Young Wife Dramatically Ends Life Near Breckenridge

SHOTS SELF IN PRESENCE OF RELATIVES

BRECKENRIDGE, July 4.—While sitting with an aunt, Mrs. Carrie Cook, and other relatives at Curry pool, eight miles southwest of Breckenridge, this afternoon, Mrs. Cook, 37, suddenly drew a .38 pistol from underneath the pillow of the bed on which she was sitting and shot herself in the forehead. The tragedy occurred at 4 o'clock. She died almost instantly. Mrs. Westbrock, whose husband, Eaney Westbrock, is serving a 90-day federal jail sentence for mail theft at San Angelo, is said by her aunt to have been dependent over marital trouble and on several occasions to have threatened to end her life.

The husband, who was released from jail upon news of the shooting, is en route to Breckenridge this afternoon. The body is being held at a local morgue. Westbrock will be paroled to the sheriff's department while here. He was a substitute mail carrier and was convicted of theft of the mails at San Angelo on April 28 since when he has been serving his sentence.

Glider Pilot Who Conquered Channel

Twenty-two years after Louis Bleriot, aviation pioneer, made the first flight across the English Channel in an airplane, Robert Kronfeld, Austrian glider pilot, successfully completed a round trip of the same course in a motorless craft. Here you see him ordering the glider near Calais, France, at the beginning of the feat that won him a $5,000 prize.

HILL GIVEN 5 YEARS AT SAN ANGELO

SAN ANGELO, July 4.—After nearly 24 hours of deliberation a jury here this afternoon found Alva Hill guilty of murder without malice in the fatal stabbing of J. R. Giser, dairyman, on June 10 and sentenced him to 5 years in the penitentiary. A motion for new trial was made but no action on it was taken today. The trial on the same charges of George Hill, father of the man convicted today, was transferred to Abilene for hearing in September. Kiser, the father of seven children, was killed in an argument over the pasturing of cows belonging to his dairy. Mrs. George Hill, wife of one defendant and mother of the other, committed suicide by drinking poison following the arrest of the two.

MAY DRILL HOFFER WELL INTO RANGER

It is understood that the Hoffer well in section 473, S. P. R. survey, five miles north of Cisco, will be deepened by the Lone Star Gas company. The upper series of Ranger pay has been touched and it is said that approximately 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day is being produced.

WITNESSES SAY MISS ROBERTS KISSED OTHERS

ABILENE, July 4.—Miss Margaret Roberts, who claimed she gave her love to a cowboy friend, only to have it spurned, kissed at least two other men, one of them her employer, it was testified in district court here.

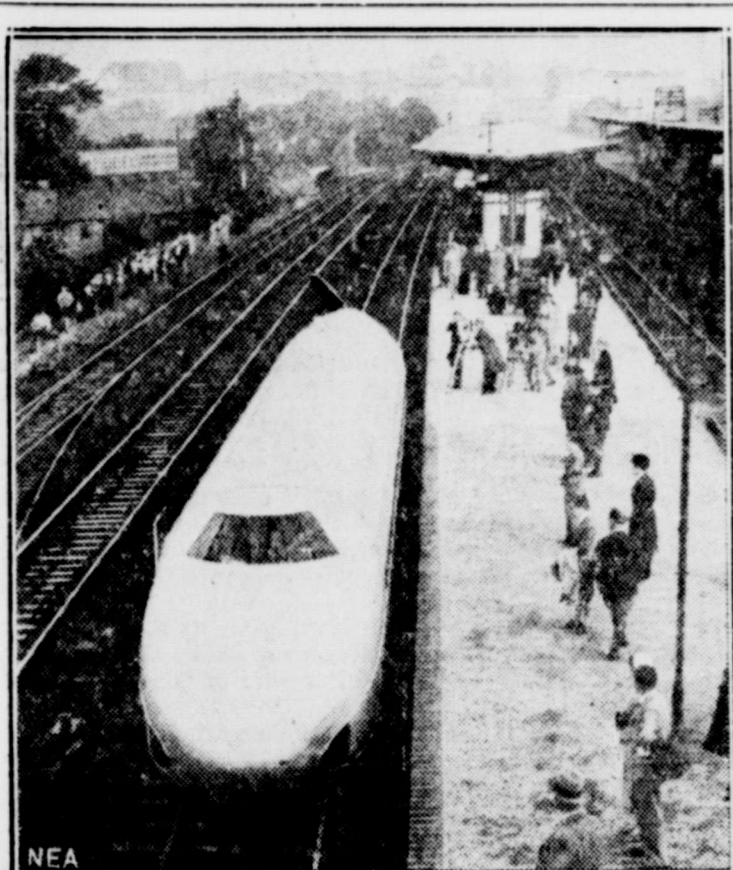

Witnesses, attorneys and principals in the Miss Roberts $50,000 principal case against wealthy and young J. Louis Keel, collegiate cowboy of New Mexico, sweltered in Fourth of July heat today as the hearing was continued despite the holiday.

Mellon Resumes Parley With French

PARIS, July 4.—Andrew W. Mellon, United States secretary of treasury, resumed his conference today with the French government in an effort finally to reach a definite accord on the Hoover war debt holiday scheme.

UTICA, N. Y., July 4.—Fishermen in search of black bass can be certain there are at least 800 in White Lake. They were released by the Isaak Walton League.

Swift "Rail Zeppelin" on First Run

With a long-drawn wait of its strange-looking "rail Zeppelin" pictured at rest coasted to a stop at a Berlin railroad station while German officials pushed forward to congratulate its inventor, Franz Krusenberg, on the inauguration of a "new era in railway transportation." The propeller-driven car, streamlined like a bullet had covered the 173 miles between Hamburg and Berlin at an average speed of 106.31 miles an hour. At one time it attained 145.75 miles an hour—a world's record for rail travel.

CISCO MAN GETS U. S. WARRANT FOR ASHES

W. E. Keeter, is one Cisco man who has recently exchanged a box of ashes for a nice fat warrant on the United States treasury. By following the advice of a local woman he says he is just $62.36 better off than he expected to be.

When the Alexander hotel burned June 18 Mr. Keeter lost $64.37 in addition to the $2,000 loss he sustained above his insurance on the contents of that hostelry of which he was the proprietor. At least he stated that he thought he had about $60 in currency and some fractional silver coins in the house when the building was burned. After the debris had cooled allowing the conflagration he decided to excavate the ruins in the hope of salvaging the silver coins, at least. There was just $2.15 in dimes, quarters and half dollars that he knew was with the currency in the house.

Knowing the currency was burned beyond recognition he had no hopes of retrieving any of this that could be identified for redemption at the federal treasury. While excavating for the fractional silver a local woman came upon the scene and learning that he had some money buried in the building, asked if there was any currency lost. He told her that he had about $60, but supposed it was burned beyond redemption. She advised him to carefully remove the ashes and send them to Washington and he might be able to retrieve a part of his loss.

"This advice was worth just $62.36 to me," Mr. Keeter told a representative of the Daily News yesterday. "I did as I was advised, and have received from the treasury department at Washington a treasury warrant on the United States government for $64.51. Just how the officials were able to determine the amount I am not determined by the currency was buried in the ruins of the burned building. I could not decipher a figure, mark or character in the remains of what was once United States currency I sent to Washington. Like the blind man whose sight was restored by Christ, I only know that the money was burned to ashes, and I have received a perfectly good United States treasury warrant for what seemed to me a batch of worthless ashes.

"The money was in a small hand purse, and after being advised to save the ashes, I carefully removed the debris that covered the purse, and the charred remains were placed in a box in which I had placed cotton batting, and then I placed another layer of cotton over the ashes, the box and contents was then sent to Washington by the First National bank for identification and redemption, if possible, together with the silver coins. To my surprise and gratification the treasury department was able to identify the currency from the ashes sent in, and a warrant for $64.51 was delivered to me by the First National bank.

C. C. Committee to Washington

F. A. Blankenbecker, W. J. Leach and Guy Dabney left Saturday for Washington, D. C., where they will confer as a committee representing the Cisco chamber of commerce, with post office authorities relative to starting construction of the new federal building here.

Called Meeting of Lodge Monday

There will be a called meeting of Cisco Lodge No. 556 A. F. and A. M. for work in the Entered Apprentice degree Monday evening. It was announced.

WACO JAILER QUELLS RUSH OF PRISONERS

WACO, July 4.—J. A. Claybrook, jailer, battled off a dozen prisoners at the county jail here early today after being slugged with a blackjack improvised from a sock padded with a ball of cotton. The attempted jail break, was balked when the prisoners were unable to get a key to fit the outside jail door.

Girl Killed in Auto Accident

Veteran Airman and Passenger Killed

PERU, Ind., July 4.—A veteran airplane pilot and his youthful companion crashed to their deaths today when their Waco airplane failed to come out of a loop.

Cisco Merchants Enjoy Good Day

Cisco merchants, most of whom kept their places of business open Saturday, enjoyed brisk and profitable business for the most part. Grocerymen reported excellent trade while drug stores, automobile service stations and other concerns had an excellent day. During the morning hours there was a rush of shoppers to the grocery stores, particularly those which had advertised specials for the day. Drug stores found their busiest periods in the late afternoon and during the evening.

Schmeling's Mother Happy Over Victory

BERLIN, July 4.—Max Schmeling's mother was almost overcome when told today over her son's victory in the ring at Cleveland over Young Stribling last night.

NUMEROUS OUT-OF-TOWN PEOPLE HERE

Ideal Fourth of July weather drew thousands of pleasure-seeking vacationists to Lake Cisco yesterday for the celebration of Independence day. The big swimming pool was crowded practically all day while Lake Cisco park in the early morning and the afternoon was over-run with picnic parties who brought lunches to spread on the tables under the trees, many of them cooking their meals at the barbecue pits built for their convenience. Conservative estimates placed the attendance during the day at between 3,000 and 4,000.

Penicillars

During the latter part of the afternoon the picnic groups overflowed the Lake Cisco park, where accommodations were completed earlier in the week and spread into the Lions and Rotary club park beyond. The comfortable shade under the groves of trees in these parks was an irresistible attraction particularly since every facility, from running water to places for convenient preparation of meals, accompanied it.

The steady stream of visitors throughout the day increased until it became a throng after nightfall, clearly testifying to the attraction of Lake Cisco as a resort. So far as was known last night the day passed without untoward incident. Traffic, while heavy during the evening hours, moved without accident and conduct of the crowds was orderly. A feature of the evening program was a concert by the Lobo band at 8 o'clock.

It was noticeable that by far the larger number of those who visited the lake during the day were from out of town, although Cisco's own people were well represented. This was particularly true of those who brought their lunches for picnics. Chamber of commerce officials were more than pleased with the response to the program of the organization in developing the resources for the entertainment of vacationists.

NO HOLIDAY FOR OIL WELL FIRE FIGHTERS

KILGORE, July 4.—The Fourth of July meant nothing to 30 workmen who toiled today to extinguish Texas' biggest pyrotechnical display—Bell and Graddy's burning oil well near here.

Weather

West Texas — Partly cloudy, showers and cooler. Sunday partly cloudy cooler than portion. East Texas — Generally fair Sunday except scattered showers northwest portion. Slightly cooler northwest portion Sunday.

POPE HURLS ENCYCLICAL AT FASCISTS

PARIS, France, July 4.—The historic struggle between church and state in fascist Italy took a dramatic turn today with publication of a forceful encyclical issued by Pope Pius XI, lay before the world his grievance against the regime headed by Benito Mussolini.

The pope, firmly defending the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic church — embodied in the laudable birth — changed the fascist approach with tolerating if not actively directing recent attacks on the Catholic young men's clubs of Italy.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

GOD FORGIVES AND HEALS.—Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction.— Psalm 103: 2-4.

FARMING AND BUILDING ACTIVITIES.

A bulletin issued by the federal department of agriculture makes known that prices of farm products are far below a profit level. Farm wages are the lowest in 15 years.
Large farm production and low prices are given as the outstanding features of the general situation. Some encouragement for farmers was found in commodity price grains following the moratorium discussion. A record breaking supply of sheep and lambs produced sharply falling prices.
Wholesale beef prices are from 30 to 50 per cent lower than a year ago. Prices of eggs are one-third lower and poultry prices down about a fourth. These were features of the livestock situation in general.

A recent story from Dallas is most encouraging. The reader is reminded that the year 1931 turned the half way mark, the last day of June, with Texas cities maintaining a steady pulse of new construction, which although in most cases somewhat less than during the similar period of 1930, indicated business conditions were maintaining an even keel of development. In the following order, Houston, first; Dallas, second; Fort Worth, third; Galveston, fourth; San Antonio, fifth. A sure sign that Texas builders are not lagging behind the procession.

FROM LAWMAKING TO JAIL.

Federal Judge Robert L. Williams of Oklahoma sentenced Representative David C. Hybarger of the 11th legislature to 60 days in jail for violation of prohibition laws. His plea was that "higher life at the capitol got him." Judge Williams, who was a former governor, in passing sentence added that he approved the idea of Governor William H. Murray
"for closely guarded dormitory on the capitol grounds for legislators." It is possible that there are American lawmakers who are unable to resist the combined allurements of wine and women and song?

WHEAT PLAN OF THE FARM BOARD.

Chairman Stone of the federal farm board has announced that the board has agreed to limit the sale of stabilization wheat during the new crop year to accumulative maximum of 5,000,000 bushels monthly. If there is a world shortage of wheat Chairman Stone says that there will be a revision of the policy. Uncle Sam, represented by the Stabilization Farm Board Corporation, has 200,000,000 bushels of the old crop and he doesn't know which way to jump.

ANOTHER RAILROAD FOR WEST TEXAS.

A new rail line known as the Texas & Pacific Northern will be built if the I. C. C. grants the permit to the Texas and Pacific railroad recommended by an examiner. Permission was asked to build 333 miles but the examiner advised that the company should confine its construction for the present to 126 miles or 80 miles from Big Spring to Brownfield and 46 miles from Lubbock Junction to Lubbock.
Later the examiner said it may prove desirable to continue the construction from Brownfield to Vega and from Dimmitt to Amarillo. He made a suggestion that it would be best to await further development of the Texas Panhandle country and also see what effect highway transportation has on the railroad situation.

Many counties will be benefitted by the construction of the road. Rich farming lands abound and there is a good livestock industry. Oil, despite the present depression in that industry, is an important product. Lubbock according to the report of the examiner, is a railroad center, one of the largest inland cotton markets and has a number of mills and factories. In many of the counties, the report said, the country is generally supplied with good country roads and the farmers use motor trucks. There is tremendous development everywhere in the Panhandle and Plains section, including rail expansion, regardless of the so-called business depression and the keen rivalry which exists between the railroads and the busses and highway freight carriers. Texas is not standing still.

SLOW RUM CHASERS SENT TO THE GULF.

Slow rum chasers operated by the government on Lakes
Erie and Ontario have been dispatched to the Gulf of Mexico.
They will be used in the Galveston coast guard service to prevent smuggling from Honduras to the Texas coast. There is a reason for the change. Canadian rum runners run their boats 45 miles an hour and the government boat has a maximum speed of only 25 miles an hour. Crews and boats will make the voyage of 2500 miles from Canadian shores to Galveston in three weeks and after that Col. Woodcock says there is going to be plenty doing for the rum runners of Mexico and Texas and Louisiana.

MUSSOLINI RESTORES THE DEATH PENALTY.

Mussolini is a very busy man. Death as a penalty for murder finds itself in the new Mussolini penal code. A firing squad will do the work. Also any one who offends the honor or prestige of Mussolini may be punished with imprisonment from one to five years. It must be great to be a free lance newspaper writer in the Mussolini kingdom. There will be a blow out some day and then the undertaker will do the rest for the ablest of dictators time has known.

UVALDE CONDITIONS 40 YEARS AGO.

Uvalde county is the home of Minority Leader John N.
Garner. There was something of a panic in the United States 40 years ago. Cotton dropped to around four cents a pound, wool sold for around five cents a pound and cattle brought

The Face That Launched a Thousand Ships!

$3 and $4 a head. Staple groceries were cheap at that time, beans selling for around three cents a pound, bacon at eight cents and flour at 50 cents a sack. Laborers received 50 cents a day, ranch hands $10 to $15 a month, and clerks in stores, if they were good salesmen, $25 to $30 a month.
Working hours were daylight until closing time long after dusk. No hijacking, no bread lines, no famine victims, "all doing the best they knew how," according to an old timer in the Garner political preserve patch.

CANADIAN LIQUOR FIGURES.

Perhaps some of the controversy about the results obtained in Canada by purposeful control of the liquor traffic will be settled by figures given out at Ottawa. Last year it compared with 1914, when the saloon system still prevailed everywhere in the Dominion.

The most significant figures concern quantity of consumption. In 1914 there were consumed in Canada 7,500,000 gallons of spirits, 58,140,000 gallons of malt liquors and 1-000,000 gallons of wine. In 1930 there were consumed 3-000,000 gallons of spirits, 62,000,000 gallons of malt liquors and 7,341,000 gallons of wine.

The most striking fact is the great decrease in the quantity of strong liquor and the substitution for it of milder liquors, particularly wine. This change is in line with deliberate Canadian policy, and is obviously in the direction of temperance and health.

It should be observed also, in comparing the two sets of figures, that since 1914 the Canadian population has grown from 7,500,000 to nearly 10,000,000, and that millions of American visitors now help Canada to do her drinking.

RULES FOR PLAY.

Here is an apt bit of comment on high school athletics,
from an address given by Brother Aloysius, principal of a Catholic high school at Utica, N. Y.

"Give us more ground for play and less for display," he says. "Give us more emphasis on class and less emphasis on mass, and this cry of over-emphasis will sing its swan song.

"There are too many rules in school athletics, and too foolish rules. When we need a legal staff on our athletic boards, our rules are in dire need of sunlight. When affidavits enter into our athletics, respect for honesty in sportsmanship withdraws from the scene."

Thus he hits some nails on the head. He might have gone still further. Many things in America, from bridge to court procedure, suffer from "too many rules and too foolish rules." We have a genius for getting ourselves snarled up in solemn technicalities. We have a besetting folly of frenzied competition as a substitute for play.

Then again, it's hard to believe that times are hard when people pay $50 a ton for stones to go in a rock garden and $5 apiece for fancy fish, turtles and snails to go in a lily pond.

Maybe it's birth control and restricted immigration that are stopping our population growth, and maybe, as a discerning paragrapher says, it's gunmen, automobiles and synthetic liquor.

OTHER OPINIONS

WILL THEY DO IT?

Clarence D. Lockwood, a prominent engineer and petroleum economist of Fort Worth, has made a careful survey of the East Texas oil field and its potential value. He says at the present prices the field must put on the market one million barrels of oil before the present investment there is paid for, based on an average price of 35 cents a barrel. He places the total cost, including leases, at $300,000,000 based on an estimate of 25,000 per well.
The number of wells in the potential yield of the field at a little under two billion barrels. If his estimates are correct more than half of the value of this great field will be dissipated in cost of drilling. He based his figures on 35 cents a barrel but since his estimate was made the posted price has been reduced to 20 cents a barrel.

Members of the Railroad Commission who were in Marshall yesterday stated that $25,000 per day were being lost by the owners of wells in the East Texas field opened was selling above one dollar a barrel and the price was kept there because West Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana oil producers

consented to and lived up to production. The price can be put back there if the operators in the East Texas field will only use a small medium of common sense.
Will they do it? — Marshall News.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S REPLY

Don't become too excited or troubled over the apparent chaotic condition as evidenced by our friends — the American people. We recall for the moment President Lincoln's reply to some gentlemen from the West who called on him in protest of some shortsightedness of the Government. Mr. Lincoln heard them patiently and then replied, "Gentlemen, suppose all the property you were worth was in gold, and you have put it in the hands of Blondin to carry across Niagara river on a rope; would you shake the cable, or keep shouting to him, Blondin, stand up a little straighter; go a little faster; lean a little more to the north; turn a little more to the south? No, I too, would hold your breath as well as your tongue and keep your hands off until he was safely over."

The people of our wealthy country are now carrying an immense weight. They are all doing the very best they can. Let's you and I too, take a part and help relieve this oppressive load. Have faith — keep silent — and we'll all get across safely.—Angels of Business (Chicago).

A PROBLEM OF INTEREST

This film from the Christian Science
Monitor's "Searobook."

A dollar at 6 per cent interest yields 6 cents the first year. William J. Roberts, a consulting engineer in Tacoma, Wash., has computed that $1 kept at 6 per cent interest compounded annually at the beginning of the Christian era — say 1920 years ago — would now amount to $6,924,800,000,000,000,000-000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000.
This reads: Six quadrillion, 924
quintillion, 800 trillion dollars.
(The cents are omitted for convenience.)

The year McKinley was elected president, in 1896, it was stated, on authority that all the gold used for coinage purposes in the world would equal a cube of gold 22 feet on a side. Note: An avoirdupois ounce of pure gold is worth $18.84. A cubic foot of pure gold is worth $362,962-66.

If the above large sum in "quadrillions" were converted into spheres of solid and pure gold they would number 4,830,000,000,000
spheres as large as the earth.
Let us ask: If one had the above
sum, where would one put it?

Kilgore—Strand theater installed
new cooling plant.

George West—18-ton ice plant to be erected here at cost of $20,000.

MAN OVERBOARD

While I was cruisin' with my old shipmate, Tops'l Barney, I had a pretty wet adventure. Seem' a big fish leap out of th' water gave me an idea. I got out my fishin'-tackle, baited a hook and tossed it overboard. Then I did get a surprise. There was a tug on th' line. I hung on for dear life, bound to land that big fish on board. I hadn't noticed that th' line had become tangled about one of my legs. There was a jerk that nearly pulled my hands off, th' line slipped through my fingers, tightened about my leg, and over th' rail I went. Singoot, my little monkey friend, saw me scoot over th' side and raised such a rumpus that all hands rushed to th' rail to see what was up.

In th' meantime I was havin' th' fastest swim I'd ever had, I tell you. That dingbusted fish would leap out of th' water, with me trailin' after it like a wet rag, then plump, down he'd go into th' water again. Then Barney sent two of th' crew to my rescue. Then was when th' real excitement commenced. Up shot that big fish, right under the boat. Up went th' boat into th' air, and out tumbled th' men on top of th' fish's back. Zip through th' water we went hangin' on for dear life. Before we knew what was happenin' th' fish landed with a thump on th' deck of th' schooner and spilled th' three of us. When I fish again I'll see to it that th' line isn't tangled about my legs.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—There are at least 130,000,000 cases of disabling illness in the United States every year and the cost of medical service is about $3,100,000,000.

Families afflicted by illness pay $123,000,000 annually for necessary extra household help alone.

A third of the money—$1,000,000,000—goes to physicians, according to estimates by the research staff of the Committee on the Costs of Medical Care. This committee, under the chairmanship of Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, is a large group of physicians, public health officials and other experts, economists, representatives of institutions and social agencies.

Medicine and supplies at $700,000,000 represent the next largest item and the others are hospitals $550,000,000, dentists $400,000,000, nurses $300,000,000, $242,000,000, public health $86,000,000, optometrists and opticians $50,000,000, chiropractors and naturopaths $30,000,000, osteopaths $20,000,000, midwives $15,000,000, chiroprondists $15,000,000, and non-hospital dispensaries $5,000,000.

The estimates are based on continuing committee studies directed at the problem of adequate, scientific medical service to all people at a cost which they can reasonably meet.

Surveys thus far show wide discrepancies in medical expenditures in proportion to income. Families with income under $1200 spend about $66 a year on medical service, those with under $2000 spend $71.48, whereas families with more than $5000 a year average $311 and those over $10,000 about $520.

It appears that the average person is disabled by illness at least once a year—men about once, women once to twice and

SOX CAPTURE OPENER WITH NIGHT HAWKS

The Cisco Red Sox made six hits against three runs Saturday afternoon and defeated the Fort Worth Night Hawks 3-2 in one of the best played games that has been witnessed on Chesley park.

The boys from Cowtown collected seven hits off Henson and Purvis but were unable to hit in the pinch. Buddy Meyer, former Texas leaguer went the route for Fort Worth and pitched nice ball as did Henson, another Texas leaguer who started for the Red Sox. Henson had to be relieved in the eighth due to an old injury to his side that kept bothering him. Lefty Purvis did a good job as relief pitcher striking out four men in the last two innings.

The Red Sox jumped on Meyer in the first inning making two walks and two singles count for two runs. Fort Worth tied the score in the fifth when H. Phippen let Johnson's roller get by him. Brantley doubled and Wallace singled two runs. Phippen made up for this error in the eighth when he doubled against the left field wall and came home on Alford's double to left center.

DEADLY NEW NAVAL ARM DEVELOPED

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 4.—Europe has developed, in utmost secrecy, a deadly new naval arm, high-powered destruction steaming at 42 knots, in the form of light-weight cruisers built for the dual role of battle fleet scouts and trade route patrol ships and raiders. France, Italy and Britain are concentrating all their expert attention upon this new arm.

Each of these tiny sea-raiders costs about $5,000,000 and, being cheap and of comparatively little tonnage they can be produced in vast numbers to cover the seas around the important seaports. In proportion they are cheaper than any other cruisers, costing about half as much as the sturdy 10,000-ton cruisers.

Each naval staff is working out its own design, keeping its efforts as secret as possible. France, in the new naval building program, is voting credits for two cruisers of roughly 4,800 tons each.

Three Light British Cruisers.
Under the navy estimates for this year, Britain is building three light cruisers. Two are the Leader class, of 7,000 tons armed with eight 6-inch guns, but the third vessel is the hush-hush "cruiser" of 5,000 tons, predecessor of a great fleet of tiny wasp-cruisers, each carrying six 6-inch guns.

These new British wasps will cost $5,000,000 each. They are expected to be very fast, turbine driven, and despite the secrecy maintained, it is understood that they will not have internal combustion motors of a new high-speed type, as reported.

Admiral Sirianui, in a recent speech in the Italian chamber, gave Europe all the information they have of the new Italian light cruisers. One of these warships, already put into service, was designed to speed at 37 knots. In tests it actually maintained more than 41 knots for six hours and at times reached 43 knots.

Intensive Study
Admiral Sirianui gave away part of the secret. "The result has been achieved by the most minute study of all details, by the employment of high resistance steel and by other technical factors and finally by not making the living quarters of the crews and officers unduly luxurious. Everything thus saved has been devoted to armaments and horsepower," he said.

Within a year, ten of these wasps of various nationalities will be cruising in secret off the coasts. They will be sea scouts and from their actions under full speed and in firing, the European powers will eventually work out the model which best suits their naval needs. Britain appears to favor 5,000 tons or more, but Italy and France, without much tonnage to spare, are favoring ships of 4,500 to 4,800 tons.

Three German Wasps.
Germany has built three wasps, larger than any of the others, running to 6,000 tons but complying with the Versailles Treaty restrictions. They can travel 18,000 miles without refueling—from a German port to the farthest flung French or British colony. No other warship afloat has such possibilities.

These German boats, the Koenigsberg, Karlsruhe and Koeln are fitted with Diesel engines, 6 per cent lighter than the ordinary oil engines. They develop one horsepower for every 12 pounds of weight. The turbines are so arranged that the tiny cruiser can fire seventy-two 105-pound shells a minute—three and a half tons of steel, gas and explosives falling in a torrent. These "quick-firing" guns can send off eight rounds a minute.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON THE GIFT OF THE HOLY SPIRIT

When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?

And he said unto them, It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power.

But ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and in all the uttermost part of the earth.

And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place.

And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting.

And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them, and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

And there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews devout men, out of every nation under heaven.

Now when this was passed abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded, because that every man heard them speak in his own language.

And they were all amazed and marvelled, saying one to another, Behold, are not all these which speak Galileans?

And how hear we every man in our own tongue, where in we were born?

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 5. The gift of the Holy Spirit. Acts 1:6-9; 2:1-8.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.,
Editor of The Congregationalist

It is fitting that from the study of the Gospels we should proceed to the Acts of the Apostles. As I have pointed out, the Gospels are of little value except as they become expressed in action. The Gospels do not mean much to us unless they influence our conduct. The power of Christ to save and bless our lives, no matter how great that power may be, means nothing to us until it is power in our lives. So it means a great deal that following the teachings we come to study the acts of those who with earnestness, sincerity, and courage sought to put the teachings of the Master into practice.

We find these early disciples gathered together first upon the day of Pentecost. Pentecost was a Jewish religious feast so-called because it was held on the 50th day after the second day of the Passover. It was also called the Feast of the Harvest. For us, however, its significance is now found in its place in the history of the Christian church. It is thought of as marking the beginning of the constructive movement in which those who had given themselves to the teaching of Jesus now devoted themselves to the continuance of his work in the world.

Unknown and Ignored
If we can with any realism get in our minds the picture of this occasion we shall stand in awe before the spiritual courage of this group of early Christians. They were a relatively small company, unknown and ignored in that vast Roman world of which they were a part. Their Master had been crucified and buried, and only a relatively small number had seen him in his resurrection body. Their faith depended upon witness and upon their deep response to the moral and spiritual teaching that gave that witness effect. They were gathered on this day of Pentecost as a group of devout men and women. The records that they were "with all accord in one place." Deep consecration to truth and righteousness was in their hearts.

of self-seeking. There was no vain ambition. There was no narrow and contentious spirit. They were there with one supreme idea in mind—the idea of realizing the will of God and of finding grace and strength to accomplish it. No conditions could have been more favorable toward a real manifestation of religion or toward a revelation of the highest way of life and service. The whole conditions were at favorable for the reception of spiritual power as if some great receiving station had been constructed to absorb power from the physical universe.

The outward manifestations of this spiritual power are of interest to us, but they cannot be very easily understood, nor do they seem the important part of the record. It is quite possible that they had relatively little to do with the really vital spiritual experiences, as they had very little to do with the real manifestation of religion in other great revivals or outbursts of religious experience, where they have often been a handicap and a hindrance rather than a help.

Spiritual Quickening.
The real significance of the occasion came to these early Christians on the day of Pentecost, the consciousness that some real endowment of power had come into their lives under the strength of which they pledged their lives to the service that has been instrumental in establishing the Christian church with its centuries of history and progress.

The important thing in connection with the speaking of tongues was the attainment of a common understanding. That is not always stressed in discussing the miracle.

as a chronicle of adventure it is amazing. One's atavistic trails lead to life as the wild tom-toms wage in the death dance of the savage; one thrills at their weird narrative chants to the accompaniment of thousands of bare feet pounding in unison on the breather ground.

One thrills at the dramatic battles between wild beasts, out there in the jungle where everything eats something else to live. And through it runs the tender human love story of the boy and the girl, the young adventure and the golden haired priestess of a savage tribe.

That some cities are satisfied with just marking time.
A city is only as progressive as its citizens.
It takes better business to build cities and it must be done by united men who should have the untiring support of all.
Every effort should be made to expand the trade territory of the home city.
Every dollar brought into the home city brings new money into local circulation. Cooperative effort will attract business to any city.
Citizens can attract favorable attention by constant boosting.
If the home folks don't boost the home city, nobody else will do it for them.
Everybody should boost the home city. It is the duty of every citizen and its industries.

PRESBYTERIANS HAVE SPLENDID CAMP GROUNDS

Throughout the Presbyterian church at attractively located points are held summer conferences, whose purpose it is to train leaders in local churches for administering the various types of work in the churches. Kerrville on the beautiful Guadalupe river is the Texas conference center. Recently a group of Cisco young people, George Irvine, Helen Crawford, Ida May Garrett, John Peter Huey, and Harriet Angus were taken down there by Homer Slicker and the minister the Rev. B. C. Boney, and at the close of the encampment Messrs. Slicker and Crawford and families went to bring them back home. There were classes in Bible, Missions, Presbyterianism, Personality, Sociology, and Wholesome Pastimes, taught by outstanding youth leaders from all over the south. When there is time for it Kerrville offers fishing, swimming, hiking, tennis, golfing, or just lazing around in the shade of its wonderful trees to all who go there. Out at Westminster Encampment grounds are tennis courts, or rooms for rent at reasonable rates practically all summer.

The big general conference for adult leaders began July 26 and continues until the latter part of August. This includes conference on Synod's work, Texas Synodical meeting, training school for Women's Auxiliary, and has as speakers from out of the state Dr. Homer McMillan, Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. E. B. Paisley, Richmond, Va.; Dr. J. O. Rawls, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. J. Graham Maclean, Philadelphia; Dr. Walter L. Lingle, Davidson college, N. C.; and Texas speakers, Lawrence Wharton, W. H. Foster, S. L. Jeeke, M. Mar Yosp, Bruce C. Boney, W. T. Riviere, W. M. Anderson, T. W. Clarke, George Sammons, Mrs. W. D. Hart. The Rev. B. C. Boney has been invited also to direct the music for the latter part of the general conference in August. During these various conferences hundreds of leaders are present for training and inspiration. The dining hall is open from May until October 1 and with its entire camp is under the capable management of a consecrated Christian layman, Mr. Garland Lang.

In the Political Arena

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
"Cowboy Congressman" Claude B. Hudspeth has scored a comeback. He has baffled the doctors and conquered the maladies which threatened to send him to the grave. A year ago he was warned that his health recovery was impossible. He was threatened with blindness and his physical ailments were said to be of a deadly nature. He decided to withdraw from political life. He announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election to congress. He hurried himself to Johns Hopkins at Baltimore. Mayor Ewing Thomson of El Paso won the democratic nomination in the El Paso district and was elected the successor of Hudspeth in November of last year.

Now Hudspeth is back in the political picture. His close friend, Adrian Poole, member of the state board of control, has announced that the cowboy statesman has made a complete recovery; that his eyes are good as in days of youth; that he is physically fit and ready to take up the battle of life once more.

Hudspeth was a range rider in his youth. He evolved from the hurricane deck of a pony to the manager-ship of a ranch. He didn't stop there. In turn he became a lawyer and a banker. Then he invaded politics. He was a state lawmaker for years. He had a county named for him. Then he aspired to a seat in congress. This year ago, and never met with defeat until the warning came from his physicians that he must abandon business and place his affairs in order for his departure.

Hudspeth was as unbeatable in his district as John N. Garner in the Uvalde district until his death became shattered and loss of eyesight faced the man who had fought the battle of life bravely and had many achievements to his credit. His successor may find it interesting in 1932 should Hudspeth decide to invade the political arena and seek to capture the prize he was compelled to toss aside in 1930. If Gov. Sterling calls a special session redistricting will be a proposal that will bob up again. Texas has 18 districts; Texas under the new census apportionment has 21 representatives. It is interesting all around. Should it be necessary to elect three congressmen at large, James E. Ferguson may be an en-

Heart of Liane

by MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Liane Barrett, 18 and beautiful, in a cramped New York apartment with her mother, Cass Barrett, a rather faded actress, and a hot night Liane goes to dinner with Molly Cronin, a neighbor and two of Molly's men.

There is a shooting and the girl is held as a witness. She is a note to her mother who arranges and persuades Shane McDermott, the young policeman, in going, that Liane is innocent of anything.

That night at the theater where Cass is playing she encounters a handsome stranger who speaks her name.

A few days later Cass and Liane go to Willow Stream, N. J., where Cass has an engagement in a small theater sponsored by Mrs. Mrs. Cleopatra, a widow, one son, Clive. Liane works the box office, sharing duties with Muriel Ladd, pretty society girl.

At Muriel's home Liane again meets the handsome stranger who she meets in the theater. He is a reporter, and when she speaks to him to Cass her mother makes a promise never to have anything more to do with him.

Mrs. Cleopatra asks Cass to let her stay with her during the theater. Muriel leaves the theater one evening with Chuck Desmond, a reporter, and Muriel's mother, believing the two have eloped, asks Robard to find them. Van Robard is said to be Mrs. Liane's lover.

Muriel telephones Liane one day from a New York hotel where she has spent the night. Liane tries to forget Robard. Muriel flirts with Curtis, stage star. Liane dines with Desmond and finds him interesting.

W GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

Chuck Desmond could be an engaging dinner companion. Having summoned a taxi he handed her in with a flourish and departed to be driven to Wishwade's.

The sea-food palace down on Broadway. He promised Cass he would have her daughter home in time for her evening appearance at the theater.

It was all very surprising and she enjoyed it. The young man was easily and wittily. This was peculiar of the newspaper woman, connected with the world of Broadway. He was as artless as a child of the street.

Muriel will—well, she'll crown for this," Liane said, laughing, as she sat over their coffee.

Desmond lifted an interrogative brow. "Say which?"

"Oh, all this!" Liane indicated the dancing floor, mirrored and polished, on which a few early customers were even now executing their small-like steps. The tented, sparkled with lights. Cars were coming to buzz into the drive, the low, low, crunching on the sidewalk.

Desmond regarded his cup indifferently. "Nice girl, Muriel, but she's pretty sweet to come to me on a last minute bid."

"You are delighted," Liane told him, she meant it.

"Well, it was my luck. No fool, I do hate to hang on the nose when I'm alone. There's no one for you."

She couldn't tell whether he was being at her or not. Not thrilling all-over gooseflesh and cold running up and down her spine as when she was with Van Robard. Just pleasantly, quietly lifted with things, Chuck Desmond, who had been given the glad tidings would have been amused at the estimate of him.

For his part, Desmond thought, "Kid!" affably measuring the girl's pleasant slimmness, the significant width between her soft eyes and her engaging trick of smiling with a breathless air of concentration.

Muriel Ladd he scarcely thought at all, except with a mild irritation, as one may who has "stood up" by a girl just out of finishing school. He dubbed her "a hot number" and contrasted the characterization comically.

"He's not bad looking really," she summed up her companion. "He's overlooked the charms of this devil-may-care young man the rather noisy suit."

"I'll be seeing you," Chuck Desmond said, patting her hand as she drew up to the theater.

Desmond told the driver to hot her up for the station. He would have time to make the first of "The Frolic." Well, his evening hadn't been wasted entirely.

Liane wanted to know, "Who's the new boy friend?"

Liane said demurely, "My mother used to know his mother."

"Oh, that bologney!" Elsie lost interest. She went on, "O'ye know, kind of sorry were checking out of here next month. I've got to miss it. Still, there's nothing like September 1 in Times Square. There's a feeling in the air, I don't know—as if something were just about to happen, something big."

"I know," said Liane dreamily, "I know just what you mean but seldom does happen."

"Never can tell," Elsie winked broadly. "Believe it or not, we are plots hatching around here. You don't meet the eye."

Liane, thinking of her adventure in afternoon, shivered a little, not noticing, continued, "Muriel girl, for instance. Is she a fast worker? Believe it or not, she has little Boy Blue eating out of her hand. Wait till the scandal columns get hold of that. What Junior Leager is that way out what drama star?"

Robard was bending over her. "Good girl," he was saying huskily. "You were the best man among us."

She felt those words were her accolade. The girl in the black dress was a terrific hubbub all about. A woman was having hysterics. Men were rushing to and fro. Under cover of the noise Van murmured, "Tried to get you to look at me before tonight, but you were absorbed in business."

He flushed angrily. The little doctor bustling in with his black bag interrupted their tableau. "Here, here, Mr. Wells thinks I'd better look you over. Any bruises?"

Van, defeated, shrugged himself away. Liane submitted to the physician's ministrations.

"Right as rain," was his verdict. "They tell me you were a brave young lady."

She smiled at him faintly, scarcely listening. Liane thought, "right as rain except for a great bruise on my hand."

Once Over The great American inclination is to look things over. Nothing is either good or bad to the open-minded, until it has received that quick, interested appraisal which we have deftly named the "once over." We are continually looking over new political leaders and ideas, new acquaintances, new faces, new actors and writers. And by the same token we are constantly called upon to pass judgment on a great variety of merchandise --- from soap to sedans --- which is presented to us through the advertisements in the daily newspapers. People who follow the advertisements know that through them they can find out more about articles, values, and the wise spending of their money than they could discover in any other way. New products, new improvements in merchandise, new uses for established articles, are constantly being brought before them. Advertising makes it possible for you to get exactly what you want, to get full value for every penny, and to be sure of receiving the greatest possible satisfaction from everything you buy. Read the advertisements regularly, and get the important news they bring you every day!
