U. S. Marines Direct Relief Work in Stricken Managua

SHIPS RUSHED TO HELP CARE FOR REFUGEES

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 1.—The population of the devastated city of Managua crumpled by violent earthquake shock, united today under the leadership of United States marines to care for the dead and wounded until the arrival of relief forces by air and sea.

The hopes of the city for quick relief from suffering caused by lack of food and medical supplies, were raised by information that half a dozen great ships of the United States navy and a fleet of a more than a dozen air and sea planes were en route to Nicaragua to care for the refugee population of the capital. The once flourishing city of Managua with its population of about 35,000, including some 1,000 Americans, lay in ruins along the shores of Lake Managua and in the ominous shadow of the volcanic Mount Momotombo. In addition to the sharp quake which destroyed the greater part of the capital yesterday morning, new earth movements of less intensity shook the region last night at 9 p. m.

TREMORS ARE CONTINUING.
WASHINGTON, April 1.—The navy department was advised by Radio from Managua at 7 a. m. today that earthquake tremors are still continuing in the stricken city. This condition, the report said, made relief work extremely hazardous.

Most of Managua was still afloat late last night, the dispatch said. Army engineers from the contingent that will survey the proposed Nicaraguan canal route, have taken over the fire fighting operations.

The navy report said it was impossible to make an accurate estimate of the dead. The wounded still are being collected and cared for by marines and members of the navy's Guardia Nacional.

Oil Provation Orders Lacking
AUSTIN, April 1.—New state oil provation orders were still lacking today, though former orders issued by the state railroad commission expired at midnight. Chairman C. V. Terrell, of the commission, said he did not know when new orders would be out.

FREE FOR ALL
ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 1.—Free for all fighting interrupted today's meeting of the Maryland house of delegates when 25 alleged communists invaded the chamber and sought to present a petition in behalf of the unemployed. Several others of the demonstrating party obtained a non-violence hearing in the office of Gov. Albert O. Ritchie and offered their plea. Fifteen of the demonstrators were arrested, two of them painfully injured. At Ritchie's suggestion the lone demonstrator remaining after the riot was permitted to address the speaker of the house.

SENIORS ENJOY LIBERTY FOR ANNUAL FROLIC
Today is Senior Day at the high school. The members of the Senior class, attired in clever and conical costumes, attended school for the first two periods this morning, gave a humorous program in chapel, and then left on a picnic. The party paraded up and down Main street just before 11 o'clock, ending in a picnic at the lake. No definite plans for the annual Junior-Senior fight were announced, but it is certain that the fight will be somewhat different from the fights held in the past.

WEATHER

Scenes Of Tragedy Which Claimed 5 Victims

SUSPECT TO BE CHARGED IN SLAYING

BAIRD, April 1.—Formal charges of murder were filed here today against Jerry Kent, 19, of Cross Plains, in connection with the slaying Saturday night of his granduncle, Bob Ensor, Callahan county farmer and former deputy sheriff.

Ensor was killed instantly as he opened a gate leading to his farm home near here. The killer fired from ambush, officers finding a clearing in the brush near the gate where he had lain in wait for Ensor.

The youth was arrested late yesterday at the home of relatives at Brownwood. He was held in jail today, without bond pending action of the Callahan county grand jury which will convene tomorrow.

Charges were to be filed today at Baird against Jerry Kent, 19, of Cross Plains, who was arrested by Callahan county officers yesterday in connection with the ambush slaying of his granduncle, Bob Ensor, 56-year-old Cross Plains farmer, Saturday evening. Kent was arrested yesterday after Callahan and Brown county officers had cooperated in several days of investigation of the slaying.

LEARNING TO PRAY SUBJECT FOR SERVICE

Although Monday evening's service at the Twelfth Street Methodist church, was rained out, a large congregation was present for Tuesday evening's service of the revival meeting now in progress, "Learning to Pray" was the subject discussed by the pastor, who took as his text, the first part of the first verse of the eleventh chapter of the gospel of St. Luke.

Some of the things the pastor said was that prayer is of universal interest to man, because he is a praying being. "All men pray some time somewhere when confronted with disasters in which they realize only God can help. If we do not learn to pray in faith, we will pray even though it be in fear. If we learn to pray in hope, we will pray even though it be in despair. The disciples who made this request were in all probability accustomed to hearing men say prayers, or even saying prayers themselves."

But the prayer life of the Christian revealed the importance of prayer as they had never known before. Real praying came to have a new meaning to them as they watched their Lord pray.

"Prayer moves the individual who prays to see the thing that is wrong in his life and causes him to repent. It also moves him to service in the kingdom of God. God in answer to real praying moves the individual for whom we pray and brings him face to face with the needs of his life."

ROCKNE'S BODY ON WAY BACK TO SOUTH BEND

COTTONWOOD FALLS, Kansas, April 1.—The bruised and broken body of Knute Rockne, thrown to his death when an airplane plunged to destruction into a Kansas pasture, was being taken back today back to the city where Rockne had built the football teams that made him famous.

While the body of the noted coach was on its way to South Bend, Indiana, seat of Notre Dame university and Rockne's home, scattered splinters of steel and wood on a meadow near were testified gruesomely to the wreck that had killed seven other persons besides Rockne, five passengers and two pilots of a Transcontinental and Western Air Express airplane.

An investigation into the causes was to begin later today. From scant evidence available so far, it appeared the tragedy might be added to the unexplained disasters of the air.

COMMANDERY TO CONDUCT SERVICE SUN.

The Cisco Commandery will hold its customary Easter services this year at the First Baptist church with the Rev. E. S. James, pastor, preaching the sermon. The services will be conducted Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, according to the ritual of the commandery.

The service is open to the public and not only Knights Templar but every person in the city is cordially invited. Singers from other churches will be welcomed to the choir. It will be announced.

ORGANIZATION FOR CLEAN-UP WEEK SHAPED

Dates for the annual spring clean-up campaign have been set for the week of April 5, beginning Monday, April 6, and extending through Friday, April 10. It was announced today by Mrs. P. P. Shepard, president of the City Federation of Women's clubs under the auspices of which the drive will be conducted. The city health board is cooperating with the women's clubs in the movement, which is aimed not only at making Cisco more attractive, but at removing health hazards.

A large part of the credit for the excellent health record in Cisco is due these annual campaigns in which the citizens have always generously cooperated. Sources of infection and other health hazards are removed in the spring so that during the warm summer months they cannot contribute to sickness and disease. Breeding places of flies and mosquitoes are removed at an opportune time with the result that the city is remarkably free from these dangerous pests.

Plans for the existing crusade have been announced by Mrs. Shepard in the following statement: "The annual spring clean up campaign is a very important item in a city's program and the coming week beginning on April 5, and extending through April 10, has been designated as our week where we make a special effort to remove all of our untidy winter accumulations in our back yards and alleys."

"A vast number of lives are saved each year in our cities through the medium of the clean-up campaigns. Rubbish accumulates and becomes a breeding place for flies, also a fire hazard. All dirty unsightly alleys and back yards are typhoid nuisances, and must be eliminated. The hardware dealers are requested to provide trash containers at a moderate cost, and the citizens of the town are urged to buy these containers and thus help eliminate the fly menace."

The merchants in our business districts are very prompt in hauling away boxes and packing materials, but some allow their trash to accumulate, thus causing an unsightly accumulation of trash on open lots, out of the way corners and alleys. Owners of vacant houses and lots are urged to cooperate in this clean-up campaign and assist in keeping Cisco free from trash accumulations, and its attendant disease.

"The City of Cisco, acting with the health department under Dr. Clark, is requested to provide trucks for the hauling away of trash. Many home owners will be glad to pay a nominal sum to help defray the expenses in maintaining and paying for the use of trucks and men used for hauling trash not usually hauled by the daily trash gatherer."

"Mrs. P. P. Shepard, president of the City Federation of Women's clubs in Cisco, has appointed Mrs. C. H. Fee as general chairman of the clean-up campaign, acting for the City Federation and each club of the City Federation will appoint a committee to act with Mrs. Fee in districting the city of Cisco, for an efficient clean-up campaign. This committee is requested to meet at the club house on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, and a representative of the city and of the health department is requested to meet with them."

"The importance of this annual city clean-up campaign cannot be over-rated, and the cooperation of each citizen, every organization, especially the Boy Scouts, is earnestly solicited."

Body of Rising Star Man Being Exhumed Today as Officers Suspect Foul Play

EXTRA SESSION IS NOT NEEDED WITT DECLARES

There will be no need for a special session of the state legislature, Lieut.-Gov. Edgar Witt declares in a statement to the Cisco Daily News. Pointing out, answer to criticism, that the legislature is working under a revised system more favorable to its functions and that, in his judgment, plenty of time remains for consideration of important pending legislation, Mr. Witt says: "Some criticism has been made of the failure of the 42nd legislature to pass many laws. And prophecy is made that the legislature will find itself in a 'jam' during its last days — that it will fail to enact needed legislation — and that a special session will be required. It is a fact that not many laws of general interest have yet been considered by this legislature on the floor of the house or senate; but the recently adopted amendment to the constitution contemplates that the first 60 days of the regular session, shall be primarily consumed in the introduction of bills and their consideration by committees; that only emergency matters shall be considered by these bodies in open session. In my judgment the conduct so far of the legislature has been in keeping with the spirit of the recently adopted amendments — bills aptly have been introduced, but not in excess of what has happened in the past considering the same length of time — they have been given full and orderly hearings before committees — a thing that has rarely been possible in the past and now that we are into the last 60 days of the session, both houses are working morning and afternoon and Saturdays in open session considering the measures that have been passed out of committees. I have noticed a feeling of individual responsibility on the part of members of the legislature to give their sincere efforts to the expediting of the consideration of the legislation pending and I have no doubt but that the remaining all important pending legislation and that there will be no occasion for the expenditure of any of the people's money for a special session."

"I believe this legislature recognizes its responsibility to the people of Texas for the passage of the constitutional amendments under which we are now operating and that its members are going to see to it that the people will have no cause to complain at individual members on the ground that there has been a failure of the amendments to meet the representations made as to what would be the results of their adoption. I still say as I did in my inaugural remarks about the 42nd legislature that the people of Texas placed a confidence and responsibility on it never accorded a previous legislature, and that in my judgment when its work is finished they will say 'Well done thou good and faithful servant.'"

MOTOR TRUCK REGULATION STILL PENDING
AUSTIN, April 1.—Motor truck regulations were still under fire in the Texas house of representatives when the body recessed until this afternoon. Debate began Monday with the consideration of the Murphy bill, which regulates operation of all hited trucks.

Today a substitute was offered by Rep. W. E. Pope, of Corpus Christi. He was presenting it at recess time. Pope's bill has less stringent regulations. It also provides that motor lines, and rail lines shall be distinguished.

The senate, having temporarily disposed of the state road bond issue, debated a bill to again raise the minimum scholastic age to 7 years.

JAIL HAS ONE GUEST

UNPARDONABLE SIN WILL BE THEME TONIGHT

The "Unpardonable Sin" will be the subject of the Rev. H. D. Tucker tonight at the First Methodist church in the revival meeting now in progress.

Grady G. Morton will lead the song services preceding the sermon.

One of the largest crowds of the revival series heard the Rev. Mr. Tucker last night speak from the text "What shall I do then with Jesus?"

"You cannot be neutral with respect to Jesus Christ," he told his audience. "Neither can a person ignore Christ," he said.

"Every person in the audience must make a decision tonight. This decision may be for or against Jesus Christ but some kind of decision has to be made," he declared.

ARGUMENTS IN BROTHERS TRIAL BEGUN

CRIMINAL COURT, Chicago, April 1.—The state presented its last evidence against Leo V. Brothers today in an attempt to prove that he killed Alfred J. Lingde, Chicago Tribune reporter, last June.

The state's rebuttal consisted of six witnesses including Pat Roche, states attorney's investigator who captured Brother. After Roche's brief testimony the state rested. The defense waived rebuttal and assistant Prosecutor C. Wayland Brooks began the state's closing argument.

NEIGHBORS SAY CHARGES WERE UNTRUE

MANSFIELD, April 1.—Neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Peck, whose bodies were found in their home here yesterday, today declared charges made by the husband that his wife had been untrue to him were baseless.

Peck left a four-page written note, parts of which were obscure in which he accused his wife of unfaithfulness. Justice Homer House returned a verdict of murder and suicide.

Elvira Williams, negro woman, found the bodies when she went to the Peck home late yesterday for a bucket of milk. The woman's body still clutching a butter mold, was found on the kitchen floor. Peck was found across a bed in a nearby room.

Physicians examining the bodies said the couple had been dead since about 8 p. m. Monday.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

LOVE DEFRAUDS NOT—Owe no man any thing, but to love one another. Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not covet. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.—Romans 13:8, 9.

PRAYER—Father, give us the spirit of the living Christ, that we may do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with Thee, our God.

"THE MOST DANGEROUS MAN ALIVE."

Richard F. White of Kansas and somewhere in America most of the time courted and married 19-year-old Bonnie Gwendolyn Porter, a student nurse, at Kansas City. Bonnie, not yet 20 years old, has been pictured by reporters as a "striking blonde." Aren't all blondes striking? Richard met Bonnie. It was a case of love at first sight. Two weeks later a man of God tied the knot. According to Bonnie, her Richard was a beautiful character and she is going to stick to him to the finish. Her story: "We were buying a new house on the south side (Kansas City) and were going to move into it the first of April. Why, we had planned to plant flowers in the back yard. The house is 10 miles from the church we attended, but Dick said we would go every Sunday. Dick wouldn't miss church for anything. He always seemed to have money and he told me he dealt in oil and real estate. He was away from home at different times. I never asked him about his business and he never told about it." Bonnie and Richard lived with Mrs. Charles K. Perry of Kansas City while construction of the love nest was under way. Mrs. Perry was charmed. Her story: "He is one of the quietest men I ever knew. Mr. White would spend hours playing with the canary bird he had. He never drank and I never heard him swear. He always was ready to help any poor man who asked him for a piece of money. He was awfully kind. He seemed to be more interested in family life than the average man. He would spend hours reading magazines devoted to flower gardens and homes. I never did see him read a detective story or any trashy literature." When the officers of many cities, representing the federal and state and municipal governments, ran to his lair Richard F. White evolved into Fred H. Burke, otherwise James L. Camp, born and reared on a Kansas farm and a model boy, according to surviving neighbors, until he vanished in thin air and won for himself the crushing title—"the most dangerous man alive." Now isn't truth stranger than fiction?

"I WOULD STEAL BEFORE I WOULD STARVE."

Daniel G. Willard is president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and one of the greatest of rail executives. President Willard spoke at the observance of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Wharton school of finance and commerce as a part of the University of Pennsylvania. He urged the students to help find the solution to the problems of unemployment. He declared a system "under which it is possible for six millions of willing and able bodied men to be out of work for months at a time and with no other source of income than their toil, can be said to have failed in at least one very important detail." He reminded the students that with all its defects the capitalistic system afforded, in his opinion, a better and fairer basis upon which to build an economic structure than any other system so far devised and tested by man and, in conclusion, he sent this message around the civilized world, "I can think of nothing more deplorable than the condition of a man, able and anxious to work with no resources but his labor and perhaps with others even more helpless dependent upon him. Unless he is willing to starve and see those who justly look to him for support also starve, his only alternative is to seek charity and, failing in that, to steal. While I do not like to say so, I would be less than candid if I did not say that in such circumstances I would steal before I would starve." Daniel E. Willard must have kept a close watch on congressional proceedings when it was held by national lawmakers and leaders of public thought that it was constitutional to appropriate money to feed the hungry hogs of distressed farmers, but unconstitutional at all times to appropriate money to feed the hungry children of the distressed farmer. This is the way it was written into the record of 1931 by a republican administration and republican house of congress. President Willard appears to be a very outspoken man of action and conviction. He has given American writers and ministers material for newspaper outbursts and pulpit orations.

ABOLITION OF THE FARM BOARD.

Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania is for the abolition of the federal farm board. He cannot see that the farm board has helped the farmer and he sees no reason for its future existence. Sen. David A. is not James A. Reed of Missouri. They are said to be first cousins. They do not think alike. They do not vote alike. They do not talk or act alike. David A. in a lurid press interview, holds that the government threw away $750,000,000 "on the losses through the farm board and loans to World War veterans not in distress." Why the job at the farmers? Why the ugly thrust at the veterans? Farmers saved the country by furnishing the food while the war was on and the veterans offered their lives where the canons were roaring, the machine guns and rifles belching and all other infernal agencies of war were making fodder of the rifle bearers of all nations.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS.

MAD MARRIAGE

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of 'HEART HUNGRY', etc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY Gypsy McBride, 19-year-old typist in a New York office, meets Jim Wallace at the home of her wealthy cousin, Anne Throbridge. Gypsy is miserable because she has learned Alan Crosby, back from a year and a half in Paris studying art, no longer cares for her. Wallace tells Gypsy that he has been jilted by his fiancée. To spite the girl he cares for he asks Gypsy to marry him. She first refuses but later accepts. They are married next morning and depart for Forest City, his home town. At Jim's home they are greeted by his aunt, Miss Ellen Wallace, who immediately becomes hostile to the girl. After a few days Miss Wallace moves to a cottage down the street. She arranges a family dinner party at which Gypsy meets the other relatives, Mrs. Sebastian Nicholson, who is Jim's aunt, and Lucia Wallace, his cousin, snub Gypsy. This enrages Jim and the couple leave. Next morning Gypsy receives a letter addressed in familiar handwriting.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII Upstairs, securely locked away in the lowest dresser drawer in Gypsy's bedroom, there was a package of letters tied with cord. They were addressed in the same bold handwriting as the envelope in her hand. The difference was that this letter had been directed to "Mrs. James Wallace."

For one long moment Gypsy's heart seemed to cease beating. Then it began to pound tumultuously. There were the familiar initials, "A. R. C.," in the left-hand corner. There was the same funny little curly-cue Alan always made when he wrote a capital "M." Gypsy turned the letter over, noting the New York postmark. Slowly she went back into the house.

She dropped the other letters on a table in the hall and climbed the flight to her bedroom. Inside the room she closed the door behind her and sank to the edge of the bed. After all these days it had come! All this while, Gypsy suddenly realized, she had been praying for this letter. It was as though she had suddenly awakened from a long nightmare.

"She held up the envelope and started to tear one end open. Something made her hesitate. "Mrs. James Wallace"—she read the name over again. "Mrs. James Wallace." "Alan!" the girl sobbed convulsively. "Oh, Alan!" She flung herself face down against the pillows, and tears came unchecked. They dampened one corner of the letter to which she clung tightly. They were hot tears, wrung forth with great shaking sobs. "Alan, I want you—I want you! I do!"

Presently she sat up, groping for a handkerchief to dry her red and swollen eyes. She still held the letter unopened. "One part of her earned feverishly to read what Alan had written. The other part—it was fear—cautioned, "Don't do it! You'll be sorry." Gypsy held the envelope and stared at it.

Yes, of course she must open it! There were a thousand things that could have happened since she left New York. Alan might be needing her.

Gypsy jumped up and crossed the room. "You're Jim Wallace's wife," she told herself. "You married him to get away from all this. Alan never does love you. He never did love you. Open that letter and you'll regret it. What if he should say he's sorry now? What can you do about it? It's too late!"

She heard a knock at the door.

FOR GREENS

Salads made with light, simple greens seem to find their ideal complement in a dressing like Vinaigrette Dressing. It gives them a touch of subtle flavor while allowing all their natural deliciousness to assert itself.

To make Vinaigrette Dressing: One teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of pepper, a little paprika, eight tablespoons of Wesson Oil and two tablespoons of vinegar. Beat with a fork until thoroughly blended. Stir in a small sour pickle, chopped fine, and a teaspoon of chopped parsley.

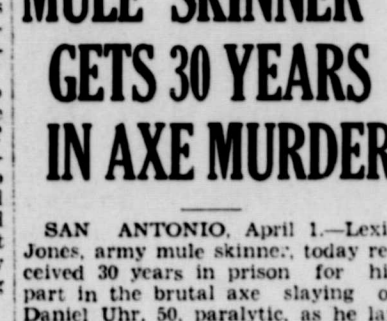

FOR FRUITS

For fruit salads select a dressing made with nuts or cheese... or one that has a touch of sweetness. The next time you have a fruit salad try Nut Dressing: To six tablespoons of Wesson Oil add two tablespoons of lemon juice, a teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of sugar, one-fourth teaspoon paprika. Mix well and then add two tablespoons of chopped nuts.

FOR SEAFOOD

Seafood should be marinated in French Dressing for a few hours before they are made into the salad. It helps to bring back all the zestful tang that makes them so delicious. To marinate: mix six tablespoons Wesson Oil and two tablespoons of vinegar. Add a teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper. Pour this over seafood and set aside in the refrigerator for several hours. Serve with Lemonade.

Sugar and cream go well with peaches

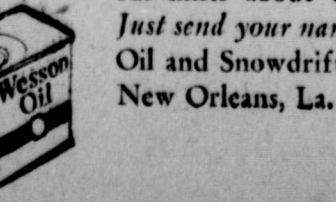

But... on sardines... never!

mix a dressing appropriate to the salad

For instance, on salads of simple greens, try Vinaigrette, Bachelor Club, or French Dressing. On fruits, fresh or canned, use Barle-Duc, Cheese or Nut Dressing. And when the salad is made of seafood, marinate* the ingredients in French Dressing before they are made into the salad.

SEND FOR Mary B. Murray's booklet about appropriate salad dressings. It tells you how to select the dressings that go best with different kinds of salads and contains many useful hints about the proper service of salads. Just send your name and address to The Wesson Oil and Snowdrift People, 210 Baronne Street, New Orleans, La.

LIONS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF APRIL FOOL

During one same moment of a hilarious April Fool's program this noon, the Cisco Lions club gave unqualified endorsement to the clean-up week movement sponsored by the City Federation of Women's clubs, but after pledging their hearty support to this movement the club plunged into a frolic that carried the license of the day to the furthest extent at the expense of a number of the members.

Visitors present to enjoy the event with the Lions were: Misses Jean Sheekford, Virginia Patterson and Roma Lee McGeehee, of Randolph college, Coach H. R. Garrett, likewise of Randolph, Chief of Police W. M. Miller, Mr. Noelin, district representative of the Sinclair Oil company, and Miss Wilma Mason, of Cisco.

Initiating a series of pranks, Lion R. M. Ellis, Jr., missed his seat at the table. Miss Jean Sheekford then presented Lion A. D. Anderson with a lovely pair of "steppas" claiming that they were not as costly as he had intimated they were; Chief Miller searched all members of the club present, producing a bottle of whisky from one of Lion H. B. Hackleman's pockets, arresting him on the spot and taking bond; Lion W. H. LaRogue consumed several buns stuffed with cotton before discovering the hoax; Lion J. T. Eagen found that pencils with rubber heads won't write and J. A. Bezman was considerably chagrined when he found members of the club so little impressed with his projected talk on oil production that they deliberately walked out on him.

Lions C. C. Jones and E. S. James will have charge of next week's program.

MOM'N POP.

runners" returning to the East" by way of Panama bought hats made by the women of Ecuador. Most of the so-called Panama hats still are made in Ecuador.

The Canary Islands, where the giant German plane "DO-X" landed on its attempted flight to New York received their name from the Latin word canis or dog. The Canary birds found there are given.

U. S. Capital

The capital of the United States is not in any city. Washington technically speaking, is a post office and a railway station. The capital is governed by three commissioners.

The real city of London is a tiny patch, a mile square, in the center of the Metropolitan district.

Geography constantly plays April Fool with the Mississippi river; and with some of the southern branches of the Amazon. Their sources actually are nearer the center of the earth than their mouths. A river which rises some distance from the Equator—the earth is somewhat "fatter" at the Equator than the Poles—and flows toward it may, if it is long enough, be "higher" at the end than at the start. Regarded in this light the river "flows uphill."

April Fool's day makes playful pranks worth while. But if your tormentor goes too far, ask him the answer to a few geographic "fool-ers." It doesn't have to be April Fool's Day, however.

FREAK LAMB BORN

BELLINGHAM, Wash., April 1.—A Shropshire lamb with three bodies verging into a single neck and head but having eight legs, is owned by Mrs. H. W. Wright.

WEIGHT UNHORSES COPS

BOSTON, April 1.—When a Boston mounted policeman gets so he weighs 200 pounds, including his equipment, he loses his horse. William H. Delay, Paul Klese and James J. Kerrigan have been transferred from mounted service to foot duty because their weights exceeded the limit recently set by Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hittman.

HUNTED ANIMALS IN LEAD

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 1.—A race between hunters and hunted beasts is being won by the latter, judging from current figures on the activities of predatory animals in Arizona. During a recent 30 day period lions, bobcats and coyotes killed 285 sheep and calves. Hunters trying to even the score, managed to kill only 153 of the predatory animals.

SEALESS SAILORS DRILL

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 1.—Men who have been sailors for many years, but who have never even seen the sea, go through their drills at the Ninth Naval District's batallion headquarters here. There are 250 men in the unit.

MR. PINE BURR

JACKSON, Miss., April 1.—A Pine Burr is the name of a candidate for state legislature from Yazoo county, and his friends are running him on the platform that "he'll stick."

ODITIES MAKE FOOL'S DAY A DAILY AFFAIR

WASHINGTON, April 1.—April Fool's Day rolls around once each year to give the practical jokers a chance to play their pranks.

But certain geographic oddities make every day in the year an April Fool's Day for many persons.

For example:

Irish potatoes originated in the mountains of Peru and Chile. A famine which followed the failure of a potato crop in Ireland led to study of varieties which would resist disease, and to the production of the better grades of potato known today.

Balsam of Peru

Balsam of Peru originated in the Central American Republic of El Salvador. It was named for its distribution center, rather than for its source.

Panama hats are not made in Panama. Some of the old "forty-were visitors in Ranger this afternoon.

Dick Hamblin of Dallas was a business visitor here this morning.

Gerald Parks of Scranton spent the weekend with Sturgeon Parks, Jr.

BAPTIST CIRCLE HAS SOCIAL

Circle 6 of the W. M. S. of the First Baptist church met in the parlor of the church Tuesday afternoon. Preceding the social hour, an examination on the book "Glimpses of Missionary Life" was taken. The rest of the period was spent, socially. A large basket of various colored sweet peas gave floral charm to the entertaining room. Gifts were brought to the rose bud sisters and names were drawn again. Mrs. J. R. Burnett was hostess. A very attractive refreshment plate consisting of banana cake, coffee, and mints shaped like Easter eggs in nests of shredded coconut. Sweet peas were given as plate favors.

Present were: Mesdames H. L. Kunkel, H. B. Hensley, Ed Bates, J. R. Burnett, E. C. Duncan, Franklin Blackstock, W. F. Walker, S. S. Benefield, J. O. Skiles, A. C. Skiles, and Misses Virginia Fox, Wilma Mason and Nell Blackburn.

Where the romance of LA SALLE mingles with today

ROMANCE still lives in Louisiana, no less today than when La Salle stood at the mouth of the Mississippi and De Tonti of the Iron Hand set up the Post of Accansa (Arkansas). Baron Bastrop and Aaron Burr flitted swiftly across the stage with their dreams of a Southwestern empire, all to be swept aside by the sturdy American frontiersman, who strode westward to enter and possess this land after the War of 1812.

Far in the background glides the shadow of De Soto, who spent his last winter in Southern Arkansas and found his last home in Louisiana; three centuries later a land rich with sugar, cotton, rice and oil.

True, a rapidly advancing civilization has taken much from the glamour and romance of history, but in its place has come a new romance in the guise of Commerce, Agriculture and Industry. Today, the annual business in oil alone, of the land brought into the United States through the Louisiana Purchase, outweighs all the commerce of the French century.

As the outgrowth of the first refinery in the Southwest, the Magnolia Petroleum Company has played a stellar role in the progress of the Southwestern oil industry. From the very beginning the pioneer founders of the Magnolia Petroleum Company realized that theirs was a task of keeping abreast of a rapidly advancing civilization. People were changing. The jeers of derision that had met the first horseless carriage slowly changed to smiles of tolerance and later to solid belief. The automobile had become an actuality! Distance was losing its handicap! Transportation was revolutionized! The history of the automobile needs no comment. Nor does the fact that it has become as integral a part of the American mode of living as bread and butter. Without an adequate source for petroleum to provide fuel and lubrication, it is not improbable that the automobile would have become an unattainable luxury... impractical for the thousand and one uses to which it has been applied to industry and individual pleasure.

Along Southwestern highways Magnolia Service Stations stand ready to lubricate your car with Socony Motor Oil and fuel it with Magnolia Ethyl or Maximum-Mileage Gasoline so that you may speed along to endless historical and romantic shrines which now are easy ports of call for the modern motorist.

One of the three owners of the pioneer refinery, operated by J. S. Cullinan Company of Corsicana, Texas (1893), which later developed into the Magnolia Petroleum Company. Elected President of the Standard Oil Company of New York, 1911. Chairman of the board, 1917. He died in 1930.
