Hearing on Cisco Gas Rates Slated for This Evening

COMM'N WILL CONFER WITH UTILITY MEN

The special meeting of the city commission called to consider the question of lower gas rates for Cisco and to be attended by representatives of the West Texas Utilities company and the Lone Star Gas company, will not be held until 8 o'clock this evening, Mayor J. J. Berry announced at 2:30 this afternoon. The meeting will be open to the public.

The Cisco city commission and representatives of the West Texas Utilities company and the Lone Star Gas company were due to confer today upon the question of reducing gas rates in Cisco. No hour was set for the meeting and Mayor J. J. Berry this morning indicated that the conference would probably take place this afternoon. He mentioned either 2 o'clock or 3 o'clock as a probable hour, decision depending upon the convenience of the utility company representatives, whom at the time he had not met.

The special meeting was called in resolution adopted June 22 by the commission in which the two companies were invited to have representation and requested to furnish the mayor with a true copy of the contract in effect between the West Texas Utilities company and the Lone Star Gas company.

CISCO ENJOYS COOL WEATHER AFTER HEAT

Flowers, aggregating one-tenth of an inch of rain, last night brought Cisco an atmosphere of invigorating today in marked contrast with the sulth of the past week. Temperature at noon today registered 76 degrees as compared to 100 degrees at yesterday.

ASTOR IS SURPRISED BY "POUNDING"

Rev. H. D. Tucker, pastor of the First Methodist church, was called last night when, returning to his home, he found a large number of automobiles parked in front of his residence on Broadway shortly after 10 o'clock.

Tucker had been ill during the evening, and his first thought that her condition had suddenly become alarming. He was vastly surprised and, as he was surprised, however, when members of his congregation began taking sacks of flour—canned goods, flour, and a variety of other eatables—from the cars and marching into the kitchen where they piled upon the table and the set.

Some time ago Mr. Tucker had stored an old-fashioned Methodist "pounding" for Rev. Motion, of the Twelfth Street church, and members of his congregation decided that turn about is fair play.

Arranged Debt Accord Between U. S. and France

BRIEF SESSION ANTICIPATED BY GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, July 9.—Gov. Ross Sterling said this morning that he hoped the special session of the legislature he called yesterday will not last more than two weeks. The session was called to convene at noon next Tuesday. In the call Governor Sterling advised legislators that they would be asked to enact laws adequately conserving the state's natural resources.

ONE SUBJECT SUBMITTED

AUSTIN, July 9.—Governor Ross Sterling Wednesday called the Forty-Second legislature to meet in special session July 14 at noon, to consider laws adequately to conserve the state's natural resources, and for such other matters he later may submit. He tendered only one subject, conservation, and made the tender so broad that the legislature has no restriction in enacting laws to conserve the natural resources.

The message was not confined to oil and gas nor to production and export, but included the conservation of water, timber, and other natural resources. Under this submission, the legislature will be authorized to create a state conservation commission to take from the railroad commission the supervision of gas and oil production and marketing as well as gas utility regulation. It also may amend the statutes so as to empower the commission, railroad or conservation as the case may be, to issue proration orders with teeth in them and to provide certain means of enforcement.

Rangers Attend McDuffie Funeral

NEW BOSTON, Texas, July 9.—Attired in the full regalia of the Lone Star state's police force, Texas rangers from Company B and other companies today attended the funeral services here for Ranger Dan L. McDuffie, killed Tuesday night in a gun battle on a Gladewater street.

Here are the men who, taking part in the Paris conference for a suspension of reparations payments, have reached a complete basis for agreement between the United States and France. Left to right are: M. Petri, French Minister of the Interior; Prime Minister Pierre Laval; U. S. Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon; Walter Edge, U. S. Ambassador to France; at Mellon's immediate left; Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister; Pierre Flaudin, French Minister of Finance.

COLLEGE WILL MEET DEBTS, SAYS BRUCE

In spite of indications to the contrary which have appeared in the public press Randolph college has no intention of denying its obligations. W. F. Bruce, a member of the faculty operating committee of the school, declared in a statement released today. Mr. Bruce said that a conservative policy from now on will assure the operation of the school on funds from fees, tuitions, payments for board and room, and from contributions of individuals and churches.

"Since some publicity has lately been given to the debts of Randolph college I do not hesitate to write this statement," he said. "Like many other enterprises this institution finds itself greatly handicapped by a debt. But like every self-respecting institution it has no other plan than to meet these obligations. It is no easy matter to run under present financial conditions. The creditors have shown their appreciation of this situation by a generous adjustment of the plan of payment."

Conservative Policy
"A conservative policy from now on will assure the operation of the school on funds from fees, tuitions, payments for board and room, and from contributions of individuals and churches. This income will provide for the running of the dormitories, the adding of equipment as needed, and the providing of repairs that are required occasionally, and for salaries of the employees. We are ready to make the same sacrifice that we expect of others who are interested in Christian education. But we feel that the employees are entitled to that support which will enable them to secure the business and social respect of the community. The school merits such support as will enable it to maintain those standards in equipment and work that will win the respect of the young people who come to us as students and also the approval of the accrediting agencies with which we are related. By teaching and personal example as well as by strict accounting of the funds entrusted to us we wish to instill in the minds of students the highest ideals of honor in business affairs."

Swimming Pool Not Open Tonight

The swimming pool at Lake Cisco is being drained this afternoon and evening and will not be open tonight it was announced. It will be reopened tomorrow morning.

ROTARY CLUB PAYS TRIBUTE TO CHAPMAN

The Rotary club today paid tribute to W. B. Chapman, for nine years head coach of the Cisco Lobos, who leaves Monday to take up his duties as head coach of the Lubbock high school. Brief remarks of appreciation by various members, concluded with words of farewell from the departing mentor coupled the few minutes of the program period.

Leon Mauer, first to speak, expressed perhaps the most striking sentiment with respect to "Chap's" work in Cisco when he declared that every high school football stadium in the oil belt is in large measure a tribute to his efforts as coach of the Lobos. He pointed out that when Chapman came to Cisco Abilene high ruled the district undisputed and high school football elsewhere was neglected and without interest. It was his success with the Lobos team that made oil belt football a highly competitive sport and resulted in the tremendous popular interest that it created, he said.

D. L. Graham recalled incidents in his association with the Cisco exponent and spoke of Cisco's regret at losing him. He said that he could not begin to express his sentiments until he had had a city about it, mentioning that he was like "Chap" in that respect.

P. W. Campbell, a former Ciscoan at the time of the Lobos' Golden Age under Chapman, reminded that the warm and sympathetic friendship that Chapman had gained during his work and success here would not be with him in his new position where he would face strictly businesslike demands. He reviewed the growth of interest in high school football here, using his own experience as example, and concluded with a tribute to the retiring coach.

Edward Lee, program chairman, then introduced Chapman who expressed his appreciation for the friendship and cooperation he had enjoyed here, told of his regret at leaving Cisco and bespoke for Coach L. L. Jeffries that same attitude of friendly cooperation, declaring that Jeffries was an excellent coach and would prove successful if given the support. He admitted that he himself was undertaking a difficult task in that he would undertake his new duties on a strict basis of do or don't.

In the business session prior to the program the club passed a motion for the appointment of a committee to see members of the club individually for contributions to the club's part of the $80 for fitting up the Lions and Rotary club park.

TEXAS FARM VALUES TOTAL $3,606,223,554

Preliminary announcement of the results of the 1930 federal farm census of Texas provides some interesting comparisons with agricultural figures in 1925 and 1920. An increase in the number of farms is noted during the 10-year period covered with a variable decrease in the average acreage. Farm values were higher in 1925 than at other census periods, declining to a total of $3,045,240,798 in 1925 from a total of $3,700,173,319 in 1920 but rising to $3,606,223,554 in 1930.

In 1920 there were 436,033 farms reported, in 1925 there were 465,646 and in 1930 495,190 farms. Average per farm was 1.66 acres in 1925 when the average was 235.3 acres and the total acreage was 109,674,419 acres, the lowest of the three periods. This represented a decline from 114,020,621 acres in 1920 when the average was 261.5 acres. In 1930 the average acreage had risen to 232.4 acres with a total of 125,041,784 acres in all farms.

Building Values Increase.
Of the total farm values reported in 1930 land alone represented $3,671,845,270; buildings, $534,378,284; dwellings alone $351,361,584, and machinery $181,421,180. The 1930 census registered a substantial increase in values in both building and machinery over the preceding census periods.

Average value of land and buildings per farm dropped from $8,489 in 1920 to $6,540 in 1925 and rose to $7,278 in 1930. Average value of per acre likewise declined in 1925 from the 1920 figures and increased in 1930. This increase was no doubt due to the increased value of buildings and similar improvements. In 1930 the average value per acre was $28.84; in 1925 it was $27.77 and in 1920 it was $32.45.

A large increase in tenantry was also noted during the decade, although the owner operated acreage remained practically unchanged and the acreage operated by tenants increased by one-third.

Comparisons.
Comparative figures on these points for 1930 and 1920 are given as follows:

Farms operated by:	1930	1920
Owners	190,391	190,391
Managers	3,564	3,564
Tenants	301,535	301,535

HIGHWAY 23 PAVING WILL START SOON

Indefinite information with respect to the date for actual beginning of work upon paving highway 23 north of Cisco to the Callahan county line was given today in a letter from the Jadge Construction company, of Denton, responding to an inquiry from J. E. Spencer, secretary of the Cisco chamber of commerce.

Assurance that labor employed on the project, contract for which was awarded the Jadge people at the last session of the state highway commission, would be all local with exception of certain necessary skilled labor, was given.

Time for starting the work was announced as an early date.

FACES CHARGES

DALHART, July 9.—Aubrey Adams today faced charges of attempted criminal assault following an attack on Mrs. Katherine Clark, hiten hiking through the panhandle of Texas in an effort to reach her father in Oklahoma City.

A Cake for Mr. Coolidge---59

Even though his birthday is coincident with that of the nation, Calvin Coolidge celebrated it the other day with a modest cake and a quiet ceremony at the home of his close friend and adviser, Frank H. Stearns, at Swampscott, Mass. Here you see the former president as he prepared to slice the cake—which should have had 59 candles—as Mrs. Coolidge smilingly looked on.

200 BOYS ARE EXPECTED FOR F. F. T. ENCAMPMENT

With definite assurances from at least 10 schools, among them towns as far away as Spur, Granger and Rule, of attendance of large groups of vocational students, Eastland county vocational agriculture teachers in charge anticipate an attendance of over 200 at the third annual F. F. T. encampment to be held at Lake Cisco July 20, 21 and 22. E. H. Varnell, local teacher said today. Fully 20 schools are expected to be represented in the group. Last year 18 schools sent 150 students.

Among schools comparatively close which have given definite assurance of representation are Abilene, Breckenridge, Blackwell, Ranger, Rising Star, Cross Plains and Throckmorton.

Headquarters for the encampment will be at last year and the preceding year, be located in the spaces between concrete buttresses under the big dam at the lake. Local quarters may be provided here for sleeping, cooking and eating with little effort. The quarters so improvised are clean, spacious and cool even in the hottest days and are so arranged that the vocational instructors who accompany the boys and have charge of them may keep them under close supervision during the encampment.

A letter from W. M. Gourley, vocational instructor of Chullicoke, assuming Mr. Varnell that he will bring between 15 and 20 boys for the encampment, was the latest to be received.

Over the two previous years that the encampment has been held interest has increased considerably among the vocational units available to it, and it bids fair to grow into an annual event of respectable proportions. Expectation of larger attendance at the forthcoming season was inspired earlier in the year when a survey of opinion among vocational teachers who could be expected to participate resulted in a consensus strongly in favor of continuing the encampment at lake.

The purpose of the encampment is to provide the F. F. T. chapters (composed of agricultural students) with a get-together where they can mix business with pleasure, exchanging ideas and solidifying a group spirit that assists in promoting the cause of vocational agriculture throughout this territory. While there is considerable attention to vocational work, programs and methods, most of the time of the encampment will be devoted to events of a pleasurable nature, including swimming, diving and other water contests, boating, fishing, donkey polo, calf riding and so forth.

Each of the attending boys and teachers is assessed a small fee to cover all expenses. This fee is gauged to the requirements of the encampment and contemplates no profit although a small sum is sometimes left over to apply on the succeeding encampment. Meals will be cooked and served.

CONTACT WITH FUELING SHIP IS PREVENTED

NCME, July 9.—The courageous flight of Reg Robbins and Harold Jones, who attempted to reach Japan from Seattle without stopping, was brought to a heart-breaking close here today when they were forced to land after attempts to contact their refueling plane failed.

The monoplane "Fleet Wren" landed at Soloman, 36 miles east of here, at 3:50 a. m. CST, after 600 miles of flight. The plane had completed a 1,900-mile flight from Seattle with almost perfect precision and through the first day of their attempted flight from Seattle to Tokyo, their plans went through perfectly as scheduled.

WELCOME FOR PICNICKERS IS PREPARED

Hal Hunter, of the Lone Star Gas company, was in Cisco from Ranger today and at intervals during the preceding week making final preparations for the annual Lone Star employee picnic to be held at Lake Cisco Saturday. Mr. Hunter expects attendance of between 700 and 1,000 people, including large numbers of officials of both the Lone Star and its subsidiaries, among which is now the Chesnut-Smith company, of Ranger, acquired last year.

The picnic will be the second of the nature sponsored here by the Lone Star. Facilities at the lake and the Cisco Country club, bordering it have been thrown open to the visitors and a comprehensive program has been arranged.

A new and touted item of this program is a tennis race, which is due to excite great interest. Other events, all of them slated at the Cisco Country club, are a golf tournament, putting tournament, croquet and tennis matches in the afternoon and a dance in the evening.

Reservations for company officials have been made at local hotels. Swimming, boating and fishing offer other variety for the amusement of the visitors.

At the same time the West Texas Utilities company employees of five districts, including District B with headquarters here, will have a "chuck wagon dinner" in the Lions and Rotary club park at the lake. About 75 are expected to attend. For this evening, also, a program of entertainment has been prepared under the supervision of H. H. Lamb. It includes contests of various kinds in keeping with the "chuck wagon" theme. Incidentally a real "chuck wagon" will be secured from Albany to add reality to the picnic.

MEXICO IRED WITH ARREST OF CONSUL

MEXICO CITY, July 9.—A grave strain on relations between Mexico and the United States was feared today as a result of the arrest of Adolfo Dominguez, acting Mexican consul in Chicago.

Flaming headlines in the press and indignant editorials recounted this and other recent incidents in the United States involving Mexicans which have tended to arouse popular sentiment into hatred. Genaro Estrada, foreign secretary, told the United Press that he feared the incident would "damage the relations between the United States and Mexico." Foreign Secretary Estrada said he had filed formal protest to the United States through the Mexican embassy at Washington against the action of Judge Thomas Green, of Chicago, who sentenced Dominguez for contempt of court.

SPLAWN AS A POWER SURVEYOR

Former President Walter Splawn of the Texas university is out of the state picture and in the national gallery. He made a survey of the holding companies of American railroads last year for the government and submitted his report to the congress. He recommended drastic legislation. A lame duck congress throttled his recommendations. Now he is to make a survey of the power industry of the United States and has been ordered to cover the ground and make his report educative as well as accurate. There is a new congress coming in December. Perhaps the former railroad commissioner, former university president at the present time famous among the rail and power economists of America will fare better at the hands of the national solons this winter than he did last year. It is a long journey from a little farm in Wise county to a place in the national picture gallery. Walter Splawn made the journey.

NEFF FLOUTS THE PRORATION ORDER.

Former Governor Pat Morris Neff, now state railroad commissioner, brushed aside the oil proration order signed by Railroad Commissioner Terrell and Smith and gave to the public his reasons for the flouting. He declared it to be unethical, impractical, inefficient and otherwise useless as an effective agency for the conservation of oil and gas in the fields of Texas. More business for the lawyers; rich pickings for the followers of Coke and Blackstone; new wells coming in daily; wildcatters as busy as beavers in springtime; low price levels are now listed as hot news by the managing editors of the molders of public thought and the disseminators of all the news fit to print.

Just now the moratorium baby holds the center of the stage and the statesmen of the world appear to be as muddled in their brain pans as the oil oracles of the United States and foreign nations are muddled in their actions.

BUSINESS EDITORS ARE VERY OPTIMISTIC.

One hundred and fifty-five business paper editors and associated business papers recite the belief that overhead burdens from prosperity days have cleared away. They made known their views in the eighth semi-annual survey on the business outlook released by Stanley A. Dennis, of New York, president of the conference. Sneaking of cotton, the survey says the textile industry has shown remarkable progress in the development of promotional selling finding new uses for goods and otherwise bringing up to date an industry that has heretofore emphasized the production rather than the selling end of its business. They believe also that in the main inventories of raw materials and finished products are low so depleted that replacement buying cannot be postponed much longer. Indeed gains have been made in all the leading industries of America.

IS THERE MONEY IN OIL?

An Oklahoma City newspaper correspondent tells the readers of his paper that the lure of easy money in oil still tempts the dollars of investors despite the bogies of over production and proration and price cut; the promotions go merrily on despite the receiverships and other legal angles; that a recent survey shows that $15,000 to $20,000 of "sucker" money rolls daily into the hands of Oklahoma City stock promoters; that losses today are estimated upwards of $5,000,000; that the ranks of Oklahoma City promoters have been thinned by the newer attraction of the fertile fields of East Texas. This Oklahoma City news hawk is a fair player. He admits not all oil promoters are considered unethical but that it is difficult "for the average citizen to choose oil well units with the best judgment." A half century ago, Farnum, the most noted showman of his period, immortalized himself by saying "There is a sucker born every minute." Now there must be fifty suckers born every minute under the flag of Old Glory.

RED BUGS DESTROYERS OF HAY FEVER.

It is said that the male cedar is the most deadly of the species. As for the female cedar she must be a thing of joy forever. It is said the male is responsible for hay fever everywhere in the cedar brakes of Texas. Now the male is doomed; the red bug is on his trail. The fierce little insect saps the life out of the tree and then nature takes its course. Why is it that victims of hay fever are found in sections of America where the cedar is not in evidence? Perhaps the scientist will explain the reason why.

PANTAGES SEPARATED FROM MILLIONS.

Alexander Pantages of Los Angeles admits that it has cost him between two and three million dollars for court expenses and lawyer fees since he became entangled with the gold coast diggers. Alexander is a man of many millions. He needs a bodyguard. There is a Mrs. Pantages but she does not appear to be able to keep the feet of Alexander out of the finely spun web of the gay adventurers and adventures of the silver strand country.

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES UNDER ONE ROOF.

There are more branches of federal services in Denver than in any other city in the United States with the exception of Washington, and now 800 workers are housed in the new Federal building which was recently erected in Denver at a cost of one million dollars. Uncle Sam has turned economist. He has appeared in many roles. For years he has been the Western Shylock of Eastern Europe. Now he is figuring as god father for all creation. There is hope in the hearts of the peoples of all nations. Now jobs for the jobless and foreign markets for the farm staples of America as well as the manufacturers of America.

A BIG BOOST FOR CORPUS CHRISTI.

James C. Kennedy, president and backer of the Southern Alkali corporation now pushing construction of a tea million dollar plant at Corpus Christi has estimated that the new project would add more than 1500 families to the population of the gulf coast city. Regardless of depression clouds there is a Building Texas that is ever on the forward movement.

OTHER OPINIONS

THAT TEN-YEAR PLAN.

The proposal of James W. Gerard and Matthew Wolf for a 10-year plan of "democratic idealism" to solve the problems of industry and end the disasterous losses of the business cycle ought to meet with a good deal of public support. Just what the details of such a plan might be is a matter for future discussion. The important thing is to have a plan. We have followed a plan of drift too many years. Our troubles today are chiefly the result of that policy.

Of course, with or without a carefully thought-out plan for the future, industry and trade will eventually revive. Prosperity will come back—sooner, probably, than the pessimism of today expects it. Breadlines will vanish and payrolls will regain their old corpulence. Yet that does not in the least excuse us from the imperative necessity of charting some kind of course.

Stuart Chase, one of the most levelheaded of American economists, remarked dourly in the New York Herald Tribune the other day that he "could see no reason why the 'old story' should not be told again."

Prosperity will return in due time, as asserted, and be added. The lessons of the depression will tend to be forgotten; brokers will buy new automobiles, grocery clerks will comment learnedly on blue-chip stocks, professors of economics will proclaim a New Era, and along about 1930 will come another descent into the "macrostrum."

In the last 10 words of that forecast is to be found the gist of the whole thing. We shall recover from this depression whether we lay our plans wisely or not; but if we let ourselves drift as we have in the past, we shall bump into another depression in a matter of eight or 10 years just as surely as the Lord made little green apples.

And it is all so unnecessary. Surely no country on earth ever enjoyed the natural advantages that America enjoys today. An amazing abundance of natural resources, an enormous home market, a consuming class with the highest purchasing power in history, a body of workmen who for skill and industry cannot be matched on the planet, a class of technicians of unparalleled skill, money enough to mortgage the rest of the globe—is there anything lacking, except an intelligent plan that would insure the best use of these blessings?—Big Spring Herald.

That advertising has proved its worth; study what it has done for those who have enlisted its aid; see the progress they have made.

The business concerns who have made the greatest success are those who are continuous advertisers. Their advertising has made it possible for them to increase business to such an extent that they could adopt a policy of continuous improvement and expansion.

Continuous advertising brings volume, which makes it possible to produce better products to sell at better prices.

Continuous advertising makes many sales grow where only one grew before. It is the only way to put a business on a year round paying basis.

People have been educated through experience to the fact that only quality can stand continuous advertising.

Advertising through the printed page carries its appeal into every home in a way that brings satisfactory results.

We advertised products are in demand everywhere, because nowadays everybody reads the advertisements.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

What effect have harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos upon the throat? A famous authority, retained by us to study throat irritation, says:

"The tissues above and below the vocal chords and the vocal chords themselves may become acutely or chronically congested as a result of the inhalation of irritating fumes in the case of chemists for example."

LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays, expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. So "Consider your Adam's Apple"—that is your larynx—your voice box—contains your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

University Economist Sees Moratorium as Forerunner of War Debts Revision

AUSTIN, July 9.—As a one-year moratorium on reparations amounts to nothing, but as an introduction to a revision of the whole scheme of the war-debt and reparations settlement and general relations of America to the rest of the world, it is a forerunner to the revision of the economic status of the whole world, in the opinion of Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the Bureau of Business Research at The University of Texas. Dr. Cox has made an intensive study of the moratorium, its background, its economic objections which have been voiced to its provisions, and its probable results, and has made a number of addresses before local civic organizations on the subject. "A one-year recess from reparations payments, standing alone, will simply cause payments to pile up and leave Germany and the world at large in worse condition than before," Dr. Cox said. "However, a twelve months' moratorium will give economic leaders of the various countries an opportunity to study the situation and work out an equitable system of settlements and economic relations." Outlining the high points of the moratorium proposal, Dr. Cox said, "The plan as Hoover first stated it was cessation of war debts and reparations, both interest and principal, for one year, with possible extension for two years. The aid to be received from such a proposal was of course to go chiefly to Germany. The German government would be relieved from the payment for 1931-32 of approximately $350,000,000. Of this amount, under the terms of the Young plan, in operation since August 31, 1929, a total of $157,000,000 is non-postponable. The United States will bear the cost of this less the sum of $245,000,000 is owed to her by European countries in war debts and reparations. France is scheduled to make the next largest financial sacrifice, amounting to $97,000,000, while England's claim amounts to $50,000,000 including payments due her colonies. Belgium's loss is $22,000,000, while Italy's loss is $9,000,000. "How badly the various countries need the reparations money from Germany is shown by the large deficits under which their governments are operating. In 1930, the United States deficit was $867,000,000, that of England was $113,000,000, that of France $80,000,000, and Belgium, $30,000,000. On the other hand Germany's inability to pay is indicated by her $312,000,000 deficit for 1930. "France raised an objection to the Hoover proposal on the grounds of the violation of the terms of the Young plan, which provided that Germany was to make 37 payments, beginning September 1, 1929, and ending March 31, 1966, totalling an average of 2,050,000,000 marks annually, and in addition, was to make 22 payments equal to the allied war debt to the United States after that time, making a total of 27,000,000,000 marks, or at present values, $9,500,000,000. These reparations were to be divided into a non-postponable class and a postponable class. The non-postponable payments, amounting to about $165,000,000, were to be paid through the Bank of International Settlements, set up to handle this matter. It was further agreed that payments in kind might be made for a period of ten years. Following the conference at the Hague, it was agreed that 65 per cent of all payments should be made to the United States to be applied on the war debts owed to this country by the allies, while the remainder was to be used for rehabilitation on full assurance that Germany will not use the money granted her for the moratorium for armaments. "The moratorium will have a widespread influence in the economic structure of the entire world, since it might affect the balance of power in Europe. It involves the private debts amounting to some $15,000,000 or $17,000,000 which are owed to American individuals, and it touches the economic stability of the whole world."

Room Shortage Worries Reno

RENO, Nev., July 9.—House and apartment hunting in Reno has become one of the most popular—or, rather, unpopular—diversions of the divorcees since the six-weeks divorce and wide-open gambling laws went into effect. Housing facilities have become scarce, simply because there are not enough houses or apartments to supply the demand. Tent cities have sprung up in the outskirts, every room in every hotel is occupied. Virtually every apartment house has waiting lists. Hotels are placing cots in corridors and "flophouses" have sprung up overnight. The Southern Pacific railroad places all available Pullmans on sidetracks near Reno on week-ends, to lodge overnight tourists. The chamber of commerce is making a valiant effort to remedy the situation, which will become acute during the racing season here this month. But the problem confronting the

"3 CROSSES" TO BE SUBJECT THIS EVENING

Three crosses will be the subject of the Rev. H. D. Tucker tonight in the Tabernacle revival in East Cisco, being sponsored by the Twelfth Street Methodist church.

The subject last night was the unpardonable sin and several people were in the altar at the close of the sermon.

The revival will continue through Sunday night, the Rev. Mr. Tucker preaching at all services except Sunday morning, at which time he will preach at the First Methodist church. Sunday night the First Methodist congregation will attend the Twelfth Street revival.

A person does not have to speak a word to commit the unpardonable sin," the Rev. Tucker said in his message last night. "All one has to do is to continually reject the pleadings of the Holy Spirit until He withdraws from them," he declared.

"If once the Holy Spirit leaves a person and the unpardonable sin is committed, there is no need for that person to ever go to church again for there is no forgiveness in this world nor the world to come."

All a person has to do to be lost is to neglect salvation," he declared during the message.

Large crowds are attending all services.

Canning Wheat
 Wheat makes a good food prepared in ways other than making bread. One of the recent methods of preparing wheat is to can; then use the product for cereal, substitute for rice or macaroni and in a number of other ways.

The following method is used for canning:

Clean and wash wheat thoroughly. Soak over night in twice the amount of water as wheat used. Next morning drain and wash wheat again to remove some of the dark brown color. Cover with water and boil for five minutes, stirring constantly.

Fill number 2 cans with 17 oz. drained wheat, add 1 teaspoon salt, cover with water in which wheat was boiled. Seal and process for 40 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.

Remove from cooker and place in cold water. When cool, clean, dry, label and store.

The following suggestions are for use of canned wheat:

1. Substituted for rice and served with meats and gravy.
2. Whole wheat may be added to soups as a substitute for rice or macaroni.
3. Use good rice pudding recipe substituting amount of wheat for rice and make delicious dessert.
4. For a breakfast food add a little water, cook 4 or 5 minutes and serve with whole milk and steamed or fresh fruit.

Method for Utilizing Overripe Tomatoes

Chili Sauce:
 1 gallon chopped tomatoes (ripe)
 1-2 cup chopped onions
 1-2 cup chopped sweet green pepper
 1-8 cup chopped sweet red pepper
 1-2 cup brown sugar
 5 tablespoons ginger
 2 tablespoons salt
 1 tablespoon cinnamon
 1 tablespoon mustard
 1 quart vinegar
 1-2 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Peel the tomatoes and onions. Chop the onion and peppers fine. Boil all ingredients except the vinegar together for 2 hours or until soft and broken. Add vinegar and simmer for 1 hour. Strain frequently. Bottle and seal while hot.

Cabbage

Divic Relish:
 1 quart chopped cabbage
 1 pint chopped onions
 1 pint chopped sweet pepper (red)
 1 pint chopped sweet pepper (green)
 1 quart vinegar
 4 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon mustard seed
 2 tablespoons celery seed
 3-4 cup sugar

If peppers are scarce, use more cabbage and less pepper. Soak the pepper in brine (1 cup salt to 1 gallon water) for 24 hours. Freshen in clear water for 1 or 2 hours. Drain, remove seeds and coarse white sections. Chop separately and measure the chopped cabbage, pepper and onions before canning. Add spices, sugar and vinegar. Let stand overnight covered in a crock or enameled vessel. Pack in sterilized jars. When ready to pack drain off vinegar in order that the jar may be well packed. Press the relish carefully in jars. Pour over it the vinegar that was drained off. Use a wooden paddle or silver knife to remove bubbles. Seal and process for 15 minutes at the boiling temperature.

Fresh Preservation Going Over Big In County

Reports from individuals and merchants show that every one is canning all surplus for future use. A report from one wholesale grocery in Cisco, gives three car loads of tin cans sold within a 30 mile radius. This amount over 100,000 cans. A retail merchant reports over 100 canners sold within the last few months. The canning equipment can be purchased at all hardware stores in the different towns and many of the grocery and general merchandise stores. From reports, Eastland county will not have to have much if any help from any source for food during 1931 and 32.

TOURISTS FIND BROADWAY IS COOLEST ROUTE

Tourists traveling across country are finding the Broadway of America the coolest route in the country, according to word received at the highway association headquarters in El Paso, Texas. More and more tourists are avoiding the excessive humidity and heat of the central states and taking the southern route.

"Many people do not realize that the Broadway has plenty of altitude but no mountain passes," says P. O. Mackey, president. "With the exception of a few places along the route, the temperatures have not reached the temperatures of eastern and central states. The Broadway is an ideal summer route and, of course, cannot be excelled in winter, as it is the only snow-free transcontinental highway in the country."

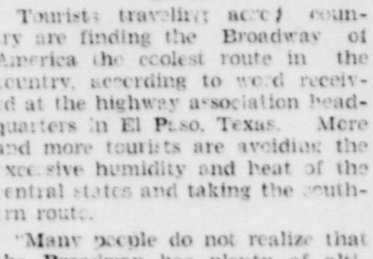

"Summer tourists, too, enjoy the many advantages of national parks and other points of interest adjacent to or on the Broadway. There are several camps with Old Mexico which appeal especially to the carter who is quick to take advantage of a side trip into a foreign country."

Plans for popularizing the Broadway with eastern and northern tourists are rapidly taking form and we look for an unprecedented travel over the Broadway during the coming fall and winter months.

TO REMOVE MRS. SHARP TO TERRELL

SANDEBSON, Tex., July 9. — Mrs. Beale Sharp, 30, accused with her baby's lover in the poison death of her husband, Telephus Sharp, Sunday, will be removed from the state asylum at San Antonio to the Terrell county jail here.

The young woman will go to trial Monday on a murder charge in district court.

Willie Burleson, cow hand from the Big Canyon ranch, at Liberty under $5,000 bond, is charged jointly with murder in connection with Sharp's death.

According to authorities Mrs. Sharp confessed to having poisoned her husband more than a month ago in order that she might marry Burleson. Burleson, also, is said to have admitted complicity in the plot.

Upon being arrested and denied bail, Mrs. Sharp staged a hunger strike. Then she was rushed to San Antonio for an emergency operation. After recovering she underwent a second operation.

Judge W. W. McCorty, San Antonio, later ruled that she be placed in the San Antonio asylum for observation regarding her sanity.

Join the Silvertown Safety League and back a Nationwide movement to End Automobile Accidents...!

CARELESS driving was responsible for 32,500 deaths and 960,000 injuries last year.

Even as you read this message today, heedless driving is claiming 2693 victims somewhere in the United States. The need for some definite action has become imperative.

To help end this wanton, needless destruction of life, The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company has designed the Silvertown Safety League Pledge. It consists of nine simple, common sense rules—rules which, if observed by motorists, would eliminate 90% of all auto accidents. In the interest of greater safety, you are urged to sign this pledge.

Here is a picture of the "Safe Driver's" Emblem. It identifies you as a careful driver. Let us affix one to your car as a League Member.

SCOUTS LEAVE FOR CAMP ON LLANO THURS.

Scouts over the oil belt are getting their bedding, uniforms, cooking utensils, radios, kodaks, fishing tackle, archery supplies and so forth together to attend the annual scout camp which will be held July 16 to 26, on the Llano river 9 miles south of Mason. More crafts will be offered this year than any previous year. The river is in good condition for swimming and fishing. Scouts of Troop 3 have a canoe just about finished. There will be enough boats for racing. Troop 6 scouts report having made a Dan Beard model boat and it is understood the Brokenridge scouts have a canoe to take along. Reports from the watermelon man, near camp say he planted an extra patch to accommodate the camp. Last year the camp had watermelons and good ones too, since every day. The chamber of commerce of Mason came down with their hand and gave the boys a watermelon feed and a program. The local community band club also entertained the camp with a mason supper and a band concert one night. About 800 visitors visited the camp at different times last year. Each scout is required to have a physical examination by a medical doctor. Scouts will leave the different town Thursday morning. There will be an advanced patrol of pioneers to have the camp in readiness when the main group arrives.

BUTTE TAMED AS GAS BOOM OPENED CITY

By WILLIAM E. GAMMON United Press Staff Correspondent. BUTTE, Mont., July 2. — Butte, once proud in its boast of being the widest of the wide-open towns, has been tamed. Forcibly, reluctantly tamed. It writes under the orders which turned its gaming tables upside down and summarily stopped the window-tapping along Galena and Mercury streets. The "greatest mining camp on earth," where liquor was strong and woman submissive, no longer is the city of a score of books and articles, ranging in title from "The Perch of the Devil" to "Sin in the Desert." The "better element" long deplored the reputation the city had gained. Then came depression. Mines were curtailed. Drought lowered agricultural returns. Year after year a "camp followers"—women and "tin-horn" gamblers. It was history repeating itself. Authorities who had elected to "forget" Montana's gambling laws, were reminded sharply of them by the state's attorney general, L. A. Foot, who urged "prompt and vigorous action." Not only in Butte, but elsewhere county authorities resulted in the closing of scores of gambling halls. Federal prohibition agents cooperated, raiding in several counties along the right-of-way of the tenuous pipeline. Hearing on Cisco Gas Rates Stated for This Evening

The special meeting of the city commission called to consider the question of lower gas rates for Cisco and to be attended by representatives of the West Texas Utilities company and the Lone Star Gas company, will not be held until 8 o'clock this evening, Mayor J. Berry announced at 2:30 this afternoon. The meeting will be open to the public.

The Cisco city commission and representatives of the West Texas Utilities company and the Lone Star Gas company were due to confer upon the question of reducing rates in Cisco. No hour was set for the meeting and Mayor J. T. Berry this morning indicated that conference would probably take place this afternoon. He mentioned either 2 o'clock or 3 o'clock as probable hour, decision depending upon the convenience of the utility company representatives whom at the time he had not named.

The special meeting was called in resolution adopted June 22 by the commission in which the two companies were invited to have representation and requested to furnish mayor with a true copy of the contract in effect between the West Texas Utilities company and the Lone Star Gas company.

SCO ENJOYS COOL WEATHER AFTER HEAT

Showers, aggregating one-tenth of an inch of rain, last night brought Cisco an atmosphere of cool invigorating today in marked contrast with the sultry heat of the past week. Temperature at noon today registered 76 degrees as compared to 100 degrees at noon yesterday.

ASTOR IS SURPRISED BY "POUNDING"

Rev. H. D. Tucker, pastor of the First Methodist church, was called last night when, returning to his services which he conducted the Twelfth Street Methodist church, he found a large number of automobiles parked in front of his place on Broadway shortly after 10 o'clock.

Tucker had been ill during evening and his first thought that her condition had suddenly become alarming. He was vastly surprised and as presently surprised, when members of his congregation began taking stacks of crates—canned goods, flour and a variety of other articles—from the cars and marching into the kitchen where they piled upon the table and the time ago Mr. Tucker had stored an old-fashioned, Meth- "pounding" for Rev. Motion, the Twelfth Street church, and members of his congregation decided that turn about is fair declared that he had not had a pounding in so long that he knew how to act. He was able to express his appreciation appropriately, however.

BRIEF SESSION ANTICIPATED BY GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, July 9.—Gov. Ross Sterling said this morning that he hoped the special session of the legislature he called yesterday will not last more than two weeks. The session was called to convene at noon next Tuesday. In the call Governor Sterling advised legislators that they would be asked to enact laws adequately conserving the state's natural resources.

Under this submission, the legislature will be authorized to create a state conservation commission to take from the railroad commission the supervision of gas and oil production and marketing as well as gas utility regulation. It also may amend the statutes so as to empower the commission, railroad or conservation as the case may be, to issue proration orders with teeth in them and to provide certain means of enforcement.

In calling a special session, the governor has ended the agitation that started in the last days of the regular session over the Howley bill and which has continued. One contingent in East Texas consistently has opposed any special session, while the other has advocated it to strengthen the conservation laws. The Howley bill, a strong proration measure, is sure to be reintroduced, though probably changed to meet new objections.

Attorney General James V. Allred expects to be called on to draw some of the bills in prospect under the subject of conservation so as to make them stand the test of the courts, which they are considered sure to receive if enacted. Several times the governor has said he would submit redistricting to the special session and it is sure to come in later. He has been equally emphatic in declaring that local bills will not be submitted unless there is an emergency.

Rangers Attend McDuffie Funeral

Jeff Johnson, 57-year-old former policeman who killed McDuffie with a single rifle shot, was buried yesterday at Glade water.

TEXAS FARM VALUES TOTAL $3,606,223,554

Preliminary announcement of the results of the 1930 federal farm census of Texas provides some interesting comparisons with agricultural figures in 1925 and 1920. An increase in the number of farms is noted during the 10-year period covered with a variable decrease in the average acreage. Farm values were higher in 1920 than at other census periods, declining to a total of $3,709,173,319 in 1920 but rising to $3,606,223,554 in 1930.

In 1920 there were 436,033 farms reported, in 1925 there were 465,646 and in 1930 495,490 farms. Average per farm was the lowest in 1925 when the average was 235.5 acres and the total acreage was 100,674,410 acres, the lowest of the three periods. This represented a decline from 114,020,821 acres in 1920 when the average was 261.5 acres. In 1930 the average acreage had risen to 252.4 acres with a total of 125,041,704 acres in all farms.

Building Values Increase. Of the total farm values reported in 1930 land alone represented $3,671,845,270; buildings, $334,378,281; dwellings alone $351,361,584; and machinery $181,421,190. The 1930 census registered a substantial increase in values in both building and machinery over the preceding census periods.

Average value of land and buildings per farm dropped from $8,486 in 1920 to $6,540 in 1925 and rose to $7,278 in 1930. Average value of per acre likewise declined in 1925 from the 1920 figures and increased by 1930. This increase was no doubt due to the increased value of buildings and similar improvements. In 1930 the average value per acre was $28.84; in 1925 it was $27.77 and in 1920 it was $22.48.

A large increase in tenantry was also noted during the decade, although the owner operated acreage remained practically unchanged and the acreage operated by tenants increased by one-third. Comparative figures on these points for 1930 and 1920 are given as follows: Farm operated by: Owners, 190,391; Managers, 3,564; Tenants, 301,535. Owners, 201,210; Managers, 2,514; Tenants, 232,309. Acres operated by: Owners, 63,794,267; Managers, 19,877,348.

Highway 23 PAVING WILL START SOON

Indefinite information with respect to the date for actual beginning of work on paving highway 23 north of Cisco to the Calahan county line was given today in a letter from the Jago Construction company, of Denton, responding to an inquiry from J. E. Spencer, secretary of the Cisco chamber of commerce.

Assurance that labor employed on the project, contract for which was awarded the Jago people at the last session of the state highway commission, would be all local with exception of certain necessary skilled labor, was given.

A Cake for Mr. Coolidge---59

Even though his birthday is coincident with that of the nation, Calvin Coolidge celebrated it the other day with a modest cake and a quiet ceremony at the home of his close friend and advisor, Frank H. Stearns, at Swampscott, Mass.

Here you see the former president as he prepared to slice the cake, which should have had 59 candles as Mrs. Coolidge smilingly looked on.

200 BOYS ARE EXPECTED FOR F. F. T. ENCAMPMENT

With definite assurances from at least 10 schools, among them towns as far away as Spur, Granger and Rule, of attendance of large groups of vocational students, Eastland county vocational agriculture teachers in charge anticipate an attendance of over 200 at the third annual F. F. T. encampment to be held at Lake Cisco July 20, 21 and 22. E. H. Varnell, local teacher said today. Fully 200 schools are expected to be represented in this group. Last year 18 schools sent 150 students.

Among schools comparatively close which have given definite assurance of representation are Abilene, Brackenridge, Blackwell, Rainey, Rising Star, Cross Plains and Tarkenton.

Headquarters for the encampment will, as last year and the preceding year, be located in the spaces between concrete buttresses under the big dam at the lake. Ideal quarters may be provided here for sleeping, cooking and eating with little effort. The quarters, so impressed are clean, spacious and cool even in the hottest days and are so arranged that the vocational instructors who accompany the boys and have charge of them may keep them under close supervision during the encampment.

A letter from W. M. Gourley, vocational instructor at Chillicothe, assuring Mr. Varnell that he will bring between 15 and 20 boys for the encampment, was the latest to be received.

Over the two previous years that the encampment has been held interest has increased considerably among the vocational units available to it, and it bids fair to grow into an annual event of respectable proportions. Expectation of larger attendance at the forthcoming session was inspired earlier in the year when a survey of opinion among vocational teachers who could be expected to participate resulted in a consensus strongly in favor of continuing the encampment at lake.

The purpose of the encampment is to provide the F. F. T. chapters (composed of agricultural students) with a get-together where they can mix business with pleasure, exchanging ideas and solidifying a group spirit that assists in promoting the cause of vocational agriculture throughout this territory. While there is considerable attention to vocational work, programs and methods, most of the time of the encampment will be devoted to events of a pleasurable nature, including swimming, diving and other water contests, boating, fishing, donkey polo, cat riding and so forth.

Each of the attending boys and teachers is assessed a small fee to cover all expenses. This fee is gauged to the requirements of the encampment and contemplates no profit although a small sum is sometimes left over to apply on the succeeding encampment. Meals will be cooked and served

NCMFE, July 9.—The courageous flight of Reg Robbins and Harold Jones, who attempted to reach Japan from Seattle without stopping, was brought to a heart-breaking close here today when they were forced to land after attempts to contact their refueling plane failed. The monoplane "Fort Worth" landed at Seaman, 36 miles east of here, at 9:50 a. m. CST. After some ice and rain made it impossible to refuel in the air.

The fliers had completed a 1,900-mile flight from Seattle with almost excellent precision and through the first day of their attempted flight from Seattle to Tokio, their plans went through perfectly as scheduled.

The heavy rain and fog they encountered after they left Patagonia early this morning spelled disaster and the flight ended a little less than half-way on the 3,100-mile journey.

WELCOME FOR PICNICKERS IS PREPARED

Hal Hunter, of the Lone Star Gas company, was in Cisco from Ranger today and at intervals during the preceding week making final preparations for the annual Lone Star employes picnic to be held at Lake Cisco Saturday. Mr. Hunter expects attendance of between 700 and 1,000 people, including large numbers of officials of both the Lone Star and its subsidiaries, among which is now the Chesnut-Smith company, of Ranger, acquired last year.

The picnic will be the second of the nature sponsored here by the Lone Star. Facilities at the lake and the Cisco Country club, bordering it, have been thrown open to the visitors and a comprehensive program, has been arranged. A new and touted item of this program is a terrapin race which is due to excite great interest.

Other events, all of them staged at the Cisco Country club, are a golf tournament, putting tournament, croquet and tennis matches in the afternoon and a dance in the evening.

Reservations for company officials have been made at local hotels. Swimming, boating and fishing offer other variety for the amusement of the visitors.

At the same time the West Texas Utilities company employes of five districts, including District B with headquarters here, will have a "chuck wagon dinner" in the Lions and Rotary club park at the lake. About 75 are expected to attend. For this evening, also, a program of entertainment has been prepared under the supervision of H. H. Lamb. It includes contests of various kinds in keeping with the "chuck wagon" theme. Incidentally a real chuck wagon will be secured from Albany to add reality to the picnic.

SPLAWN AS A POWER SURVEYOR

Former President Walter Splawn of the Texas university is out of the state picture and in the national gallery. He made a survey of the holding companies of American railroads last year for the government and submitted his report to the congress. He recommended drastic legislation. A lame duck congress throttled his recommendations. Now he is to make a survey of the power industry of the United States and has been ordered to cover the ground and make his report educative as well as accurate. There is a new congress coming in December. Perhaps the former railroad commissioner, former university president at the present time famous among the rail and power economists of America will fare better at the hands of the national solons this winter than he did last year. It is a long journey from a little farm in Wise county to a place in the national picture gallery. Walter Splawn made the journey.

NEFF FLOUTS THE PRORATION ORDER.

Former Governor Pat Morris Neff, now state railroad commissioner, brushed aside the oil proration order signed by Railroad Commissioner Terrell and Smith and gave to the public his reasons for the flouting. He declared it to be unethical, impractical, inefficient and otherwise useless as an effective agency for the conservation of oil and gas in the fields of Texas. More business for the lawyers; rich pickings for the followers of Coke and Blackstone; new wells coming in daily; wildcatters as busy as bees in springtime; low price levels are now listed as hot news by the managing editors of the molders of public thought and the disseminators of all the news fit to print.

Just now the moratorium baby holds the center of the stage and the statesmen of the world appear to be as muddled in their brain pans as the oil oracles of the United States and foreign nations are muddled in their actions.

BUSINESS EDITORS ARE VERY OPTIMISTIC.

One hundred and fifty-five business paper editors and associated business papers recite the belief that overhead burdens from prosperity days have cleared away. They made known their views in the eighth semi-annual survey on the business outlook released by Stanley A. Dennis, of New York, president of the conference. Speaking of cotton, the survey says the textile industry has shown remarkable progress in the development of promotional selling finding new uses for goods and otherwise bringing up to date an industry that has heretofore emphasized the production rather than the selling end of its business. They believe also that in the main inventories of raw materials and finished products are now so depleted that replacement buying cannot be postponed much longer. Indeed gains have been made in all the leading industries of America.

IS THERE MONEY IN OIL?

An Oklahoma City newspaper correspondent tells the readers of his paper that the lure of easy money in oil still wins the dollars of investors despite the bogies of over production and proration and price cut; the promotions go merrily on despite the receiverships and other legal angles; that a recent survey shows that $15,000 to $20,000 of "sucker" money rolls daily into the hands of Oklahoma City stock promoters; that losses today are estimated upwards of $5,000,000; that the ranks of Oklahoma City promoters have been thinned by the newer attraction of the fertile fields of East Texas. This Oklahoma City news hawk is a fair player. He admits not all oil promoters are considered unethical but that it is difficult "for the average citizen to choose oil well units with the best judgment." A half century ago, Barnum, the most noted showman of his period, immortalized himself by saying "There is a sucker born every minute." Now there must be fifty suckers born every minute under the flag of Old Glory.

RED BUGS DESTROYERS OF HAY FEVER.

It is said that the male cedar is the most deadly of the species. As for the female cedar she must be a thing of joy forever. It is said the male is responsible for hay fever everywhere in the cedar brakes of Texas. Now the male is doomed; the red bug is on his trail. The fierce little insect saps the life out of the tree and then nature takes its course. Why is it that victims of hay fever are found in sections of America where the cedar is not in evidence? Perhaps the scientist will explain the reason why.

PANTAGES SEPARATED FROM MILLIONS.

Alexander Pantages of Los Angeles admits that it has cost him between two and three million dollars for court expenses and lawyer fees since he became entangled with the gold coast diggers. Alexander is a man of many millions. He needs a bodyguard. There is a Mrs. Pantages but she does not appear to be able to keep the feet of Alexander out of the finely spun web of the gay adventurers and adventures of the silver strand country.

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES UNDER ONE ROOF.

There are more branches of federal services in Denver than in any other city in the United States with the exception of Washington, and now 800 workers are housed in the new Federal building which was recently erected in Denver at a cost of one million dollars. Uncle Sam has turned economist. He has appeared in many roles. For years he has been the Western Shylock of Eastern Europe. Now he is figuring as god father for all creation. There is hope in the hearts of the peoples of all nations. Now jobs for the jobless and foreign markets for the farm staples of America as well as the manufacturers of America.

A BIG BOOST FOR CORPUS CHRISTI.

James C. Kennedy, president and backer of the Southern Alkali corporation now pushing construction of a tea million dollar plant at Corpus Christi has estimated that the new project would add more than 1500 families to the population of the gulf coast city. Regardless of depression clouds there is a Building Texas that is ever on the forward movement.

OTHER OPINIONS

THAT TEN-YEAR PLAN.

The proposal of James W. Gerard and Matthew Well for a 10-year plan of "democratic idealism" to solve the problems of industry and end the disastrous losses of the business cycle ought to meet with a good deal of public support.

Just what the details of such a plan might be is a matter for future discussion. The important thing is to have a plan. We have followed a plan of drift for many years. Our troubles today are chiefly the result of that policy.

Of course, with or without a carefully thought-out plan for the future, industry and trade will eventually revive. Prosperity will come back—sooner, probably, than the pessimism of today expects it. Breadlines will vanish and payrolls will regain their old copulence.

Yet that does not in the least excuse us from the imperative necessity of charting some kind of course. Stuart Chase, one of the most levelheaded of American economists, remarked doubtly in the New York Herald Tribune the other day that he "could see no reason why the '34 story should not be told again."

Prosperity will return in due time, he asserted, and he added: "The lessons of the depression will tend to be forgotten; brokers will buy new automobiles, grocery clerks will comment heartily on blue-chip stocks, professors of economics will proclaim a New Era, and along about 1940 will come another descent into the maelstrom."

In the last 10 words of that forecast is to be found the gist of the whole thing. We shall recover from this depression whether we lay our plans wisely or not; but if we let ourselves drift as we have in the past, we shall bump into another depression in a matter of eight or 10 years just as surely as the Lord made little green apples.

And it is all so unnecessary! Surely no country on earth ever enjoyed the natural advantages that America enjoys today. An amazing abundance of natural resources, an enormous home market, a consuming class with the highest purchasing power in history, a body

That advertising has proved its worth study what it has done for those who have enlisted its aid; see the progress they have made.

The business concerns who have met the greatest success are those who are continuous advertisers. Their advertising has made it possible for them to increase business to such an extent that they could adopt a policy of continuous improvement and expansion.

Continuous advertising brings volume, which makes it possible to produce better products to sell at better prices.

Continuous advertising makes many sales grow where only one grew before. It is the only way to put a business on a year round paying basis.

People have been educated through experience to the fact that only quality can stand continuous advertising.

Advertising through the printed page carries its appeal into every home in a way that brings satisfactory results.

Well advertised products are in demand everywhere, because nowadays everybody reads the advertisements.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!* Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

What effect have harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos upon the throat? A famous authority, retained by us to study throat irritation, says:

"The tissues above and below the vocal chords and the vocal chords themselves may become acutely or chronically congested as a result of the inhalation of irritating fumes in the case of chemists for example."

LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays, expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. So "Consider your Adam's Apple"—the is your larynx—your voice box—contains your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Be careful in your choice of cigarette. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

"3 CROSSES" TO BE SUBJECT THIS EVENING

"Three Crosses" will be the subject of the Rev. H. D. Tucker tonight in the Tabernacle revival in East Cisco, being sponsored by the Twelfth Street Methodist church.

The subject last night was the unpardonable sin and several people were in the altar at the close of the sermon.

The revival will continue through Sunday night, the Rev. Mr. Tucker preaching at all services except Sunday morning, at which time he will preach at the First Methodist church Sunday night. The First Methodist congregation will attend the Twelfth Street revival.

A person does not have to speak a word to commit the unpardonable sin," the Rev. Tucker said in his message last night. "All one has to do is to continually reject the pleadings of the Holy Spirit until He withdraws from them," he declared.

"If once the Holy Spirit leaves a person and the unpardonable sin is committed, there is no need for that person to ever go to church again for there is no forgiveness in this world nor the world to come."

"All a person has to do to be lost is to neglect salvation," he declared during the message.

Large crowds are attending all services.

Canning Wheat
Wheat makes a good food prepared in ways other than making bread. One of the recent methods of preparing wheat is to can; then use the product for cereal, substitute for rice or macaroni and in a number of other ways.

The following method is used for canning:

Clean and wash wheat thoroughly. Soak over night in twice the amount of water as wheat used. Next morning drain and wash wheat again to remove some of the dark brown color. Cover with water and boil for five minutes, stirring constantly.

Fill number 2 cans with 17 oz. drained wheat, add 1 teaspoon salt, cover with water in which wheat was boiled. Seal and process for 40 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.

Remove from cooker and place in cold water. When cool, clean, dry, label and store.

The following suggestions for use of canned wheat:

1. Substituted for rice and served with meats and gravy.
2. Whole wheat may be added to soups as a substitute for rice or macaroni.

TOURISTS FIND BROADWAY IS COOLEST ROUTE

Tourists traveling across America are finding the Broadway of America the coolest route in the country, according to word received at the highway association headquarters in El Paso, Texas. More and more tourists are avoiding the excessive humidity and heat of the central states and taking the southern route.

"Many people do not realize that the Broadway has plenty of altitude and no mountain passes," says F. O. Mather, president. "With the exception of a few places along the route, the temperatures have not reached the temperatures of eastern and central states. The Broadway is an ideal summer route and, of course, cannot be excelled in winter, as it is the only snow-free transcontinental highway in the country."

"Summer tourists, too, enjoy the many advantages of national parks and other points of interest adjacent to or on the Broadway. There are several contacts with Old Mexico which appeal especially to the customer who is quick to take advantage of a side trip into a foreign country."

"Plans for popularizing the Broadway with eastern and northern tourists are rapidly taking form and we look for an unprecedented travel over the Broadway during the coming fall and winter months."

Barrett, Liane's mother, gets into a play. Liane, who is a fan of the actor, takes Liane with her. There Liane meets Clive Spang, son of the theater's boss, Elsie Minter, the ingenue, who is Clive's attendant. Liane has fallen in love with a handsome man who calls her by name one night. Later she meets a man who is sympathetic to her, and she is given by Muriel, a debutante who shares her duties with her. His name is Robard. Cass begs Liane not to do anything more to do with him without explaining why.

Cleavepaugh invites Liane to go with her in the autumn. Liane, who is a fan of the actor, comes to see Muriel Ladd. Liane goes to dinner. One of Muriel's mother believing that she and Desmond have eloped, she accuses Liane after them. She accompanies him. He is tender to her one night. Liane, who is a fan of the actor, goes to the theater. Elsie tells her there is gossip about Robard. Mrs. Ladd, Liane is heartbroken. She asks her mother about Cass's sister, Luisa, who died long ago, but Cass is alive. Liane goes to stay at the house of her mother's friend, Clive whose mother is tyrannical. Van Robard comes to visit. Liane and Liane find the enchantment stealing over her.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

Liane looked up, then away. All the young soul was in that moment. "I don't like me," she murmured. "You run whenever I come near. Why? Were such friends last summer? I moved restlessly under his scrutiny. But we're that still."

"I don't know," Van Robard's eyes were measured. "I don't know."

"Why not?" fluttered Liane, excitedly at this bit of news. "You've done nothing—"

"Nothing," she could not go on. Her voice faded and broke at memory of disappointment she had suffered when he had gone away without a word or look, after the man who had left her on the steps. "My sweet," he murmured, "troubling you, dear, I've made you cry. And a thing I never meant to do."

Liane begged, pleading. "Go away! Someone may find me making a fool of myself."

"A step," said the man stubbornly. "Until I've discovered what you're here—"

He thrust a soft linen handkerchief into her trembling fingers.

Quietly, frantically the girl wiped away the tell-tale tears. Her eyes had repaired the ravages and powdered her nose before Mrs. Cleavepaugh's majestic tread was heard on the stairs. Liane jumped up, catching Robard's restraining hand. She took up the poker and clattered it noisily, disturbing the logs.

"What do you want?" demanded Liane. "I've yielded up the house and fled into the shelter of my room where she made a show of a last minute consultation with the waitress.

When Clive came in five minutes later he found a composed Liane sitting before the fire. Van Robard, in his pocket, lounged carelessly at ease. Mrs. Cleavepaugh, busy with her petit point, glanced keenly at the young man who sat half in shadow. When she was announced, Van offered her ceremoniously to the lady who approved of formalities.

Liane followed with Clive. She was grateful to him for his mere presence. As if he sensed the girl she was under he exerted himself to be entertaining. He asked a thousand questions about Liane and the Burlington game. Even Clive's majestic mother found herself talked down for the first time in her lifetime.

Liane sat, pale and smiling, her hands touching her food. She looked now and then at the man across the way, at the handsome and sinister-looking in his black and white. Clive had astonishingly young composure to Robard although there probably not 10 years difference in their ages.

"When do you leave for the States?" Van asked him presently. Clive flashed a quick, annoyed look at his mother who bridled and answered for him.

"Such nonsense I think it is!" said briskly. "Why can't Clive go around here? There's plenty of room on the estate. But no, he dashes off to this tea planting or rubber, or whatever it is. I should like to see him on Wall Street as his father was."

"But he doesn't see things that way," said Surabaya, to be exact, and business is rubber." Clive regarded affably to Robard. He regarded his mother's protest.

Alister who was at school has a place there. He's a fisher, you know. Very good, very enthusiastic. No, like it, anyhow. Sounds interesting."

"I hate finance," he murmured, helping himself to the looking soufflé. "If place weren't such a dude in the middle of summer I'd have some fun right here on the land. But mother wants had left Van's piercing gaze upon her. She longed now, with a sudden fierce eagerness, to ask him why he blew, now hot, now cold, in her direction. None of this showed in her composed manner and before the words formed in her mind the moment passed. A coal fell in the grate with a rattle.

Liane pretended to start at the sound. This was the hour she had dreamed of when they should meet face to face. And yet she seemed to be stricken dumb. What an idiot he must think her, standing there tongue-tied!

She could hear Clive's step in the hall. Against her will Liane's eyes were drawn to Robard's.

"It seems we are not to have even a moment alone," he said in a low voice.

The girl smiled faintly. "What does it matter? We have nothing to say to each other."

Suddenly she felt gauche and crude. Why need she have said that? She always managed to blurt out the wrong thing, perhaps because she cared so much. She could not be natural with this man.

Clive entered the room, seemingly unconscious of the tension in the atmosphere. After the briefest interval Van announced he must be off. He shook Liane's hand formally and withdrew.

The girl was folding the card table when Clive returned. "Here, I'll attend to that. You look all in. Mother always drafts her friends into these deadly bridge evenings. Never waits for them to volunteer."

Liane smiled wanly. She was glad he interpreted her fatigue thus.

"You've known him long—Van, I mean?" Clive asked, nonchalantly.

She stiffened. "We've met once or twice before."

Clive lit a cigaret, glanced away. He said: "Amusing to see him settle down at last. His engagement is to be announced tomorrow, he tells me."

Liane heard a strange voice ask, "To whom?"

Clive said, "No wonder you're dizzy. It's like an oven in here." He threw open a casement. Over his shoulder he went on, "Van's fiancée? Oh, Muriel Ladd."
