CRACKS IN THE DOME

-By POLITICAL ANALYST

AUSTIN, June 11.—A case of "might have been" is being discussed in the make-up of the governor's race. They probably decided who will be the next governor—and who wouldn't be governor—with all the long train of unforeseen consequences, public and personal that this involve.

Moody's statement with respect to Mr. Sterling, whose entry into the race prevented Moody from announcing 10 days ago, said: "I have many loyal friends in Texas with whom I would not want to contest for another term in the governor's office, and the chairman of the highway commission happens to be one of them. He has announced as a candidate for governor. I am doing nothing but friendship and gratitudes for a public service well performed, and I am his friend."

That's what the governor said. Friends of Sterling were not perturbed. They did not regard the statement as hostile, but only as making clear there was no contest in Sterling's getting in and Moody's getting out. Will it be significant in Moody's turn to the place where he will direct his efforts in supporting one of the candidates?

For a swan-song, consider Gov. Moody's statement of abandoning his candidacy for reelection. "My only interest is the good of my state and to see a continuation of a well-ordered and efficient administration of public affairs in this state, with properly thinking and properly-acting people holding office."

The special interests seeking privileged and favored position struggle for the control of our government as never before. The employment of some of the members of our legislature by special interests is an evidence of their purpose and is one of the means they adopt to accomplish their ends. They are able to defeat progressive legislation and to place upon the backs of the toiling masses of our people an unjust and an unfair proportion of the burdens of the government. In this situation the democratic party needs to be reunited as the exponent of good government and the guardian of the people's cause.

DEBTOR LAW NABS FAMOUS FRENCH FLIER

By STEWART BROWN United Press Staff Correspondent PARIS, June 11.—The debtor's prison still exists and functions in France, despite strong public sentiment for its abolishment. Its most recent victim is M. Marc Doussaud, former member of parliament and distinguished war aviator, who has been imprisoned at the request of a creditor to whom he could not pay $1,200.

Two years ago M. Doussaud was in a frightful automobile accident in which one man was killed and three were made cripples for life. The court ordered the former defendant to pay damages and costs totaling more than $22,000, although at the time of the accident M. Doussaud was working in the interest of the war veterans of France. The verdict ruined Doussaud financially. He sold everything he owned but the clothes on his back and could scrape together only about $3,200, which included his home and furniture. When this money he paid three of his creditors in full and the fourth in part. The fourth creditor, M. Doussaud, received approximately $2,400 of the $3,200 due him.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By ED-ON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma. NEWS G. Colburn, editor of the New Haven (Conn.) Journal Courier says: "Do you ever stop to think how comparatively few people ever bother themselves with thinking? Do you ever stop to think that thinking is an art—and a natural impulse? Do you ever stop to think how much better it is to make the effort to think than not to try at all? Thinking is like love. It is better not to have thought and just than to have thought, at all. "Do you ever stop to think of the economic and sociological law in which, justly, others do your thinking for you?"

attorney, and Dr. Herman Bredwin, coroner, announced that they were united in an effort to solve the latest murder, although hampered by the witnesses who denied almost all of the details.

The local press spurred the inquiry with cash rewards of $5,000 for information leading to the assassin's arrest as well as with editorial demands for a new deal in law enforcement.

In a lead editorial under the caption "The Challenge," the Tribune today described the murder as "committed in reprisal and in attempt at intimidation." "It was very foolish, ever to think that assassinations would be confined to the groups which have fought each other for the profits of crime in Chicago," the editorial declared.

The Chicago Herald and Examiner released an editorial attack on the police department. As usual, the paper said, "most police studies come reflecting information statements about someone's activity in the vicinity of crime."

The brigades of the police would be impotent if it were not pitiable. "The confusion of crime and justice in Chicago has been obviously growing more powerful for months."

Find Bricks Are Not Legal Tender

DALLAS, June 11.—A university of Arkansas student passing thru Dallas on his way to a summer camp in south Texas learned to his sorrow today that a collection of bricks is not considered legal tender for a hotel bill in Dallas. L. C. Green, the student, left his suitcase at the hotel in lieu of payment for a night's lodging and was arrested. The suitcase was found to contain an assortment of bricks of various sizes and colors. "Your hotel bill was only 10 or 20 cents," Judge C. C. Case told the youth. "But it's going to cost you ten dollars or trying to beat the bill."

DENNIS KING'S RISE TO FAME THRILLS FANS

Dennis King, who for the past two or three years has been rated by critics as the greatest singing star of the Broadway musical comedy stage, still is seen and heard for the second time by movie audiences at the Palace theater when "The Vagabond King" comes three tomorrow for two days.

The Vagabond King was the vehicle for Dennis King's greatest singing achievement. It had a seasonally long run of more than a full season in London in New York and made an impressive tour in other cities afterward. King's rise to fame was meteoric. As a lad he was fascinated by the stage. His first bit parts were with John Deakwater's repertory theater in Birmingham, England. He came to the United States in the English company of "Maestro Beaumont," the British Expeditionary force.

Later he played in Jane Cowie's New York company of "Rome and Juliet," achieving great fame in the role of Mercutio. His friends persuaded him to develop his singing voice, and this brought him an engagement in Rose Marie, which established him as a leader in romantic singing roles. Then came the occasional and glamorous "The Vagabond King." The music for "The Vagabond King" was written by Rudolph Friml, whose long and successful career as a composer began in 1912 with "The Flirt." Other musical comedies and operettas which he has written music for are "Kismet," "Someday," "Rose Marie" and "The Merry Widow."

The thrilling Friml songs of the original production have been carried to the all-talking screen in Paramount's gorgeous all-star screen version of "The Vagabond King."

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter & Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks.

The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and accuracy in manufacturing.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

OPINION WELL DIVIDED OVER FIGHT RESULT

By FRANK GETTY
 United Press Sports Editor
 NEW YORK, June 11.—The heavyweight championship of the world will be at stake tomorrow night, with probably 70,000 excited fight fans looking on, and with public opinion fairly well divided as to the outcome of this first fight for the title in two years.

Jack Sharkey and Max Baer, who, by virtue of being the best of a bad lot of outstanding contenders, are to battle for the privilege of being Gene Tunney's successor, had finished their training today and were resting, awaiting the bell.

The bout, which, in addition to introducing a new heavyweight champion, is expected to benefit materially Mrs. William Randolph Hearst's milk fund for babies, will draw gross receipts of more than $70,000, it was estimated today. Sharkey and Schmeling will divide half that sum before the milk bill is presented.

Both fighters finished their training fit and ready.

Everything is in order in the Sharkey camp, but Maxie has yet to learn whether the boxing commission is going to let him have his American manager, little Joe Jacobs, in his corner tomorrow morning. The matter will be settled today, when the commission meets.

The odds governing what betting is being done favor Sharkey by 7 to 5.

There is still some lively discussion over the matter of the referee, who might be Eddie Forbes, veteran arbiter and boxing writer.

Sharkey, by virtue of his greater experience, his known ability to rise to great heights in fight crisis, his fast left hand and recklessness under fire, seems the logical favorite.

It will be a fast, clever, left hand hitter against a stubborn, willing, right hand puncher tomorrow night.

All of which promises to make the fight interesting as far as it goes, with plenty of profit for all concerned and something left over for the milk fund.

JONES' CHANCE TO COP FOUR TITLES ARGUED

NEW YORK, June 11.—One of the currently popular locker room topics for golf players is the wager made by a widely known British firm that Bobby Jones will not win four major titles this season. The firm has bet at the rate of $50 for $1 that Jones will fail to take the four championships, the British amateur, British Open, U. S. Open and U. S. Amateur.

A majority of golfers appear to have decided that the odds well might be nearer 1,000 to 1, to reduce the wager to an even proposition. An answer, patent but unconvincing, is to invite such a golfer to offer his thousand.

However, it is a foregone conclusion that the firm is not making the wager at 50 to 1 for its pleasure or excitement. The firm expects to win—expects that Bobby Jones will not take all of the four titles.

Reports from the south of us are that lots of sentimental dollars have been placed on the Atlanta. He has passed his hardest single test—the British amateur—in which he won a title he had failed to grasp until this year.

The locker room discussions also involve methods, if any, the firm may use to "lay off" its bets. Obviously, the firm could have bet some money that Jones would win the amateur.

If he had lost, all of the dollars taken in against the titles would have been secure. But since he won, that money, if it was placed, may be held as a "war chest" against a possible pay-off.

More wagering may be done on Jones in the Open. If he loses there, the singles taken in will be safe. If he wins, there will be more for the "war chest."

SPUDDERS ADD FULL GAME TO THEIR LEAD

By United Press.
 The Wichita Falls Spudders added a full game to their lead in the Texas league Monday when Kloss, left fielder, hit a home run with a mate on base to defeat San Antonio, 4 to 2, in the tenth inning. The Indians made 16 hits but were unable to convert them into scores.

Shreveport gained a full game on the second-place Houston nine by defeating Beaumont, 6 to 2, while the buffs were losing a hard fought contest to Fort Worth, 7 to 6.

Fort Worth piled up an early lead when they nipped Ray Lingrel, 30-foot pole, dropped a wrench. It struck Sam on his nose and broke it—the nose.

SENATORS MOVE INTO CHICAGO CUB LOT TODAY

By United Press.
 Walter Johnson's Washington Senators today moved into Chicago, hopeful of strengthening their hold on second place in the American league race, while their strongest rivals—Philadelphia and Cleveland hook up in a three game series at Cleveland.

The Senators have lost 8 of their last ten starts, the slump costing them the league lead and leaving them only 1/2 game ahead of the third place Indians. Meanwhile Cleveland has won 11 out of 14 games and is only three games behind the league leading Philadelphia Athletics.

Cleveland won two consecutive games of the series and enabled Washington to leave Cleveland holding second place by an uncomfortably small margin.

Philadelphia's lead was cut to two and one half games yesterday when the Athletics dropped an 11 inning battle to Chicago, 7 to 6. Lefty Grove, who entered the game as relief pitcher in the tenth, was charged with the defeat—his first loss of the year.

Herb Pennock pitched the New York Yankees to a 5 to 3 victory over St. Louis.

Beston pounded four Tiger pitchers for 17 hits and Boston defeated the Tigers, 12 to 6.

The St. Louis Cardinals defeated Boston, 2 to 1, for their second victory in 14 starts and took undisputed possession of fourth place in the National league race. Each team made 7 hits.

Philadelphia defeated the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 2, in the only other National league game. Chuck Klein led the Phillies' attack with a homer and doubles.

Meadows Joins Dallas Prospects
 DALLAS, June 11.—Lee Meadows, former right handed pitcher in the National league, has joined the procession of players and prospects through the Dallas Steer corral. He will report to the Steers at Houston this week, according to announcement of the management. He was signed as a free agent after being released by Atlanta of the Southern association.

FINAL OKEY GIVEN YOUNG PLAN LOAN

PARIS, June 11.—A great drama in international finance came to a climax in a Paris hotel room early today when representatives of banks of nine nations gave final approval to the issuance of the Young plan $300,000,000 reparations loan.

The loan will bear 5 1/2 per cent interest and the issue price will be 90 everywhere except France. The French issue will probably be sold at 98, there being no tax on these bonds in France.

No efforts was made to bind the nations involved into a pact to sell the bonds on a certain date. They may be issued whenever the individual countries or banks decide.

The immediate result in the United States probably will be the offering of the American share of $98,250,000—nearly one-third of the entire loan—to the people shortly.

The signing of the loan papers concluded the Young plan loan provisions as approved at the Hague and opened the way for immediate world financing and liquidation of the debts growing out of the great war.

Of the total $100,000,000 will go to Germany as a direct loan to be used by that country to build up her industries and bolster the nation economically generally, in order that she may pay the reparations bills during the coming years. The other $200,000,000 will be handled by the international bank of settlements at Basle, Switzerland, now functioning under the Young plan, as the reparations bank. It will go to pay cash reparations to certain nations, which Germany subsequently must make good.

certo in G Minor, Miss Howell gave a superb rendition, playing the entire concerto of three movements. The difficult octave, chord and passage work was brilliant in effect, while the melodic parts, for which Mendelssohn is unusually beloved were played, with careful regard to the phrasing and singing tone, achieved by means of the modern way of weight playing. The orchestral parts were played by Prof. Morris at the Picher organ.

In the second number, the Bach French Suite No. 2, Miss Howell played with true regard to tradition, her ever changing tones bringing out the composer's thoughts. Her legato and shading were outstanding.

The third number on her program, the third requirement of any senior college, was one of the later Beethoven Sonatas, the famous Moonlight Sonata. In the Adagio Sostenuto, Miss Howell's lovely singing tones, phrasing and delicate shading made this movement effective; while the Allegretto was a most dainty bit of playing. In the tumultuous Presto, where one climax rose on top the other, Miss Howell kept true to tradition in the interpretation.

In the final group of Moderns, Miss Howell's sense of tone values, accents and subtle differentiation of moods of Debussy and Palmgren made this part of her program most effective. Her program closed with a brilliant playing of Reinhold's Impromptu. Miss Howell brings to her playing most thorough and painstaking preparation; a keen sense of values from the analytical viewpoint, a remarkably developed sense of rhythm; modern technique through weight playing; and a noble conception of the composer's intentions.

At the conclusion, Miss Howell was enthusiastically fettered by a large group of friends, who pronounced her a most deserving young lady.

TARVER CASE WITNESS FACES PERJURY COUNT
Lanham Brown, about 20, and a witness for the state in the trial of Fred Tarver, on trial Tuesday in the 88th district court, on a charge of perjury when he stepped from the witness stand at Eastland yesterday. The complaint was sworn to by Assistant County Attorney W. B. Collier.

Brown, according to Collier and according to testimony given by members of the 88th district court grand jury, had testified before the grand jury and stated that he had purchased liquor from Tarver. When the state, which expected to prove this fact by him, asked Brown if he had purchased liquor from Tarver, he answered that he had not. The state pleaded surprise at Brown's testimony and placed members of the grand jury on the stand to refute Brown's testimony.

Conviction on a perjury charge carries with it a penalty of confinement in the state penitentiary.

In his recent charge to the grand jury Judge Geo. L. Davenport of the 91st district court called attention of the grand jurors to the offense of perjury with the comment that it was his opinion that there had not been a case, civil or criminal tried in Eastland within many years in which perjury was not committed by someone connected with the case.

The Tarver case was called for trial some weeks ago, but was postponed because of the absence of witnesses. Lanham Brown, it was stated by Assistant County Attorney Collier, was absent when the case was first called and that officers, seeking to service an attachment on him, failed to find him in the county.

Brown, gave bond in the sum of $1,800 and has been released from jail. Deputy Sheriff Jep Jobe said this morning.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Effective Also Adds Iron to

Do you suffer from constipation? Are you one of those who have tried one "vest pocket cure" after another and still have no sense of permanent relief? If so, this is big news to you! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is natural, effective relief for both temporary and recurring constipation. It is the original—and today is included in the diets of millions of people who formerly suffered from constipation.

When roughage is missing from food, constipation is the consequence. The soft foods we eat today seldom include enough roughage. The simple necessity, then, is to see to it that sufficient roughage is included in our food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the bulk that your system requires.

In addition, it is rich in iron. Scientific research proves that nearly all this iron is absorbed by the system, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.
