POOREST PROFESSORS GIVE WORST GRADES.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university is on record as having said "The lowest grades are given by the poorest professors." He had investigated the grades of his best and poorest instructors. By best he said those who were chosen to receive the largest increase in salary this year and the poorest, those who on recommendation of the heads of the departments were not reemployed. His verdict: "This group of poorest instructors gave seven times as many low grades that semester as the group of the best instructors."

His contention is the function of the professor is to develop intellectual interest rather than to provide difficult hurdles; to reward success rather than to punish failures. Pres. Walter Dill Scott appears to be a very level headed individual.

ATTENTION, MR. CAPONE OF CHICAGO.

A new island has been discovered in the Pacific ocean. Prior to the discovery the sea along that section of the west coast of Mexico had been reported covered with oil. An ideal home for Mr. Capone of Chicago and his close satellites. This would give the American rearing public a long needed rest.

SCOPE OF THE STATE LIBEL LAW.

Representative Clarence E. Farmer of Tarrant county knows where to find his legislative hat. He has introduced a bill providing for the extension of the scope of the state libel and slander law to include radio broadcasting. His bill provides a penalty of a maximum fine of $2000 or jail sentence for violation of the law. Not only the owner or operator of the radio station will be held liable but the act also applies to the person broadcasting slanderous or libelous statements or any person who may have induced the making of such statements. Enactment of the measure would compel a malicious liar to place a curb on his tongue and in time perhaps it would place a professional slanderer behind the bars.

This, however, should not be taken as a boost for the Farmer bill. It is unthinkable to believe that malicious liars or professional slanderers are abroad in the land under the skies of Texas.

ANOTHER GREAT DAM FOR TEXAS.

It is said the Hamilton dam in Burnet county will be 9000 feet in length, 137 feet high and the entire project will cost $6,000,000, involving two and one-half years work and the crew reaching 800 men at its peak. It will form a lake extending back beyond the present Bluffton highway bridge. A new highway will be built around the lower end of the lake and the new bridge will be placed across the Colorado—the big Chicago Development company participating in the cost of the bridge. Let loose the millions. There are unemployed men clamoring for jobs for the jobless.

MEXICAN ORANGES TO WORLD MARKETS.

Former President Plutarco Calles of Mexico and many of the leading orange growers of the republic have perfected an organization for the marketing of the Mexican orange crop this season in Canada and England. They will ship the oranges by steamer to New York there to be diverted to the Canadian and English markets. "Mexico for the Mexicans and all the world for the products of Mexico" is a dream of the former president.

HANDSOMEST MAN OF VIRGINIA EDUCATORS.

Governor John Garland Pollard of Virginia journeyed to Florida for a brief vacation. St. Petersburg, an everglades resort, held a handsomest man contest and Governor Pollard won first prize. He was a university professor when drafted as successor of Harry Byrd by the regular democratic leaders of old Virginia. He is a scholar in politics as well "as handsomest man." Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland is said to be the handsomest governor of all the states but he was in Maryland when the St. Petersburg function pushed the governor of Virginia into the American beauty picture. Was it a "Bathing Man's Revue?"

OTHER OPINIONS

APPOINTING THE JUDGES

The president and attorney general appear ready to do battle with the Senate over whether President Hoover or Senator Schull is to appoint the Federal Judge in Senator Schull's state. The constitution is very clear on the point. But the Senate has in spirit violated that part of the Constitution and President after President has acquiesced in the violation. Mr. Hoover has waited until the immediate issue is larger than one of prerogative. We are told that the nominee of the Senator in this case is unacceptable to the law advisers of the administration for professional reasons. It is alleged that the nominee (whose name is mercifully unmentioned—is not the man to make the sort of Judge adequate to maintain the prestige of the Federal bench. Yet Senator Schull refuses to budge in his recommendation. The Senator has no legal authority to make any recommendation; still less has he the right to stipulate that his suggestion be nominated. He has only the power to threaten that if anybody else is nominated, he will get it. The United States Senate has been a marplot and a usurper of constitutional power for a long time. It ought to be brought to book. —Dallas News.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON JESUS, THE WORLD'S TEACHER

Text: Luke 6:27-42

But I say unto you which hear, Love your enemies, do good to them which hate you.

Bless them that curse you, and pray for them which despitefully use you.

And unto him that smiteth thee on the one cheek offer also the other; and unto him that taketh away thy cloke forbid not to take thy coat also.

Give to every man that asketh thee, and of him that taketh away thy goods ask them not again.

And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise.

For if ye love them which love you, what thank have ye? for even sinners also love those that love them.

And if ye do good to them which do good to you, what thank have ye? for even sinners also do even the same.

And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank shall ye have? for sinners also lend to sinners, to receive as much again.

But love your enemies and do them good and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great and ye shall be the children of the Highest; for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil.

Be ye therefore merciful, even as your Father is merciful.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for February 8, Jesus, the World's Teacher, Luke 6:27-42.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of the Congregationalist.

The passage from which our lesson is taken is known as the "Sermon on the Mount," and we find it presented more as a complete unit in three chapters in Matthew's Gospel.

The nature of the "sermon" and the conditions under which it was delivered remind us that Jesus was a teacher rather than a preacher, in so far as one may make a distinction between these terms and the functions that they signify.

We associate preaching, especially in our modern day, with formal discourses in which the rhetorical and oratorical quality is emphasized. Probably the great preachers have always been teachers even when their ministry has been exercised in a somewhat formal way and dealings with immense congregations rather than with small groups.

The function of teaching, however, we think of rather as exercised with small groups and in a very direct way. Jesus dealt in his public ministry both with large groups and with small groups and individuals.

We see him again and again surrounded by the multitudes. Apparently some of his parables were related to great throngs that pressed near to hear his words.

But somehow we can hardly think of the Master as delivering orations. We think of him rather as speaking very simple and very effective fashion, putting all the emphasis upon the appeal of the truth to the souls of men.

Not an "Orator" His ministry might indeed, even in the limited records of it that we have, constitute a model for both the preacher and the teacher. He did not waste time and words on unimportant things. His teaching and preaching moved in the realm of the deep realities of the soul, and he taught men to distinguish between the things that were of moral and spiritual value and the things that were of only temporary and passing importance.

Here in the passage chosen for our lesson he plunges at once into the very depths of the meaning of love. Love is something that must be exercised toward one's enemies as well as toward one's friends, or it is not love. If we allow hateful and bitter feelings to lodge in our hearts, even toward those who have wronged us, it is manifestly true that we are not practicing love. As we curse those who curse us, and show vengeful attitudes and actions to those who treat us unkindly and unfairly, we are not adding anything to the world's store of moral and spiritual values or to its progress.

Simple, Yet Difficult It is only when righteousness triumphs over unrighteousness, when love conquers hate, that we find any indication of improvement in the world, so far as our conduct is concerned, or that we add in any way to the world's store of goodness.

All this seems very elemental and simple and yet in all the centuries of human life it has been the hardest thing for men to perceive and put in practice. Even those who profess faith in Jesus of Nazareth and adoration of his name and teaching are often quite as vengeful in their attitude toward their enemies as are the most complete unbelievers.

So also in our judgments of one another. The good man is considerate, and regards others as he would wish to be regarded yourself. It is only through such attitudes of consideration and kindness and mercy that the world advances to higher planes of moral and spiritual living.

Now is this rule of the good life simply a matter of morals. It is religion as well, for it is in the practice of such ideals of love and kindness that men most display their nearness to God, the father of mercy, and their advancement in love to him. Morals and religion are one in their highest expression; and we cannot be Godly without being God like. To learn to regard and treat our fellowmen with the love and mercy that Jesus proclaimed as the very essence of his gospel is to attain the highest art of living and the way to the best that religion can be.

In the Political Arena

By HUGH N. FITZGERALD

Heroic and farseeing founders of this commonwealth laid the ground sill for a university that in the flight of time would take its place with the ancient institutions of learning of America and Europe. They laid the ground sills for a public school system that should some day be unrivaled if the men who carry out the ideals or plans of these who explored the wilderness and made it a habitat for civilized man and woman.

All Texans, all the people of the southwest, should be interested in the University of Texas and other institutions of higher learning. They should do their best and give of their best to the public schools of the commonwealth.

Education should come first in every land under every clime and all the children of all the people should be given educational advantages that will develop the brain as well as train the hand.

A reminder that new blood has been placed in the board of regents by the successor of Dan Moody. During Moody's reign of four years he named the following: Judge R. L. Batts of Austin; Edward Crane of Dallas; Robert J. Holliday of El Paso; and Buford Jester of Corsicana.

While holding the reins Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson named Mefo E. Foster of Houston; Sam Nethery of McKinney; but now city attorney of Houston; and H. J. Litcher of Orange. These three for a term of six years. They stepped down and cut Moody's. Their successors, named by Gov. Ross Sterling are John T. Scott of Houston; Leslie Waggoner of Dallas; M. Frank Yount of Beaumont. There was a reorganization Monday and the new members qualified.

John T. Scott is one of the best known bankers of the southwest. Leslie Waggoner is prominent among Dallas bankers and the son of a former president of the state university. Frank Yount is a success in the petroleum world and is said to know the ins and outs of the oil and gas game from all its angles. He has been close to the Sterlings from early boyhood. John T. Scott and the governor are said to be almost as close as brothers and have been neighbors and pals for years.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott arrived in Austin Sunday and in the evening the South Texas banker chatted with Regents Crane and Holliday at the University leading board as well as other friends of years. He was drafted for the place by the governor and Regents Crane and Holliday were delighted with the naming of Messrs. Scott and Waggoner for the reason that the investment side of the royalty and lease money is going to be a big problem and bankers who are high authorities on the subject are welcome to the board and its deliberations.

A warning that Regents Scott and Waggoner are not going to escape the heavy load that was placed upon their shoulders when they were picked to serve six years by their governor. It goes without contradiction that Regent Yount will not be an ornamental member of the board. He has played the oil and gas game for years. He is said to be an authority and it is no secret that he was selected because of his acquired knowledge, which is valuable to his fellow regents in the university handling of natural wealth of Texas which should fill the coffers of this institution of higher learning founded by the fathers of Texas.

John T. Scott after years in the banking game as the head of one of the great banks of the southwest some time ago, indeed before the crash came in Wall Street, decided to play a bit so Vice Pres. Law was elected president and the retiring president was named chairman of the board. He frankly admits that since his change of office he has been as busy as in any year of his eventful and successful life as a financier and he expects to be just as busy in the future.

He is the son of a farmer, he was born on a farm and in his youth "Father and the Boys" did all the work on the farm. Now it is different. "A Father and the Boys" seeing the world on wheels have been hiring others to do the work while they skim along the modern highways burning gas and permitting the packers and the canners and other preparers of refrigerated food to supply the home table.

A very interesting individual is Banker Scott. He hammered his own road to the top. He believes the farm problem is the most important today before the American people. He believes the machine has revolutionized farming. He believes that the successful farmer of the future will feed himself. That he will return to the program of "Father and the Boys" which prevailed in the days of his youth when the farmer furnished the supplies for his own table and his smokehouse and corncrib and canning utensils were ever in evidence. Of all the problems of the new civilization he insists that the agricultural problem is the one that will be the hardest to solve and he predicts that "Back to the Farm" will be a resurrected slogan some day and that scientific farming with "Father and the Boys" doing the bulk of the work will restore prosperity to the rural regions and that the advantages of the new civilization will be sufficient to hold the boys and girls on "THE OLD HOMESTEAD."

There are seven regents who are appointees of Dan Moody and Ross Sterling and the job of regent of the university today, is not an ornamental fixture.

Resolutions Express Grief of Class

The following resolutions of condolence and regret concerning the death of Mrs. Jennie Mathews, who died January 26, 1931, were passed by the T. E. L. class of the First Baptist Sunday school.

Cisco, Texas, Feb. 5, 1931. Mrs. Jennie Mathews died January 26, 1931.

Whereas, the loss of this good woman is keenly felt by her family, her church and friends. We cannot think of her without thinking of her undaunted hope, and steadfast faith in God.

Therefore, be it resolved that the T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church has lost one of its faithful members, whom we loved for her fine Christian character and admiration for her loyalty to her church and family our sincere sympathy to God's everlasting arms enfold her. That we extend to the bereaved during this time of sorrow.

That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her family a copy sent to the Cisco Daily News for publication and a copy placed in the minutes of this class.

Randolph Kittens Leave Today on Tour of Arkansas

INVASION TO PREPARE TEAM FOR TOURNEY

Strong Clubs to Face Locals on Foreign Courts

The Randolph college Kittens leave this morning at 8 for a week's tour of Arkansas during which they will meet three and possibly four of the best girls basketball teams in the state among them the team which last year played second in the national A. A. U. tournament at Wichita, Kansas. This is the Crescent college team, of Eureka Springs, the members of which last composed the Sparkman, Arkansas sextet.

The tour will be made by automobile and the first game will be with the Hartman team at Hartman, Arkansas, Monday evening. Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the Kittens play the Crescent college sextet and Thursday and Friday evenings they go to Monticello for games with the Arkansas A. and M. team. A game for Saturday night is expected to be arranged after which the girls will return home.

The tour is purely for practice in preparation for the annual national tournament to be held at Dallas during the final week of March. The Kittens have made such a tour each year prior to the tournament season and each time they have won more games than they have lost. The experience gained, however, is more valuable than victories and Coach H. E. Garrett said before leaving that he is not counting on winning all of the scheduled contests, although the girls have improved materially since the visit to Oklahoma early in January. Many critics have stated that the team looks better now than it did at the same time last season while Coach S. F. Babb of the Oklahoma Presbyterian college team, which the Kittens defeated Thursday evening, declared that the Kittens are the best team his girls have played this year, adding that the O. P. C. sextet played its best game of the season against the Randolph team.

"I'm Not Bragging," Says Amarillo Mayor

DALLAS, Feb. 7.—"Excuse me but I don't like to brag," said Mayor Ernest Thompson of Amarillo Tuesday, stopping in Dallas between trains. He was on his way home from the Gridiron dinner at Houston; a private lawsuit at Orange and a Railroad commission hearing at Austin. He then launched into a tale of progress in Amarillo. The city, he said, is "overnight from everywhere," which sounded in these days of depression, like a collaboration of Baron Munchausen and Paul Bunyan.

Amarillo has grown steadily throughout the depression, "declared the mayor. "And we're going right ahead. In 1931 we shall spend more than $1,000,000 on city improvements, $550,000 on new schools. We're spending $6,000,000 this year on road and highway work. The Santa Fe is spending $17,000,000 on new trackage and improvements. The Fort Worth & Denver is spending $4,000,000 on new construction.

The Burns Mill & Elevator company is building a $1,500,000 elevator now and has plans for several millions more in elevator and mill construction. With the Rock Island and the Fort Worth & Denver we're spending $240,000 next week on an underpass, the city and the lines each paying a third.

"Our large ranches are being cut into small farms and we have more cattle in the aggregate than ever before.

"We had few failures in 1930 and our unemployment problem is no greater at this time than it ever has been.

"By cutting our taxes and utility costs last year we saved our people $785,000. Our taxes went from $1.35 to $1 with no increase in valuations. Our water went from 30c to 27c and the department used $108,000. Our gas went from 45c to 30c and our lights from 9c to 7c."

FRENCH MEDICS ASK SERIES OF EXAMINATIONS

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The Academy of Medicine after advocating pre-natal medical examinations has come out for a series of head-to-foot physical examinations from the moment a child enters the cradle until wasted with age, he is placed in his grave.

The life span of every French child would be divided into definite periods, the beginning of each being marked by a thorough medical examination.

The first examination would be made at birth, the child's physical defects and characteristics being carefully recorded. The second would be taken when the child enters primary school, and the

DEATH THREAT LETTER RENEWS KIDNAPER HUNT

TEXARKANA, Feb. 7.—A death threat received by E. T. Page, president of the Redwater State bank, 20 miles west of here, today had renewed the two months old search for the abductor and attempted murderer of R. W. Hanks, 55, cashier of the bank and son-in-law of Page.

Federal authorities are expected to begin an investigation into the death threat letter which came from the mails from Dallas.

The writer of the epistle has carried out the abduction and shooting of Hanks and that they "got the wrong man last time" was indicated in the letter.

An advertisement appearing in Friday's Dallas News was a surmise that $5,000 is awaiting the blackmailers, it was learned today. The letter received by Page instructed him to insert an advertisement in the Dallas News offering a Bowie county farm for sale. The ad read: "Farm for sale cheap. Box 85, Redwater, Texas."

MARKET NEARLY READY
OSAKA, Japan, Feb. 7.—Osaka's new central wholesale market, covering more than 150,000 square yards, is nearly completed and will be opened in April. The building cost more than $16,000,000. The market is part of the six year program started in 1925 when the municipal assembly adopted a proposal providing $7,500,000 for the scheme.

Electricity Assures Dependable Refrigeration

To SAFELY preserve perishable foodstuffs—to protect them from spoilage or bacteria infection—a method of refrigeration which will maintain a constant temperature of less than fifty degrees is a vital necessity. In no other way can you be sure that the foods you are serving are safe beyond the shadow of a doubt.

Electric Refrigeration is as certain as Electricity itself. Regardless of where you are, dependable and efficient electric service guarantees the constant low temperature advocated by leading medical and food authorities. Foods may be left without attention in the Electric Refrigerator for an indefinite period without harmful effects.

A Trained Salesman will be happy to go into further detail regarding the Frigidaire's many features of Health, Convenience and Economy—entirely without obligation, of course. You owe it to yourself to benefit by the many advantages of this modern Household Necessity.
