GOOD NEWS!

If you've been shopping around, you've probably discovered that some traditional "family cars" have somehow become giant-sized, high-priced machines. But we Dodge Boys think we've filled the gap left by Ford and Chevy-with our new 1972 Dodge Coronet.

Coronet was designed to be just one thing: a solid, family-sized four-door that's priced so most families can afford it. Four doors give you easy entry and exit and rear-seat headroom that most two-door models don't give you. Coronet has room for six people. It has a big trunk and styling you'll be proud of.

And Coronet comes in five great four-door models: two sedans and three different station wagons. One of them is bound to be priced to fit the old family budget (and the old family garage, too). See us today.
