New LVN Class Started Here February 10 at Hico City Hospital

Mrs. Rachel Addison, Mrs. Dorothy Cryer, Mrs. Nell Ogle, and Mrs. Gladys Ramey, all of Hico, are students enrolled in the Licensed Vocational Nurses training school which began at Hico City Hospital February 10.

The students will complete the 12-month training program Feb. 9, 1968, and will be eligible to go before the State Board in March of that year.

This is the eighth such program that the local hospital has been active in. The hospital was among the first in the state to offer the program. Twenty-eight LVN's have been graduated from the school, sent to the State Board, and received their licenses since the program was begun in 1954.

Mrs. Jimmie Morrison is instructor of the current school, as she has been of each of the others conducted at the hospital.

The school, which offers a well-rounded program for LVN training and which will qualify the student for all phases of nursing services, incorporates 510 hours of classroom study, with the remainder of the 12 months devoted to clinical experience or on the job training, to qualify them for the state examination.

The class is being conducted in the new, well-equipped, state approved classroom in the new addition of the hospital.

had misty weather during the but only .1 inch of mois- our rain gauge, as the ice cked the vial. But feel sure t have much more than .1. and acquaintances here Bob Hancock of Hico were to learn of his untimely st Friday, Mr. Hancock was mmissioner in precinct 3 for er of years, and made many during his time in office. He man who was industrious and was not just overseeing the working crew but was always on the job right along with the hands. We feel sure the men who were employed with him back in those days will call to mind many pleasant memories of their work together. We extend deepest sympathy to the bereaved wife, daughters and families and other relatives at this time of sorrow.

Mr. L. V. Houser will report to Scott & White Hospital Wednesday where he is expected to undergo surgery. All extend best wishes for a successful operation and speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl King spent the weekend at Ballinger where they visited their mothers, Mrs. Edna King and Mrs. Midgley and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Parks and Becky visited during the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Parks and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Streater.

We are sorry to report the misfortune of Mr. and Mrs. Garlon Streater who lost their ranch home and contents by fire about 11:30 a.m. Thursday of last week.

Mr. Streater and a friend were sitting in a pickup north of the house when Mr. Streater noticed a flash of something like dust pass in the air. The next flash was black. They jumped and ran to the back door and when he entered he could see the blaze going up the wall back of the electric cook stove. He ran to the phone to call for help and the phone was out. He hurried back and thought he would try to throw some water on the flames and could get no water as they have an electric pump and the electricity had been cut off. We understand he then grabbed a few articles of clothing and raced outside. The house was burned completely to the ground in about 20 minutes as there was a pretty stiff breeze blowing. The Streeters lost their home by fire at the same location about 28 years ago. That time they did save the family pictures and some other treasured items. This time they lost all the pictures, and the son, Keith's trophies and many other treasured awards he and other members of the family had received. Mrs. Streater had worked in Hamilton that morning and was coming in for lunch when she saw the smoke and knew it was at their home, but was almost enveloped in flames by the time she got there. The home was located about a mile east of the Leon River south of Highway 22. We understand the Streeters plan to rebuild at the same location. The highway dept. has cleared the grounds. A double garage had been added to the east side of the dwelling a few years ago, and fortunately Mrs. Streater was away in the car and Mr. Streater had been out in the pickup and it was away from the house. Our deepest sympathy is extended to them at this time of misfortune. A miscellaneous shower will be given them this Thursday night at the Park Heights Church of Christ in Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Davis of Iredell visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Wayne Turner visited Saturday night in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Parks. He is in the army and stationed at Fort Hood.

We were very sorry to learn of the passing of Mr. Don Cameron, 71 of Meridian, who died recently. Funeral services were held at Meridian Feb. 11 with burial in the Meridian Cemetery. He was born in Hamilton County, May 30, 1895 to the late Donald Cameron and Isabella McIntire Cameron. In early manhood he affiliated with St. Marys Church in Hamilton. He served his country in France during World War I, was a Mason and was in the lumber business 51 years, most of the time in Meridian. Part of this time he operated his own business from a wheel chair due to being a victim of arthritis. Despite his handicap he was always jolly and courteous to his customers. Mr. Cameron was preceded in death by his parents, two sisters and two brothers. Survivors include his wife, the former Eugenia Youree; a daughter, Mrs. C. D. Anderson, Austin, 2 grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Lester Adams of Ireland. Mr. Cameron's father is buried at the Fairy Cemetery. We were told by a dear old pioneer friend, the late Mrs. Brittie Little, that his father was killed in a storm while living on the Flvnn Ranch near the home of Mrs. Little's mother, Mrs. Dickerson. She said he was out at the barn when the storm struck and that Mr. Cameron was carried across the pasture, being rolled in the gravel and dirt until it was impossible to get all the grit from his beard, which most men wore in those days, when being prepared for burial. We were at the Cameron lumber yard in the early fifties for a load of shingles and showed him several pictures we had made while working on the former Carl Sellers home which was moved recently to Carlton. He said he would like to have us have him some made. We believe we let him have the ones we had along with us. He said he wanted to string them up and hang them in his office just to show people what could be done to improve the looks of a home with a little work and expense. Mr. Sellers and this scribe felt it was far more than a little work as we had winter months and wrecked our house and pulled lumber from ice and snow during the ordeal. But it is true much can be done to improve the home by a little time, effort and expense.

Speaking of home improvements, the Willie Turners have been doing just that. The sons and sons-in-law and also a brother-in-law have been helping out on weekends. They turned the front porch into a dining room by boxing it in, building the floor up to a level with the kitchen and have a kitchen cabinet partially finished. They have installed a new electric range and are also redecorating the interior of the rest of the house and will add a double carport on the west end. When all is completed they will enjoy the fruits of their labor when the family get together on weekends.

Mrs. Ray Turner and Keith and Kimberly of Killeen visited Friday through Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers and Janice. Ray joined them Saturday. Other visitors during the weekend were Jimmie Don Sellers and Miss Glenda Spencer of Hamilton.

The Ray Turners also visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Turner. Other guests in the home Sunday were Rev. and Mrs. Bob Ray and family of Fort Worth.

Jerry Richardson of Fort Worth visited during the weekend with homefolks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bolstad, Glenn and D'Ann of Houston spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoover.

We stated in last weeks news that a birthday dinner at the Glenn Arrant home in Fort Worth was in honor of his birthdate, but it was in honor of his mother, Mrs. Ted Arrant instead. Sorry we misunderstood.

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Willeford and Delia spent last Saturday in Waco with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Harold Perry.

Mr. and Mrs. Truett New and family of Fort Worth visited during the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie New.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Gardner and Randy spent the weekend at Edna with their daughter and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Don Barnett and family and helped celebrate the birthdate of little Kevin Barnett.

We would appreciate those who have news to call us. It would save us many unnecessary phone calls.

The Hamilton singers met last Thursday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mason for choir practice. They plan to meet this Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jones at Gatesville and Mar. 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Pruitt, who recently bought a piano in order that the class could come to their home for practice.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Miller of Fort Worth visited awhile Monday afternoon with her mother, Mrs. M. E. Parks.

We have been unable to contact some by phone for news.

Birthdays for March that we have are: H. S. Sumerford, March 1; Mrs. M. C. Anderson, Mar. 2; Bobby and Babara Sellers, March 10, all of Hamilton; Mrs. O. H. Brummett and J. T. Jackson, Mar. 6; Don Spencer, Lubbock, March 5; Grant Brummett, March 7; Dorsey Enger of Corpus Christi, Mar. 8; Mr. and Mrs. Texie Allison of Dublin, March 14 and 26; Mrs. George Stringer of Crane, March 13; and Mrs. W. E. Goynes and E. M. Hoover, March 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mason attended singing at Center City Sunday.

WASHINGTON—

As It Looks From Here

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C.
17th District, Texas

Washington, D.C.—The flack and flap over the public disclosure of the subsidization of a number of organizations by the Central Intelligence Agency has been thick and fast these past two weeks.

The director of the CIA was scheduled in advance of this recent publicity to make a periodic report to my Committee. His appearance had nothing to do with the revelation that the CIA, acting through a number of foundations, was contributing funds to certain student, labor and church groups and other organizations with international activities. The Director was to brief the Committee on political conditions around the world as related to our own self interest. Inevitably, however, Committee members' first questions were about the immediate news of the Central Intelligence Agency's operations.

My concern as expressed to the Director was not a criticism of the CIA's purposes and intent but rather whether we had received our money's worth.

In this situation, "Money's worth" cannot be measured in yards, inches, pounds or gallons. It must be measured by the intangible accomplishments of the CIA in combating the ideological advances of Communism.

The "cold war" is as real today as it ever was. In fact by reason of the great scientific advances; by reason of great strides in transportation and communication, our world gets smaller and smaller. As a result, people are closer and closer together. To relax our guard and not be knowledgeable of the Communist conspiracy at home and abroad is to fail in our duty as a Nation to meet the threat.

We live in a world in which ugly mobism is only "democratic protest" in the opinion of some. We see today public officials barely saved from physical violence when facing the beatnik and peacenik; a world in which every agency of Government entrusted with this country's physical security is physically attacked and smeared; in which night is day and truth is falsehood and patriotism has become a sour note.

On March 12, 1964, this column referred to the great influence of students in foreign countries. The university student in Latin America for instance has always carried prestige different from that in our own Country. Presently, however, "campus demonstrations" whose leaders openly wear the symbol of communism are coddled and publicized here at home. Now that there is publicity about the attempt of the CIA to have the true spirit of America reported by patriotic students meeting with other students in foreign countries, a few of our "great thinkers" worry about the "integrity of American education."

1700 students at Stanford University listened in civilized fashion to the Vice President of the United States speak on the Vietnam situation. A mob of 300 outside his car called him a war criminal and shouted that well known slogan "Burn Baby Burn." The decent conduct of the 1700 was not news. There is comfort in steps taken, as small as they may be, to prevent total capture of the international student movement by the Communists.

Fractured 'Filosophy...

By J. Rayford Wooton

One hundred years ago, March 1, 1867, my paternal grandfather hired to a man who had a contract to haul corn for the government from the railroad in Waco to an Army outpost located between Canyon and Amarillo. Granddad had to agree to work a year at a time, and he would not get paid until the end of the year. He was to get $6.00 monthly, plus his food and bed. Of course his bed was a blanket roll, and was slept on wherever night might overtake the ox wagon caravan.

There were some sixty or seventy wagons, each wagon was drawn by six oxen, and the load consisted of about 70 bushels of shelled corn. The wagon box was covered by a wagon sheet to protect the corn from the weather. A supply box was mounted on the rear of each wagon. In this box each driver kept his bed roll, clothing, and any other personal needs he might have. Chuck wagons traveled along with the freight wagons, and the cooks drove their own wagons. The drivers walked along beside his lead yoke of oxen, and by use of a bull whip, a check rein, and rather a colorful vocabulary, he was able to keep the oxen in line with the wagon train. The caravan covered a distance of 15 to 18 miles a day, and it took almost three months to make a round trip. Camp was made wherever night overtook the caravan. The wagons were drawn up to make a circle to provide a corral for the oxen at night, and to give protection in case of attack by Indians or outlaws.

Grandad had fought in the Civil War on the side of the Confederacy, and at the close of the war the South was bankrupt, and one had to do whatever he could to get a new start in life. The whole country was in a state of disruption, and very little trust could be placed in anyone. One had to be very careful about choosing friends, as you had no way of knowing whom you might be associating with. Crime of every kind was being done by people in all walks of life, and this forced a respectable person to stay pretty well to himself.

However, granddad had made friends with one man in the wagon train. Each evening granddad and his friend passed away the time by playing card games. Throughout the whole year granddad had been able to be much the better player of the two, and almost always won the games he and his friend indulged in. Of course no one had any money, and the games were played just to pass the time, and for pleasure.

Granddad planned to work one year with the corn hauling, and when he got his $72.00 for the year's work, he would be able to do something else. This much money would give him a start toward doing something for himself. The year passed by, and each man was paid $72.00 in gold for his work. Just as soon as the men had received their pay, granddad's friend insisted on playing cards, this time for money, as they both now had money. Granddad tried to tell his friend it could not be a fair game, and he did not want to win his hard earned money, but the man continued to insist they have "a game anyway. Finally granddad consented to join in the game with his friend and the lesson he learned was long to be remembered.

The man who had pretended to be his friend for the past year, and who granddad had been able to beat with all ease in cards, showed himself to be a very shrewd card player and cleaned granddad out very quickly.

Granddad had now lost his year's work, and the other fellow had doubled his pay with granddad's loss. There was only one thing to do, sign up to haul corn for another year, and be sure no one had the chance to get his pay the next time. This he did, and the lesson learned was worth the price, granddad insisted, as long as he lived.

Linda was awarded first place, and Denna second place. The boy's prose reading division will be represented by Mike Davis, who won third place in the regional contest last year.

Boy's Poetry Interpretation was won by Frank Bonner, and Jim Lackey placed second.

The debate team this year is composed of Cherry Ramage and Steve Knudson, both juniors, who will accompany all first place winners to Boerne, Texas to an Interscholastic League Workshop, to be held March 11.

All of the students who competed would like to especially thank Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Walker for their greatly needed assistance, and Mrs. Braune, Mrs. Johanson, Mrs. Brummett and Mrs. Walker, who served as judges.

COUPLE OF THE WEEK

The couple this week is a senior boy and girl. The girl is about 5 feet 3 inches tall, with brown hair and eyes. She is always found in a jolly mood, which makes up her great personality. She was an active basketball player except when her knee was hurt, and an active pep squad member. Presently she is a member of the Drama Club. The boy stands about 5 feet nine inches, has black hair and brown eyes. He, also has a wonderful personality. He was a member of the basketball and football teams, and is also a member of the Drama Club. He is president of the senior class and student council.

The couple this week is a very well matched one, and I'm sure you all have guessed that it is Nellye Wolfe and Ronnie Hefer.

PERSONALITY PLUS

The personality this week is a sophomore girl. She is about 5 feet 6 inches tall and has brown hair and brown eyes. She was a cheerleader, and is a member of the Drama Club. She can usually be heard before she is seen, but she is almost always seen with Vickie Polk. This girl drives a '57 white Chevy. By now I am sure you know that our personality this week is Louise "Nola" Fail.

SEEN AROUND—

Vickie K. with an earache, nie B. looking pretty as ever, lyn W. having a new jacket, bara C. with some new books, da B. with a polka-dot raincoat, Dwain G. and Ronnie H. with fancy things Tuesday night, lye W. eating one side of a pop, Denna M. eating one side of another lollipop, Jim B. going to the Ring-a-Dings, P. being sickly, John F. secrets, Paula L. tearing her hair while playing baseball, Vick with the Cajun, Cahty C. on her Science Project, yelling louder when told, wearing a white dress with a bow, Cherry R. saying "she's shot at"; Nancy D. being herself with her same S.B.; with whoever you were with day; Bobby B. getting hit on head; Judy D. running into while going to first base.

WHAT IS WINNING?

What really is winning? Is it the blue ribbon or the big end of scoreboard? Is it showing one you're the best? Is it that victory brings? Is it contained in the best alone, chosen few who excel or just their way to the top? Actually, winning is not a material thing. It cannot be or really even seen. It is felt within and lingers for an Real winning is knowing that have learned from an experience and won again in the game

The Hico 4-H Club met Monday night, February 20 in the Youth Center in Hico. Eldon Black, president, presided over the meeting. There were 17 members present. Mr. Tom Odom speak on being safety.

Vinyl fabrics are "in", especially for rainy day fashions. Vinyls are available in prints, solids, plaids and checks. There are three different types of vinyl fabrics currently on the market—clear, knit back and woven back. All of vinyls are solid films, but because of the different backings, they behave differently. The knit vinyl is more flexible than woven and clear.

When you select a pattern for a vinyl fabric, choose a simple design with a minimum of seaming. Remember that vinyl fabric cannot be eased. Vinyls do not require interfacing or lining. If you may want to use lining make it easier to put on and take off the garment.

When you pin your pattern to vinyl, be sure that all of the pins are placed in the seam allowance. Holes cannot be removed from vinyl fabric. You may wish to tape the pattern to the fabric instead of using pins. Vinyls cannot be pressed with an iron, so finger press as you make garment. Use a mercerized cotton thread and a medium stitch (22 stitches per inch) and medium needle to sew on vinyl. If the vinyl sticks to the throat plate of the machine, place tissue paper under the fabric.

A double top-stitched welt seam or a plain seam that is top-stitched on both sides of the seam line are best for vinyl fabrics. For a wale—a top-stitched lap seam may be used. Darts may be finger-pressed or cut open and top-stitched for a smooth, flat finish. Six to eight stitches per inch is best for top-stitching.

A variety of closures are suitable for vinyl garments. Bound buttonholes can be used on knit back and woven fabrics. On clear and woven back vinyls, machine worked buttonholes are successful. Hand worked buttonholes can be used on knit back vinyls.

Never wash eggs before storing them. Washing removes the natural protective coating which keeps air and foreign odors from entering the shell.

Dates to Remember:
March 9: Home Demonstration Council, 1:30 p.m.
March 9: Food Leader Training following council.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd McClure were in Morgan Saturday night to visit with his nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lee McNaughton and family. Mr. McNaughton was home on a 10-day leave from Vietnam.

Parallel Terraces Offer Advantages to Farmer

By BONNIE HARRIS
Work Unit Conservationist

Farmers who have been told they are poor. Many of their friends and neighbors are convinced too, and they are working to get their minds. The skeptic is interested but doesn't want it known while a few critics still say, "They won't work on my farm." These differences of opinion are heard where farmers meet and talk about parallel terraces. By now everyone should have heard of parallel terraces, their theory, advantages and use. It came first as a landowner, landless, tenant or administrator have not received this information, the story deserves repeating for your benefit.

The man who actually farms the land can really appreciate the following advantages of parallel terraces. First, rows are eliminated or reduced over the conventional terrace systems. This means less turning on crops, easier land preparation, faster cultivation and less wear and tear of farm machinery. It means also, that waste resulting from machine harvesting is reduced and that harvesting can be accomplished faster. The horizontal spacing between terraces is such that multiples of four, six or eight rows are between terraces. This allows modern multi-row equipment to be used to best advantage and also allows the acreage between terraces to be computed easily for allotment programs. The faster grades used with parallel terraces provide excellent drainage during periods of wet weather. These grades are used to eliminate the wet spots and water takes often associated with some older conventional terrace systems now on the ground. With parallel terraces, all rows with slopes toward closer spaced outlets tend to drain without row breaking and cause washing of silt into the terrace channels.

The landless or landowner has been able to see many advantages to parallel terracing even though he may not farm the land himself. Parallel terracing gives a means of protecting the land against erosion damage while providing the tenant with a row system he can easily farm. In this way the better tenants can be held on the land and the best returns maintained or increased.

Waterway construction for parallel terracing usually costs less than that for conventional systems. It's true that more waterways are required but their cost of construction is normally less. Two waterways 30 feet wide cost less to construct than one waterway 60 feet wide, but take the same area of land out of cultivation. Future maintenance expenses for waterways and terraces are reduced with parallel terrace systems. Since each waterway carries less water, large washouts are less likely to occur. Terrace maintenance costs are less because of shorter terrace lengths and less water draining to a safe outlet.

Even the inactive landowner or speculator can realize a monetary benefit from protecting his land with parallel terraces. A good system of parallel terraces with adequate waterway outlets will increase the per acre value of a farm. The demand for such farms is high because these farms have adequate protection from erosion and they are easier to farm. Even land devoted to full time production of drilled, sown or annual grazing crops will increase in value if parallel terraced and adapted to easy row crop farming.

Parallel terracing, as any worthwhile enterprise, requires detailed planning to obtain the best possible row system. This planning takes time for securing information and designing the system. Contact your local Soil Conservation Service Work Unit through your local Hamilton-Coryell District to start the planning process on your land now.

For those who still think it can't be done, during the last six months 1225 feet of parallel terraces have been installed in the Hamilton Work Unit area.

BOWLING ALONG...

By BETTY BALLENGER
League Secretary

The pins were falling for some and staying up for others which caused quite a few upsets. Among those hitting was Jim Bullard carrying off a 25-00 and Watt Ross a 170 game, but due to some mistakes, they lost to Gemini 4 by a 3-1 count. Pat Ross found the road for a 20-00. Jim Janssen a 100 game and Glenn Ross a 100.

F-W Ranch had Deneil back on the ball this week and helped in bringing his team to a 4-0 victory over the Drop Outs. It wasn't easy as Joyce Anderson was scattering pins for a 170-00. Rusty Robertson turned in a 172 game and Deneil a 170-00.

The Four Kellers just tried themselves as they all turned in good games. Pete rolled 184, Judy a 178, Ray a 160 and Joan a 160 as they set the Shoppers back three points. Morse Ross rolled 190-00, Conda Salmon a 190 game, Ruth a 167 game.

The Tellers are climbing the ladder fast, winning four points each week. The Rebels are losers as Paul Hamilton rolled out a 100-00, Charlie a 170 game and Lucille a 170 game. Jack Goodman hit the 100 100-00-00. Mary Goodman 000. Buddy Randall a 100 and Loren Randall a 100 game.
