PENDING SENTENCE GIVEN DAVIS of Police Saves Port Arthur Negro From Mob

FIVE YEARS ASSESSED IN 88TH COURT

Youthful Defendant Is Found Guilty in the Shook Murder

Thomas Davis, 19-year-old accused slayer of Lucian and Leon Shook, was found guilty by a jury today hearing his trial for the killing of Lucian and was given a five year suspended sentence. The case, which went to trial before Judge Elzo Been of the 88th district court at Eastland Monday morning, went to the jury at 8 o'clock last evening, following about six hours argument by counsel for the state and defense. The verdict was reached early this morning before Judge Been and other court officials had arrived at the courthouse.

Davis still faces a charge of murder in connection with the death of Leon Shook and County Attorney Joe H. Jones, who asked for the death penalty in the case just closed, stated today that he would oppose the granting of bail for Davis in this case. No date for a trial on the charge of killing Leon Shook has been set.

A former Eastland county juror gave Davis the death penalty for the Lucian Shook killing, but the appeals court reversed the case and ordered a new trial.

Two trials in the slaying of the Shook boys, and who, according to testimony of witnesses in the trials, said he shot the Shook boys just to see them kick, has faced two juries on the charge of murder in the connection with the killing of Lucian Shook and each time was given the death penalty, the verdict of the first trial having been reversed by the higher court. An appeal is pending in the last trial.

Thomas Davis was represented in the trial this week by R. N. and Jim Grisham, Eastland attorneys. The state was represented by County Attorney Joe H. Jones, Assistant County Attorney Grady Owen and W. B. Collier, and Frank Judkins, special prosecutor.

A crowd that packed the 88th district court room to capacity was present throughout the trial of Davis and a large number of people remained about the courthouse last night until 10:30 when the jury sent word to the court that it would not return a verdict last night.

The bodies of Lucian Shook, 25, and his brother Leon Shook, 20, were found at 7:00 a. m., on Tuesday, September 11, 1928 near the shack occupied by Lucian Shook, employed by the Braden Oil company to look after some oil wells near Leary in the northwestern portion of Eastland county.

Lucian visited his sister in Cisco on Friday afternoon, September 7 and told her that someone had entered his cabin and taken a gun and banjo. He said he would be back to see her Saturday as that was the day he was to go to Cisco for his pay check. When he had not made his appearance by Monday night his sister notified officers, fearing that the burglars had returned and he had met with foul play.

Officers went to the cabin and found that Lucian and Leon, who had come to visit his brother on Friday, were missing. No trace of them was found. The officers traced automobile tracks found near the cabin and found that they were made by surveyors. On returning to the cabin they found the badly decomposed bodies of the two brothers about 100 yards from the cabin.

Shot Twice
Lucian Shook had been shot.

Eleven People Killed as 3 Trains Derail

WINNIPEG, Man., June 27.—Eleven persons were killed when three Canadian national trains were derailed near Capreol, Ontario, during the night, according to information received here today.

Two passenger trains and a freight train were derailed by washouts caused by floods in the country near Capreol, the advices said. Four children on an eastbound train en route from Winnipeg to Toronto were drowned when a passenger coach plunged into the flood waters of the Vermillion river.

The westbound passenger train was derailed, but none were injured. The identified dead in the wrecks included Heien Nedderburn, 2, Sasatoon Sask.; Cicely Brusseire, 7 months, the passenger; Leonard Gilbert, 7, Fairmont, Sask.; Arthur Gilbert, 4, Fairmont, Sask.; and Freeman McLeod.

Six men were unidentified. The identified dead in the wrecks included Heien Nedderburn, 2, Sasatoon Sask.; Cicely Brusseire, 7 months, the passenger; Leonard Gilbert, 7, Fairmont, Sask.; Arthur Gilbert, 4, Fairmont, Sask.; and Freeman McLeod.

Relief trains were dispatched from Toronto. Physicians and nurses from Sudbury Junction and other nearby towns meanwhile hastened to the scene to care for the injured. "Unprecedented flood conditions" said the statement of the Canadian National were responsible for the accident. The train rolled onto an embankment, not off a bridge as originally reported, officials stated.

While more than 2,000 persons of both sexes clamored for the chance to view the execution of the three men—convicted of slaying Patrolman "Happy" Smith after a bank robbery during the republican national convention of 1928—rumors drifted into police headquarters that gangland would not let the executions occur without any move to free the killers.

Many stories concerning plans for attempted jail deliveries filtered from the north side and extra guards have been posted, weapons and ammunition literally strewn about the jail. Guards told today of the pitiful attempts of the men to remain nonchalant in the face of death. They laugh about the boil which has recently swelled the nose of Messino, but their laughter is short lived. Sometimes they try to "musecrack" the guards, but their jests are feeble.

DEATH GIVEN SHIELDS AT BROWNWOOD

Oil Field Worker Is Found Guilty of Murdering Wife

BROWNWOOD, June 27.—Death in the electric chair was prescribed by a jury today for Joe Shield, 33, oil field worker, found guilty of the murder of his wife, Opal May Shield, on May 16 last.

The jury retired last midnight, and brought in its verdict at 10 a. m. today. Shield is also under indictment for the alleged murders of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shields, his wife's parents, who were shot to death in the triple-killing at Brooksmith, near here.

Four attorneys, all appointed by the court, defended the accused man and relied on an insanity plea to save him. They have made no announcement as to whether they will appeal the case. Shield and the wife he was convicted of killing had separated and reunited several times. They were estranged at the time of the triple killing.

The state's star witness said he rode in an auto with Shield to Brooksmith on the day before the killing and as they neared the town Shield loaded a rifle he was carrying.

Chicago Fliers Are Determined to Win
CHICAGO, June 27.—The "City of Chicago" endurance plane made another successful refueling contact above Sky Harbor airport at noon, C. D. T., today, 40 minutes before it ended its 380th hour in the air.

The Hunter Brothers, pilots, continued to drop notes telling watchers they were confident of staying aloft beyond 5:01 a. m. Sunday when the refueling endurance record of slightly more than 420 hours will be equalled.

EVIDENCE THAT FINANCIAL DEALINGS OF LINGLE TOUCHED OFFICIALDOM STUDIED

CHICAGO, June 27.—Evidence that the mysterious financial dealings of Alfred J. Lingle, murdered Chicago Tribune reporter, extended into public officialdom was under investigation today by the board of strategy delving into the case that so far has cost police commissioner and a chief of detectives their jobs.

The evidence will be placed before the July grand jury, it was indicated, for further check. Soon after a cancelled check for $500 found in Lingle's bank account had been traced to a loop police captain, evidence was found that the newspaper man had received loans for varying amounts from Maj. Carlos Ames, head of the city civil service, and alderman Bert Cronson.

Reports that Lingle had received $3,990 from corporation Counsel Samuel Ettelson, right hand man for Mayor William Hale Thompson, were met by a prompt denial from the city official. Cronson is a nephew of Ettelson.

The Herald and Examiner, morning competitor of the Tribune, said the board of strategy had reports that Lingle had received loans of as much as $20,000 from Sammy Hare, gambling resort owner.

The newspaper also connected the reporter with two other gambling houses, saying that investigators "had been informed that three days before Lingle was killed state's attorneys' detectives raided and closed the Biltmore Athletic club the next day Lingle called upon an official in the state's attorney's office and complained the raid had embarrassed him because I told them to go ahead."

The Herald and Examiner also said that the investigator had learned that Lingle had demanded a $15,000 fee to permit the opening of the Sheridan Wave Gambling club, a Moran enterprise.

"When this was refused," the newspaper said, "Lingle is alleged to have threatened: 'Well, if you open you'll see more police squad cars than you ever saw together before.'"

MOONEY AND BILLINGS MAY BE LET FREE

By VINCENT MAHONEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Probability that Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings will walk to freedom within a month was established today by the United Press from sources close to Governor C. C. Young.

Mooney and Billings now are serving their thirteenth year in prison for allegedly perpetrating the preparation day bombing in San Francisco in July of 1916. Six persons were killed outright in the explosion. Three died later. Forty were wounded.

The state supreme court is now sitting as a board of review in the Billings case. From an authoritative source, the United Press learned definitely that Governor Young expects the court to recommend a pardon, and is accordingly completing plans for issuance of the orders which will free both Billings and Mooney.

The supreme court decision is expected within a few days. Under a law enacted at the last session of the legislature, the governor is not empowered to consider an application for pardon from a two-time felon until the supreme court has recommended favorably.

Billings had served a term at Folsom for unlawful possession of dynamite before his arrest for complicity in the bombing.

Under questioning they admitted readily that they had purchased the gum from William Bickett, a store-keeper, and then added, brazenly it seemed to Voliva, that they also were chewing gum.

Train Backs Into Car on Crossing

Mrs. W. D. Payne, of Rule, Texas, her sister, Miss Johnnie Broyles and another sister whose name was not disclosed, miraculously escaped injury when the small coupe in which they were riding was backed into by a freight car attached to Texas and Pacific locomotive No. 600 on D avenue crossing this afternoon about 1 o'clock.

The locomotive was backing to recouple with its train after taking on water. The left front fender of the car was crushed. Little other damage was done to the car. None of the women were injured.

The party was returning from a visit to Lake Cisco at the time.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Captain Charles E. Kingsford-Smith and his three shipmates of the airplane Southern Cross, came down to the city hall today to receive the official honors New York reserves for its distinguished guests.

INSTALLATION OF GRADE CROSSING SYSTEM BEGUN

Installation of the grade crossing interlocking system, which will make the T. and P. and M. K. and T. crossing in front of the union station accident-proof, was begun yesterday. Some preliminary work, such as setting back switches to get them out of the derail zone, has already been done.

At this time an extra gang of about 30 men is engaged in extending the passing track on the T. and P. over the Katy crossing to tie into the main line half a mile east of the station. When this is completed the T. and P. will have two tracks crossing the Katy in front of the station.

Two Developments Aid Johnson Bill

WASHINGTON, June 27.—While the senate was preparing to sponsor a new veterans pension bill, two developments today swung the power of administration support to the Johnson compromise measure passed yesterday by the house.

First majority floor leader Watson brought word from the White House that President Hoover favors the house measure. Later director Frank T. Hines of the veterans bureau, testified in a secret session of the senate finance committee that he preferred the house bill.

Judge Charles A. Phippen of the criminal court of Dallas county continued the cases of 14 alleged participants in the rioting at Sherman six weeks ago, at which time a negro rapist was incriminated and the Grayson county courthouse destroyed by fire.

According to Atty. Hughes most of the defendants are sons of tenant farmers, and six of them are less than 19 years old. Judge Phippen held the 14 for trial, but fixed bail at $5,000 each. Nine were returned to the Dallas county jail from the court house, and the others made bond.

twice through the head and his head had been frightfully battered. Leon was shot through the body, the bullet passing entirely through from side to side. He had been beaten over the head but not as badly as his elder brother. It was estimated that the two had been dead for three or four days. Coyotes had dragged the body of the younger Shook some fifteen or 20 feet.

Officers found 45 calibre shells near the bodies. They secured search warrants and went to the home of Sam Davis. Mrs. Davis admitted they had a pistol but could not find it. Officers found it in the barn with the barrel battered and blood and brains in the barrel.

They arrested Sam Davis, his two sons, Woodrow Wilson, 12, Thomas W., and Clyde Thompson, 18, a neighbor boy. The elder Davis was released when it was decided that he knew nothing of the killing.

Thompson Makes Statement

Clyde Thompson made a statement which said that he had robbed the cabin of the older Shook boy. He also stole a pistol belonging to Sam Davis. He went to the home of the two Davis boys on Friday night, September 7, and asked them to get with him to the Shook cabin to rob it.

The Shook boys accused Thompson of taking the gun and banjo, which Thompson denied. They suggested that the three go to Thompson's father and tell him about it and Thompson agreed. When they got a short distance from the cabin Leon Shook hit at him with a powder horn he was carrying when another argument started. He fired at Leon, Lucian ran. He pursued Lucian and fired twice at him and he fell. He then turned to Leon and fired at him again and he fell and he returned to Lucian who tried to get up and seized Thompson's arm, but Thompson broke from his grasp and beat him over the head with the pistol until he was sure he was dead.

Woodrow Davis Testifies

Woodrow Davis testified in the trial of the two Davis boys on Friday night, September 7, and asked them to get with him to the Shook cabin to rob it. They went with him and on the way he told them he was going to kill Lucian. When asked why he told them he was going to kill him to "see him kick." When they got to the cabin in the two Davis boys stayed in the brush and Thompson went into the cabin.

SEVERE SPELLS OF INDIGESTION

"Black-Draught Helped Me a Great Deal," Says Tennessee Lady.

Elizabethon, Tenn.—Writing of her experience in the use of Theford's Black-Draught, Mrs. W. S. Manning of 148 Watauga Avenue, this city, recently said:

"For some time, I suffered from indigestion and sick headache. I would get almost blind, and stars would dance in front of my eyes. I had bad gas pains, and heartburn would come with these spells. I read about Black-Draught and decided to try it. I found it helped me a great deal. I got relief from these spells. I find Black-Draught a fine medicine for constipation. I have used it in my home for about twenty years. I don't think anything can take its place, for general family use. It is the best medicine of its kind I have ever tried."

Theford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable cathartic or laxative medicine, composed of selected medicinal herbs and roots. Black-Draught is finely powdered, which enables the juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in a natural way.

FREE BRIDGES WILL REPLACE TOLL SPANS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 27.—Completion of an extensive construction program that will place a free bridge over Red river on every Oklahoma state and federal highway, leading into Texas appeared certain today.

Three bridges are already completed. Contracts for three others have been approved by the highway commission of the two states, while an agreement has been reached between Texas and Oklahoma for the building of two additional spans.

Ultimate abandonment of toll bridges across the state boundary line was seen because when all the free spans are completed motorists easily may travel several additional miles on improved highways in order to enter Texas over a free bridge.

Free Wentz, chairman of the Oklahoma highway commission, was slated today when he received word the Texas commission had approved the contract for the bridge between Marietta and Gainesville, Texas, on U. S. highway No. 77. The Oklahoma commission had approved the contract several weeks ago.

This bridge will be located on one of the most direct routes from Oklahoma City to Dallas and Fort Worth.

Contracts have been approved and work started on two free spans located on U. S. highway No. 81 between Terral and Ringgold, Texas.

Construction of two free bridges across the river in the southwestern section of Oklahoma is also assured with an agreement being reached by all interested parties, Wentz said.

This agreement was reached while Wentz and State Highway Engineer A. R. Losh were in Austin this week conferring with Texas highway commissioners.

These bridges will span Red river between Eldorado and Quanah, Texas, and between Elmer and Vernon, Texas. Plans for the two projects will be drawn immediately and contracts awarded as soon as possible.

FREE BRIDGES WILL REPLACE TOLL SPANS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 27.—Completion of an extensive construction program that will place a free bridge over Red river on every Oklahoma state and federal highway, leading into Texas appeared certain today.

Three bridges are already completed. Contracts for three others have been approved by the highway commission of the two states, while an agreement has been reached between Texas and Oklahoma for the building of two additional spans.

Ultimate abandonment of toll bridges across the state boundary line was seen because when all the free spans are completed motorists easily may travel several additional miles on improved highways in order to enter Texas over a free bridge.

CISCO GROCERYMEN KEEP ABREAST OF THE TIMES

A traveling man, who was looking over the Daily News newspaper files a few weeks ago, made the remark that Cisco was about the best served in the way of advertising grocers of any little town in the state. He also remarked that he found the personnel of these stores much above the average in many ways. In each store he found courteous intelligent gentlemen at the heads of the organizations and their prices and obliging service to customers were things worthy of commendation.

That the Daily News readers may know something of the men who serve their daily needs and who talk to them through these columns each week, a few words of introduction are given below.

L. A. (Buck) Harrison, proprietor of the M System, has been in Cisco too many years to enumerate. He says himself. For a long period of years he was connected with the Webster wholesale house as salesman. This taught him how to buy and the importance of buying right in order to have the right price for his customers. He says later he entered the service grocery business on Main street but gave it up to purchase the M System, where he is now located. Mr. Harrison has a very handsome store and offers a very obliging service to his customers.

Asa Skiles, active manager of the Skiles Grocery & Market, began his business career, like many other successful men, as a school teacher. He came to Cisco as an employe of the West Texas Utilities company and although he was in line for immediate promotion he gave up this promising outlook to enter the suburban grocery business. But he soon outgrew his location and moved to his present location on Main at Fourteenth street, where he has enlarged his quarters several times to take care of his expansion. Mr. Skiles has staked his success on the motto: "Unusual Quality and a High Standard of Service."

It is impossible to think of Piggly Wiggly without thinking of its two genial proprietors, F. E. Shockley and O. J. Tillinghast, who are always on the job with their pleasant smiles and a familiar greeting for each customer. It has been said of this firm that it holds the constant trade of its patrons. They always come again. Both of these gentlemen have been in the grocery business many years, coming from Fort Worth some ten years ago and purchasing the Piggly Wiggly contract. They kill their own meat, thus insuring the quality in every instance.

The Clarence Saunders store, owned by C. M. Jenkins, has as its outstanding policy. "Not just a few items at special prices, but a low price on every item." Mr. Jenkins has had a wide acquaintance with the public. For many years he was in the banking business in Oklahoma, later entering the grocery business in the same state. However the lure of Cisco as a residential city reached him and finding the Clarence store here for sale, he purchased it and became a resident here. His former business training is a great aid to him here in making his ability felt in commercial circles.

O. Henson, or "Ollie" as they call him over in the "sticks" of Erath county where he still owns a farm, is manager of the A. & P. store in Cisco. After deciding he wanted to go to town Mr. Henson says he was in the grocery business in Stephenville for a number of years, but about three years ago he went with the A. & P. organization, and was transferred from Rising Star to Cisco as manager, about one and one-half years ago. Under his management the store has increased its trade and "Ollie" has become very popular with those of his customers who have come to know him.

Hyatt & Wood, "The Old-Timey Home Owned Store," is rapidly forging to the front as one of the leading grocery firms of Cisco. J. H. Hyatt is well known in Cisco, having been in the county some 20 years. He has been a farmer, dairyman and grocer during that time. S. R. Wood is a product of the plains country, and has brought with him the pep that is supposed to be a product of that high and dry atmosphere. He is rapidly becoming to be known as one of Cisco's progressive young business men. This store is featuring price and honest quality and service.

Marion Gentry is another of Cisco's young business men who are making a success in the commercial world. Young Mr. Gentry is from Brownwood, where he grew up in the grocery store of his father, E. B. Gentry, who was in business in Brown county for many years. Marion is closely attentive to business and is fast making friends with his customers. His motto is "Quality at Low Cost." His store is, "Gentry's Cash and Carry Grocery & Market."

All of these stores carry a complete line of staple and fancy groceries, fresh vegetables and meats. Their stores compare favorably with those of much larger cities and Cisco citizens are to be congratulated in being served so well. Their messages are read each week with close attention for the special items and prices quoted.

Philadelphia's Athletics held their 1-2 game lead in the American league flag chase, winning the first of a four game series against St. Louis, 8 to 3.

Washington scored seven runs in the first inning and defeated Detroit, 12 to 4, to keep pace with the Athletics. Firpo Marberry pitched for the Senators.

Henry Johnson checked Cleveland's late rally and the New York Yankees defeated the Indians 12 to 11. The Yankees tallied all of their runs in the first six innings.

Milton Gaston pitched and batted the Boston Red Sox to a 9 to 7 victory over Chicago. Gaston allowed the White Sox 11 hits but his double clinaxed a five run rally which clinched the game in the fifth inning.

Clarence Mitchell, baseball's only southern spitball pitcher, held his former team mates to nine scattered hits while the New York Giants hammered five St. Louis pitchers for 20 hits and a 12 to 4 victory.

Pittsburgh took both games of a double header from Philadelphia and moved into fifth place in the national league race.

Phil Collins outpitched Larry French in the first game but committed a balk with a man on third base in the third inning to force in the only run of the game.

Pittsburgh winning, 1 to 0. The Pirates went on a hitting spree to win the second contest, 11 to 5.

The Braves-Red game, scheduled at Cincinnati, was postponed.

THREE TEXAS TEAMS OFF TO FLYING START

Wichita Falls, Houston and Beaumont, three of the four teams to finish in the first division at the end of the first half of the Texas league season, were off to flying starts today for the second half by winning their first two games.

Wichita Falls defeated Shreveport, 9 to 1. The Spidders touched Marcell Sport hurier, for 14 hits, displaying the same offensive attack which gave them the championship for the first half.

Two home runs, one by Kaufman and the other by Lucas, aided Houston in winning their second straight game from San Antonio, 10 to 3. The Buffs also stole five bases while Joe Brown was holding the Indians to five scattered hits.

Beaumont pounded out a 12 to 4 victory over Waco, touching Wachiel and Thuman for 17 hits. After relieving Denny Burns in the fourth inning, J. Mallett, Shipper hurier, held the Cubs to one hit.

A boiling Texas sun proved too much for "Old Pete" Alexander making his debut in the Texas league, and he was forced to retire under a barrage of Fort Worth hits in the fifth inning. The steers rallied in the late innings, however to defeat the Cats, 18 to 8.

TRIED ALL KINDS OF LAXATIVES

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Gave Only Permanent Relief

As everybody knows, the market is flooded with cathartics, pills and patent compounds for the relief of constipation. At best, whatever results are obtained are temporary. Besides, there is the danger in certain habit-forming drugs.

Mr. P. M. Fisher, 517 Olive Street, Scranton, Pa., has something to say on this subject which will be interesting to all constipation sufferers. He says:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at worse."
"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and I leave me in a very healthful condition."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or money refunded.

In addition, it adds needed iron to the diet. You will like its delicious flavor. There are many delightful ways to eat it. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Cornell Rules the River Once More After Fifteen Years of Disappointing Defeats

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 27.—Cornell ruled the river once more today after 15 years of disappointments and defeats.
The big red oarsmen from Lake Cayuga, stroked by a slim, hollow-cheeked youngster rowing his first major race captured the 4-mile varsity race of the 33rd intercollegiate rowing association regatta yesterday and picked up the long skein of Cornell triumphs, broken in 1916.

From the first year of the regatta in 1888 until 1913, Cornell's Courtney-coached crews swept the river with almost endless regularity winning 13 of 19 varsity races.

Surging into the lead at the two mile mark, Cornell moved ahead steadily until the big red crew crossed the finish line of the four mile race in 21 minutes, 42 seconds, three lengths ahead of its closest rival. Behind Cornell, came a pair of outsiders, Syracuse in second place, six lengths ahead of M. I. T., rowing its second varsity race on the Hudson.

A crowd of almost 10,000 gazed at this downfall of the favored entries.
Washington and Navy, equal choice in the betting at odds of 3-2, were nowhere in the race after the first mile.

The hero of the race was Bob Wilson Jr., of Montclair, N. J., who stroked in the first varsity race of his career. Cornell, lost its captain and stroke, Hod Shoemaker, because of illness a few weeks ago, had to use Young Freshman crew last year and who started this season in the third string boat at the all-important stroke position.

Judy. There was something akin to madness under the arid of his splendid eyes. "That rich man has taken up all your time."

Dan here brought her food and coffee, and Bastien had to give his order.

"Bastien, have you any news?" Judy asked, when he had finished. "I have, as it happens—the first bit of luck for years. I've sold 'The Dream of the Apache.'"

"Splendid!" She clapped her hands. "I always said it was a fine picture."

"What's the good?" he asked bitterly. "What does it matter to me? I never see you now, Judy."

"But, Bastien, I have to work, I have to live."

"Need you see so much of that brute in order to live, Judy?" "I don't understand you!" she exclaimed furiously.

"Oh, yes, you do! I mean the man you brought to the Lemon Grove, the man you have dinner and luncheon with in expensive restaurants."

"Bastien, I don't like your tone," she said frigidly.

"And I don't like your going on, Judy. The yare hateful. He's not a man you ought to go about with. I've been hearing things—"

"You mean you're been spying on me?" she interrupted. "Judy, don't look at me like that! He's a millionaire. You're a poor girl. He hasn't a good reputation. What can he want with you? Don't be angry. I'm a man, and I understand the world better, Judy—"

He gazed at her in miserable appeal.

Her fiery spirit was up in arms. She could hardly think for rage. So Bastien, her best friend, was accusing her of philandering with Bruce Gideon because he was rich, of behaving like a girl who was no better than she should be!

She went white and rigid, and turned on him an annihilating stare.

"My meetings with Mr. Gideon are purely of a business nature," she said icily. "I am taking up dancing as a career, and he is advising me."

Thus did Judy burn her boats. She would not allow Bastien to discuss the matter further. Her mind was made up, she told him. She was tired of a model's life. It was such hard work, and one depended entirely on one's looks and one's health and the decency of one's employer. She was going to take up dancing. She didn't mind working hard, and there might be something in it. Mr. Gideon knew a lot about such things, and he was introducing her to a teacher.

That was all the information she vouchsafed. She ended by asking belligerently if Bastien wished to deny that she had talent for dancing.

Of course, Bastien was forced to admit that she could dance like an angel, and that no doubt, given a chance, she would make a tremendous success. It was plainly Bruce Gideon he could not get over; but Judy would hear no word against him. It was purely a business matter, she told Dumont. Gideon was very kind in giving her advice—that was all.

"A business matter?" exclaimed poor Bastien, with a groan. "Judy, are you deceiving yourself, or are you playing with me?" Was it on business that he came to the Lemon Grove and sat there and watched you dancing, and behaved as if you were his property, and we were all a set of queer animals who had nothing to do with you at all?"

"How could Mr. Gideon know whether I could dance unless he saw me?" was the cool reply. "You are prejudiced, Bastien. Mr. Gideon was very nice to you—all quite a sport, I thought him that night, because he must have felt a bit out of it."

There was nothing more for Bastien to say. He could only grit his teeth and swear a violent oath that if a hair of Judy's bright head were harmed, this meddlesome millionaire should reckon with him.

For the rest of the evening Judy was a reformed character, as far as he was concerned. She was nicer to him than she had ever been before. She allowed him to take her to the Lemon Grove, she danced every dance with him, and she walked slowly home with him.

At her door she finished his renewal of enslavement by holding his hand in both her little ones, looking up into his face with her great penny eyes full of affection, and saying with a catch in her husky voice:

"Bastien, you are a good sort! You're the best friend of them all!"

And she meant it.

Judy did not go into Chummy's room when she got home. It was almost the first time that she had gone to bed without ascertaining whether her friend was awake or asleep, and whether she could do anything for her. She was pretty late herself, so she was sure that Chummy was at home.

She had a small lamp in her room, which was burning, so she knew that Chummy had lit it. Without taking her things off, she sat down to think.

It was in anger that she had burned her boats; but the deed was done. A myriad thoughts flashed through her brain. She had a queer way of thinking in pictures so that she saw all her reasons flashed out as on a screen in her mind.

She saw her anger against Bastien—that was a very simple and complete picture. She saw herself on some vast stage, dancing on air, amid the plaudits of a multitude. She saw Bruce Gideon, the typical financier, delighted with his speculation, but quite oblivious to herself as a human being.

She saw Bastien on his knees before her, begging her forgiveness; but that, of course, she might have seen at any time.

Then she came to the more difficult thoughts—the more clouded pictures.

She saw herself hard at work, withdrawn from the orbit of Chummy and Alan Steyne. She saw her life as a straight gray thread, like the worsted with which one darns thick stockings. The lives of Alan and Chummy were a tangle of bright golden threads, and soon they began to weave themselves into a lovely fabric. It shone with a beautiful light, and Judy discerned in it at last a little home among the hills and a happiness before which she veiled her face.

That was her task—she saw it quite clearly—to get out of Chummy's life as much as she could. This new work would take up all her time. Chummy, left more or less alone, would soon drift away. She and Alan would marry, and they would live part of the time in Maine, and the rest of the time in all the wonderful places abroad where people went to die.

Here Judy heaved a deep sigh. She so longed to travel—she who had never been anywhere but to Newark, where she was born, and to New York, where she lived. She had posed to make so many pictures of places, and she might never see them. She resolved that when she was a great dancer—if she ever was one—she would see the whole wide world.

Next day she wrote to Gideon at his Park Avenue apartment. It was a guarded letter, dictated by her hard-won knowledge of men. It said that she was willing to entertain his offer under certain conditions.

He replied at once, asking her to come to lunch at his apartment, the following day, to meet M. Guarvenius, and named an hour.

Texas Cotton Crop Is Below Normal

DALLAS, June 27. — Texas' cotton crop is below normal at present because of the general need for a slow, drenching rain, the weekly cotton crop report of the Dallas Morning News said today.

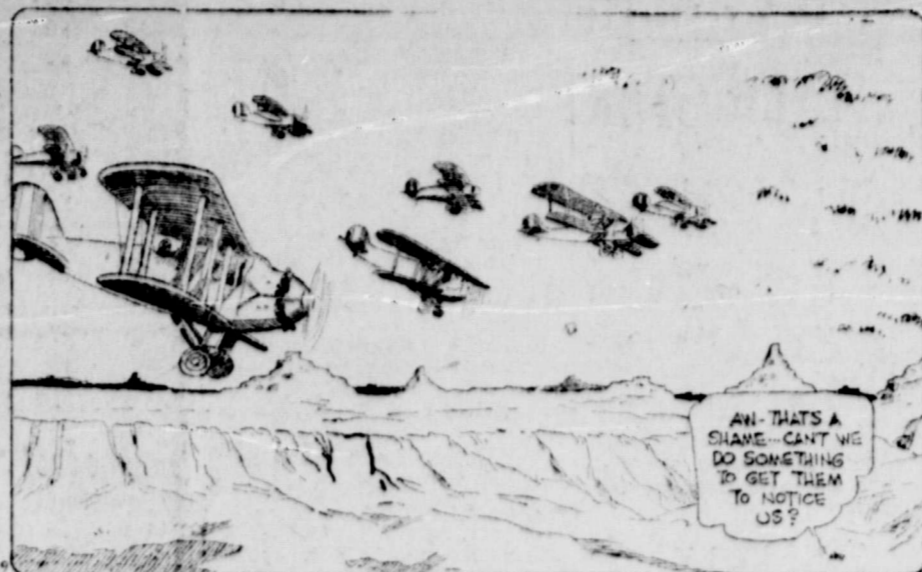

Late planting and unseasonable cool weather caused shallow rooting of the crop, and the intense heat prevailing has not overcome the handicap, the report said.

The Rio Grande valley has had excessive rains which has caused some damage by weevils, according to the report.

IN THE POLITICAL ARENA

COLEMAN, June 27. — Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, candidate for governor, addressed two West Texas audiences Thursday. He spoke in Coleman during the afternoon and at Abilene in the evening. Problems affecting West Texas were discussed.

GREENVILLE, June 27. — The state ad valorem tax is the most "unfair and unjust burden" the people of Texas are carrying, Earle B. Mayfield, democratic candidate for governor, said here last night. He said the tax falls on the class of people unable to pay and irrespective of their means.

COMANCHE, June 27. — Declaring that politicians cannot solve the farmer's problems, Clint C.

Small of Wellington, gubernatorial candidate, pleaded for cooperation between farmers and the federal farm board in an address here Thursday. Last night he spoke at Stephenville and stressed development of Texas natural resources.

JEFFERSON, June 27. — The people should not be denied the right to express themselves through the ballot on the question of a state road bond issue, Ross Sterling of Houston said in a campaign address here Thursday. "More than that," he added, "the politicians who oppose giving the people the right to decide the issue should at least be fair enough not to mislead the people by charging that I seek to saddle heavier taxes upon the farmers, the ranchman, the home owner and the business interests of the state." Sterling said one of the main purposes of the bond issue would be to relieve the people of the burden of road taxes.

BELLS, June 27. — Two addresses marked the gubernatorial campaign activities Thursday of Jim Young of Kaufman, during the afternoon he opened the 15th annual Bells picnic and last night he spoke at Gainesville. Young was introduced here by former State Senator Tom Wells who referred to him as "Texas' next governor."

Worn Out By A Short Walk

No Other Medicine or Treatment Did Eastland Woman Any Good Until She Tried Argotane.

"My wife had fallen off in weight and strength and at the time she started on Argotane was often so weak a short walk would completely exhaust her," said G. W. Daniel of Eastland, Texas, who works at the rock crusher in the southeast part of Eastland, Texas, recently.

"I fully agree with my wife now," Mr. Daniel continued, "that there is nothing as good as Argotane for people in the condition she was. She has gained in weight and strength by taking two bottles of it and she can now take a long walk or do her housework and never complain of feeling tired. She hasn't been like herself for several years and kept going down hill all the time. Her nerves became so shattered that she could never get a good night's rest and she had no appetite and after eating complained of terrible pains in the pit of her stomach and would bloat up so with gas that she couldn't get a good, long breath, as I said before, she couldn't sleep sound, got up in the morning feeling worse than when she laid down at night and complained of being tired out all the time."

"She was under treatment several times and took all kinds of medicine, but nothing helped her a particle until she began taking Argotane. I had read several testimonials for Argotane from people I knew and I decided to get my wife to try it. Well, it has proved a wise decision. She began picking up in just a few days and I could tell it was helping her before she finished her first bottle. From then on she kept gaining in strength and improving right along. She has now taken two bottles and is absolutely relieved of her stomach trouble. She has a fine appetite and is never bothered with gas or any signs of indigestion. Her nerves have gotten back to normal, she sleeps good every night and is in better health generally than she has been in five or six years. She is so elated over what Argotane has done for her that she is telling her friends to try it. Argotane certainly brings relief and I am glad to endorse it."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Cisco at the Dean Drug Store—Adv.
