EDUCATORS CREATE OIL BELT ASS'N

Oil Belt Men Organize Banquet Here on Tuesday Evening

Oil Belt Educational association, the first of its character, was held last night when 50 superintendents and principals of high schools from Sweetwater to Mineral Wells gathered in the Laguna Hotel, Cisco, for a banquet followed by an organizational meeting. The purpose of the association is to provide a medium for benefit in the consideration of educational problems and discussion of methods. Meeting after a motion to put association on records bitterly fighting the ten-semester rule as outlined in the Interscholastic year book was tabled. Minutely against the consideration of controversial athletic questions in its sessions.

O. Willingham, superintendent of high school, was elected president of the new association; F. Bailey, principal of Breckenridge high school was elected vice-president, and O. G. Lanier, registrar, was named secretary.

The association snapped itself according to a plan recommended by an organizational committee which presented by W. A. Ross, principal of Mineral Wells high school. E. F. Holloway, superintendent of the Ranger schools, was named as this committee and acted at the meeting last night as temporary chairman. Others on the committee in addition to those named were Mr. Willingham, E. Dawson, Rising Star superintendent, and R. D. Green, Abilene superintendent. Mr. Dawson served as temporary secretary.

Two meetings

The plan of organization called for formation of a general association of superintendents and principals of class A and class B schools in the oil belt, principals of all schools, and all teachers. The general organization is to meet in the spring. Within this general organization will be a committee composed of the principals and superintendents which will meet twice annually, one in the spring in connection with the annual meeting and one in the fall.

The suggestion of Supt. N. H. Breckenridge, that the association hold another meeting for the purpose of considering five important reports on the state of school work in Texas will be presented to the Teachers association in conference at Houston. R. D. Green, superintendent, invited the members to meet in Abilene on Monday, November 18. The invitation was accepted.

The executive committee for the year is composed of the three superintendents and four others. A representative of a school, a class B representative, a country superintendent, a rural school principal, was elected. The last four named are: Cluck, Cisco; J. F. Boren, superintendent; Mrs. Millie Stephens county superintendent, and Lewis Smith, principal.

The newly formed association will have a vote of thanks for the hospitality with which they were entertained.

Movie Queens in Love Tangles

It seems that a movie queen nowadays just can't make up her mind, even about the same man. Above is Pola Negri, once the fiancee of Rudolph Valentino, who has just filed a second divorce suit in Paris courts against Prince Serge Mdivani, left, after withdrawing the first one and effecting a temporary reconciliation. Below are Alan Roscoe, stage star, and Barbara Bedford, the actress, who were first married in 1921, divorced in 1928, and now have announced plans to re-wed at Los Angeles. "It takes a divorce as well as a marriage to make a man and woman understand each other was their naive explanation.

Drouth Relief Meet Called at Colorado

Members of the committee which conferred with Governor Moody at Austin yesterday on plans for drouth relief in west Texas were back at their homes today without having accomplished much more than to have impressed upon the state officials their determination to push through an adequate and speedy plan of relief. Guy Dabney of Cisco, president of the relief association; Will Tyler of Rising Star and O. P. Newberry of Gorman, Eastland county representatives, returned last night.

Gov. Moody heard the committee's demand in a lengthy conference yesterday. He did not agree to call a session or not to call one but told the committee to see what it could do further at home. Among the objections to calling a special session of the legislature which he mentioned was that the state election would be held in a few weeks and that a new governor and legislature would be chosen who, he said, should be considered in any action of the character. This objection was satisfied when the group agreed to confer with R. S. Sterling, democratic nominee, and secure his assent to a special session. There were other objections put forth by the governor, one of which was the cost of a special session and another the scarcity of state funds.

The governor suggested that the facilities of intermediate credit banks have not been taken advantage of in relief of drouth and also that the local banks purchase also that each county issue for the relief of conditions within its own area.

The bankers at the conference pointed out that the banks of the district do not have the funds with which to purchase the warrants, that the conditions under which the intermediate credit banks make loans do not permit the redemption of collateral and that to set up separate credit machinery for the relief of the farmers would entail a heavy overhead which would doom it to operate from the first at a loss.

"The people in need of relief in west Texas are not those who

MARRIAGES IN COUNTY TAKE DROP

Divorces Also Show a Big Decline During Past Year

The United States department of Commerce, in a preliminary press report recently released for publication, announces that there were issued in Eastland county for 1929 317 marriage licenses as compared to 419 for 1928. The announcement gives the total number of divorces for 1929 at 102 as compared with 143 for 1928. There were no marriage annulments for 1929 as compared with 4 for 1928.

The same announcement issued by the United States department of commerce shows 63,373 marriages performed in the state during 1929 as compared with 76,340 in 1928, representing a decrease of 13,167 or 17.2 per cent. This decrease is due largely to a change in the marriage laws, effective June 12, 1929, requiring three days notice before the issuance of a marriage license.

During 1929, the report states, there were 18,386 divorces granted in Texas as compared with 18,073 in 1928, representing an increase of 313 or 1.7 per cent. There were 164 marriages annulled in 1929 in the state as compared with 155 in the state in 1928.

The chamber of commerce department's report further states that there were 1,232,559 marriages performed in the United States during the year of 1929, as compared with 1,182,497 in 1928. These figures represent an increase of 50,062 or 4.2 per cent.

During the year 1929 there were 201,475 divorces granted in the United States, as compared with 195,939 in 1928, representing an increase of 5,536 or 2.8 per cent. There were 4,400 marriages annulled in 1929, as compared with 4,337 in 1928.

The estimated population of continental United States on July 1, 1929, was 121,455,000, as compared with 119,798,000 for July 1, 1928. On the basis of these estimates, the number of marriages per 1,000 of the population was 10.1 in 1929 as against 9.9 in 1928; and the number of divorces per 1,000 of the population was 1.66 in 1929 as against 1.64 in 1928.

Colored School Feeds Board

Rachel Smith, principal of the Smithville school (colored) entertained the members of the Cisco school board, Supt. R. N. Cluck, Mrs. Alfred Irby as representative of the teachers, and the Rev. E. S. James of the First Baptist church at noon today with a turkey dinner at the school house. All members of the board, with the exception of Dr. F. E. Clark and W. W. Wallace, who were unable to attend, were present and enjoyed what they declared to be one of the best dinners they have eaten.

The dinner was served in appreciation of the fine school building provided for the colored students and for other courtesies shown them by the school board and the school officials, the guests were told.

LIONS HEAR APPEAL FOR BOY SCOUTS

P. B. Glenn presided at the Lions luncheon today. A special feature of the program was the presentation of Mr. Stroud, of the chamber of commerce of Shawnee, Oklahoma, who with a tribe of Indians, was in the city for another program.

W. W. Wallace, general executive of the Boy Scout drive in Cisco, presented the plans of the county drive and asked for a cooperative effort from the club. A number of the members volunteered their services for the week.

Billie Murray, a Cisco Boy Scout, was introduced and made a report on this organization. Supt. R. N. Cluck, also made a short talk on the value of the movement to school boys and gave some results of a survey made by himself among Boy Scouts, relating to their attainments in school.

W. H. LaRoque will have charge of the program next week.

COURT DENIES REHEARING OF MEYERS CASE

AUSTIN, Oct. 22.—A rehearing was refused by the court of criminal appeals here today for J. W. Meyers, who was given a 99 year sentence on conviction of robbing the W. T. Grant store in Dallas on Christmas Eve 1928, taking $2470. The verdict had previously been affirmed.

The state's motion for rehearing was overruled in the case of Loys Wilson who received a three year sentence in Smith county on a charge of killing Rev. Fount Wallace, pastor of the Baptist church at Troupp, April 16, 1928.

Wilson claimed the shooting was caused by Wallace's conduct toward Mrs. Wilson. A new trial was recently ordered because the district court admitted hearsay testimony. This testimony was to the effect that Mrs. Wilson had said she was not the cause of the killing. The state claimed this did not prejudice the jury but the court of criminal appeals again held it reversible error.

Reinstating a case and reversing it the court laid down the rule that charge of violation of the game laws must charge the game was wild in order to sustain the complaint. Jerome Stone had been fined $25 on a charge of shooting ducks from a power boat in Baylor county. The charge was ordered dismissed as it did not specify they were wild ducks.

DEPOSITORS TO GET MONEY THIS MONTH

W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer, has informed local attorneys for depositors in the Commercial State bank, that the checks for the 30 per cent dividend to be paid these depositors will be mailed out some time this month. He was unable to state upon what date they would be sent but said he was certain that the payment would be made this month.

He informed the attorneys that he has had six stenographers working upon the vouchers steadily since the lists were certified to him. More than 9,000 of these vouchers are to be made out.

POOL SLATED FOR BERTH ON STATE BOARD

Appointment Said to Be Favorable to the Sterling Administration

AUSTIN, Oct. 22.—Announcement of the appointment of Adrian Pool of El Paso as member of the state board of control was expected momentarily today from the governor's office.

This will necessitate Pool's withdrawal from his race for election to the state legislature. His place on the democratic ticket will be taken by Joseph McGill, member of the present legislature who did not seek re-election in the democratic primary.

This substitution is said to be satisfactory to the incoming Sterling administration. Announcement of Pool's appointment is believed to have been delayed only while satisfactory arrangements were made for his successor in the legislature. Pool returned to El Paso for that purpose after a visit in Austin.

Reports current here today indicated that former Mayor E. P. Jackson of El Paso will also withdraw from the race for the legislature and will again be a candidate for mayor. Mayor Clark Wright, El Paso attorney and farm owner is said to have consented to run in Jackson's place. This will avoid forfeiting the two seats in the legislature to the Republicans who have out an El Paso county ticket.

Made by Moody

Pool's appointment, according to understanding here, is to be made by Governor Dan Moody. It probably will not take effect until December as the governor has said he will not make a change until the state budget is completed. The term of R. B. Walthall of Nacogdoches has expired on the board, nine months ago.

The appointment of Pool will be taken to indicate that Claude Teer, now chairman of the state board of control, is to become secretary to Governor Ross Sterling. His place on the board of control is expected to be filled by John Wallace of Teague. Wallace recently withdrew from the race for the legislature without explaining the withdrawal. Like Pool he could not accept a place on the board of control if he were elected to the legislature on Nov. 4. No member of the legislature is eligible to the board placed during the entire time of the term for which he is elected to the legislature. Resignation does not remove the bar. Some believe Wallace will not be appointed until the term of Roy Tennant expires on the board in 1932.

Pool's appointment is understood to have the OK of Ross Sterling. Governor Moody has declared that he will consult Sterling in such matters.

The board of control position is a six year office paying $5,000 a year. The successor to Walthall will have only a five year term as Walthall has continued without reappointment after his term expired. It is expected he will become an official of the State Railroad commission. He was secretary to Pat Neff who placed him on the board of control. Neff now is chairman of the railroad commission.

Youthful Safe Cracker Captured

HOUSTON, Oct. 22.—A 15-year-old knobknocker was captured as he was stuffing $212 in cash in his pocket here this morning. He had opened a safe of a grocery store, and was just ready to leave with the money when officers arrived.

"I've always read that safe-crackers worked alone," he said. "And I wanted to be a lone wolf too." He said he came to Houston from New Orleans a month ago because he "got tired of New Orleans." He was turned over to probation officers.

HOPE REVIVED FOR RESCUE OF TRAPPED MEN

AACHEN, Germany, Oct. 22.—Hope of rescuing coal miners trapped in the darkness of the lower depth of the Wilhelmshafen 231 persons were killed, was revived today when unmistakable signals from the entombed men again were heard by rescuers.

The miners, believed to number about 53 but possibly including a score of others still alive, have been entombed for a day and a half about 1,300 feet below the surface.

A representative of the Russian government told the United Press that rescuers hoped to save most of the men remaining in the mine.

"We do not believe the total of dead in the disaster will exceed 238 men," he said.

TWO CHILDREN GET POISON IN MUD PIES

Two small children living near Franklin in Stephens county were near death today from the effects of poisoning. They are the four-year-old son and three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McKinney.

The children were playing "cooking" in the yard of the home and found some Paris green which they mixed into some mud pies they were baking in the sun. The pies appeared so appetizing to them that they ate some of them, or at least took a portion of the mixture into their mouths, with the result that they were soon ill.

Physicians were summoned and treatment given the children. At last reports their conditions were some improved.

REAL DROUTH RELIEF.

The Texas highway commission met here Monday with an allotment of over $10,000,000 federal road-building aid just announced from Washington to be immediately available. The U. S. Bureau of public roads has allotted Texas over $10,800,000, of which all but $800,000 is ready for immediate use the news reports said.

In addition to this, reports said Congress will be asked to also make immediately available the allotments covering 1932. This was action to meet the drouth situation in Texas. It is real drouth relief. The aid given Texas, now available, is far above any previous years. It is two and one-half times as much as granted any other state, with Arkansas next in line for available funds of four and a quarter millions.

The next step has been left to the state highway commission, and the consistent public program and the direct efforts of this body indicates it will move forward in harmony with the purpose of the federal government's far-reaching and effective act.

William Gibbs McAdoo, after a transcontinental flight from Los Angeles to New York, deserted the air for the picture and the newspaper kodakers made the most of it. ### SPEAKING OF BACK TO THE FARM.

According to census figures on April 1st there were 6,297,877 farms in the United States, or 73,763 less than the 6,371,640 in 1925 or 159,146 less than the 6,448,343 farms in 1920. The decrease in five years having been 1.2 per cent and for ten years 2 1/2 per cent.

includes all lands which is directly farmed by one person, either by his own labor alone or with the assistance of members of his household or hired employes. Any tract of land less than three acres used for agriculture purposes, which produced products to the value of $250 in the preceding calendar year is classed a farm.

MARRIAGES AND DIVORCES FOR A SINGLE YEAR.

An interesting preliminary report on the 1929 matrimonial statistics issued by the federal department of congress shows matrimony claimed 1,232,559 couples in the United States in 1929 while during the same period 201,475 divorces were recorded. There were 63,173 marriages and 18,386 divorces in Texas. Indeed according to the report numerically Texas led in divorces.

The commission honored Col. Easterwood's feat in sponsoring the Hawaii flight, first successful flight from the Pacific coast to the tiny islands far out across the water.

By coincidence, one of the army flyers who piloted the big bombers to Austin for the municipal airport opening recently, was Mainland, one of the Hawaii flight pilots. He is still a lieutenant in the air service, stationed at Kelly field.

Texas may expand its national guard to include anti-aircraft units, and thus be able to confer militia titles upon still more of its armoured sons. The legislature will hear a request to convert Camp Mabry, former guard encampment site of Austin, into a military branch of the university.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer WASHINGTON.—One of the most embarrassing situations which has arisen in national affairs for many years concerns the dedication of the Harding Memorial at Marion, Ohio.

No one has ever contested the theory that this memorial to a dead president ought to be formally dedicated by a living president—that it was up to Mr. Coolidge, who didn't, or Mr. Hoover, who hasn't.

Several informal attempts have been made to get Coolidge and Hoover to the scene; they met no encouragement. Republican leaders agree that Coolidge showed good political judgment in declining to dedicate the memorial during the presidential campaign year of 1928, but some think he should have acted just before leaving office.

The White House has had absolutely nothing to say about the dedication, but friends of the administration point out that Hoover was too busy hearing the business of being president and trying to handle a hard special session of Congress to do anything about the memorial in 1929. And that he could hardly be expected to make the dedication during such a difficult election year as 1930.

WOODS TAKES OVER WORK TO AID JOBLESS

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Work of setting up the administration machinery to deal with unemployment began today with the arrival of Col. Arthur Woods, former New York police commissioner, selected by President Hoover for this task. After a conference with President Hoover, Col. Woods and Secretary of Commerce Lamont, chairman of the cabinet committee on unemployment, were prepared to turn immediately to organization work.

Staggered hours for many industries appeared likely to become the first expedient in the effort to spread a limited number of jobs among a larger number of workmen. The White House estimated that 3,500,000 persons are unemployed. Secretary of War Hurley already has inaugurated the stagger program in food relief work to create more jobs. He is ready to double the number of food control employees if necessary by reducing the labor week to three days.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont, chairman of the cabinet unemployment council, has accepted the idea as a basic one but today would not anticipate the cabinet group's decisions by indicating whether private industry would be asked to co-operate in shortening the labor week.

Hold First Meeting
The cabinet group's first meeting yesterday was with Mr. Hoover. The general survey produced no detailed program but this work will be undertaken by Col. Woods. There is similarity but not identity between the staggered hour system advanced by Hurley and the five day week sponsored by the American Labor. The latter contemplated a reduced working period but no reduction in wages. Hurley's project would divide the wage between laborers who would also share in the hours of employment.

Inquiry at the Red Cross developed that no national unemployment relief work was contemplated. Former President Coolidge's syndicated copyright articles appearing as Mr. Hoover's committee began its labors warned against proposed unemployment nostrums of legislative visionaries and Senator Fess, chairman of the republican national committee, echoed these opinions here.

"SPIRITUALS" CALM MEN IN DEATH ROW

By ROBERT A. ERVIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 22.—"Swing Low Sweet Chariot, comin' to carry me home—"
"No harm, no harm—"
The strains of these famous southern negro spirituals came from the throats of many condemned men in North Carolina state prison here before and during the march to the electric chair.

Religion—mainly southern negro religion—prepares them for their last walk down the narrow concrete floor and eternity. There are 17 men on "Death Row" today. Two of them are there for safekeeping as a precaution against possible mob violence. The others eventually will die in the old wooden electric chair, time worn after 20 years of service in 106 electrocutions, unless the supreme court or executive clemency saves them.

Harvey Lawrence, young negro who recently was electrocuted for first degree burglary, led the "Death Row" songsters on his last day of life. With Lawrence carrying the lead, 15 other voices joined in singing "No harm, no harm—" a negro hymn. A few minutes later Lawrence was led away and the "row's" population had decreased by one.

Religion, as expounded by negro ministers, soothes the nerves of condemned blacks. They meet death calmly, often with a smile and chanting, or reciting parts of the Bible or hymns.

BANDITS ROB TWO COUPLES OF JEWELRY

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Three bandits who resembled and worked like those who recently held up the wife of Mayor William Hale Thompson held up two wealthy Chicago couples early today and escaped with $64,000 worth of jewelry.

The victims of the robbery were George B. Crandell, broker and former vice president of Montgomery Ward and Company, Ralph Gardner, broker, and Mrs. Crandell and Mrs. Gardner. The two couples had attended a fashion show and went from there to the Drake hotel, where the Crandells live. As they got out of the taxi on a turntable motor entrance at the side of the hotel, the three bandits held them up. Crandell and Gardner were forced to sit inside the cab while the women were searched.

From Mrs. Crandell the bandits took two diamond rings, one of which was valued at $30,000; a bracelet valued at $15,000 and a drop earring valued at $10,000. They took a $10,000 diamond ring from Mrs. Gardner and a $5,000 ring and $50

Methodists Meet At Greenville

GREENVILLE, Oct. 22.—The annual north Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, opened here today, with some 500 ministers and laymen attending.

Bishop H. A. Boaz will preside throughout the four-day meeting. Several outstanding changes were expected to be introduced as a result of the 1930 general conference at Dallas. The most important was the formation of the new board of Christian education, made up of three former boards. Another new body to be chosen was the conference commission on benevolence. Appointment of ministers, all subject to change every four years will be the chief activity from the standpoint of general interest. Bishop Boaz and the nine presiding elders will make the appointments.

Proposed Canalization of Trinity River Is Justified Association Points Out

By THOMAS C. CLUCK
United Press Staff Correspondent
DALLAS, Oct. 22.—Is the proposed federal expenditure of upward of $30,000,000 to make the Trinity river navigable justified by the reasonably anticipated benefits? The Trinity River Canal association is laboring mightily to establish proof beyond question that it is.

It has reported to President Hoover that such a waterway would effect an annual saving of $3,000,000 in the transportation of 5,175,140 tons of freight. Directors of the association hold that history has shown that commerce is doubling in quantity every 12 years in this section, and an annual saving of $18,000,000 might be expected.

Industrial expansion can be hastened and facilitated by providing cheap water rates, the association contends. Statisticians reported that 65 per cent of all the inhabitants of Texas and southern Oklahoma would be benefitted directly or otherwise by consummation of the ideal. Figures of traffic experts have quoted purporting to show that benefits to these two states would realize an annual saving of $20,000,000.

Directors of the association recite figures to support their argument that a canalized Trinity would save West Texas and Oklahoma $1 a bale in the transportation of cotton, would save wheat growers from three to six cents per bushel on wheat; would effect untold economy in the importation of machinery, lumber, steel, building materials and like commodities.

Iron mines in east Texas, of which much of the citizenry is unaware, have been closed many years because it was impossible to compete with cheap water rates on the great lakes. Quarries of rock and lignite have been accumulating dust many years for a similar reason.

New Orleans recently gained an important advantage over Texas through developments of the Mississippi system, and a great amount of wheat and cotton from north-west Texas and Oklahoma formerly moved through Memphis to New Orleans by barge. South-western railroads have filed protests with the Interstate Commerce commission that the new rail-barge rates will favor New Orleans over Texas ports.

Baltimore would be reduced approximately 15c a hundred pounds, he said.

DEATH TOLL IN GERMAN MINE MOUNTS

AACHEN, Germany, Oct. 22.—The death toll in the Wilhelm mine disaster increased steadily today while frantic crowds at the mine entrance saw dead and injured brought from the debris of the shaft wrecked by an explosion.

Prussian government officials announced at 12:30 p. m. that 231 bodies had been recovered. This included six miners who died in hospitals but took no account of the men remaining in the mine.

An official statement said that 667 men were in the pit at the time of the explosion. It was not known definitely how many of these had reached the seam some 1,400 feet below the surface where most of those trapped were believed to be, but the number was estimated originally at 225.

Rescue workers feared the danger of gas, fire and water as they made their way through the torn and twisted wreckage of the pits. It was feared that water might seep through the cracks opened by the explosion and drown the entombed men before help could reach them. The presence of gas in the lower regions of the mine was considered possible, with the consequent danger of further explosions.

Man Finds Life In Crazy Water

County Sheriff Wants World To Know His Crazy Story
In the year of 1923 I was living at Okla. I was confined to my bed with a complication of diseases. I was diagnosed by different ones as Rheumatism, Paralysis, Neuritis, Rheumatism and a dead liver. When it was decided to take me to Mineral Wells the doctors did not think that I would live to get there. The doctors in Mineral Wells thought I arrived did not think that there was any chance for me to recover. I drank Crazy Water for four months and was, so far as I can tell, completely well. I gained 40 pounds in weight, and took a job as county sheriff which necessitated being on my feet from eight to twelve hours every day, and often doing a lot of night work. Crazy Water certainly pulled me out of the grave.

WHY are Camels welcomed with cheers in any company—a twosome or a crowd? Because they're mild—not flat or tasteless but naturally mild. They have the marvelous aroma that only choice tobaccos, mellowed by golden sunshine, then expertly cured and superbly blended, can give a cigarette. There's nothing artificial about this delightful fragrance. No doctoring, no over-processing can produce it. Camel's refreshing mildness is there from the start.

Swing with the crowd to Camels. Learn the happy difference between true mildness and insipid flatness. Smoke without fear of throat-discomfort or after-taste—just for pleasure!

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Adventure enters the life of Celia Mitchell, 17, when she learns the father she has supposed dead is alive and wealthy. She leaves her unpretentious home in Baltimore to live in New York with her father, John Mitchell, and her aristocratic grandmother.

Margaret Rogers, Celia's mother, is now a widow, having divorced Mitchell and later remarried, Barney Shields, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl and before leaving Baltimore Celia promised to be loyal to his love.

Mitchell asks Evelyn Parsons, a beautiful widow, to introduce the girl to young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections though she is jealous and at once begins scheming to get rid of the girl.

She introduces Celia to Tod Jordan, fascinating but of a dubious character, and does all she can to encourage the match. Lisi Duncan, socially prominent, becomes Celia's loyal friend.

Mitchell learns Jordan is paying his daughter attentions and forbids her to see him. Celia offends her grandmother and the elderly Mrs. Mitchell feigns illness and departs for a rest. The girl goes to Mrs. Parsons' Long Island home for a lengthy visit. There Jordan calls frequently. Mitchell arrives and seems about to propose marriage to Mrs. Parsons when Celia interrupts. Next day when opportunity offers he does not introduce the subject. Celia and Jordan go to a supper club to dance and there encounter Eve Brooks, whose marriage does not interfere with her flirtations.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIII

A waiter who appeared to know Jordan led them to a table before a window overlooking the porch.

"Have you been here before?" Celia asked.

"Yes—once or twice. Not recently," Jordan looked away as he spoke.

"Well, I think it's lovely here. I'm glad you brought me." "Better order before we dance. What do you want?"

Celia looked over the menu card and made her selection. Jordan gave the order to the waiter, who nodded and disappeared.

The orchestra leader at the far side of the room raised his baton. The first bars of "In Monterey" floated out on the air. The leader was a blond youth, slim and with a boyish face. Now he raised his megaphone and was singing the ballad.

"That's it—our song!" "What do you mean?"

Before Celia could explain a soprano laugh interrupted.

"Well, imagine finding you two here!"

Eve Brooks was coming toward them. Her scarlet lips were lowered in a satirical smile. Her eyes were bright, her laughter a trifle unsteady and too high-pitched. She wore a black, low-cut gown spangled with flaming poppies. On her arm were several jeweled bracelets. Eve glanced toward Celia and said to her lips and drew on it deeply.

"Why—Eve! Won't you join us?" Celia tried to appear cordial.

"Thanks, yes."

Jordan had risen and drawn out a chair. Eve saw in the man's eyes, "Is your husband here?" Celia asked. "Find him and bring him over, Tod."

Eve lifted a hand in protest. "Not Courtney," she smiled. "I'd have to get out a search warrant to locate that lad. Haven't seen him for two days. He's supposed to be on a fishing trip, but I'm not so sure. No, darling, I'm here with a nice little boy friend I picked up last week-end. Frederick's his name. Oh, there he is!"

Mrs. Brooks half rose, was laying a hand at a young man in the middle of the room who appeared to be hunting someone. He came toward them.

"Frederick, I've run into some people I know. Miss Mitchell, Mr. Ward, and Mr. Jordan."

not true. I don't know anything more I can say to you except that it's not true!"

Celia looked into the man's angry eyes. Yes, he meant what he said. It was not true. Tears of happiness rose before her.

"Then everything's all right again?"

"Of course it is."

She reached for Jordan's hand and clasped it tightly. Celia was radiant. The man beside her seemed less exuberant. Suddenly the girl's expression changed.

"Listen, Tod," she said. "I'm not going to have Eve Brooks spreading stories like that about you. Why, it's horrible—buying jewelry for a married woman! And if she said it to me she'll tell others. I think she's terrible! We'll both go back there and make her admit there wasn't a word of truth in what she said. We'll make her—"

"Oh, now, Celia," Jordan began uncomfortably. "You don't want to make a scene. That's all in the world that would happen. You know Eve! She'd get hysterical, and there's no telling what she'd do."

"But we must! It's the only way to stop her."

Jordan gave a wry grin. "Only way to start her, you mean?"

"Why, Tod, you talk as though—"

"See here, did we come out to quarrel about Eve Brooks or to have some pleasure? You'd better powder your nose and fix your hair and then we'll go inside. Seems to me I ordered something to eat several hours ago."

Meekly Celia opened her vanity case and dusted her face with the tiny puff. They returned to the dining room. One darting look told Celia that Eve had disappeared.

"Where's the waiter? Jordan found the man who had taken the order, told him to bring a second. Afterward they danced, but the fine edge of the evening had been dulled. It was early when they returned to Larchwood. Jordan said good night and left immediately.

An hour later he entered the living room of Eve Brooks' apartment.

"Well," he said angrily, "so you've taken to telling tales!"

GOVT MOVES TO PROVIDE EMPLOYMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Individual suffering this winter will be prevented by administration measures now under way to relieve unemployment, it was said at the White House on behalf of President Hoover.

It was estimated approximately 3,500,000 persons are idle.

The immediate program, it was stated, is for a survey of the problem looking toward cooperation of municipal, state and federal agencies. Welfare bodies and similar organizations will be drawn into the plan.

Selection of Col. Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York to take charge of the development of an organization to handle the unemployment problem this winter was announced.

These developments took place immediately following the first meeting of President Hoover's special cabinet committee appointed to deal with unemployment.

At the same time Secretary of War Harley announced the war department was prepared to institute the three-day week on flood control projects along the Mississippi river if necessary to provide more employment in that area. Hurley, a member of the president's unemployment committee said staggered hours already had been inaugurated below St. Louis and below Cairo.

"Three days a week would double the number of employees and at least would be a meal ticket," Hurley said. He promised the war department would spend every dollar it had available, the expenditure of which would require employment of labor.

FARMERS URGING.
MIDLAND, Oct. 22.—In a petition by 300 farmers here, the pink bollworm commission was urged to lift the quarantine on Midland and other west Texas counties. It was set forth that quantity of bolls amounts from 4 to 6 per cent and the restriction has resulted in a bad market for the cotton from the area.

My Giants

The New York Giants that I picked to win the National League chase did not win any chase, as you well know. But they wound up the season snugly in third place, a game behind the Cubs and three notches away from the championship. The nice part of it, not from my own standpoint particularly, but from a New Yorker's, is that the Giants crowded in front of those pesky Brooklyn Robins, their bitterest enemies from the opening gong. I still think that if Brooklyn had been barred from the league this season, my Giants would have won.

Memphis Bill Terry

WHILE the boys are renewing acquaintances back home in Gretna, La.; Meeker, Okla.; Arad, Calif.; Somerville, Mass.; and other out-of-the-way places, I've been having a lot of fun mulling over the statistics after Memphis Bill Terry's name. Big Bill did some noteworthy things with hits but in the season just closed. First of all, unofficial averages show that he hit .401 to lead the league in batting. Secondly, he registered 254 base hits, which figure tied the National League mark recorded a year ago by Frank (Lefty) O'Doul of the Phillies. Thirdly, he established himself as the first Giant to hit .400 or better for a season. Lastly, he was the first Giant to win a batting championship since Larry Doyle turned the trick with an average of .320 back in 1915.

Flatbush Flattery

UNCLE WILBERT (ROUND ROBIN) ROBINSON gave those Flatbushers plenty to be proud of this season, too. They didn't win any pennants, to be sure, but they perched at the top longer than any of the rest, unless you count the Cardinals' roosting period from now until the season opens next spring. In addition, there was an improved pitching staff with Vance, Luque, Thurston and the youthful Phelps turning in many sensationally pitched victories. There were the rejuvenation of Glenn Wright, the discovery and rise to stardom of young Alfonso Lopez, the Spanish catcher, and the great defensive improvement of Babe Herman.

This Draft Ogre

Immediate inferiors came to deadly grips the other day in Cleveland over the matter of the draft. It seems the big people of the minor leagues don't care to allow choice of players from their organizations at the rate of $5000 per ivory sample. The big leagues, which have been paying all sorts of plain and fancy prices for the budding ivory, want the rate set at something reasonable and stable. The idea is, the big leagues wish to quit outbidding among themselves. It has turned out to be an expensive practice. It will be worked out without a great deal of trouble, say the big league people. A fair draft price will be determined only after a lot of trouble, say the minor league folk. All I can inform you today is that it will be worked out. The ogre will be slain.

Come Now, Charles!

MR. Charles Gabby Old Sarge Street breaks into print again with a piece in which he says he has a great ball club and that he doesn't think the best team won. Great fellow, Gabby Street, and you can't help liking him for the way he led his boys in the recent world series. But he's a great spoofer, Gabby Street, and you know he loves a joke.

Collegiate?

THERE seemed a distinctly collegiate influence abroad in the recent series. It was exemplified in a sort of "pals-off-the-field-bitter-enemies-during-the-g-a-m-e" attitude among the boys. Thus, Al Simmons and Burleigh Grimes, Simmons and Grimes got into condition last spring at Hot Springs. Romped together and played with another's blocks. Al told Burleigh he considered him a great pitcher, and Burleigh told Al he was a very fair to middling batter.

Snyder Resigns as Cats' Manager

PORT WORTH, Oct. 22.—Frank Snyder, who led the Fort Worth Panthers to Texas and Dixie championships this year, has resigned his post as manager of the Fort Worth team, Ted Robinson, president of the club, announced today. Snyder will be replaced by Dugan Phelan who was manager of the Shreveport Sports last year.

FORWARD PASS PLAYS PART IN WESTERN GAMES

By GEORGE KIRKSEY United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The outstanding feature of middle-western football thus far this season has been the important part played by the forward pass in deciding the big games.

Notre Dame, Northwestern and Michigan, three of the leaders in this region, owe their October success primarily to successful aerial attacks. Two passes in the last four minutes of play enabled Notre Dame to break a 14-14 deadlock and defeat Southern Methodist, 20-14, in its first game. One of the passes was completed, while the other was ruled completed on the 4-yard line when the umpire called interference on a Southern Methodist halfback. From this point Schwartz scored the winning touchdown. Notre Dame's margin of victory over Carnegie Tech, 21-6, was supplied by two touchdowns scored on forward passes, one of which gained 50 yards. After Carnegie had halted Notre Dame's running game in the second period, a pass gained the first touchdown.

Seven of Northwestern's eight touchdowns made in the Wildcat's two conference games have been through the air. Northwestern's pass combination of Pug Rentner to Frank Baker netted the first two touchdowns in the Wildcat's 32-0 rout of Illinois. One of the touchdowns made by Northwestern in defeating Tulane, 14-0, resulted from an intercepted pass. Michigan has used the pass discreetly but effectively. Harry Newman, Michigan's crack young quarterback, threw only two passes against Ohio State, but they led to both of the Wolverines' touchdowns.

One of the two touchdowns by Michigan in nosing out Purdue 14-13 was made on a pass. Wisconsin has a promising aerial attack, but has not as yet been forced to fall back on it for victory. A pass netted one touchdown in Wisconsin's 27-0 triumph over Penn. Inability to combat a dazzling pass attack brought crushing defeat to Minnesota in a Vanderbilt game 33 to 7.

Southwestern Conference Teams Prepare For Grilling Contests

Young Pilots Learn Discretion

TYLER, Oct. 22.—Amid the tombs of Rose Hill burial park stood a memorial today to the ancient adage that discretion is the better part of valor. Denied the use of the municipal landing field, three Tyler youths Tuesday rolled their ship out into a cove pasture, crossed a series of pit-pits out of their motor, and glided away for higher regions. Seventy-five feet aloft the motor died, and the ship crashed down to bury itself in the earth of the burial park. The sky pilots luckily escaped with bruises and scratches.

BIG DAM CHATTER

The iniquities of over-emphasizing high school sports have never been more clearly demonstrated in the oil belt than this week. The doctrine of winning at all costs seems to have taken precedence over the spirit of fair play that should prevail in contests of this character. The result, momentarily, is that sportsmanship is infinitely more far-reaching than that.

We have heard much of the valuable effects of athletics rightly conducted upon the character of boys. Football, basket ball and other contests between high school and college students are carried on first of all for the boys, we have been told. Yet, in the face of that contention we find school men who would above all things look to the welfare of their young charges, allowing prejudice and the greed of winning to dominate their judgment, forcing a situation that creates hate and enmity between towns and citizens and inoculates the student mind with the doctrine that the main object is to win regardless of what methods may be used toward that end.

The situation that has been created in the oil belt by the protests of two Cisco players is certainly unhealthy. The fair-minded lover of sports wants his games played on the field, not in the conference room. He wants to anticipate a game with a healthy, open mind, unhampered by harsh and unfair tactics, the consciousness that trickery, not strategy, is being employed. He is above all the sort of sportsman who wants to see his team win but wants that victory to be clean and deserved.

Frankly we have little pleasure in anticipation of the game Friday. The thrill has been taken away. The game has been overshadowed by a fear of unfriendliness, by distrust and resentment. Perhaps we should not feel that way; perhaps there are those who will charge us with a sentiment of unsportsmanship. It is not our purpose to blame those who brought the charges. It is that the system of administering the athletic affairs in the oil belt has been allowed to run to seed, to desert the spirit for the letter, to sprout embarrassing technicalities that entangle healthy development.

It is high time that the district committee in its wisdom do something to arrest a situation that is as certain to kill high school sports, if it continues, as the sun is to set on Cisco tonight.

Now we are going to hear a few words from a brother scribe: (Wes Hodges in the Breckridge American.) To District Comm. Gov. Dan Moody, local officials, and the Indiana University band will lead the paraders to Fair Park where Indiana and Southern Methodist university will battle for intersectional honors.

WAXAHACHIE, Oct. 22.—Trinity University Tigers open their Texas conference schedule Saturday by playing the St. Edwards Saints at Austin. The clash will end two of the flashiest backs in the conference pitted against one another: Henry Parma of the Saints and Lemmie Shick of the Tigers.

ARLINGTON, Oct. 22.—North Texas Agricultural college Aggies, whose grid goal has not been crossed this season, will invade Paris Friday for a tussle with Paris Junior college. The game brings together the two leading contenders for the association championship.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 22.—Crippled stars are returning to the squad and Indiana will have its full strength available for Saturday's game with Southern Methodist university at Dallas. Coach Payne is concentrating on development of a defense against S. M. U.'s pass attack and search for capable reserves.

TURKEY GRADING SCHOOL SUCCESS

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 22.—Nearly 150 turkey buyers began the third session of the grading school being held here today, for instruction in the scientific marketing of holiday birds throughout the nation. The school is the second of its kind to be held in the United States. Under the direction of O. B. Martin, director of extension work at the Texas A. & M. college, buyers and producers are informed how to feed to meet desirable grades, and how to kill, dress, and pack turkeys for shipment throughout the country. County and home demonstration agents from five districts covering the western half of Texas will meet with the turkey graders beginning Thursday.

Hate It

However, the fans of Breckridge hate to see such a controversy arise just before such a big and important game.

Turkey Grading School Success

The Ows possess a team that is not to be sneered at by the Texas eleven, according to C. J. Alderson, Texas scout who watched the Pork-Owl clash last week. The Sooner game uncovered the best feature of the Longhorns' play to date, their fierce tackling.

HOUSTON, Oct. 22.—Undismayed by the '29 scorecards which put the Rice Owls as the underdogs in the fray with the Longhorns of Texas university this week, Coach Jack Meagher's charges were training with a vim today to throw its promised surprise party onto the southwest conference calendar. Playing in their own backyard, the Rice men are prepared to take advantage of any letdown that may follow the Longhorn-Sooner clash in Dallas last week. The Owls will be in better physical condition than were the Oklahomaans, and have a long list of formidable reserves to throw into the fray. FORT WORTH, Oct. 22.—In undisputed possession of the top-most rung of the football ladder, the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs were resting on their laurels today while the "b" and "c" teams scrambled out onto the field to prepare for the Texas Tech Matadors Saturday. One other easy game, with the Abilene Christian Wildcats, stands between the Frogs and the home stretch of the season when they play four conference games in a row.

SPORT SHOTS

DALLAS, Oct. 22.—One of the most colorful football parades ever to wend its way through the maze of Dallas traffic will be held Saturday morning as part of the program which dedicates Fair Park stadium. Gov. Dan Moody, local officials, and the Indiana University band will lead the paraders to Fair Park where Indiana and Southern Methodist university will battle for intersectional honors.
