State banking board was a party to the suit.

MIDWEST IS FACING NEW CATASTROPHE

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 31.—A new catastrophe of nature following closely the drought of 1930 and adding greatly to the misery that it caused threatened the mid-west today as the first month of 1931 neared a close.

Ranking third for all time in lack of precipitation and third for warmth but first of all the January's in combination of the two extremes, the month just ending has delivered almost the final blow to mid-western residents.

In some sections where there was little rain in 1930 and neither snow nor rain last month, the situation has become acute.

In the southern Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and parts of other states, whole towns are suffering from lack of water. Winter crops are being ruined and diseases caused partly by the freakish weather conditions is spreading rapidly.

Temperatures yesterday were excessive in all states except the east. At Chicago a shift of the winds about noon prevented the mercury from reaching an all-time high record for January. As it was it climbed to 49 within a degree of the high mark of 50 set in 1913.

Some other high marks for the day were Cincinnati 53, Indianapolis 56, Des Moines 54, St. Louis 60, Oklahoma City 72, Little Rock 74, Bismark 54, Denver 56, Los Angeles 74, Phoenix 78, Minneapolis 46, and Wichita 68.

Mother May Win $500,000

When Charles V. Millar, eccentric Toronto millionaire, died five years ago he bequeathed $500,000 to the Toronto woman who would bear the largest number of children in the 10 years following his death. Above is Mrs. Florence Brown, now the leading contender for the prize, with 12 or her 13 children, six of which have been born since Millar's death. She has borne 26 children during her 22 years of married life.

FOUR FACTIONS FORMING IN UTILITY REGULATION MOVE

AUSTIN, Jan. 31.—Prohibition enforcement and utility regulation promised to hold the spotlight in the Texas legislature next week. A public hearing on enforcement laws has been set for Tuesday night. There are four distinct utility factions forming. One wants a state fact-finding body with rate regulation left to municipalities and counties. One wants a state commission with rate powers. One wants the present elected railroad commission to include utilities. Another wants the governor to appoint the utility commission.

Utility hearings may be delayed until February 13. Some members question the validity of bills upon which committees passed before then or which are enacted before March 13 despite a blanket vote changing the 30 and 60 day rule. Others say that utility legislation was submitted as a special topic for action at any time when the governor included the state democratic platform in his message.

Bodies of Woman and Daughter Found

BLACKWELL, Okla., Jan. 31.—The bodies of Mrs. Kathryn Shaw, 21-year-old, and her 10-year-old daughter, Beverly Shaw, were found late today in their home here.

Authorities refused to discuss the case pending further investigation. It was understood the girl had been shot to death. Shaw was not here when the tragedy occurred. Assistant County Attorney Ralph Harder said he was at End where he operates a filling station.

Fire Destroys Gasoline Plant
BORGER, Jan. 31.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the gasoline plant of the Phillips Petroleum company, three miles north of here today. Two men at first were reported to have lost their lives in the blaze but Hugh Miller, in charge of the plant, said a careful check accounted for all employees and that no one had been killed or injured.

CHARGES IN BUTLER CASE NOT KNOWN

Time and Place for Trial Await Formal Papers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The formal charges upon which Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C., must face a court-martial will be in the hands of Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams either this afternoon or Monday, according to information at the office of the Judge-Advocate of the navy.

While none would reveal the exact charges it was considered certain that Butler's comments upon Premier Mussolini, of Italy, which caused his prosecution would be viewed in the official papers either as conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman or as conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline.

Secretary Adams said today he had not determined either the time or the place for the trial. It was believed it would be held in Washington or at one of the naval establishments near by and that the court would convene within the next two weeks. Definite announcement of time and place is expected to follow the presentation of the papers to Adams.

While the judge-advocate general's office was busy with the charges Butler's friends were even busier with plans for the defense.

Major Henry F. Leonard, U. S. M. C., retired, chosen by Butler as his chief counsel, discussed the case yesterday at length with a group of Marine officers who were friends of Butler ready to be of service to him in his present predicament.

VANDERBILT HOME GUARDED

PHOENIX, Arizona, Jan. 31.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., unwilling storm center of the "Butler-Mussolini incident" retained legal counsel to make clear today he will remain silent until "circumstances change."

While the young writer remained within a home guarded by deputy sheriffs, a consequence of a threat allegedly made against Vanderbilt's life, Judge Frank O. Smith, of Phoenix, issued this statement.

"It is apparent that misapprehension exists in reference to supposed relationship with Cornelius Vanderbilt to the Butler episode. Nothing that Vanderbilt could do or say would in any manner help General Butler.

The sole question is whether or not Butler made the statement regardless of whether it was false or whether he made it on the authority of anyone.

Vanderbilt is a news writer and journalist and he could very easily capitalize the present circumstance to his own advantage. It is, however, clearly his duty as a citizen to refrain from any public statement at the moment when international complications have arisen and when court martial proceedings are pending. Vanderbilt is to be commended for taking this course and in doing so has followed not only his own best judgment but the advice of his counsel."

An excellent crop prospect was forecast with more grain planted and a reduction in cotton acreage. Except for a few areas crops over the state were reported in good condition. Prospects for the spring grain crop were reported excellent and farmers were found to have good supplies of feed stuff stored.

Birth Calendar Appears Today

The Cisco Merchants Birth Calendar for February is inserted today. These who have babies born on any day during the month are requested to report the birth report to the Daily News and to the merchant who has that particular day as shown by the birth calendar in today's paper. In case there is more than one baby born on the same day this month the physician's birth certificate may be used to decide whose baby is the first for that day. All births must be reported within ten days.

BANDIT ALARM TEST BRINGS COPS RUNNING

Efficiency of the burglar alarm system installed at the First National bank for protection against bandits was demonstrated yesterday morning when the system was turned on for a test without knowledge of two policemen, Officers Poe and Bryant.

The police station had been notified of the test but the two officers were not in the station at the time. Desk Sergeant Stuart stepped into the fire station department at the rear for a moment. Officers Poe and Bryant entered the station just then and the alarm sounded immediately.

Both officers grabbed guns and hiked for the bank before Stuart could intercept them. Mr. Poe taking a station in front and Mr. Bryant at the side, Noah Fowler, who installed the system, came out of the front of the building, saw Mr. Poe and assured him everything was all right.

"We did what we were told to do if that thing went off," Mr. Poe explained when the stir had quieted.

COMPROMISE BONUS PLAN CONSIDERED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The cash bonus movement has gained such proportions in congress that administration leaders tonight were considering a compromise to pay those who are now unemployed and in need instead of cashing all certificates.

Such a plan was suggested several weeks ago by Chairman Royal Johnson, of the house veterans committee, but was not taken up generally at that time as the agitation was not then as extensive.

Now, however, administration leaders are frankly worried over the prospect that congress may vote a straight out cash bonus for all veterans which would cost $3,500,000 and they have seized upon this plan as the best compromise. Congressional leaders have received word from high administration officials that this solution would be acceptable if it is not possible to check the cash bonus movement which does not appear likely now.

PETITIONS SENT TO WASHINGTON

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 31.—Capt. Robert D. Hanley, adjutant general in charge of national headquarters of Veterans of Foreign Wars here tonight mailed the first of 10,000 petitions which will seek to influence congress to immediate payment to veterans of adjusted compensation certificates.

MOB VIOLENCE THREATS MADE IN 3 CITIES

Lynching Attempts Against 2 Negroes Feared

(By United Press)
The spectre of mob violence threatened three Texas cities tonight and two negroes were guarded from open threats of lynching. A white man charged with murder was whisked from town and taken to the Dallas county jail for safe-keeping.

The negro suspected of attempting to assault a white woman at Midland at noon today was lodged in Midland's new jail. Tonight after angry crowds gathered on the streets the negro, who had not been identified by the woman, was saved from lynching by Chief of Police Les Haynes who rushed the suspect to a cell and assembled guards around the building hurriedly.

Violence threatened at Mount Pleasant today following the death of Willie Stewart, 31-year-old farmer, from injuries received when he was struck by a hammer thrown by Harvey Riley, negro. Hardware stores reported a sudden demand for guns and ammunition and open threats of lynching were heard on the streets.

Negro Removed
The negro was removed from his cell and placed in the death cell block of the county jail. Officers were alert for signs of an outbreak tonight. A negro was taken from jail and burned at a stake near here several years ago.

Riley was reported to have flung a hammer at Joe Preddy, mechanic, in a fit of anger. The negro missed Preddy but struck Stewart who later died of the injuries.

The third threat of lynching came from Texarkana but centered about Mt. Pleasant, the same town where the negro slayer was killed. Dave Goodwin, charged with killing Lloyd Elliott, 23-year-old farmer, was in jail there. He is under a sentence of death but motion for a new trial has been made for him. The appeal charged that a hostile mob surrounded the court house at New Boston when he was tried and prevented the court from returning any verdict other than death.

Persistent rumors that a group of Texarkana men planned to lynch Goodwin if a new trial was granted caused officers to take him from jail at Mt. Pleasant today and rush to Dallas. The Dallas county jail has never yielded a prisoner to a mob. A youthful mobman was shot to death there several years ago when crowds stormed the jail in a futile effort to take a killer from a cell and lynch him.

MT. PLEASANT, Jan. 31.—With hardware stores reporting a sudden demand for ammunition and rumors of a lynching heard on street corners Titus county officers today transferred a negro man accused of killing a young farmer with a hammer here a week ago, from the regular cell block to the death cell of the county jail as a precaution against possible mob violence.

Willie Stewart, 21, a farmer whose home was at Argo, about 10 miles northeast of here, was buried today. He died Thursday of injuries received last week when struck by a hammer said to have been flung at Joe Preddy, Mt. Pleasant mechanic, by a negro man incensed because Preddy stopped him as he was about to leave with the hammer after picking it up from where the mechanic was working.

Preddy dodged but the tool struck Stewart who was standing behind the mechanic. Harvey Riley, negro was arrested but not until after Stewart's death. Thursday, were rumors heard of violence.

Gas Company Will Fight Rate Cut

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31.—E. C. Deal, president Oklahoma Natural Gas corporation, said today the company would start court action protesting the 10-cent gas rate cut order yesterday by the State Corporation commission.

It was understood a restraining order against the commission's edict would be sought in the state supreme court. Deal contended the company was not given a fair hearing and were not permitted to present its complete testimony.

Gas rates were affected in 46 of the 48 cities served by the Oklahoma Natural. In Oklahoma City the reduction for consumers was from 57 cents a thousand cubic feet to 47 cents.

Chairman Paul A. Walker of the commission set Feb. 11 as date for final hearing of the company's testimony but issued the order to effect reductions on March 1 bills, unless the supreme court blocks the move.

BIG INTEREST IN ELECTION IS REFLECTED

Nearly 1,200 Paid to 6 o'Clock Saturday evening

The extent of public interest in the forthcoming city election is reflected in the volume of poll taxes paid at the city hall prior to today. The total of poll taxes paid and exemption certificates issued exceeds by several hundred the number of such receipts and certificates issued last year, according to City Secretary W. B. Statham.

At 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Statham said that 995 poll taxes had been paid and 216 exemption certificates issued making a total of 1211 citizens who had qualified for participating in the city election next April. The full number of voters who have qualified themselves cannot be determined until Monday or Tuesday, however, due to the fact that many payments were placed in the mails Saturday and receipts cannot be issued until they arrive at the secretary's office. Many other citizens paid their poll taxes in person at the secretary's office after 6 o'clock Saturday evening, the office remaining open until 9 o'clock to take care of those wishing to obtain their receipts.

Payment of ad valorem taxes has been good, Mr. Statham said. Such payments have been about on par with previous years.

Payment of state and county taxes poll taxes and automobile license fees at the temporary collecting office maintained in the First National bank the past week was heavy Saturday, the final day for the payment of license fees without penalty and poll taxes, witnessed the expected rush. The bank closed its doors at 3 o'clock but it was five o'clock before the last of those waiting attention from Deputy Collectors C. S. Karkalits and Mrs. Katie Richardson had been waited upon.

DALLAS, Jan. 31.—Announcing that Texarkana men had threatened to lynch him should he be given a new trial, Bowie county officers this morning removed Dave Goodwin, under death sentence, from the Titus county jail at Mt. Pleasant and took him to the Dallas county jail here.

Goodwin is the prisoner for whom the state court of criminal appeals refused a new trial though admitting that his trial at New Boston last year had been unfair because of the menace of a mob surrounding the court house.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON Jesus, the Great Physician.

Text: Luke 4:38-44; 5:12-16. And he arose out of the synagogue, and entered into Simon's house. And Simon's wife's mother was taken with a great fever; and they besought him for her.

And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her; and immediately she arose and ministered unto them.

Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them.

And devils also came out of many, crying out, and saying, Thou art Christ the Son of God. And he rebuking them suffered them not to speak; for they knew that he was Christ.

And when it was day, he departed and went into a desert place; and the people sought him, and that he should not depart from them.

And he said unto them, I must preach the kingdom of God to other cities also; for therefore am I sent.

And he preached in the synagogues of Galilee.

And it came to pass, when he was in a certain city, behold a man full of leprosy; who seeing Jesus fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

And he charged him to tell no man; but go, and shew himself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Moses commanded, for a testimony unto them.

But so much the more went there a fame abroad of him; and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by him of their infirmities.

And he withdrew himself into the wilderness, and prayed.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Feb. 1, Jesus, the Great Physician. Luke 4:38-44; 5:12-16.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of The Congregationalist

Our lesson presents Jesus as a great physician in the healing of physical ills. Leaving the synagogue, he entered into the house of Simon.

Those mother-in-law was seriously ill with a fever. The record is that Jesus manifested his healing power by rebuking the fever, which left her so quickly that she was able immediately to arise and minister to her guests.

In the evening of the same day, many who were sick with various diseases were brought to Jesus, and he laid his hands on them and healed them.

The second portion of the lesson tells also of the miraculous healing power of Jesus in the curing of the dreadful disease of leprosy.

How are we to interpret these lessons which are confined almost wholly to the curing of physical disease? To discuss the miracles is of little value, because if we could explain the records they would cease to be miraculous.

The power that Jesus manifested might be likened to the cures that frequently occur through the power of mind over matter or through the spiritual or hypnotic influence of some strong individual. But the cure of leprosy cannot be regarded in that complacent way.

The stories are of miraculous healing.

Miracles Only Minor Part. On the other hand, there is little evidence in the ministry of Jesus of the healing of bodily disease as a continuous or chief function of his ministry.

Had this been the case the records of the New Testament would be confined almost exclusively to miracles of healing, for the extent of bodily illness in any community is always very great.

As a matter of fact, the miracles of healing form a relatively small part of the New Testament, and they do not by any means overshadow the greater and deeper ministry of Jesus in specific ministry to the soul.

He is above all the Savior from sin and the bearer of the griefs and sorrows of his fellow men.

This fact, it seems to me, it is very important to grasp. To regard Jesus chiefly as a great physician in a worldly sense, fulfilling the functions of the doctor of medicine, is to miss his supreme significance as the physician of the soul.

But is there in Christianity a legitimate and effective ministry of healing in the physical sense? Should healing be a normal function of the church today?

Upon this question there is, and there will long be, wide divergence of opinion. Among those who advocate healing as a function of the Christian church and ministry, there are varied conceptions as to how and to what extent that function should be performed.

Many believe that all diseases are subject to healing by spiritual means. While to others faith healing means little more than an effort to discover and apply the spiritual laws dealing with the influences of mind and soul that affect bodily conditions.

The extremes of opinion are represented by various groups who preach and practice the gospel of faith cure on the one hand, and men like the late Dr. George A. Gordon, on the other hand, who have criticized certain efforts to administer physical healing through the minister rather than the doctor as "the practice of medicine by the unaided."

Without entering into the deeper and mystic aspects of the matter concerning which we may make many spiritual discoveries in the future, it would seem reasonable to suggest that in relation to all physical states and conditions we should exercise common sense and avail ourselves of all the means at our disposal for treating disease. To neglect proper means of physical cure and to expect God to work miracles of healing would seem to be quite as unreasonable as to refuse to eat food and expect God to maintain our physical lives.

The whole field of healing is one regarding which there can be little value in a dogmatic attitude.

Healing Soul Is Chief Aim. The wonder-working power of Jesus does not seem amazing when one thinks of the wonder of the man himself. One thing many people will believe — namely, that any miracle of healing that Jesus performed was in harmony with the some higher law of his being, and of spiritual power operating in a physical world.

When one considers that such discoveries as the radio have come into the world only after many centuries of its existence, is it unsearchable to believe that future centuries may reveal quite as great wonders in the spiritual organization and forces of life?

Moreover, just as the laws and principles of the radio were present in the world centuries before they were discovered, so the spiritual laws and forces that saints and prophets may discover in a far distant day are operating in our present life if we had power to understand them.

One thing is sure, the supreme ministry of Jesus is the ministry of healing for the soul. If the power of the Gospel does not reach our lives and transform them, there can be little hope of effectual improvement through spiritual

The Old Time Family Doctor

In the rush of so called modern methods of living, the traditions of the Old Time Family Doctor have been largely lost sight of. The Doctor of your grandfather's day was always looked to as one of the foremost men of the community.

He was next to the minister or priest in the minds and hearts of his people. His knowledge was largely obtained through study by lamp light in his own home.

The diseases in his day were classified in a comparatively small group but honored as he was in his day, his methods would not endure today. The physician of today who is qualified to advise, counsel and serve you must be one who is thoroughly informed on many phases of modern medicine and science.

He frequently attends special clinics. He devotes much time to special research and observation work he is qualified to do much more than the Old Time Family Doctor. Naturally it costs the physician a great deal of money to keep abreast of the times in his profession.

It follows that he must make his collections fairly promptly. It is usually true that the more attention a physician gives to study and research, the less attention he gives to making collections. Statistics prove that modern medical science has materially lengthened the span of life.

Show your appreciation of the very great service the medical profession is performing for humanity by paying your physician's bills when they are due. Pay Your Physician Promptly. Your failure to Get a Statement Is No Excuse for Negligence.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

THE OMNISCIENT GUIDE—The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord.—Psalm 37:23.
PRAYER—O my God, I trust in Thee. Lead me in Thy truth, and teach me; for Thou art the God of my salvation; on Thee do I wait all the day.

BUILDING RECORD OF 11 TEXAS CITIES.

Eleven Texas cities spent nearly $90,000,000 on new buildings and repairs of old during 1930 and more than one-third of the total was for new homes and new apartments—a record that seems good for a good year and phenomenal for a poor year if 1931 really was that. The verdict of a publicity writer. His figures are from the bureau of labor statistics in the federal department of labor. This is the list of 11 cities as they ran in total amount expended: Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Dallas, Austin, El Paso, Galveston, Waco, Port Arthur, Wichita Falls and Beaumont.

There appears to be a mental depression in Texas as well as a slight financial depression. Think of this taken from a report issued by the American Motorists association. "Texas has an automobile for each 3.93 inhabitants as compared with an average for the United States of one for each 4.25 inhabitants." It must be true that Texas is the big white spot on the map of America regardless of the announcement that the Red Cross is feeding 25,000 Texas farmers and their families. There is a reason for it. Close to 70 per cent of the cotton producers of Texas are landless. They are tenants and they eke out a precarious existence from cradle to grave. However, they are the owners of automobiles and gas costs money.

WISCONSIN SAW A GREAT LIGHT.

An exchange remarks that the real estate brokers board of Wisconsin "has seen the light and reversed its previous order that Texas valley lands could not be sold within that state." A reminder that shriveled localisms are to be found in Texas as well as in Wisconsin.

GROWTH OF THE NATURAL GAS INDUSTRY.

Texas is the greatest of natural gas producing states. A reminder that Fort Worth voted overwhelmingly in favor of municipal ownership of the gas distributing system, in the first election on public ownership ever held there. This was the vote: For municipal ownership, 8075. Against municipal ownership, 4511. - Indeed the total of more than 12,500 votes cast was one of the heaviest ever polled in a Fort Worth city election.

Westera Gas company officials of El Paso announce arrangements are completed for immediate construction of a $6,000,000 high pressure natural gas line, extending 275 miles westward from El Paso to serve Douglas and Bisbee, Arizona and Cananea, Sonora, Mexico. This line will serve all the big copper companies of Arizona and Mexico and other enterprises in that section of the southwest.

William C. Edwards directs attention to the progress of the natural gas industry since 1920. He says the development of the natural gas industry from a local status to one of nationwide importance is a story of interest in Texas. "For to that development no state has contributed more, if as much, as has the Lone Star state."

Only a decade ago natural gas was of importance in few sections of the country. Development of transmission was a dream of the future. Lines 100 miles long were considered only remote possibilities. The admitted great convenience of natural gas and its advantages over the manufactured product were available only to those communities situated near the sources of supply. In 1920 the consumption of natural gas in the United States was about 8,000,000,000 cubic feet, a very minute fraction of the total consumption in 1930 of two trillion cubic feet. Natural gas was available to only about two and a half million consumers. At the end of 1930 this number had grown to 5,250,000 and capital invested in the industry has grown in that decade from about $1,000,000,000 to $2,250,000,000. The coming year, he points out, will see the completion of the most important development and expansion program in the history of the industry.

More than 4,000 miles of pipe line now under construction will be completed during 1931 and will add 500,000,000 cubic feet a day to new markets not now accessible. Interconnection between the eastern and western gas fields is another possibility for 1931, making all the different sources of supply available to all sections of the country. A reminder that a new $3,000,000 that natural gas in bringing into Texas is the investment acquired for piping gas from the Big Lake oil field to San Angelo and other west Texas cities. Oklahoma Natural Gas Corporation will build a 12 inch line to San Angelo and an eight inch line to Rio Pecos. Marketing the gas, it is claimed by the publicity agents of the industry, will yield increased revenue to the University of Texas, on whose lands the Big Lake field is located. Carrizo Springs now has the advantages of natural gas, the supply having been turned into the new main only a few days ago while a 158 mile line is being built from Kirbyville to serve a number of southwest Louisiana towns by the United Gas company. In 1940 the Texas supply of natural gas may be depleted to an extent that many of the wells will be reminders of a glorious past. "BUILD TEXAS" is the slogan of the hour. There should be a scientific way to go about it.

OTHER OPINIONS

SCHOOLS AND PARENTS. Schools, said the Rev. Augustus Steimle Sunday, are taking children away from their parents; the school doctor, the school nurse, the teachers and the athletic coach, all combined, manage to take the child away from home for almost ten hours a day, bringing him out of the range of parental responsibility."

Well, we don't believe it. The doctor, the nurse, the teacher, and the coach all undoubtedly have a large part in the child's life, and claim a large part of his time; but that this has produced any slackening in his family tie is one of the things that have not been proved. If there is any change in the child-parent relationship in recent years it is probably in the direction of greater dependence. Only recently Dr. W. F. Osburn of Chicago was commenting on the increasing period of human "infancy" and predicted that in the future human beings would not come into full maturity until the age of forty. The time has passed when a boy went to work at fifteen, bought his own clothes at sixteen and began to pay board at seventeen. In the modern world he is often lucky if he is completely on his own at twenty-five.

What Dr. Steimle forgets is that the doctor, the nurse, the teacher and the coach, all have to be paid by somebody, and after them the tutor, the professor, and another coach, and after them the registrar of the graduate school, the printer of the thesis, and the manufacturer of the diploma. Who pays, in the long run, is Papa. So the family must be safe.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

The other day I chanced to meet my old friend, H. G. Spaulding, former president of the Oklahoma Press association and the Oklahoma Associated Press Papers, who has now become a persistent traveler, every year visiting many foreign countries, especially those in close proximity to this country, searching for facts which he may use in articles for various publications. As an active publisher for many years he acquired a keen interest in retail advertising and has watched its effect on various sorts of business. Mr. Spaulding said:

"I am more convinced than ever before that the small retail advertiser if it is to retain its hold upon the people, it has many advantages over the larger store. It is able to give a certain human touch to its dealings with the public that is not possible with the impersonal methods of the large concerns. It is able to anticipate the wants of its customers, a thing greatly appreciated. It knows the circumstances, tastes and peculiarities of its patrons and is thus able to take them into consideration in dealing with them."

"But how can he expand the present volume of trade, you may ask? My answer is by consistent well timed advertising. He is already handling many well advertised and trade marked articles for which a market has been created and he should let the public know this fact. He should tell them of new things just stocked, the style the finish, the flavor, according to what the article may be. In a subtle manner he should impress the public with the service he is prepared to render, in a word his advertising should be human and not mechanical."

"Advertising should be considered as much a part of his sales force as his clerks. It should be newsworthy so the newspaper readers will come to watch for it. Quality should be stressed rather than price. Honest values surpass bargains. Confidence of the public is a store's greatest asset."

Refugees in Mexican Quake

The earthquake that struck the thriving mountain city of Oaxaca, Mexico, recently, destroyed hundreds of homes and made thousands of people homeless. These photos show how refugees are being cared for. They are made-shift lean-tos, constructed in the open, to provide a little shelter for homeless families; below, a dormitory in the open street where men use beds and curtains to protect themselves from the elements.

IN THE POLITICAL ARENA

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

A Texan appeared before the Texas cotton committee during its sixth annual convention in the city of Houston and bluntly told the members of the committee that the world's mechanism of exchange has broken down because persons and nations have tried to make it do the impossible. William L. Clayton of Houston is an international figure in the cotton industry. He is known wherever cotton is grown or sold. He shot his message straight from the shoulder. He placed the responsibility where he said it belonged. For instance: "The responsibility principally rests on the United States because those who should be our leaders ignore the real cause of the depression and talk of spending more money on public works when the country is already staggering under a tax burden."

He did not mention President

Hoover and the congressional as well as business leaders of the north and east but as they are the leaders who insist that the way to relieve the depression is to spend hundreds of millions on public works, Clayton left it for his hearers to read between the lines and do their own thinking.

Speaking of maintaining high wage schedules, he said: "They talk of maintaining wages and make it a test of patriotism. Don't they know that the greatest employer of labor is labor itself? That all wealth springs from the soil. That the farmer's wages already have been cut 50 per cent and that they are asking him to keep paying the old wage to the urban worker and that it is neither possible nor fair for him to do so." He asked this question: "What may we reasonably expect in the struggle for the world's cotton trade during the next decade?"

This was his answer: "We are a credit nation. The world must sell us more than they buy from us or pay in gold or borrow more from us. In no other way can our international accounts be balanced. We have barred the door to the first by the erection of a tariff wall amounting to an almost embargo. To the second by already having drained the world of half of its gold supply. The third way only postpones and increases the difficulty. Either we must recognize and correct this situation with courage and vision or be prepared to see our export trade not only in cotton but in all other goods, substantially shifted to other lands. When we offer our cotton abroad the foreign nation reminds us that we have overlooked our great national command to all foreigners—thou shalt not pay except in gold—and he has no gold so he naturally turns to those countries which are willing to take his goods in exchange for theirs."

William L. Clayton is one of the outstanding figures of the cotton export world. American tariff makers shut out the goods of Europe and all other countries. Then they expect foreigners to purchase the two great American staples, wheat and cotton, and pay for the same in gold. They will not permit an exchange of goods. They rejected the debenture plan offered by the senators from the grain and cotton producing states when the Hawley-Smoot tariff act was in the making. American wheat has reached the lowest level of years. American corn has reached the lowest level. American cotton is away below the price of production. Thousands of growers of things are being fed by the hand of charity in 21 American states. Are the makers of things, the beneficiaries of the high tariff system, found in bread lines or soup house lines or are they passing the hat for nickles and dimes to buy bread for their dependents?

Jefferson—Location made and derrick will be erected soon for drilling another well in Marion county.

Rev. and Mrs. Miley Hosts to Members of Official Board

One of the most delightful affairs ever held in the parlors of the First Christian church was the dinner on Friday evening given by Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Miley to the members of the official board and their wives. This was the first time just the official board and their wives have been entertained, and it proved such a happy occasion that it may become an annual affair.

A delightful repast had been prepared, consisting of turkey, corn, cauliflower, Italian spaghetti, green beans, corn relish, watermelon pickles, olives, sour pickles, rolls, Boston baked beans, fruit salad, Kara fruit pie, coffee and tea. The tables were decorated with vases of sweet peas and rose colored tapers, and the dining room carried out the color scheme of rose and white.

After the festive board, an informal program was carried out. Rev. Miley welcomed the guests and then called on each one present for an impromptu speech. Many interesting events were told in the history of the church here, dating back some thirty years, which evoked both laughter and tears. A worth while part of each speech was the expression on the part of the speaker to put forth a greater effort in his work for the Kingdom this year.

Upon a motion by Dr. T. T. Roberts, the guests gave a ringing vote of thanks to the host and hostess and all joined hands and sang, "Blessed Be The Tie That Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love" and were dismissed with a prayer by Dr. Roberts.

The Humanities of Life

In the hundred pages of Hazards, Wilfred Gibson's most recent work, several scores of short poems interspersed with a half-dozen or so longer ones arrange themselves fantastically in a complete scale of emotions.

Any reader, not necessarily a poetry lover, who can appreciate the music of words or the artistry of a deftly-turned phrase, will find a great deal to enjoy and remember in Hazards. The poems run their course from the grim and even tragic through the grand emotions of childhood, and nature, and pensive humor, to the gaily born of happy man on the open road, carefree.

There are poems for every mood and for every reader's eccentricities in this slim volume. For the hasty man who likes to pick up a book and read a few lines here and there between snatches of everyday humdrum, there are complete poems in two lines. For the industrious reader who prefers to ponder diligently and think out the exact meanings of the lines, there are poems whose deep-planted germ will constantly defy the prying eyes of reasoning eyes. The story lover who asks nothing better than to follow the unforeseen exigencies through which his hero or heroine may pass will find narrative tales to beguile his fancy; and the critic for whom the lyric remains the highest type of poetic expression will find material to strengthen his contention.

The section labeled "Aftermath," a group of poems devoted to silences which the World War brought, is tense with abhorrence of the "four years in opposite camps of hell." The irony in our annual observation of Armistice Day rings with an echo of mockery through these lines: Two minutes' silence—Nay, but there has been

For fourteen years a silence in my heart
Since I first heard ... Two minutes, and a gun
To tell his mother when she's got to start
Remembering her son!

Two minutes' silence—then a gun again.
And free to gabble and forget as we Another twelve-month! ... Yet no gun has stirred
Shall greet me with a word.

Wilfred Gibson seems never to forget the humanities of life. His friendliness for all things and all people breathes through his lines imbuing them with a genuineness and warmth that draw the reader and the poet in close harmony. The following extract from "Beauty" serves to show how he has translated an impression that we have no doubt often received but have been unable to define into a few simple and sincere lines. The poet has been comparing the beauty of youth with the beauty of old age:

..... I stood there marveling
Before the beauty age alone can bring.
The Autumn beauty that outflames the Spring
In those whose life has been an offering
Burnt in the lustral fires of suffering.

Light, Racy Dialogues
When Robert E. Sherwood wrote his play, "This Is New York," he set about giving the picture of the Great City as the southwestern mob knows it. To quote his preface, "This is the New York that everybody knows, and that everybody wants to visit, and where nobody cares to live."

Six characters are sketched but clearly described by means of perfectly understandable, racy dialogue.

Loboes Wallop Eagles for Third of Past Week

EXTRA PERIOD REQUIRED TO SETTLE SCORE

League Leaders Suffer First Defeat by 17-12 Score

The Cisco Loboes accomplished their second case of revenge during the current basketball season last night by administering the first defeat to the 1931 Abilene Eagles came for a single point in the extra three minutes while both Yeager and Preston rang up field goals to put the Loboes four points ahead. The score was 17 and 13. The game was played at Abilene.

Yeager was high point man for the game with 9 points. Jack Smith, Abilene scoring ace, was second with 6.

The Loboes led up until the last few minutes of the final quarter. At the end of the first quarter the score was 9 to 4 in their favor; at the end of the half 11 and 5; at the end of the third period, 13 and 7 and at the end of the fourth 13 all.

Third in Row. The game, incidentally, was the third in as many evenings that the Loboes played and won last week. The victory over the Eagles gives them a tie for second place with Breckenridge and further frustrates them in the position of being strong contenders for the Oil Belt League title. Abilene defeated the Cisco boys in a hot contest at the local gym several weeks ago. Previous to that the Loboes had succumbed to the Elasmville cagers, a defeat which they avenged by defeating the Elasmville crew at Elasmville Friday evening.

Two of the hardest fought games they have played this season marked the Loboes' and Lobo Queens' invasion Friday night of Elasmville. The Loboes, by superior foul line shooting, won a smoking traces with the Elasmville team, 18 to 15, thereby Elasmville quintet here. The score in the former game was approximately the same.

Chuck Van Horn was the high point artist of the evening, accounting for 10 of his team's 18 points. The Loboes took the game when they tossed six of seven free shots through the hoop while the Elasmville team converted only one of the same number of chances into a score.

But the Lobo Queens lost their engagement by the same margin that the boys won theirs. The set-to-between the girls sextets was featured by the sparkling rally that the Queens made in the last period to overcome half of the lead of six points held by the Elasmville girls. Gladys Purvis was high point for the Cisco team.

This defeat is the first to be suffered by the girls this season and mars a record in which is included victories over Breckenridge, Ranger and other teams.

FROG QUINTET SEEKING CROWN

Texas Christian Horned Frogs and Southern Methodist's Mustangs meet on the hardwood floor in Dallas Monday night with the conference leadership at stake. These who have seen both teams in action agree that the winner will be the team that does the most efficient guarding. Pictured here are the Frogs' aggregation of guards, headed by Capt. Atkins and Green, usual starters, and Brannon and Vaught, sophomore reserves. In the upper right is Ad "Too Tall" Dietzel, elongated pivot man for the Frogs and just now at least high-point man in the conference.

BIG DAM CHATTER

The burning question in the minds of the athletic constituency of Cisco at the present is "Who will coach at Cisco high school next year?" Answer to this question can come from but one source—the school board. So far the board appears to know little more about it than others. The state of mind in which the board finds itself at present appears similar to that of the maiden with a score of eligible young bachelors at her feet.

According to reports of the board's predicament enough writing for the position of coach at the Cisco high school to print one day's circulation of the Daily News. In fact there are more applicants for coach than prospective football players. Everybody in the world except the editor and others who get passes to the games, seems to want to coach football at Cisco next year. This department is informed that more than 30 applications are on file.

The board is faced with a problem that has more than one side. It must consider not only the ability of the man selected to coach the Loboes, but it must also consider his popularity with Cisco fans, his teaching ability and his moral character. The combination was a happy one in Coach W. B. Chapman, who is resigning.

Only a short while remains for making the selection from the long list of applicants before the spring training season gets under way. Preparations for next year's football schedule must begin.

The Cisco Loboes are stepping right along in their basketball schedule this season. After a false start in which they dropped two games the Loboes have snapped out of it with a vim and right now are leading on the heels of the league leaders. In the county interscholastic league race the Loboes are leading with a perfect record. Both Ranger and Eastland have succumbed to the Loboes attacks.

Some confusion exists relative to the purpose and meaning of the Oil Belt Basketball League. For the benefit of those who appear to understand that the Oil Belt league contest counts in interscholastic league standing the bald statement that it does not should be sufficient correct the impression. The league is a local organization, separate from the interscholastic league except that games played between teams of the same county in the Oil Belt league will count in the interscholastic league standings as well as in the league standings. So far as the league is concerned, however, it will have no bearing on the state race. Games between Cisco and Abilene, Abilene and Breckenridge, Cisco and Breckenridge or other Oil Belt league teams from different counties will have no effect upon the interscholastic league's standings. Games between Cisco and Ranger, Cisco and Eastland and Ranger and Eastland, however, will count in the standings in both organizations, because these teams are located in the same county.

EXTRA SESSION IS THREATENED WITH DEADLOCK

rather sizeable majorities, went on record against that proposal yesterday.

Today the fate of the appropriation was thrown into a conference between house and senate, with senate conferees instructed to insist upon it and house conferees ordered to stand against it. The house has won out in such conferences hitherto this session, but a victory this time will be practically meaningless in view of Robinson's organized move to keep adding the item to other appropriation bills.

Tho' of the minority party, Robinson now is in control of the senate through the full support of his party there and a following among western republicans. House leaders are concerned by his threat, realizing its portent.

They were confronted with the alternative of continuing to vote down the relief program and facing the certainty of a special session or yielding to a compromise. They are divided in their councils with the probability they will go to the white house with their dilemma.

Democrats sought to get around the Red Cross refusal to administer the proposed $25,000,000 appropriation by offering to vote the money to President Hoover, to the war department or to charitable, fraternal and religious organizations. Republicans ejected every proposal.

The controversy now has gone far beyond the bounds of this one appropriation. Robinson's ultimatum involves several other measures. These include the $15,600,000 food

The game was played at Abilene.

Yeager was high point man for the game with 9 points. Jack Smith, Abilene scoring ace, was second with 6.

The Loboes led up until the last few minutes of the final regular period. At the end of the half the score was 9 to 4 in their favor; at the end of the third period, 13 and 7 and at the end of the fourth 13 all.

Third in Row.
The game, incidentally, was the third in as many evenings that the Loboes played and won last week. The victory over the Eagles gives them a tie for second place with Breckenridge and further fortifies them in the position of being strong contenders for the Oil Belt League title. Abilene defeated the Cisco boys in a hot contest at the local gym several weeks ago. Previous to that the Loboes had succumbed to the Ellaville eagles, a defeat which they avenged by d-wining the Ellaville crew at Ellaville Friday evening.

Two of the hardest fought games they have played this season marked by Mrs. Lloyd Surles, 1908 N. avenue.

Modernistic club will meet with Mrs. Lloyd Surles, 1908 N. avenue.

FROG QUINTET SEEKING

Given fair weather, you can set your watch by the "Leviathan's" arrival off Ambrose channel light vessel. On Monday morning, just as the night mist condenses into a low-hanging cloud, she beats up the Jersey coast and bursts out of dripping fog—three plumes of smoke trailing astern, her red-white-and-blue funnels leaning at a rakish angle, the snowy superstructure riding swanlike atop the coal-black hull, writes James Howard in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

What man will the "Leviathan" hail? None but her pilot. An hour before dawn, he paces the deck of the pilot boat, waiting for a gleam to announce his ship. Red and green navigation lights on the bridge are his first clue. Less boldly shine the chains of portlights, sparkling necklaces, as the passengers are about to rise for an early breakfast.

After the incessant pounding of her pistons for six days, the greyhound lies passively on her back, her deck as steady as a sidewalk and barely panting from recent exertion. Like some obedient animal she waits; huskies row the pilot to a suspended ladder. Her scales, the overhanging cliff and is greeted by Commander H. A. Cunningham. Stewards and sailors throng the decks for aft. Hands strip the hatch coverings. Derrieks are oiled. The idle engines chafe to be off.

From the flying bridge, I saw how the pilot and ship's officers manned the "Leviathan." The job of bringing her up is known in nautical parlance as "coming" the ship.

No sooner is an order uttered and transmitted, than three different men write it down in logs and note the exact minute. The navigator is at hand to see that every order is properly repeated until it reaches the quartermaster at the wheel. A third officer stands beside the quartermaster and assures himself that commands are properly executed. A second officer takes charge of the men at the telephones and telegraph. Another second officer is in charge of gangways. The chief officer stands at the bow, assisted by a third officer. Another commands the aft part of the ship. Cadet officers attend their seniors.

Both the pilot and commodore give orders, but usually the pilot. He talks in a more or less casual way, with slow deliberation, but what he says is heard and transmitted almost instantaneously. He might say, "Steady her at ten," which is relayed to the quartermaster who speaks his wheel until the binnacle compass points to ten.

Then the pilot issues orders for speed. "Full ahead!" means forward at twenty-four knots; "half ahead," twelve knots; "slow ahead," eight knots, and "stop!" dead still.

When the "Leviathan" must give way to a coal barge, the pilot sings out his soft command, just as if saying the weather was nice. "Hard starboard—half ahead starboard—hold her steady."

One question about the piloting of a ship up the harbor still remains unsettled. Who is in supreme command? Opinion is divided between the pilot and skipper. When the pilot gives orders, he maintains the command is his. But the skipper holds that the pilot merely advises him. In emergencies, he adds, the master assumes control at once, and also bears responsibility for what happens. The captain may overrule decisions the pilot makes, and thus sustains his supremacy.

About a quarter of a mile from the pier, the pilot orders the engines stopped. The "Leviathan" coasts upstream, dodged by river craft. Slower and slower she eases up to the channel, now two points to starboard and now one point to port. Without halt once, she is gripped amidships by several tugs and held firm. "Heave a bowline!" rings out over the bridge. A tug grabs the rope and swings the bow starboard. Almost clipping the pier edge, she is swung into her berth. The dock superintendent begins ordering his twenty huskies about.

Towers are thrown off. Wind-

15 SCHOOLS IN WEST TEXAS BAND CONTEST

ABILENE, Jan. 31.—Plans have been inaugurated for the third annual West Texas high school band concert which will be held here in April 11 under the auspices of the Coxby band of Simmons university, according to Prof. D. O. Wiley, conductor of the Simmons band and director of the contest.

Fifteen West Texas high schools have indicated their intention of entering the tournament and a number of others are expected to enter, according to Prof. Wiley. These 15 will represent Lubbock, Cisco, Breckenridge, Albany, Wink, Ballinger, Graham, Bronie, Haskell, Snyder, Colorado, Midland, Pecos Wichita Falls and Abilene.

R. A. Dhoschi, director of the Magnolia Petroleum band of Beaumont, will act as judge. The contest will be under the supervision of the School of Music at Simmons and all additions will be held in the Simmons auditorium.

This contest is affiliated with the National high school tourney and winners in the respective classes will be eligible to enter the national meet at Tulsa, Oklahoma, which is to be held in May.

The schools will be divided into four classes. These which come from high schools of more than 750 enrollment will be in Class A, those from schools which have from 250 to 750 students will be in class B and those from schools of less than 250 will be Class C. These from high schools which have had a band less than one year will be Class D contestants. This corresponds to the classification observed in the national association.

The first West Texas meet was held in 1929 with Cisco winning the Class A division and Ballinger the Class B. Last year the contest was held in connection with the W. T. C. C. tourney.

lasses begin grinding. Gangways are held in readiness. She is being pushed into a tight slip by firm gentleness. Thousands of people wait on the pier. Foot by foot, she comes up to the very street curb. Too much pressure on the stern will spring hull plates or stove in the bow. But the 59,577 tons come to a precise halt. She is home!

Gangways are out, hawsers made fast. The pilot spreads his hands and arms wide, as about to release control of the ship with "Hold everything."

J. C. PENNEY LEADERS SEE SURE REVIVAL

Mr. P. F. Glenn, manager of the local J. C. Penney company store returned to this city Friday from Dallas where he has been attending the annual spring convention of the J. C. Penney Co.

Commenting on the convention which was one of eight that are now being held all over the United States, he said, "The keynote of the convention was better business. Reports made by men who have been carefully studying the general business conditions all over the country, were presented and every indication is for a steady, sure return to national prosperity on a sound basis which should last for many years."

"Striking charts, depicting what has been going on in the retail sales field and in the manufacturing world were shown and methods were illustrated to show how the better organized business organizations throughout the country have taken hold of the present situation."

"It is unlikely that the country has ever seen greater values for the dollar than are now being shown by sound organizations. Excess production and distribution costs have been wiped out of the business world and the retail market is showing a steadily increasing response to the new conditions."

"Speculation, not alone in the stock market, but in general merchandise lines was a primary cause of the passing depression but the new efforts are along lines determined by sound analysis of demand."

"Employment will to a more normal basis as the new values in nearly all lines restore buying confidence. The start of the present year has seen many conspicuous examples of returning payrolls."

"In general, people are in a replacement market at the present time. For the past several months they have been using up their reserve supplies of clothes, furnishings, and other items which make up their normal buying requirements."

"Good business judgment dictates renewals and replacements at today's prices."

Commenting on the style trends in women's wear, Mr. Glenn said: "The well-dressed woman can maintain her wardrobe on a far smaller amount of money today than she has been able to in the past ten years. New styles emphasize the return of feminine features, the long skirt for formal and semi-formal wear, pleasing feminine lines around the should-

WRITER ENVIED FOR HIS TRIP TO ST. HELENA

By JOHN D. MONTGOMERY
Although I was apprehensive of the Buenaventura flight I spent my last evening out in Colon, knowing that a million people, at least, would give anything to have a chance to fly over the route.

I met a young German who was in charge of the local Scadta Flying company office. The Scadta Flying company is a private mail-carrying company and has its own mail boxes and postage stamps. My German friend took me to the Stranger's club and told me of his various adventures.

I was awakened at 4:30 and soon was at the flying field. Exactly at six, our plane rose from France Field into the air and shot across the Isthmus at 100 miles an hour. A few miles down the coast from Balboa, we passed over the Leper Colony where 102 victims are receiving chalmogra oil treatment from the United States government.

We ran into a squall and the pilot dropped the plane, to only a few feet above the crest of the waves. We flew there for four hours. It certainly gives you an idea of how fast you are.

Then we flew over dense jungle toward a wide meandering river to Buenaventura. We landed and refueled while our passports were examined. From there we skirted southward over a sandy jungle coast toward Tumaco. We passed over native thatched huts, built on high stilts as a protection against wild animals. Presently we were over a sandy beach on which hundreds of enormous crocodiles sunned themselves. Some were 12 to 15 feet in length.

We landed at Tumaco, a village where it seemed as if every building that was not of thatch, was built of pieces of galvanized iron. Our pier was a floating barge. A committee of native doctors was waiting to receive a package of whooping cough serum urgently needed here.

We hit across water until we finally sighted the red-colored bluffs of the Andes. After a short while, our plane dipped and bumped. Pilot Dunn yelled that "that was the equator we just hit" and handed me an engraved "diploma from King Neptune." We were then flying 20 miles off the coast of Ecuador at 120 miles an hour.

Suddenly the tropical jungle stopped. The barren desert appeared. At 5:15 we headed straight toward a point that resembled Gibraltar. It was St. Elena, Ecuador. Thousands of pelicans filled the sky. Our wheels were unfolded and we became a land plane. We rolled up to the Pacific to the wide sandy beach where nearly everyone in St. Elena—all 25 inhabitants—were out to greet us.
