"BUILD TOGETHER," ROBERTS URGES

RANDOLPH IS NOW IN BEST YEAR HE SAYS

Reason Why the School Cannot Go Forward

In spite of financial difficulties that have obscured favorable conditions at the school for the past few weeks, Randolph is now entering the best year from a historic standpoint that the school has ever experienced, declared President T. Roberts today in a vigorous appeal to the people of Cisco to build for a bigger and better school and a bigger and better city.

Admitting that serious financial difficulties, due not to the fault of individuals, but, in the main, to conditions that are affecting the entire southwest, Dr. Roberts declared that these difficulties have in no way affected the class work of the school. In an open letter to the people of Cisco he praises the loyalty of the faculty of the college, terming them missionaries "as faithful to the cause of the Christian college as the missionary is to his task which is of equal importance."

Dr. Roberts' letter follows: "To the Citizens of Cisco: Randolph college is in the closest of our city."

Byrd Prepares to Start Home

End of Highly Organized, Modern Exploratory Adventure Lasting 16 Months Is Near as Party Gets Ready to Leave Ice Continent.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 19.—The New York Times, the St. Louis Post Dispatch, and newspapers affiliated with them in publishing reports from Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition have announced that the expedition's ship, the City of New York, was within sight of the Bay of Whales at midnight last night, and is expected to tie up to the ice barrier near Little America, the Byrd camp today. The camp has already been dismantled and Byrd and his men expect to start on their homeward voyage this Wednesday afternoon.

Departure of the Byrd expedition from Little America, in the Antarctic, scheduled for today, means the conclusion of one of the most modern and highly organized exploration adventures in history. The Byrd expedition has been established on the edge of the Antarctic continent for 16 months, in which time a flight was made over the south pole—the first in history—and airplanes were employed to map unknown and uncharted regions at the bottom of the world. The expedition was well supplied with all modern methods for revealing the secrets of the snow-covered continent of the south, including high-powered cameras which will bring back a complete picture of their work.

Lobo Feed Evidence of Cisco's Spirit

The annual Lobo banquet last night might have meant nothing else than an evidence of the spirit that Cisco still has. But for that evidence alone it was well worth the time and work that the executive committee and those who contributed to its success put forth, said J. T. Elliott, chairman of the arrangement committee, this morning. Mr. Elliott and his colleagues in the project were plainly happy and satisfied this morning.

"There is life in the old town, yet," declared W. J. (Jake) Leach, toastmaster, as he surveyed the enthusiastic crowd of boosters who gathered last night to assure the Lobos that Cisco is still behind them and counting on them as strongly as ever in the past. "This is the most optimistic thing that has happened in Cisco in months."

Others of the committee expressed similar gratification. More than 150 were fed on the roof garden of the Laguna. Many others were turned away for the lack of room. An extra table was erected in the reception room of the roof garden to take care of the overflow which could not be seated at the regular tables while a large number of fans, unable to secure seats upstairs, went to the coffee shop below to eat and then returned to enjoy the splendid program that was presented.

The members of the executive committee of the Citizens Athletic association today issued a statement thanking all those who in any way contributed to the success of the event. "It is impossible to quote names without omitting some who deserve credit," said J. T. Elliott, "therefore we are just issuing a general expression of thanks so that you may be assured that we appreciate your help."

Members of the committee who arranged the details of the event are: J. T. Elliott, chairman; Jack Anderson, H. E. Barnett, K. N. Greer, Edward Lee, W. J. Leach, F. D. McMahon, Nick Miller and G. M. Simpson. Edward Lee as president of the association and H. E. Barnett, as secretary, are ex-officio members.

Fears of Broken Dam Are Quieted

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 19.—Fears that the Saluda dam, located on the Columbia river, 11 miles from here, had broken today, were quieted when it was ascertained that a slide occurred in the downstream face of the $20,000,000 hydro-electric power development, causing the loss of water in the segregation pool.

MOVE TO NEW BUILDING IS NECESSITATED

Old Spann Chevrolet Headquarters Are Secured

Interest in the Cisco Daily News cooking school continues to grow from day to day as the merchants learn of the plan for creating buying interest. Finding that the old Daily News building would not take care of the advertising features being offered the merchants, and desiring to take advantage of every opportunity to make the school of the greatest possible benefit to its patrons, the Daily News has secured the old Spann Chevrolet Co. building on Main street (just across from the Cisco Banking Co.) to house the school.

Each evening at 7 o'clock the building will be opened for an informal reception, attended by everybody in Cisco or territory. Both the Ford-Green Music company and the Jno. H. Garner department store will have displays of the radios sold by themselves. They will divide time in giving radio programs from this hour until about 9:30. Meanwhile the crowds will move about and view the displays offered by local merchants who are participating in the school. There will be no night lectures or sessions of the cooking school, but the time will be given over to the distribution of souvenirs and other advertising features. It will be a good place to meet friends and have a little friendly chat and at the same time hear some of the splendid programs furnished by Garner's Atwater-Kent or Ford-Green's Majestic.

Miss Spence who operates a model kitchen in Kansas City, in which she conducts cooking experiments, will arrive in Cisco a day or so before the school opens.

"PROTESTANT CHURCH LOBBY" IS CRITICIZED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The "Protestant church lobby" is responsible both for prohibition and the conditions it has developed, Henry B. Joy, Detroit automobile manufacturer, charged today before the house judiciary committee which resumed hearings on proposals to repeal or modify the 18th amendment.

Joy also charged that George Wickerson, chairman of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, has been for years a power in the organizations which support the church lobby. Joy's charges came after two other representatives of "big business" had gone on record before the committee as uncompromising opponents of national prohibition. All three witnesses held that prohibition is unenforceable and has brought corruption, hypocrisy and bloodshed which cannot longer be tolerated.

When the committee resumed hearings today, chairman Graham issued a ruling denying to drys, other than committee members, the right to cross-examine wet witnesses. Graham, a wet also announced that proponents of the bills under consideration by the committee will be given additional time beyond the two days tentatively fixed.

Huskies Race to Beat Death in the Far North

THE PAS, Man. Feb. 19.—Every resource of the north today sought to aid Bud Stewart, youthful musher, as he raced with death across the prairie, his seven-dog husky team hauling the emaciated and barely living frame of Egatook, an Eskimo trapper. Egatook was caught in a blizzard in the Churchill region February 15 and he crawled back to his cabin with both legs and one arm frozen. When meager medical attention at the outpost settlement failed, Stewart loaded the Eskimo in his sled and set for the Pas, 1,190 miles away.

Word of the race with death reached here late yesterday. Mounted police, Hudson bay and National railway officials and Indian agents laid their plans to aid the rescue.

A special 2,000 type engine dispatched from the Pas and sped toward the winter terminus of the Hudson Bay railroad with medical supplies to stop the spread of deadly gangrene. Old settlers and explorers remembered Egatook as a native who has aided several expeditions of scientists and geologists in the far north.

LEGIONNAIRES WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

EASTLAND, Feb. 19.—Members of the American Legion organizations of Rising Star, Gorman, Carbo, Ranger, Cisco and Eastland will compose a delegation of Eastland county ex-service men who will go to Brady Saturday for the 17th District Legion convention there Saturday and Sunday.

The Eastland county delegation will have a twofold purpose in attending the Brady convention. They will go to take part in the convention and also will seek to have the 17th district convention meet next in Eastland, according to announcements made last night at a meeting of the Dulin-Daniels Post, No. 70, of Eastland.

A number of things of special interest to Eastland and the Eastland post members were discussed at Tuesday night's meeting, which was presided over by Post Commander Ralph Crouch. The meeting authorized the secretary to forward to West Chester, Pa., suitable flowers as a token of respect and remembrance from Eastland ex-service men for their deceased buddy, Horace Butler. A resolution on the death of Butler was passed.

The Ranger Post, which was represented at Tuesday night's meeting by B. H. Peacock and J. B. Heister, extended Eastland ex-service men an invitation to attend a special program being presented by the Ranger Post on Washington's birthday. Other visitors at Tuesday night's meeting included C. E. Dawson, superintendent of schools at Rising Star and post commander of the Rising Star Legion Post; and C. E. Yates and A. J. Muller of the Cisco post.

Harry Wood of the local post entertained the meeting by singing a number of wartime songs.

Women Endorse Moody Prison Plan

INJUNCTION AGAINST CITY DENIED TODAY

Judge States Lack of Jurisdiction in Matter

Federal Judge James C. Wilson this morning in United States district court at Fort Worth, refused to grant the plea of intervention in the suit of Blanchet, Bowman and Wood against the city of Cisco, filed by Robert M. Herron, Jr., and R. H. Boon, of Cisco, and seeking to have the mayor and city commission of Cisco enjoined against the payment of any city funds upon certain bond issues of the city alleged to be invalid.

Judge Wilson's refusal to grant the intervenors any relief on their plea was based upon the ground that his court has no jurisdiction in the matter, first, because the suit of Blanchet, Bowman and Wood in which the Cisco citizens appeared as intervenors, is one at law whereas the intervenors' plea is one in equity, and secondly because a federal court has no jurisdiction to grant relief where there is no diversity of citizenship as between the intervenors and the city.

No Diversity. Judge Wilson pointed out that the intervenors could not come into a lawsuit with a plea of intervention in equity. He also stated that in order for a federal court to have jurisdiction in the matter the litigation must involve citizens of more than one state, whereas in this case there is no such diversity of citizenship as between the intervenors and the city of Cisco.

The hearing, scheduled for yesterday, did not come up until this morning due to the crowded condition of the docket yesterday. The hearing began at 9 o'clock and was finished at 12 when Judge Wilson sustained the motion of the attorneys representing the city of Cisco to dismiss the plea in intervention.

P. D. Morris and R. E. Grantham of Cisco appeared for the intervenors and J. J. Butts and C. L. Orr for the city. The intervenors in the case sought to have the city enjoined from the payment of any further funds of the city upon bond issues alleged in their plea to be invalid. Roughly the total of issues so alleged is $3,600,000.

Tom Blanton Here for Few Moments

Gas and Alcohol Explosions Wreck Refinery

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 19.—Nine men are dead and 54 injured, 11 of them near death in three local hospitals today, victims of a series of Naptha gas and alcohol explosions which turned the Bayway Refinery of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey near here into a veritable inferno.

Many of the injured are blinded for life. Others are seared almost beyond recognition. Throughout the night, police repeatedly bludgeoned attempts of women and children to storm the hospital in the frantic desire to be at the bedside of their injured.

The dead are: William Duffy of Bayonne; William Cross, of Union City; William Casey, of Elizabeth; Dominick Bonomi, Elizabeth; Howard Holliday; Elizabeth; John Lumbas of Elizabeth; George Roberts of Roselle; Clarence Croft, of Bayonne; and an unidentified man.

The first of the three explosions occurred late yesterday as the night-shift was taking its place. All of the daytime workmen had not yet left the refinery. The first blast occurred in the alcohol experiment building. Soon after the other two explosions occurred the building was turned into a furnace of blazing blue flame which enveloped the stunned workmen.

Horribly scorched men ran screaming from the building. Many blinded by the burning spray ran confusedly about the vast 100-acre Standard Oil property. Carpenters and boiler-makers employed on an adjoining building under construction were notified today of scaffolding and their clothes were ignited by the burst of flame which

TAMER NOW.

When the seventy-first congress convened there were two veterans of the Civil war in its membership. When the seventy-second convenes there will be none.

The Warren death and the Stedman retirement are reminders that an era in American politics has ended. In fact, the Civil war ceased to color and dominate national politics years ago.

It is the days of the bloody shirt are over. It has been a long time since the halls of congress were madhouses of intersectional hatred and merciless intolerance.

A Prayer Let me do my work each day; and if the darkened hours of despair overcome me, may I not forget the strength that comforted me in the desolation of other times.

May I still remember the bright hours that found me walking over the silent hills of my childhood, or dreaming on the margin of the quiet river when a light glowed within me, and I promised my early God to have courage amid the tempests of the changing years.

Spare me from bitterness and from the sharp passions of unguarded moments. May I not forget the poverty and richness of the spirit. Though the world know me not, may my thoughts and actions be such as shall keep me friendly with myself. Forbid that I should judge others lest I condemn myself.

Let me not follow the danger of the world, but walk calmly in my path.

Give me a few friends who will love me for what I am; and keep ever burning before my vagrant steps the kindly light of love. And though age and infirmity overtake me, and I come not within sight of the gateway of my dreams, teach me still to be thankful for life, and for time's olden memories that are good and sweet; and may the evening's twilight find me gentle still.—Max Ehrmann.

Did You Ever Stop to Think? By EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Louis Wiley, business manager of the New York Times, says: "That nationally advertised goods make an exceedingly important contribution to the material welfare and comfort of the people — the living habits of nations have been changed by this powerful economic force."

Other commodity that is put before the buying public give assurance, by the mere fact of their advertising, that they believe their goods will give the kind of satisfaction represented in the claims they make for what they are selling.

Try to imagine what would happen if women still bought soda crackers out of the old dusty barrel, prepared soups that took hours and hours to cook and had the dressmaker in one or two days a week.

Nationally advertised goods are purchased over and over again because the public has found that as a rule in those goods there is maintained high quality, a reasonable price, a saving of time and labor, and a satisfaction and peace of mind that are lacking in the purchase of obscure or comparatively unknown goods.

The J. C. Penney Co., will provide the table linen and will also have other items on display. These items will be mentioned in detail later.

Hardware stores and jewelers will be able to advertise their lines of dishes and silverware to great advantage to the hundreds of ladies who will be in attendance daily; and special effort will be expected to draw them by means of cooking lore and the large number of prizes and awards given each day by Miss Spence.

Hvatt & Woods will cooperate and furnish prizes each day. The M System will donate prizes each day and furnish food from their store for cooking demonstrations each day.

Skiles Grocery & Market will have a booth and will furnish all meats needed for cooking demonstrations during the school. Mr. Skiles assures the Daily News that only the choicest of meats will be used. He will also furnish free gifts each day of the school.

W. K. Johnston Grocery will erect a booth and will furnish prizes for the ladies who attend each session of the school. He will cooperate in every way possible to make the school a success for Cisco, he assures us.

Clarence Saunders Grocery will cooperate and Mr. Jenkins will offer prizes each day for ladies attending its sessions.

Piggly Wiggly will cooperate with the school and will give away 12-pound sacks of Airy Fairy flour and one-pound cans of Folger's coffee to ladies in attendance of sessions of the cooking school.

DeLuxe Cleaners will cooperate with the school and will donate prizes during the school. Mr. Donohoe will likely have a booth and display during the evening sessions.

Nabors Furniture will cooperate with the Daily News in its school and will furnish a rug for the kitchen used by Miss Spence. Blanche's will cooperate with the school and will display Kitchen Pajamas. She will also give distinctive prizes each day of the school.

The Acorn Stores will cooperate with the cooking school and will give away each day a can of Duco and a brush.

Still Plenty of Life in Cisco, Lobo Banquet Reveals

MANY TURNED AWAY FOR THE LACK OF ROOM

Turknett and Ray Are Elected Captains for 1930

The response which the annual Lobo banquet last night drew from business men of the city and Lobo boosters generally and the manner in which this event was carried out were the most gratifying things that have occurred in Cisco in many weeks. Even the most optimistic of the steering committee, upon whose shoulders the responsibility for the event was laid, dared not predict that more than 100 would attend the banquet. Yet, so great was the demand for tickets that large numbers had to be turned away while the capacity of the Laguna roof garden was taxed to take care of the gathering.

The part of the more than 30 Lobos, who were the guests of the business men at this banquet, on program was the election of a captain to take the place of W. W. Miller who is graduating from high school this year. Instead of captain the squad elected co-captains, one in the line and one a backfield, Clifford Turknett, Erback, and O. C. Ray, center, those chosen to receive the cap of Miller and to lead the team next season. The two new men were introduced near the close of the session. Demands for a brief response from the boys, who declared that they referred to act rather than

Jake Leach Presides
Leach presided at the affair. D. Wright, school board member, in a stirring appeal for support of the team on part of the citizens and clean manliness, good scholarship and say-die determination to win part of the Lobos, was the main speaker for the evening.

T. Elliott, chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet arrangements, explained the Citizens Athletic association purposes and urged all who were not members to affiliate with the organization immediately. Quite a number of new members responded.

W. W. Wallace speaking upon cooperation under the subject "Keeping Machinery Well Oiled" pointed out that cooperation is essential to every endeavor today and urged that the boys of the team work as a unit and that the citizens get behind them as a unit.

Chapman Speaks
Coach W. B. Chapman was the last speaker on the program. "A coach cannot build a team alone," he said. He urged the boys to train and that the citizens help them by demanding that the rules laid down for the physical care of the individual members be followed faithfully. "If you citizens make the boys understand that you are expecting them to make good they will do it," he declared. Chapman spoke of his faith in Cisco and thanked the fans for the support that had been given in the past, pleading for that support next year.

He then introduced each member of the Lobo squad who was present and concluded by introducing those who will be back next year.

Mr. Wright in his address pointed out what unremitting determination in training or in the pursuit of a purpose will do, citing instances of experience which he had encountered. He told of a skinny, spidery youngster who took up wrestling at the university of Texas while he (Wright) was a student in that institution. Day after day, said Mr. Wright, this boy could be found in some obscure corner of the gymnasium persistently practicing, eternally training. Little attention was paid to him. "But," he continued, "imagine my surprise three years later when attending the wrestling tournament for the Southwestern championship, to discover this insignificant youth the welterweight champion of the southwest. That is just an evidence of what can be done through determination and everlasting work at the job."

Splendid Record
He spoke of the splendid scholastic record that is being made at the high school this year—the best that the school has ever made—and declared that Cisco not only wants its boys to be good athletes and good sportsmen but excellent scholars and, above all, real men.

Among those present at the banquet was an all-American football player of two decades ago. He was big Jim McCormick, of the Humble Oil and Refining company, a veritable tower of a man, whose hair, now grey, lends distinction to the still youthful symmetry of his powerful physique. Mr. McCormick, all-American fullback on the Princeton teams of 1906 and 1907, was introduced, quite unexpectedly so far as he was concerned, by Toastmaster Leach. Taken by surprise he spoke briefly, expressing his pleasure at attending and his confidence in the ability of the Lobos to win if they set themselves to it earnestly.

A boxing match between a couple of fast stepping youngsters enlivened the final moments of the pro-

Golden Cyclones to Be Here Saturday

Cisco fans who saw the Randolph Kittens in action against the Walkover Shoe company sextet here two weeks or more ago will have a second opportunity to see the local girls, who last year were southern A. A. U. champions, in action at home. Saturday evening at 8 o'clock they will meet one of the most powerful teams in the nation—the Employers Casualty Golden Cyclones—at the high school gym.

In an engagement early in the season at Dallas the Cyclones defeated the Kittens by a narrow margin. However, subsequent records of the year have placed the teams on an even basis so that a hot game is certain to warm the boards of the gym Saturday night, a game that will repay any basket ball fan for the time taken to watch it.

Four all-American players will be seen in action, two on each team. The Delma Russell, guard, and Delma Fulford, forward, and high scoring ace of the Kittens, are the two Randolph all-Americans.

The following article from the Dallas News gives an idea of the competition that the Kittens will go up against Saturday night:

Great Lightweight Returning to Ring
CHICAGO, Feb. 19 — If it is possible for anyone to "come back" he'll do it.

That opinion spread over Chicago today in connection with the return to the ring of Charlie White, that great lightweight of past years who believes he can knock out any of the present day fighters.

His come-back record will start next Friday night when he meets Henry Perlick, one of the twins of the fighting Perlick family.

During the banquet hour the Ray Judia orchestra, a Cisco institution, added spirit to the occasion with selections of snappy music. This feature alone contributed much to the event.

SPORT SHOTS

HOUSTON, Feb. 19 — As the invitation tournament of the Houston country club went into the second half of the 36-hole qualifying tests today dopers were at almost as much of a loss to pick a winner as before the rounds started.

Erratic playing, flashes of brilliance followed by undue slumps, freak shots—all combined to leave fortune smiling openly on no one.

Glen Christman, Orange, Texas, was at the lead of the pack by a one-stroke margin. Two over par on the first nine yesterday, he shot brilliant golf on the home stretch to come in at par 71. Oute J. Carlton Jr., playing on his home course, was a single stroke behind.

Carlton, winner of the tournament in 1924, 1928 and 1929, rules slight favorite to cop the honors.

DALLAS, Feb. 19 — Primo Carne, Italian giant who has delved deeply into American boxing purses during his brief sojourn in the land, has a hope of luring Jack Dempsey back into the ring and battling him for the undisputed world heavyweight title, his party revealed here.

With his retinue of manager, trainer, stopping here briefly on his way to New Orleans, where he will meet Jack Meauliffe on Tuesday.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 19 — With the arrival of pitcher Ralph Judd all but three players of the New York Giants early squad are now at camp. Pitchers Larry Benton and Carl Hubbell and catcher O'Farrell are the absentees.

Benton and O'Farrell are hold-outs but Hubbell has signed his 1930 contract and his failure to report is unexplained.

Coach Dave Bancroft sent the entire squad through a two hour drill yesterday.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 19 — Donie Bush, manager of the Chicago White Sox, reduced his personal activities but did not lessen the pace at which he drove his charges yesterday.

During the first workout Monday, Bush was the most active man on the field and yesterday he was the stiffest athlete in camp.

"Guess I'm not as young as I used to be," Donie said, "but that will not be any excuse for these young players to slacken their work."

NEW MANAGER AND RECRUITS YANK ASSETS

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Feb. 19 — An inexperienced manager and a dozen high-class recruits are some of the ingredients from which Col. Jacob Ruppert hopes to rebuild the New York Yankees.

Bob Flawkey, former pitcher and coach of the Yankees, has succeeded to the post of the late Miller Huggins, who won six American league pennants and three world championships during the 12 years he was at the helm.

Many changes are contemplated in the ranks of the Yanks and outside the pitching staff only four players are certain of their places —Dickey behind the bat, Gehrig at first, Combs in center and Ruth in right.

12 Recruits
Six of the Yanks' twelve recruits have all the earmarks of future regulars. They are outfielder Allen (Dusty) Cooke, third baseman Ben Chapman, and pitchers Americano Polli, Ivy Andrews, Louis Mevey and Vernon Gomez.

Three of the group are from the St. Paul American association club and have been pronounced ready for the majors by the expert eye of Bob Conroy, who himself was considered for the Yanks' managerial post before Shawkey was selected. They are Cooke, who batted .336 and is expected to fill the vacancy in left field caused by the departure of Bob Meusel. Chapman, strengthening the pitching staff, man, who batted .356 and is one of the leading candidates for the third base job; and Polli, a young righthanded pitcher who won 22 games and lost nine last season.

WURZBACH IS "LONE WOLF" OF POLITICS

SEGUIN, Feb. 19.—If there ever was a political figure comparable to William Jennings Bryan on the day he won the presidential nomination with a single brilliant speech, that figure is Harry M. Wurzbach of Seguin, now preparing to serve his third term in congress from the fourteenth district of Texas.

Truly a "lone wolf," Harry Wurzbach has defied machine politics, party prejudices, and alleged ballot frauds one at a time until he has at last won a bitter fight to oust him as the only Republican Congressman from Texas.

It was strange enough when Wurzbach, 49 years ago, won a seat in Congress as a Republican in a staunch Democratic state such as Texas is, but it was strange still when he broke off relations with R. T. Cragger, boss of the Texas Republican machine, secured the support of him and his allies, and was elected again.

Well known. Wurzbach became well known and popular in this section of Texas while serving four terms as county attorney and county judge. When he became ambitious to go to congress, Cragger recognized that he had a following in the rural sections of the congressional district and he became the protégé of the "boss."

But the break came. Cragger and his allies bitterly opposed Wurzbach, even though a Republican, in his first and second races for reelection.

The distinguished, gray-haired man from Seguin, though, overcame machine power with popularity. The large German population in the district rallied to his support. He got the German vote, the Republican vote and the vote of his friends and acquaintances. Single-handed, he elected himself.

Augustus McCloskey, County Judge of Bexar county and a member of the Democratic machine in that county, opposed him in 1928. Wurzbach was declared elected on the face of an official return. When the commissioners' court canvassed the returns, it declared McCloskey had won by 219 votes.

Whisper of Fraud. Whisper of a ballot fraud went the rounds. A court of inquiry was organized to investigate. McCloskey and two of his political associates were indicted for alteration of election returns.

McCloskey subsequently was acquitted on one of the five counts against him, the other four were dismissed, and he was temporarily seated in the house. But Wurzbach refused to quit. He wanted a congressional committee to count the votes. The result was that McCloskey himself asked the committee to ask Wurzbach and he withdrew claims to the seat.

Wurzbach got 2,000 votes more in Bexar county than McCloskey did. His third victory has strengthened him in both the metropolitan rural areas of his district. He would be admittedly hard to defeat for his seat the next time.

The congressman is a veteran of the Spanish-American war and still has the physical appearance of a soldier. His name was left on when the records of the 71st congress was printed, but it will be put back the next time.

SAFETY GAINS IN AVIATION FIGURES SHOW

A marked increase in the number of miles flown for each accident in civil aeronautics in the United States for the first six months of 1929 over the same period in the previous year is shown in the semi-annual report of aircraft accidents made public by Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics.

A total of 56,201,338 miles was flown by civil aircraft in the United States between January and June, 1929—more than three times as much as during the first six months of 1928—in air transport and miscellaneous operations. Air transport operations, it was stated, includes those in which pilots carry passengers, mail or express on scheduled service over regularly established routes, and miscellaneous operations include student instruction, experimental, commercial and pleasure flying.

In scheduled air transport operations for this period, the report shows there were 9,251,338 miles flown with nine fatal accidents reported, the mileage flown for each fatal accident therefore being 1,022,571. For the same period of 1928 there were 1,484,612 miles flown and five fatal accidents, the mileage per accident being 296,922.

Considering all classes of accidents, including those referred to above as well as all others, the miles flown per accident in scheduled air transport operations for the first half of 1929 totaled 6,137,000, while in the same period in 1928 the total mileage was 1,200,000, the number of fatal accidents was 92 and the miles flown per fatal accident numbered 130,435.

The total number of all classes of accidents reported in the 1929 six month period in miscellaneous operations was 714, which brought the miles per accident in miscellaneous operations to 65,826. This figure as well as all others, the miles flown per accident in scheduled air transport operations for the first half of 1929 totaled 6,137,000, while in the same period in 1928 the total mileage was 1,200,000, the number of fatal accidents was 92 and the miles flown per fatal accident numbered 130,435.

DAILY AVERAGE PRODUCTION ON BIG INCREASE

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 19.—One of the largest increases in daily average crude oil production in the United States in many months was made last week, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

California alone was responsible, advancing from 798,495 barrels to 767,506 barrels. The total national increase was 57,228 barrels, the daily average rising from 2,618,761 to 2,675,989 barrels.

Santa Fe Springs mounted from 103,000 to 123,000 barrels. Elmer's rose from 35,500 to 40,000 barrels and Long Beach increased 6,000 barrels to 116,000.

Oklahoma recorded an increase of only 635 barrels up to 631,570 barrels. West Texas declined 3,500 barrels from 342,540 to 339,040 barrels. The panhandle slumped from 91,610 to 89,265. North central Texas rose from 134,543 to 135,192 and east central Texas was up from 22,319 to 25,163 barrels.

Kansas rose twenty barrels to 110,235.

The total midcontinent field light oil declined from 1,382,754 to 1,389,228, while heavy grades rose from 46,230 to 46,465.

California light rose 61,000 barrels to 662,500 and heavy was up 500 barrels to 105,000.

Arkansas light declined from 17,620 to 17,683, while heavy increased from 41,080 to 41,315.

Louisiana light declined forty barrels to 32,400, while heavy held steady at 5,150 barrels.

Gulf coast heavy dropped from 203,416 to 201,372 barrels.

SAFETY GAINS IN AVIATION FIGURES SHOW

above as well as all others, the miles flown per accident in scheduled air transport operations for the first half of 1929 totaled 155,366, as there were 60 accidents. For the corresponding period in 1928, the total number of accidents reported was 35, which placed the miles per accident at 128,132.

Carried out further to take in the total mileage flown in all the classes of aircraft operations for each fatal accident, the figures show that there was one fatal accident during the first half of 1929 for every 442,530 miles flown. The total number of fatal accidents for this period was 137, while the total miles flown was more than 56,000,000, as previously set forth. For the corresponding period of 1928, however, the number of fatal accidents in all classes of operations was 97, the miles flown were 16,484,612, giving a total mileage per fatal accident in all classes of flying of 169,944.

From the standpoint of mileage flown per accident in all classes of civil aircraft operations and for all classes of accidents throughout the United States for the first half of 1929, the figures show an increase of almost 100 per cent over the corresponding period of 1928. There was a total of 774 accidents in the first six months of 1929, which placed the total mileage per accident at 72,612. For the first half of 1928, there were 430 accidents of all kinds, and a total mileage of 38,337 per accident for all classes of operation.

Rash Romance

BY LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Judith Cameron, New York typist, marries Arthur Knight, executive of the publishing house where she works. Knight is a widower, with a daughter, Tony, 18, and son, Junior, 16. Tony denounces Judith as a gold digger. Her father makes her apologize. When Junior comes home for the Christmas holidays he is equally unfriendly.

Andy Craig, whom Knight has aided, takes a position with the publishing house. He is in love with Tony and calls on her frequently. Tony tries to convince her father that Judith and Andy are carrying on an affair. She tricks the pair into a compromising situation.

Tony is carrying on a flirtation with Mickey Mortimer, wealthy and married. This is revealed when they are arrested at 3 a. m. for reckless driving. Tony and her father quarrel over this but finally the girl is forgiven. Knight contracts pneumonia and dies. Junior comes home and before he leaves admits to Judith he has misjudged her. Knight's recuperation is slow and Judith is resentful because he seems to prefer Tony's company to hers.

A letter for Judith arrives and Tony takes it. Later she follows Judith on a trip into the city and sees her meet a young man. Next day Tony threatens to tell her father the story unless Judith will go away for two weeks. Believing Tony knows more than she does, Judith agrees and departs. She leaves a note for Arthur.

CHAPTER XI

"That's all for today," Arthur night looked up smiling at his secretary, who sat with dictation ebook on one corner of his desk. "Well, it isn't going to be now, I hope, because I'll be going into the office myself and you all these suburban trips." Miss Tupper met Knight's smile one in which maternal tenderness and the respect due an employer were mingled.

"Do hope you'll be back at desk soon," she answered, anyone in the office is anxious to see you. But you know it isn't bother at all for me to come here. I—I don't mind in the least."

She had barely saved herself from adding that she enjoyed the way of working with Arthur in her home. It would be a truthful statement she decided the words seemed personal.

though any thought at all of atheny Tupper's concerning she had worked with the man and for him for 15 years!

The private secretary had not forgiven Knight for marrying his attractive young wife, but she was like an indulgent elder viewing a willful child. She preferred to think his errors were the fault of others.

Now she folded her notebook and collected the papers she was to take back to the city.

"That's all very well," Knight assured her. "Just the same I know coming out here is a nuisance. Well, strictly in confidence, I've made Shepard promise to let me out of the house next week."

"Oh, I'm so glad!"

There was no doubt of that. Miss Tupper's voice more clearly than her words, expressed delight. "Don't suppose I'll get into town certainly like to. But what would Judith say?"

"Oh—Judith! Have we always got to think about Judith?"

"Of course we have."

"But she forgets about you."

"What do you mean?" A harsh quality had entered Knight's voice.

"Well, I mean—she isn't here is she? And every day almost it's just the same. Sometimes I think—well, I don't know! You and I are used to living out here, Father. We like it. But I suppose for someone who isn't accustomed to this sort of life it would be monotonous."

"You think Judith is tired of— all this?"

"Oh, of course not! I just meant it's only natural for her to want to get around and see her friends occasionally. Who are her friends, Father?"

"Why—the same people you and I know."

"But there must be girls—and men—that she knew before you and she were married?"

"Knight looked at Tony. She had started off a whole train of suspicious thoughts, each catching fire from the other like a package of Fourth of July fire crackers."

Tony was quick to seize her opportunity.

"You know, Father," she went on seriously, "I've learned to understand Judith a lot better than I did. Of course, you know I apologized for the way I treated her at first. I couldn't help that. It was—because I loved you so much! But lately since we've all been home together so much I've learned to know her better. There's just one thing that—rather hurts me."

"What is that?"

"Well, I've tried so hard to be friendly with her but it doesn't seem to do any good. She—I guess she doesn't like me."

"Nonsense, Tony. You mustn't talk that way about Judith."

"But, Father, it's true! Yesterday afternoon I rearranged all my plans so I could drive into town with her. For some reason—I don't know why—she didn't seem to like it at all."

"I'm sure you're mistaken, Tony. Judith does want to be friendly with you. I know that."

"Oh, I'm so glad! If you really believe that, I'll keep right on trying."

"Why—the same people you and I know."

"But there must be girls—and men—that she knew before you and she were married?"

"Knight looked at Tony. She had started off a whole train of suspicious thoughts, each catching fire from the other like a package of Fourth of July fire crackers."

Tony was quick to seize her opportunity.

"You know, Father," she went on seriously, "I've learned to understand Judith a lot better than I did. Of course, you know I apologized for the way I treated her at the living room Tony did not hear him enter. All in sparkling white, she was intent before the radiola, tuning in on a hotel orchestra's symphony.

The crash of brass and trumpet filled the room.

Knight crossed the room, placed a hand on the girl's shoulder and she whirled about.

"Haven't Judith come in yet?" he asked.

"Tony shook her head innocently. "I haven't seen her," she said. "Wait—I'll ask Harriet."

Arthur Knight shut off the raucous aerial din, and waited.

"Harriet said she hasn't seen her," Tony reported. "She said Mrs. Wheeler was looking for her but she hasn't come in yet."

"That's strange. Judith didn't say anything at noon about going out anywhere, did she?"

"Petulant little lines formed on the girl's brow.

"Did she?" she repeated. "No, I can't seem to remember anything like that."

"Knight rang a bell for the maid. "Will you go upstairs," he said to Harriet when she appeared, "and see if Mrs. Knight is in her room?"

"Yes, sir."

Five minutes later he was informed that Mrs. Knight was not upstairs.

"She didn't go into town, either, Mr. Knight—that is, not with the car. Bert's been working out in the garage all afternoon."

"I see. Thank you, Harriet. I imagine Mrs. Knight will be here soon."

Seven o'clock came, but Judith did not appear. Dinner was kept waiting and Arthur Knight paced back and forth, back and forth through the living room and hall.

At 7:30 Knight was worried.

"Perhaps there's been an accident!" he appealed to Tony. "If she went into town she must have taken a train. Judith wouldn't have forgotten all about time this way. I'm going to telephone."

It was then, as he hurried through the hallway that his eye caught sight of the envelope. It was addressed in Judith's writing.

"Dear Arthur:

"Something has happened very unexpectedly which is taking me away for a short time."

After the man had read it all through twice he stood staring through the window. This letter, he was trying to convince himself, meant that Judith had gone!

Tony, watching secretly, grew nervous. Why, it must have been 16 minutes he had been standing there with his back toward her! She went into the hall.

"Daddy, what's happened?" Is another letter?

BROWNSVILLE, Feb. 19.—Seymour and Whittle, New York and St. Louis, are planning a five mile causeway between points Isabel and Padre Island which would be the connecting link in a 100-mile seashore road between Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

The causeway would connect with the 120-mile road up the island. Thru bridge spans would provide openings for sea-going vessels, according to plans.

GAINED IN HEALTH ON ONE BOTTLE

"I Was in a Serious Condition, and Tried All Kinds of Medicines. But Orgatone Is Only Medicine Gave Me Relief," Says Brownwood Housewife.

"I have gained in health and strength on one bottle of Orgatone, and feel years younger," said Mrs. Hester Lee, of 913 Victoria street, Brownwood, Texas, while in conversation with the Orgatone representative.

"I was in a very much run down condition," she continued, "from stomach disturbances and most everything I ate gave me trouble. My food would sour on my stomach, and form gas that made me miserable for hours afterwards. I had liver trouble and severe intense pains in my sides, which hurt me so bad at times I could hardly stand it. The gas crowded my heart and it would palpitate so fast at times I thought I had heart trouble. My nerves were all on edge so I got very little sleep at night, and when morning came I was almost as tired as when I went to bed. I had terrible headaches and felt so wretched and no account, I hardly had any life or energy left to do anything."

"I heard so many people telling about the good that Orgatone had done them that I decided to try it. The way it took hold of my troubles was one grand surprise to me and I hardly know how to begin to tell all the benefits I have derived from using it. I feel better than I have for several years. I eat anything I want now, and don't have the least trouble afterward. I sleep and rest the every night and those terrible pains are all gone, and my liver seems to be in perfect condition now. Orgatone has been a fine thing for me and I am glad to recommend it to others, from my own experience with it."

RUMORS WHICH CAUSED RUN ON BANK PROBED

FORT WORTH, Feb. 19.—Grand jury investigation into the source of rumors which caused a run on the First National bank late Tuesday was under way today, after a special charge delivered by District Judge George E. Hovey, who appraised the members of the state law against false rumors about a bank's condition.

Officials of the institution declared it as sound as at any time in its history. It is one of Fort Worth's largest banks, having deposits of $24,139,669, and capital and surplus of $2,000,000.

The bank was kept open until 10 o'clock last night, long after its closing hours, and the long line of depositors seeking their money was served with hot dogs and coffee at the bank, and entertained by an orchestra. Officials said the bank would have stayed open all night, had not the raid subsided.

Several of them addressed the crowd, assuring them they would be paid.

Federal Reserve bank trucks from Dallas delivered $5,000,000 in cash to the institution late in the day.

log months of the fifth year of any administration as president. In my judgment, in spite of the talk concerning the finances of the college, which started I know not where and was handed around from friend to friend, this has been the best year in our history. It is true that our financial conditions are a great struggle has been occasioned. But this in no way has affected our class work, for the loyal men and women composing our faculty, have gone steadily on with the spirit that is the spirit of a martyr. Some one has said: "You have a faculty composed of a group of missionaries. Quite true. They are as faithful to the cause of the Christian college as a missionary is to his task which is of equal importance."

"We have had a more serious minded student body this year which is doing on the whole a much better work. With the coming of better local conditions there is no reason why we should not build a larger and better college as well as a larger and better city. To do this will require a larger and better effort on the part of every citizen. It will not be done by outsiders who are not interested in building our city. My family may have faults, but good cities would prevent any one from saying so. We Cisconians are a family and we have our faults, but who would dare tell us. It is true that we have a beautiful city, fine citizenship, and a wonderful climate. Do not our business concerns compare favorably with the cities much larger than ours? What cities have more beautiful churches, better kept residences? Where is there a better school system, managed by a more splendid group of teachers, and a junior college in the south with a higher rank than ours? Plans are being made now by a board to make Randolph college a larger and better school. I know this will meet with your approval and whole hearted consideration. We are now getting out our new catalogue. May we not start a slogan that will be on the lips of everyone. "Greater and a better business, "Greater and more efficient schools, "Greater and a more thorough college, "Greater and a more beautiful city."

"Greater and a more beautiful city." T. T. Roberts

FORT WORTH, Feb. 19.—Three persons today were recovering from burns received in a fire which swept through the town of Smithfield, 29 miles east of here yesterday, causing the death of Mrs. Lora B. Buckworth, 76, and destruction of five buildings.

Winnie Lightner Coming Saturday

Winnie Lightner, that vivacious comedienne whose appearance in "Gold Diggers of Broadway" Cisco theatre goes still remember with chuckles, is coming here again. This time it is in a picture all her own, "She Couldn't Say No", a picture that will be shown at the Palace theatre in this city next Saturday evening for the first time in Texas.

The fact that "She Couldn't Say No" is having its Texas premier at Cisco is no surprise to theatre patrons of this section. Two other outstanding screen productions of the year have preceded "She Couldn't Say No" in Texas premiers at the Palace. In fact Texas premiers are becoming such a habit that Manager K. N. Greer is casting about for a new method of again emphasizing the leadership of the Cisco show house.

"She Couldn't Say No" will be shown at the Palace for the first time in Texas at 10:45 Saturday evening.

The picture is a succession of delectable fun, song, dance and frolic with a note of tragedy and a number of highly dramatic scenes that blend the whole into a story that is gripping with interest. The night club episodes are those showing Winnie Lightner in her role of Winnie Harper, first a hostess at a cheap club, and later the toast of the town in the exclusively Kitty Kat.

Miss Lightner is indeed entertaining in these scenes when she is singing for the club patrons. She puts her songs over with energy and humor and handles the dramatic scenes with a nice restraint. Chester Morris is excellent in the role of the young racketeer who reforms under the guidance and love of Winnie and then breaks her heart by falling in love with a pretty society flapper. Sally Eilers, Tully Marshall and Johnny Arthur are the other principal members of the cast. They all give fine performances.

swept out of the experiment building.

The first blast, according to survivors, occurred when a naptha gas line running into the alcohol experiment laboratory burst, the escaping fumes being ignited by forges used by workmen on the adjoining building. A hissing wall of flame swept through the building and exploded, two alcohol vats.

Head in Other Towns.

The explosions were heard in Linden and Elizabeth, nearby communities. The entire fire fighting forces of both cities and every available ambulance went to the scene.

Private automobiles were commandeered to take the injured to hospitals and to emergency stations set up on the oil company reservation.

Every available nurse, interne and physician in Elizabeth was called while volunteer messengers scurried from place to place seeking blankets and medical supplies. Surgeons worked unceasingly throughout the night over the injured.

A graphic recital of the explosion was furnished by James Capertino, of Elizabeth, a mason's helper.

"All of a sudden," he said, "I was thrown violently to the ground; I found myself on fire. I leaped up and everybody around me looked like they were dead. Then they began getting up. Most of them were ablaze."

There is a heavy wire fence around the buildings. The men couldn't find the gate to get out and they grew panicky. Lots of the men looked mutilated."

CHICAGO VISITED BY DESTRUCTION

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Bomb, chemical and gasoline explosions roared out in scattered parts of the city early today, spreading flames in two structures that did more than $250,000 damage.

A half block of ruins marked the spot where the building had stood that housed the Eagle Sheet Metal Manufacturing company, the Paragon Laundry and the Samoline corporation, manufacturers of cleaning compounds.

There the major explosions, at least a dozen in number, accompanied a fire fed by chemicals in the cleaning compound plant.

Tacky Party for J. O. Y. Members

Mrs. J. L. Thornton and Mrs. Harry Schaefer entertained the J. O. Y. class last night with a tacky party at the home of Mrs. Schaefer on the Rising Star highway.

Old fashioned pictures and calendars which were hung in the rooms assisted in carrying out the "tacky" idea, and were a suitable background for the amusing costumes worn by the guests.

After several games were played, the guests paraded before the judges, Mesdames F. A. Herndon, Smith, Huestis, and M. M. Taber, who awarded first prize to Mrs. H. G. Bailey, second to Mrs. Rudolph Schaefer, and third to Mrs. Clarence Turner.

Refreshments of lemonade and ginger snaps were served in the kitchen before the guests departed, thanking their hostesses for "the tackiest time we ever had."

Those present were: Mesdames Herman Reimers, Spike Uffelman, Chas. Clevinger, H. B. Wilson, Rae Judah, Lloyd Surlis, McCann, A. L. Black, A. G. Paul, F. M. Herndon, C. L.
