Due to New Year's Day falling on Friday, the News Review will be published next week on Wednesday so that papers may be delivered before the holidays.

Correspondents are urged to please take note and send their newsletters in no later than Monday. Other contributors and advertisers are also urged to have copy in by Monday.

During the holidays, Hico homes will be full of visitors and residents are urged to call the News Review and give an account of their visitors and visits. News of holiday guests will be carried in next week's issue, but should be called in early due to the Friday holiday.

SANTA CLAUS WON'T VISIT NAUGHTY ONES

Santa Claus knows all, sees all, and hears all, and the person or persons who set fire to the Christmas tree in downtown Hico Saturday night shouldn't expect the jolly old gentleman to visit their house this year.

Apparently the "spirits" of Christmas was a bit early coming to the unscrupulous persons who would commit such an act.

The tree, humble as it might have been, was heavily damaged by the blaze.

However, if St. Nick was too busy in his preparations for his annual visits around the world to rotice the vandalism, perhaps the person's conscious will take care of whatever punishment the old gentleman might have given them. P.S. The FFA boys removed the charred tree this week.
