Miss Spence Delighted With Accommodations Afforded

Intent on securing "ring-side" seats today and on avoiding the inconvenience of being among the throng forced to remain standing yesterday because of the lack of seating capacity women began pouring into the Spann Chevrolet building today an hour before hand to witness the demonstrations of Miss Clara Alden Spence who is conducting the Daily News Free Cooking School.

One of the fortunate ones who had obtained a seat directly in front of Miss Spence's table on the very front row sat placidly sewing as the 1 o'clock whistle blew.

More chairs were secured for the crowds today than were had yesterday, but even the added num-

Praises Arrangements
The arrangements, cooperation of the Cisco merchants, are the outstanding success that is attending the school is highly praised by Miss Spence.

"I have never held a school where there was better organization and fuller cooperation on the part of the merchants, or better attendance than this one in Cisco," Miss Spence declared. "I am indeed grateful for the hearty cooperation I have received from everybody."

A lovely ecstacy was presented Miss Spence by Philpitt, the florist, and two baskets of beautiful cut flowers, also donated by Philpitt, were placed at either end of the stage, the lumber for which

Death Inevitable for Ex-President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—William Howard Taft is growing weaker and death is inevitable.

The 27th president of the United States is in a critical condition and his death may come at any minute, according to a noon bulletin issued by his physicians today.

The attending physicians returned to the Taft residence at 1 p. m.

This was an out of the ordinary visit as the doctors ordinarily made only two visits a day, one for the noon or 11 a. m. conference, and again at 6 p. m.

PREPARATIONS TO EXECUTE SNOOK MADE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 27.—

Heien Marple Snook made a personal appeal to Governor Myers Y. Cooper today for clemency for her condemned husband, Dr. James Howard Snook, who is to be put to death tomorrow for the murder of Theora Hix, his college girl sweetheart.

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
OHIO STATE PENITENTIARY, Columbus, Feb. 27.—The small, almost bare room where Dr. James Howard Snook will be electrocuted tomorrow for the murder of Theora Hix, his college girl sweetheart, was scrubbed and placed in order today as Snook's attorneys prepared an eleven-hour appeal for executive clemency.

There was little likelihood the execution would be delayed, though E. O. Ricketts, chief of the doomed man's counsel, intimated that if Governor Myers Y. Cooper refuses clemency he may appeal to the federal district court to stay the penalty on the ground that Snook's constitutional right of fair trial was denied.

Ricketts, associate counsel and Snook's wife, Helen, were to appeal to the governor and the state board of clemency at 2 p. m. Snook meantime, entered upon what may be his last day of life. Outwardly he was still the iron-nerved, confident professor of veterinary medicine who sat in court here last summer and without the flicker of an eye lash, heard a jury condemn him to death.

He arose with his cellmates at 6:30 a. m., ate breakfast as usual, then exercised vigorously in the narrow confines of his cell. His guards reported him cheerful and "unconcerned" and still confident he would receive a commutation.

Warden F. E. Thomas today left the time of the execution in doubt. "It will take place sometime between tonight and midnight Friday," he said. The customary hour is 7:30 p. m. E. S. T. Thomas said his decision was occasioned by requests of more than 500 persons among them scores of women, for permission to witness Snook's death. No women will be admitted to the death chamber, he said.

Snook's wife who staunchly supported her husband since his arrest last June, three days after Miss Hix's mutilated body was found on the New York Central rifle range, was expected to pay her last visit to him today.

Snook has not seen his two-year-old daughter since his imprisonment. The baby's birth was impending when the bald, 49-year-old veterinary instructor met Miss Hix, then a co-ed in the College of Medicine at Ohio State university.

Snook's name was never directly mentioned by Miss Hix until the 24-year-old co-ed's body, bearing 17 stab wounds, the jugular vein slashed and an ear punctured, was found.

Two newspapermen learned that Miss Hix had kept company with Marion T. Meyers, a horticulturist at Ohio State and through Meyers they learned Snook had been meeting the girl clandestinely for two years. His arrest followed. Five days later he confessed, declaring he killed the girl because she tried to dominate his life and insisted he leave his wife and baby.

DEATH EXPECTED SOON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Death is expected soon at the home of William Howard Taft.

The career which spanned 72 years of active life and carried Mr. Taft to the presidency and, later, the chief justiceship of the United States, is drawing slowly to a close, attending physicians have indicated, and death is only a matter of time. At midnight, when the last official bulletin was issued, Drs. Thomas

CANCELS RECEPTION.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—After receiving a noon bulletin on former chief Justice Taft, President Hoover today cancelled a reception for members of the house of representatives which had been scheduled for tonight at the white house.

Clayton and Francis Hagner said he was growing weaker and that hope for his recovery was abandoned.

"Mr. Taft is growing steadily weaker," the bulletin said. It is now only a question of time.

"His temperature (at midnight) was 100. His pulse was 60 and his respiration 34. The normal respiration is 20.

For more than three weeks the former head of the executive and judiciary departments of the government has been waging a losing battle with death. At times during that period his condition was such as to encourage the hope he might recover.

As the days passed, however, it became increasingly evident that he was losing ground gradually, and hope faded.

TRAPPER GETS THREE WOLVES IN TWO DAYS

F. B. Matthews, government wolf trapper, has added three more wolves to his list the past two days.

One of the beasts was caught yesterday morning on the J. M. Ray ranch, north of Cisco; a second was caught on the same ranch this morning and a third, a 50-pound specimen, was captured on the Phippen ranch just west of Lake Cisco last night.

The latter wolf, while in the trap had been set upon by hounds and killed, the hide being badly mutilated by the dogs.

Smoke May Lead to Lost Airplane

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 27.—Smoke curling from a fire on the south side of the San Bernardino mountain range Sunday afternoon about the time the missing 17-passenger Western Air liner was reported circling over the range, today led to the belief that the craft piloted by James E. Doles may have crashed and burned.

The fire was reported by residents of Muscoy, a village on the Tujun Pass road and was considered as a definite clue to the fate of the plane missing since 11:45 a. m. Sunday when Doles, A. W. Bieber, co-pilot, and John Slaton, steward of the ship, took off for Los Angeles from Kingman, Ariz.

TELEGRAM IS DISPATCHED TO SENATOR

Thirty Signatures Are Attached to Message

A group of citizens, acting through the chamber of commerce, yesterday wired Senator Tom Connally at Washington asking him to support the proposed tariff upon crude oil. The telegram was signed by 30 business and professional men.

It reads: "Hon. Tom Connally, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

"The proposed tariff on oil imperative if this great national industry is to survive STOP Not only the producer but owners of proven and prospective oil areas, investors who are scattered throughout the nation, manufacturers not only of petroleum but of oil field supplies as well, and all allied crafts are facing a growing crisis STOP The flood of foreign oil is seriously affecting the industry's efforts of conservation STOP Texas requests your active support of this tariff."

CHAIR FACES 2 OKLAHOMA YOUTHS TODAY

TISHOMINGO, Ok., Feb. 27.—Against a mass of evidence intending to trace the death plot of their mates by two neighbors of the Utica community, Andrew J. Eastep today faced the task of providing an alibi to escape the electric chair.

Eastep, Bryan county farmer, is on trial on a charge of murder in the death of Will Hughes, partially deaf farmer. The state charges Eastep and Mrs. Ila Hughes, widow of the slain man, had planned the death of their mates so that they might marry.

After selection of a jury late yesterday, County Attorney J. A. Shirley presented the bulk of the state's case.

Hughes was slain the night of Nov. 26, 1929, when he went to the barnyard upon advice of his wife who told him the horses were in the grain crib. He had been beaten to death with a club.

Over objections of George Hawley, chief defense counsel, Judge Porter Newman admitted in evidence testimony concerning the death of Mrs. Eastep a month before Hughes was slain. Sheriff Ruel Taylor told of the woman's confession which she accused Eastep of poisoning his wife.

Families Renew Feud; One Dead

BEAUMONT, Feb. 27.—Poles Halbert, 40, was killed and a bystander wounded at Hemphill, Sabine county, officers learned here today.

Kirby and Rance Russell, brothers, were arrested and charged with murder.

Halbert was slain on the court-house square six feet from where his son is charged with having shot to death Roy Russell, a brother of the two men charged, four months ago.

CLUB MEETINGS CONDUCTED BY COUNTY AGENTS

County Agent J. C. Patterson and Home Demonstration Agent Miss Ruth Ramey were engaged Monday and Tuesday in conducting boys and girls' club meetings at various communities of the county.

They were located at Cheaney and Alameda on Monday; then at Dothan, Pleasant Hill, Okra and Flatwoods on Tuesday. Their next meetings will be held on March 10 and 11. The places of the meetings will be announced later.

The purpose of the boys club meetings was to work out plans for productive demonstrations and to learn how to keep records on activities and results also to make reports of same records to the county agent.

The girls' meetings were for the purpose of studying exterior improvement. Each girls' club member was given approximately eight shirbs to be planted in their front yards as a part of the exterior improvement contest for the year.

Editor Files Suit Alleging Plagiarism

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 27.—Will H. Maupin, Nebraska editor, desires to keep his "sunside up" and in addition asks $100,000 for having, he claims, originated the idea. Maupin has filed suit, charging plagiarism, against the Fox Film corporation, producer of a film play by the same name, which Maupin says was the theme of a book he wrote and the title of his newspaper column.

Maupin's attorneys announced suit on infringement of copyright would be brought against De Silva, Brown and Henderson, song writers, who produced the theme song for the show.

Maupin said he first used "Sunside Up" as the title of his column when writing for the Omaha Bee-News and later wrote a book by the same title.

Mumps Causes Halt in Case

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 27.—A case of the mumps brought a halt today in the trial of five non-union textile workers charged with the death of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins in an "anti-communist" disorder Sept. 14 at Gastonia.

Judge J. H. Clements postponed the case until Monday, March 3, on the report of doctors W. B. Hunter and Lee Johnson that defendant O. H. Lunsford was suffering from the malady and today had a temperature of 104.

FARM BOARD MOVES TO AID WHEAT CRISIS

Program Will Be Modified Legge Announces Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Chairman Legge of the federal farm board announced today the board plans to modify its program in handling the wheat situation in order to extend loaning of money and to obtain new storage facilities.

"We have to modify our program a little because of the congestion at markets and a general desire on the part of farmers to sell," Legge said. "Taxes are becoming due and interest falls due on farm loans soon and farmers are sending their wheat supplies to the markets."

"We are working out a program for more extensive loaning and storing back in country elevators because the elevators in most of the terminals are full."

Legge said various agencies of the farm board now hold about 25,000,000 bushels of wheat. He explained that about 10,000,000 bushels had been bought outright, money loaned on 8,000,000 bushels and contracts made for future delivery on about 7,000,000 bushels.

NUN AND 10 CHILDREN ARE FIRE VICTIMS

THE PAS. Man., Feb. 27.—Smoke-blackened expanse of brick wall, shaped like a rude cross, stood today among the ashes of the Cross Lake Indian boarding school in the snowlands 150 miles northwest of here as a cenotaph to the mother superior and 10 Indian children who died in the fire that destroyed the school early Tuesday.

The ragged cross in the ruins was a monument also to the bravery of the four nuns in a hospital here and that of the four other nuns and four priests still at Cross Lake who risked their lives to save the 46 girls and 48 boys who escaped.

It was 3 a. m. when Sister Superior Margaret Marie awakened to the crackles of flames in the big school. It was revealed today by the injured nuns. They said she roused them and they ran to the main stair-case leading down from the dormitory on the third floor. It was flaming suddenly the lights failed.

In the darkness, lit momentarily by a lurid glare, the mother superior and her loyal nuns fought through the smoke to get the children out.

At least 30 children suffered from frost despite the care taken after the fire. The nuns who were unhurt, aided by Father Trudeau, the principal, and the priests, took their charges to a barn nearby where a stove was set up. Some children later were taken to the Hudson's Bay company post and others to the reserve.

Because the priests were sleeping on the first floor, they were unable to reach the girls' dormitory, it was had to hold Father Trudeau to prevent his rushing into the flames. The priests formed a bucket line to a nearby river, but their efforts were futile.

Congratulates Daily News on Cooking School

Feb. 27, 1930

Cisco Daily News, Cisco, Texas.

Gentlemen:
In behalf of Herron's please accept my congratulations on the wonderful success of your cooking school now being conducted by Miss Spence.

The spirit with which the merchants of Cisco are co-operating in this most interesting spectacle is outstanding among numerous similar events I have known, throughout the United States.

Each display booth reflects unusual cleverness in design and beauty. The artistic arrangement of merchandise displayed is worthy of the highest praise.

The enthusiastic manner in which the immense crowds accept Miss Spence attest to the appreciation and value of the school itself.

Miss Spence elegantly displays her cleverness in being the remarkable professional she is in the science of home economics.

I am greatly impressed with your entire program; in character, enthusiasm, worthiness and manner in which it is being conducted. This event marks Cisco a live, wide-awake and thrifty little city and I am sure that your merchants and all attendants will profit by your cooking school.

Respectfully
Jas. L. Russell,

DuPont Demands Prohibition Repeal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Another big business man demanded repeal of the eighteenth amendment when Pierre S. Dupont, of the vast Dupont interests, testified before the house judiciary committee today.

Starting the final day of presentation of the wet case, Dupont took the position that prohibition had failed even to curb, much less prevent the use of alcohol.

RESOLUTION IS PRESENTED THIS MORNING

Signatures of 52 Members Attached to Document

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Fifty-two members of the Texas house of representatives had signed a resolution this morning proposing that the fifth called session adjourn sine die on Saturday.

The session which opened on Feb. 19 would close on March 29 if it ran its full course.

Rep. Coke Stevenson of Junction who has the resolution said that it is apparent the session will not accomplish anything by continuing in session.

The session was called to complete three matters unfinished by the fourth called session. They were investigation of impeachment charges, penitentiary legislation and providing additional revenues.

The impeachment proceedings have been concluded. Stevenson said there is no prospect of agreement on a sulphur tax, the principal revenue matter. If a penitentiary agreement can be reached at all, he said, it can be done before Saturday.

Present Resolution

Representative Stevenson presented the adjournment resolution to Speaker Barrion just before noon. It is to be placed before the house when discussion of a prison bill, which was in progress, is completed this afternoon.

A number of members who did not sign the resolution to quit Saturday, said they would sign one to quit during the following week. Their proposal was to adjourn today until Monday, after voting on a prison bill.

They proposed to resume the sessions Monday morning and remain in session until Wednesday to give conference committee a chance to work out compromises on a sulphur tax and prisons.

Both house and senate worked today on rival prison bills. The house took up the Graves anti-administration bill and the senate worked on the administration bill. An effort was made in the house to compromise by letting the prison board select a site for an additional prison and improve the farms at this time.

FEDERAL FUNDS FOR LAND RECLAMATION.

Senator Tom Connally and Congressman James P. Buchanan are responsible for a bill which would authorize an appropriation of $10,000,000 to be used as a revolving fund to make loans for land reclamation purposes in states which are without the benefit of similar federal aid because no public lands are contained within their borders.

Those who are responsible for the measure declared that while the bill is not designed for the benefit of Texas alone, much land in the west and southwest part of the state, at present in an arid district, must be reclaimed and irrigated and one section of the state, comprising more than 20 counties in area traversed by the Brazos river, would be reclaimed by authorized methods. This is a machine age. Overproduction appears to be the curse of the farmer. That is, overproduction of cotton and wheat. This is the age of civilization of the cow and the sow and the hen, and the farmer who conducts a stock farm as well as a dairy and poultry farm is the tiller of the soil who will make dividends as well as supply his own table. Smokehouses and corn cribs are needed in Texas.

WHERE THE STATE FADES AWAY.

Walter S. Gifford is president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company. He does not approve of the Couzens bill for consolidation of communication systems under control of the federal commission. He maintains that no recent happenings in the telephone business would warrant transfer of authority from the states to the federal government. His verdict: "Whenever a federal commission touches utilities the result is that the federal government controls and the state fades."

Five of the supreme court judges, including Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, are federalists and believe in federal control of public service corporations as well as of the private corporations of America. Four of the justices are committed to the gospel of the right of the state to control its own internal affairs, including public utilities. Pres. Hoover has three years to serve. He may be re-elected. If so his tenure of office will be seven years. Three of the four associate justices who are of the Jackson school are very old men. They may pass out of the picture in the near future. Then there will be eight of the federalist school and only one survivor of the gospel of state rights as taught and practiced by Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Grover Cleveland.

TEXAS LABOR ON FIRING LINE.

This is campaign year. Legislative representatives of the four train service brotherhoods and the state organizations affiliated with the State Federation of Labor have let it be known that hereafter they are to coordinate their efforts. For a number of years they had been maintaining separate legislative boards.

worked in harmony in the campaigns of 1926 and 1928 in the selection of candidates for office, members of the legislature included, friendly to the cause of labor in all fields of endeavor.

Representatives of these organizations are not noisy but they are said to know a hawk from a dove. They promise to make their influence felt in the campaign of 1930.

WHY NOT A TARIFF ON OIL?

In asking for a tariff, the oil men are asking no more of their government than all other industries and producers have asked.

Every tool and appliance used by the oil man is protected and he pays the most uniformly high wages of any American industry.

The oil man carries the greatest burden of taxation of any industry and his commodity has increased in price than any other, for it has increased only 13 percent. The gasoline that was worth $1 in 1913 now costs $1.13, while building materials of $1 valuation in 1913 cost $1.73 now, house furnishings $1.61, farm products $1.42 and the average of all commodities is $1.51.

Vice President Curtis, speaking in Tulsa during the last presidential campaign, declared: "I took a market report and found that last year (1927) we imported 77,000,000 barrels of oil into this country. I suggest that we shut out those 77,000,000 barrels and we would not have to shut down production here."

Now instead of 77,000,000 barrels, we find that in 1928 the total imports of crude and refined were 91,500,000 and in 1929 the imports were 109,000,000 barrels.

This while the industry seeks stabilization through curtailment of the output, the decrease is more than met by the ever-increasing volume of imports of foreign oil. The more that protection is practiced, the more oil from South America is brought into the country. Thus it is a "vicious circle" that aggravates the situation, forces the price of crude downward and, in the end, will ruin the oil industry of America.

It has been urged against a tariff on oil that it would increase the price of gasoline and would therefore be detrimental to the interests of the buyers of gasoline who far outnumber the producers, refiners and employees of the oil industry.

But consider these facts: In February, 1926, in 52 cities throughout the United States, the average price of gasoline was 20 cents a gallon, with 36-gravity oil bringing $2.04 a barrel.

Now in February, 1929, in the same 52 cities—when the producer is getting only $1.20 a barrel for his oil—the motorist pays 19 1/2 cents a gallon for gasoline. In other words, though the price of crude oil is nearly cut half in two, the price of gasoline to the public is only half a cent a gallon less.

Therefore, a higher price for crude oil—which a tariff would bestow on the oil producer—would not mean an increase in the price of gasoline.

A man will take a chance on his sins finding him out, but he is a little more watchful of the neighbors.

Chief complaint about present laws is that oil pipe lines are operated by "big" companies or companies subsidiary to them. They claim that these pipe lines buy favored producers leaving the independents with no outlet for their oil. To remedy this they want a law requiring that pipe line purchases in a field be a prorata purchase from all producers.

They complain also that there is not adequate legislation for storage of oil. Supervision and legislation by which oil can be stored and money be borrowed upon it are sought. They want oil storage facilities to be made public utilities with state regulation of the storage charges.

A group of eight bills carrying out their plans have been prepared. They cannot be taken up by the legislature unless Governor Moody agrees to submit the topic.

NOT TOO TOUGH.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 27.—Mexico's summer may be tough, but there is at least one American citizen who knows how to handle such horrors. Fears Expressed Fears that the legislature will adjourn before the bill can be acted upon was expressed by some of the delegation.

By special train, by auto delegations and independently oil men have come to Austin. There were 100 on a special train out of Fort Worth, approximately so, many more came at other times.

Wearing hatbands denoting their membership in the independent petroleum association of Texas they held a rally at a downtown hotel preparatory to formal call upon the governor.

Not since an auto caravan from the Rio Grande valley stormed the regular session of the legislature has there been such a delegation here. The special train which arrived over the Katy this morning had delegations from Fort Worth, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Eastland, Ranger, Breckenridge and Gainsville. Amarillo sent a special car which arrived ahead of the other train.

Auto delegations arrived from Shepherd, J. T. Elliott, B. C. Coleman, Brownwood, Cross Plains, Boney, Dr. F. E. Clark, Eugene Eastland, Cisco, Abilene, Midland, George D. Fox, Alex Spears, J. B. Cate, J. P. Dickey, C. A. Farquhar, Tom Cranfill of Dallas, head of

NIMROD FARMERS ARE IMPROVING THEIR LAND

MANY ACRES TERRACED BY LANDOWNERS

Farm Level Given by C. of C. Aids Very Materially

Some years ago the Cisco chamber of commerce paid half the cost of a farm level which was given to the farmers of the Nimrod community for use in running terrace lines. The purpose of this was to encourage not only the terracing of land in the community but to place the landowners in a position to do their own terracing without recourse to vocational men or the county agent.

The result has been that at last report more than 650 acres of land have been terraced by the farmers themselves while additional acreage is being improved from time to time.

S. G. Baird and W. L. McCorkle, of the Nimrod community, have taken the lead in this work at Nimrod. About three weeks ago a total of 683 acres had been put under terrace lines, a survey of the community by E. H. Varnell, Cisco vocational agriculturist, reveals.

The following have terraced their land in the amounts listed:

- Ed Townsend, 65 acres.
- S. G. Baird, 110 acres.
- B. P. Notgrass, 20 acres.
- E. E. Tennyson, 20 acres.
- G. W. Chandler, 40 acres.
- Overer Brown, 40 acres.
- W. N. Compton, 30 acres.
- W. L. McCorkle, 30 acres.
- Zed Green, 40 acres.
- E. A. Reed, 29 acres.
- Joe Allen, 50 acres.
- Sam Hill, 75 acres.
- W. L. Townsend, 25 acres.
- Total, 683 acres.

County Agent J. C. Patterson, of Eastland, is devoting the major portion of his time at this season of the year to a terracing project and reports a very great interest in this improvement of farm lands over the county. Considerable assistance is being given the county agent and the various vocational teachers of the county by the county road machinery in running terraces. Many hundreds of acres have been put under terraces by the use of this machinery at a very low cost per acre.

RANGER TRUCK GARDENER IS FOR ORGATONE

Helps Suffering People by Telling His Experience With Orgatone.

"It didn't take many doses of Orgatone Iron to satisfy me that I had found the right medicine for my case at last," declared Mr. W. N. Huddleston, a well known truck gardener residing at 1220 Young street, Ranger, Texas, the other day.

"For 30 years," continued Mr. Huddleston, "my stomach was in such a terrible condition that everything I would eat bled me up with gas until I was miserable most all the time. My appetite went back on me and I just had to force down a little I did eat and I constantly belched up hot water. My nerves were in such a wretched shape that I couldn't sleep and I would get up in the morning feeling so fagged out that I couldn't do anything like I wanted. I was weak and run down and felt so tired and worn out all the time that I was hardly fit for a thing."

"I got a bottle of Orgatone Iron and began to pick up right off. My appetite has improved so much that I can eat and enjoy everything set before me and I sleep like a child. I have gained some weight, am stronger and have more energy than before and I can do any work in my gardens with more satisfaction than in a long time and I am doing my part to help suffering people by telling what Orgatone did for me."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained from Dean Drug Store.—Adv.

PECAN TOUR LEAVES HERE SATURDAY A. M.

Many Fine Groves to Be Visited During the Day

Every farmer who is interested in pecan culture or who has acreage that could be most profitably devoted to this culture, and anyone else who wishes to learn more of the pecan industry in this section, is invited to attend the pecan tour which, under the direction of County Agent J. C. Patterson and Cisco Vocationalist E. H. Varnell, of Cisco, will be conducted from the Cisco chamber of commerce next Saturday at 8:30 o'clock.

The immediate purpose of the trip is to stimulate growing interest in the "One-Thousand-Acre Pecan Club" which is aimed, as the title indicates, at promoting 1,000 or more acres of new pecan groves in the county as a means of increasing the agricultural income from land not otherwise suited for cultivation.

Club Plan
Under the terms of the 1000-acre project farmers who agree to set aside from one to five acres, or more, of land to the purpose, are given nuts free for planting, provided that they agree when the nuts have sprouted sufficiently, to bud the stock to improve varieties thus starting a grove of high grade paper shell nuts which within a few years will prove a lucrative source of new income. Land that is not suited for ordinary farming is sought for these groves so that the club will not infringe upon the amount of land already under cultivation but will, on the contrary, add to this total.

Full details of the project may be obtained from Mr. Varnell or Mr. Patterson, the latter at Eastland.

The Record for POPULARITY

—held by Goodyear Tires

The single record that, in our opinion, really counts with careful tire-buyers is the popularity record which Goodyear has held for fifteen years: "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

It simply says that an overwhelming percentage of your fellow-motorists get the most value and every-day satisfaction out of Goodyear Tires.

The reason, of course, is that Goodyear builds more than 1/4 of all tires sold in America, enjoys lowest costs, can give greater values.

May we analyze your needs and recommend the most satisfactory type of Goodyear Tires and Tubes for you? You will also appreciate our courteous, efficient service. If you prefer, we will call at your home or office.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Local people, many of whom you know, are highly endorsing Tanlac. For example, Mrs. Ellen White says: "For years I suffered from indigestion. I got no relief from anything until I took Tanlac. After my fourth bottle, I feel like a new person and have a fine appetite."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation, or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Tanlac. It is good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and barks. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you. Accept no substitute.

COMMUNISTS JAILED IN 4 LARGE CITIES

Communists, radicals and malcontents were in jails in four major American cities today after street and meeting hall riots that led in several instances to battle with police.

Breaking up of parades and meetings in protest against unemployment, low wages or the capitalistic system led to the disturbances. They occurred in New York, Chicago, Seattle and Los Angeles.

Gas and tear bombs were used by the police to quell a milling crowd of 250 demonstrators in Los Angeles last night. Twenty of the group, were held today on charges of criminal syndicalism.

When Carl Sklar, alleged communist organizer, began his address to the 250 alleged communists and the 3,000 or more curious onlookers, a policeman pulled him down.

"Follow communists, defy the police," Sklar shouted and the fighting started. Reserves armed with the bombs had to be called out before the crowd could be dispersed.

The Seattle riot earlier in the day came when a parade of 350 men and women singing the "Internationale" was met by 20 mounted and 150 unmounted policemen at the city building, a speaker climbed onto a fountain and began to harangue his listeners. Police demanded his parade license. He had none.

Police arrested the speaker, and a woman, Helen Hufa and a number of youths.

A large number of boys and girls were among the 135 radicals who attempted to throw 75 policemen out of a street meeting in Chicago.

After a scramble the radicals were herded into patrol wagons. Some were found to be aliens and were turned over to immigration authorities.

New York's financial district was the scene of two clashes between police and approximately 100 alleged communists.

FOUR ESCAPE POTTER JAIL AT AMARILLO

AMARILLO, Feb. 27.—Using a key made from spoons to open their cell door, four prisoners led by Johnnie Bowman, 26, of Pampa, under 99 year sentence for murder, escaped from the Potter county jail and were the objects of a city-wide search here today.

Authorities believed the prisoners were still hidden in the city as no reports of stolen cars had been made and no suspicious characters had been seen along the highways or in the railroad yards leading from the city.

Bowman had previously escaped from the Gray county jail by using a key made of 26 spoons and after his capture was brought here for safe keeping. The same method employed in his escape at Pampa was put into operation here and after opening their cell door the prisoners slid from the attic of the jail to the ground on a rope made from blankets.

Besides Bowman the escaped men were Jim Talley, under 30 year sentence for robbery with firearms and himself an escapee from Huntsville prison; Frank Lanning and George Gipy. Several other prisoners refused to join their comrades in the jail break.

HOTCAKES just off the griddle are at their tenderest. Then's the time to eat them—when they're hot. And vegetables just from a garden are at their tenderest. Then is the time to eat them, too—when the radishes are solid, crisp. When the tomatoes sparkle as you peel them, and you can slice them smooth and thin.

Have a kitchen garden and enjoy all your vegetables at their climax-time, when they are most tender and sweet. Plant Ferry's purebred Seeds. These have abundant life inside. They are what their name says—purebred. Generations of the seeds that finally became these seeds produced vegetables and flowers approaching perfection.

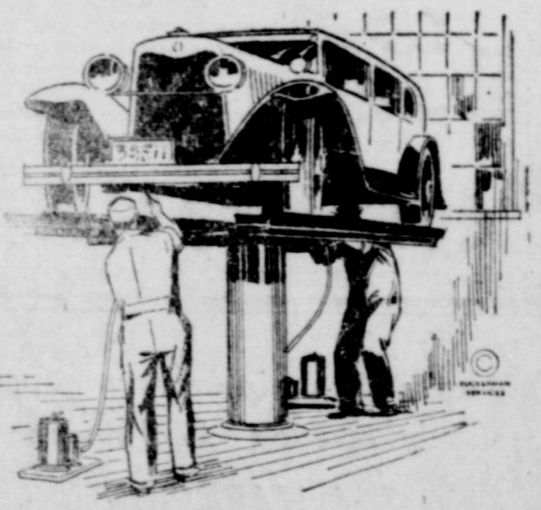

Ferry's Seeds are at the "store around the corner." A few packets will show what your own yard can grow—but you will want more than a few packets when you look over Ferry's Seed Annual. ## WED SEVEN TIMES

Ray Barry, of Rockford, Ill., is a much married man. He is shown here with his sixth wife, Billie Adair, a parachute jumper, on his knee. Barry now seems inclined to divorce his seventh wife—who was also Wife No. 5—and re-marry Billie, who was Wife No. 6.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Judith Cameron, New York typewriter, Arthur Knight, executive of the publishing house where she works. Knight is a widower with a daughter, Tony, 18, and son, Junior, 16. Tony denounces Judith as a gold digger. When Junior comes home for the Christmas holidays he is equally "friendly."

Andy Craig, a young man who has aided, takes a position in the publishing firm. He is friendly with Tony and calls on her daily. Tony tries to convince her that Judith and Andy are trying on an affair. When she tricks the pair into a compromising situation.

She is carrying on a flirtation with Mortimer, wealthy friend. Tony and her father are over this but the father forgives. Knight, however, usually ill with pneumonia comes home and attacks his father beginning to re-ate. Before leaving the boy goes to Judith he has misjudged for an instant, then she whirled and flounced out of the apartment. Tears of anger nearly blinded her as she ran down the hall.

"Oh!" Tony Knight choked. "Oh—"

It was all she could manage to say. Her fury was inexplicable. For several minutes she waited, forgetting to ring for the elevator. It came at last. Tony stepped into the car and was swept downward. By the time she had reached the ground floor her power of speech had returned.

She scolded, mumbling to herself, all the way down the street to where she had parked the roadster. Tony stepped into the car, swerved away from the curb and into the stream of traffic. It did not mollify her spirit any that the street was crowded.

One block distant she was halted by a traffic signal. As Tony waited two large treads appeared on her cheek. She brushed them aside furiously.

Steering a narrow course in the maze of vehicles, she finally reached the bridge. Fifteen minutes later the roadster was heading for open country.

Dusk had settled before Tony arrived home. Faint traceries of brilliant color still marked the western sky but the orange sun had disappeared.

Her father was reading in the living room. He glanced up as she appeared in the doorway.

"Ready in 10 minutes," she called and hurried up the stairs.

A subdued and thoughtful Tony sat opposite her father at the dinner table that evening. She had little to say and did not notice that Arthur Knight, too, seemed preoccupied.

Twenty-four hours later Knight was again alone in the living room of the big house. Sandy, the Scotch terrier, at his master's feet gazed up wistfully. Sandy had been doing that now quite regularly.

"Guess you're lonesome, too, old fellow, aren't you?" Knight said as he stooped and rubbed the scruff of the dog's neck. "Is that what's the matter? Is it?"

Sandy continued to gaze mournfully, but he wriggled in gratitude. Suddenly the dog straightened and pricked up his ears.

The doorbell rang sharply. Knight removed his glasses and frowned. Without waiting for the maid to answer, he hurried into the hall. Sandy followed as far as the doorway.

Arthur Knight threw open the door.

"How do you do?" he said stiffly. "Come in, won't you?"

Knight stepped back and Andy Craig entered the house. Andy's contagious smile had kindled instantly.

"Good evening, Mr. Knight," he said. "Just dropped in, hoping I might find you here."

Young Craig had not visited the Knight home since Judith's departure. At the office Knight had inquired about him and been told that work in the legal department was keeping the young man in and out of town on frequent short trips. For private reasons Knight had not pursued his questioning.

The young man stood, hat in in the world. She's in love with me too. We—well, we decided today we want to be married just as soon as I can arrange to get a couple of weeks off."

Was he saying too much? Craig's smile had faded. He was desperately in earnest now. He had the curious sensation that Knight was not even hearing what he said. His words broke.

"Andy," the older man's voice came shakily, "all this is quite a surprise. I wasn't expecting it. Tony isn't much more than a child, you know. She's pretty young to think about marriage. But, my boy, I'll be proud to have you as a son."

"Thank you, sir!"

Their hands met in a firm grip. Each strove to conceal his emotion.

"Did you say Tony was here somewhere?" Craig asked after the pause.

"Why, yes. Here just a minute ago. I'll see—"

Before he could finish there was a rattle from the doorway. Tony stood there, in filmy, glistening white. She was laughing at them.

"Oh, you sweet, darling daddy!" she cried. "My, what nice speeches you both can make! I'd never, never have dreamed it. Stop blushing that way, Andy—it makes your ears red! Father, darling, I've got to kiss you. Here—"

She threw her arms about her father's neck, kissed him on both cheeks, then drew back and eyed him artfully.

"Don't you think it would be lovely, darling," she said softly, "to give your blessing in the form of a six months' honeymoon in Europe?"

"So that's it, you rogue? Up to your old tricks?"

Craig interrupted.

"But, Tony, you know I told you I can't take that much time off now. I couldn't even ask for it. Why, I'd be fired!"

"Please, daddy!"

Arthur Knight shook his head in helplessness.

"Not quite so fast, Miss," he said. "Give me a chance to get one thing in my head at a time. I haven't caught my breath yet!"

"But you will do it, won't you?" she coaxed.

"We'll see. A little experience in the London office might not be a bad thing for you, Craig. We'll see."

Andy blushed.

"I can't accept favors, Mr. Knight. Tony's agreed we can live on my salary and I'm going to work hard to raise it. We couldn't afford a trip to Europe now."

"Well, all that can wait. Sit down and let's have a talk about this business—"

Tony put her hand on his arm.

"We can't, darling. Andy's taking me out to celebrate. It's a final splash. Because I'm going to become such a model wife and learn to cook and sew and save money. Oh, I'm going to reform completely!"

Knight gave her an affectionate squeeze.

"If you do even one of those things I'll be surprised," he said. "Well, run along and celebrate. Remember this young man is to be at my office at nine a. m."

Tony tossed a kiss from the doorway.

"I'll remember, angel!"

Knight stood watching them. Tony was chattering gaily as she picked up a metallic wrap which flashed rays of gold and rose and sapphires, and handed it to Andy. He placed it about her shoulders. Tony darted an audacious glance at him and said something.

In a flash Craig had caught her in his arms and kissed those impudent red lips. Tony laughed and broke away from him. Suddenly her eyes gazed at Knight's eyes.

"Bye, daddy!" called Tony. Andy Craig colored deeply.

"Goodby," Knight told them. He went into the hallway to see them out the door, then returned to the living room.

Suddenly he turned. The door of the house had reopened and Tony appeared alone. She ran to her father.

"I just wanted to tell you," she

Andy intercepts a letter intended for Judith and later follows her into the city where she sees her meet a young man named Dan. With this information Tony forces Judith to leave the house for two weeks. Judith goes into New York. After days of misery she decides to return and tell Arthur the truth. She arrives at the house, sees Arthur and he asks coldly why she has come. He refuses to listen to explanations and says their marriage was a failure. Judith rushes from the house and goes to Dan's rooming house. She agrees to stay with Dan. Days pass during which Tony presides in her father's home. When Mortimer fails to keep an appointment with her she becomes infuriated, goes to his apartment and finds him there with another girl.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVII

Rage had mastered Tony Knight. Her lips were trembling, but she did not speak. She stared from the lovely blond-haired girl on the davenport to Mortimer, still smiling smugly. His composure had disarmed her.

"I hate you!" screamed Tony at the man. "Oh, I hate you!"

Mickey Mortimer turned solicitously toward the other girl.

"I beg your pardon," he said to her. "Will you excuse me, please? There seems to be some sort of error—disturbance. It won't take a minute."

Tony interrupted quickly.

"Oh, don't think you'll get rid of me so easily. I won't go!"

Mortimer straightened his shoulders. He eyed her directly and coolly.

"Since you insist upon having the truth, bluntly, Miss Knight," he said, "let me tell you once and for all that my engagements, private or business, are not your affair. Furthermore, I do not recall inviting you here. Good afternoon."

Tony would not be stilled. She glared at Mortimer as her words came in a torrent.

"So you admit it, do you? You admit you lied to me. Playing around with your little blond friend here. Let me tell you something, Mr. Mickey Mortimer, and see that you remember it. I hate you! I loathe you! I never want to see your face again! And if you were the last man on earth I'd never speak to you!"

She stamped her foot.

Mortimer's back was toward her.

"Tell me, Fritz," he was saying to the blond girl, "what was the name of that song you liked so much last night? The one that went ta-da-da-DEE-da—you remember, don't you?"

He was as oblivious to Tony as though she had not been in the room.

The other girl answered. In low, easy tones the pair resumed their conversation. Tony listened hand, fidgeting awkwardly. He seemed to sense his reception was not altogether a welcome one. The color in his cheeks deepened.

"Here—leave your coat and come in and sit down, won't you? Tony was around here 10 minutes ago," Knight said. "Don't know where she's gone to."

"Thanks."

Both men sat down, and for several moments there was an awkward pause. Then Craig spoke:

"Mr. Knight, there's something I want to talk to you about."

"H-h-mm—perhaps I can guess—"

Craig crossed his knees. Then he recrossed them.

"Well, I don't know," he said, keeping his eyes lowered. "If that's true perhaps it will be easier. I—I hope you won't think I'm presumptuous, Mr. Knight. I wouldn't expect you to think I was. But I've loved Tony ever since I first saw her as a kid. Why, with Tony, I know I can make a place

It Is Folly To Stay Fat

The proof is everywhere. In every circle you can see that excess fat is disappearing fast. Modern science has found a major cause of excess fat in a weakened gland. In five years, physicians the world over have been fighting that cause. They do not rely on starvation.

This modern method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Each box contains the formula, as prepared by famous experts. People have used these tablets for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now nearly all have friends who show the results in new beauty, health and vigor.

Go try Marmola. It's the right way to reduce. The results will amaze and delight you. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box.

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first little of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into bloom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "Mrs. Little" does that takes off the fat—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and cases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Moore Drug Co. or any live drugstore anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

A MORE EFFICIENT LOAF

HEAD RAISES PAST COMMANDERS

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. — The American Legion in Texas has been fortunate in the character and ability of the leaders of the organization who guided it through the formative years. Department Commander Ernest C. Cox said today in discussing plans for the observance of the past Department Commanders' week, March 17th to 23rd.

During the week which has been set aside in special honor of the past Department Commanders and Post Officers, every veteran of World War will be given an opportunity to acquaint himself with the benefits accruing from his service to his country in the Legion.

Former Legionnaires not active in the organization will be invited to return to active participation during this week, he said.

Plans are being formulated for a big rally of former Legionnaires and ex-service men in each of the five divisions of the state. At these rallies all ex-service men, regardless of whether they are members of the Legion or not will be invited to attend. The Past Department Commanders have been assigned to the various divisions and will headline the speakers at these division rallies.

All Past Department Commanders of the Legion in this state have enthusiastically joined in this program of enrollment. The division and the past department commander enrolling the greatest number of veterans during the week will receive a special citation from department headquarters. By this means it is hoped to bring back into active service for the Legion every veteran who was formerly active. Soon letters will go out from each past department commander to the post officers, district committees and division commanders who were associated with them in the Legion during their respective terms of office.

"The American Legion in Texas is deeply indebted to those veterans who so zealously guarded the honor of the organization in its early history," Commander Cox said, "and the veterans of Texas who have been so greatly benefitted by the things that have been accomplished by the Legion during the past ten years, a program started by the early officers, can now their appreciation by enrolling in the Legion and help carry forward the unselfish program," he said.

"The program of the Legion in Texas this year is one that not only every veteran but the public as well can join with interest. All ready the Legion has won a victory for the disabled men in the present session of congress with the passage of the $15,000,000 hospital bill. A new government hospital of 300 bed capacity has been built in this state at a cost of more than a million dollars. There is much more to be accomplished which will require the active support of the largest number of former service men that this state has ever known and every veteran of the state should acquaint himself with this program. The program is so unselfish that every veteran invariably becomes an enthusiastic Legionnaire when he understands this program, giving peace time service with the Legion in the same spirit that he served in the emergency during 1917-18."

REDUCTION IN COTTON LAND IS NECESSARY

The following appeal to cotton growers of the south is made by J. W. Jay of the J. W. Ray and Co., commission merchants of New York. Mr. Jay is not alone in his appeal since the urgent need of a reduction in the amount of cotton acreage has been stressed by bankers, agricultural leaders and economists generally during the past few months. At a recent meeting of bankers in Fort Worth this question occupied a large portion of the time devoted to the program.

With world's consumption of American cotton approximately half a million bales below the first six months of last season while domestic figures will be compelled to run against a monthly average of 616,000 during the second half of the year, indications point to a considerable increase in the carryover on July 31, compared with a year ago. As curtailment is still in force among American mills and the export movement continues to run behind last season to the extent of over 600,000 bales, liquidation of both contracts and spot cotton weakened the position, carrying spot prices in New Orleans more than a cent below the farm board lending figure at that port.

The planting season is rapidly approaching and this whole subject of the amount of land to be given over to cotton should receive the earnest consideration of every cotton grower in the south. When prices declined to 10c and 12c a pound under the record acreage of nearly 49,000,000 and the record production of 18,000,000 bales in 1926, planters cut acreage 10 per cent to 15 per cent the following spring. This not only brought about a smaller yield but caused a profitable readjustment in the price level and resulting returns to the producer. Acreage was steadily increased during the two succeeding years until last season the acreage was back almost to the high water mark of 1926. During the past few years foreign countries have been growing more and more cotton until the world price has declined to an unremunerative figure, in an emergency of this character,

ACCUSED

Inspector Henry Garvin above, central figure in Detroit's sensational police department investigation, planned to reply to his accusers when he took the stand in his own defense. Garvin is accused of dealings with gangsters and kidnapers. He injured his arm when he lunged at a detective who had accused him and fell against a door.

nothing that the government can do can succeed without the assistance and cooperation of the individual. To roughly aware of the plight of the farmer and in an effort to bring to agriculture some measure of the returns accruing to other lines of industry, congress has passed the farm bill and the farm board is now functioning under this act. It is becoming increasingly evident that the board itself has in mind policies of far reaching significance but, in order to be effective, they must meet with the cooperation of the individual.

It is to the great mass of independent growers that the importance of acreage control must appeal in order to have any definite effect on the total output. Partial reduction in acreage by members of cooperative associations would not be sufficient to restore prices to a profitable level. Regardless of the action of those who are now cooperating under the activities of the farm board agencies, each individual grower should feel called upon to weigh the whole subject carefully and be led to substitute a certain percentage of the land planted to cotton the past two years to other purposes. The department of agriculture has just pointed out a variety of ways in which the farmer can produce supplies needed for the farm and the home which are now purchased when they might easily be grown on the place. If the cotton grower will wholeheartedly unite with the support the farm board in its program to limit production of certain crops through diversification of farming activity, the road will be opened to substantially improved agricultural prospects.

How Big Is Your Town?

POPULATION figures have lost their significance as a measurement of the importance of communities. Today, towns are valued not so much by the number of inhabitants they house but rather by the productive power of the community as a whole. The productivity of a community is largely determined by the available power supply.

On this basis, the communities in the territory served by this company may compete favorably with the large metropolitan centers, for these communities today are equipped with improved transportation facilities and an ample and economical electric power supply.

Interconnection of the electric generating and transmitting equipment of this company provides a broad, ample pool of power for industrial, commercial and domestic use. On the firm base of this power pool the future growth and development of these communities is based.

RISING STAR CALM AFTER BANK CLOSES

An admirable spirit of calm pervaded Rising Star today following the closing this morning of the First National bank of that city, due to what was explained as "frozen farm loans."

A simple notice posted on the door of the bank this morning stated that at a meeting of the board of directors of the bank last night it was deemed advisable to close the bank for the protection of the depositors and that a bank examiner had been asked for to check the bank.

No detailed statement of the conditions affecting the closing would be made until after the report of the examiner, it was stated, although it was stated that the poor crop conditions that have prevailed during the past two or three years have made it impossible for the bank to make collections upon farm paper sufficient to keep the bank in operation.

Says Sargon Brought Back His Health

JOHN C. SPENCER

"For the past year I have been in wretched health. Three bottles of Sargon put me in wonderful condition. My appetite is splendid now and my digestion is sound. I have gained ten pounds and my strength has returned in proportion."

"I wouldn't be without Sargon if it cost twenty-five dollars a bottle."—John C. Spencer, 498 Sixty-third St., West Allis, Milwaukee Wis.

Sargon's record of marvelous achievement is an open book to all, and only those who have used this famous treatment know its real powers.

ing alarm, gathered in the Liberty theater this morning immediately upon announcement of the closing of the bank to take steps to keep the situation under control. There were about 150 business men in attendance at this meeting, while business at the Continental State bank there went on as usual.

The complete confidence of the citizens in the fundamental soundness of the local condition was revealed in the coolness of the citizens at this meeting, while the principal address was made by W. E. Tyler, active vice president of the Continental.

Mr. Tyler, whose bank has deposits of approximately $400,000 and is a branch of the strong Continental National bank of Fort Worth, assured the depositors of the closed institution that the Continental is entirely solvent and amply able to take care of every depositor who had money in the First National. Backed by the big Fort Worth institution, the Continental can accommodate the needs of the local situation in a very satisfactory manner he declared, assuring the public that there need be no cause for alarm.

He appealed to the people to keep cool and not to withdraw their money from circulation which would be injurious and hinder the process of working out a solution to the situation. Fundamentally conditions at Rising Star were declared to be sound with business in an excellent state.

The depositors of the First National were assured that as soon as the condition at the bank has been adjusted they will be paid at least a large part of their money within a very short while. C. F. Falls is president of the First National.

Rebel General Demands Relief

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Feb. 27.—General Rafael Estrella Urena, supreme chief of the peasant revolutionary army which seized the capital yesterday, arrived today and demanded satisfaction of the insurrectionist grievances.

The next step in the revolutionary movement depended entirely on conversations between Urena, President Horacio Vasquez and United States Minister Charles B. Curtis. The rebels have demanded the president's resignation or at least assurances of a free election and electoral reform. Revolutionary forces were strengthened during the night by the arrival of additional troops.

Except for some shooting which may have been the result of over-exuberance, the "revolution" has been quietly accomplished.
