PRUITT GRIM BUT CALM AS DEATH NEARS

Youth, Who Must Die, Sits Awaiting Mother's Goodbye

HUNTSVILLE, June 5.—"Dagger" Pruitt watched the last daybreak he will see creep into his cell today in death row. He ate his last breakfast, the regular prison fare, grim but calm. Then he sat down and waited for his mother, who is coming to kiss him good bye before they take him into the execution chamber to kill him in the electric chair. She christened him William. The underworld changed it to Dagger. His exploits in crime matched the name. For three weeks he carried on a one-man reign of terror in Dallas. He will die a few minutes after midnight for murdering another boy named William—William Mann, a 17-year-old high school student.

"He's taking it all right but beginning to get tight," Warden E. P. Harrell said Thursday. "He slept pretty well last night and had a fairly good appetite for his breakfast. He hasn't made any special requests. We will give him a special dinner and anything he wants for supper. "He's a good-looking kid, sort of snappy, only 22 and intelligent. His mother is coming to him. I saw her several weeks ago and she said she would be here."

DESPERATE LAST MINUTE EFFORTS

HUNTSVILLE, June 5.—His last hopes for clemency waning fast William "Dagger" Pruitt was making a valiant show of courage today, declaring that when his time comes to die at midnight he will be "ready." Unless Governor Dan Moody unexpectedly intervenes, the 25-year-old Dallas killer bandit will die in the electric chair tonight, expiration demanded by the state for the murder of William Mann, Dallas high school senior, on the night of January 6, 1929.

If the dapper gunman who single-handedly caused two weeks of terror in Dallas more than a year ago is not saved by an eleventh hour act of clemency, he may have a statement to make to newspapermen tonight, he told Lee Simmons, general manager of the Texas prison system, Thursday morning. Hope springs eternal, so Dagger still thinks there is a chance he may be saved from the one-way march through the little green door to the chair room, but he is prepared to take the march courageously if no relief comes, he said. A desperate, last-minute attempt is being made to halt the electrocution. Pruitt's mother and Albert Baskett, Dallas lawyer who defended

SILVER FOX TROOP BACK FROM CAMP

The Silver Fox Patrol of Troop 1, Cisco, returned Tuesday from a 2-day camp on the Chesley ranch, 11 miles north of Cisco. The trip was made Monday in the troop's truck. After a desirable site had been selected, tents were pitched and camp made habitable. A swim was enjoyed before supper was cooked and eaten, and after a half-hour's leisure, the boys gathered around the council fire to tell stories and perform stunts. Another swim was enjoyed after breakfast the next morning, and the scouts returned to town about noon.

Members of the patrol who went were: George R. Winston, patrol leader; Carl Seddal, assistant patrol leader; William Hoyt, treasurer; Durward Boyd, quartermaster; Robert Messer, hike-master; and Jim Bob McAnlies, cheerleader.

Mechanic, Branded Imposter, Missing

ELK CITY, Okla., June 5.—Branded as an imposter, a small-town mechanic who attempted to gain fame by posing as Maury Graham, long-missing western air express mail pilot, was also listed among the missing today. He had fled before the scheduled arrival of friends of Graham, summoned to Elk City to check his fabulous story that he was the aviator who disappeared in a snow storm last January and remained missing after an extensive search had been conducted. The claims of the cross-roads garage man were definitely grounded today by R. C. Calhoun, formerly chief clerk of Western Air Express at Salt Lake City and a former close friend of Graham. Calhoun said the description of the claimant did not tally with that of the missing airman.

NUMBER OF CANDIDATES IS NOW 55

DALLAS, June 4.—Additional filings for places on the democratic ballot as candidates for state offices sent to Dave Wilcox, Georgetown, chairman of the state democratic committee, and forwarded by Wilcox to Albert Sidney Johnson, secretary, swelled the list of eligible candidates to 55 today.

The name of R. B. Creager, Brownsville, republican national committeeman, was presented for governor by petition signed by H. C. Williams and 28 others. The letter accompanying the petition stated a check for $100 was enclosed, but Johnson was unable to find the enclosure. Failure to pay the filing fee as well as the republican affiliation of Creager will keep his name off the ticket, Johnson said.

The petition for Creager apparently was meant as a joke," Johnson said. "It may be that the signers also intended to take a crack at the supreme court decision upholding the right of Thomas B. Love to a place on the ticket."

Pink Parrish state senator from Lubbock, has had his name formally presented as a candidate for governor in a petition received by Wilcox and forwarded to Johnson. His name brings the number of candidates for governor to 15, all formally filed and in the hands of the secretary.

The candidates are: Earle B. Mayfield, Austin; Dr. C. E. Walker, Grapevine; Frank Putnam, Houston; Barry Miller, Dallas; James Young, Kaufman; Thomas B. Love, Dallas; Clint Small, Wellington; Lynch Davidson, Houston; Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Austin; Dan Moody, Taylor; R. S. Sterling, Houston; C. C. Moody, Fort Worth; Paul Loven, New Braunfels; T. N. Mauritz, Ganado and Pink Parrish, Lubbock.

Negro Bandit Is Taken by Posse

BALDWIN, Ill., June 5.—A Negro bandit who robbed the Baldwin State bank of $4,000 at opening today, was cornered by a posse later in a stretch of woodland, four miles north of here.

Shortly before noon the negro was captured, after being wounded in the right arm during the gun battle.

Marshal Arthur Hoffman of Baldwin, and the posse took the bandit to the county jail for safekeeping. He confessed to the robbery and gave his name as Robert Henderson of Louisiana.

A gunny sack, which the negro had used to carry his loot, was abandoned by him as he sought to outrun the posse in a chase down the railroad track leading out of town.

The negro apparently entered the bank during the night. When assistant Cashier W. P. Isom arrived he was forced to unlock the vault. The negro fled after locking Isom inside.

WOODMAN CIRCLE Meeting of the Woodman circle tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the Oddfellows hall. Mrs. Sappington, district manager of Fort Worth will be present. All members are asked to attend.

FLY CONTROL IS SANITARY PROBLEM NOW

Ways and Means Talked at Departmental Meeting

The most important problem facing the sanitary department of the city government at this time is that of fly control, the department was told at its meeting yesterday afternoon at the city hall. This session was one of a series of departmental meetings now in progress through which the municipal government is seeking to adjust itself more accurately to local conditions, to increase efficiency and, where possible without impairing efficiency, to reduce costs.

Commissioner J. R. Burnett, head of the department of sanitation and the public health, presided over the meeting.

Discussion of public health activities, all-important functions of the municipal government, ran to considerable time and the meeting was forced to adjourn without having completely attained its object. Further investigation of sanitary conditions and formation of a plan to better these conditions will be undertaken by Commissioner Burnett in conjunction with Dr. F. E. Clark, health officer, and other attaches of the department.

Stress Said.

Particular stress was laid upon the necessity of fly control. The control of mosquitoes in the city has already been effectively accomplished but at the present time this cannot be said of the fly menace, which is admitted to have assumed proportions that demand some heroic efforts to solve.

Origin of the fly menace is primarily the private horse and cow lots in the city where the manure offers ideal breeding ground for the insects. It was determined that an ordinance would be prepared requiring the regular oiling of these premises to kill the embedded larvae and that this would be enforced by health officials in such a way that the owners of the premises may oil the lots themselves or the city may have it done at nominal cost to the owner.

Commissioner Burnett stated that he will undertake the campaign to rid the city of flies aggressively with the prospect of complete eradication in a short while. The public was urged to cooperate with the

Held as Killer

After she had driven into Anniston, Ala., with the lifeless body of her husband in the automobile beside her, telling police that he had been shot by bandits on a lonely road, Mrs. W. C. Gunn (above), of Sylacauga, Ala., was arrested on a charge of murder. With her husband, whose life was insured for $42,000, she was driving to school commencement exercises in which their daughter, Catherine, was to participate. The widow protests her innocence.

Miss Howell Recital Sunday Afternoon

Dr. G. C. Morris will present Miss Ora Howell in graduation piano recital Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. He announced, Miss Howell has completed the usual college piano course and her recital will be a typical college grade presentation. The public is cordially invited to attend.

NEGRO'S SLAYER

CHICKASHA, Okla., June 5.—A coroner's jury investigating the mob riot here last Saturday reported today that it found that Henry Argo, negro accused of attacking a white woman came to his death by gunshot wounds which, according to hearsay testimony, were inflicted by Jud Brown.

Brown was named by three witnesses as having told mob members that he shot the negro. He was placed under arrest.

COMMITTEE IS DUMFOUNDED WITH ACTION

"Plain Contempt" Is Comment of Senator Walsh

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Bishop James Cannon, Jr. brought his defiance of the senate lobby committee to a dramatic climax today when he angrily picked up his papers and walked out of the crowded committee room while two senators still were questioning him.

This unprecedented defiance of senatorial authority left the committee dumfounded, and an adjournment was taken, shortly afterward until next Wednesday. Chairman Caraway, who is in Arkansas, is expected to be here then and the committee will decide at that time whether to proceed against the Methodist bishop for contempt of the senate.

Before any contempt proceedings are instituted, the committee may issue a subpoena and propound the disputed questions again for the record. It then will be up to the committee and the senate to decide whether contempt proceedings should be instituted.

Walsh Statement.

Asked for a statement later, Senator Walsh, democrat, Mont., of the committee, said: "The action of Bishop Cannon in walking out of the room while the committee was attempting to question him further regarding matters upon which he previously had been willing to be interrogated, was plain contempt of the senate."

"The question of the committee's jurisdiction is another matter but walking out does not depend on that. In submitting himself for examination he submitted to the jurisdiction of the committee and the absence of a subpoena, to my mind, is of no consequence whatever. "It was contempt for him to leave without being excused."

Heretofore, congressional committees have been careful not to issue subpoenas in cases where prosecutions against witnesses were contemplated. The courts have held that to require a witness to testify under subpoena is in a sense requiring him to testify against himself. In such cases, evidence given by the witness under such compulsion has been ruled out in the courts.

Deny Americans Killed in Raid

BISBEE, Ariz., June 5.—Officials of the Silver Plume mine at Cananea, Sonora, Mex., today denied reports that eight Americans had been killed in a raid on the property by Mexican outlaws.

Twenty bandits swooped down on the mine Monday, killed Charles Koehler, American millman, and a Mexican mine watchman. Since then no disorder has been experienced, officials said.

Escaped Drug Addicts Sought

SPADRA, Calif., June 5.—Authorities today were making an intensive search for five drug addicts who escaped from the state narcotic hospital here.

The men failed to answer a roll call and a search of their quarters revealed a gaping hole back of a radiator which had been removed.

GO TO THE POST

Thirteen candidates for the democratic nomination for governor go to the post. Monday was the last day. Pink Parrish was drafted by Cisco's county friends. Pink is a resident of Lubbock. E. G. Senter dropped out of the race. Governor Moody was drafted. Lynch Davidson was drafted. T. W. Davidson refused to be drafted. As for the politicians—they remain just where they were on the morning of Monday, June 2.

They are up in the air. Ross Sterling was drafted; he announced. His friends say he will remain in the race until the finish. Will he? Lynch Davidson was promised to give a decision "before the end of the week." Governor Moody, to quote from the political vocabulary of Frank Baldwin of McLennan county, "is sayin' nuffin, but sittin' pretty."

Chairman Wilcox and his lawyers have asked for a rehearing in the Love mandamus case. It is a betting proposition that the motion will be denied and that the supreme court judges will stand pat. They crossed the Rubicon.

DR. GEORGE C. BUTTE'S CANDIDACY

Those who are backing Dr. George C. Butte are wise politicians, and this is not written to discredit the qualifications of any of the republican names named in connection with the gubernatorial nomination. Dr. Butte has loomed large in the picture and this for some time. In 1924, he was the republican nominee for governor. In 1924 Thomas B. Love and his followers bolted the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson. Mrs. Ferguson was elected by a handsome majority, but Butte received with the assistance of Love and his followers, more than 300,000 votes.

Since his defeat, Dr. Butte has held high appointments from at least two presidents of the United States. He is prominent socially in Texas and in Washington, and many of his kin in Texas are of old democratic families. He has received great publicity in recent years, and his name, owing to his remarkable race against Mrs. Ferguson, is a household word. Love and his followers, threw more than 200,000 votes to Butte in 1924. It would be the irony of fate if Dr. Butte is selected as the republican standard-bearer and more than 300,000 regulars would vote for the head of the republican ticket in Texas in November, 1930.

A party pledge is illegal, in Texas. It is not worth the paper on which it is printed or written. This was the supreme court decision in the Love mandamus case.

Politics is a fascinating game as well as a brutal game. Is it to be war to the knife and knife to the hilt in the campaign battles to come?

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, N.E.A. Service Writer WASHINGTON—The Sheppard-Towner Maternity and Infancy Act, a piece of legislation which always seemed to interest the women of the country more than any other, is likely to stay dead indefinitely as the result of a misunderstanding or something between Congress and the White House.

That is the law under which the government appropriated more than a million dollars a year to cooperate with the states in welfare and hygiene work for mothers and babies, under the administration of the Children's Bureau. The act ran for seven years and everyone seemed to agree that the work was a great success, striking at the mother and infant mortality rates, but it stopped on July 1 of last year when Congress failed to appropriate the money to keep it going.

Not Getting Anywhere Women's organizations thought it was fine business to have a "child welfare president" like Mr. Hoover. Now some of their officers are complaining privately that the president has taken such an active interest in the problem that things are getting all balled up without any progress.

After he had announced his White House Conference on Child Health and Child Protection the word went to Capitol Hill that the president didn't want any action on the Sheppard-Towner measure before the conference made a report, which would take a year or more.

Nevertheless, in his message to the regular session of Congress Mr. Hoover declared himself in favor of continuing the Sheppard-Towner Act under the Children's Bureau for a limited period of

REFUGEES GO BACK TO HOMES LAID WASTE

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 5.—Tales of suffering and narrow escapes from death were heard today as hundreds of refugees plodded back to their homes in areas of timber land laid waste by forest fires in the past four days.

Drenching rains had quenched the more dangerous blazes and foresters said the situation was well under control. Thousands of acres of ruined forests from which rose great clouds of steam remained as evidence of the flames.

Many of the settlers found only desolation when they returned to the scenes of their homes.

The village of Larson and Kelly, Ont., on the Canadian National railway were destroyed. Two other Ontario towns—Dyement and Port Arthur—barely escaped the flames after women and children had been evacuated.

From a hospital cot here, Mrs. Albert Swain told how she and her husband escaped 50 miles through smoke and flames. She said they fought the fire until the flames began to spread over their milk farm.

The couple reached Kelly where they joined a section gang in a second car and fled again, leaving the village to the fire.

Only a short distance from here a party of 70 foresters, trapped by the flames, dived into a river to save their lives. They remained in the chilling water for five hours.

Incomplete surveys of the stricken districts placed the damage at $500,000, with a higher estimate expected when a check is made of the more isolated regions. Several persons were believed killed.

Stand Exonerated of Bride's Slaying

SHREVEPORT, La., June 5.—Roy Delatte, 21, of Birmingham, Ala., today stood exonerated of the slaying of his bride of a few hours here last March. Testimony given during the trial implicated him in a Birmingham robbery, however, and he was expected to be removed to that city to face charges incident to that offense.

The jury which heard how the young bride was shot to death in the bridal chamber a few hours after the wedding deliberated but 16 minutes late last night before returning a verdict of not guilty. Her body was found on a bed across the foot of which Delatte lay. He testified both had been drinking, and the girl shot herself.

Delatte was indicted on the state's contention that the bullet wound could not have been self-inflicted.

During the trial the defendant admitted robbing a Birmingham store of $90.

Five Suspected Counterfeiters Taken

DETROIT, Mich., June 5.—Trained by secret service agents for 10 months, five men were under arrest here today as the leaders of a $1,000,000 counterfeiting ring recently discovered in New York.

The suspects are John Bitoni, 34; Frank Tocco, 37; Phillip Bellier, 44; Dominick Costada, 35; and Frank Salamoni.

Federal agents were said to have followed the five men here from New York and negotiated with them for the purchase of $50,000 in spurious $10, $20 and $50 bills for 37 cents on the dollar.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Birney Innes, editor of the Columbus (Miss.) Commercial-Dispatch, says: That cities are where men build them. After all is said and done, it's the spirit of the people that counts in constructive progress of communities, states and nations.

Without a progressive spirit among its people, no city or community can make much substantial headway in the march of progress. The obligation of civic duty should rest heavily on the heart of every citizen.

Participation in the rights of citizenship presumes participation in the duties of citizenship. With a fine progressive and aggressive cooperative spirit prevailing among its people, every city and community can and will move on to higher ground and to greater civic achievement.

Eastland Business Places Burglarized

EASTLAND, June 5.—Burglars were active in Eastland Tuesday night and two places were reported robbed when the proprietors opened their doors the next morning.

The first place to report that burglars had been at work was the miniature golf course on west Main street. The thieves broke into the clubhouse and secured a box of new golf balls, several clubs and about $5 in cash.

The other concern robbed was the Broadway Service station between Ammerman and Oak streets on west Commerce.

Illegal Divorce Law May Be Legalized

MEXICO CITY, June 5.—Americans who obtained divorces under the laws of the Mexican state of Morelos, which were declared unconstitutional by the Mexican supreme court Monday, need not be alarmed at their present status, Maurice Minchen, New York attorney and authority on Mexican divorce law, told the United Press today.

All attorneys familiar with the Morelos laws long have been aware that, since former Gov. Ambrosio Puente promulgated the divorce law under a provisional form of government, it was subject to attack, Minchen said. They were not surprised, therefore, at the court's decision.

Assurance for the safety of persons divorced under the law was felt, Minchen said, in a promise reportedly given by the present Morelos legislature, that it would shortly enact a law ratifying and legalizing Gov. Puente's law.

Such a move would eliminate any possibility of embarrassment, and it was considered even more likely because Morelos is eager to retain the lucrative revenues it derived from the divorces.

3 Suspects in Bank Holdup Held

DALLAS, June 5.—Three suspects were in the city jail today in connection with the holdup of the Grand Avenue bank Saturday in which $11,023 was stolen.

One of the trio had $1,050 on his person when arrested. Two of them have police records and have been arrested many times before.

Two officials of the bank and one employe who were present at the holdup were scheduled to appear at police headquarters some time today to attempt identification of the suspects.

That any of the trio in jail would be identified as the robbers was considered unlikely, however. Chief of detectives Gunning said the men were held in the belief that they could supply information which will lead to the arrest of the guilty parties.

Detectives arrested the trio in Fort Worth last night and brought them to the Dallas jail for questioning.

Move to Put Morrow in White House Seen

TRENTON, N. J., June 5.—A definite movement to place Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow into the white house was believed under way today.

Although it is early to foresee the course of any presidential boom, and Morrow has expressed no willingness to run for the office, observers regarded two speeches last night by prominent political leaders as indicating New Jersey republicans will launch a campaign to make him chief executive.

The speeches heralded as starting the boom were made by former Governor E. C. Stokes and Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university, at a campaign rally for Morrow, who is seeking the republican nomination for U. S. senator.

Sheep, Goat and Cattle Industries Are Gaining Ground

ERADICATION OF WOLVES RESPONSIBLE

Livestock Shippers Association Boosts Stock Raising

The gradual extermination of wolves and other predatory animals in Eastland county is already beginning to have a very optimistic effect upon the development of an industry for which this county is particularly suited and which, in consequence, should add considerably to the agricultural prosperity of the section, according to E. H. Varnell, Cisco vocational agricultural agent.

Considerable interest is being manifested among farmers in securing flocks and herds for running on brushy land otherwise of little practical value, he said. Heretofore wolves with which the county was thickly infested, made the raising of sheep and goats a losing venture. Numerous farmers who had undertaken to diversify their efforts along this line early found their flocks depleted beyond all prospect of a profit, and after their first enterprises abandoned altogether any further efforts in this direction.

The growing scarcity of predatory animals, however, seems, on the basis of statement made by leading farmers, to have aroused the sheep and goat subject again with the prospect that the development of this industry will be undertaken within the next year or so upon an ambitious scale, favored with much brighter chances of success.

The value of sheep and goats has long been recognized and no urging is needed to convince Eastland county growers that they would be profitable on the type of land that is so large an extent exists here. The only condition menacing this development has been ravages of predatory animals and with this menace being rapidly eradicated, nothing beyond ordinary economic conditions will affect the expansion of county farming interests in this additional and promising direction.

Dr. C. C. Jones only recently purchased thirty head of goats which he has placed on brushy land. He plans to keep a close record on the herd for the next year or so that he may secure concrete facts regarding the possibilities for goat raising here.

Particularly Alive
The Nimrod and Scorpion communities appear to be particularly alive to the advantages of sheep and goat raising. Ed Townsend, of Nimrod, stated that he is contemplating placing sheep on land of his since the wolves in his community seem to have disappeared to a large extent. Bob Snoddy of the same community, is among those who have expressed interest in the development of the industry.

Numerous other farmers have spoken similarly. Due to the lack of capital, however, sheep and goat raising in most of the sections must of necessity originate in small beginnings and its effect upon the general level of agricultural prosperity will, of course, be little realized for some time. However, with the absence of elements destructive to the industry it is bound to develop eventually into proportions that will more than justify the efforts and expense that have been put into ridding the county of predatory animals, if the experience of other counties may be taken as a criterion.

Steady Income
Each month the association has shipped from two to four cars of cattle during the past year providing its members with a steady year-around income that has been the ideal of agricultural improvement programs. These shipments, handled cooperatively, return the shippers a wider margin of profit because of the less expense and trouble occasioned. In effect, the association enables the small producer of livestock to secure carload freight rates on less than carload lots. This represents a great saving. Added to this valuable feature is the fact that the individual grower can sell his livestock through the association with a minimum of personal attention necessary. He simply meets with the association at regular meeting days, lists his stock and then delivers it into the hands of the association at the local stock pens for shipment. Thereafter he is not concerned in the handling, unless he is appointed on the committee selected to accompany and sell the shipment, which is rare because of the large membership. The lot is taken to Fort Worth where it is sold by the association committee. The returns are then handed through the First National bank, of Cisco, and prorated among the participating members without extra charge.

Between $60,000 and $70,000 of new money is annually placed in the pockets of the farmers by the operation of the association. This is distributed not in large lots but widely in comparatively small sums to the small growers. The additional money obtained by the grower cooperating in the association is proving a very attractive inducement for farmers outside the association and more and more of these are entering the livestock industry on a small scale, providing one or two beef cattle for each sheep or goat hog, so that the shipments of the association are steadily increasing.

STAR MUSTANG TACKLE FAILS TO PASS TESTS

DALLAS, June 5.—Faced with the most ambitious schedule ever carded by a Southwestern conference team, the 1930 Southern Methodist University football team had today suffered a severe setback in the form of ineffectiveness.

Marion "Scrapiron" Hammond, star tackle and captain-elect of the Mustangs, will not play this fall, rumors confirmed unofficially by him.

The big bruiser who received all-American mention last year failed this week in final examinations, school records showed. Under a new conference rule he is ineligible for participation in varsity athletics for a whole year.

With junior standing now, he could by remaining in school for an additional year become eligible and play in 1931.

Besides five conference games, the Mustangs will play Notre Dame at South Bend, the University of Indiana here and the Navy at Annapolis.

Illness threatened the only other ineligible in the Mustang ranks, Welden Mason of Waco, sensational sophomore halfback, missed several weeks of school this spring and did not take the examinations this week. School officials said he could take the test late in the summer and thereafter become eligible for varsity competition.

ATHLETICS ARE BACK IN LEAD AFTER SLUMP

By United Press
Connie aMek has eliminated the Philadelphia Athletics only weakness — lack of capable reserve material — and the 1929 world champions appear headed for their second consecutive American league pennant.

Three Athletic regulars, outfield Al Simmons, third baseman Jimmy Dykes and second baseman Max Bishop have been on the hospital list during the past week, but the reserves have come through capably and the Athletics have climbed into the league lead.

Wednesday's 4 to 3 victory over St. Louis was the tenth consecutive victory of the Athletics, who now boast the longest winning streak made by any major team this season.

Kiki Cuyler and Rieg, Stephenson led a 20-hit barrage which enabled the Chicago Cubs to defeat Boston 18 to 10, for their seventh straight victory. The victory advanced the Cubs to within two games of the league leading Brooklyn Robins.

Brooklyn dropped a loosely played game to Pittsburgh, 12 to 6. The two teams set a season's record for errors, Brooklyn making 8 and Philadelphia, 5, four of which were charged to shortstop Engle.

Washington kept pace with the Philadelphia Athletics in the American league, winning an 11-inning game from Detroit, 11 to 8.

Johnny Kerr's homer in the tenth, with two out, gave the Chicago White Sox and 8 to 7 victory over the New York Yankees, after Babe Ruth's homer with two on in the seventh had tied the score at 7 all.

SCHMELING IN GOOD SHAPE, HE DECLARES

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
EDINBORO, N. Y., June 5.—Max Schmeling took a holiday today and played golf and fished. With his heavyweight championship fight against Jack Sharkey still a week away, Schmeling is confronted with the problem of keeping his present condition without going stale.

"I'm in better shape right now than I was for Paolino," Schmeling told the United Press today. "I can fight on a minute's notice."

Dr. W. C. Fralick of New York arrived here last night and examined Schmeling's hands carefully, and put at rest all rumors that the German had injured one in training.

Schmeling doesn't appear to have improved much from his last year's form against Paolino. He has developed his left hand a bit, but when he begins mixing it with his sparring partners he depends largely on his right.

YES-YERDAY'S HERO Kiki Cuyler of the Chicago Cubs, who had a perfect day at bat with a homer, a double and three singles, driving in four runs and scoring 4 in the Cubs' 18 to 10 victory over Boston.

Track and Field Stars Gathering Three-Year-Olds Ready for Race

CHICAGO, June 5.—The nation's greatest track and field athletes—representing more than 70 colleges from coast to coast—were gathered here today for the year's final tests in the national collegiate A. U. championships at Stagg Field, Chicago University, Friday and Saturday.

Colleges which played in every important meet this season will have their best performers on the starting line and record breaking performances are expected in several events.

The regional title holders who will compete are led by Southern California, which swept through the eastern collegiate meet last Saturday. Stanford, runner-up in the same meet, Michigan, Western conference champion, Kansas, winner of the Missouri valley title, and South Carolina, champions of the Southern conference, also have entered.

The feature event on the program will be the 100 yard dash in which will compete three great stars — Frank Wykoff, Southern California; George Simpson, Ohio State's "fastest human," and Eddie Tolson, fleet Michigan negro.

By RUTH DEWEY GROVES

That red light—oh, perhaps they were bloodshot. He must be ill! Something dreadful was the matter with him.

"Letter? Letter? Letter? Why was he talking about a letter? The word, tormenting her brain, escaped from her lips in a weak utterance.

"That's right, Bernadine's letter," Alan thrust at her. "Come on, tell me, why did you do it?" He advanced toward her, his lips twisting in his passion of temper. Natalie shrank back from him, visibly frightened.

"You deserve it," he snarled. "I ought to choke you, but I've got to save my hands for cleaner work. I've got to work, do you understand, and make up for your mischief."

His bloodshot eyes bored threateningly into her own feverish ones, but his half-raised hands dropped to his sides.

Natalie's face, aside from her burning eyes, seemed dead. It was white and set, her lips frozen against any words that might have come to them. But there was nothing she wanted to say—and yet a thousand thoughts were on parade in her agonized mind.

"You haven't any defense, have you?" he taunted her. "Not a thing to say. Well, you're wise to keep quiet. God, I couldn't stand to hear you deny it! I've had enough of your saintliness that covers the cheapest kind of soul. But if you think you've a chance to hide under silence, just listen. I know what you did, all right."

"You came into my office when I was out and got hold of Mrs. Lamont's letter. It gave you your chance. You saw what you could do, but here's where you made your big mistake. You thought you would cause her to lose a pretty penny, but you're wrong. It's me you've damned near ruined."

He swept his arms in a circle to indicate the room. "All this," he said savagely. "Background! That's what you call it. But to me it's my earnings. Oh, yes, I could always make more—you know that—it was never hard for me to make money. But what's become of it? We've saved precious little. And now, now I've got to make good what you tried to steal from Bernadine. You know what that means, don't you?"

Natalie continued to stare strickenly at his ferociously contorted mouth and reddened eyes. Her attitude drove him frantic. "Why don't you say something," he yelled at her, unmindful of the inconsistency he was showing.

Still she did not speak, though her head moved a little in a pitiful, sidewise motion and the numbness partially left her bloodless lips.

"So," he raved on, "because you fiendishly substituted a rotten stock for a good one in that letter, I've lost a small fortune." A grin laugh burst from his dry lips. "It wasn't so clever, was it, forgetting that I have a sense of honor even if you haven't? But the work was damned clever, I'll grant you that!"

It seemed now to Natalie that she must speak, must stop him, even though she had to answer blindly. For she only partly understood the nature of the charge he was bringing against her.

"Don't, don't, don't," she cried imploringly. "Oh, Alan, you can't believe that I would touch one of your letters? Surely you can't believe that? Why, I didn't even see a letter!"

"Never mind the high-minded stuff," he snarled at her. "The time for that is past. It only makes what you've done more hideous. Look at you. White and gold and clean! You ought to be black, black, black! As black as hell! Oh, no, you wouldn't touch a letter that didn't belong to you. Look at your hands!"

His voice was stinging sneering. "They're lovely, aren't they, your hands? Who'd ever think they could turn themselves to tinking bread and butter out of a baby's mouth? Oh, no, no, you wouldn't touch a letter. You wouldn't erase the name Bernadine wrote and put in one that's a joke on the market, would you? You didn't know that I'd fall for a man that even you know by his initials, did you? You haven't heard me mention him by them, have you?"

He broke off, breathless and panting. Natalie's face was regaining its color under the smart of his words. She understood now. But not clearly. Her mind jumped to a false conclusion. Bernadine had done this, she believed. How, she did not know—she would need time to think it out. But Bernadine Lamont had done it. She had used her genius for evil to turn Alan into a blind fool, a mad, blind fool. He was Bernadine's now, heart, mind and soul.

Natalie told herself this with sickening despair. She saw that it was useless to try to convince him of her innocence at the present time. Perhaps when his anger had abated—the thought held little of hope. A cold chill was creeping into the very core of her heart. Knowing how hateful was the thing Alan accused her of, she was beginning to feel that he could never have loved her, to believe, for one minute, that she would be guilty of such a crime.

Her soul seemed dying within her, as though his words lay upon it with crushing weight. She put out a hand and groped for physical support. Oh, no, no, no, she must not show Alan her wounds. They were for her only to know about.

Alan laughed at her tottering progress to a chair. He did not know her sight had left her, that she was literally blinded with pain.

"Good acting," he applauded. "Too bad to waste it on me alone. But you always were good at everything. Everything, that is, but matrimony. You've made a fine mess of that!"

Natalie reached her chair, and slipped limply into it. She did not see Alan go, but she heard him, dimly, as though the sound came from a world not her own.

Darkness descended upon her, engulfed her. Her body drooped over the arm of the chair. She was very still.

Alan went directly to Bernadine's house. She was at home. Dr. Wagnall had positively forbidden her to go to the club. She was both relieved and alarmed to see Alan.

"You look like . . . well, never mind," she greeted him. "I know, like nobody's business." Alan finished for her. "And this time that's not just slang, Bernadine. Nobody's business is just what I'll get if this keeps up. I can't stand it!"

"No," Bernadine said soothingly. "I know you can't. But try to be funny, Alan. This has got into you too deep for that. But come and sit down and let me make you comfortable."

She was, herself, barely able to stand on her feet, but she made the effort for Alan's sake. She did not want him to guess that the financial blow she had just suffered had cost her much in physical strength as well.

"Have you any idea who did it?" Alan flung at her when she seated him in her living room.

She looked at him with Oriental inscrutability. "No," she died, "have you?"

She seemed to know his belief in Natalie's guilt was affecting him as it would affect her if she were to see her son, Bobby, committing some ugly act. She felt deeply sorry for him.

"Well, I have," he declared, breathing heavily. "I know who did it."

Bernadine uttered a little cry. "Oh, Alan, are you sure?" she asked pleadingly.

"It was Natalie," he answered, his voice as hard as steel.

"Oh, no, there must be some mistake," Bernadine cried. "Natalie is too lovely a woman to do anything like that. I know she is."

She saw at once that her remark was unfortunate. "That's just it," Alan declared. "That's what makes it so unforgivable. If I hadn't always thought her something to be worshipped, I could stand it better. But I'm glad I found her out at last. She'll never fool me again."

Bernadine looked at his hard, unyielding face.

set face and trembled for Natalie. She wished she could say something, do something, to palliate his wife's offense, but in her heart she too was convinced of Natalie's guilt.

Alan moved, as though he were about to rise.

"Alan," Bernadine cried fearfully, "what are you going to do?"

PLANS FOR BIG GASOLINE PIPE LINE REVEALED

TULSA, Ok., June 5.—Working plans for construction of the first gasoline pipe line in the Midcontinent field and the largest ever to be constructed in the country were announced today by the Phillips Pipe Line company, a Phillips Petroleum company subsidiary.

Announcement of the 1,000-mile line, carrier to cost $15,000,000, was made recently at New York.

The line will run northeast from Borger, Texas, through western Oklahoma, across Kansas through Wichita and thence to Kansas City and St. Louis, its eastern terminus.

Surveys for the construction have been completed and pipe has been purchased. Construction has been separated into six sections and completion is expected by January 1, 1931.

Labor of more than 1,000 men with 100 inspectors will be required to lay the 100,000,000 pounds of pipe, all of which will be fusion welded.

Uniform rate of flow will be effected by installation of 10 pump stations equipped with either electrically driven centrifugal pumps or Diesel type motors.

From St. Louis, transportation will be provided by barges to Minneapolis and St. Paul, where the Phillips company has its distributing unit for the northwest territory. River traffic also will handle distribution to New Orleans and points up the Ohio river.

Bulk stations will be established every fifty miles along the line to serve the adjacent territory.

younger man, but there were no tears nor emotional acts of any kind.

Dagger's father told him that Baskett and Mrs. Pruitt were in Austin, striving desperately to have the execution stayed. The news gave him some hope, but he told his father that if he had to die in the chair that he would be ready.

The board of pardons yesterday recommended a 30-day stay for Pruitt which was refused by the governor, but Dagger was not told of the governor's refusal.

Calm and Undisturbed

"I never saw a man so calm and undisturbed as he is," Simmons said when he returned to his office from the death house today. "He isn't taking it lightly or making a joke of it. He is bright and cheerful and without fear."

Pruitt has made no statement since he came to the death house about the Mann murder, nor any of the other capital crimes which Dallas police and detectives blame on him.

He denied the Mann killing when sentenced to die by Judge Charles A. Pippen. Simmons told Pruitt today that newspaper men would like to get any statement he might want to make, and Dagger answered that if his life was not spared he might have something to say to representatives of the press tonight.

Pruitt will be given whatever he wants to eat for his last meal. Late today his head will be shaved clean for the head electrode, and he will be given a prison-made suit in which to die. He has accepted religious counsel freely since he came to the penitentiary, and has often invoked divine guidance.

FLY CONTROL

city to the extent that this movement will result in success.

Success Reviewed.

Success of the mosquito control campaign was reviewed during the meeting and the means by which this was carried out, explained.

Matters relating to health certificates for employees of business establishments handling food, to the regulation of dairies, tuberculin tests for cows and rabies vaccination for dogs, and so forth were discussed.

The total revenue of the sanitary department during the 18-month period ending October 31, 1929 was reported as $27,534.35. The total expense of the department were $18,118.72 for the same period.

The revenues are obtained from garbage-charges-of all kinds; sanitary charges of all kinds and sewer charges. The operating costs include sewer operation, garbage contracts and all functions of the department.

The fees charged by the sanitary department are based upon a policy, it was explained, which would require the department to be self-supporting, taking in enough revenue to cover for operating costs and to pay the interest on the bonds issued for the construction of the sewer system and the disposal plant. During the 18-month period for which the above figures were quoted the revenue over and above the expenses of the department, lacked something near $1,000 of taking care of the interest on the bonds. During other periods, however, the net revenue exceeds the amount necessary to pay this interest, so that a continual fluctuation, responsible to local economic conditions, exists which on the average measures up to the level of net required to meet the interest charges, it was explained. That is, the revenues of one year may fall below the required amount but this is offset by a better year in which the revenues exceed the amount necessary.

It is on this basis, taking into consideration this fluctuation that the sewer charges and similar charges are fixed.

Health Officer.

The health officer of the city is selected under an ordinance by which the local organization of physicians elects three members to serve as a health board. This board in turn nominates a doctor as health officer, whose nomination is confirmed by the city commission. After his confirmation he serves as health officer for a period of two years. Dr. F. E. Clark is the present officer.

Those present at the meeting yesterday afternoon were: Mayor Williamson, Commissioner Burnett, Commissioner J. T. Berry, Commissioner George D. Fee, Dr. F. E. Clark, Martin Pezant, garbage contractor, M. H. Fleming, fire marshal and sanitary officer; J. D. Boggs, fly and mosquito control; Gus Bowman and C. Parache, sweepers.

Esten A. Fletcher, right, of Rochester, N. Y., now second in rank will be elevated to the post of imperial potentate of Ancient Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine when Shriners from the United States and Canada hold their annual conclave at Toronto, June 10-12. Upper left is George Stewart Henry, potentate of Ramesses Temple, Toronto, which will be host to the visiting Shriners; below, Leo V. Youngworth of Los Angeles, retiring imperial potentate.

PRUITT GRIM BUT CALM AS DEATH NEARS

Youth, Who Must Die, Sits Awaiting Mother's Goodbye

HUNTSVILLE, June 5.—"Dagger" Pruitt watched the last day-break he will see creep into his cell today in death row. He ate his last breakfast, the regular prison fare, grim but calm. Then he sat down and waited for his mother who is coming to kiss him good by before they take him into the execution chamber to kill him in the electric chair. She christened him William. The underworld changed it to Dagger. His exploits in crime matched the name. For three weeks he carried on a one-man reign of terror in Dallas. He will die a few minutes after midnight for murdering another boy named William—William Mann, a 17-year-old high school student. "He hasn't made any special requests. We will give him a special dinner and anything he wants for supper. "He's a good-looking kid, sort of snappy only 22 and intelligent. His mother is coming to him. I saw her several weeks ago and she said she would be here."

DESPERATE LAST MINUTE EFFORTS

HUNTSVILLE, June 5.—His last hopes for clemency wanting fast William "Dagger" Pruitt was making a valiant show of courage today, declaring that when his time comes to die at midnight he will be "ready."

Unless Governor Dan Moody unexpectedly intervenes, the 25-year-old Dallas killer beheading will die in the electric chair tonight, expiration demanded by the state for the murder of William Mann, Dallas high school senior, on the night of January 6, 1929. If the dapper gunman who single-handedly caused two weeks of terror in Dallas more than a year ago is not saved by an eleventh hour act of clemency, he may have a statement to make to newspaper men tonight, he told Lee Simmons, general manager of the Texas prison system, Thursday morning. Hope springs eternal, so Dagger still thinks there is a chance he may be saved from the one-way march through the little green door to the chair room, but he is prepared to take the march courageously if no relief comes, he said. A desperate, last-minute attempt is being made to halt the electrocution. Pruitt's mother and Labert Baskett, Dallas lawyer who defended

SILVER FOX TROOP BACK FROM CAMP

The Silver Fox Patrol of Troop 1, Cisco, returned Tuesday from a 2-day camp on the Chesley ranch, 11 miles north of Cisco. The trip was made Monday in the troop's truck. After a desirable site had been selected, tents were pitched and camp made habitable. A swim was enjoyed before supper was cooked and eaten, and after a half-hour's leisure, the boys gathered around the council fire to tell stories and perform stunts. Another swim was enjoyed after breakfast the next morning, and the scouts returned to town about noon. Members of the patrol who went were: George R. Winston, patrol leader; Carl Sedall, assistant patrol leader; William Hoyt, treasurer; Durward Boyd, quartermaster; Robert Meggar, hickmaster; and Jim Bob McCanlies, cheerleader.

COLLUM AND BAND BOYS AT ROTARY CLUB

G. W. Collum, band master for the Lobo band which won first place in the West Texas class. A high school band contest at Abilene last week, and three members of the band were the guests and entertainers of the Cisco Rotary club at its noon luncheon today. Mr. Collum and the three boys were invited to the club by E. H. Varnell, chairman of the program for the day. The boys were Dick West, president of the band; Hollis Clark, past president, and Frances Bruce. Mr. Collum gave the club a brief history of the band contest and told to what schemes he had gone to secure the coveted first place, after which the three boys and himself entertained with numbers used by the Lobo youngsters. L. B. Campbell gave the flag talk for the day. Mr. Campbell's subject was Finland. He amazed the club by talking without the use of a manuscript, establishing a precedent after more than a year of these talks. Members of the club expressed private opinion that Mr. Campbell had devoted long hours in his office in the Laguna hotel, to thoroughly memorizing his oration on the subject. At any rate his talk was well presented and received.

CRITICALLY ILL

Don Lee Carlisle, infant son of Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Carlisle, is critically ill with pneumonia.

DALLAS, June 5.—Six Dallas high schools formally graduated 872 students in simultaneous exercises here last night. Prominent Dallas barristers, divines and scholars delivered the addresses.

Mechanic, Branded Imposter, Missing

ELK CITY, Okla., June 5.—Branded as an imposter, a small-town mechanic who attempted to gain fame by posing as Maury Graham, long-missing western air express mail pilot, was also listed among the missing today. He had fled before the scheduled arrival of friends of Graham, summoned to Elk City to check his fabulous story that he was the aviator who disappeared in a snow storm last January and remained missing after an extensive search had been conducted. The claims of the cross-roads garage man were definitely grounded today by R. C. Calhoun, formerly chief clerk of Western Air Express at Salt Lake City and a former close friend of Graham. Calhoun said the description of the claimant did not tally with that of the missing airman.

NUMBER OF CANDIDATES IS NOW 55

DALLAS, June 4.—Additional filings for places on the democratic ballot as candidates for state offices sent to Dave Wilcox, Georgetown, chairman of the state democratic committee, and forwarded by Wilcox to Albert Sidney Johnson, secretary, swelled the list of eligible candidates to 55 today. The name of R. B. Creager, Brownsville, republican national committeeman, was presented for governor by petition signed by H. C. Williams and 28 others. The letter accompanying the petition stated a check for $100 was enclosed, but Johnson was unable to find the enclosure. Failure to pay the filing fee as well as the republican affiliation of Creager will keep his name off the ticket, Johnson said. "The petition for Creager apparently was meant as a joke," Johnson said. "It may be that the signers also intended to take a crack at the supreme court decision upholding the right of Thomas B. Love to a place on the ticket."

Pink Parrish state senator from Lubbock, has had his name formally presented as a candidate for governor in a petition received by Wilcox and forwarded to Johnson. His name brings the number of candidates for governor to 15, all formally filed and in the hands of the secretary. The candidates are: Earle B. Mayfield, Austin; Dr. C. E. Walker, Grapevine; Frank Putnam, Houston; Barry Miller, Dallas; James Young, Kaufman; Thomas B. Love, Dallas; Clint Small, Wellington; Lynch Davidson, Houston; Dan Moody, Taylor; R. S. Sterling, Houston; C. C. Moody, Fort Worth; Paul Loven, New Braunfels; T. N. Mauritz, Ganado and Pink Parrish, Lubbock.

Negro Bandit Is Taken by Posse

BALDWIN, Ill., June 5.—A negro bandit who robbed the Baldwin State bank of $4,000 at opening today, was cornered by a posse later in a stretch of woodland, four miles north of here. Shortly before noon the negro was captured, after being wounded in the right arm during the gun battle. Marshal Arthur Hoffman of Baldwin, and the posse took the bandit to the county jail for safekeeping. He confessed to the robbery and gave his name as Robert Henderson of Louisiana. A gunny sack, which the negro had used to carry his loot, was abandoned by him as he sought to outrun the posse in a chase down the railroad track leading out of town. The negro apparently entered the bank during the night. When assistant Cashier W. P. Isom arrived he was forced to unlock the vault. The negro fled after locking Isom inside.

FLY CONTROL IS SANITARY PROBLEM NOW

Ways and Means Talked at Departmental Meeting

The most important problem facing the department of sanitation and the city government at this time is that of fly control, the department was told at its meeting yesterday afternoon at the city hall. This session was one of a series of departmental meetings now in progress through which the municipal government is seeking to adjust itself more accurately to local conditions, to increase efficiency and, where possible without impairing efficiency, to reduce costs. Commissioner J. R. Burnett, head of the department of sanitation and the public health, presided over the meeting. Discussion of public health activities, all-important functions of the municipal government, ran to considerable time and the meeting was forced to adjourn without having completely attained its object. Further investigation of sanitary conditions and formation of a plan to block at the First Presbyterian church, in conjunction with Dr. F. E. Clark, health officer, and other attaches of the department.

Stress Said

Particular stress was laid upon the necessity of fly control. The control of mosquitoes in the city has already been effectively accomplished but at the present time this cannot be said of the fly menace, which is admitted to have assumed proportions that demand some heroic efforts to solve. Origin of the fly menace is primarily the private horse and cow lots in the city where the manure offers ideal breeding ground for the insects. It was determined that an ordinance would be prepared requiring the regular oiling of these premises to kill the embedded larvae and that this would be enforced by health officials in such a way that the owners of the premises may oil the lots themselves or the city may have it done at nominal cost to the owner. Commissioner Burnett stated that he will undertake the campaign to rid the city of flies aggressively with the prospect of complete eradication in a short while. The public was urged to cooperate with the

Daily News Will Head Fund to Improve Cemetery; Citizens Asked to Respond

The cemetery board, composed of A. B. O'Flaherty, Dr. Paul Woods, Lou Mendall, Dess Rogers and M. H. Flanning, has been commended highly by citizens of Cisco for the work which it is accomplishing in laying mains for the extension of water facilities to lots in the cemetery heretofore without this service. The cemetery is the property of the city of Cisco and the burden of caring for the upkeep of the sacred spot and making necessary improvements falls therefore upon the city treasury. But the lack of available funds in the treasury for these improvements causing the committee embarrassment in its further efforts to improve the burial grounds. The Cisco Daily News has always lent its efforts to further moves for civic betterment of its city. It believes the work that is being done by the cemetery board and the plans which that board have made in this connection are worthy of the wholehearted support of the people and in that belief extends its influence and pages toward the raising of a necessary fund for what it considers should be the ultimate aim to be achieved. The most serious need affecting the cemetery at this time, not excepting the fact that half of the lots are as yet without water, is that of a fence or wall about the plot. Flowers and shrubbery planted in the cemetery are without protection from stock while there is little to prevent desecration of all kinds. Many people thoughtlessly use the grounds as a "short-cut thoroughfare" violating indiscriminately the sanctity of the grounds.

Wall Inexpensive

A native stone wall would be inexpensive if its construction is properly supervised. The construction of this wall, as the Daily News sees it, should be started at the front and gradually extended to take in the entire space. Perhaps the first thing that should be erected would be an archway at the southeast corner, near the greenhouse. This corner lends itself naturally to the location of an entrance since it would be accessible to all streets. A beautiful archway at this point would be a lasting monument and a tribute from Cisco to her dead, and every passer-by on the Bankhead highway, the most travelled in the southwest, would not fail to note this tribute and to be impressed with a city which remembers its dead in so noble a fashion. This archway should extend over a cattle guard that would be protection when the entire grounds are walled in. Little imagination is necessary to vision the improvement that this would bring about. Aside from the money needed for the building of the archway and, finally, the complete wall, there is immediate need for funds with which to secure more pipe so that the water system of the cemetery may be extended to serve every lot. The Daily News is of the opinion that there are many citizens who would be willing to donate to a fund of this kind and it would take pleasure in publishing the names of contributors. In fact, the News will head a fund of this kind if proper response to the idea is made. Contributions for this purpose will be published and the funds turned over to the committee.

Held as Killer

After she had driven into Anniston, Ala., with the lifeless body of her husband in the automobile beside her, telling police that he had been shot by bandits on a lonely road, Mrs. W. C. With her husband, whose life was insured for $42,000, she was driving to school commencement exercises in which their daughter, Catherine, was to participate. The widow protests her innocence.

Miss Howell Recital Sunday Afternoon

Dr. G. C. Morris will present Miss Ora Howell in graduation piano recital Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, he announced. Miss Howell has completed the usual college piano course and her recital will be a typical college grade presentation. The public is cordially invited to attend. CHICKASHA, Okla., June 5.—A coroner's jury investigating the mob riot here last Saturday reported today that it found that Henry Argo, negro accused of attacking a white woman came to his death by gunshot wounds which, according to hearsay testimony, were inflicted by Jud Brown. Brown was named by three witnesses as having told mob members that he shot the negro. He was placed under arrest.

Deny Americans Killed in Raid

BISBEE, Ariz., June 5.—Officials of the Silver Plume mine at Cananea, Sonora, Mex., today denied reports that eight Americans had been killed in a raid on the property by Mexican outlaws. Twenty bandits swooped down on the mine Monday, killed Charles Koehler, American millman, and a Mexican mine watchman. Since then no disorder has been experienced, officials said.

Escaped Drug Addicts Sought

SPADRA, Calif., June 5.—Authorities today were making an intensive search for five drug addicts who escaped from the state narcotic hospital here. The men failed to answer a roll call and a search of their quarters revealed a gaping hole back of a radiator which had been removed.

COMMITTEE IS DUMFOUNDED WITH ACTION

"Plain Contempt" Is Comment of Senator Walsh

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Bishop James Cannon, Jr. brought his defiance of the senate lobby committee to a dramatic climax today when he angrily picked up his papers and walked out of the crowded committee room while two senators still were questioning him. This unprecedented defiance of senatorial authority left the committee dumfounded, and an adjournment was taken shortly afterward until next Wednesday. Chairman Caraway, who is in Arkansas, is expected to be here then and the committee will decide at that time whether to proceed against the Methodist bishop for contempt of the senate. Before any contempt proceedings are instituted, the committee may issue a subpoena and propound the disputed questions again for the record. It then will be up to the committee and the senate to decide whether contempt proceedings should be instituted. Walsh Statement. Asked for a statement later, Senator Walsh, democrat, Mont., of the committee, said: "The action of Bishop Cannon in walking from the room while the committee was attempting to question him further regarding matters upon which he previously had been willing to be interrogated, was plain contempt of the senate. "The question of the committee's jurisdiction is another matter but walking out does not depend on that. "In submitting himself for examination he submitted to the jurisdiction of the committee and the absence of a subpoena, to my mind, is of no consequence whatever. "It was contempt for him to leave without being excused." Heretofore, congressional committees have been careful not to issue subpoenas in cases where prosecutions against witnesses were contemplated. The courts have held that to require a witness to testify under subpoena is in a sense requiring him to testify against himself. In such cases, evidence given by the witness under such compulsion has been ruled out in the courts.

GO TO THE POST.

Thirteen candidates for the democratic nomination for governor go to the post Monday was the last day. Pink Parrish was drafted by Crosby county friends. Pink is a resident of Lubbock. E. G. Senter dropped out of the race. Governor Moody was drafted. Lynch Davidson was drafted. T. W. Davidson refused to be drafted. As for the politician—they remain just where they were on the morning of Monday, June 2.

They are up in the air. Ross Sterling was drafted; he announced. His friends say he will remain in the race until the finish. Will he? Lynch Davidson has promised to give a decision "before the end of the week." Governor Moody, to quote from the political vocabulary of Frank Baldwin of McLennan county, "is sayin' nuffin, but sittin' pretty."

DR. GEORGE C. BUTTE'S CANDIDACY.

Those who are backing Dr. George C. Butte are wise politicians, and this is not written to discredit the qualifications of any of the republican named in connection with the gubernatorial nomination.

Dr. Butte has loomed large in the picture and this for some time. In 1924 he was the republican nominee for governor. In 1924, Thomas B. Davy and his followers booted the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson. Mrs. Ferguson was elected by a handsome majority, but Butte received, with the assistance of Love and his followers, more than 300,000 votes.

Since his defeat, Dr. Butte has held high appointments from at least two presidents of the United States. He is prominent socially in Texas and in Washington, and many of his kin in Texas are of old democratic families. He has received great publicity in recent years, and his name, owing to his remarkable race against Mrs. Ferguson, is a household word.

Love and his followers, three more than 200,000 votes to Butte in 1924. It would be the irony of fate if Dr. Butte is selected as the republican standard-bearer and more than 300,000 regulars would vote for the head of the republican ticket in Texas in November, 1930.

A party pledge is illegal in Texas. It is not worth the paper on which it is printed or written. This was the supreme court decision in the Love mandamus case.

"Politics is a fascinating game as well as a brutal game. Is it to be war to the knife and knife to the hilt in the campaign battles to come?"

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DITCHER

WASHINGTON.—The Sheppard-Towner Maternity and Infancy Act, a piece of legislation which always seemed to interest the women of the country more than any other, is likely to stay dead indefinitely as the result of a misunderstanding or something between Congress and the White House.

That is the law under which the government appropriated more than a million dollars a year to cooperate with the states in welfare and hygiene work for mothers and babies, under the administration of the Children's Bureau. The act ran for seven years and everyone seemed to agree that the work was a great success, striking at the mother and infant mortality rates, but it stopped on July 1 of last year when Congress failed to appropriate the money to keep it going.

Not Getting Anywhere

Women's organizations thought it was fine business to have a "child welfare president" like Mr. Hoover. Now some of their officers are complaining privately that the president has taken such an active interest in the problem that things are getting all balled up without any progress.

After he had announced his White House Conference on Child Health and Child Protection the word went to Capitol Hill that the president didn't want any action on the Sheppard-Towner measure before the conference made a report which would take a year or more.

Nevertheless, in his message to the regular session of Congress Mr. Hoover declared himself in favor of continuing the Sheppard-Towner Act under the Children's Bureau for a limited period of years and Congressmen Cooper of Ohio and Senator Jones of Washington introduced bills which would provide money to start the thing going again.

But Cooper says Mr. Hoover made subsequent demands concerning the legislation and he introduced a second bill to square with the presidential ideas. This bill would transfer maternity and infant hygiene work to the U. S. Public Health Service. The women complain, however, that it gives no assurance that real practical work would be carried on. The Public Health Service has never done any maternity work, whereas the Children's Bureau has been engaged in it for many years. And the theory of those who will have none of the second Cooper bill is that in order to reduce the baby death rate the mothers who need education must receive it.

During the flood relief work the president became very fond of the county health units and his idea lately has been that these should be used in future administration of the Sheppard-Towner Act. There are, however, good reasons, how many counties which have no such units. Minnesota, for instance, is said to have but one county health unit.

Under the second Cooper bill the Children's Bureau would have money to carry on welfare work, but the nature of such work is not defined.

Besides representatives of women's organizations, those of organized labor and the American Farm Bureau Federation have joined in opposing the bill which was inspired by the president. They are all supporting a bill recently submitted by Congressman Goodwin of Minnesota, which would simply re-enact the Sheppard-Towner law and provide some money.

REFUGEES GO BACK TO HOMES LAID WASTE

PORT WILLIAM, Ont., June 5.—Tales of suffering and narrow escapes from death were heard today as hundreds of refugees plodded back to their homes in areas of timber land laid waste by forest fires in the past four days.

Drenching rains had quenched the more dangerous blazes and foresters said the situation was well under control. Thousands of acres of ruined forests from which rose great clouds of steam remained as evidence of the flames.

Many of the settlers found only desolation when they returned to the scenes of their homes. The village of Larson and Kelly, Ont., on the Canadian National railway were destroyed. Two other Ontario towns — Dymen and Port Arthur — barely escaped the flames after women and children had been evacuated.

From a hospital cot here, Mrs. Albert Swain told how she and her husband escaped 50 miles through smoke and flames. She said they fought the fire until the flames began to spread over their milk farm.

The couple reached Kelly where they joined a section gang in a second car and fled again, leaving the village to the fire.

Only a short distance from here a party of 70 foresters, trapped by the flames, dived into a river to save their lives. They remained in the chilling water for five hours.

Incomplete surveys of the stricken districts placed the damage at $500,000, with a higher estimate expected when a check is made of the more isolated regions. Several persons were believed killed.

Stand Exonerated of Bride's Slaying

SHREVEPORT, La., June 5.—Roy Delatte, 21, of Birmingham, Ala., today stood exonerated of the slaying of his bride of a few hours here last March. Testimony given during the trial implicated him in a Birmingham robbery, however, and he was expected to be removed to that city to face charges incident to that offense.

The jury which heard how the young bride was shot to death in the bridal chamber a few hours after the wedding deliberated but 16 minutes late last night before returning a verdict of not guilty. Her body was found on a bed across the foot of which Delatte lay. He testified both had been drinking, and the girl shot herself.

Delatte was indicted on the state's contention that the bullet wound could not have been self-inflicted.

During the trial the defendant admitted robbing a Birmingham store of $90.

Federal agents were said to have followed the five men here from New York and negotiated with them for the purchase of $50,000 in spurious $10, $20 and $50 bills for 37 cents on the dollar.

Sheep, Goat and Cattle Industries Are Gaining Ground

Livestock Shippers Association Boosts Stock Raising

The gradual extermination of wolves and other predatory animals in Eastland county is already beginning to have a very optimistic effect upon the development of an industry for which this county is particularly suited and which, in consequence, should add considerably to the agricultural prosperity of the section, according to E. H. Vainell, Cisco vocational agriculturist. This industry is that of sheep and goat raising.

Considerable interest is being manifested among farmers in securing flocks and herds for running on brushy land otherwise of little practical value, he said. Heretofore wolves with which the county was thickly infested, made the raising of sheep and goats a losing venture. Numerous farmers who had undertaken to diversify their efforts along this line early found their flocks depleted beyond all prospect of a profit, and after their first enterprises abandoned altogether any further efforts in this direction.

Subject Revised

The growing scarcity of predatory animals, however, seems on the basis of statement made by leading farmers, to have aroused the sheep and goat subject again with the prospect that the development of this industry will be undertaken within the next year or so upon an ambitious scale, favored with much brighter chances of success.

The value of sheep and goats has long been recognized and no urging is needed to convince Eastland county growers that they would be profitable on the type of land that to so large an extent exists here. The only condition menacing this development has been ravages of predatory animals and with this menace being rapidly eradicated, nothing beyond ordinary economic conditions will affect the expansion of county farming interests in this additional and promising direction.

Dr. C. C. Jones only recently purchased thirty head of goats which he has placed on brushy land. He plans to keep a close record on the herd for the next year or so that he may secure concrete facts regarding the possibilities for goat raising here.

Particularly Alive

The Nimrod and Scranton communities appear to be particularly alive to the advantages of sheep and goat raising. Ed Townsend, of Nimrod, stated that he is contemplating placing sheep on land of his since the wolves in his community seem to have disappeared to a large extent. Bob Shofity of the same community is among those who have expressed interest in the development of the industry.

Numerous other farmers have spoken similarly. Due to the lack of capital, however, sheep and goat raising in most of the sections must of necessity originate in small beginnings and its effect upon the general level of agricultural prosperity will, of course, be little noticed for some time. However, with the absence of elements destructive to the industry it is bound to develop eventually into proportions that will more than justify the efforts and expense that have been put into ridding the county of predatory animals. If the experience of other counties may be taken as a criterion.

What is most prominent in the agricultural panorama at the present time is the rapid increase of interest in the growing of beef cattle. This is due primarily to the outstanding success of the Cisco Co-Operative Livestock Marketing association. This association, organized almost 20 years ago, presents a clear example of what farmers may accomplish in cooperation in spite of conditions which generally do not favor their prosperity.

Steady Income

Each month the association has shipped from two to four cars of cattle during the past year providing its members with a steady year-around income that has been the ideal of agricultural improvement programs. These shipments, handled cooperatively, return the shippers a wider margin of profit because of the less expense and trouble occasioned. In effect the association enables the small producer of livestock to secure carload freight rates on less than carload lots. This represents a great saving. Added to this valuable feature is the fact that the individual grower can sell his livestock through the association with a minimum of personal attention necessary. He simply meets with the association at regular meeting days, lists his stock and then delivers it into the hands of the association at the local stock pens for shipment. Thereafter he is not concerned in the handling, unless he is appointed on the committee selected to accompany and sell the shipment, which is rare because of the large membership. The lot is taken to Fort Worth where it is sold by the association committee. The returns are then handed through the First National bank of Cisco, and prorated among the participating members without extra charge.

Between $60,000 and $70,000 of new money is annually placed in the pockets of the farmers by the operation of the association. This is distributed not in large lots but widely in comparatively small sums to the small growers.

The additional money obtained by the grower cooperating in the association is proving a very attractive inducement for farmers outside the association and more and more of these are entering the livestock industry on a small scale, providing one or two beef cattle for each shipment or some hogs, so that the shipments of the association are steadily increasing.

STAR MUSTANG TACKLE FAILS TO PASS TESTS

DALLAS, June 5.—Faced with the most ambitious schedule ever carded by a Southwestern conference team, the 1930 Southern Methodist University football team had today suffered a severe setback in the form of ineffectiveness. Marion "Scrapiron" Hammond, star tackle and captain-elect of the Mustangs, will not play this fall, rumors confirmed unofficially had it.

The big bruiser who received all-American mention last year failed this week in final examinations, school records showed. Under a new conference rule he is ineligible for participation in varsity athletics for a whole year.

With junior standing now, he could by remaining in school for an additional year become eligible and play in 1931.

Besides five conference games, the Ponies will play Notre Dame at South Bend, the University of Indiana here and the Navy at Annapolis.

Illness threatened the only other ineligibility in the Mustang ranks, Weiden Mason of Waco, sensational sophomore halfback, missed several weeks of school this spring and did not take the examinations this week. School officials said he could take the tests late in the summer and thereby become eligible for varsity competition.

ATHLETICS ARE BACK IN LEAD AFTER SLUMP

By United Press

Connie Mack has eliminated the Philadelphia Athletics' only weakness — lack of capable reserve material — and the 1929 world champions appear headed for their second consecutive American league pennant.

Three Athletic regulars, outfield Al Simmons, third baseman Jimmy Dykes and second, baseman Max Bishop have been on the hospital list during the past week, but the reserves have come through capably and the Athletics have climbed into the league lead.

Wednesday's 4 to 3 victory over St. Louis was the tenth consecutive victory of the Athletics, who now boast the longest winning streak made by any major team this season.

Three Athletic regulars, outfield Al Simmons, third baseman Jimmy Dykes and second, baseman Max Bishop have been on the hospital list during the past week, but the reserves have come through capably and the Athletics have climbed into the league lead.

Wednesday's 4 to 3 victory over St. Louis was the tenth consecutive victory of the Athletics, who now boast the longest winning streak made by any major team this season.

Kiki Cuyler and Riggs Stephenson led a 20-hit barrage which enabled the Chicago Cubs to defeat Boston 18 to 10, for their seventh straight victory. The victory advanced the Cubs to within two games of the league leading Brooklyn Robins.

Brooklyn dropped a loosely played game to Pittsburgh, 12 to 6. The two teams set a season's record for errors, Brooklyn making 8 and Philadelphia 3, four of which were charged to shortstop Engle.

Washington kept pace with the Philadelphia Athletics in the American league, winning an 11-inning game from Detroit, 11 to 8.

Johnny Kerr's homer in the tenth, with two out, gave the Chicago White Sox and 8 to 7 victory over the New York Yankees, after Babe Ruth's homer with two on in the seventh had tied the score at 7 all.

Red Lucas was touched for five hits and five runs by the first five batters and the New York Giants defeated Cincinnati, 8 to 5.

Scarritt's single, scoring Reeves, gave "Big Ed" Morris a victory over Wesley Ferrell in a 10-inning pitching duel, Boston defeating Cleveland, 5 to 4.

Ray Bengt held St. Louis to 4 hits and Philadelphia beat the Cardinals, 2 to 1.

Spudders, by Double Win Over Beaumont Seem to Have First Half Flag Cinched

By United Press

By winning a double header from Beaumont Wednesday while Houston in second place was losing again to Dallas, the Wichita Falls Spudders today were credited with having virtually cinched the Texas league championship for the first half of the 1929 season.

Wichita Falls, aided by six home runs, defeated Beaumont, 6 to 4, and 14 to 1. Bettencourt, Spudder right fielder, hit two home runs and drove in five scores.

After tying the score in the ninth inning by a three-run rally, Dallas won its second straight game from Houston, 6 to 5, in the tenth frame, when Cary Selph, Buff second baseman, booted Gene Moore's smash that drove in the deciding score. Grimm, Dallas pitcher, who relieved the veteran Dave Danforth in the seventh, was credited with the victory.

Fort Worth made it two straight over Waco, defeating the Cubs 10 to 7. Although both teams made an even dozen hits, the Cats were able to connect with runners on base.

Although San Antonio defeated Shreveport, 5 to 2, the Sports went into third place in the league standings when the Beaumont Exporters lost the double header to Wichita Falls.

Games today: Houston at Dallas. Waco at Fort Worth. Beaumont at Wichita Falls. San Antonio at Shreveport.

SCHMELING IN GOOD SHAPE, HE DECLARES

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

United Press Staff Correspondent

EDINBURGH, N. Y. June 5.—Max Schmeling took a holiday today and played golf and fished. With his heavyweight championship fight against Jack Sharkey still a week away, Schmeling is confronted with the problem of keeping his present condition without going stale.

"I'm in better shape right now than I was for Paolino," Schmeling told the United Press today. "I can fight on a minute's notice."

Dr. W. G. Fralick of New York arrived here last night and examined Schmeling's hands carefully, and put at rest all rumors that the German had injured one in training.

Eastland Contractor's Wife Out With Facts

Declares That Argotane Has Made Her Husband Feel Well and Strong Again.

"Wife fail me in attempting to describe my gratitude for the benefits my husband has derived from Argotane," said Mrs. J. M. Saffel, wife of the well known Casing Contractor, who resides at 608 S. Daugherty St., Eastland, Texas.

"My husband has been a sufferer from indigestion and kidney trouble for over a year. Medicine and treatment failed to do him any good, and it looked as if nothing was going to reach his case. He had terrible back pains and his skin would become irritated and showed that his blood was not of order. His kidneys were affected, too, as he was always troubled with that pain in his back and up between his shoulder blades and at times, it seemed as though his back would break."

"We began reading so much in the papers about this Argotane, so my husband decided to give it a trial. It was remarkable how quickly it helped him. His skin went to clearing up at once, and with it, his kidneys began to improve and the pains left his back. He commenced gaining in weight and now, his appetite is like a school boy. He feels fresh and wide awake when he gets up in the mornings and I am sure that no other medicine could have worked the change that has come over my husband's health since he began its use. This medicine is all right and we are recommending it to our friends."

that red light—oh, perhaps they were bloodshot. He must be ill! Something dreadful was the matter with him.

Letter? Letter? Letter? Why was he talking about a letter? The word, tormenting her brain, escaped from her lips in a weak utterance.

"That's right, Bernadine's letter," Alan thrust at her. "Come on, tell me, why did you do it?"

He advanced toward her, his lips twisting in his passion of temper. Natalie shrank back from him, visibly frightened.

"You deserve it," he snarled. "I ought to choke you, but I've got to save my hands for cleaner work. I've got to work, do you understand, and make up for your mischief."

His bloodshot eyes bored threateningly into her own feverish ones, but his half-raised hands dropped to his sides.

Natalie's face, aside from her burning eyes, seemed dead. It was white and set, her lips frozen against any words that might have come to them. But there was nothing she wanted to say—and yet a thousand thoughts were on parade in her agonized mind.

"You haven't any defense, have you?" he taunted her. "Not a thing to say. Well, you're wise to keep quiet. God, I couldn't stand to hear you deny it! I've had enough of your saintliness that covers the cheapest kind of soul. But if you think you've a chance to hide under silence, just listen. I know what you did, all right."

"You came into my office when I was out and got hold of Mrs. Lamont's letter. It gave you your chance. You saw what you could do, but here's where you made your big mistake. You thought you would cause her to lose a pretty penny, but you're wrong. It's me you've damned near ruined."

He swept his arms in a circle to indicate the room. "All this," he said savagely. "Background! That's what you call it. But to me it's my earnings. Oh, yes, I could always make more—you know that—it was never hard for me to make money. But what's become of it? We've saved precious little. And now, now I've got to make good what you tried to steal from Bernadine. You know what that means, don't you?"

Natalie continued to stare strickenly at his ferociously contorted mouth and reddened eyes. Her attitude drove him frantic.

"Why don't you say something!" he yelled at her, unmindful of the inconsistency he was showing.

Still she did not speak, though her head moved a little in a pitiful, sidewise motion and the numbness partially left her bloodless lips.

"So," he raved on, "because you fiendishly substituted a rotten stock for a good one in that letter, I've lost a small fortune. A grin laugh burst from his dry lips. "It wasn't so clever, was it, forgetting that I have a sense of honor even if you haven't? But the work was damned clever. I'll grant you that!"

It seemed now to Natalie that she must speak, must stop him, even though she had to answer blindly. For she only partly understood the nature of the charge he was bringing against her.

"Don't, don't, don't," she cried imploringly. "Oh, Alan, you can't believe that I would touch one of your letters? Surely you can't believe that? Why, I didn't even see a letter!"

"Never mind the high-minded stuff," he snarled at her. "The time for that is past. It only makes what you've done more hideous. Look at you. White and gold and clean! You ought to be black, black, black! As black as hell! Oh, no, you wouldn't touch a letter that didn't belong to you. Look at your hands!"

His voice was stingingly sneering. "They're lovely, aren't they, your hands? Who'd ever think they could turn themselves to taking bread and butter out of a baby's mouth? Oh, no, no, you wouldn't touch a letter. You wouldn't erase the name Bernadine wrote and put in one that's a joke on the market, would you? You didn't know that I'd fall for it because she got a tip from a man that even you know by his initials, did you? You haven't heard me mention him by them, have you?"

He broke off, breathless and panting.

Natalie's face was regaining its color under the smart of his words. She understood now. But not clearly. Her mind jumped to a false conclusion. Bernadine had done this, she believed. How, she did not know—she would need time to think it out. But Bernadine had done it. She had used her genius for evil to turn Alan into a blind fool, a mad, blind fool. He was Bernadine's now, heart, mind and soul.

Natalie told herself this with sickening despair. She saw that it was useless to try to convince him of her innocence at the present time. Perhaps when his anger had abated—the thought held little of hope. A cold chill was creeping into the very core of her heart. Knowing how hateful was the thing Alan accused her of, she was beginning to feel that he could never have loved her, to believe, for one minute, that she would be guilty of such a crime.

Her soul seemed dying within her, as though his words lay upon it with crushing weight. She put out a hand and groped for physical support. Oh, no, no, no, she must not show Alan her wounds. They were for her only to know about.

Alan laughed at her tottering progress to a chair. He did not know her sight had left her, that she was literally blinded with pain.

"Good acting," he applauded. "Too bad to waste it on me alone. But you always were good at everything. Everything, that is, but matrimony. You've made a fine mess of that!"

Natalie reached her chair, and slipped limply into it. She did not see Alan go, but she heard him, dimly, as though the sound came from a world not her own.

Darkness descended upon her, engulfed her. Her body drooped over the arm of the chair. She was very still.

Alan went directly to Bernadine's house. She was at home. De- Wagnall had positively forbidden her to go to the club. She was both relieved and alarmed to see Alan.

"You look like . . . well, never mind," she greeted him. "I know. Like nobody's business," Alan finished for her. "And this time that's not just slang, Bernadine. Nobody's business is just what I'll get if this keeps up. I can't stand it!"

"No," Bernadine said soothingly. "I know you can't. But try to be funny, Alan. This has got into you too deep for that. But come and sit down and let me make you comfortable."

She was, herself, barely able to stand on her feet, but she made the effort for Alan's sake. She did not want him to guess that the financial blow she had just suffered had cost her much in physical strength as well.

"Have you any idea who did it?" Alan flung at her when she seated him in her living room.

She looked at him with Oriental inscrutability. "No," she died, "have you?"

She seemed to know his belief in Natalie's guilt was affecting him as it would affect her if she were to see her son, Bobby, committing some ugly act. She felt deeply sorry for him.

"Well, I have," he declared, breathing heavily. "I know who did it."

Bernadine uttered a little cry. "Oh, Alan, are you sure?" she asked pleadingly.

"It was Natalie," he answered, his voice as hard as steel.

"Oh, no, there must be some mistake," Bernadine cried. "Natalie is too lovely a woman to do anything like that. I know she is."

She saw at once that her remark was unfortunate. "That's just it," Alan declared. "That's what makes it so unforgivable. If I hadn't always thought her something to be worshipped, I could stand it better. But I'm glad I found her out at last. She'll never fool me again."

Bernadine looked at his hard, set face and trembled for Natalie. She wished she could say something, do something, to palliate his wife's offense, but in her heart she too was convinced of Natalie's guilt.

Alan moved, as though he were about to rise.

"Alan," Bernadine cried fearfully, "what are you going to do?"

PLANS FOR BIG GASOLINE PIPE LINE REVEALED

TULSA, Ok., June 5.—Working plans for construction of the first gasoline pipe line in the Midcontinent field and the largest ever to be constructed in the country were announced today by the Phillips Pipe Line company, a Phillips Petroleum company subsidiary.

Announcement of the 1,000-mile line carrier to cost $15,000,000, was made recently at New York.

The line will run northeast from Borger, Texas, through western Oklahoma, across Kansas through Wichita and thence to Kansas City and St. Louis, its eastern terminus.

Surveys for the construction have been completed and pipe has been purchased. Construction has been separated into six sections and completion is expected by January 1, 1931.

Labor of more than 1,000 men with 100 inspectors will be required to lay the 100,000,000 pounds of pipe, all of which will be fusion welded.

Uniform rate of flow will be effected by installation of 10 pump stations equipped with either electrically driven centrifugal pumps or Diesel type motors.

From St. Louis, transportation will be provided by barges to Minneapolis and St. Paul, where the Phillips company has its distributing unit for the northwest territory. River traffic also will handle distribution to New Orleans and points up the Ohio river.

Bulk stations will be established every fifty miles along the line to serve the adjacent territory.

Father Visits Son

William Pruitt Sr., the condemned youth's father, called at the general manager's office this morning and asked to see his son, Pruitt and Simmons talked to him together. It was a typical father-to-son talk, during which the trial was discussed, and the predicament of the younger man, but there were no tears nor emotional acts of any kind.

Dagger's father told him that Baskett and Mrs. Pruitt were in Austin, striving desperately to have the execution stayed. The news gave him some hope, but he told his father that if he had to die in the chair that he would be ready.

The board of pardons yesterday recommended a 30-day stay for Pruitt which was refused by the governor, but Dagger was not told of the governor's refusal.

Calm and Undisturbed

"I never saw a man so calm and undisturbed as he is," Simmons said when he returned to his office from the death house today. "He isn't taking it lightly or making a joke of it. He is bright and cheerful and without fear."

Pruitt has made no statement since he came to the death house about the Mann murder, nor any of the other capital crimes which Dallas police and detectives blame on him.

He denied the Mann killing when sentenced to die by Judge Charles A. Pippen. Simmons told Pruitt today that newspaper men would like to get any statement he might want to make, and Dagger answered that if his life was not spared he might have something to say to representatives of the press tonight.

Pruitt will be given whatever he wants to eat for his last meal. Late today his head will be shaved clean for the head electrode, and he will be given a prison-made suit in which to die. He has accepted religious counsel freely since he came to the penitentiary, and has often invoked divine guidance.

Severe Heat Wave Visits East Coast

NEW YORK, June 5.—The eastern seaboard from Maryland to Maine sought relief today from a severe heat wave which already has caused several deaths and numerous prostrations.

Little respite was expected before Friday or Saturday in most sections, and predictions were that the coming week-end would see an unprecedented rush for cool mountain retreats or beach resorts.

Baltimore was the hottest place in the east yesterday with a temperature of 96.

FLY CONTROL

city to the extent that this movement will result in success.

Success Suggested

Success of the mosquito control campaign was reviewed during the meeting and the means by which this was carried out, explained.

Matters relating to health certificates for employees of business establishments handling food, to the regulation of dairies, tuberculosis tests for cows and rabies vaccination for dogs, and so forth were discussed.

The total revenue of the sanitary department during the 18-month period ending October 31, 1929 was reported as $27,534.33. The total expense of the department were $18,116.72 for the same period.

The revenues are obtained from garbage charges of all kinds; sanitary charges of all kinds and sewer charges. The operating costs include sewer operation, garbage contracts and all functions of the department.

The fees charged by the sanitary department are based upon a policy, it was explained, which would require the department to be self-supporting, taking in enough revenue to care for operating costs and to pay the interest on the bonds issued for the construction of the sewer system and the disposal plant. During the 18-month period for which the above figures were quoted the revenue over and above the expenses of the department, lacked something near $1,000 of taking care of the interest on the bonds. During other years, however, the net revenue exceeds the amount necessary to pay this interest, so that a continual fluctuation, responsible to local economic conditions, exists which on the average measures up to the level of net required to meet the interest charges. It was explained, that is, the revenues of one year may fall below the required amount but this is offset by a better year in which the revenues exceed the amount necessary. It is on this basis, taking into consideration this fluctuation that the sewer charges and similar charges are fixed.

Health Officer

The health officer of the city is selected under an ordinance by which the local organization of physicians elects three members to serve as a health board. This board in turn nominates a doctor as health officer, whose nomination is confirmed by the city commission. After his confirmation he serves as health officer for a period of two years. Dr. F. E. Clark is the present officer.

Those present at the meeting yesterday afternoon were: Mayor Williamson, Commissioner Burnett, Commissioner J. T. Berry, Commissioner George D. Fee, Dr. F. E. Clark, Martin Parmer, garbage contractor; M. H. Fleming fire marshal and sanitary officer; J. D. Boggs, fly and mosquito control; Gus Bowman and C. Parache, sweepers.
