FEDERAL AID AND STATE COOPERATION.

Texas has a law, the intent and purpose of which is to supply funds to match federal aid independent of the necessity of exacting local funds from county and road district bond issues.

Last week the federal government is taking steps to make available the annual apportionment of federal aid for 1937 to states before it would otherwise be available in July 1937.

It is another reminder that Texas annual apportionment of federal aid under the recent act of congress is $7,629,239, out of the total of $121,875,000 allotted to the state.

"Texas will have a hard time meeting this allotment on an annual basis not to say taking advantage of federal aid being advanced before it was intended to be available for the purpose of assisting in drought relief.

State Highway Commr. Cone Johnson reminds Texas that "it is very easy for the commission to tie up the entire amount of state money in projects on which the federal government will match dollars."

PICK AND SHOVEL AGE.

Minneapolis city officials have assembled a list of a million dollars worth of needed public improvements and will rotate jobs among the unemployed, giving part time work to an estimated 10,000 or 15,000 men.

Records show the great majority have so far been able to support themselves and family without appealing to charity. Regardless of all this Mayor Murphy of Detroit says out of this army of unemployed humanity the recognized relief agencies now are supporting 15,000 families and 1000 single persons.

DISCARDING A BELIEF.

Another of the old prejudices or superstitions concerning disease and its cure stands repudiated in the public health service bulletin announcing the scientific conclusion that it is nearly always unnecessary for a sufferer to go far from home for a cure for tuberculosis.

Science has discovered that there is no magic in weather to cure tuberculosis and that the old reliable remedies of rest, nourishing food and intelligent nursing are sounder medicine than any painful pilgrimage in search of health and strength.

Just when the public had been firmly convinced that tuberculosis cures required desert or mountain air, Washington experts discover that the results of sanatorium treatment for similar classes of patients are about the same all over the world and anywhere in the United States regardless of climate and that no state has found it necessary to go outside its borders to locate its state sanatorium.

This news brings new hope to thousands of sufferers who fear the long months or years in hospitals far from their homes than the disease itself. They now know the fight may be made without isolation from friends and familiar scenes and without the extra expense of the pursuit of a special climate.

CLUE TO MISSING SHIPS.

After rowing a dory for 72 hours without food and water the crew of the schooner Carranza reached shore to tell an extraordinary tale of seeing its ship split in two and sent to the bottom by a bolt of lightning far out at sea.

There fails to come to mind, and newspaper files have not furnished a precedent, for this unusual sea disaster. Rarely does lightning find a target in the open ocean and this is the first eye-witness account of the destruction of a ship by heavenly fire.

The wrecking of the Carranza may have cleared up the mystery of many of those ships which have gone to sea never to return and leaving no clue as to their fate.

Might not this also explain some of our tragedies of the air from which none has survived to tell the tale? Many planes have crashed in storms from no apparent cause.

The frost is on the pumpkin and the grapes are in the keg.

Four short weeks until Thanksgiving, turkey and the end of the football season!

If the "buy now" movement can keep things moving a week or two longer, the "do your Christmas shopping early" slogan will do the rest.

What makes the tired business man tired? Being called a profiteer when business is good and inhuman when he has no orders with which to pay wages.

OTHER OPINIONS

KEEP PAN EYE ON DETROIT

Any industrial experiment is interesting, and the one now being conducted in Detroit may eventually stand out as the most interesting case of the year.

Detroit's new mayor was elected on a program calling for the relief of unemployment. He has sought to meet this pledge by inducing the city's leading automobile makers to reorganize their program so as to provide some 25,000 extra jobs, and it will be worth while watching to see how the project makes out.

The auto plants were working part time, and fully 75,000 men were out of work. What the manufacturers did, apparently, was divide the same amount of work among a greater number of men, so that there would be part-time jobs for many instead of full-time jobs for a few.

As a matter of fact, anything that happens in the Detroit factory district is important. Detroit, during the last 15 years, seems to have become a sort of laboratory, wherein new industrial methods can be tested for the nation as a whole.

This proposition of dividing up

CRACKS IN THE DOME

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Union printers will go before Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt in an effort to break up the plan to put a printing plant in the state prison for operation by convict labor in manufacturing state printing supplies.

They will claim a ruling by his own department, made by a former official, will prevent the prison plant's operation.

W. B. Arnold, San Antonio, secretary of the state Printing Trades council, will come here to confer with Attorney General Bobbitt, it became known and ask him for a ruling on the constitutional provision dealing with state printing.

Art. 16, Sec. 21 of the constitution says "All stationery and printing except proclamations and such printing as may be done at the deaf and dumb asylum—shall be performed under contract to be given the lowest responsible bidder."

Apparently an effort to meet this section was indicated in the announcement of the state prison printing for departments and institutions as it could secure in competitive bidding.

Until the union officials had conferred with him, Attorney General Bobbitt withheld comment on the matter.

Proceeding Texas' own Centennial Exposition in 1936, a state committee will meet in Austin November 7 to plan the state's participation in the Chicago World's Fair of 1933, according to notice just received by Austin members.

Former Governor Mayes is one of the 100 directors of the Texas Centennial. The state committee to assist the Chicago organization in getting money from Texas for its fair, was appointed by Gov. Dan Moody.

In the call for the meeting here November 7, the state committee pointed out that Texas had taken a prominent part in the Columbian World Fair at Chicago in 1893, and in the St. Louis World's Fair.

Instead of costing the taxpayers, the University of Texas permanent fund investment constitutional amendment will lower the cost of ment or replace the federal free employment serv.

Th official believes that the department closely in touch with agricultural conditions over the state, through the cooperation of over 200 regular reporting agencies is best fitted to deal with the demand and supply of farm labor.

TEXAS TOPICS

By THE POLITICAL ANALYST. AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Sam D. W. Lee, who made an able legislator, prison official, and now is making an outstanding county judge, was a visitor under the big dome from Brenham. He's boss of the first successful concrete highway in the state, and the advocate of more of them.

Some of the legislative big guns will be silenced election day. Senator Tom B. Love went out, looking for another office. Representative Cecil Storey, one of the house leaders, ran for another office. But Senator A. J. Wirtz, who retires from the upper house, dropped out voluntarily without hunting any other place.

Senator Wirtz is a frequent visitor to the statehouse on legal business. As the leader of the opposition he kept his temper and he fought to a finish every interparty battle that arose on policy questions. He will retire without leaving made an enemy and with the friendship and good will of every colleague.

"Texas: Where men are men and women are governors," was the banner a short time ago. The theory that the newer, more progressive, faster-growing west responds more readily to the advancement of women in political affairs is not borne out so far as a comparison of East Texas and West Texas is concerned.

The only woman lawmaker from what may be called the west was Mrs. Laura Burleson Negley, San Antonio and she declined to ask for another term.

Mrs. Helen Moore, Galveston, and Miss Margie Neal, Carthage, this year shared the distinction of being the first women ever elected to legislative posts.

The first woman lawmaker was Mrs. Edith Williams, Dallas. She was not respected. Dallas is the first city to have sent two feminine representatives to the lawmaking body in the election of Mrs. Hughes, an able lawyer, this year.

Whether there will be any conflict in Texas' trying to make its 1936 Centennial an event of world wide renown, and the effort to give the state a large showing in the Chicago Fair of 1933 probably will be thrashed out at a meeting here November 7 of the Chicago Fair's Texas committee.

LEADING GRID TEAMS ENJOY REST PERIOD

By L. S. CAMERON. United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Moving into November, leading college teams of the nation are taking something approaching a breathing spell.

One of the greatest games of the season should come off at Lexington, Ky., where Alabama and Kentucky, undefeated and united and each seeking a southern conference title...

In the east there's a game of quite some moment at New Haven, Dartmouth's White Indians which haven't been beaten or tied, will play a Yale eleven which has lost to Georgia and which was tied by the army.

Fordham's undefeated, united and unscorced-upon Rams will meet an improved West Virginia team here. The service elevens have what should be breathers...

The east's leading contribution to the intersectional phase will come off at Philadelphia in the Pennsylvania-Kansas meeting...

The prime midwest attractions are at Minneapolis where Northwestern's conference leading eleven will play Minnesota...

Chicago has an intersectional. Princeton will play Chicago University. Notre Dame meets Indiana...

Back in the east are two other intersectionals—Harvard will play William and Mary in one of those things. Boston college will play Marquette.

SPOTLIGHT IS FOCUSED UPON AUSTIN TODAY

By VERNON A. MCGEE. United Press Staff Correspondent. DALLAS, Oct. 31.—The southwest conference spotlight was focused today on Memorial stadium at Austin...

The Albanians were at their wit's ends to cope with this situation. Set to defend themselves against one style of attack in one quarter they were forced to revise their defense to meet a totally different style in another.

So far as is known this is the first time that a team in the oil belt has used two fundamentally different systems of offense in the same game.

TITLES HOPES OF 4 TEAMS ARE IN BALANCE

By DIXON STEWART. United Press Staff Correspondent. CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Title hopes of four of the remaining five contenders for the Big Ten championship will be in the balance tomorrow as the 1930 season enters its final month...

In the annual game since 1920, S. M. U. has won all but two, which were ties, and the bitter gridiron rivalry of the two schools has become a tradition.

Other members of the conference will entertain visitors in secondary affairs that have no bearing on the conference race. The Texas Aggies will meet the tricky and troublesome Centenary gentlemen on the College Station field...

At Shawnee, Oklahoma, the Baylor eleven will seek victory in the first of a series of annual tussles with the Oklahoma Baptists. Cy Leland and his mates at Texas Christian university will continue their holiday at Fort Worth by allowing the reserves to battle Abilene Christian college.

The Rice Institute Owls, who have won five of six games played in an effort to dispel clouds of defeat which have shadowed the school for years, will continue the campaign by taking on an unheralded team from Sewanee at Houston.

Northwestern, rated as the strongest team in the conference, is a favorite to defeat Minnesota, but expects a hard battle.

Wisconsin's highly touted "power house" dropped a 7 to 6 decision to Purdue last week and is in a mood which promises grief for Ohio State.

Chicago meets a traditional foe, Princeton, in the renewal of a competition which has produced some of the game's greatest battles.

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 31.—Coach Roswell Higginbotham's got their first taste of competition when they open their 1930 grid schedule on Kyle field this afternoon with the strong Allen academy eleven of Coach Piny Wilson.

Heart Hungry

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Celia Mitchell, 17, leaves Baltimore where she has lived with her seamstress mother, Margaret Rogers, to join her wealthy father, John Mitchell, in New York. The parents are divorced and Mrs. Rogers is a widow following a second marriage.
Barney Shields, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl. Mitchell asks Evelyn Parsons, beautiful widow, to introduce his daughter to other young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections. She soon becomes jealous of the girl and schemes to get rid of her by encouraging a romance between Celia and Ted Jordan, fascinating but of dubious character.
Although Mitchell forbids Celia to see Jordan she goes about with the young man frequently. Lisi Duncan, a girl of Celia's age, becomes her loyal friend. Shields comes to New York to work for a photographic service and meets Celia. She tells him she has lost her heart to Jordan. Celia is a guest at Mrs. Parsons' uptown apartment. She meets Shields on the street one afternoon and is with him when Jordan appears. They enter a shop, thus avoiding an encounter.
Lisi, Celia and Mrs. Parsons are together that evening when they hear a radio report of a disastrous fire in a building where Shields is working.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL
Lisi Duncan grasped the other girls arm. "Where are you going?" she cried. "I've got to go to get there. Let me go."
Freeing herself, she rushed from the apartment. Lisi turned, bewildered, toward Mrs. Parsons.
"Go after her!" the woman said, rising. "See if you can stop her."
Without a coat Lisi darted into the corridor. She caught up with Celia as the girl was ringing for the elevator.
"Don't cry, honey," she begged. "Maybe it isn't so bad. Please don't cry."
A door slammed and Evelyn Parsons came bustling down the hall to join them. She reached the girl just as they were stepping into the descending car. At once Evelyn took charge.
"Celia," she said, "you must tell me where you're going! What's the meaning of this?"
Lisi was the one who answered. "We're going to the fire!" she exclaimed. "Celia knows someone who's there. Isn't it exciting?"
"But this is impossible!" Evelyn protested. "It's in the night! How reached the ground floor and the two girls hurried toward the entrance. Mrs. Parsons hesitated, pulled her cloak more closely about her and, with a dismayed gaze upward, followed.
"My car's at the right," Lisi pointed. In another minute all three were squeezed into the close quarters of the coupe and the motor was throbbing.
Lisi swerved the car into the stream of traffic.
"This is madness," Evelyn Parsons stormed. "You can't mean you're really going to this fire!"
If Celia heard her she gave no sign of it. Her face was white and drawn. She pressed her hands together.
"Hurry, Lisi," she begged. "Oh, I was afraid something would happen. If Barney's hurt I'll never forgive myself! Can't we go faster?"
"Barney?" Evelyn caught the word and eyed Celia shrewdly. "Do you mean—is it the young man you knew in Baltimore?"

The girl nodded mechanically. "He isn't in Baltimore any more."
"Told He Must Die Man Finds Life In Crazy Water"
Deputy Sheriff Wants World To Know His Crazy Story

In the year of 1923 I was living at Altus, Okla. I was confined to my bed with a complication of diseases. It was diagnosed by different ones as Bright's disease, Paralysis, Neuritis Rheumatism and a dead liver. When it was decided to take me to Mineral Wells the doctors did not believe that I would live to get there and the doctors in Mineral Wells when I arrived did not think that there was any chance for me to recover.
I drank Crazy Water for four months and what so far as I can tell, completely well. I gained 94 pounds in weight, and took a job as deputy sheriff which necessitated my being on my feet from eight to twelve hours every day, and oftentimes doing a lot of night work.
Crazy Water certainly pulled me out of the grave.

she said. "He's here. I saw him this afternoon and he said he was going to this meeting to make pictures. Somehow I felt that he would be dangerous, but he laughed at me."
Lisi asked about the address. She was driving with her customary abandon, darting between other vehicles with a recklessness only matched by certain taxicab drivers. When she was forced to stop for traffic lights she jammed on the brakes abruptly.
Mrs. Parsons was white-faced, too, now. Each time the coupe veered precariously she looked in deadly terror. Each time it jolted to a stop she held her breath. She had never driven in Lisi before. "Do be careful!" Evelyn Parsons implored. "Look—you barely missed that roadster!"
The girl at the wheel murmured something inaudible. Her lips were set and she did not relax the motor's speed.
Traffic became more dense. The coupe was forced to go slower. Then suddenly the green light flashed and the car shot forward.
"We're nearly there," Lisi said, keeping her eyes straight ahead.
Celia uttered a low cry. "Smoke! see it—over there?"
"Lisi, you'll never be able to get to this place," Mrs. Parsons declared. "Let's go back!"
"We're going to make it!" Lisi answered determinedly. "Smoke—I should think there was! Can't you smell it?"
They were hemmed in now by motor cars, trucks and other vehicles. Horns were honking and drivers complaining loudly. The coupe could barely move.
Lisi ducked her head forward. "Look at it!" she cried. "Did you ever see anything like it?"
They were still some distance from the burning building. High overhead the thick black smoke curled upward. Now and then it colored with a dingy ruddiness, brightened and then grew dark. The air was heavy with the odor of smoke.
On the sidewalk men and women were running. The din was terrific.
Celia had begun to weep hysterically.
"Let's get out and walk," she begged. "We'll never get there any other way. Oh, Barney, how will I ever find him? How am I to know if he's safe?"
Lisi tried to move the car forward. The effort was useless.
"Fire's still burning," she said. "You can tell from the sky, Lord, what a blaze that must have been!"
Mrs. Parsons interrupted shrilly. "This is dangerous! We've got to get away, Lisi. I tell you we've got to get away!"
The girl looked at her and shrugged one shoulder. "How're you going to leave?" she asked. "Look behind you!"
Evelyn turned. As far as she could see the street was filled with other vehicles. Motor cars of all kinds and sizes, messenger boys on bicycles, delivery trucks. She gasped and sank back against the seat.
Celia had begun to fumble with the fastener on the door.
"What are you doing?" Lisi demanded. "I'm going to get out." Celia said. "I can't stand it. I've got to know if Barney's safe."
There was a brief argument. It ended with Celia and Lisi climbing out of the car and leaving Mrs. Parsons at the wheel.
They made their way to the sidewalk. They were a strange sight, with heads bare and wearing frocks. Men, women and children were crowding, pushing, trying to get nearer to the burning building.
It was difficult to breathe the smoky air.
Lisi had caught hold of Celia's arm as they would not become separated. They pushed and shoved with the others.
At last they edged through the crowd and came up against a rope. "Can't go farther!" a policeman shouted. "Here—get back there!"
Across the street, nearly at the end of the block, they could see the building from which the murky clouds were rolling. A shrill siren whistle rent the air and two scarlet ambulances came in view. Celia, understanding their significance, gave a low scream.
"Ask the cop to help you," prompted Lisi. "Maybe he'll let us through the rope."
The officer's answer was a harsh negative.
"Oh, but please," Celia begged. "I've got to know if he's safe! Don't you understand? I've got to know!"
"Sorry, lady. I can't do anything for you."
"See here!" Lisi said in sharply. "have they gotten everyone out of the building?"
"I'm here to answer questions. I'm here to see nobody gets past this line." The policeman was becoming annoyed.
Celia could not keep the tears back. The officer took note of this.
"They've taken the injured over to General Hospital," he said more kindly. "Why don't you go over there?"
Lisi asked how to reach the hospital and the policeman told her. After his sudden change of heart he became quite affable. At the girls turned to go he waved toward the crowd and shouted:
"Let the ladies through there!"
The human wall parted almost magically and Celia and Lisi hurried back the way they had come. They heard another shrieking siren after they had gone a little distance. Celia turned terror-stricken eyes to Lisi.
"But—if they've taken the people to the hospital, what's that for?"
Lisi knew and went a little pale

ACREAGE CUT PROBLEM WILL FACE BANKERS

DALLAS, Oct. 31.—The executive committee of the Texas Bankers' association in meeting next week will be confronted with the Texas action acreage reduction problem, following a called conference yesterday of thirty-seven bankers, merchants, farmers and industrial heads behind closed doors.
Gov. Dan Moody, Nathan Adams of Dallas, banker; John W. Carpenter of Dallas, utility man; and W. A. Cannon of Waxahatchee, were instigators of the meeting.
If the banker's committee passes up the advisability of acreage reduction, a session of the Texas Bankers' association will be called to consider the topic. Gov. Moody at the meeting yesterday reiterated that he was opposed to calling a special legislative session for the reduction because it would embarrass the incoming administration.
The bankers' executive committee will confer next week with Gov. Lynn P. Talley of the Dallas Federal Reserve bank; R. H. Collier, national bank examiner of Washington; James Shaw, Texas commissioner of banking, and J. E. McDonald of Waxahatchee, democratic nominee for commissioner of agriculture.

Spooks and Ghosts to Walk Tonight
DALLAS, Oct. 31.—Heavy frost that coated symbolic pumpkins early today augured a Halloween for Texas replete with spooks and ghosts in orange and black who go forth one each year to plague the unrighteous with devilish tricks.
As grave clothes rustled a warning of night of revelry, police chiefs in Texas' principal cities reminded citizens that laws against vandalism know no holidays. Although police will be prepared to dispense fines, thousands of merry-makers will burlesque the antimask law passed under Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's regime.

NOVEMBER 4-11 IS DESIGNATED LEGION WEEK

The week of November 4 to November 11 has been designated as American Legion week in Cisco by proclamation of Mayor Williamson.

Pledged to a program of usefulness and service to the community, state and nation, the American Legion today enjoys the full confidence of the American public.

The Legion's community service work is well known. Every year the posts throughout the United States carry on scores of different types of community welfare and civic betterment projects.

The Legion's foremost work is caring for those who were maimed and disabled by their service in the war. Justice does not always flow automatically for the men who suffered war-incurred disabilities.

The people of this city are duly appreciative of the splendid endeavors of the American Legion, and to Legionnaires they extend every encouragement to broaden and further expand their work in the future.

I particularly ask that all citizens cooperate with the Legion in his effort to build a better and stronger organization for 1931 by urging eligible veterans to take out Legion membership during this campaign.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Cisco, to be affixed. Done in the City of Cisco, this 30th day of October, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty.

J. M. WILLIAMSON, Mayor of the City of Cisco.

Miss Lightner returns to the digger character — the type of which she is famous — in "The Life of the Party," the Warner Brothers natural color Vitaphone production which opens at the Palace theatre next Sunday.

Miss Lightner as everybody knows made her first great success as a typical smart-cracking gold digger in "Gold Diggers of Broadway," and it is in this same medium that she is seen in this new picture—a picture made of and for laughter.

No one enjoyed Miss Lightner's return to a gold digging role more than Miss Lightner herself, who practiced new gags and grimaces for several weeks before the picture went into production.

"The Life of the Party" brings her to the screen at her uprichest best, while the all star cast includes such famous stage and screen players as Irene Delroy, Jack Whiting, Charles Butterworth and Charles Judels.

"THE WAY TO HELL" THEME THIS EVENING

"The Way to Hell" will be the theme tonight at the Church of God where a series of revival meetings is in progress with increasing attendance and interest. Last night the Rev. Dodd, who is conducting the services, preached from Hebrews, 2:2, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation?" He set forth how the word spoken by angels was steadfast and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense and that there is a sure punishment for those who neglect the salvation God offers.

But in spite of all that God has done for man he goes on indifferently to the kindness and long-suffering of the Almighty, until the heart of the Lord is broken," said the preacher. He quoted Isaiah 1:2, "Hear, Oh heavens, and give ear, O earth, I have nourished and brought up children, and they have rebelled against me."

Very few are inmates of penitentiary who have been brought up in Christian homes, said the pastor. Those now suffering for crimes are the result of the neglect of parents," he asserted.

Miss Dodd sang a special number for the service. The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting this evening and future services.

DALLAS, Oct. 31. — Col. W. E. Talbot, republican nominee for governor, came home yesterday from a stumping tour of the state with two things. — confidence that he is doing a good job campaigning for the economic salvation of the state, and a cold.

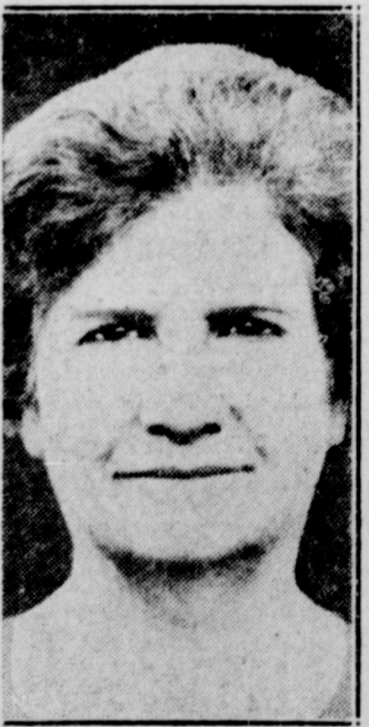

His cold was attributed to his long rapid-fire speaking tours and his wearing of Texas-made clothes. He speaks tonight over WFAA and closes his barnstorming at McKinney Monday night.

Tomatoes Are Juicy

Do you prefer your tomatoes whole, lusciously tender and intact—or in a tall glass of sparkling, invigorating juice?

Now you eat this appetizing health fruit is merely a matter of preference, because the one way is just as thrifty as the other.

Why? Because tomatoes are made up mostly of juice. Take a fresh tomato and squeeze it thoroughly. There is very little left after the red juices have been drained, but even that very little bit, of course, should be saved, for it has a variety of tempting uses. Now take a can of tomatoes and press the contents through a sieve. You will be surprised to find what an abundance of juice you have and how little of the pulp is left! Put the pulp in a covered jar and keep it to use in delicious meat sauces, chutneys, or in making Italian spaghetti sauce.

A New Cocktail

Tomato juice is also packed in cans, ready for use at a moment's notice. There are endless new recipes for refreshing tomato drinks being evolved every day, since people have found out how good they taste. Here is an excellent one:

Love Apple Cocktail: Pour one and one-half cups of chilled tomato juice into one-half cup of chilled evaporated milk, stirring vigorously. Add one-half cup of chopped ice, one-fourth teaspoon of celery salt, one-half teaspoon of salt and a dash of black pepper. Garnish with finely chopped parsley. Serve immediately in chilled glasses. This yields four servings.

Communists Under Arrest in Raids

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 31.—Seven alleged Communists were under arrest here today charged with raiding Sacramento employment agencies, while guards armed with machine guns and sawed-off shot guns patrolled the front of the jail to ward off any possible disturbance.

The men were taken into custody last night when owners of employment shops complained of violent disturbances. The asserted Communists had, they said, entered their agencies and demanded money for tickets they claimed were receipts for jobs paid for, wiped off blackboards listing positions and forced prospective customers away.

The men were arrested at Communists headquarters and placed in jail under technical charges of robbery.

Commerce.—Final preparations made to spud local oil well.
