CHILD IS KILLED IN CAR CRASH Annual F. F. T. Encampment Opens at Lake Cisco Today

ATTENDANCE LESS THAN ANTICIPATED

The third annual encampment of the F. F. T. at Lake Cisco opened today with attendance at a low level. The first and optimistic estimates had placed it at 200. The Cisco vocational instructor, who was in charge of the camp, said that the attendance was approximately as large as that of last year when 150 boys and their instructors were present. However, the number of boys represented appears to be lower, with many at long distances being boys.

The Chillicothe delegation was the first to arrive by 11 o'clock this morning. This group of 18 boys and their instructor, drove all night to reach here early this morning. Delegates from Taylor, Post and other distant cities are also here for the three-day event. At noon approximately 100 boys had reported with 50 more yet to arrive. The youngsters lost no time in making their attention to the swimming pool and during the evening hours the majority could be seen at the pool. A varied program will be carried out during the three days, the majority of the time to be devoted to recreational events. Meals for the boys and their teachers are being served at the camp where sleeping quarters are also provided. Four members of the "dam" have been temporarily placed for eating quarters and a large kitchen set under another is in charge of Lloyd Doye. In other sections of the camp scattered liberally over the ground provide sleeping accommodations well adapted to the spirit of the boys on such outings as this. The encampment will close Wednesday afternoon.

SINGLE VOTE GAVE CISCO CONVENTION

Cisco narrowly missed getting the first section of the rapidly growing Texas Hotel Men's association. B. Campbell, manager of the Laguna said upon his return from Wichita Falls, where the last meeting of the association was held Saturday. Abilene ran Cisco a close race after Amarillo had been eliminated on the first ballot. Cisco, however, won by a single vote over Taylor county city.

Howard Ghelson, Ranger hotel manager, was elected president of the association. The convention will be held in Cisco October 18. Delegates will arrive Friday evening and leave Sunday morning so that two nights and a day will be spent here. The association covers West Texas and has broadened its selection to include southwestern Oklahoma, many hotel men from that section attending the convention.

Approximately 40 were in attendance, a large increase over the previous convention. The association has been organized only about 6 months, holding sessions every three months, and the membership and attendance has been increasing with each convention. The purpose of the organization is to enable hotel managers to cooperate in campaigns for reducing losses from "dead-beats" improvements of service rendered and advertisement of the territory covered.

TO BUY ANCIENT CELLS.

AGED SON OF ONE OF BARNUM'S FAMOUS SIAMESE TWINS NOW AWAITS END

Kansas Almshouse Inmate Longs to See Children Before Death Comes.

MEDICINE LODGE, Kan., July 20.—Patrick H. Bunker, 81-year-old son of one of P. T. Barnum's famous original Siamese twins, Ing and Chang, wants to see his children.

Bunker, inmate of the county home at Medicine Lodge, is growing feeble. Somewhere in the United States he hopes his six children may still be living. This man with a life story stranger than any fiction and that is to see them once more.

Bunker's father and his uncle came from Siam to America in 1830. They were joined together by a membranous band extending from the breastbone one to that of the other. It was Ing and Chang who were responsible for the coinizing of the phrase "Siamese twins."

to mean children physically attached to each other, regardless of what race. Barnum, the famous showman, exhibited them throughout the United States and Europe. "My father and his brother never quarred," Bunker is careful to explain. "Lots of people have said to me they've heard Dad and Uncle Chang used to fight. It isn't true."

How He Got His Name
The aged man is asked frequently to tell why the son of a native of Siam should have the surname "Bunker" and be called Patrick.

"It was like this," he says. "As soon as my father and uncle arrived in New York they were put on exhibition. It became necessary for them to be naturalized. They went to the government office and gave their names as Ing and Chang, the only names they'd ever had. Someone told them they must have a surname. A man named Fred Bunker was standing near and he suggested they take his name. That was how my father became Ing Bunker

CREDIT ASS'N SECRETARIES MEET HERE

Credit association secretaries of this section met in Cisco today for the convention of the central west Texas district of the Retail Merchants association of Texas. Secretaries from Temple, Breckenridge, Ranger, San Angelo, Olney, Sweetwater, Brownwood, Mineral Wells, Stamford, Abilene, Eastland and Cisco were present for the session. The meetings are being held on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel. The first took place this morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Tackett, of San Angelo, is president of the division and its president here.

About 25 are attending the convention. The convention will end with the session this afternoon. Luncheon was served at noon at the Laguna. Mr. Lucille Sell, secretary of the Cisco association is host secretary to the convention.

The visitors were taken to Lake Cisco shortly after luncheon for an outing. They were escorted by J. E. Spencer, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and other citizens. They were shown through the city to the state fish hatchery and were taken for a boat ride on Lake Cisco through the courtesy of the Lake Cisco Amusement company.

FIRST YEAR OF PASTORATE COMPLETED

The first year of the pastorate of the Rev. E. S. James at the First Baptist church, was completed yesterday.

"It has been one of the happiest years I have ever had," said the Rev. Mr. James, this morning. "I have enjoyed the work here as I have enjoyed no previous year of my ministry."

Among the accomplishments of the 12 months have been the distribution of 595 awards for work in religious education. Of these 230 diplomas and seals were awarded through the W. M. S.; 225 through the Sunday school, and 110 through the B. Y. P. U. There were 135 additions to the church, 56 of these by baptism while 90 were received through the regular Sunday services.

The church has received and disbursed approximately $16,000 during the year.

THOMAS DAVIS CASE OPENED AT ALBANY

ALBANY, Tex., July 20.—A venire of 60 men appeared in 42nd district court here today for the trial of Thomas Davis, under a five-year suspended sentence for the slaying of Lucian Shook, who is charged with murder in the slaying of Leon Shook.

The outcome of Davis' trial is expected to affect the fate of Clyde Thompson, condemned to death for the murder of the Shook brothers in Eastland county in September 1928. Gov. Ross Sterling granted Thompson a 90-day reprieve in order to await result of the Davis case. Thompson is alleged to have killed the Shook brothers "just to see them kick."

The Davis case was transferred here from Eastland on a change of venue.

Dr. Roberts Here to Move Family

Dr. T. T. Roberts, former president of Randolph college and now associate secretary of the national city church board of the Christian churches, with headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., is in Cisco preparing to move his family and household goods to Oklahoma City where they will make their residence. They expect to leave Wednesday.

REV. BRUCE C. BONEY WILL ACCEPT CALL TO WARREN

The Rev. Bruce C. Boney, minister of the First Presbyterian church here since 1925, Sunday morning tendered his resignation to the congregation of the church. Announcement that he will accept a call from the First Presbyterian church of Warren, Ark., was made at the conclusion of the morning sermon, subject of which was "Bearing Burdens," during which the Rev. Mr. Boney spoke of the joy of the past six years of service with the people of Cisco. A congregational meeting was called for next Sunday morning to act on the resignation. Mr. Boney expects to take up his work with the Warren church September 1. His resignation from the pastorate of the Cisco church is effective August 15. During the intervening time he will be occupied with work in the Kerrville summer camps of the denomination.

Church Growth.
When Mr. Boney came to Cisco there were 172 members in the local church, which was increased to 290, a 65 per cent increase before the depression started an exodus of people from Cisco.

The present membership is over 200. An enthusiastic interest in all departments of the work has marked the six years of the administration. The young people's department, which had no work of its own, is enthusiastically organized into two healthy groups, following the General Assembly's highway program. Scout troop No. 1, the premier troop of the oil belt, has been organized, has eight Eagle scouts, a Harmon award winner, and a record second to none in this area of scouting, and is the foster-child of this administration.

An organized choir, with a membership of 33 at its peak, has delighted Cisco music-lovers with excellent music under the direction of Mr. Boney. The Men - of - the - Church organization has been functioning for four years, and the Women's auxiliary has never been in a more healthy condition, say its leaders. In a material way, the seven-room manse has been built; the old manse removed from the property adjoining the church and a large lawn, improved for out-door church gatherings, established in its place. A new roof has been given the church; electric ceiling fans have been installed in the auditorium; an attractive Ashtabula electric lighted bulletin board graces the front of the building; the choir space in the auditorium has twice been enlarged to meet growing choir membership. A new program of provide more Sunday school rooms have been installed.

And despite financial depression, the major portion of the old building indebtedness has been liquidated. In the interest of the church at large, in 1927 he went on a study-tour through Europe, the Mediterranean sea countries (including the North African countries), the Holy Land, and Trans-Jordan. This trip concluded his second trip around the world. In 1928 he represented Fort Worth presbytery as commissioner to General Assembly in Atlanta, Georgia. For the past three years has been a member of Synod's stewardship committee, and chairman of Presbytery's stewardship committee, being sent by Synod's committee to speak to Brazos presbytery at Houston in 1930, and being placed on the Kerrville conference program of stewardship the same year.

Other Services.
He served as song leader and Bible teacher and inspirational speaker at the Mineral Wells Youth conferences for 1930 and 1931; and as song leader and Bible teacher for the Kerrville State conference for 1931, and is to serve as director of music for the W. M. S. at the school at Kerrville in August of this year. He was song leader and inspirational speaker at the synodical meeting in Kerrville in 1930. At Synod's request and the invitation of the churches he has conducted evangelistic meetings at Mineral Wells, Hillsboro, Weatherford, and Fort Worth. Mr. Boney has not confined his activities to his church; he was chaplain of the American Legion for 1925-26-28-29, and post commander for 1927; is a member of the Knights of Pythias, and a Mason. He was a director of the Rotary club for 1926-27-28-29 and 30; was chairman of its program committee for three years, chairman of inter-national committee in 1929, chairman of fellowship committee, 1930, chairman of vocational committee in 1931; was vice-president of the club in 1928, and president of the club in 1929; has been local song leader for five years; has twice represented the club at international conferences—in Ostende, Belgium, in 1927, and in Dallas, Texas, in 1929 at which conference he nominated Eugene Newsome of North Carolina, who was elected president of Rotary International.

REV. B. C. BONEY

Mr. Boney has also delivered inspiration Rotary addresses at Abilene, Eastland, Ranger, Breckenridge, Mineral Wells, Weatherford, Stamford, Lubbock, Hillsboro, Dallas and Temple in Texas; at Warsaw, Goldsboro and Wilmington in North Carolina; at Pensacola and Jacksonville in Florida, and at Bristol, Va.-Tenn. He addressed the Ranger junior college graduates at commencement in 1929; delivered the baccalaureate sermons to the Cisco high school students in 1927 and 1930; the baccalaureate sermons for Carbon high school in 1926 and the Thurber high school in 1929. In 1930 he delivered the commencement address for the Thurber school.

He was instrumental in the organization of the oil belt B. Y. scout council and since its organization has served one year as scout commissioner and two years as chairman of the committees on awards of the council.

ELLIOTT BACK FROM LIONS CONVENTION

E. O. Elliott, president of the Cisco Lions club and delegate from his club to the international convention at Toronto, Canada, returned yesterday at noon from that convention. The Texas delegation which he accompanied was the largest of any at the convention, he said, numbering approximately 150 Lions, 140 of whom were on the special train with which he travelled.

The trip from start to finish was delightful said Mr. Elliott. En route to Toronto the special trainload of Texas men visited Chicago, Detroit, going through the huge Ford Motor company plant there, and Windsor, Canada, where they were treated royally. Windsor Lions heard of their presence in Detroit. Mr. Elliott said, and telephoned an invitation which the Texans accepted.

Returning Mr. Elliott spent several hours sightseeing at Niagara Falls, going through the tunnels back of the water fall. The trip to Niagara was made by boat.

New history was made for Texas Lionism at the convention, he said. A Texas man, Julian C. Hyer, was elected international president and the Texas program was put over in big style. Toronto gave the visitors a cordial reception.

Mr. Elliott said he noted in particular the banks in Toronto. They are innumerable, he said. The next international convention will be held in Los Angeles, California.

Parole Granted Stephens Co. Man

AUSTIN, July 20.—After serving nine years of a twenty-five year sentence for robbery and robbery by assault Tom Lane, was granted a general parole today by Gov. Ross Sterling. Lane was convicted in Stephens county in March 1922. The assistant district attorney who prosecuted Lane recommended clemency, saying: "No one was hurt and but little money obtained."

THREE HELD IN EASTLAND COUNTY JAIL

Jackie Henbest, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Henbest of Lueders, was fatally injured late Sunday night when her father's car in which she was riding, and another car collided head-on on the Bandhead highway about two miles west of Eastland. The child, with her head crushed and other parts of her body badly bruised, was evidently killed instantly as she was dead when taken from beneath the car. There was no one else seriously injured.

According to Mr. Henbest, W. R. King of Eastland had visited the Henbest family Sunday and in making the trip burned a bearing out of his car. Mr. Henbest and family brought King back to Eastland and were returning to Lueders about 11:30 p. m. when the accident occurred.

Bruce Butler of Eastland was among the motorists who happened along about the time of the accident and helped to take the Henbest car off the child. The other car that was in the wreck was said to have belonged in Abilene. Two men and a woman, Paul Walker, Grady Ford and Mrs. Dick McKinney, said to have been occupants of the car, were being held in the county jail this morning pending investigation of the accident.

Justice of the Peace Jim Stebbins said this morning that he would not allow bail in the case until he had had sufficient time to investigate. He also stated that no charges would be filed until a further investigation by the officers.

Dick McKinney went to Eastland this morning and offered to make bond for his wife.

The body of little Jackie is being held at an Eastland, undertaking parlor pending funeral arrangements.

STATESMEN GATHER TO AID GERMANY

LONDON, July 20.—The Statesmen of seven world powers assembled at the house of commons tonight for a historic conference at which in perhaps the greatest effort at international cooperation ever made, Germany's financial salvation will be attempted.

At the same time political peace in Europe will be sought with a mutual understanding between France and Germany that will enable them to bury their ancient enmity and distrust and live as good neighbors.

The conference was convened at 6:30 p. m. in the premier's room of the house of commons. The nations represented through their leading statesmen were Great Britain, the United States, France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Japan.

TWO FLIERS KILLED WHEN PLANES CRASH

NEW YORK, July 20.—Two army fliers jumped to safety in a spectacular air crash today but two other army colleagues met death near Hartford, Conn., according to advices received at Mitchell field today.

The dead are Second Lieut. Benjamin Lowery of Hempstead, L. I., and Corporal Harold S. Trostnyder, of Wichita, Kan.

Near Hartford the plane of Lowery and Trostnyder was in collision with the plane of Second Lieut. Francis X. Kelly of Brooklyn, N. Y., and his mechanic. Kelly and the mechanic jumped but the other two men were killed.

GILLESPIE COUNTY WOOL CLIP.

Gillespie county is the Hill County. It is the home of Major-Lawmaker Petsch. It is the country where the people diversify. They never place all their eggs in one basket. Now it is announced the wool season in Gillespie has closed. Five million three hundred thousand pounds were shipped to Boston. It may be true that there are more people in Texas than there are cows for the first time since the passing of the republic but how about the number of sheep and goats in Texas? There are goats in Gillespie county and mohair is a money maker. That is, the goat pays a dividend to his owner. Also the sheep.

CHAIN STORES AND THEIR COMPETITORS.

Chain stores and independent cooperative chains are making it interesting the country over. Indeed, rapid growth of cooperative grocery chains throughout the country, "to enable the independent retailers to meet the competition of centrally owned stores has been reported to the senate of the American congress by the federal trade commission." Total number of centrally owned chain stores was placed from 55,000 to 75,000 while the commission estimated that there were 395 cooperative grocery chains, having a membership of 53,400 stores. The report said that the 395 cooperative chains in 1929 transacted a volume of business estimated at between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000. It appears from the findings of the federal trade commission that the cooperative chains are making tremendous progress the country over and likewise it appears to be the old scheme of fighting fire with fire—that is, combination against combination.

FLOWERS FOR GOVERNOR MURRAY.

Charles N. Haskell, first governor of Oklahoma, has been making a tour of Texas. A San Antonio exchange let it be known that the first governor is a close friend and associate of Governor William H. Murray, the last governor to date. They worked together since 1906 when Oklahoma sought statehood. Statehood came and Haskell served as the first governor from 1907 to 1911. The first governor paid this tribute to the last governor:

"I think Bill Murray is the best governor Oklahoma ever had. He will scold you but he won't rob you."

Haskell served four years and his enemies failed to impeach him. They threatened but Haskell stood pat. Early in the reign of Governor Bill his enemies predicted that he would be impeached. Well, he has not been impeached. He is running four square to the political wind. He has scolded a number of his constituents, but they laugh and let it go at that. Governor Bill isn't an incident or an accident of a political nature. He lived and flourished in the old Indian Territory days. Now he appears to be more than holding his own in statehood days, but over-production of oil and under-production of price levels is giving the famous William a lot to think about and a great deal of worry. Having survived his Bolivia colony disaster it should be easy for him to get by in the land of the Soomers.

LARGEST STEEL PROJECT IN WORLD.

An American engineer, Arthur G. McKee of Cleveland, is supervising construction of a giant steel plant in Siberia, the largest of the Russian steel projects, and the largest project of the world under construction now. It is said the Soviet government hoped to make Magnitogorsk the largest steel plant in the world by Jan. 1, 1933, but did not complete arrangements for its construction until March, 1930. Another group of Cleveland engineers will sail from New York to join the group which sailed in June. In May last year, McKee and his first lieutenant were sent to the new steel city in Siberia, which is recognized as a great potential source of iron and steel. It is more than 1600 miles by rail from the Soviet capital, in close proximity to immense deposits of iron ore in an iron region worked for a century.

And the Federal Farm Board declined to sell 250,000 bales of cotton to Soviet Russia while American engineers and American manufacturers are supplying Dictator Stalin with the brains and the materials for his vast steel projects. This is a queer old world.

ON THE RIGHT ROAD.

Cotton acreage in Texas this year has been reduced 1,402,000 acres from that of 1930 and the increase in grain is 230,000 more than the decrease in cotton. Corn, wheat and oats increases this year totaled 1,632,000 acres. Cowpeas increased 30 per cent acreage; sweet potato acreage 35 per cent; Irish potatoes 18 per cent; and sweet sorghum for making syrup 18 per cent. These increases, according to experts, indicate more of a tendency on the part of farmers generally to live at home. Home canneries are never idle. But what about the vast decrease in the number of hogs in 10 years in a commonwealth where the people send their money to Missouri and Kansas for their bacon and their ham and their lard?

The Jap kills himself when he feels dishonored. The American does, too, but it takes a lot to make him feel that way.

"Humanizing" Hoover!

OTHER OPINIONS

COURTEOUS DRIVERS.

Frequently the greatest aid to highway safety would be education in highway courtesy.

There are very few courteous drivers of automobiles and trucks. It is difficult to explain, but it is fact nevertheless. Psychologists are studying the problem. Its lack of common, ordinary courtesy is undoubtedly the chief cause of all automobile accidents.

A gentleman, who, under a dining circumstances, would step aside to give a lady elbow room, when he is behind the wheel will crowd and even curse the lady who drives another car. And two gentlemen behind steering wheels appear to be natural enemies; the gentilities are gone; there is just a mad rush to get there first, and the devil take the hindmost. He frequently does.

Automobile associations, schools and newspapers should collaborate in teaching the courtesies of the highway. Drivers license laws, would do much to cut down the appalling toll of life, as might compulsory liability insurance laws. But the chief factor in highway safety is and always will be just common, every-day courtesy. — Editorial Digest.

In the Political Arena

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

George W. Wickersham is one of the eminent lawyers of America, a former attorney general of the United States, a former president of the American Bar association, and chairman and by voice of Pres. Hoover's law enforcement commission, which deals with crimes and criminals and the way to eliminate the forces of evil as well as recommend a court reform procedure from the top to the bottom rail of the American judiciary. Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings are life prisoners behind the bars of the California penitentiary. They were convicted years ago. After conviction they who believed them to be innocent of the crimes charged conducted a nation-wide investigation. Then it was that the "discovery" was made that state witnesses had perjured themselves and the cases against the men were looked upon as frame-ups by many of the leading lawyers of America and a vast number of people who insisted that the guilty should be punished but the innocent should be given their liberty in the trial courts of America.

Courts of California refused a new trial for the condemned men. Governors of California refused to give them the benefit of pardon or reprieve. The play has been going on for years. Now Chalm. Wickersham and his commission have had secured in say of the so-called miscarriage of justice. In a report to the president the commission denounced as "shocking to one's sense of justice" the laws under which the famous Mooney-Billings case was conducted. However, the commission made no direct recommendation that the case be reopened. In a comparatively brief discussion of the murky sentences given Mooney and Billings for the San Francisco bombing, the commission cited the refusal of the California supreme court "to grant a new trial despite the discovery of new evidence charging perjury on the part of a material witness for the state."

By the way, that material witness for the state confessed that he was a forger and had given false testimony. Again the commission in its report cited the refusal of the trial court of a further application based upon "the grounds that the prosecuting attorney had been guilty of fraud in withholding from the trial court information impugning the testimony of certain witnesses." Concerning the "state of law" the commission urged universal adoption of the proposed code of the American Law Institute. This would provide for the granting of a new trial with the discovery of evidence which might have altered the original verdict or upon proof that the prosecuting attorney had been guilty of misconduct.

There are 11 members of the Hoover commission counting its chairman. Ten signed the report which concluded that blame should be laid at the door of "incompetent, weak, or politics-ridden judges for much of the general complaint against this nation's "criminal procedure." It presented a plan that the public insist upon the complete divorce of the administration of justice from politics and that the selecting of judges and magistrates be made upon the ground of conspicuous fitness alone. Monte Lemann, a noted New Orleans lawyer, who declined to sign the prohibitory report, likewise refused to sign this document which denounced as "shocking to one's sense of justice the laws under which the famous Mooney-Billings case was concluded. He charged the report was made without sufficient research to back up the conclusions reached."

Mooney and Billings are behind the bars for life. James A. Rolph, governor of California, will he pardon or pardon the two convicts? It goes without argument that the Wickersham denunciation as "shocking to one's sense of justice" the court procedure in the famous cases will add fuel to the flame of the country over and there who believe that Mooney and Billings were railroaded will renew their efforts to force a rehearing in the courts of California or else people clamoring to the part of Gov. Rolph. They are members of the Wickersham commission who are federal judges of high standing. These jurists stand the report and one of the signers is Federal Judge Paul McCormick of the Golden Coast state.

ALL-IMPORTANT QUESTION IS SERMON THEME

The most important question in any person's life must be, "What must I do to be saved?" declared the Rev. Arthur Rathjen, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, yesterday morning in his sermon. He was preaching on the text, Acts 16:30-31.

"There are other important questions," said the pastor. "For example: What must I do in order to get on in this world? How should I manage my business or carry on my profession? How shall I best provide for my family? How shall I provide for my old age? How shall I obtain, or regain my health? All of these are important questions, indeed."

"But after all, these questions only pertain to this life; to things that benefit us only on this side of the grave; to things that positively must have an end some day; to things that we cannot take with us in death."

"However, there is a life after death. We have an immortal soul. There is a resurrection of the body. There is a judgment. There is an eternal retribution; an eternal life in glory and an eternal life in damnation. Scripture says: 'It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment.' And again: 'We must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that everyone may receive the things he has done in his body, whether they be good or bad.'"

"Can the questions, then, concerning our temporal life be the most important? Indeed not, for 'What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? The most important question, then, is: "What must I do to be saved?" How can I die a blessed death? How can I receive a merciful sentence on the day of reckoning?

"What is the answer to this all-important question? Paul says: Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved. What would many people have answered to this question? This: You must make good for the wrongs you have committed in the past. You must reform yourself. You must now begin to live honest and upright. You must conform your life to the law. You must abide by the golden rule.

"But that would not be the correct answer, nor would it have satisfied the jailer, who put the question. Suppose he would reform his life: that would not make good for the sins he had committed in the past. And the fact is, that every one would not keep the law as it must be kept in order to be saved. The law of God demands perfect obedience, in thoughts, desires, words and deeds. And since the fall of men into sin, it is impossible to keep the Law to that extent."

"No, Paul simply tells the jailer to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. Not one word regarding a reform. Not one word about keeping the law. The jailer should come just as he was a sinful, lost, condemned creature, pleading mercy and grace for Christ's sake."

"But you ask: How can faith in Christ save me? It is this way: Man sinned and became subject to God's wrath and condemnation. God had pity and compassion upon man and wanted to save him. But "as righteous and holy and His justice demands that sin be punished. So He devised a way in which He might justly punish sin, and yet redeem man. He laid the sins of the whole world upon His own Son, Jesus Christ. In man's stead, Christ fulfilled the law and endured the penalty, and thus He reconciled God with man. And so now, "Christ is being left for us to do, but to accept the salvation," which has been brought about. This we do by believing in Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world."

and my uncle became Chang Bunker. The twins were born about 60 miles from Bangkok, Siam, in 1811. When they were 18 an American ship captain saw them bathing in a river. Realizing what a curiosity they would be to the American public he arranged to bring them to New York. Barnum made them the feature attraction of his show and gave them widespread publicity.

Twins Wed Sisters.
Bunker remembers accompanying his father on several of these tours. Despite their huge incomes from these trips the twins' money disappeared rapidly. At the height of their wealth the twins married Sallie and Adelaide Yates, of Dutch and Irish descent.

"Sallie was my mother," Bunker says, "and she was a handsome woman and a fine Christian. She had a wonderfully good disposition. Father and his brother were married on the same day in a double ceremony. They each had farms and over half a mile apart. They would stay at our house three days and nights and then go to my uncle's house for three days and nights. Father had 11 children and Uncle Chang had 10."

Chang and Ing were born face to face but after they learned to walk they found it easier to get around sideways by side so they were almost always in that position.

They could chop wood, according to Bunker. "Father was on the right side and Chang on the left," he says, "so father would grasp the ax handle with his right hand and Uncle Chang would take hold with his left. As he was left-handed anyway that gave them a strong grip. At the table they would help each other eat the food, but each would feed himself."

Temperaments Differed
Despite their physical union the twins had different temperaments. Bunker's father, for instance, was fond of playing poker. Chang never could be persuaded to join the game but he was obliged to sit by until late hours at night while Ing enjoyed himself.

On a return trip from Europe in 1874 Ing awoke one morning and found Chang dead by his side. Half an hour later Ing also was dead. Surgeons found that the two men had a large artery in common and declared the old-fashioned operation to separate them would have proved fatal.

Bunker's descent to the almshouse is a brief story. He and a brother, James Monroe Bunker, went west and bought farms in Wenter county, Kansas. James died there several years ago. Patrick married and he and his wife had three sons and three daughters.

"One day my wife told me she wanted a divorce," Bunker says. "She asked for the custody of the children too. I said, 'Molly, you don't want to do that,' but she insisted on it."

"No man ever made anything lawing with his wife so I needed her farm and everything on it. After a while she married again and I reckon she set the children against me. Anyhow they don't come to see me. I knew where some of them were for a while but now I've lost track."

A few years ago, after doing odd jobs around Medicine Lodge for a living, Bunker walked into the room in which the county commissioners were meeting and surprised them by laying $100 before them and saying, "I don't believe I have long to live. There's my savings. I wish you'd take it and give me a home for my remaining years."

The commissioners refused to take the money but did give the former farmer a home. He has lived there ever since.

Heart of Liane

by MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Barrett, actress in a New York stock company, is glad to see her young daughter, Liane, out of the city for the summer. At Stream, L. I. Cass plays a water polo game and Fanny Devenant, a faculty member, meets a fascinating man named Van. Other girls who are out to see more of the city are going to search for Muriel's debutante who is believed to have eloped with Chuck Debenant.

Back in the city, Elsie Minter has turned up late. Liane is about Van and Muriel's whereabouts. The girl is crushed.

Liane goes on tour in the fall with Mrs. Cless. When she is taken seriously ill in Philadelphia, Liane goes to her home, Rhode Island, where she hears of the death of her mother. She returns to Cleveland, Ohio, and is taken care of by her father.

Fanny and her sister, Lord, come to visit. Fanny is hateful to Liane. Fanny informs him that she is to be married. Liane tells her mother of her engagement and she is pleased.

CHAPTER XXII

An office boy brought in a card from the shifty-eyed man in the chair. The shifty-eyed man ran his grimy finger across the forehead and told her to come in.

She did not rise. His lids drooped, and he stared at her. He pretended she had not come.

"What's on your mind now?" he asked in a hoarse, throaty voice.

"I have what I call a hot tip," she said. "I know you don't care for the sheet or good for nothing."

boredom at the Garrisons. Get me out of it. I must see Hinty in his little green shorts. They say he's the cutest thing."

Fanny Amberton, having listened to quite enough of this, began to draw on her gloves.

"No, don't get up, Van, I'm just running over to speak to Lady Devenant. Hold the check for me. Tress, I'll be back in a moment."

Muriel drawled, "I see you on a new face, Van. See you on the Madison Street side in a jiffy."

He started to make his farewells, but Tress halted him. "Mind stopping for a minute, Van? Muriel will take ages doing her mouth with lip red."

He turned his dark, curiously inscrutable gaze upon her.

Tress smiled. "Do sit down. Fanny will be back in a minute but there's something I particularly want to say to you."

GERMAN CRISIS IS AFFECTING STOCK PRICES

In his weekly review of business and financial conditions The Wall Street Journal says:

Price movements in the main body of stocks during the past week were influenced principally by developments in the German credit situation. Since worked gradually lower at the start of the week when it became evident that solution of Germany's difficulties would require considerably more time than had seemed likely previously.

Announcement had been made of the closing of one of Berlin's largest banks, with deposits of about $750,000,000 at the end of last year. This heightened the financial crisis until it became necessary to close all the banks in Germany, and suspend trading on the Berlin Bourse. These developments resulted in a depression of the Berlin market.

Generally speaking, it was felt that the commercial and industrial outlook at home had been obscured by the difficulties which followed the first enthusiasm over the Hoover plan. Reduced volume on the Stock Exchange as the week drew to a close reflected the disposition to withhold commitments until a line could be obtained on how investors would react to final settlement of the German credit problems.

Uncertainty regarding immediate prospects also found reflection in further reduction in steel output. Operations sagged to 31 per cent from 32 per cent the preceding week, and further irregularity appeared in the price situation, especially in steel products being exported in the building trades where competition is especially keen.

Despite the low level of operations

Nature Aid to Science on Course

TEXARKANA, July 20.—Because of its rolling fairways and ideal natural topography, Texarkana Country club's 18-hole golf layout, over which the Texas amateur tournament will be held in 1932, is being completed by the Arkansas Golf association as the site for the Arkansas open next June.

The greatest golf architects of the nation Langford and Mores of Chicago, designed the course. A variety of conditions confront the golfer. Hole No. 5 is a par four, 375-yard jump. A lake on the right provides a penalty for slices while the lake bank 150 and 200 yards from the tee.

The next hole is a water shot, and a direct drive means a ball for the fishes. On the left a jungle of trees provides a voracious maw which has swallowed many an out-shot. The hole is 190 yards and carries a par three. Holes 3, 6, 11, 13 and 17 are the only holes not having a dog-leg.

she announced, ignoring Fanny's cold politeness. Poor Fanny who was always abysmally out of sorts when she was hungry.

"Where's there behind that woman in the purple hat? Did you ever see such a headpiece? It's positively pre-war!"

Fanny who had not consumed her soup giggled. She was mollified by the sight of that ridiculous hat. It made her own seem brilliant.

"Oh, but that's Lady Devenant. She can get away with clothes like that."

Tress shrugged. "She looks like a horse."

"Yes, but doesn't she? She's a quaint old piece. Frightfully rich. She asked Bill and me to stay at her place in Surrey once years ago but Bill had flu and we couldn't go. I was terrifically disappointed."

Tress wasn't listening. Fanny rambled on. "Look, Tress, I'll stop at her table as we go out. She's taken a marvelous place at Palm Beach for January. The biggest one there is the one with the most gilt on the roof. Perhaps she'll ask us. You'd like that, wouldn't you?"

"No, not a bit. Besides, I don't think I shall be leaving New York so early."

Fanny was so horrified she put down her knife and fork which she took pains to handle in what is known as the continental manner.

"So early? What on earth do you mean? You know how desolate town is after Christmas. Why, you were saying just yesterday that you hoped we could break away before that!"

"I know but I've changed my mind," Tress smiled enigmatically.

Fanny sniffed. "Of all the insane notions! What have you got up your sleeve?"

"Nothing at all, Dr. yes, perhaps I want to stay for the Beaux Aysball. I haven't been since the year I came out. They say it's a grand party."

Fanny planted her elbows firmly on the table and took a sip of water from a glass of sapphire color.

"Now, Tress, Lord, don't dare to look me in the eye and talk such nonsense. I know you're not going to hang around New York for any such silly reason. What is it all about? You might as well tell me."

Tress frowned in annoyance. "You DO make a fuss about nothing for me."

Fanny brushed this away as irrelevant. "I know you and Eva's going to be beloved when we take ourselves off. I shouldn't dare to broach the subject of any such extended visit. She'll be busy this winter if her plans work out as she thinks."

Lazily Tress announced, "Oh, you needn't broach the subject at all. Trust me. I'll have Eva bringing me to stay. You needn't hang around unless you want to. Go south if you like and I—well, maybe I'll join you later."

Fanny shook her head in perplexity. "It's all beyond me. For many days now you've been raving to be up and away. You said it was unendurable to stay at Eva's with that girl lordling it over you although where you get that crazy notion I can't think. She's the pleasantest person imaginable."

"Don't start on that again," Tress snapped.

But Fanny was persistent. "I shall if I like. I'm frankly baffled. I'd almost got round to buying our tickets for the south."

"Well, don't. At least, don't buy one for me."

She erased the frown for a smile as Van and Muriel approached their table. "Stop a minute, Fanny and I are boring each other stiff. We long for a bit of gossip to cheer us up."

Muriel sat down with a clatter of bracelets and vanity boxes. "Don't know a thing. Sorry! Everyone's dead. Give me a cigarette somebody."

Van produced one and conversation halted as it was lighted.

"What," Fanny Amberton inquired maliciously, "did girls say to men before they learned to ask for cigarettes?"

"They pointed," Van told her promptly. "Or they blushed and bridled."

"Not a blush or a bridle in the lot of 'em now, more's the pity," Fanny remarked briskly.

Muriel had slumped back in her seat, looking extraordinarily like a painted doll. She had a taste for the faintly bizarre in clothes and today she looked like the girl on the Christmas posters. She wore a short jacket of white fur and close fitting white fur hat. In this frame her sharply etched highly colored little face looked impudent and unreal.

"This is the most poisonous town!" she drawled. "Can't think why anyone lives here. Van, take me to Cannes, won't you?"

"At once?" Muriel held the amused superciliousness of an adult for a troublesome child.

"Well, tomorrow, anyway."

"Sorry, I have a board meeting tomorrow."

Muriel forgot her drawl for an instant and became all sparkle and gaiety. She bowed to a burly man in a blue suit who had been waiting for hours. She smiled good-humoredly, dipped at one or two places to know how hard it is to get place in this traffic.

She held up two fingers and Muriel rushed toward them.

"Let us see a menu," she demanded pettishly. "I'm starving."

Fanny refused to let her sister's pleas spoil the delicious luncheon she was presently ordered. She chattered animatingly. When two or three people she saved to them.

Fanny and Muriel.

SOX SUFFER FIRST DEFEAT OF SEASON

Mr. Sweet of the Fort Worth All-Stars limited the Red Sox to one score hit through the nine innings while his mates collected ten hits behind him to win out the Cincinnati 2-1. The game was played on a mud field. The field had been gotten in pretty good condition when another down-pour came about four o'clock and wet the ground until it made footing uncertain and heavy. Lefty Purvis started the game for the Red Sox and was hit hard but even at that the game would probably have gone into extra innings had not Baker found a fast ball to his liking and parked it over the left field fence and untying the score. The Red Sox scored first in their half of the first inning when Van Horn walked, J. Pippen sacrificed him to second, he went to third when Alfond was thrown out at first and came home on a wild-pitch by the pitcher. It was all that knocked Sweet out of a no-run game. For Sweet tied the score in the second when the pitcher doubled to start. King and Granade singled in succession. Paschall scoring on Granade's single. In their half of the ninth the Red Sox made a desperate effort to score. Alfond first man up hit a line drive to left field that King caught, nearly against the backstop. The throw lined one out that blew foul then he was walked. He went to third on two wild pitches by Sweet. H. Pippen hitting for Bucy rolled out to the pitcher to end the game and to give the Red Sox their first loss of the year after 26 straight wins.

Fort Worth has agreed to give the Red Sox another chance at it next Sunday when they will return for another game here. The Red Sox will meet them again later in their half of the first game if that is possible. Cisco will be out for revenge on Mr. Sweet and his knuckle ball.

Nature Lovers Seek Study of Bird Life

DALLAS, July 20.—Publication of a two volume survey of bird life in Texas, prepared by Dr. Harry C. Oberholser, noted ornithologist, has been under-written by nature lovers in Texas.

Some species of bird life, such as the passenger pigeon, which were well known when Dr. Oberholser began his work 20 years ago, are now extinct.

There are 615 species of birds in Texas, the largest number in any state with the exception of California, where 636 species have been found.

Nature Lovers Seek Study of Bird Life

DALLAS, July 20.—Publication of a two volume survey of bird life in Texas, prepared by Dr. Harry C. Oberholser, noted ornithologist, has been under-written by nature lovers in Texas.

Some species of bird life, such as the passenger pigeon, which were well known when Dr. Oberholser began his work 20 years ago, are now extinct.

There are 615 species of birds in Texas, the largest number in any state with the exception of California, where 636 species have been found.

NAOMI, NOT RUTH, HEROINE, SAYS PASTOR

"The mother-in-law can be a home make or a home breaker," Rev. H. D. Tucker declared last night in his message at the First Methodist church.
The message was based on the theory of Ruth and Naomi and among other things, the Rev. Mr. Tucker said: "The book of Ruth is one of the most beautiful pieces of literature the world has ever known. It is bubbling over with love and loyalty. The confession of Ruth to Naomi is one of the choicest live stories of all writings."
"Choices made today strangely shape for future events," Mr. Tucker said in discussing the marriage of Ruth and Boaz. "Out of this marriage away down the line came the Saviour of the world," he said.
"Naomi was the heroine of this beautiful love story," he declared

15,000 COAL MINERS VOTE UPON STRIKE

TEXARKANA, July 20.—List among the unsung heroes of this world the name of Douglas Harrison, 37-year-old painter.
"Hard times" have dulled not a whit Harrison's ambition to work, despite the fact that the loss of two vertebrae have deprived him of the use of his body from the waist down. Harrison fell from a false floor in a building where he was painting and suffered an impacted spine. Surgeons removed two vertebrae, and kept him flat on his back for six months.
A suit for damages against his employers failed. But Harrison finds some profit and much enjoyment in his garden which provides the family table with a quantity of food.
Sweaty arms and hands were not affected by his fall, and Harrison is now seeking vocational training for a job, which would make him "the happiest man in the world."

Paralytic Eager to Join Labor Ranks

SCRANTON, Pa., July 20.—Revel in the Pennsylvania coal industry against alleged attempts at wage reductions by mine operators spread today in the anthracite territory where 15,000 workers, employees of the Pittston company, large coal producers, voted on a strike proposal endorsed by leaders of the United Mine Workers of America.
The strike vote was being taken in 13 local unions of the miners' organization. Ballots will be cast today and tomorrow and Wednesday the representatives of the workers will meet for a final decision.
NEW DISORDERS
ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., July 20.—Mine strike disorders broke out anew today in the bituminous fields of eastern Ohio and western West Virginia, bringing a mobilization of officers to the affected areas.

A MILLION FOR BRIDGES

SLATON, July 20.—Nine major river bridges are on the program for the rehabilitation of the old Kansas City, Mexico and Orient, now a part of the Santa Fe with work completed on six and the rest to be finished this year. The Santa Fe this year is spending a million dollars on its bridge program. The old Orient lines in Texas, Oklahoma, to San Angelo. ### Scores Watch Daring Robbery

CHICAGO, July 20.—Four bandits, armed with shotguns and pistols, held up the west side Atlas National bank today, lined up 20 employees and patrons along the wall and escaped with approximately $7,000 in cash.
Scores of persons looked in the windows of the bank while the robbery was in progress. The bandits took all the cash in the five cashiers cages but were unable to gain entrance to the vaults.

It's no accident that Chesterfield wins and holds its smokers.
Riper, milder, sweeter-tasting tobaccos and purer cigarette paper can't be bought.
And Chesterfield cigarettes are made right. Each type of tobacco used in the Chesterfield blend must pass rigid laboratory tests for mildness, flavor and aroma. No purer cigarette can be made!

Try them. You'll find every Chesterfield like every other. In taste, evenness of burning, smoothness and coolness.
Milder? Plenty milder! And that goes for the "nightcap" Chesterfield as well as the morning "eye-opener"!
