Autumnal Storm Spreading Over Northern Half of U. S.

SIX PEOPLE ARE KILLED BY BLIZZARD

Killing Grip of the Storm Extends Even to Southland

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—An autumnal storm that swept over Canada yesterday with blinding snow and driving rain, is spreading today over almost the entire northern half of the United States and extended its grip even into the usually sunny southland.

The storm is spreading its fury in the Biggar and Perdue districts of Saskatchewan where in some places it is blowing snowdrifts 15 feet high. The storm was said to be the worst of the season within the memory of the residents of central Canada.

In the north central United States temperatures were not as low as have been recorded in some places and the snowfall was not the heaviest on record, but mid-October storms of such intensity have been rare and the suffering was great.

In Regina, Canada, five men were killed when their automobiles were stranded all of Thursday night in a snowdrift. Two men with their cars forced to stop in Regina, Dora Goffenok, wandered away from home and lost in the blizzard for 24 hours, but was found, uninjured. W. L. Miles, 70, became lost on a trail. Moose Jaw, also escaped injury, although she wandered about through the snow piled up for many hours.

In Saskatoon a milk famine was feared because it was impossible to make deliveries. The city's clearing apparatus, usually used at all seasons of the year, was inadequate and traffic was almost at a standstill.

Flurries were general throughout Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and other north central states.

WOODWARD GARBAGE BID IS ACCEPTED

The city commission Friday afternoon accepted the bid of J. A. Woodward for a contract for the removal of garbage in the city for the next year. Mr. Woodward's bid was accepted by a unanimous vote of the commission after it had recommended by J. R. Burnett, commissioner of sanitation and public health. His was the next lowest bid, the lowest having within.

WHITE COTTON SUIT

AUSTIN, Oct. 18.—Governor Dan Moody with an overcoat and a white suit suit made in Texas, left today for Dallas to attend tonight's Texas banquet of the East Texas chamber of commerce.

Six Hundred Miles Per Hour?

Maurice Poirer, left, an inventor of Burbank, California, is shown here with the model of a rocket plane which he hopes will attain a speed of 600 miles an hour. Both the model and the full-sized ship, which Poirer plans to build soon, will be powered by the fireworks spouting from the tubes in the tail, but the big plane will have a small gasoline motor for taking off and landing. The inventor and his assistant, Franklin Wallace, are shown here charging the model for an experimental flight.

BOY SCOUT MEMBERSHIP DRIVE WILL START HERE THURSDAY

Plans were formulated Saturday to start a membership drive for Cisco's part of the budget of the Oil Belt Council Boy Scouts of America this next week. W. W. Wallace of the Humble Oil & Refining company announced that he would select his committee within the next two or three days and would start the campaign actively Thursday. In the meantime he suggests that all who will aid and conveniently do so send their memberships in voluntarily thereby saving the time of the busy business men who will compose the campaign committee.

Scouting is progressing nicely in Cisco and the whole Oil Belt Council now, it was stated. The citizens are asked to help supply the necessary expenses of the operation of the council.

The Oil Belt Council is composed of all towns in Eastland and Stephens counties. There are 355 scouts in the council with 15 troops. The council is divided into three districts with district committees station in Cisco, Eastland, Ranger and Breckenridge. E. P. Crawford is chairman of the Cisco district which composes Cisco, Rising Star and Plover.

Mr. Wallace, in commenting on the campaign, said he wants each and every one to have an opportunity to take a membership in the amount that he or she feels that they could give.

DO-X Expected to Start to U. S. Nov. 3

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—A report was current today that the Do-X, the world's largest flying boat, would start on its projected flight to the United States from Lisbon Nov. 3. The Do-X, constructed at the Dornier plant near Friedrichshafen, Germany, is equipped with recently installed Curtiss conqueror engines, made in America. On a test flight, the giant flying boat carried over 150 passengers. It is planned to fly to the United States by way of the Azores and Bermuda.

TWO INJURED ON HIGHWAY NEAR CISCO

Car Forced Into Ditch Three Miles East of Town

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Harris, of Russellville, Ark., were injured yesterday morning when the small car which they were driving was forced into a ditch on the Bankhead highway three miles east of Cisco. A son, A. J., eight years old, was not injured. Mr. and Mrs. Harris were on their way to Ontario, California. They were driving a model T Ford.

They had started around a wagon on the highway at the same instant that another car, driven by A. L. Mayhew, of Cisco, attempted to go around them. Mr. Mayhew was not injured. The Harris car was considerably damaged when it went into the ditch.

The injuries to Mr. and Mrs. Harris are not considered serious. He sustained a fractured knee cap while Mrs. Harris was lacerated about the hands and painfully bruised. They were rushed to the Graham Sanitarium for treatment.

The accident occurred about 10:45 Saturday morning.

AGED WOMAN IS ROBBED AND BEATEN

GALVESTON, Oct. 18.—A 74-year-old woman was forced to open her safe, then she was bound, gagged, choked and hit on the head with a pistol by a young white bandit who early today robbed her of more than $2,000 of her life savings.

Mrs. William Moeller, who lives alone, was able to give the police a description of the man.

Mrs. Moeller returned from a trip to a nearby grocery store to find the bandit in her house. He pointed a pistol at her, she said, and asked for the combination to her small safe. When she gave him a false combination and he failed to open the box he threatened her and forced her to open the safe.

Then, after taking two bill folds containing more than $1,500 and five crisp new $100 bills from a box the man tied her, gagged her with a handkerchief and threw her on the bed where he choked her, hit her on the head with the butt of his pistol and then turned the mattress over on her.

Freeing herself she ran to the door and screamed for help. The hijacker was seen running down the street by a neighbor.

Lopez Sentenced to Ninety-Nine Years

EDINBURG, Oct. 18.—Jose Mario Lopez, 30, was sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary here today, after a district court jury had deliberated 14 hours. Lopez was charged with murder after Bert Ellison, custom inspector, was found dead in the brush at Hargill.

Lopez smiled and calmly lit a cigarette when the sentence was pronounced. "It could be worse," he told reports.

Would Give Slayer Medal

CHARGE, Mo., Oct. 18.—A coroner's jury here recommended that a medal be awarded a slayer for his actions.

The recommendation in the case of Dr. W. B. Chapman, Charge surgeon who shot and fatally wounded Bernard F. Grider, 33, of Washington, D. C., and then performed an operation upon the man in an attempt to save his life.

But the jury did not base its commendation upon the act of mercy. Instead it reported "the state should award a medal to Dr. Chapman for killing that fellow."

The surgeon shot Grider, an itinerant registered nurse, when the latter allegedly forced his way into the room of Miss Imogene Woodfill, nurse in Chapman's hospital here.

CHILD, LOST THURSDAY, IS FOUND WELL

TONOPAH, Nev., Oct. 18.—Three-year-old Jackie Sullivan, lost in a mountain lion-infested region Thursday was found alive today in a canyon about seven miles from the place from where he wandered away from his father's auto.

The finding of Jackie ended one of the most extensive hunts ever staged in this region.

Albert Scurlock, known throughout the desert country as "Happy," picked up the boy's trail at 6 a. m. and followed it for several miles until he came upon Jackie pinned down under the limb of a tree.

"I want my mother," was the first thing little Jackie said as Scurlock and his companions lifted the limb off his body.

"He was weak from lack of food and water," Scurlock telephoned anxious friends in Tonopah.

"He was crying for his mother but on the whole bore up exceptionally well."

Reichstag's Action Is Hopeful Sign

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The reichstag's passage of the second reading of the bill authorizing a foreign credit of $125,000,000 was regarded today as a hopeful sign that the government, with Socialist party support, might successfully defeat misconfidence and other motions calculated to embarrass the administration.

This hope was supported further by an editorial in the Socialist news paper "Vorwaerts," headed "Democracy or Chaos and Dictatorship."

The editorial announced that socialists will reject fascist and communist misconfidence motions, if only to prevent a dictatorship.

It was pointed out, however, that rejection of the motions of two militant parties could not necessarily imply that the socialists agreed with Chancellor Bruening's financial program. The socialists, the "Vorwaerts," added, will oppose Bruening's program unless it is modified in committee.

Berlin, which during the past several days has been the scene of much disorder arising from the metal workers' strike, involving about 120,000 men, as well as from political differences, was tranquil during the night.

MURDERER OF TWO-YEAR-OLD BEING SOUGHT

Child's Body Found Near Railroad by Youth

AUSTIN, Oct. 18.—State rangers and officers of two counties were striving today to find the attacker of two year old Evangelina Cavasso whose murdered body was found yesterday in weeds near a culvert along the Missouri Pacific railway tracks in New Braunfels.

No trace of the baby, stolen last Monday night as she slept with a doll in her arms, had been found until a boy, walking along the railway, noticed the body. Her head had been crushed with a rock or blunt instrument. She had been dead several days.

While officers had been going on the theory that she had been kidnapped and carried away, her body was lying within a short distance of the house from which she had been taken.

Henry Cavasso, her father, is manager of a tent show. Her mother is one of its performers. They had left the child in the house near the show during a performance. The mother returned immediately after and discovered the child had been taken. She returned to New Braunfels late yesterday from Seguin and identified the body.

For once the show will not go on. At least for a day. Little Evangelina was a great favorite among members of the troupe. They returned to New Braunfels where her funeral will be held today.

Tramps who were refused admittance to the performance are being sought but there is nothing definite to connect them with the attack.

OPEN SESSIONS OF EDUCATION BOARD URGED

AUSTIN, Oct. 18.—Open sessions of the State Board of Education should be held so the public may have an opportunity to know what is in text books before they are adopted, Robert Whiteaker, state adjutant of the American Legion, declared here today after being shown copies of a Texas school history already adopted by the state.

The history's slight treatment of Texas part in the World War will be placed before the meeting of the state executive committee of the American Legion here tomorrow, Whiteaker said, if the other business attendant upon new Commander Hal Brennan taking charge does not prevent reaching the topic.

Under contracts made by the state revision committee can demand corrections in books even after adoption. They cannot force addition of new material. An error of omission therefore is incurable for the time for which the book is adopted, usually six years. An opportunity for public discussion of the books before adoption, Whiteaker said, would disclose omissions in time.

The threatened action of the Legion comes on the heels of similar protests by regional chambers of commerce against some of the geography text books adopted by the state.

The book specially criticized by Whiteaker is the product of University of Texas professors.

V. Karl Eary, member of the Legion executive committee who is here for tomorrow's meeting, said that one of the authors is opposed to teaching about wars.

HELD FOR QUESTIONING
NEW BRAUNFELS, Oct. 18.—An itinerant carnival trooper and another man were held by authorities here today for questioning in connection with the death of Evangelina Cavasso, whose body was found behind a sign board Friday afternoon.

Says France Started Beer

PARIS, Oct. 18.—An American, Professor Michel Rostovtzeff, of Yale University, has taken the beer of France from Germany and given it to France.

In a scientific paper read before the academy of inscriptions, Professor Rostovtzeff declared that investigation has revealed France and not Germany originally invented beer.

Two 2nd century documents, one found at Trier and the other in Bonn, mention that beer first was manufactured by the Gauls in Trier, which was a part of the Kingdom of Gaul, now France.

BUCKS DOWN EASTLAND BY SCORE OF 28-0

The Breckenridge Buckaroos "warmed up" for the Cisco Lobos next Friday by taking the Eastland Mavericks into camp 28 to 0 at Breckenridge Saturday afternoon. The Buckaroos led by the redoubtable Boyce Magness, ran, passed and blinged their way to a easy victory, keeping the Mavericks smothered throughout the contest.

The Breckenridge boys scored once in each quarter, ended the first half with the ball on the Eastland one-foot line and the game with the ball on the Mavericks two-yard line. The Mavericks never threatened.

Magness punting, running, passing and defensive work was the feature of the contest. Henrichs, Buckaroo full, was out of the game with an injured ankle. Martin guard, kicked three goals from placement after touchdowns and Magness passed to Couser for another, giving the Buckaroos the full total of points possible to be scored on four touchdowns.

Clark was the outstanding Maverick player. The Buckaroos scored first when Magness spiraled a 16-yard pass to Blackburn, end. Martin kicked the point. About the middle of the second quarter the Buckaroos scored again after McFall took Magness pass for 20 yards, Boone raced off tackle for nine and Stapp blinged two across the goal. Martin again kicked the goal.

In the third quarter Blackburn intercepted an Eastland pass on the Mavericks 39-yard line and Magness and Stapp alternated through the line and around ends for the touchdown, Stapp making the score. Magness passed to Couser for the point.

In the fourth quarter Stapp intercepted an Eastland pass on the Maverick 30-yard line. Magness got five yards, Stapp two and Magness broke through the line for a beautiful 23 yard run for the score. Martin kicked the goal.

Cotton Keeps Steady Tone

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Cotton divorced itself from weak stock market influences today and maintained a steady tone within a few points of the previous closing levels.

At the close the list was 2 points lower to 3 points higher. Spct was $10.25, up 0.5 the close represented small losses from the final levels last week. Much of the steadiness was attributed to covering and buying induced by private wires which reports that temperatures were much lower in the western belt, while frost was forecast for the eastern belt.

Commission house buying was heavy and was in line with brokerage comment which advised purchase of the staple at current levels.

The steadiness in commodities attracted considerable attention from Wall Street. Wall street sold near positions but supported the distant options. Mill and trade support continued, while hedging was lighter than usual in a week-end session.

Sharp improvement in the textile division of the industry was cited by constructive forces and the opinion that cotton consumption is increasing due to the low cost and carrying charges was expressed around the ring.

IS INCREASE OF 8 CENTS OVER 1929

Levies for Two Funds Hiked Above Last Year Schedules

Eastland county taxpayers will pay eight cents more on the $100 valuation this year than they paid last year, the county commissioners having increased the county rate by that amount. The rate for 1930 has been set at $1.86 on the $100 valuation, while the rate for 1929 was $1.78.

The rate for 1930 is as follows: General fund, . . . $ .25 Road and bridge common, . . . . 25 Courthouse and jail, . . . . 10 Jury fund, . . . . . 09 Courthouse, interest and sinking fund, . . . . . 06 Road and bond interest and sinking fund, . . . . . 129 County hospital, . . . . . 01 Courthouse and jail interest and sinking fund, . . . . . 01

Total, . . . . . $1.86 This schedule shows an increase of three cents in the courthouse and jail fund this year over last, and an increase of five cents in the road bond, interest and sinking fund over last year, making the total increase of eight cents.

The total assessed property valuation for 1930 shows a decrease of $1,876,370 over that of last year. The assessed values for 1930 being $37,180,970 as compared to $39,057,440 for 1929. The greater portion of this decrease was in corporate values such as oil companies, etc. The remainder was on resident rolls.

The rural school district property, assessed by Tax Assessor Geo. Bryant, totaled $73,328.56 for 1930 as compared to $73,328.56 for 1929, showing an increase of $5,000.00.

NEW AVENUE FOR PROBE OF GRAIN OPENS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A farm board complaint resulting in a federal trade commission inquiry appeared today to have opened another avenue for congressional investigation of the nation's grain trade.

Samuel R. McKelvie of the board has enlisted the commission in a fight against alleged propaganda of the "organized grain trade," which he says has been directed against the board. There is every likelihood that the action will echo in congressional debate this winter, along with the problem of Soviet short trading raised by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde.

The commission has assigned its ace investigation, Herbert L. Anderson, to the job of trawling published attacks on the farm board to their source. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska and one of the men responsible for President Hoover's pre-election pledge of a special farm relief session, wants to know who is financing the drive against the board.

IS IMPROVED

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 18.—C. F. Spaulding, 54, railway engineer, of Marshall, Texas, who sustained a fractured skull when struck by an automobile as he was alighting from a bus in Hollywood subdivision Wednesday night, was much improved today. He will be taken to Marshall today for medical treatment.

DAILY BIBLE READING

Psalms 8:1-4

1. How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts!
2. My soul longeth, yes, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth-out for the living God.
3. Yea, the sparrow hath found an house, and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, even thine altars, O Lord of hosts, my King, and my God.
4. Blessed are they that dwell in thy house: they will be still praising thee.

HELPING OURSELVES.

Governor Dan Moody has announced that he will see a delegation from the drouth area of this section of west Texas next Tuesday. But at the same time he announced that members of his state drouth relief committee had told him that west Texas has a better chance of securing relief from congressional action in December than from state legislative action.

There seems to be little enthusiasm down at Austin where west Texas is concerned. Except in political campaigns. There seems to be a tendency to discount whatever comes out of the west, to look upon its programs and its requests with an air, not of sympathy, but of toleration. The obvious result of this attitude is to strengthen a sentiment of sectionalism, where a closer, mutual union would result from a sympathetic and responsive reception.

The plan which the committee named at the meeting in Eastland last week will lay before Governor Moody is characteristic of the spirit of west Texas. What west Texas has accomplished thus far has not been done by outsiders but by its own people. In their present agricultural difficulties they are not looking toward a providential congress, or any other agency which, although entirely out of touch either in experience or sentiment, with the conditions which obtain here, may be prevailed upon to afford them relief. Relief from congressional action is a dim and distant prospect so far as west Texas is concerned, so far as any other of the newer and less populous areas of the nation are concerned. But the evident intention at Austin to shirk the task of providing local relief and to pass the responsibility on to national agencies is the same old human habit of looking elsewhere.

This section is simply asking a chance to help itself. It is not asking the state to give it a penny. The plan which will be laid before Governor Moody Tuesday, if the conference materializes as planned, provides that the state legislature appropriate funds for the purchase of county warrants issued for agricultural rehabilitation in each of the counties. In each county the funds derived would be administered by capable business men in cooperation with the commissioners courts and the loans secured by superior mortgages. The state would receive back its money with interest the warrants liquidated and the farmers provided with the means of making a crop and getting back on their feet. That is a program of helping oneself, certainly the only sort of a program that can be depended upon to meet a situation that now exists because of the drouth.

PENDING CHANGES IN STATE CONSTITUTION.

Texas has 1,250,000 qualified voters. They are interested in the pending changes in the constitution of the commonwealth. Our state constitution is of the vintage of 1876. It is moss-covered and antiquated. Former State Senator Edgar Witt, who will be elected lieutenant governor in November, is chairman of the committee directing a campaign of education in order to inform all qualified voters of the importance of adopting the pending amendments. There will be five voted on Nov. 4 by the men and women of Texas. Senator Witt in a recent address favored the provision for a continuous session of the supreme court instead of the nine months session as now which will provide delays inevitable should the amendment be defeated. He advised that the 17 West Texas counties in which the University of Texas land is now located should be allowed to tax those lands for county purposes, since county improvements enhance the value of the lands. He warned the voters that unless the permanent university funds can be invested in other than state or national bonds, as at present provided, the university will suffer a heavy financial loss in 1933 when the federal government will recall most of the liberty bonds in which the university money is now invested and issue new bonds at a lesser rate of interest.

He further reminded the voters that the amount of state bonds is insignificant and he is of the opinion that no more will be issued. Referring to the proposal for a 120-day continuous session of the legislature instead of the present 60-day session and several 30-day called sessions, he declared that the adoption of the amendment would save time now spent in organization, save money for the taxpayer and produce wiser and more well considered laws for the people. Lastly he discussed the matter of raising legislators' pay from $5 a day to $10 a day and reducing mileage allowance from 20 cents to 10 cents a mile, which he predicted would save money for the state and be more equitable toward those selected to make the laws of the commonwealth.

All five constitutional amendments are said to have the support of ex-student organizations of Texas as well as the board of regents of the university and the institutions of higher learning. They have the active backing of many newspapers as well as the endorsement of men and women who are prominent as well as active in all fields of endeavor and who are familiar with the needs of a new Texas and a new civilization. Texas has a population nearing the 6,000,000 mark. Texas is forging ahead as a manufacturing state. Texas is one of the great mineral producing states of the sisterhood. Texas is the greatest of the agricultural and meat producing states. It is a producer of hides and wool and mohair. Its cities and towns are growing at an amazing rate. Constructive laws are needed and constructive men should make them. This calls for the adoption of the amendments to the constitution which are so greatly needed at this time in a commonwealth functioning under a constitution adopted almost 60 years ago.

OTHER OPINIONS

A DRIVER'S LICENSE LAW

Representative Roland Bradley of Houston has written a driver's license law for submission to the legislature which embodies many of the features desirable in the twelve or fourteen states which have adopted the license system for automobile drivers.

The Bradley bill provides that a driver's license shall not be issued to any person under 16 years old, and that a chauffeur's license shall not be issued to any person under 18. No person who is a habitual drunkard or narcotic addict would be licensed.

Children over 12 and under 16 would be granted a driver's license only upon certificate of two physicians that the applicant is physically and mentally competent to handle a car.

The proposed bill provides for revocation of license for a number of causes, including negligent homicide resulting from driving a vehicle while under the influence of drink, prurij in applying for a license, commission of any felony in which a motor vehicle is used and conviction for failure to stop and disclose identity in any accident resulting in death of another person.

Doubtless by the time the legislature gets through picking flaws in this bill and tacking on amendments, it won't look anything like it does in its present form, but that does not destroy the fact that Texas very much needs some sort of a driver's license law.

The state has postponed enactment of such a law too long already, and there should be no time lost at the next session of the legislature in enacting suitable legislation.

It is a matter of self-preservation. Texas must do something to curb recklessness on her highways and reduce the number of accidents.

CRACKS IN THE DOME

By POLITICAL ANALYST

AUSTIN, Oct. 18.—A bill affecting practically every county in Texas, by which the state would declare its good faith with those to whom it has sold public lands, will be sponsored before the next legislature by the west Texas chamber of commerce. The east and south Texas commercial bodies have joined hands also to support it.

This measure would validate all land titles and quiet titles against attacks by the state involving all public lands conveyed by patent to citizens.

It is much more far-reaching than the Small Land Title Validation bill that accompanied the streambed survey validation last year, according to West Texans. It affects not only the streambed surveys that were heretofore illegal because of the state's negligence, but all surveys which may now be subject to attack for vacancies, excess surveys or on other grounds.

"It simply will say that Texas must keep faith with those who in good faith bought land from the state, paid for and improved it," a representative of the west Texas organization said.

The Texas capital city Tuesday more than a back lot on the air maps of the nation.

In the dedication of Robert Mueller municipal airport, Austin placed upon the nation's always a field of high rating; one highest according to the highest standards of the government; as safe for night as for day use. The dedication committed formally to the use of transport and mail air service a field of over 240 acres, one adequate for all the increase of air traffic that the next few years can bring.

Emblems showing the modern field will be added to maps of the aerial arteries of the nation, and Austin will stand out alongside many other progressive Texas cities as thoroughly up-to-date in aviation.

An individual who came to the state board of education meeting to present a plea for growth relief action for benefit of West Texas schools, apologized to the board for being late. "I was waterbound for 12 hours, due to the heavy rains," he explained.

Texas geographies no longer will tell of Texas crops and oil fields and mineral products and unbroken ranches as they were in 1880, after work of a West Texas committee headed by Editor Max Bentley of Abilene, and work of the state board of education is carried through to a promised prompt conclusion. The back revision committee of the board of education promised the West Texans that obsolete, inadequate, misleading and substantially false statements about Texas—the entire state—will be remedied within a year at least, and with cooperation of book publishers before any more of the out-of-date books are put into circulation.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

George B. Dealey, publisher of the Dallas Morning News and Dallas Journal does not speak lightly or without purpose. I was lucky enough to hear him express some of his advertising views recently and since they represent the fruits of more than a half century of active participation in the newspaper publishing industry, I set them down here as I remember them:

"The trouble with many advertisers," Mr. Dealey said, "is that they scatter. They try this idea today and that one tomorrow. They use one medium and then another, without proper consideration of relative values.

"It is all right to use several advertising media, even several different kinds of advertising media. But use them as units in a well laid plan and not as individual experiments.

"Incidentally an advertiser who cannot afford the research necessary to establish the merits of different kinds of advertising media can always save money by sticking to the newspapers. Newspapers are one medium that needs no analysis—they have been amply tested by all kinds of advertisers, and are the standard medium of the world.

"But even those who use newspapers should use them wisely. They should not waste space. They should usually prefer frequent insertions of moderate sized copy to infrequent insertions of big copy. They should allow the needs of their messages to govern the space they use, and not be guided by a desire to be impressive.

"Most newspapers sell their advertising space too cheaply. That is why advertisers so often are wasteful with it."

AUTHORITIES THINK BLAST ACCIDENTAL

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—The terrific explosion that wrecked the factory garment capital building which shook the Los Angeles whole-district, remained unexplained but authorities were inclined to believe it was accidental. Although continuing to investigate theories that the $1,500,000 loss was the result of sabotage, police detectives said that most of the evidence indicated that it was caused by an untimely gas leak which filled the building with gas and needed only a spark to set it off. A search for possible suspects was maintained. Only two of the 50 persons injured by the force of the explosion were in serious condition. They are Herman Schulman, proprietor of the fifty floor establishment in which the explosion originated, and Irving Chavin, who was with Schulman.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON HOW WISDOM DEPENDS ON CHARACTER.

Text: Luke 2:25-39.
And, behold, there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon; and the same man was just and devout, waiting for the consolation of Israel; and the Holy Ghost was upon him.
And it was revealed unto him by the Holy Ghost, that he should not see death before he had seen the Lord's Christ.
And he came by the Spirit into the temple; and when the parents brought in the child Jesus, to do for him after the custom of the law.
Then took he him up in his arms, and blessed God, and said, Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word.
For mine eyes have seen thy salvation.
Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people;
A light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel.
And Joseph and his mother marvelled at those things which were spoken of him.
And Simeon blessed them, and said unto Mary his mother, Behold, this child is set for the fall and rising again of many in Israel; and for a sign which shall be spoken against:
(Yea, a sword shall pierce through thy own soul also;) that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed.
And there was one Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phineas, of the tribe of Aser; she was of a great age, and had lived with virginity:
And she was a widow of about fourscore and four years, which departed not from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers night and day.
And she coming in that instant gave thanks likewise unto the Lord, and spake of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem.
And when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their own city of Nazareth.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 19, How Wisdom Depends on Character. Luke 2:25-39.

comes in this enrichment of their souls like Simeon and Anna that our own vision is clarified. It is in the companionship of those who have the vision of love that we attain to that vision ourselves. And there is no other way. It is hopeless to expect to see the things that cannot be seen except as the vision is clarified and the eyes are trained to see them. The deepest truth law of all the universe is expressed in the simple saying that it is the pure in heart who see God.

Ex-Leader of White Armies Is Dead

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The long sought General P. P. Koutepoff, once leader of the Russian white armies, died in a Paris apartment of an overdose of narcotics here long after his disappearance here January 25, according to E. V. Doumbadze, exiled former member of the Cheka, Soviet secret police.
The information, Doumbadze said, was obtained from a man named Fechner, who confessed in a Berlin cafe that he helped Gen. Koutepoff into the taxicab which carried him to his death rendezvous. Fechner was prepared to verify his statement, Doumbadze said, by describing certain marks on the general's body.
Koutepoff believed he was in the apartment of friends, Doumbadze said, when in reality he was among enemies who had gained his confidence.
The white Russian officer's body was shipped to Russia in trunks bearing diplomatic seals, Doumbadze said. It was cremated in Moscow before high Soviet officials. The plan, he added, was executed by Cheka agents in Berlin, operating without knowledge of their Paris associates.
Doumbadze was the first former member of the Cheka to be exiled from Russia by the degree of 1923.

Employment Plan Prepared by President

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—President Hoover declaring that "as a nation we must prevent hunger and cold to those of our people who are in honest difficulties," has announced a federal program for stimulation of employment during the winter months.

The plan provides for continuation of organizations already set up but broadens their scope and arranges closer cooperation of states and cities with the central government.

A three-fold effort was outlined by Mr. Hoover:

1. Cooperation with governors and employment organizations of states and local communities.
2. Development of employment methods with national industries.
3. Direct federal employment in public works.

A committee of five cabinet members was named to coordinate the program and confer with Eugene Meyer, federal reserve board chairman. The secretaries are Hyde, agriculture; Mellon, treasury; Davis, labor; Lamont, commerce; and Wilbur, interior.

The program for the winter is the most recent of a series of relief measures undertaken by the president since the unemployment situation developed. Already favorable results are being obtained from Mr. Hoover's order to limit immigration to exclude aliens who have no definite work promised them. The president's conferences with financiers and business leaders continue, and Mr. Hoover has kept in touch with governors re-

DARK HORSES SHOWING UP IN TOURNEY

Slicker and McMahon Fight Way Among Leaders

Dark horses are showing up in the Cisco country club's annual championship tournament now in progress and upsetting the plans of the more experienced players. Homer Slicker and P. D. McMahon have played surprisingly consistent golf to take closely fought matches from W. K. Esen and Don Stival. Both of the latter players were expected to be in the final semi-finals of the tournament.

The matches stand as follows: Jeff Duncan vs. J. E. Tichenor. Homer Slicker vs. J. P. Goyen. McMahon vs. the winner of the Duncan-Tichenor match. Homer Slicker and J. P. Goyen. B. C. Boney and Guy Dabney and W. T. Graham have to fight it out the next few days to see who will represent the lower bracket in the finals.

CISCO ENTERTAINS EASTLAND

The Cisco Country club golf team will entertain the Eastland team here this afternoon at 1:30 in the last home game on the Oil Belt Golf association schedule this year. All members of the Cisco team are urged to participate as Eastland is bringing a group of 30 players. The captain of the Cisco team is very anxious that Cisco take this match.

DALLAS, Oct. 18.—The Texas Cotton Cooperative association was on record today as heartily favoring the reduction of cotton acreage. When farmers go out to sow their lands again they must do so with the full realization that they face a big loss unless the cotton market suddenly scars upward.

SAYS CISCO SHOULD HAVE TEXAS CLUB

Cisco must have a "Buy Texas Products Club" to keep in step with the rest of Texas, according to F. A. Blankenbiller, of this city, who, in an interview here today pointed out what these clubs are doing for the state. "Wherever Col. W. E. Talbot, republican candidate for governor, has made a speech the chamber of commerce and the citizens have cooperated with him in forming a "Buy Texas Products Club" pledging themselves to use only Texas-made Texas grown products as far as possible. This is the first time in the history of the state that a definite, business home boosting plank has been a part of any platform. His chief idea, of two Colon declares, is to see that Texas attains the prosperity that she could so easily have if all of

Oklahoman Drops Dead at Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 18.—J. W. Purviance, Norman, Oklahoma, aid an engineer in the Oklahoma state highway department dropped dead on the street here this morning. Bands from University of Oklahoma and the University of Texas played overtures to the annual grid-iron clash here this afternoon. Over-excitement was blamed for Purviance's death. Purviance was identified by papers and letters on his clothing. Witnesses said he was standing in an alley near his hotel checking with other Oklahoma rooters who roared their approval of the Scorer band concert. Suddenly he dropped to the pavement. He was dead when Dr. E. C. Lyons of the Emergency hospital arrived.

WINTER CONTRACT OFFERS REDUCED RATE TO HOUSEHOLD ICE USERS

Now that cold weather is here, it is time to give attention to winter refrigeration, and this item that should be given your very careful consideration. Government statistics show that 50 degrees is the danger point for foods such as milk, cream, butter etc. and the same statistics show that there are only nineteen days per year that you can be assured of this temperature. Knowing that ice will maintain a temperature much lower than 50 degrees and to induce you to continue refrigeration in winter, we are making a very special proposition to you whereby you can have this refrigeration at a very low cost.

"He's your Dog" exclaimed the Police Captain

Yes, he's your dog. Sure. It's the right one. Police-Captain Smith frowned into his telephone. How many times, he wondered, must he repeat these details? Two hundred miles away at Jonesboro, an anxious owner was hanging on every word that came over the telephone wires. Hopefully, he was seeking to identify his lost dog. "What?" barked the captain irritably. "You want to speak to him!" Then understandingly—"By George! I believe you've hit the nail on the head. Just a moment. I'll hold him up to the telephone." What was said is known only to the man and the dog. The dog's actions, however, spoke for themselves. "He's your dog, all right," exclaimed the police captain. Thus, happily, ended a two-week search. Incidents like this furnish constant proof of the value of "long distance." Whether it be the identification of a lost dog, a business deal involving thousands of dollars, or sweethearts' important nothings, your telephone stands ready to serve you. If you aren't accustomed to using "long distance," you will be surprised at its speed, clarity, low cost. Most calls are completed while you remain on the line. You can usually hear as clearly as though you were talking to your next door neighbor. The cost is low. You can talk a hundred miles for 60 cents (station-to-station rates). The best way to prove it is to try it. If you will use the attached coupon to send us the names and addresses of relatives or friends in other cities, we will send you, without obligation, an "Out-of-Town Number book" containing their telephone numbers and the cost of a three-minute call to each. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Heart Hungry

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Adventure enters the life of Celia Mitchell, 17, when she learns the father she has supposed dead is alive and wealthy. She leaves her unpretentious home in Baltimore for a home in New York with her father, John Mitchell, and her aristocratic grandmother.

Margaret Rogers, her mother, divorced Mitchell and remarried and is now a widow. Barney Shields, a young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl and before leaving Baltimore Celia promised to be loyal to his love. Mitchell asks Evelyn Parsons, beautiful widow, to introduce the girl to young people. Mrs. Parsons considers Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections and agrees. She invites the girl to her Long Island home for a week-end, and there Celia meets Tod Jordan, fascinating but of dubious character. Mrs. Parsons encourages the match. Celia treats Jordan coolly at first but is won by his romantic love making after he has rescued her from drowning.

Lisi Duncan, socially prominent, becomes Celia's loyal friend. With Mrs. Parsons' assistance Mitchell arranges an elaborate party in honor of his daughter's 18th birthday. Jordan persuades Celia to leave the affair early. When she arrives home at 2 a. m. Mitchell is furious and forbids her ever to see Jordan again. Later on a shopping trip Celia offends her grandmother and the elderly woman feigns illness and departs for a rest. Celia returns to Mrs. Parsons' home on Long Island. Tod Jordan calls to see her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX

Jordan took both the girls' hands in his "Not angry at me, are you?" he asked, couldn't reach you by telephone. Celia. What's been the matter?"

"Oh, Tod— I'm so glad to see you!" She spoke eagerly. Celia raised shining eyes to meet Jordan's cool dark ones. She waited expectantly, but he only stood there. The girl drew back.

"I wanted to see you," she said. "You must believe that! After I got home the other evening—after the father—and I had a terrible scene. He was furious because I came so late."

She couldn't let Jordan know her father disapproved of him. Tod mustn't suspect that. "But it wasn't late!"

"I know, but you can't argue with my father. He's wonderful but, well, when he gets an idea you can't change it."

"I see. So that's why you wouldn't answer the telephone?" "I didn't know you called. Nobody told me."

"H'm. Well, then you really aren't angry at me?" Celia shook her head negatively, smiling, with lowered eyes. The smile said plainer than words that Celia Mitchell was far from displeased.

Mrs. Parsons had withdrawn, leaving the pair alone. Jordan reached for the radio. "Don't want this thing running, do you?" he asked, irritably.

Celia said she did not. There had been nothing objectionable about the music a moment before, but if Tod didn't like it, neither did she.

A few feet away before open windows was a broad divan. Two softly shaded lamps cast a warm glow over the room, leaving it half in shadow. The breeze fluttered the window curtains.

Celia and Jordan sat on the divan. It seemed natural for Tod's arms to slip around the girl. A minute later his kisses were on her lips and on her cheeks. Celia experienced that quick, sharp ecstasy she always felt in Jordan's embrace.

She had meant to talk to him seriously. Celia had reasoned it all out. Until Mrs. Parsons won John Mitchell's complete approval of Jordan it would be better for the young couple to see each other only occasionally, seeing Tod at all was breaking her promise to her father. Celia realized this, but excused herself on the grounds that Mrs. Parsons had promised to right the situation. Mitchell was in the wrong about Jordan. Since it was her father's mistake, why should Celia treat the young man as though he were in error?

But reasoning with herself and talking to Tod were two different matters. Tod's idea of conversation was whispering to her. How much he missed her. Had she missed him, too? Didn't she know that when she turned her head that way he had to kiss the pink tip of her ear?

Celia gave up the attempt to be serious. She really did not try very hard. For days she had been unhappy, and now Jordan's magnetic nearness seemed the answer to all her longings. He left at midnight, and Celia went upstairs to the room that had been hers on her earlier visit, happier than she had felt for days.

In the morning she and Evelyn had a long talk over the breakfast table. Celia came downstairs dressed for a morning in the garden. Mrs. Parsons looked charming and languid in morning pajamas of champagne satin and pale green chiffon.

"Oh-ho!" she said coyly as Celia appeared. "I can guess why you're looking so happy this morning!" "It's a wonderful morning," she began.

invented excuse, of course. She would have the lunch packed, pick up the two men and call for Celia at four o'clock.

"But father's coming down tonight," the girl said, still holding the telephone and turning to Mrs. Parsons. "What'll I do?"

"Oh, we can manage that. Run along. I'll tell him you're having dinner with friends. It will be all right."

Celia informed Lisi she would be waiting at four. They set off gaily. Lisi was in holiday spirits, and to prove the point she was attired in flowing white linen trousers, a blue shirt and white beret. Celia wore her favorite yellow tennis dress, a red and orange scarf about her curls, bandanna fashion. She and Jordan rode in the rumble seat. Lisi drove the car, her precious Dicky at her side.

"Where are we going?" Celia asked.

"I don't mind."

Celia snuggled down in the seat and covered Jordan's hand with hers. The man frowned, looked bored, but let it remain there. "Don't know. Some place Lisi likes. Lord—sun's hot, isn't it?" Celia chattered about the landscape as they sailed by. Lisi Duncan drove without regard of speed laws. Even her split-hair curves had little effect on Jordan's lethargy. Once or twice he suppressed a yawn.

They reached the picnic site, a wooded hill overlooking a wide valley. The hill was cushioned underfoot with grass. Purple morning glories and brown-eyed Susans grew abundantly. Lisi pointed out a spring where they could obtain fresh water.

"Very pastoral!" Jordan commented. "Sorry, Lisi, but I'm not the rustic type."

Dicky Caruthers declared here at last was "real living." He was enthusiastic and so was Celia. They explored a while, then set to work spreading out the supper. Lisi insisted they must build a smudge to ward off mosquitoes.

Celia passed sandwiches and poured coffee from the thermos bottle. Dicky, not to be suppressed, talked about the new play. His part was not enlarged, but he was to wear a costume, which reconciled him.

The lunch was excellent—because, as Lisi said, she had had nothing to do with it and bought it all at a delicatessen shop. When the last crumb of cake had disappeared they burned the papers and packages.

Celia and Jordan wandered up the hill to look at the sunset. The man's mood had improved.

"Like this kid stuff—picnics," he said, "don't you, honey?" "Love 'em."

"And somebody loves you, too!" They rejoined Lisi and Caruthers. Dusk had fallen when the quartet started homeward. Gradually the sky darkened. The night wind whined against their cheeks, caught Celia's curls from under her scarf and blew them wildly. Jordan drew the girl nearer. Now, alone together, he was again the ardent lover.

It was wonderful riding through the darkness, but Celia's wits were at work. How was she to avoid a clash with her father? Mitchell must not see Tod Jordan. She would hate to find a way to dismiss Tod.

Possibly her father would have returned to town. No, that was not likely. They had nearly reached Larchwood now.

Celia would have been amazed at the scene on the veranda there. Evelyn, pale and lovely in the moonlight, leaned against a pillar. John Mitchell stood beside her. He bent his head, his eyes meeting hers earnestly.

"Evelyn," John Mitchell's voice came unsteadily, "you know what I've been wanting to tell you!" (To Be Continued)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 18.—Farm and oil conditions in the southwest show signs of returning confidence according to Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, who arrived here from a trip through Oklahoma and Texas.

"Some sections of the southwest were hard hit, especially by the drought," Hurley said. "The oil business in Oklahoma and north Texas is bad due to overproduction. But I saw signs of returning confidence, capital is beginning to come out of its hiding."

Hurley said the democrats were blaming President Hoover too much for the business depression, the stock market crash and the drought as well as the hot weather in Washington.

TRAIL BLAZERS ASSOCIATION HAS MEETING AT RISING STAR

RISING STAR, Oct. 18.—The third annual meeting of the Texas Trail Blazers association was held Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Shults in the south part of town. A big barbecue dinner spread under the beautiful oak trees on the back lawn of the Shults home being one of the most enjoyable features. The business session of the association was held at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning with S. C. Steele, of May, temporary chairman and M. S. Sellers, temporary secretary. In the election of officers the following were named for the ensuing year: John M. Clark, president; C. G. Shults, vice-president; E. R. Patterson, secretary. In a three-cornered race in which Rising Star, Cisco and May were candidates for the next meeting, Rising Star, sponsored by Mr. Shults was victorious and the association will hold their next meeting here on October 15th next year.

HOOVER ASKED TO INTERVIEW IN BOMB CASE

FRENCH LICK SPRINGS, 18.—President Hoover today called upon by the 25 St. Howard newspapers representing the association at their biennial conference here to interview in the Mooney-Billings case. Characterizing a "judicial fix" as the cause of California's delay in connection with the case, the editors urged the president to call on the federal grand jury to return a indictment of Warren K. Billings and Th. J. Mooney, jointly convicted of preparedness day bomb outrages July 1916. The resolution before the editors to keep the details of the case before the public until the confidence in the courts is restored.
