine.

Search for Body of Eielson Continues

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 18.— Search for the body of Carl Ben Eielson, whose plane crashed nine weeks ago while on a rescue flight to the ice-bound fur vessel Nanuk, continued today.

Word was received here yesterday of discovery of the body of Earl Borland, Eielson's mechanic, under snow and within five feet of the engine of the demolished craft.

All Ready for Big Lobo Feed Tonight

The final details of the arrangements for the annual Lobo football banquet, to be held tonight at 8 o'clock on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel, have been completed and everything is in readiness for a gala night of it, according to J. T. Elliott, chairman of the steering committee Jake Leach will be master of ceremonies on the occasion.

The principal address will be made by Forrest D. Wright, president of the school board, on the subject "Hanging Together." J. T. Elliott will explain the functions of the citizens associations and W. W. Wallace will talk upon "Keeping the Machinery Well Oiled."

WOODWARD TO BE MEMBER OF PARDON BOARD

AUSTIN, Feb. 18.— Former District Judge J. O. Woodward of Coleman was the third member of the state pardon and parole board, Governor Moody has announced. The appointment will be deferred until Senator Walter Woodward leaves the state senate as the senate must confirm appointees and there is question of the legality of confirmation while Woodward is senator.

Judge Woodward is the father of Senator Walter Woodward.

AUSTIN, FEB. 18.— Appointment by Gov. Dan Moody of Judge J. O. Woodward of Coleman as the third member of the state pardon and parole board, completed organization of this board, and prepared the way for putting into effect the state's parole policy recently enacted by the legislature.

Judge Woodward is the father of Sen. Walter C. Woodward of Coleman. Heretofore, it was thought he could not be appointed on account of the nepotism law while his son was among the body that will have to pass on his confirmation.

But Gov. Moody has been reported as satisfied that the "kinfolks" law has nothing to do with senate confirmation of a governor's appointees.

Senator Walter C. Woodward already has announced his candidacy for a second four-year term as senator. It is known that he was willing to resign for the remainder of this term, if his membership in the upper house stood as a possible block to his father's confirmation; but apparently everybody concerned is satisfied that his membership will have no bearing on the appointment and confirmation. Sen. Woodward will vote on the question. Judge Woodward for many years was a district judge, and is known as one of the outstanding lawyers of West Texas.

He was here when the appointment was made.

By coincidence, Sen. Walter C. Woodward's sister-in-law, Mrs. H. J. O'Neil of Coleman, retired as the only woman regent of the University of Texas when Gov. Moody did not reappoint her because his belief that at that time the nepotism law was involved in the confirmation.

Construction of the nepotism law seemed to imply the senate could not appoint kinfolks of its members to places; and that heads of state departments, including the governor, cannot appoint their own kinfolks to offices or jobs in the state's employment. But it apparently has been determined that the law has no reference to confirmation by the senate of the governor's appointees.

Judge Woodward's appointment at least will be a precedent.

Should by any chance it become involved in the nepotism question, and should Sen. Woodward resign, the senator would continue his campaign, it is known, for re-election to next year's senate. Nothing would stand in the way of his election because of his father's holding office.

Judge Woodward will join two other distinguished jurists on the pardon and parole board. They are Judge James R. Hamilton, former criminal district judge in Travis county; and Judge Stanhope Henry of Atascosa county.

Look to Your Fingers All Who Enter Here

The Cisco police department has the latest Bertillon paraphernalia for "getting the goods" on the most astute violator of the law's dignity. It is an equipment for abstracting the most indefinable finger print from whatever surface the careless hands of the pursued may have touched.

Lawyers, doctors, editors, merchants, thieves, in fact no one is safe from the tell-tale testimony of their fingers. It simply requires that the investigator have some of the qualities of a Sherlock Holmes to be able to tell from these prints alone whether one holds his coffee cup in the left hand or the right, whether he shovels his food in with a knife or is precise in observing the mandates of etiquette.

Given a fingerprint the Cisco police department is becoming a blooming messiah. Chief Miller or "Mick" Stuart or other of the city's guardians of its dignity, may be expected to appear upon the scene of lawlessness in the future with a queer little box containing equipment resembling a fire-patcher's baggage, picking fingerprints off the walls, the telephone, axe handles, tire covers, crowbars or other receptacle with the persistence and absorption of a bugologist catching butterflies.

No Photograph.

It isn't necessary to photograph the prints. Not Lord bless you, these boys literally pick the evidence bodily from the spot. Figuratively speaking, they lay a rag over it and lift it from precarious existence to perpetuity. They guard it with the jealousy of Midas guarding gold, encasing it in coffins of isinglass for the minute scrutiny of the microscope.

TEXAS-EXES BANQUET SET FOR MARCH 1

Organization for carrying out of the entertainment of the oil belt Texas-Exes here next month was completed last night at a meeting of former students of the University of Texas at the West Texas Utilities company. This meeting had been called by R. A. Williams, vice-president for Cisco of the Oil Belt Texas-Ex-Students association.

This annual affair which is moved about from city to city of the several included in the territory covered by it, is customarily held on Texas Independence day, March 2. Since March 2 falls this year upon Sunday, however, it was decided last night to locate the affair on Saturday evening, March 1. Albany, Breckenridge, Cisco, Ranger and Eastland are the cities included in the association, and the delegation from each of these will bring some contribution to the always hilarious and happy program that is enjoyed.

At least 100 of the more than 200 members of the association will gather about the festive board to be spread on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel.

The following are the committees named last night and their functions:

Banquet—Messdames F. A. Blanckbecker and F. D. Wright.
Program—Odwin Cate, Milton Connolly, F. A. Blanckbecker, Leon Maner and F. D. Wright.
Tickets—Dick Giles, T. C. Williams, Mrs. J. C. McAfee and Mrs. A. J. Olson.

DOING NICELY.

George Langston, who, accompanied by Mrs. Langston, went to Marshall last week for treatment at the Texas and Pacific hospital, is doing nicely according to a message today.

United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Italian delegation will announce itself presently to abolish submarines if all other powers do likewise and if all capital ships are scrapped it was disclosed today in a reliance summary of the official memorandum which will state Italy's position at the naval conference.

The memorandum, it was understood, will specify that Italy favors a battleship building holiday, presumably until 1936.

"WANTED TO VOTE RATHER THAN TALK"

Hoover Demands That Legislative Decks Be Cleared

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.— The silence of administration Republicans during the senate fight over the conformation of Chief Justice Hughes was defended today by majority floor leader Watson of Indiana, during a general senate debate which followed a white house breakfast conference. Watson also defended the Republican leadership in the tariff battle, the length of which has caused the legislative jam that occasioned today's conference.

Watson said the Republicans remained silent concerning Hughes' qualifications because they wanted to vote rather than talk. He commended Hughes very highly. Meanwhile, it was learned after

ATTORNEY AND BUSINESS MEN TALK RANDOLPH

J. B. Daniels, attorney for the Temple Trust company, of Temple, holding obligation of Randolph college, was in Cisco yesterday for a meeting with college authorities and Cisco business men relative to these matters.

The financial condition of the college was carefully gone into at this meeting and a prospective budget prepared by the college officials and business men presented to Mr. Daniels for study.

It was concluded, although several thousands of dollars in payment on the obligations are past due, that provided the citizens of Cisco can raise $2,000 to be applied on the payments by the first of March that a little more time will be given for the school to raise additional amounts to be applied on the debt.

Business men, following the conference, made the statement that they are confident that if local citizens of Cisco can raise $2,000 to be applied on the payments by the first of March that a little more time will be given for the school to raise additional amounts to be applied on the debt.

Business men, following the conference, made the statement that they are confident that if local citizens will do what they can, the church will cooperate to the fullest extent in seeing this matter through the present crisis.

CREED OF THE NEW CHIEF JUSTICE

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes gave this definition of Christian character in a public address in the remote past:
"Faith without credulity, conviction without bigotry, charity without condescension, courage without passivity, self respect without vanity, humility without obsequiousness, love of humanity without sentimentality and meekness with power. That is our ideal."

GROWING CHURCHES.

Statistics relating to the growth in church membership in the United States permits the inference that religion is not dying. The great religious denominations have with hardly an exception increased the number of their communicants one or more per cent to the year. This increase has been close on the heels of that in national population.

The evidence is that approximately half the population has membership in religious institutions. When are added children in the homes of church members and persons in attendance upon church services or in association with church activities, religion makes rightful claim upon at least two-thirds of the population and exerts an unescapable influence upon the entire population. America is, with all its worldly interests, religion-minded.

Of what the long past has proved, the present gives continuing proof: religion has survival value. This leads to the conclusion that religions will endure so long as each and all possess that value. Particular religions themselves may die, but religion in some form will endure as it has endured from man's first contemplation of the mystery of existence.

The scientist pushes that mystery further back into the past and the philosopher pushes it further forward into the future; but it still confronts man and prompts the highest emotions of which the human being is capable.

CENSORING BOOKS.

Today it is illegal to mail certain books and pamphlets that can still be shipped anywhere by express and sold over the counter everywhere except in Boston without fear of arrest. There are works of literature that are prescribed reading in Harvard University courses in literature and yet are officially indecent and unsalable in Boston. But there is at least one book that is officially obscene and verboten in New York which has escaped Boston's too long list of banned books.

Such are the vagaries of the law; but they are also the vagaries of taste and judgment. Conventions may after all be healthy. For standards of obscenity, like standards of literary taste, of grammar, of good breeding, are subjective and changing; and it is better that official rulings should defy one another than that society should be riveted to an iron consistency.

That is obscene which shocks; that shocks which is unfamiliar. There can be no absolute standards of obscenity or profanity; they are relative to the mind of the listener. Hence it is inevitable that judgments should differ from city to city and from year to year.

And why make an issue of book censorship? Wherever it has been tried no reader has been denied the privilege of reading to his own taste and the book bans have only served to whet human curiosity for the forbidden. Censorship in any form usually defeats its own purpose.

MINNESOTA IN THE MILK PICTURE.
Minnesota is in the milk picture. Improved dairy stuff from Minnesota farms in 1929 was responsible for the heaviest gain in milk production in the history of that state, jumping $5,638,000 over 1928. Read the dividend-making figures:
During 1929 Minnesota cows produced 9,222,000,000 pounds of milk valued at $180,433,000. In 1928 the figures totaled 8,921,000,000 pounds valued at $174,795,000.
For six months of the year Minnesota is an ice-covered, snowbound commonwealth. Now why shouldn't Texas push its face into the milk picture and thus place millions of dollars annually in the pockets of its farmers?

Job's personal physician, it is now claimed, was the first specialist. A local bridge addict the other night won the same bottle of bath salts she won last September. Realism is all right, but few owners of camel's hair coats insist that they smell like a camel. A Balkan king has just tried his hand at running a fast locomotive. The experience may prove valuable. Who remembers the old days when you could drive around in the winter ruts for five miles without putting a hand to the steering wheel? New York City's new super-skyscrapers, it is reported, have the greatest calls for officers above the seventy-fifth floor, which is considered upstage. Two heretofore unused records by Caruso have been announced by a phonograph company. This will be a delightful relief from recent records, which come under the heading of Crooning and sound like a sick cow.

PLAN PRIZE EXHIBITS.
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Displays of drug companies will vie for honors alongside of grocery store and food company entries in the annual spring food show here, March 17 to 22. More than 100 exhibits have been entered by druggists and manufacturers of drug products. ELEVATOR SAFETY MARK.
BOSTON — You can go for an elevator ride in Boston with reasonable assurance that you will reach your floor alive and well. Though more than 200,000,000 persons rode in this city's lifts during 1929, not one fatal accident was reported.

DAUGHTERS RELIEVED OF STOMACH ILLS.
Ranger Mother Says Anyone Can See the Improvement Orgatone Has Made in Tummies.
The merits of a medicine are spread by testimony, and this explains the phenomenal demand and wide spread popularity of the remarkable medicine, Orgatone. Those who once buy it invariably buy it over and over again and tell their friends of the splendid results they have derived from its use. Mrs. E. T. Matthews, of 414 South Marsden St., Ranger, Texas, feels very much indebted to Orgatone for what it has accomplished in the case of her two daughters, aged 19 and 22 years, Mildred and Willie, and in a statement a few days ago said:
"Both of my daughters had been nervous and complaining with their stomachs for about two years. They seemed to have no appetite, their food would not digest and they were tired and languid all the time. They often had headaches and were very restless. They just seemed to be weak and debilitated, half sick all the time, and of course I felt worried about their condition. "But they're looking altogether different now. I noticed in a short time after I started them on Orgatone they got full of life and energy and began to eat and enjoy their meals. I had given them one bottle of Orgatone and their appetite is good and they are much stronger and better in every way. They look brighter, seem more cheerful and take an active part in amusements and social affairs with the younger set. I'm glad I gave them Orgatone, for it certainly has done them a world of good and anyone who knows their condition can readily see the wonderful improvement they have made."
Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Cisco at the Dean Drug Store.—Adv.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma.
H. S. Hunter, editor of the El Paso (Texas) Herald and of the El Paso Times, says:
"Did you ever stop to think that although two may not be able to live as cheaply as one, they can live together more cheaply than they can live separately?"
"That is what a good many of our employed girls and bright young men have found out. And that is why they say they can save more after marriage than before, each calculating in his and her employment. When you come to think of it, a score of economies are possible through the marriage relationship which do not come to the single individual.
"But if babies are contemplated, the situation is changed. Babies mean the mother must give up her employment for a time, at least, and home expenses mount heavily. There is where come in the justification for Judge Lindsey's compassionate marriage idea in some of its phases.
"I think in the next generation or two the world will see practically all women employed outside the home, the same as their husbands. Children will be cared for in group nurseries. Families will live in great apartment houses which will have central cooking and dining systems, or with meals delivered to the family as desired. Individual homes will be grouped around another house or building providing centralized cooking and dining. This will be in residence sections where people prefer separate houses.

"And all cleaning and other household will be done under the supervision of the same management that directs the apartment house or the residential community dining arrangement.
"This will be an advancement. There are many thousands of women with fine creative brains, who would be valuable to industry, business, the arts or sciences, who are now chafing under an order that requires their energies to be devoted to sweeping, dish-washing and making of beds which others, specially fitted for such tasks, could probably do better. There is a great social and economic waste in so doing."

Why Folks Stay Fat

Not always because of over-eating, but because a gland is weak. That gland largely controls nutrition. When it is weak one may nearly starve, yet stay fat. Modern physicians the world over now combat this great cause of obesity. And excess fat, in late years, has been disappearing fast.
Marmola prescription tablets contain the chief factors which they use. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. And countless slender figures everywhere now show the amazing effects.

Rash Romance

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Judith Cameron, New York typist, marries Arthur Knight, executive of the publishing house where she works. Knight is a widower with a daughter, Tony, 18, and a son, Junior, 16. Tony denounces Judith as a gold digger. Her father comes home for Christmas holidays he is equally unfriendly.

Andy Craig, a young man Knight has aided, takes a position with the publishing house. He is in love with Tony and calls on her frequently. Tony tries to convince her father that Judith and Andy are carrying on an affair. She tricks the pair into a compromising situation.

Tony is carrying on a flirtation with Mickey Mortimer, wealthy and married. This is revealed when they are arrested at 3 p. m. for reckless driving. Tony and her father quarrel, but finally the girl is forgiven. Knight contracts pneumonia and is dangerously ill for a long time. Junior comes home and before he leaves admits to Judith he has mixed up Knight's recuperation is slow and Judith is resentful because he seems to prefer Tony's company to hers.

A letter for Judith arrives at the house and Tony takes it. Later she follows Judith on a trip into the city and sees her meet a young man. Next day Tony threatens to tell her father of the affair. Judith, believing the girl knows more than she does, promises to do anything Tony asks to prevent this.

NOV. 10 ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIX
Judith drew back instinctively. "Go away?" she repeated. "You mean—GO AWAY?"

Tony's voice continued coolly and tranquilly. "Go away for two weeks. That would be long enough. You can find some excuse easily. But you'll have to leave tonight."

"I can't!" Judith protested. "What would Arthur think? Besides, I don't see what difference two weeks could make."

The other girl shrugged indifferent shoulders. "Just as you like," she answered. "Remember you said you'd do anything I asked. Two weeks will suit my purpose, providing they begin at once. Otherwise, it will probably be quite a blow to father when he hears what I have to tell him."

The effect of this was as desired. Judith's fingers had gone icy. She clasped and unclasped them as in her voice. For one unbelieving instant she stared. Then she said barely above a whisper: "I'll do it."

"That's settled then. And you'll go away tonight?" Judith shot the younger girl a quick glance.

"Have I your promise," she asked tremblingly, "that if I do this you will not tell your father one single word of what you know?"

Judith Knight, like most of the rest of the whole world, made the mistake of judging others by her own standards. Because a promise given was sacred to her she assumed it would be sacred to Arthur's daughter. This was her share of the ill-received bargain. She waited now for Tony's answer. It came unqualifiedly.

"Certainly. You have money, I suppose? If not, I'll be able to arrange that. How much do you think you'll want?"

"I shall not want money," Judith said, with a relic of her spent pride. Money—going away—details of this sudden banishment jumbled before her eyes. Dollar bills, her purse and unfolding railroad tickets all began a grotesque, maddening dance. They leaped at her. Somewhere in the distance behind them was Arthur Knight watching gravely and accusingly. "Take me home!" Judith cried.

think. The quicker the ordeal was over the better. "Not tonight—now!"

She knew that she could not endure another evening at that dinner table downstairs, another period of sitting in the same room with Arthur, listening to him talk, seeing him, and feeling so far, far removed from the happiness they had once known.

Finally Judith attacked dresser drawers and the closet in which her clothes hung. She was not packing sensibly. She was answering a primitive call which demanded action as sure as pain. Her hands moved clumsily, and garments which she did not want fell from their hangers. The rack she was reaching for hung at the farthest end of the closet.

Clothes! She had not realized before how many gowns and coats she actually owned. All of them were very elegant, smartly made, of excellent materials. They were expensive, and only a part of the wealth Arthur Knight had lavished on her. Judith had repaid him with a lie!

She fumbled in the clothes closet until last she brought forth the dress she was looking for. It was a bluish-gray jersey made with a skirt and blouse in one piece. Judith held the dress to the light.

It was worn and the pleats in its skirt were skimpy and out of press. It was a foreign little frock to be found in such an assemblage of finery. Judith had worn it during the days when she was working in Arthur Knight's office.

There was a coat there, too—a black coat which had seemed quite respectable with its fur collar and simple, conservative lines in the days when it had been Judith's only wrap. Now it looked exactly what it was—a coat from the $65 rack, after six months' wear.

The ugliness of the garments seemed to please Judith. She clutched them to her, bore them to the bed and dumped them upon it. Then hastily she began to undress. Even the hand-made, gossamer lingerie came off, and in its place Judith donned her plainest silk knit underthings. They were not, unfortunately, a part of the wardrobe Judith had owned before her marriage. They were simple, though, and not a reminder of Arthur Knight's wealth.

She chose a pair of black pumps with sensible walking heels, slipped them on her feet and then pulled the jersey dress over her head.

There was a small black traveling bag which had made the trip to Bermuda. Into this Judith stuffed additional lingerie, pajamas, and hose. She dashed into the bath room and came back with cream, powder, a tooth brush and one or two other supplies.

Her entire preparations had taken less than a half-hour. Judith was quite dry-eyed now. Working had taken her mind from her.

Mechanically, answering the demands of habit, she went to the clothes closet and straightened the garments which in haste she had twisted away. She gathered up the shoes she had kicked off and placed them on the rack. When the closet was in order Judith shut the door and turned the latch.

The hands on her wrist watch pointed to 10 minutes until four o'clock. There was no time to lose and yet there was one thing which Judith knew she must do. She went to the desk, seated herself and drew out writing materials. She lifted out the metal box which contained her letters, carried it to here traveling bag and dropped it inside. Then she came back to the desk and picked up a pen.

"Dear Arthur," she wrote. Judith hesitated. For several moments that was as far as she could get. Then she began to write rapidly:

"Something has happened very unexpectedly which is taking me away for a short time. I am sorry I cannot even say goodbye. Please do not worry about me. I shall be quite all right, though I will be worried over whether or not you are taking your medicine and doing all the doctor says.

"It is hard to go away but I know it is best. What I am doing I am sure will make both of us happier. Please believe me.

"Devotedly, JUDITH."

General Brands Report "Balderdash"

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 18 — Major General William Lassiter, commander of the eighth corps area, has answered the charge that soldiers at Fort Bliss, El Paso, are violating the prohibition law flagrantly by branding the report as "balderdash."

The general said he had never had a complaint from enforcement officers over a period of five years about enlisted men violating the law, and he figured someone with a "vivid imagination" had made the report to Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley.

Ending the suffering of 10 years in just a few weeks is going some but that's just an example of how quickly Tanlac works in stubborn cases that never yield to other remedies.

No wonder so many local people are enthusiastic about Tanlac—no wonder local druggists are loud in praise of this medicine. Read for instance what Mr. J. L. Kline says: "For 10 years have had stomach troubles, Rheumatism, aches of mornings, stiff and sore all over, mostly in back and shoulders. A real powerful medicine was needed to fix me up and Tanlac proved to be all of that. From it I got relief from all troubles, stomach and rheumatism. My digestion now is just about 100% good. No more pain or distress, eat, sleep in good as I eat, pain, stiffness, aches all gone. Rheumatism in back and shoulders wiped out. I have tried out lots of medicines but Tanlac gave me results." That's the story of Tanlac in a nutshell—it gives results and then them back, for even back and sore feet is a real medicine. Many "patent medicines" make glowing promises that most fool you into buying them, but real water Tanlac is a real medicine that backs its claims with a guarantee. At all druggists. Accept no substitute.

Lobos Even Matters With Brownwood Lions Cagers 31-27

TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD THIS WEEK

District Champions to Be Decided at Stephenville

The Cisco Lobos last night evened matters with the Brownwood Lions, basketball team, champions of the district just to the south of us, by plastering a 31 to 27 defeat upon the visitors in one of the hardest fought tussles that the local youngsters have engaged in this season. The contest was in a state of "dubiety and doubt" until the last few seconds of the concluding period when O. C. Ray, star guard of the pack rang up a beautiful field goal to clinch the decision.

Gilliam, flashy forward for the visiting aggregation bore off high point honors for the evening by amassing 12 points for his clan.

The teams were so evenly matched that the entire period was a succession of thrills for the spectators. Brownwood, it should be remembered, defeated the Lobos early in the present season by a count of 17 to 13 in a game played at Brownwood and so obviously rough that the sports writer of that fair town was moved to considerable comment.

The Lobos have one more score to even and they will get the chance this weekend when they meet Breckenridge in the district tournament at Stephenville. If, mayhap, these ancient rivals of the court and gridiron are matched in the decisive rounds.

The tournament will take place Friday and Saturday.

FUNERAL FOR MOORE HELD LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18—Funeral services were held here today for Alexander P. Moore, diplomat and recently appointed ambassador to Poland, whose death at the California hospital came after an illness of several weeks.

Interment will probably be made in Pittsburgh, former home of the man whose newspaper career ended when he first entered the diplomatic service of this country with an appointment to Spain.

Moore died shortly after noon yesterday, from a tubercular condition.

In addition to his acquaintanceship with the royalty of Spain and in Peruvian official circles where he had also moved as ambassador, Moore was well known among theatrical notables as the husband of the late Lillian Russell.

She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat in 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote: "My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here is the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Moore Drug Co., or any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

SPORT SHOTS

DALLAS, Feb. 18—Billy Edwards' rough-house tactics proved too much for Abie Coleman when he took the first and third falls of a three-round grappling match here last night. The Kansas City wrestler was easily the superior of his Hebrew opponent, weakening only long enough before a barrage of flying tackles to drop the second fall.

DALLAS, Feb. 18—Showing a reversal of form over their previous night's performance, the Dallas ice kings evened the count with the Tulsa Oilers by taking last night's ice hockey fray, 3 to 2.

The game was enlivened by an exchange of taunts between Percy Williams, coach of the Kings, and Roberts, left defense and captain of the Oilers, in the intermission between the last periods. Spectators separated them. The Tulsa team was provoked at alleged roughness on the part of Williams.

DALLAS, Feb. 18—With the Ciss Semmer's "Tubby" Meters heavy weight wrestling match overdue several days, it will actually come off on March 3, promoter Bert Wiloughby has announced. Injuries to the champion forced postponement of the fray as originally scheduled.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 18—By virtue of their victory over the Hulls-Daizetta Bobcats, champions for the past three years, the Cleveland high school Indians won the Liberty county basketball championship. The score was 22 to 17.

DALLAS, Feb. 18—With the city championship already tucked under their belts, the Sunset high school basketball squad rung down the curtain on the race yesterday with a 30 to 27 victory over Forest high. Woodrow Wilson defeated Oak Cliff, 27 to 15.

Would Marry Sport With Fashions

PARIS, Feb. 18—Suzanne Lenglen wants to marry sport with fashions.

In her dressmaking place, where a new Suzanne is revealed wearing the latest styles and a hat which has nothing in common with the Lenglen head band, which she had launched with success on both continents, Suzanne Lenglen is making dresses which she first puts to a practical test on a tennis court to see if they hang gracefully in action.

"Sport has been dethrown by fashion in my life and that is why I want to combine the two, so as not to get too far away from the former which has so long been the greatest aim of my life," she said.

CARNERA WAS HANDICAPPED SAYS MANAGER

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 18—Having collected $7,000 for the 4 minutes and 45 seconds of fighting required to knock out "man mountain" Erickson, 221, of Chicago at the coliseum last night, the Primo Carnera circus troupe today departed for New Orleans where the giant Italian heavyweight will give the seventh performance of his American "tank tour" with Jack McAuliffe next Monday.

CUBS START TREK IN HIGH HOPES TODAY

CHICAGO, Feb. 18—The Chicago Cubs, headed by their optimistic manager, Joe McCarthy, today started the trek which they hope will bring them their second consecutive national league banner and a world's championship.

After assuring fans that there would be no more ten run innings for opponents and that they would make special efforts to get used to the sunshine, the advance guard of the 1929 Pennan holders left here today for their spring training quarters at Catalina Island.

Eight Athletics, some of them yet to win major league spurs, composed the advance guard along with McCarthy, Ray Schalk, the new coach, and trainer Dr. Leishaw. The trio was confident that the Cubs would win the flag this season while they picked for their opponents in the world series the Philadelphia Athletics.

In the Daily News Free Cooking school Miss Spence will use Airy Fairy flour, KC baking powder and other ingredients that have proved their uniform quality over long periods of years. Miss Spence urges all housewives to use time-tested materials in cooking.

"It is as easy to obtain best ingredients as the poorest," Miss Spence says. "In most cases manufacturers are able to offer the best of practically the same price or less than poor merchandise of unknown quality because of quantity production."

Miss Spence believes housekeeping and cooking constitute a career just as much as running a store or keeping an office. Men in business, she points out, keep up on modern methods. The efficiency expert was developed to keep modern business modern. The domestic science expert has the same connection with cooking and housekeeping.

Miss Spence, a graduate in home economics, is a former instructor in domestic science and for several years has been operating her model kitchen in Kansas City.

Through a number of nationally known food manufacturers and local concerns, the Daily News is able to stage this Free Cooking school, which, it is believed, will be welcomed by the housewives of this community.

The firms cooperating:

- The Larabee Flour Mills company, Kansas City, millers of Airy Fairy flour and other quality products.

- The Ford-Green Music Co. will have a General Electric refrigerator in the kitchen with the West Texas Utilities Co.'s Frigidaire refrigerator. They will also display their pianos, Victrolas and Majestic radios.
- The J. C. Penney Co., will provide the table linen and will also have other items on display. These items will be mentioned in detail later.
- Furniture Displays
- The Cisco Furniture Co. will have a furniture display and have volunteered to furnish whatever items in their line that might be needed in the school not furnished by other furniture concerns in the city. It is likely that all furniture stores will enter as soon as they can be seen.

"I ought to try CARDUI AGAIN"
Mother's Advice to Daughter Was Followed, and She Soon Got Better.

North Little Rock, Ark.—"Shortly after my marriage, my health wasn't very good," writes Mrs. W. E. Burgin, 215 West Second Street, this city. "I had severe cramping spells, and at times I would have to go to bed. This would be very weakening."

"I took about five bottles of Cardui at this time and my strength came back. I did not have any more trouble for some time."

Several years later, Mrs. Burgin found herself debilitated by heavy home responsibilities, and she explains: "I seemed very slow in getting my strength back. I was too weak to do anything but just lie around. I would get very nervous over my condition."

"My mother told me I ought to try Cardui again. I did, and soon was getting better. When I had taken about four bottles of Cardui, I was able to do my work again, and haven't had to take it any more."

"Thousands of women have written to tell how they had been benefited by taking Cardui."

PUBLICITY TO CANCER "CURE" IS CONDEMNED

CHICAGO, Feb. 18 — The Journal of the American Medical Association released to the United Press today an editorial that will appear in its forthcoming issue, condemning the publicity that has been given experimental cancer treatments by Dr. Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber of San Francisco.

"Regardless of the fact that Drs. Coffey and Humber have stated in their communications to the Journal and in letters sent to patients that their work is purely experimental; that they have no evidence their preparation is anything more than a substance which produces lytic changes in cancer cells following injection, the great trek of cancer sufferers across the continent has begun and physicians everywhere are being sought by their patients to procure this remedy," the Journal comments.

"As the Journal has pointed out, various substances have been developed in the past that will produce lytic changes in cancer cells. Under these circumstances it is nothing less than criminal to arouse the hopes of cancer sufferers and to cause the families of such sufferers to expend the limit of their funds to make the journey to California."

the breakfast meeting that unless congress passes the administration's appropriations bill, the federal government will be forced to disburse from 2000 to 3000 workers by the middle of March. This was one reason advanced in administration quarters for the necessity of clearing the legislative decks to permit prompt action of the appropriations bill.

No appeal to the country at large for support of the administration's program is contemplated, however, it was learned.

Hoover Appeals

At today's breakfast gathering, President Hoover appealed to a half dozen senate and house leaders to speed up the tariff bill and break the legislative jam for the sake of business stability, but tariff action, although they hoped action on the measure would be completed by March 10.

The senate debate which followed the white house meeting took on a political turn and wandered far afield.

Former President Coolidge and his plans were brought in by Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, but Watson, who followed Harrison, had nothing to say about this phase of the Mississippi's speech.

Harrison opened the debate with a savage attack on Representative Tilson (Rep., Conn.) majority floor leader of the house, who had criticized the senate leadership for alleged lacadaesical support and silence in the fact of attacks, particularly in regard to the appointment of Hughes to be chief justice and the tariff bill.

"Peculiarly Strange"

Remembering that a variety of things seemed "peculiarly strange" Harrison wondered why Mr. Hoover did not meet with Mr. Coolidge somewhere in Florida, whether Mr. Hoover had a radio on his houseboat in the gulf, whether Coolidge was going west to "capture the golden gate" and why Mr. Hoover summoned congressional leaders to the breakfast conference this morning.

Harrison demanded that Watson let the country know if the president agreed with Tilson's statement that the "senate leadership has failed" on the tariff and Hughes.

"The country is in such condition that this tariff bill should be disposed of in the interest of business," Watson replied immediately. "Secondly, it should be disposed of to make way for other legislation."

Watson said the senate leadership was silent on Hughes "because there are two ways to discuss legislation. One way, he said, was to proceed and pass the legislation, the other was to make speeches."

"My own belief was that Hughes' character was sufficient to defend him, without speeches," Watson said. "What we wanted was a vote. The result vindicated our cause."

On the tariff, Watson said, "the only problem is whether we are going to pass the bill or not." Mr. Hoover wanted to know if there was anything he could do to help, he said.

"Did the president say he would sign the bill?" Harrison demanded. "We didn't ask him any such question. That would have been foolish."

Watson said "this bill" would never be passed, explaining that he meant it would be amended so that it would be impossible for anyone to make an advance judgment of the bill's worth until after the conference imbued with the spirit of getting a tariff bill passed" Watson said.

ANOTHER TEXAS PREMIER HERE SATURDAY P. M.

That portion of the public that finds its entertainment exclusively at motion pictures, is now asking, "Where has Winnie Lightner been all the time?" All they know of her is that she has suddenly emerged as the cleverest comedienne so far developed by the talking screen and that in her first feature, "Gold Diggers of Broadway," she repeatedly stopped the show.

The Palace theatre of this city is answering that question this week for its particular clientele, which incidentally covers a larger range of territory than merely Cisco, by presenting Winnie in "She Couldn't Say No" for the first time that this lavish Warner Bros. musical comedy will have been presented in Texas. It is becoming a habit of the theater-goers of this section to visit the Palace theatre each Saturday night to view the Texas premier of some outstanding picture. For the third successive week K. N. Greer, manager of the Palace, has offered such a premier and the success of this forward looking policy is reflected in the patronage that the Palace is accruing.

"She Couldn't Say No" will have its Texas premier, first showing, at the Palace Saturday evening at 10:45. Many scenes are in technicolor. You can't say "No" to this picture.

Although the story of "She Couldn't Say No" is told in an atmosphere of night clubs, it is not just a song and dance picture. There is comedy and song but there is also a note of tragedy and some highly dramatic scenes. The night club episodes are those showing Winnie Lightner in her role of Winnie Harper, first a hostess at a cheap club, and later the toast of the town in the exclusively Kitty Kat.

Miss Lightner is indeed entertaining in these scenes when she is singing for the club patrons. She puts her songs over with energy and humor and handles the dramatic scenes with a nice restraint. Chester Morris is excellent in the role of the young racketeer who reforms under the guidance and love of Winnie and then breaks her heart by falling in love with a pretty society flapper, Sally Eilers. Tully Marshall and Johnny Arthur are the other principal members of the cast. They all give fine performances.
