JAKE FLEAGLE SHOT DOWN, CAPTURED

No Trace of Young Woman, Kidnaped Yesterday, Found

MOTHER OF VICTIM BOUND BY INTRUDER

Masked Man Forces Young Wife to Drive Off With Him

GREENFIELD, Mo., Oct. 14.—Officers, aided by a steadily increasing corps of volunteers, searched today for Mrs. Alma Wilkison, 24, daughter of Dade Wilkison, wealthiest citizen, who kidnaped from her home near last night.

Mrs. Wilkison, the girl's mother, alone with her daughter when a masked man, armed with a shotgun, forced the young woman to drive off with him. Mrs. Wilkison left bound and telephone wires to the house were cut by the kidnaper.

Mrs. Wilkison was an expectant mother. This fact was cited as probable basis for a belief by the abductor that he could obtain ransom from the girl's father.

The man at first demanded $25,000, Mrs. Wilkison told officers she was summoned after she herself and ran along a country road to a neighbor's house for help. "We told him there was none to be had," she said, "which one can drive off. When my daughter told me she could drive he tied me and made her drive away with him."

Anxious group was gathered at Wilkison home early today, waiting the need of rest after a long wait in which no encouraging word came from officers. They haven't found a trace of Alvin Karpis yet. Mrs. Wilkison told United Press, "We don't know his way to turn. Thus far there has been no word at all from my daughter."

At the Wilson home another search is under construction. It was built by Benton Wilson for his daughter and her husband. The husband aids his father-in-law in the feeding of livestock on the farm.

Will Present Talbot's Campaign in Cisco Next Thursday Evening

Col. H. H. Haines of Beaumont, well known speaker and republican candidate for governor in 1926, and Capt. J. F. Lacey, below campaign manager for Col. W. E. Talbot's campaign will speak in Cisco Thursday night, at the city hall presenting "Col Bill's" campaign.

FUNERAL OF R. A. SHORT IS NOT DECIDED

The body of R. A. Short, 30, of Big Spring, fireman who was killed when a fast Texas and Pacific express train was derailed near Dallas Sunday, arrived in Cisco on the Sunshine yesterday afternoon and is being held at the home of his father-in-law, A. D. Purvis, in Cisco, awaiting the arrival of two brothers from California. Funeral arrangements have been held up pending the arrival of these brothers, Ben and Wilmer Short.

Two Missionaries Die in Air Tragedy

NOME, Alaska, Oct. 14.—Two Jesuit missionaries and a pilot were dead here today, after their plane had crashed on the frozen tundra of northwestern Alaska.

MEETING OF COMMISSION HELD MONDAY

No Action Taken on the Garbage Bids or Cemetery Request

The city commission held its delayed meeting yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock with all commissioners in attendance. The minutes of the previous session were read and approved with exception that the wording referring to the action taken upon the city budget at the prior session was changed to read "budget read and approved for purpose of fixing tax rate," after strenuous objection was raised by Commissioner J. R. Burnett. The minutes stated that the budget had been adopted.

Request for Cemetery

A request of the cemetery board for $500 to augment a fund raised by the Cisco Daily News and local citizens to build an arkway at Oakwood cemetery and to start a stone fence on either side of the arkway, was heard by the commission. The cemetery is at present unprotected from trespassers and loose livestock. At the request of J. T. Berry, finance commissioner, action on the matter was referred to the next meeting, which is scheduled for Friday afternoon.

New Pump House

The commission, on motion of Mr. Pee, instructed City Engineer J. G. Reagan to advertise for bids on the construction of a new pump house just below the dam on Lake Cisco. The new house will take the place of a temporary one. The commission also authorized the drawing of an ordinance which will increase the radii of street intersections from the old standard of six feet to a minimum of 12 feet in the downtown district; 15 feet on 60-foot streets; 22 feet on 80-foot streets and 6 feet on alleys. The radii of alley intersections is now 3 feet. All future work will be done in accord with these specifications. The improvement was recommended by the city engineer who pointed out that the longer radii will give broader turns, more room for cars and a better view of the intersections from the approaches.

Widening Street

The commission also authorized the widening of J avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets to conform with the blocks on either side and instructed the city engineer to advertise for bids on curbs along the street. It was specified by the commission that local labor be used in all this construction work, clauses to this effect to be embodied in such contracts as are let.

Cisco Pythians to Meet This Evening

The Cisco lodge of the Knights of Pythias will meet this evening. There will be visiting members and all Cisco Pythians are urged to be present. Refreshments will be served.

LAKE RECEIVES FOUR AND ONE-HALF FEET OF RUN-OFF DURING THE LAST TWO RAINS

Lake Cisco caught a total of four and one-half feet of water during the last two rains. During the last weekend, when 2.5 inches fell on Monday night, the lake received three and one-half feet of water. The previous weekend when 3.2 inches fell the level of the reservoir was raised one foot.

The comparison indicates the thirsty nature of the watershed soil before the first rain. Most of that which fell then soaked into the ground, since the precipitation was uniformly slow. During the rain Saturday, Sunday and Monday just past, however, there was considerable run-off as indicated by the rise in the lake level.

The volume of water which the lake received to raise it four and one-half feet can be judged from the records of the water department which show that the water level dropped only 13.25 feet in two years and 5 months. During that period the lake received practically no run-off. Incidentally a check on the duration of the drouthy period which was broken this month, can be had from these figures.

MORROW SAYS HOOVER WILL BE RE-ELECTED

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 14.—Dwight W. Morrow, hailed in the east as a presidential possibility in 1932, believes President Hoover will be re-nominated and re-elected.

Although the former ambassador is known to be a close friend of Mr. Hoover, prominent New Jersey leaders consider him a potential candidate for the White House, possibly in the next campaign. Morrow, in a speech opening his campaign for election to the senate, said such statements were unauthorized.

"I look forward with pleasure and with confidence to the opportunity of voting two years from now for the re-nomination and re-election of Herbert Hoover."

Morrow met the "prosperity" issue raised by his democratic opponent State Senator Alexander Simpson.

"All parties in the east, including the republican party, have been bent to credit themselves with whatever good times happened during their term of power, without look for the deeper reasons that underlie the ebb and flow of prosperity," he said.

REDUCTION OF OIL PRICES IN EXPECTATION

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Oct. 14.—An immediate downward revision of crude oil prices in the midcontinent field is being planned by major oil purchasers, the United Press was informed today on reliable authority.

A reduction of from 25 to 30 cents a barrel on all crude grades within 48 hours is expected, according to the information.

The anticipated cut is not being prompted by a reduction of from 25 to 31 cents a barrel on high grades, announced by the Champlin Refining company of Enid, it was learned.

Over-production caused by sensational development of flush oil areas in the nation together with season decline in demand was cited as factors influencing purchasers.

Co-Eds Ordered Vaccinated

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 14.—One hundred and fifty Northwestern university co-eds attended classes today, limping or displaying bandaged arms, after they had been vaccinated upon the orders of President Walter Dill Scott. It's their penalty for dancing with football heroes.

BRAZIL CLAIMS VICTORY OVER REBEL FORCE

ITABARE, SAO PAULO-PARANA FRONTIER, Brazil, Oct. 14.—Federal troops claimed a victory over Revolutionary forces today in an encounter at Ponte de Senegas on the border of Parana state, where the defense of the government stronghold and capital has been established.

General Miguel da Costa, commander of the Revolutionary troops in Parana, was reported killed, falling early in the battle and leaving the rebels leaderless. Many rebels were reported dead or wounded. Only six Federals were wounded.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS STILL ADVANCING

By C. A. POWELL. United Press Staff Correspondent. (Copyright 1930 by United Press.) ITABARE, SAO PAULO-PARANA BORDER, Brazil, Oct. 14.—Brazilian government troops continued their advance southward against the rebels today while federal forces occupied most of the Sao Paulo-Parana border, from Salto Grande to Rebelia.

Troops commanded by Col. Paes Andrade were reported approaching the rebel stronghold, Jaguarahyva in Parana. There was no evidence of the reported rebel concentrations on the border, and federal officials attributed the reports to rebel propaganda spread by radio.

Itabare, a small agricultural town, has assumed the appearance of a military outpost. Volunteers arrived from Sao Paulo and the entire region was filled with federal troops. Civil life virtually was at a standstill as trains brought troops and supplies into the area.

The federal volunteers, regular troops, and residents in the concentration zone went about the preparations for an attack on the rebels with an air of confidence and determination. There were no outward signs of frantic enthusiasm such as that reported from the south by rebel sources, but the federal forces obviously were loyal and confident.

CURTAILMENT CAUSES MORE OIL DECREASE

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 14.—Stringent oil curtailment enforced in Oklahoma and the Rocky mountain area resulted in further decreases in national daily average production of crude oil last week. Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Despite rises in California, west Texas and gulf coast yields daily average production declined 16,988 barrels to 2,361,657 barrels. The light oil decline was 15,962 barrels to 35,030 while heavy decreased 30 barrels to 5,245.

Opponents of the proration scheme, who claim it is price fixing and not a conservation order, were cheered today by reports that Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum association of America and chairman of the Oklahoma Oil Operators committee, had said that he believed that figures in the supplemental proration petition are incorrect.

The supplemental petition asking for an extension of proration orders by the corporation commission until December 31, was filed. It provides that market demand for Oklahoma crude is 550,000 barrels a day in October 545,000 barrels in November and 535,000 in December.

Franklin, said he believed the demand should be between 600,000 and 700,000 barrels a day, alleging that Collins' estimates did not include approximately 100,000 barrels a day being taken from storage in the state.

WILL GO TO THE BOTTOM

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Oct. 14.—Opponents of oil proration in Oklahoma announced today through attorneys they intended to "go to the bottom" of the question in the present hearing before the state corporation commission.

"We are in this fight to stay," said B. M. Parmenter, an attorney for protesters. "We will not quit until we show that proration is as unfair as we claim it is."

LITTLE HOPE IS HELD FOR DESPERADO

Two-Year Search for Last of the Family Is Ended

BRANSON, Mo., Oct. 14.—Little Jake Fleagle, the west's most hunted desperado, was shot down and captured on a train here today when he refused to surrender to officers who had converged upon him from four states.

"Little Jake" fell with a bullet through his stomach when he whipped out two guns in answer to a command to raise his hands. One of 23 officers who had come to trap him beat him to the draw and he was carried unconscious from the passenger car.

Fleagle was given to the care of a Branson physician who did not expect him to live. His capture marked the end of a two year search for the last of the notorious Fleagle family, western Kansas, whose mysteriously rich and horseless horse ranch was revealed as a rendezvous for Colorado and Kansas bank robbers.

Little Jake was wanted particularly for participating in the murderous First National bank robbery of Lamar, Colo., in 1928 and on suspicion as the bandit who held up a Southern Pacific train near Pittsburg, Calif., in June, 1929 and obtaining $17,000.

Twenty-three officers, closing in on a trail which had been followed relentlessly for two years across the country and into Mexico, came to get him at Branson today.

Court Acts Quickly in Murder Charge

CENTERVILLE, Mich., Oct. 14.—Less than 18 hours after they walked into a bank at Battle Creek yesterday afternoon and robbed it, James Gallagher of Toledo, and Thomas Martin of Chicago today were sentenced to life imprisonment at Jackson. After robbing the bank they killed State Trooper John Burke in fleeing through the state. It was on the murder charge that they entered their plea.

"Scoutcraft has proved its worth in Marshall," says a story in today's news.

THIRTY-SIX THOUSAND LIVES.

The United States is on its way toward establishing a new high record for deaths due to the automobile...

Recklessness and carelessness are still the modern "rules of the road." Hundreds of thousands of incompetents are allowed full use of the public highways.

This last factor—that of incompetence—is probably largely responsible for our gigantic record of fatalities.

Another crying need, in most states, is for modernization and revision of traffic ordinances.

We have no more serious problem than that of automobile accident prevention. It affects every citizen and is a vital element in the life of every community.

The discriminatory features of such legislation have long been used as an argument by the opponents of the gasoline tax.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Frank Phillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum company, one of Oklahoma's outstanding citizens who has been a leader in the development and progress of Oklahoma for many years, was recently adopted by the Osage Indians and named "Huliah-Ki-Ho-Kah."

The ceremonial through which he was adopted by the Osage Indians, the first white man ever so honored, was made during the tenth annual reunion and entertainment by Mr. Phillips of characters who have played an important part in the early history of Oklahoma and now again at the "Cow" Times and Osage Association.

Indian tradition requires the gift of a pony, a saddle, and feather to any newly made chief. In this connection, the saddle presented to Mr. Phillips has been in the family of Osage Chief Lookout for over 400 years.

It is interesting to see how the Indians appreciate past favors. Chief Lookout's gift to his adopted chief was made as a token of his affection and that of his tribe for Mr. Phillips, who has done so much in the development of the oil lands in the Osage nation.

Page, House Clerk, Says That Congress Has Had Little Change Over Fifty Year Period

By NATHAN ROBERTSON, United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The personnel of the present congress compares favorably with that of former congresses, and is superior to many in industry and personal integrity.

Page will soon begin his 50th year as an attaché of the House. He has known personally from 5,000 to 6,000 congressmen during that period.

Although Page contends the type of men sent to congress has not changed much, he says their appearance has changed radically.

"Up to 40 years ago," he said, "it seemed to be the aim of congress to legislate as little as possible through apprehension of passing bad laws.

"Page was asked what man, in his opinion, had wielded more power than any other during his service.

After some thought, he named James R. Mann, former republican floor leader from Illinois.

He was the most powerful man as a legislator," Page said. "His grasp of parliamentary law, and legislation covered a wider range of thought and study than any other man."

Page said two scenes stood out in his mind as the most dramatic during his service.

One was when Speaker Tom Reed of Maine established a new rule in the House and made it possible to break up filibusters by counting the members present whether they actually answered to their names.

The other, was when Tama Jim Wilson of Iowa, voluntarily surrendered his fight to retain his seat, which was contested thus breaking a filibuster in time to let congress pass before adjournment.

ment the bill retiring General Grant as a lieutenant general. The first incident occurred in 1880 during the 46th congress. The second came at the end of the 48th congress in the closing hours of the session and just before the inauguration of Cleveland.

These two incidents even surpassed in excitement the times when President Wilson read his message asking for declaration of war against Germany and the actual vote to declare war. Page said, because the excitement at those times was more suppressed.

Riot Threat Is Believed Averted

STE. GENEVIEVE, Mo., Oct. 14.—Order prevailed here today as only two negro families remained under the protection of national guardsmen and possibility of the race riot threatened yesterday was believed averted.

Approximately 150 negroes left yesterday after being warned by a group of white men to leave town by 3 o'clock. Racial feelings were running high Sunday and Monday after three negroes, one a woman, confessed to the slaying of Harry Panchot, Ste. Genevieve, and the serious wounding of his companion Paul R. Cullfield ordered detachments of national guardsmen from De Soto and Festus.

Record-Seeking Fliers Still Delay

AMARILLO, Oct. 14.—Atmosphere described as "thick as soup" can't see 20 feet" by the English airport manager caused further delay in the record-seeking cross country flights of Robert Buck, 16, of New Jersey, and Laura Ingalls of St. Louis.

Miss Ingalls is attempting to establish a west-east transcontinental speed record for women and Buck is attempting to break the west-east junior record made last summer by Eddie Schneider.

Unless the ceiling lifts promptly, the two were not expected to get off on their hop to Wichita, Kan., this morning.

Loboes Go Against Strong Big Spring Squad Friday

TURKNETT TO BE HELD OUT OF CONTEST

Game Will Be Played at 8 o'Clock Under Floodlights Here

Edman Hard Luck has struck a blow at the Lobo camp. A time he picked on Turknett, a string quarter and one of the most valuable players on the squad, was hurt when he was held merely out of bounds by members of the Spur secondary line the game last Saturday night. The extent of his injuries was not determined. It was at that time that some of his ribs were cracked, but examination showed that this was not the case. He will not play in the Big Spring game and it is extremely unlikely he will be used against Breckenridge next week. His canny fieldmanship has been one of the reasons for the high scoring record that Loboes have set this season and absence from the field in succeeding games will be felt.

It was at Turknett's expense without Turknett that the Loboes will meet the strong Big Spring eleven here Friday evening under floodlights. Big Spring only week held the champion Breckenridge Backaroos to a two-touchdown margin of victory. They have both Eastland and Mineral Wells and appear to be improving strength as the season ages.

The Loboes bring a heavy team to Cisco Friday night. The line backs between 170 and 175 pounds and the backfield is fast. Heavy Flowers, already featured in all-district material, feasted the game with Breckenridge an 82-yard run to a touchdown kick-off.

Lobo fans will remember the Lobo game with Big Spring last year. They will remember that the Loboes had a deadly passing attack. Their aerial offense was making the Loboes look like monkeys. They will remember that the Big Spring eleven was and that it had a backfield that did run like scared rabbits. The year of 1929 has kept most of the Loboes and seems to have considerable improvement.

The game with the Steers was originally scheduled to be played at Big Spring but the lure of a larger under the floodlights of Chesfield led the school authorities that city to agree to a transfer to the local gridiron.

BIG DAM CHATTER

Those who have not been taking the game with the Big Spring Steers here next Friday evening seriously should consider the Steers' performance against Breckenridge last Saturday, when the Big Spring boys held the last year co-champions to three touchdowns and scored one themselves. That is a performance that should gain them the respect of any of the first division class A elevens in the district.

There is an inclination to discredit the strength of the Backaroos eleven on that showing. But one can also figure that the Steers are not so weak themselves. True they lost to Abilene 33 to 0 but there is an explanation for that. After the Abilene game the Steers came back and turned over the dope bucket by defeating Mineral Wells at Mineral Wells and Mineral Wells only last Friday had an easy time with the Brownwood eleven, downing the Lions 31 to 0 in a night game on the Lions own field.

According to advance information the Steers will bring a hefty squad to Cisco Friday night. The squad has weight and power. That it has speed and versatility is indicated by the 82-yard run which Flowers made in returning a Backaroo kick-off to a touchdown last Friday, and by its dangerous passing attack.

In spite of all the reports that have been going around concerning the strength of the Backaroo squad it may as well be admitted now as later that the 1929 Breckenridge squad with P. E. Shotwell at the helm isn't going to be a breeze for anybody. Most estimations of opposing football teams are based purely on sentiment. This column is certainly not going to let any sentiment in behalf of his home team blind it to the threat of the green wave that had such an efficacious "prayer" last year. With a fellow like Boyce Magness in the backfield, running behind a powerful forward wall, with plenty of material and a center who has the distinction of talking two separate schools to a state championship, it would be foolhardy to adopt the attitude of the Big Spring scribe in saying that the 1929 Backaroos are "going about as far in this man's race as Brownwood."

No, my lad, we are going to say that the Backaroos defeated Big Spring 19 to 0 which is plenty to keep their record clear. We are not going to say why the score was lower than was predicted; our inclination is to credit the Big Spring eleven with more strength than was expected. Perhaps there were other reasons. Big Spring is large enough to have a strong team. The Steers had some wonderful material when they played Cisco last year. They should have a strong eleven this year.

The Loboes may swamp them here Friday night. But they haven't done so yet and we are inclined to believe that Big Spring doesn't think that the Cis can will vanquish them by any unholy score.

Buchies Not So Hot, Says Bobbie

BOBBY CAMPBELL in the Big Spring Herald. It is a very good thing the Breckenridge Backaroos won a co-championship in 1929. For in 1930 they're going about as far in this man's race as Brownwood, comparatively speaking on a basis of the difference in the two aggregations. The Big Spring Steers—the ones that lost to Abilene 33 to 0 went out Saturday afternoon and combed down the feathers of the Buchies if Buchies have feathers. It was a far cry from the 53 to 0 thrashing the Bucs handed to the Steers last year. We hope the deposters over the district hand an ear. We were never more honest in our life—and we've been pretty honest along football lines. The Steers might have beaten the Bucs Saturday. The Bucs looked like anything, but a championship team. It will take Cisco not more than a couple of quarters, and Ranger equally as long, to have the green and white trailing in the only dust of the belt.

It was all Magness. Gone was the able assistance of 1929 given by Graham and Pruitt. Gone was that impregnable interference that boosted Magness into the limelight of high school football. Gone was everything that resembled the 1929 machine, except Boone Magness—playing a lone game with his passing, punting, running attacks. Slapp was good, but not good enough, and more than once was smeared at the line of scrimmage. Hinrichs did not carry the mail a single time. Adams, to be honest, just wasn't. Captain Griffin was good, but Pardue taught him things about the west and all it holds. No, the Backaroos aren't headed along any championship line this year. There are too many detours.

Bill Flowers pranced himself further into an all-district assignment Saturday. His 82 yard tick across the country was one of the prettiest we have witnessed in a couple of years. And the way Captain Rogers carried that final thrust out of the play was enough to brand him as a player that would have his teammates follow in his footsteps. Breckenridge didn't like being scored on. To save our neck, we can't blame Breckenridge in the least.

Slime Hill, Weldon Chapman's right hand man, scouted the game for the Loboes. "We've nothing, not a thing, for us," mourned Hill about his Loboes. "But at that we've got enough to beat Breckenridge."

Incidentally, there were scouts from Ranger, Angelo, and probably other places, watching the game and grinning grins. "Stop Magness and you've stopped Breckenridge was the way they put it. Could they have put it better?"

SPORT SHOTS

AUSTIN, Oct. 14. — Unless a six suddenly descends on the Longhorn camp, Coach Clyde Littlefield will be prepared to throw the full strength of his Steer squad against the mighty Sooners from Oklahoma at Fair Park stadium in Dallas Saturday. Scrimmage sessions against the Prosh were slated this afternoon.

Although the Longhorns emerged quite handsly with a comfortable margin in the tussle with the Yellow Jackets last weekend, there are yet some rough edges to their defense to be rounded out before the Soccer open up their deadly running attack featuring Mills and Warren.

DALLAS, Oct. 14. — Having personally scouted the Bruins of Baylor university in their clash with Trinity last Saturday, Coach Ray Morrison returned to the Mustang training camp Monday keenly aware that Harris and Jake Wilson, Bear speed merchants, would give his Pointes a great deal to think about next Saturday when the two teams open their part of the conference race with a battle in Waco. Morrison is depending on defeating the Bears by a well-timed aerial attack, practice sessions for the Pointes indicated Monday. Saturday's fray loomed even more difficult with the announcement that Weldon Mason, halfback, and Malcolm Powell, first string center will be out of the Bruin battle.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14. — Confident that their running attack which pounded hole after hole in the red-jerseyed Razorbacks from Arkansas last Saturday will prove equally effective against the Aggies this weekend, the Horned Frogs of T. C. U. were trimming up their aerial attack Monday and today in preparation for the annual grudge fight.

Butler and Roberson, placed on the injured list by the heavy Razorbacks, will be ready for the Farmers' fray Saturday, reports from the Frog camp said today.

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 14. — Each once more in their own domain to prepare for the Texas Christian university gridsters, the Texas Aggies were reviewing today the lessons learned from Tulane in Dallas last Saturday. Keenly aware of their deficiency and their powers, the Farmers began with a zest their preparations to bang one of the biggest seasons' dents into the dope bucket Saturday. From the varied training which is mapped out for the Aggies this week, they will employ a deadly combination of running and aerial attacks.

FITE RESULTS
DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 14. — Mickey Walker, 165, world middleweight champion, knocked out Mike Mandell, 178, Minnesotan (1).

CHICAGO, Oct. 14. — Mickey Patrick, 165, Chicago, defeated Chester Bush, 164, Chicago, (6); Juan Lira, 133 1-2, Dallas, Tex., defeated Frankie O'Farrell, 135, Chicago, (4).

Cowboys Start Grind for Hill Billies

ABILENE, Oct. 14. — For the second time in as many weeks the Simmons University Cowboys were forced to begin their week's practice indoors as a cold, drizzle rained down on Parramore field Monday. With games falling on Friday and the early part of the week too wet for outdoor practice, Coach Cranfill's men are having trouble in getting into the finished form which they hoped to attain by this time.

Although Coach Cranfill expressed no regret over the 0-0 tie with St. Edwards here Friday night, there is no doubt that he expects better things of his men by the time they meet Howard Payne college in the next Texas conference game at Brownwood, Oct. 24. The Cowboys showed plenty of power against the Saints except when they were inside the ten yard line zone, but there failed completely.

While they chalked up 15 first downs the Saints were registering one on a pass, but the records show them to be equal in the conference race just the same. One element which was overlooked in the Saint game, however, was the marvelous punting of Bomba which made it necessary every time for the Cowboys to drive from 90 to 70 yards in order to near the goal line. And it's not every team that can carry a ball over after expending that much energy.

With one eye cocked on the Yellow Jacket game, the Cowboys are not over looking the fighting Daniel Baker Hill Billies whom they meet here Friday night. With all his men in good shape, Cranfill hopes to have his machine working better this week.

JUST HOW SAFE ARE YOU AT HOME?

If YOU think of danger in terms of trains, steamships, airplanes, automobiles, machinery and the like, please remember that more than 7,000 lives were lost last year in American homes as a result of fire.

More than 60 per cent of all fires occur in homes. The "safety" of your hearthstone loses some of its assurance when you consider this record of tragedy.

To improve such conditions the Stock Fire Insurance companies—representing the great bulk of fire insurance written in this country—maintain many helpful services.

SHIPMENTS OF SEPTEMBER STOCK CLIMB

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Drouth conditions in the range country which became critical early in September were not relieved until after forced shipments of live stock had been made from some of the more hard-pressed areas, according to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. Instead of decreasing seasonably in September, cattle receipts at Fort Worth increased 44 per cent as compared to August, when shipments had already reached larger than average figures. Arrivals of sheep also increased sharply, but at least a part of this movement was seasonal.

The outlook for the winter as indicated by the October 1 report of the Bureau of Crop and Live Stock estimates was greatly modified by generous rains a few days later, but the final value of rainfall so late in the season depends largely on the date of killing frost. While the pressure to sell immediately has been relieved, September 13 is generally accepted as the latest date at which adequate moisture will guarantee normal winter grazing.

On October 1, condition of cattle ranges was the same as a month earlier, 67 per cent of normal, compared to 81 per cent on October 1 a year ago and a five-year average of 85.8 per cent. Sheep and goat ranges were 65 per cent of normal on October 1 down 13 points from September 1 and 13 points under the October 1, 1929, figure. This compares with an 87.2 per cent five-year average. Cattle at 75 per cent of normal, was 3 points under the September 1 figure, and compared with 83 per cent on October 1 last year and a five-year average of 87.2 per cent. Sheep were 74 per cent of normal, 2 points under the September 1 figure and 10 points under the figure for October 1, 1929. This compared with an 88.8 per cent five-year average. Goats were down 3 points from the September figure of 80 per cent, and compared with 87 per cent on October 1, 1929, and a five-year average of 91.4 per cent.

The year to date has been an erratic one for range animal producers. The spring was dry, following a severe winter and extensive preparations had been made to move cattle to the Oklahoma and Kansas grazing areas when light rains provided sufficient grass for the summer. Deliveries to market have been below average all year, and in spite of heavy September shipments, total receipts of cattle up to October 1 were 13 per cent less than during a similar period in 1929. Calf sales have fallen off under the same conditions but in a smaller measure. Movement of sheep, influenced by poor prices and the small lamb crop in the spring as well as adverse weather conditions was almost 20 per cent less up to October 1 of 1929 than 1929.

Shipments of hogs which usually increase sharply during September as compared to August declined slightly this year, though the previous month was light. The average weight per animal was 13 per cent greater, however.

Cattle receipts at Fort Worth during September were 84,425 head bringing the total for the first nine months of the year to 471,961 head, compared to 87,824 head in September last year and a total for the first nine months of 542,755 head. Receipts during August were 59,619 head.

Calves received at Fort Worth in September totaled 32,143 head, compared to 26,701 head in August and 44,281 head in September a year ago. The total for the year to date was 215,794 head, compared to 197,081 for the same period last year.

Hog receipts were 15,334 head, compared to 15,964 head in August and 25,914 in September a year ago with a total for the year to date of 230,652, compared to 330,785 for the same nine months of last year. Sixp numbered 54,193 head, compared to 18,159 head in August and 49,398 head in September last year, with a total for the year to date of 356,265 head, compared to 440,364 for the first nine months of 1929.

Prices for cattle and sheep steadied late in August and rose slightly during September. The hog market which has been firm all year advanced almost one per cent per pound during September. Prices for cattle and sheep steadied late in August and rose slightly through the next few weeks, but this improvement did not apply uniformly to Texas producers. The market for mature fed steers fluctuated uncertainly, and feeders to whom the bulk of Texas cattle is sold, bought only after prices had been staided on all animals except the best grade. Quotations on steers averaged around $3.00 per hundred below 1929 figures. Trading grew brisk toward the close of the month, but total purchases at the Kansas City yards for feeding operations remain 27 per cent less than up to the same date last year.

White House Aroused at Suggestion That Hoover Speech Might Reflect Intolerance

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The White House is aroused at suggestions that President Hoover's recent utterances could be interpreted as opposed to religious tolerance.

A further statement was promised from the executive officers today in answer to the allegation of the Rev. John J. Burke, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare conference, that Mr. Hoover violated "the spirit if not the letter of his oath of office" in a recent letter to Lutherans.

To prove his good faith, the president was planning to make public a letter he sent a few days ago to Cardinal Mundelein of the Roman Catholic church for presentation to the coming Eucharistic congress, the United Press was reliably informed.

The attitude of Mr. Hoover was made clear in a statement issued last night by George Akerson, his secretary.

"Is Injustice"
"Any such suggestion of implication as that made by Father Burke is an injustice both to the president's own sentiments and the complete religious tolerance he has always felt and has always advocated both publicly and privately," Akerson said.

The secretary to the president indicated Mr. Hoover might consider the phrasing of the Lutheran letter to Cardinal Mundelein and its expression of his sentiments in at least one particular, but that he was prepared to accept full responsibility for it. It was prepared by a secretary.

Mr. Hoover is interested in correcting any misinterpretations of the document, it was said, especially in view of some similar editorial criticism because of a phrase in his Kings Mountain speech last week, in which he said this country is "largely religious in origin."

The Akerson reply was made public a few hours after the National Welfare council quoted Father Burke in part as follows:
"Does Matter"
"It does matter very much to the whole constitutional structure of our country and its institutions, that the president of all the people, who is called by virtue of his office to respect the religious rights of all, congratulates one particular religious body on the changes it introduced from older conceptions of religion and government and declares that we as a nation should commemorate the treasonous persons and the events from which these mighty forces events are reflected in our national life and institutions, in religion through the predominant number of adherents to Protestant faiths and in government through the principal of separation of church and state. It is fitting that we should commemorate the persons and events from which these mighty forces have sprung."

The letter of the president stated:
"I send cordial greetings to the Americans of Lutheran faith who are celebrating on October 31, the anniversary of the Protestant reformation and the 400th anniversary of the reading of the Augsburg confession, from which date so many of the changes in point of view from older conceptions both of religion and government."

"The effects of these historical events are reflected in our national life and institutions, in religion through the predominant number of adherents to Protestant faiths and in government through the principal of separation of church and state. It is fitting that we should commemorate the persons and events from which these mighty forces have sprung."

IRISH - TECH GAME BEST OF WEEK'S CARD

By HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Saturday's national football program is generally sprinkled with big games involving big names, but it shouldn't take little Johnny way back on the last row more than a second to name the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech rumpus at South Bend as the week's best.

Granting that Army and Harvard Alabama and Tennessee, Dartmouth and Columbia, and Wisconsin and Pennsylvania to mention a few, will create plenty of excitement, Notre Dame and Carnegie should surpass them all in thrills.

A national championship may ride on that game Saturday and nobody knows it better than Knute Rockne and Judge Steffen, the rival coaches.

Carnegie Tech, by way of warning to the Irish, defeated Georgia Tech last week 31 to 0. The Georgia Tech bunch was not the Georgia Tech of several seasons back, but a pretty fair team, nevertheless.

Notre Dame "warmed-up" for Carnegie by defeating Southern Methodist University and Navy. Notre Dame, in whipping the Methodists, proved that Carnegie won't win by a passing attack.

The affair at Cambridge will bring together two untied elevens. Army looked good against Furman and Swarthmore, but that means nothing; Harvard seemed strong against Coast Guard and Springfield, and that means less. Saturday will mark the first time either eleven has met real opposition and the outcome is a toss-up.

In another intersectional game, New York University's galloping sophomores meet Missouri in what should be a runaway for the New Yorkers. The Missourians have yet to score this season.

Other intersectional games Saturday include George Washington vs. South Dakota at Washington; Furman vs. Davis Elkins at Greenville, S. C., and Mexico University vs. Union University at Mexico City.

TEXAS PEPS FOR CONTEST WITH SOONERS

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—"Beat the Sooners" has begun to boom over the University of Texas campus with the approach of the first big game of the year, and for the first time of the year football has taken hold of the school from Freshman to Senior. The rally held the night before the Howard Payne game was turned over almost entirely to yelling defiance to the Oklahoma team, old time rival of the Steers.

The Texas student body will turn out almost in entirety for the game, and special trains will be run in the afternoon and night of the day before the game over the Missouri Pacific and M-K-T lines.

The sixty-piece Longhorn band will go Friday afternoon with the Texas team.

Something new in the way of parades has been planned for Dallas, for the bands of both schools followed by the respective rooters will join in clattering traffic Saturday morning before the game.

The Baker Hotel will be the Dallas headquarters for the Oklahoma rooters, and the Adolphus will be the gathering place for the Longhorns.

Ticket sales for the Texas-Oklahoma game have mounted to something over 12,000 through the office of the Texas Athletic council alone, not counting the student sections which have been reserved. A crowd of around 30,000 is expected to file through the turnstiles of the new Fair Park stadium, which was opened by the Aggie-Tulane clash October 10. Last year only a little over 10,000 fans could crowd into the old wooden bowl to see the Steers and Sooners play.

Glorious Voice of John McCormack to Be Heard in Picture at Palace Today

In "Song O' My Heart," his first motion picture, the voice of John McCormack, the world's greatest lyric tenor, sings eleven numbers, logically introduced in the action of the delightful lyrical romance, which comes to the Palace theater today.

Through the medium of Fox movietone, the voice that has always been proclaimed great is considered to be made greater via the singing screen.

"Little Boy Blue" is based on the poem by Eugene Field and set to music by Ethelbert Nevin. In singing "Little Boy Blue," Frank Borzage, who directed "Song O' My Heart" has deftly introduced a pictorial effect of a little boy, his dog and his toy soldiers, giving an added human touch.

"I Hear You Calling Me" which is so identified with the great tenor that he rarely fails to include it as an encore during his concert programs, is a composition of Charles Marshall with lyrics by Harold Harford. "Rose of Tralee" is a Glover-Ditson number.

"Song O' My Heart" is the story of a broken romance, which made the life of McCormack, a young and ambitious singer in Ireland. The girl, Alice Joyce, marries another, becomes the mother of a boy and girl and is deserted by John McCormack, the world's greatest lyric tenor, sings eleven numbers, logically introduced in the action of the delightful lyrical romance, which comes to the opening night of his concert tour, he has a strange premonition that something is wrong across the seas. After the concert he learns that his former sweetheart died in Ireland approximately at the time a great audience was acclaiming his singing of "I Hear You Calling Me." He abandons the concert tour, goes back to Ireland and sees that the daughter of the woman he had always loved is happily married to the young man of her choice.

In addition to Miss Joyce, the supporting company includes such favorites as Maureen O'Sullivan, J. M. Kerrigan, John Garrick, Forrest MacDonald, Effie Ellsler, and Tommy Clifford.

Board Hears Ft. Worth School Plea

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Acts such as closing the Diamond Hill senior high school and forcing children to go over dangerous crossings to another school are what cause communism, Clarence F. Farmer of Fort Worth told the state board of education here yesterday in an impassioned plea to the board to overrule the Fort Worth school board and State School Superintendent S. M. N. Marrs.

Using a blackboard, Farmer traced the actual path traveled by people to reach the North Fort Worth high school and contrasted it with the air line distance between the schools which R. M. Rowland quoted in defense of the board action.

Reference to possible efforts to bring the strong Diamond Hill football talent into North Fort Worth was ruled out of the record when State School Superintendent S. M. N. Marrs said there was no such testimony. A decision may be delayed several days while members of the board read the record of a hearing held at Fort Worth.

CHECK VOLUME IN SEPTEMBER ABOVE AUGUST

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Volume of checks cashed by banks in Texas in September was larger than in August, but the increase was less than 10 per cent, compared to 24 per cent in the same period last year, according to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. This small seasonal improvement follows a year's business to date 30 per cent less than during the first nine months of last year. The September total was 24 per cent less than that of the same month of 1929.

Total deposits increased by slightly less than 2 per cent during September as compared to August, but the amount subject to withdrawal on demand decreased by 45 per cent. Time deposits increased during the same period by 34 per cent. This shift in the character of total deposits was in evidence in August and became more pronounced during the following month with time items making up 65 per cent of the total in September, compared to 36 per cent the previous month and 33 per cent the same month last year. This tendency has not appeared throughout the country. However, at present the rate of interest paid on time deposits at many banks is greater than the return on high grade bonds at current prices.

Indebtedness of member banks to the Federal Reserve Bank was reduced by one-third during September. Total loans made by individual banks to outstanding in dividend banks to customers increased by 36 per cent. Whether this increase in loans at a time when liquidation of agricultural paper usually is well under way reflects an effort on the part of bankers to finance the holding of cotton with the expectation of using the specially arranged Federal Reserve facilities for such a program is problematical. Classification of these advances as reported to the Federal Reserve Bank shows that while loans called "all other" which include agricultural production paper, increased 43 per cent, loans on securities also increased though by only 2 per cent.

In spite of the September increase total loans of individual banks remain almost 10 per cent less than during September last year. Government securities owned increased by 15 per cent during the month.

Debits to individual accounts for the four weeks ending September 24, as reported to the Federal Reserve board from banks in seven-week cities of the state, were $730,000,000 as compared to $693,000,000 during a comparable period in August, and $988,000,000 for a similar period in September 1929. Total deposits on September 24 were $127,000,000 of which $279,000,000 were time and $148,000,000 were on demand as compared with a total of $420,000,000 at a like time in August, of which $151,000,000 were time and $269,000,000 were on demand. The total at a similar date in September last year was $132,000,000 of which $141,000,000 were time deposits and $287,000,000 were on demand.

Borrowings from the Federal Reserve system on September 24 totaled $2,000,000 as compared with $2,000,000 on a comparable date in August and $24,000,000 at a comparable time in September, 1929.

Total loans on September 24 were $349,000,000 compared to $328,000,000 at a like time in August, and $376,000,000 on a comparable date in September, 1929. Of these loans, $98,000,000 were on security in September compared to $96,000,000 in August and $105,000,000 in September last year. Other loans totaled $242,000,000 in September and $232,000,000 in August as compared to $271,000,000 in September last year.

Government securities owned amounted to $69,000,000 on September 24 as compared to $60,000,000 at a similar time in August, and $77,000,000 at a comparable time in August and $77,000,000 at a comparable time in September, 1929.

Talbot Wears All Made-in-Texas Clothes

In accordance with Bill Talbot's program, "Texas Products for Texas" and "Keeping Texas Money in Texas," the above picture shows him with a complete outfit of Texas-made garments utilizing Texas cotton. The hat was made by the Florence Hat Company of Dallas, Texas; the suit, shirt, necktie, sock and undergarments were made by the Pool Manufacturing Company of Sherman, Texas. The suit retail for approximately $15.00 and at the present price of 10c per pound for cotton, there is about 15c worth of cotton in this suit. Had the suit been purchased, as is done by a lot of unthinking people, from mail-order houses, the 15c would have been the net profit to Texas and the $14.85 would have been contributed to the prosperity of the North and East.

By purchasing these clothes in Texas, the entire amount remains in Texas to be distributed among Texas farmers, Texas laborers, Texas manufacturers and Texas merchants. If we will all buy clothes made of Texas cotton from Texas merchants, the increased consumption of Texas cotton from Texas merchants, the increased purchasing power of Texas laborers and Texas merchants to where they can buy more of the farmer's other products at a better price.

Texas has been in the position of two men who owned a cow. One claimed the front half of the cow, and the other the milking end. So one of the men fed the cow while the other got the milk. The man who was feeding finally got wise and quit feeding his end. The other end fed. This is the position of Texas today. The time has come to quit feeding the cow for the North and East to milk. Let's spend all our money in Texas for Texas-made products where all of us will have a chance to get a portion of it back. Only by doing this will we ever build the state of Texas into a vast empire in which we can all be prosperous and happy.

Midget Clown to Appear in Circus

Who would object to being a clown especially if they were as popular with the ladies as George Heimon? He is one of the midget "jocks" with the Gentry Brothers Shows, announced to appear in Cisco at 8 p.m. and night on Oct. 23. Heimon has a way with the girls, both young and old, and he is one of the most popular clowns on the Gentry Brothers shows.

Little George is an Indiana product, his home being in West Baden, where the Gentry Brothers shows spend the winter months. What he lacks physically, he makes up mentally, and he just bubbles over with fun.

There are 45 other clowns with the show, and their business is to make two laughs grow where only one grew before, and these funny rasals are very skillful at extracting grins, chuckles and sermons of laughter from the patrons of the Gentry Brothers shows, they are noted for their clean comedy, and also for their efforts at pleasing the little tots. The Gentry Brothers always insist on only the best in clowning.

The one outstanding feature with the Gentry Brothers show this season is the parade. Little George is the leader of the clown band, which is one of the many features in the parade.

OLD CAMPAIGN METHODS GIVE PLACE TO NEW

By HARRY W. FRANZ
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—High-power salesmanship by invisible salesmen is a feature of the political technique in the national congressional campaign of 1930.

The radio, the follow-up letter, and the "canned" publicity of professional writers have largely superseded the orator's forum, the personal appeal and the independent editorial opinion.

The earnest candidate now has to worry about static and the possibility that his address may not be concluded within the allotted time, between a jazz concert and the bed-time story, instead of hecklers.

Instead of going to the factories and shaking hands with workers, a candidate now may call in his stenographer and statistician, and dictate a tabular statement to be issued to a mailing list of 100,000 provided by a special bureau.

From the standpoint of its methods the campaign is not without merit. A senator can address a home town crowd by telephone and a radio broadcast without leaving the capital. He can make declarations without risking the orders of a debate. The radio, however, in turn, can turn the dial and remove himself from the realm of farm surpluses to the perhaps more interesting talk of a beauty specialist.

Sales Technique
Behind it all is the fact that rival parties are making a profitless effort, aided by modern sales technique, to sway the nation's mass mind. How far this technique is adapted to politics remains to be demonstrated.

Some of the candidates are not "old" on the newer political technique. Baby-kissing, handshaking and old-fashioned appeals for "the home" still have a timely importance in many districts. But the big political operators are thinking in terms of national "hookups" and 100,000-copy pamphlets.

The men persuaded him to draw the money from a bank as security in a "deal" and stitched wallets. He was left with a wallet containing a few one dollar bills and wads of paper.

venture enters the life of Celia, 17, when she learns that she has supposed dead father and wealthy. She leaves her home in New York with her mother, John Mitchell, and her father's grandmother.

She invites the girl to her home for a week-end. Her father, who is in the city, is so impressed with the girl that he decides to take her home with him. She is to be married to a young man named Evelyn Parsons, but she has fallen in love with the girl's father, John Mitchell.

GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI

"You mean the fortune teller?" Mrs. Mitchell asked. "Yes, my dear," she replied. "It's funny she finished with me so quickly, isn't it?" "My dear, that worries me!"

"The girl laughed carelessly. 'Oh, of course there's nothing to it. I'm not going to become superstitious over a little thing like that!'"

"Mrs. Mitchell answered guardedly. Several times during their drive home she eyed the girl covertly. She appeared to be uncomfortable in her granddaughter's presence.

When Celia reported the incident to her father at the dinner table he scoffed. "The important event of that day was yet to come. Tod Jordan telephoned. Celia was able to talk to him privately on the telephone in the library. The sound of his voice set her pulse beating more rapidly.

"Can't you come for a drive?" he begged. "When am I going to see you?"

At that particular moment Celia would have given almost anything in the world to drive with Jordan, but she knew her grandmother's views. She could not possibly introduce a young man whose parents neither her father nor grandmother knew and say, "We're going off for the evening."

She told him it would have to be some other time. Jordan appeared keenly disappointed. He said he had tried repeatedly to reach her. The conversation grew more personal. The girl was afraid someone might overhear. Suddenly she remembered Lisi's "luncheon engagement." But that would be doing nothing for her. No, she could not do that. She told Jordan to call her next day. She would try to have something planned. Tod Jordan's low "good night, dearest," was a haunting memory.

white taffeta and silver over her arm. She held the gown up. "Try this," she urged. Celia stood still while the dress was adjusted. Then she stepped before the mirror.

"It's lovely!" the girl exclaimed. The dress was youthful and girlish and could boast no victory. Charlotte was busy with pins explaining alterations here and there to make the gown perfect.

The purchase was settled upon immediately. Charlotte was to send slippers and underthings as well. She brought out a white velvet wrap that made Celia look like a Parisian fashion plate.

"Humph! That's enough for one day," Mrs. Mitchell announced, and the shopping trip was over.

The next two days were busy. Evelyn Parsons telephoned, there to see Mrs. Mitchell, and give Celia lists of errands. The birthday celebration was to be a dinner party, followed by dancing. It was to take place on a fashionable hotel roof.

The packages arrived from Charlotte. Everything fitted perfectly. Wednesday afternoon Celia took a long nap so that she would be fresh for the evening. Martha was to help her dress. It had been arranged that Mrs. Parsons and Mitchell and Celia should go to the hotel together. Mrs. Mitchell had declined to attend such a youthful affair.

It was nearly 7 o'clock when Celia came downstairs wearing the beautiful white gown. Evelyn, stunning in turquoise, was in the drawing room with John Mitchell. "Father," the girl said slowly, "I was asked to give you this."

She handed him an envelope addressed to "John Mitchell." It was an enclosure from the long birthday letter Celia had received from her mother.

"I want you to give the enclosed note to your father," Margaret Rogers had written. "Please don't mention it to anyone else."

Mitchell took the missive glanced at it, then laid it on the table. "We're ready," he told the girl. "Do you have your wrap?" Celia disappeared. Thus it happened that when a call came for Mitchell a moment afterward Evelyn Parsons was left alone. She looked quickly over her shoulder, then picked up the envelope.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—When the republics of South America want to oust a dictator, they go ahead and oust him, but in neighboring Cuba this country virtually underwrites any dictatorship which is kind to American business interests.

The people of no other supposedly sovereign republic in the world appear to be in quite as peculiar a position as the Cubans. For years there have been reports that a revolt was imminent against President Gerardo Machado. Many Cubans obviously would like to have one. There are two ways to get rid of an administration: by the ballot and by force. Machado controls the polls in Cuba and has been able to extend his dictatorship. That leaves revolution. But when they come to plot a revolt, the dissatisfied Cubans find themselves up against the United States, which has an unbroken record of intervention or strong opposition to Cuban rebels.

For 20 years, this government appears to have been interested in about everything Cuban except Cuban liberties. Under this policy, of course, American interests have thrived on the island and we now have investments there amounting to considerably more than a billion dollars.

The Platt Amendment Cuban-American relations have had as their prime factor the famous Platt Amendment. Congress enacted that in 1901 as an amendment to the army appropriation act and Article III of the amendment is the one which always gets talked about when there is talk of trouble in Cuba. It says: "The government of Cuba consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property, and individual liberties, and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the Treaty of Paris on the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the government of Cuba."

This government has often been urged to step into Cuba and supervise a free and fair election on the theory that it is obligated to do so under the amendment. It has also been urged to abandon the amendment altogether and let the Cubans have a revolution if they want one.

U. S. Stands Firm But there is no indication that the State Department is willing to abandon its anti-revolution policy or to do anything to relieve Cuba from the alleged tyranny, oppression and graft prevailing under President Machado. It sticks to the thought expressed in a note in 1929 that the United States is "unalterably opposed to any attempt which may be made to replace by violence or revolution the process of government."

The anti-revolution policy has been followed on at least five occasions. A revolution in 1906 followed outrageous election frauds by the party in power. President Roosevelt decided that we should take charge of the government when President Palma resigned and it appeared that chaotic conditions threatened. A few thousand American troops were dispatched. Elections were held in 1908 under our supervision and Jose Miguel Gomez was elected president.

Pats Down Riot In 1912, when another revolt was threatened, this government threatened to intervene and the insurrection was averted. Later in the same year Cuban negroes staged outbreaks and Gomez said he couldn't guarantee absolute protection to foreign property. Gomez protested, however, when four companies of U. S. marines were landed in Cuba. The outbreaks subsided without bringing the marines into actual fighting.

There was another fishy-looking election in 1916 after which Menocal became president and another revolution began. The United States, through Secretary Lansing, put its foot down flat, declaring that it supported constitutional government, that armed revolt was lawless and unconstitutional and that "the extremely good economic conditions" in Cuba must be preserved. We were about to enter the World War and there was no sense in permitting a lot of trouble in Cuba at such a time. We sent warships and promised to wipe out the insurrectionists immediately if they didn't lay down their arms.

HOUSTON, Oct. 14.—Fingers numbed from the freezing temperature of a packing company refrigerator fumbled a safe-cracking job here last night.

Safe crackers entered the Texas Packing company plant, wheeled a safe into the large cooler. It was an ideal place for a "cracking" sound-proof and a nice cool environment.

They piled slabs of bacon, hams and beavers around the safe to further deaden the noise. Then they fired the "soup" but the explosion didn't open the money box. The heavy door was blown off, and they scooped up $7 and left, with $5,000 lying in the small money box inside the safe.

Mail Planes Ready to Fly New Route

DALLAS, Oct. 14.—Air mail history will be rewritten when the first tri-motored Fokker roars down the runways at Los Angeles tomorrow morning for the flight east to Atlanta through Dallas, and again at Tucson, when the plane descends for mail.

Aboard the ship for the inaugural flight east will be Earle Ovington, the first officially appointed and sworn air mail pilot in the United States. In 1911 he received the first sack of air mail from Frank Hitchcock, postmaster general under President Taft, at Garden City, N. Y.

The first flight was to Mineola, L. I., a distance of 40 miles.

At Tucson, Ovington and Hitchcock will again meet, and Hitchcock will hand him another sack of mail, initiating this new service.

10-Year-Old Boy Finds Text Faults

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—After state geographies had been passed by publishers, examined by a state text book committee of trained educators, adopted by the state board of education and taught in Texas schools for more than a year, a ten year old Stamford boy found out they were not teaching Texas geography right.

The boy is the son of D. A. Bancroft, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce. He noticed that his section was not included in a chart of cotton producing territory.

"We grow lots of cotton. Why are we left out?" he asked his father. This led to investigation and protest by regional chambers of commerce about many parts of some of the geographies.

The state board of education can force the publishers to revise and correct these inaccuracies. This they have agreed to do. They cannot order additional material but will request publishers to add it.

Rancher Drowned in Crossing River

CANADIAN, Oct. 14.—R. W. "Titch" Brown, rancher, was drowned today in the Canby river near his ranch 25 miles south of here. He was attempting to cross the river on his horse, which became entangled in a submerged wire. The rancher dismounted during the struggle, and was believed to have been kicked by the horse.

A hired hand who accompanied Brown refused to cross the stream with him, and waded him against the attempt. The body was recovered a short time after the accident.

Grimes Given Two Lifetime Penalties

HOUSTON, Oct. 14.—E. F. Grimes, partner in crime to Jess J. Maple, who last week was sentenced to the electric chair, was given two life time prison penalties in less than twenty minutes here today.

Without quitting the box the same jury assessed a life term and a 90-year sentence for Grimes' share in the hold-up of a cafe and a furniture store.

The bandit got life in the cafe hold-up, as a patron had been shot in the leg.

The latter hold-up led to the death of two motorcycle officers here, when the pair, W. S. Phares and E. D. Fitzgerald, attempted to arrest Maple. They were met with a barrage of shots and both were slain.

Cotton Mills Seem to Be Holding Own

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Cotton mills of the United States appear to be holding their own from the standpoint of stocks and unfilled orders for goods, following the marked improvement in their position in September, according to the New York Cotton Exchange service.

"Average consumption of cotton per working day in September estimated by the service at 100 bales, against an average of 95 bales in September of the past season, indicating a curtailment about 31 percent. It is the light this small production that the reported cloth sales of 60 per cent production last month are to be considered." The service reports.
