Nixon Sets Energy Bill Veto

Message Will Go To Congress On Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon will send Congress his emergency energy veto message Wednesday and will submit campaign reform legislation by Friday, the White House said today.

Nixon said last week he would veto the energy bill principally because he believes its oil rollback provision will lead to fewer petroleum supplies and longer lines at gasoline stations.

No Change In Weather Seen Here

Cooler air moving into Texas from the west came close to stalling today along a line linking Memphis, Dallas and Del Rio.

State Split

That left the state with two distinctly separate types of weather, as has been the case for several days—cool, clear and dry west of the frontal zone and cloudy, warm and humid on the opposite side.

Except for a little cooling in West Texas tonight, no change was predicted.

The Tall City will continue to have warm, fair and comfortable nights.

High In 70s

The National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal predicts a high in the middle 70s with an overnight low in the lower 40s. The high Wednesday will be near 80 degrees.

Monday's high was 78 degrees and the overnight low was 44.

Early morning temperatures dipped as low as 31 degrees in the Texas Panhandle and ranged from the middle 30s through the 40s elsewhere in the west, while readings in the warmer sections ran from the 60s into the 70s, staying as high as 72 at McAllen.

Recorded

Monday afternoon's high marks went as high as 92 at Laredo on the Mexican border. The coolest spots were Amarillo and Dalhart in the Panhandle with a maximum of 60.

The Associated Press reported

Credo Oil & Gas, Inc. of Beaumont intends to drill No. 1 Olix as a 3,800-foot searcher in Pecos, 11 miles northwest of Girvin.

The project in an earlier story was attributed erroneously to Costa Resources, Inc. of Dallas. Drill site for the project is 1,800 feet from northeast and 1,787 feet from southwest lines of section 29, block 2, H&TC survey, and is 1/2 mile northwest of the Credo No. 1 Mueller-State, which is making production tests through perforations at 3,614-3,636 feet. It is 1 1/2 mile north of the one-well Grandma Benoit (lower Clearfork) field.

Ward Confirmer Gauges Reported

Texaco, Inc. has announced four-point gauges for No. 1-B State Gas Unit, second producer and 3/4-mile west extension to the Caprigo (Ellenburger) field of Ward County.

It flowed the following gauges through unreported perforations: one hour on a 46-64-inch choke, at 9.185 million cubic feet per day, with tubing pressure of 1,643 pounds; one hour on a 40-64-inch choke, at 7.850 million cubic feet, with tubing pressure of 1,932 pounds; two hours on a 27-64-inch choke, at 6,610 million cubic feet, with tubing pressure of 2,550 pounds and two hours on a 21-64-inch choke, at 5 million cubic feet per day, with tubing pressure at 3,040 pounds.

Operator was calculating absolute open flow. Location is 2,640 feet from north and 1,220 feet from east lines of section 15, block 18, ULS 11 miles northeast of Bastow.

The discovery, Union Texas Petroleum Corp. No. 1 West Caprigo Unit, finished March 16, 1973, for 39 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations at 17,795-18,226 feet.

Pecos-Confirmer Continues Tests

Union Texas Petroleum Corp. No. 1 Mitchell, assured second Ellenburger producer and 3/4-mile southeast extension to that pay in the Hokit field of Pecos County, flowed gas at the rate of 6.7 million cubic feet daily, plus 91 barrels of condensate and 19 barrels of water in 24 hours.

Flow was through an unreported choke and perforations at 11,203-11,561 feet, which (Continued On Page 4B)

Hopes For End To Oil Embargo Spring Up Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, back from the Middle East and Europe, conferred with President Nixon today while authoritative sources forecast the complete lifting of the Arab oil embargo.

With Arab oil ministers due to meet in Libya Sunday, these sources said they expect an end to the embargo against the United States, with supplies returning to the levels that existed prior to the October Middle East war.

The sources said this would bring a drop in oil prices, from the current $11.65 a barrel to about $7.

Restoration of production, coupled with conservation measures taken during the recent squeeze, will bring about a plentiful supply of oil for Americans, according to estimates.

In Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, Saudi Arabian oil minister and a key spokesman for the petroleum producing states of the Middle East, called for an end to the Arab oil embargo. The Wall Street Journal reported today, Yamani said the Arab cut-off of oil to the United States no longer served any useful purpose.

At the same time, U.S. officials are concerned that the political crisis in Israel could set back Kissinger's scheme for having Israel and Syria begin to negotiate through him in Washington a disengagement in the Golan Heights.

Israeli diplomatic and military representatives were due in about two weeks, to be followed within the next two weeks by a similar Syrian mission. But now, officials say, the plan could be derailed if Prime Minister Golda Meir's Labor party has to join forces with the opposition Likud to form a government.

Meanwhile, the president of the Baltex Oil and Gas Corp. of (See EMBARGO Page 2A)

Air Force Tanker Crashes; Man Dies

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — One man was killed and another was missing and presumed dead today in the crash and explosion of an Air Force KC135 tanker known as a flying filling station, officials said.

Five other men aboard the plane were rescued and were in satisfactory condition, they said.

The plane had just taken off from McConnell Air Force Base on what was described as a regular mission in support of the Tactical Air Command, when it crashed 2,000 feet beyond the end of the runway. The 17,000 gallons of jet diesel fuel aboard exploded in a ball of fire.

The identities of the dead and missing men were not immediately disclosed.

Firm To Buy Saudi Arabian Oil

MALAKOFF, Tex. (AP) — Delivery of petroleum products sold by Saudi Arabia to a Texas firm could begin in about three weeks when contracts are signed, a Baltex Oil and Gas Corp. executive says.

W. Page Ballard, president of the firm, says he has received clearance for the Saudi Arabian petroleum to be shipped to the United States.

The contract involves 30 million barrels a year for five years, the Baltex president said. Baltex imports oil and gasoline and has some domestic production in East Texas.

Baltex incorporated four years ago.

Included in the agreement are both crude oil and refined gasoline, Ballard said. Cost of the crude will be "between $9 and $10 a barrel f.o.b. the Persian Gulf," he added.

The oil executive said his firm had no direct dealings with the Arab state, but worked through a Malaysian bank. The bank telephoned word of the clearance of the oil to go to the United States Monday.

Ballard declined to speculate on further actions by the Arabs on the embargo. "I don't know what to expect. I think the price of Arabian oil could go up," he said.

He said the action confirmed a prediction of his late last week that the embargo would end soon.

"I am thrilled with the news because it shows the policies of President Nixon and Secretary of State Kissinger are very good for the country and will help lessen the energy crisis in this country," Ballard added.

Wilson Moves To Settle Coal Strike

LONDON (AP) — Newly installed Prime Minister Harold Wilson named his cabinet today and moved quickly to settle the national coal strike that threatens to paralyze the country.

Expectations of an early settlement were strengthened when strike leader Joe Gormley announced he hoped to resume pay negotiations with the state-run National Coal Board on Wednesday morning.

Negotiations broke off Feb. 10 after former Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government refused the miner's pay demands as too inflationary.

Gromley, president of the National Union of Mineworkers, met with Wilson's new employment secretary, Michael Foot, and then told newsmen he hoped to resume pay talks. This could let the miners return to work while a new pay deal is negotiated.

The unions had blamed the miners' strike on the alleged intransigence of Heath's government. The change of attitude with Labor in power was immediately apparent in Gromley's report after seeing Foot.

"We had a nice friendly chat that you would expect between colleagues," he reported.

The coal strike, now in its fourth week, threatened to bring the country's economy to a halt as coal stocks approached crisis level. Most industry has been on a three-day work week since Dec. 31 to save fuel.

Foot, an intellectual left-winger and former journalist, sits in the House of Commons for the coal mining district of Elbow Vale in South Wales.

The miners' executives met in special session this morning in anticipation of early talks to meet their pay claim. Wilson, who earlier made clear his first priority was to end the strike, had separate meetings arranged with leaders of both sides of industry, the bosses and union leaders.

Except for the surprise selection of Foot for the employment post most of Wilson's cabinet jobs went to men who served in the last Labor government. James Callaghan, was named foreign minister. Denis Healey, who served Wilson before as defense secretary, became chancellor of the exchequer.

Wilson, prime minister from 1964 until 1970, returned to No. 10 Downing St. Monday night to head a minority government after Prime Minister Edward Heath, the Conservative party chief, conceded that he could not form a coalition government following his election defeat last Thursday.

Senate To Vote Today On GOP Plans To Change Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The various amendments to make form it was approved by the Senate begins voting today on the legislation more acceptable to President Nixon.

However, the bill's sponsors, who include some liberal GOP senators, are confident they can defeat these and win passage of the measure in the labor Committee.

Republican plan to offer

The committee version is almost identical to the measure vetoed last September by Nixon. That bill passed the Senate 64 to 33.

The new measure would raise the $1.60-an-hour floor to $2.20 for most employes in two steps, $2 on enactment and $2.20 a year later. It would take up to three years for some workers to reach $2.20, however.

The legislation also would extend coverage of the Wages and Hours Act to an additional seven million workers, including one million domestics, and would grant overtime pay in a number of industries where the employes now do not get this.

$750,000 Education Agency Grant Given MC

Midland College has been awarded a $750,000 grant from the Texas Education Agency.

The money will be used to help build the school's $1.5 million Occupational-Technical Building.

"We have won a victory for ourselves and it will allow us to go on and build the Occupational-Technical Building," Midland College board president Reagan Legg said.

"From the beginning of the college building program and during the bond issue campaign we told people we were relying on a 50 per cent grant from the TEA for the Occupational-Technical Building," Legg said.

"It is with a great sigh of relief that we are able to announce this grant," Legg said the college board will request bids on the Occupational-Technical Building, the Student Center and the Physical Education Building.

The bids will be opened at the board's April meeting.

"We hope that by putting out three buildings for bids we will get more competitive bidding," Legg said.

Trustees rejected all bids on construction of the Student Center on Feb. 19 after lowest bids ran more than 36 per cent above budgeted costs.

Legg said Architect Preston Geren is redesigning parts of (See COLLEGE Page 2A)

Midland Gets Own 'Streaker'

It was just a matter of time. Streaking has come to Midland.

A young man who said he "must remain anonymous" notified The Reporter-Telegram this morning that he "streaked" across a portion of the new Midland College campus near the midnight hour Monday night.

Streaking is the new college fad of running naked across campus. The caller said he didn't have a big audience and received little encouragement, but that his run in the buff was witnessed.

The young man, who said he was "closely affiliated with the college," said that if Angelo State College could boast of streakers that certainly Midland College, as a growing new educational facility, should be able to as well.

IN TRY TO RESOLVE ISRAELI CRISIS—

Golda Meir Selects New Cabinet

By ARTHUR MAX
 JERUSALEM (AP) — Golda Meir has agreed to continue as Israel's premier after apparently quelling a revolt within her Labor party against her choice for a minority cabinet.

Mrs. Meir was to submit her cabinet lineup today to the party's central committee for a vote of confidence. Sources close to the party said the committee was virtually certain to give the 75-year-old premier the support she demanded.

Mrs. Meir angrily announced she was quitting and walked out of a party caucus Sunday night after supporters of Defense Minister Moshe Dayan criticized the cabinet she had put together. Dayan had refused to serve in the new government because a number of members of the party blamed him for Israel's lack of preparedness for the Arab attack last October.

Mrs. Meir's walkout brought a steady stream of Laborites to her home Monday, pleading that she reconsider. Looking weary but determined, she visited President Ephraim Katzir Monday night and told him she had changed her mind and expected to present her new cabinet to him on Wednesday.

Katzir then received opposition leader Menahem Begin of the right-wing Likud bloc, who said: "Mrs. Meir should have declared that she has failed." He said if Mrs. Meir does not present a new cabinet by Wednesday after two months of trying, Katzir should call for a broad coalition government including the Likud.

Six New Men Included
 Mrs. Meir, whose party is still the largest in parliament with 51 of the 120 seats, opposes such a coalition because the Likud is opposed to the return of any of the Arab territories occupied in the 1967 war.

Mrs. Meir's new cabinet list contains six new men. One of them is Yitzhak Rabin, chief of staff during the 1967 war and then ambassador to the United States, who was named to replace Dayan as defense minister.

Neither Dayan nor his six followers in the Rafi wing of the Labor party were among those who visited Mrs. Meir to urge her to stay in office.

Unable To Form Majority
 Mrs. Meir was unable to form a majority government because the National Religious party, Labor's traditional coalition partner, made unacceptable demands for religious legislation. She secured the support of seven members of parliament outside her own party's 51, and the 10 members of the Religious party are expected to vote with her on all foreign policy issues and all domestic issues except religious ones.

of a majority. But instead of trying to put together a majority coalition, Wilson plans to run a minority government that will remain in office only so long as it is not defeated on a major issue in Commons.

Political commentators, even on the Conservative side, gave Wilson a good chance of survival. They agreed that none of the small parties who hold the balance of power — Liberals, Welsh and Scottish Nationalists, militant Ulster Protestants and independent Laborites — will want to plunge the nation into another crisis election.

And Heath himself in his first post-resignation statement said: "In the present difficulties, the new government can be assured of my support in whatever realistic measures it takes in the interests of all the people."

The new government is expected to come to terms quickly with the miners on the basis of a pay board report that appears likely to give them all they demanded and Heath refused them.

Wilson's next task will be to draw up the national budget. It is likely to include a squeeze on real estate speculators and a tax on offshore bank profits. Neither move is likely to meet opposition. A freeze on some prices and subsidies on some staple foods are also likely.

The commentators predicted that Wilson would delay the controversial sections of the Labor platform until fall or next year in hopes that the government's performance in the months between will swing a majority of the country behind it. These sections include negotiation of Britain's membership in the European Common Market and nationalization of some manufacturing industries.

Although the Wilson government is likely to bring a quick end to both the miners' strike and the three-day work week, its prospects of solving Britain's long-term problems are not nearly so good.

These problems include inflation, now at a record 15 percent a year, and a chronic foreign trade deficit rate now running at the rate of $10 billion a year, also a record.

New Grand Jury Returns Eight Bills On First Day

The Midland County Grand Jury, which was empaneled Monday for a six-month term, met in its first session Monday afternoon and returned eight indictments, three no-bills and passed two cases.

Russell Clark, 19, and Blain Christopher Mason, 18, both of 2100 Northrup St., and Anastasio Perez, 38, of Aspermont were no-billed.

Clark and Mason were charged together with burglary. They were alleged to have been involved in the break-in at Midland Christian School on Feb. 19.

Perez was accused of aggravated assault in connection with the stabbing of Everisto Brito of 1710 N. Lee St. at the Jamaica Club on Feb. 2.

Mason and Perez were free when the no-bills were returned but Clark was in county jail. He was to be released today.

Two indictments were in county jail when their indictments were returned and they were to be served with their indictment papers today, the sheriff's department said.

Official Accused Of Tax Fraud Dies Of Gunshot Wound
 GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Allegheny County Dist. Atty. Robert Duggan was found shot to death here today shortly before he was indicted by a federal grand jury in Pittsburgh on eight counts of tax fraud.

State Police Cpl. Andrew Botloch said a preliminary investigation indicated Duggan had committed suicide.

The grand jury had been probing Duggan's affairs since late last year, and was reported to have taken considerable testimony from the former chief detective on the district attorney's staff, Samuel G. Ferraro.

Ferraro was convicted last summer of failing to report federal income taxes on about $300,000 worth of alleged bribes from racketeers.

Duggan, 48, husband of the former Cordelia Scaife May, an heiress to the Mellon family fortune, had steadfastly denied any wrongdoing during the grand jury's probe.

He said the cost of the loans could range up to $75 billion, and "the energy savings would not be justified."

"We think this bill would be bad legislation," he said. "We have felt the President has felt right along that he'd rather have no legislation than bad legislation."

On Monday, Simon said emergency allocations in fuel-short states have shortened lines at service stations.

"We have succeeded with our emergency allocation," Simon told reporters. "We've seen the alleviation of the lines at all the hard-hit areas."

And the Cost of Living Council ended its freeze on auto insurance rates, apparently taking the view that rates will increase despite a reduction in traffic accidents because of the gasoline shortage.

The council cited a report by an auto insurance industry advisory committee that inflation "inevitably will force automobile insurance claim costs up at an ever greater rate."

Quick Action Urged On Welfare Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is urging Congress to rush through a bill to avoid an automatic March 31 cutoff of new federal welfare payments for up to 200,000 disabled persons.

The emergency measure, unanimously approved Monday by the House Ways and Means Committee, was scheduled for House action today.

The bill involves the new Supplemental Security Income program covering millions of aged, blind and disabled people.

Starting Jan. 1, it replaced the old federal-state welfare system for these persons.

The law setting up the supplemental program originally provided that recipients who were on state-rolls for aid to the disabled during December 1973 would be covered by the new federal program even if they did not meet the federal definition of disability.

However, before the program began, the law was revised last December in an effort to prevent any conversion to the federal program of people who may have been improperly placed on state rolls in the months just before the change-over.

Suspension Threatened
 The Nixon administration maintains the change has created a workload that cannot be finished until the end of this year. The government has been providing benefits under a provision of the law allowing aid for up to three months on the basis of "presumptive disability."

Since these presumptive disability payments cannot be made for more than three months, administration officials said they will be forced to suspend payments at the end of this month for those whose eligibility remains in doubt, an estimated 190,000 to 200,000 persons.

Charles Bates, FBI agent in charge of the case, said there had been no new messages from the SLA since the Hearst's weekend plea. Asked if one was expected soon, he replied: "There's only one group that can tell you that. It's the kidnapers. It was a plea from a mother and father that they want to hear from her. Whether they will or not, I can't say at this point."

Bates said he had "nothing to indicate that she has been taken out of state or that she is not safe."

the Student Center and Physical Education Building to reduce the amount of precast concrete and add more brick, which will reduce the cost of the buildings.

The concrete is about $7 per square foot and brick will cost about $3 per square foot, Legg explained.

"We're going to build these buildings and we are going to build them with the money we have," he emphasized.

At a meeting Monday, the Midland College trustees voted to use a light colored brick for the college's buildings.

The trustees also voted to authorize President Dr. Al Langford to approve minor change orders.

Youth, 18, Asks Place 6 Trustee Post At Crane

CRANE — Doug Mann, an 18-year-old high school senior, this morning announced his candidacy for a seat on the Crane Independent School District board of directors.

Mann, who turned 18 only 15 days ago, has as an opponent, Wayne Negley, an officer with the First State Bank, who also filed this morning.

The two are seeking Place 6 which now is held by Johnny Griffin. Griffin had not announced for reelection by noon today.

One other seat, Place 7, is up for election, and the incumbent Horace Pool, is the only announced candidate. The election will be April 6. The filing deadline is 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Hearsts Resume Food Distribution

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — A massive food distribution program demanded by the long-silent kidnapers of Patricia Hearst is set to resume.

For the Hearst family, the vigil continues.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph A. Hearst had hoped a weekend televised appeal to the abductors would result in a response. So far there has been no word, the family said.

Meanwhile, the People in Need food distribution project planned to hand out food to anyone who asked at 11 locations in the San Francisco Bay area today.

A spokesman said the food packages would contain meat, vegetables and fruit — the same as given out last Thursday — "only we will have more of them."

The organization plans to open distribution centers on Tuesdays and Fridays until funds are exhausted in an estimated six to 12 weeks. Organizers say about 45,000 persons already have received free food.

Parcels of food also are being delivered to shut-ins as well, the spokesman said.

The SLA demanded that Hearst distribute free food to California's needy as a condition to negotiations for Patricia's release. The newspaper executive donated $50,000 of his own funds while the Hearst Foundation contributed $15 million.

The kidnapers later demanded that $4 million more be put into the program immediately or it would cut off communications with the Hearst family. Hearst said he could not meet that demand, but the Hearst Corp. pledged $4 million

Nixon To Ask Increased Disabled Vets Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he will seek congressional approval of a program to increase compensation for disabled military veterans and their survivors.

The proposals set forth Monday by Nixon would increase benefits to the veterans by 12 per cent and survivors' compensation by 14 per cent, retroactive to last Friday. He said the one-year cost of the program would be $432 million.

In a letter to key congressmen, the President said he would ask Congress to make "structural changes in veterans' compensation which will bring the disability ratings of under-rated veterans up to a level corresponding to what survey data show to be their actual degree of impairment."

Nixon said an in-depth survey shows "that many disabled veterans are undercompensated by a rating schedule basically unchanged since 1945 and that the degree of undercompensation is greatest for many of the seriously disabled."

More than two million of the 29 million living veterans in the United States are disabled as a result of military service. There are almost 375,000 survivors of other disabled veterans who have died.

Benefits for disabled veterans were last increased in August 1972 and for their survivors in January 1972.

Disabled veterans' compensation currently ranges from $28 a month for a veteran with 10 per cent disability to $495 for total disability. Additional benefits for other specific severe disabilities can raise benefits as high as $1,322 per month. Veterans whose disabilities are raised 50 per cent or higher get additional allowances for their dependents.

Ector Sheriff's Son Hurt In Crash

ODESSA — The 17-year-old son of Ector County Sheriff Elwood Hill was injured in a two-car collision here about 7:40 p.m. Monday.

Douglas Leonard Hill was admitted to the intensive care unit at Medical Center Hospital for observation for head injuries but by this morning had been transferred to a regular care floor.

He was listed in satisfactory condition.

The Hill youth was driving one of the cars and the other was driven by Alice Braesher Whorton, 25, of Odessa.

She had minor injuries and was treated at Medical Center and was released.

Tugs Clear Main Mississippi Pass

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Coast Guard says tugboats have pulled a Liberian tanker free from mud at the mouth of the Mississippi River and reopened the main channel to shipping.

Six tugs refloated the Mary Lou and towed her to anchorage Monday out in the Gulf of Mexico.

About 30 ships had been stacked up, either in the river or out in the Gulf, waiting for Southwest Pass to be cleared.

The Mary Lou went aground Feb. 25 in the busy pass, the main channel between the Gulf and the river.

CONCERNING IMPEACHMENT— Nixon's Lawyers Reportedly Seek Talks With House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House lawyers reportedly have asked for a meeting with the House Judiciary Committee staff to discuss the committee's request for evidence for its impeachment inquiry.

Committee sources said James D. St. Clair, who is in charge of President Nixon's impeachment defense, asked to meet Wednesday with committee lawyers.

The committee requested the evidence on Feb. 25, at which time its chief counsel, John Doar, said it should take only a day or two to deliver the material to Capitol Hill.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., said Monday he thought the committee had waited long enough and other members said they would favor issuing a subpoena for the evidence if it is not forthcoming.

St. Clair's request for a meeting will probably head off demands for a subpoena at a committee session today called as a briefing on the status of the investigation by Doar.

The committee also will consider U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's announcement of a hearing to determine whether he should give a secret report from a Watergate grand jury to the Judiciary Committee.

The report is believed to contain Nixon's possible involvement in the Watergate cover-up, but the official committee view is that it doesn't know what's in the report so it isn't sure it wants the document.

However, individual members are more definite about wanting the material in the envelope and the briefcase full of evidence that apparently supports it, which Sirica also is holding. "Absolutely, we should have a hearing to determine whether he should give a secret report from a Watergate grand jury to the Judiciary Committee."

"There is no question the material should be turned over to us for our consideration," said Rep. William S. Cohen, R-Maine.

One of the committee Republicans, Tom Rallsback of Illinois, sent Nixon a letter Monday urging him to comply with the request for White House information.

"The Judiciary Committee, from my observations, is making a valid effort to conduct a fair and thorough inquiry which will hopefully resolve this serious controversy once and for all," he told Nixon.

He asked the President to put aside any constitutional or legal questions that may arise from the committee's request and to cooperate fully.

Embargo—

Malakoff, Tex., said that his firm had a deal for 30 million barrels of Saudi Arabian oil. W. Page Ballard said the oil would be shipped each month for five years to the United States.

Ballard said he contracted for the oil through a bank in Malaysia and had no direct dealings with Saudi Arabia.

The price of oil before the Arab-Israeli war was about $3.01 a barrel. Since then, production has been cut about 25 per cent and an embargo imposed against the United States and the Netherlands for their support and friendship for the Jewish state.

U.S. experts consider $7 a barrel somewhat high, but they also are concerned that a lower price could discourage development of alternative sources of energy. Kissinger and his aides will say nothing publicly about the Tripoli meeting.

But Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Algeria and other Arab states are now understood to be united in wanting to have the embargo removed and full production resumed. Until now, there have been reports of a phased step-up of production once the embargo is lifted.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Cashiers Need Coupon Tips

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Candle wax has dripped on my slate-topped coffee table and will not come off. I have tried several different cleaning methods. Does anyone have any ideas for removing this wax? — MARY ELLEN

DEAR POLLY — The thing that really peeves me is to take coupons to the store and have the cashier be completely oblivious as to what it is all about and have to ask a million questions. It is really maddening to have this happen in the store where I bought the product that had the coupon. The companies are certainly not helped when it is too much trouble and even embarrassing to use their offers. It seems they could inform the store managers so they would see that their cashiers got the word. — MRS. L. C. T.

DEAR POLLY — and D. K. — I quit smoking over a year ago and my husband has followed suit. Now we find the lingering odor from cigarette smoking annoying and really quite "stinky." I overheard a man tell someone else to try burning a vanilla candle while company is smoking. We tried it and found it really does work. It is amazing. Also this helps if your fireplace is smoking. — EILEEN

DEAR READERS — Vanilla candles really are the greatest for absorbing odors. A friend gave me one some time ago and the vanilla odor is penetrating even though the candle is not lighted. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When moving from one house to another and you are moving your own clothes put the garments on hangers and then put the hangers on a broom handle and hang in a car or truck. They are easy to carry this way and the clothes do not get wrinkled. — PEGGY

DEAR POLLY — I have a great gift suggestion for those who are in nursing homes or confined to bed most of the time. Satin pillowcases that are zipped so the pillow does not slide out are helpful in keeping Grandma's hair looking nice. Mine also told me time and time again how much cooler the pillows felt. We marked them with her name and laundered them when we did her gowns. Recently I was hospitalized and took mine along and know how great this is. — MARGARET S.

Dear Abby

Dad Thinks Prostitute Should Teach Sex To Son

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband insists that because boys will be boys, every boy should have his first sexual experience with a prostitute. He has several reasons: She can teach him about sex, there are no repercussions from the encounter, and it's preferable to learning with some Mama's girl in the back seat of a car.

I didn't know whether to laugh or hit him but on recovering, I informed him that the boy could wind up with V.D., and as for learning about sex in a house of prostitution, that was tantamount to learning about good food in the town sewer.

I also asked him if he thought that when our daughters reach their late teens, they should go to a male prostitute, to learn all about sex, 'cause 'girls will be girls,' just as boys will be boys. He didn't think that was funny, and said to ask Abby. So I'm asking you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband insists that because boys will be boys, every boy should have his first sexual experience with a prostitute. He has several reasons: She can teach him about sex, there are no repercussions from the encounter, and it's preferable to learning with some Mama's girl in the back seat of a car.

DEAR ABBY: There ought to be a photographic studio in Chicago that would produce a copy of the original while you and your relative wait. Ask around.

DEAR ABBY: Here's how I have succeeded in getting my name off "junk" mailing lists: I simply cross off my name and address, and write "REFUSED — RETURN TO SENDER" on the envelope. Then I drop it in a mailbox.

It costs the company money to receive this piece of mail back, so they seem eager to drop my name from their list. Of course, you must refuse the mail without opening the envelope, but I've gotten off numerous lists this way.

MRS. C. B.: LOMITA, CAL.

DEAR MRS. B.: Thanks for the tip. Some of those folks who impose their junk mail on people are going to hate us!

Nickel Chrysler-Plymouth, Dodge is out to win you over.

Plymouth Duster. More miles per gallon than Nova, Comet, Maverick, Apollo and Ventura.

If you're concerned about gas mileage, the tests Popular Science magazine conducted should be of interest to you. The tests they conducted on 73 vehicles (and adjusted by them for 1974 models and the results of E.P.A. tests) show the "Slant Six" engine that's standard in our Duster can go farther on a gallon of gas than Maverick, Nova, Comet, Ventura and Apollo.

...Priced less than VW Super Bug.

The manufacturer's suggested sticker price for Plymouth Duster is actually less than Volkswagen's Super Bug. The prices, naturally, don't include comparable destination charges, state and local taxes or dealer prep charges. Even though you pay less for Duster, you get a lot more. For example, Duster has room for five inside, VW—only four. Duster's got three times the trunk space of VW. And Duster's got an electronic ignition that virtually eliminates ignition tune-ups. VW doesn't even offer one.

Duster gas mileage and price. Two ways we're out to win you over in Duster this year.

Streakers, 150 Strong, Run At ASU

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Streakers running in groups as large as 25, carrying Confederate flags and waving sparklers, dominated Angelo State University Monday night in one of the spring fest's biggest nights.

More than 150 Angelo State students participated to the glee of several hundred onlookers between dormitories at the university.

Six Co-Eds Participate
Streaking is running across campus naked.

Six co-eds donned ski masks, doffed their clothes—and met, a campus security patrolman just as they began their run.

Five of the girls made it away. The sixth was released after being momentarily detained.

Streakers on bicycles, motorcycles and in pickup trucks made appearances throughout the evening and into the early morning hours.

ASU campus security chief Bobby Peiser said, "It's nothing to get excited about. It's good exercise."

Basin Area Gets $2,750 OEO Grant

Providing statistical information on poverty needs and programs to the Permian Basin Council of Governments is one of the projects that will be funded through an Office of Economic Opportunity grant announced by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

The $2,750 grant to Midland Community Action Agency, Inc., is for general community programming and is effective beginning March 1.

Mrs. Carol Burns, executive director of Midland Community Action Agency, says that one of the new programs being initiated is alcoholism educational prevention for which six agency representatives received 10 days of training in San Antonio.

Neighborhood Centers
She says that the grant will enable the agency to continue operating its three neighborhood centers in Midland. Programs offered at the centers include classes in typing, sewing, upholstery and photography and outreach and referral services.

The agency will also continue providing transportation for the disadvantaged to such other services as the Social Security Office, the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center; assisting in completing food stamp applications; aiding in obtaining low-cost housing loans and making housing improvements, and organizing youth programs.

Grant processing for the state was performed by the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity, a division of the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

Four Motorcycle Clubbers Indicted In Officer's Death

HOUSTON (AP) — A Harris County grand jury has indicted four members of a Houston motorcycle group in connection with the shooting death of a county undercover narcotics officer by a city patrolman.

An indictment charging murder was returned Monday against Glen Allen Wilhelm, 25, and Gary L. Lichtenwalter, 26. The grand jury also returned an indictment charging Marlon Ray Lester, 22, and Donald John Stessinger, 27, with attempted capital murder.

The grand jury earlier had no-billed patrolman Glen G. Thyssen.

Thyssen said he arrived at the scene of a fight in the restroom of a lounge Feb. 25 and shot a man in the chest when the man turned toward him with a pistol.

Killed was narcotics officer Rodney S. Morgan, 27, who was in undercover garb. Police said Morgan had been slashed by two men before pulling his gun and subduing the pair.

Police said two other men guarded the restroom door and tried to prevent another city undercover officer from going to Morgan's aid.

Bond on each of the indictments was set at $50,000.

Howdy Rebels!
As basketball season comes to a close, we would like to recognize the varsity team. Congratulations to the entire team for winning the title of the District Champions. Brett Blackwell was chosen for the All-District team, with Melvin Jackson and Mike Hill being chosen for the second string of the All-District team. David Clingman received honorable mention and Coach Stueckler was named Coach of the Year. Quite a few honors for one team! The Rebel basketballers chose for their captains Sam Cox and Melvin Jackson. Sam Cox was also chosen as the best defensive player and David Clingman was voted the winner of the "winner award."

The basketball sweethearts for the 1973-74 season were also chosen and they are Emily Armstrong, Donna Carter, Karen Conger, Janet Gieb, Kayla Goodrich, Gayle Hawley, Marci Hibler, Tana Hill, Troby Hobacker, Debra Jones, Willie Lane, Becky Meyer, Cathy Messer, Jackie Nelson, Lana Russell, Betty Sharp, Diane Smith, Shelly Stanfield and Velva Wilder. Everyone here at Rebeland wants our basketball team to know how proud we are of them and of the great record they have achieved this year!

Now with the spring season many new sports are taking place. This past week our baseball team has written up three victories over the Kermit Yellow Jackets. This week the Rebels will take on Lubbock Monterey twice. One game is today and the next game is Friday in Lubbock. Also Saturday we will play Andrews here at 1 p.m. on the Lee field. It's a double-header so everyone come out and support our guys!

Volleyball action took place this week at Rebeland with our girls beating Abilene in two games with scores of 15-6 and 15-8. This places our Rebs with a 4-0 record for district play. Lee's next action is tonight when they take on MHS in the Midland High Gym. The JV game starts at 6:30 with Varsity starting at 7:30. Be sure to come to these games to back our Rebels as they win another one.

The sock hop last Saturday night was a real hit. Kitty Moore and Ricky Thurman won prizes for the best jitterbug dancing couple and also for the best costumes. Karyn Robinson won the beagle puppy. Both French clubs would like to thank everyone that came out and supported their club.

Now is the time for everyone to start thinking about this year's Coronation. It will be on Saturday, March 23 and the band featured will be Seely Aston from Fort Worth. The theme for this year's Coronation is Carousel and the colors are pink, white and gold. We will be signing up for committees such as decorations, stage setting, and refreshments in student council this week. If you miss this meeting and would like to help, please contact either Donna Carter or Janet Gieb. Also if you are a senior girl and wish to be an usher for the Coronation please sign up at Mr. Woods' office this week. We will also have a list to sign if you wish to be a hostess. To make Coronation a huge success this year we need the help of each and every student here at Lee high school... so please sign up.

If you are helping give the 2nd senior girls party, there is a list of everyone giving it in the Youth Center and YOU need to sign it. There will be an important meeting next Sunday in the Youth Center at 2 p.m. and YOU need to be there. The party is not as far away as you think and we need to get everything together... so, please be sure to be at this meeting.

We would like to thank Together by Robinson's and S&Q for their donations to our Youth Centers. We appreciate their concern and their help with keeping our Youth Centers open. That's all for this week. We'll chat with you later!

P.S. Monday Will Lundy turned 18... hope he had a Happy Birthday. Also there are a few girls who would like to thank him for the use of his vehicle last Friday night. Thanks!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Asks: Was Hughes-Nixon connection behind Watergate burglary?
WASHINGTON — Senate investigators have come up with a theory which may explain the greatest Watergate mystery of them all.

What did the White House burglars hope to find that would justify breaking into the Watergate? Why would they take such foolish risks to burglarize and bug the offices of a Democratic party factotum like Larry O'Brien?

The investigators, who have been piecing together the Watergate puzzle, think they know the answers. The key to the puzzle, they now feel sure, was the celebrated $205,000 loan which billionaire industrialist Howard Hughes loaned to President Nixon's brother Don on December 10, 1966. The loan, secured by a $13,000 family lot that no bank would have accepted as security for a loan of that size, was never repaid.

We learned about this curious transaction in 1969. Our disclosure coincided with Richard Nixon's first campaign for the presidency. He complained afterward that the loan story had helped to defeat him. Two years later, the $205,000 loan became the biggest issue in his inglorious defeat for governor of California.

After his political comeback and triumphant takeover of the White House, Nixon remained so sensitive about Howard Hughes that he had his own brother bugged and followed in 1969. Don Nixon, an amiable but bustling wheeler-dealer, was consorting too openly with Hughes aides John Meier and Tony Haisis.

We dug out and published the story of the secret $100,000 gift on August 6, 1971. Our story, according to Senate investigators, caused panic inside the White House.

We were marked for investigation by undercovermen G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt, who had started operating a month earlier out of a command post in Room 16 of the basement of a White House annex known as the Executive Office Building.

Gordon Liddy presented to his superiors the final plans for breaking into O'Brien's Watergate offices.

According to the sworn testimony, Liddy was also instructed to "review the situation to see if there would be potential . . . for an entry into Mr. Greenspun's office."

Liddy went ahead with plans to break into the Watergate and also to loot Greenspun's safe; hence to make a getaway flight to Mexico in a plane to be provided by Howard Hughes.

It was to cover up the Hughes-Nixon connection, the investigators strongly believe, that the Watergate crimes were conceived.

The same sensitive report also disclosed that a tax audit of Larry O'Brien had uncovered a close relationship with the Hughes organization.

"Ehrlichman has admitted discussing these matters with the President," the memo adds tersely.

The Senate investigators now believe the White House was highly alarmed over the possibility that O'Brien, through his relationship with the Hughes crowd, might get for the Democrats confirmation of our story about the delivery of $100,000 in cash for the President.

How Close Was He? It's known that White House staff chief H. R. Haldeman ordered counsel John Dean and security man Jack Caulfield to find out how close O'Brien was to the Hughes organization.

About the same time, the plumbers began making plans to break into the Watergate and bug O'Brien's office.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Whatever is to come, it is safe to say that management of the winter phase of the U.S. energy crisis has been largely a botch.

One has difficulty in confining the assignment of blame. Government, the oil industry and the oil-using public have all contributed to a chaos sometimes bordering upon panic.

Louis Halle in 1973 wrote in Foreign Affairs magazine that nuclear war (or any lesser variety which might escalate to it) just isn't going to happen because America and Russia are convinced it is unthinkable.

If he's right, we may not need added assurances, no matter what goes on at the new arms limitation talks or what Defense Secretary James Schlesinger says about shifting our nuclear strategies.

Yet, watching Americans perform in this winter crisis, it's possible to take further comfort if you need it. We may well have become too incompetent, too disorganized, and too panicky to run a war even if we wanted to. (And it's a good guess from what we know of Russian performance that our Soviet adversaries would probably be worse.)

Let's start with the public behavior. For the most part, I don't buy this stuff that American motorists with only occasional exceptions are a marvelously patient, badly put-upon body of people.

First off, there are far too many sub-animal types who fight, shoot, abuse, cheat on getting into line, or steal at the gasoline station scene. Any even modest survey of conduct in the long station lines gives a painfully fresh ring of truth to the old one that "civilization is only skin deep."

But even the patient folk among their number are as gripped by near panic. This "top-off-the-tank" crowd lives daily with the fantasy that each tank-load of gas may be its last, or that the tank will go dry in some packed tunnel or rural no-man's-land.

As a nation we've always been proud that no big international wars have touched our shores. Evidently it's a very lucky thing. This winter's behavior suggests that one landed a host of foreign soldiers would touch off an exodus to the hills of cars bearing extra cans of fuel and a full complement of human basket cases.

We can't give any potes, though, to those who are "managing" the crisis. Government officials contradict each other on the severity of the shortage and its likely duration.

The fuel "allocation" system is a mess which the Federal Energy Office explains differently on different days. It's so afraid of the oil industry's bad public image that it declined to use knowledgeable industry people to help smooth out a tangled distribution system. One consequence is such oddities as a Department of Agriculture poultry inspector being put in charge of FEO's Chicago office. Interior Secretary Rogers Morton suggest that fellow may need the yellow pages to find out where the oil truckers are.

Morton himself, with all the best of intentions, recently used misleading terms and figures.

NEW YORK (AP) — You don't have to be a professional to be used in advertisements and commercials.

Public Schools Week

Brethren, I do not consider that I have made it my own; but one thing I do, forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead. I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus. — Philipians 3:13, 14.

There are those perhaps who think of Texas as being a comparatively young state, but then comes the realization that the public schools in Texas this year are observing their 120th anniversary. . . and one realizes that the Lone Star State and public education have been around for quite a spell.

Public education in Midland is not something which has occurred in recent years. Churches and public schools were among the first considerations of early settlers here and across Texas.

These are matters which come to mind as Texas Public Schools Week is being observed.

The Texas Public School System was founded 120 years ago on the premise that the more education the individual has, the more likely he is to become a good citizen. It is also a known fact that parents showing an active interest in the school system are more likely to have children who show higher scholastic achievement.

The first Texas Constitution, in 1845, authorized support for a system of free schools to provide an equal opportunity for all. This provision always has been a part of the great American dream. In Texas, vast sums of money have been provided to support this dream.

Texans, however, will be facing many hard choices in this regard during the next few years. The methods by which Texans finance their public schools must be determined. It may be that there will have to be major tax reforms. The state may have to provide a larger cost of public education. The answers are not readily available, but it is a well-known fact that public school financing has its problems, and major reforms may have to be instituted in order to resolve them.

And this is an appropriate time to ask, just how much do you know about your local school district? This really is an important question.

And this, in turn, brings out the true significance and real meaning of Texas Public Schools Week.

You are invited to visit your public schools this week, whether a parent or not. You also are invited to evaluate your local schools.

Public schools are your concern. Your tax dollars go to support and maintain them. Your children's future rests on the kind of education they are receiving today.

Midlanders will may be proud of their fine public school system, and this is a good time, through visitation, to let administration personnel, faculty members and students know that we are interested in and appreciate them.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

A vast herd of politicians, social reformers and other professional parasites piously are preaching about "equal rights" for everybody.

This is demagogical pap because all of the "equality" pitchers are intelligent enough to know that genuinely equal rights wouldn't work if we had same.

After all, when two people are entitled to the same item — such as a gallon of gas or a parking place — something has got to give.

Crossroads, U.S.A.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — For the first time in the history of the federal income tax, taxpayers legitimately can tell the government what it can do with their money — well, a small portion of it anyway.

In 1971, Congress passed the Presidential Election Campaign Fund Act to provide public financing of presidential campaigns by allowing each taxpayer to direct $1 of his or her federal income tax ($2 on a joint return) to a special fund to be distributed among the candidates.

DON OAKLEY
A Story Of Tax Dollars With Political Influence

This says the Checkoff Committee, again would open the door to large contributors to whom the candidates could be indebted.

This year, taxpayers who did not exercise the option on their 1972 returns and wish that they had can remedy that oversight by checking another box or boxes on the line directly above their signatures on the tax form.

Now and 1976, the excess will go into the general treasury. But if there is not enough money in the fund to provide the full allotment — the candidates can make up the difference through private contributions.

Now and 1976, the excess will go into the general treasury. But if there is not enough money in the fund to provide the full allotment — the candidates can make up the difference through private contributions.

The government is going to get this money in any case. What it does with it is up to each taxpayer to decide.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The old farm subsidy system with acreage restrictions and government purchases to keep prices up was ended Aug. 10, 1973. A new program set "target prices" for wheat, feed grains and cotton, and farmers would get aid when prices fell below the target. It was felt farmers would plant more to meet food shortages, have an assured income and, with current high prices, the program would cost taxpayers nothing. The World Almanac notes.

Kissinger Escapes Reported Assassination Plot In Syria

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger escaped an apparent assassination attempt in Syria because his talks with President Hafez Assad ran late and kept him from sightseeing at a famous mosque, U.S. officials said.

In Damascus, a Syrian government source said the report was "unfounded" and "seems designed to upset the diplomatic process that has been begun between the United States and Syria."

Like the U.S. officials responsible for the report, the Syrian source refused to be quoted by name.

Mosque Visit Canceled
Kissinger had a visit to the Omayyad Mosque on his schedule last Wednesday in Damascus, but he was up until almost 4 a.m. conferring with Assad about a possible disengagement with Israel and then returned to see the Syrian leader after a few hours' sleep.

As a result, the officials said, Kissinger canceled the stop at the eighth-century shrine near the heart of a crowded market area. Instead, he drove to the airport and flew to keep an appointment with Israeli leaders in Jerusalem.

But he planned to visit the Mosque Saturday morning when he returned to Syria with Israel's proposals.

Kissinger was flying back to Damascus Friday night when word first came to him about the plot, the officials said. He decided to play it safe and avoid the shrine on his second visit.

Palestinian terrorists apparently were behind the reported attempt to slay the secretary. Kissinger and his aides declined to supply details.

It was not clear whether the plot was detected by the Syrians or by U.S. intelligence.

The secretary has made four tours of the Middle East since last fall, each time under tight security conditions.

Observers in Damascus said Kissinger's security men may have become nervous about the presence of young men in civilian clothes carrying submachine guns who were stationed on the roofs of buildings near the Omayyad Mosque.

The young men, who also lined the route to the airport when Kissinger arrived and departed, are part of the government security force, the observers explained. A company of Syrian national guards was also stationed in the square outside the mosque when Kissinger was in the Syrian capital.

Huntley Taking Weekly Therapy For Lung Cancer

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Former television newscaster Chet Huntley characterizes his fight against cancer as a "roll of the dice."

Huntley, 62, is taking weekly chemotherapy treatments to which he underwent surgery earlier this year.

His voice booming with the authoritative tone that marked the Huntley-Brinkley news show before he retired in 1970 to return to his native Montana, Huntley says he is gaining strength daily.

"The doctors seem to be not without hope," Huntley said during a telephone interview Monday. "They tell me I'm doing very well with it, but you never know. It's a roll of the dice."

Huntley was released from a Billings hospital Jan. 22. He has been recuperating at his home in southwestern Montana, near Bozeman.

The original hospital announcement on the surgery said the former newscaster was operated on for stomach cancer. But Huntley says the operation was for lung cancer.

Huntley says that he still maintains a work schedule at his Big Sky of Montana resort, traveling to Bozeman once weekly for chemotherapy.

But he says his battle against cancer has cut sharply into his out-of-state travel.

Jcarilla Apaches Name Gas Firms In $25-Million Suit

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — El Paso Natural Gas Co. and Northwest Pipeline Corp. were named in a $25 million damage suit filed Monday in federal court.

The suit, brought by the Jcarilla Apache Tribe, alleged that since 1972, the company had caused the tribe to lose royalties and bonuses on gas extracted from reservation lands in the San Juan Basin in northwestern New Mexico.

"El Paso, by reason of its monopoly as the only purchaser of gas for interstate transmissions and sale in the San Juan Basin, was able to force other producers on the tribe's lands, selling gas to El Paso, to agree to ... discontinue accounting for liquid hydrocarbons," the petition alleges.

The suit accused El Paso of depriving the tribe of royalties based on the value of hydrocarbon products produced under a contract "entered into without the tribe's consent."

It also alleges that El Paso fixed and maintained wellhead gas prices until late 1972.

Renewed Hearings Slated Wednesday In Gambling Case

An evidentiary hearing in the pending federal gambling case will be held Wednesday as the motions questions continue to be discussed.

Seven Midland, Odessa and Monahans men were indicted last year in the case which alleges that they participated in illegal gambling operations.

The motions hearing began last Tuesday and was continued Thursday afternoon so that the court could handle other scheduled matters.

Many of the defense motions relating to the indictment were overruled by Judge D. W. Suttles and the court is expected to take up matters dealing with wire taps when the hearing resumes Wednesday.

Defense attorneys have filed motions to have the wire taps suppressed, which, if granted, would mean that they could not be presented as evidence.

Suttles authorized the FBI to make the telephone taps during late 1972 and the information received from taped telephone conversations led to the indictments.

Women's Rights In Education Awaits Constitutional Action

By LEE JONES
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A women's rights in education amendment awaited a vote when Texas Constitutional Convention delegates returned to work today.

"I know what discrimination is. When I hit this place (the legislature), I was the first Jew in 50 years," Schwartz said.

Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eules, said schools whose endowments are conditioned on the hiring of professors of certain religious faiths would be forced to choose between the endowments and the grants.

Schwartz's amendment to outlaw the grants failed, 138-88.

Would Have Burden
"If all church schools closed tomorrow, we would face the biggest tax bill this state has ever seen," said Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad. He said closing the church colleges would place a giant burden on the state schools.

"Sooner or later, some of us in Texas will have to go to the Supreme Court of the United States with this issue unless something is done about it in this constitution," Schwartz said.

Proposal Falls
A proposal guaranteeing state technical institutes authority to issue bonds, plus a $1.5 million annual appropriation with which to pay them off and buy books and equipment, failed 99-67.

Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, urged approval of the fund, saying it would be a "commitment for people who may not have the opportunity of obtaining and holding a meaningful job."

But Rep. George Preston, D-Paris, said there are 5,000 students at the Texas State Technical Institute's four campuses now and asked: "Are we going to create a special fund for every 5,000 people or 5,000 students who come down here and ask for one? If we do, we will be here until 1984."

An amendment setting up an identical fund for junior college vocational programs later failed, 97-70.

FIVE TEXANS KILLED— Two Children Survive Colorado Plane Crash

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Doctors at Aspen Valley Hospital worked late into Monday night in an effort to save the life of one of two young brothers who survived the crash of a twin-engine prop plane near here.

Hospital officials in Aspen said Mark Godfrey, about 11, was undergoing surgery for multiple fractures and possible internal injuries. His condition was listed as critical.

Mark and his brother Andrew, 8, were the only survivors of a crash which killed their parents, William G. Godfrey, 41, of Houston and his wife Dineen, along with another brother and a sister.

Godfrey was executive vice president of the Capital National Bank of Houston and a brother-in-law of Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn.

The two boys, who spent two nights in freezing weather, were rescued from the wreckage of the light plane Monday. The crash occurred Saturday in timbered mountain country. Skiers at a nearby resort reported seeing the craft disappear in bad weather.

Snowstorm Slows Search
A snowstorm moved through the area Sunday, keeping search planes grounded.

Also killed in the crash were the pilot, Bernard Gallaher of Houston; Ellen Godfrey, 15, and William Jr., about 14.

Gallaher was an official of Federal Capital Corp., a parent company of Capital National.

Searchers spotted the wrecked plane about 10:30 a.m. Monday after they saw Andrew, who was waving. A Civil Air Patrol helicopter dropped to the site and found Mark pinned inside the plane.

The boys were flown to the hospital, where Andrew was reported in satisfactory condition Monday night. He suffered primarily from frostbite.

The Godfreys, who were on a ski vacation, did not take their fifth child, Paula, 1, on the trip.

After the two boys were rescued, ground crews went to the crash site on snowmobiles and recovered the five bodies.

Danny Schaffer, 9, of Denver directed authorities to the wreckage Monday, officials said, after skiers at the Sunlight ski area about 10 miles southwest of here reported they saw a plane fly over Saturday afternoon in bad weather.

A ski patrolman said the craft banked sharply as it went over a ridge. About 45 seconds later, skiers said they heard a muffled explosion.

Prisoner Loses Lawsuit, Parole, Homemade Liquor

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A state prison inmate argued that guards needed warrants for the homemade liquor they confiscated in a search of prisoners' cells.

He lost both the argument and the liquor Monday.

"This contention ... ranks high on the list of untenable positions which it has been this court's duty to examine over the years," wrote Judge Frank Gray Jr. of U.S. district court.

The suit was filed by Dewey Scott Frazier, whose bid for a parole was rejected because guards said they found five gallons of julep, the homemade alcoholic beverage, in his cell.

Texas Proposes New Kidnap Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Jim Collins, R-Tex., says he has introduced legislation "to prevent any repeat of the Hearst terrorist kidnaping."

The proposed law would make a crime for anyone to accept food, money or other commodities made available as the result of a kidnaping.

Collins, a Dallas resident, announced the proposal Monday in response to the February kidnaping of Patricia Hearst, daughter of San Francisco newspaper publisher William Randolph Hearst Jr.

Rezoning Okayed; Annexation Denied

Midland Planning and Zoning Commission approved two rezoning requests and rejected annexation proposals on three tracts of land during its regular bimonthly meeting Monday afternoon.

Troy J. Vines received unanimous approval for his zone change request for land on the Rankin Highway south of Interstate 20, from "IF-1" (one family resident) to "LI" (light industrial).

He says he is hoping to bring in a small industry for the land but has no firm plans at this time.

J. Ross Kemp's request to change 311 N. Midkiff Road from "O" (office district) to "LR-2" (local retail) was also unanimously approved. Kemp plans to rent space to Olivetti Office Machine Co. for a retail sales and repair service.

Included in Kemp's request was a restrictive covenant prohibiting restaurants or service stations on the property for period of 20 years, unless all residential property owners within 1,200 feet approve such changes in the covenant.

Annexation of three pieces of property in "windowed areas" surrounding the city was considered at the request of the City Council.

Should the city annex the land, water and sewer lines would have to be provided to the area within three years. Chairman Don Roderick noted the area will probably not be developed for several years.

The commission voted to recommend the land not be annexed, with Collier McKinzie opposing the motion.

Four more "windowed areas" will be considered at the next meeting March 18.

The two rezoning requests will go to the City Council for final approval before becoming effective.

Dillard Acquires Leonard Stores

PORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Dillard Department Stores of Little Rock, Ark., completed a multimillion-dollar transaction Monday in acquiring the business and inventories of Leonard Department Store Division of Tandy Corp.

Tandy retained store properties and fixtures to be leased to Dillard. Included are the downtown Fort Worth store, three suburban stores, a home furnishings store and a fabric store.

The transaction involves 300,000 shares of Dillard's Class A common stock at its book value of $28.50 per share.

The market value of Dillard common at the effective date was $14.38 per share.

Government Infantry Moves Against Cambodian Rebels

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Government armor and infantry are moving from the east and west against insurgent forces controlling five miles of a highway between Phnom Penh and the anchor town of its western defenses, the Cambodian command said today.

Khmer Rouge troops cut the road, Highway 4, at three points between Phnom Penh and Kompong Speu, 30 miles to the west. Field reports said two government positions within the rebel-held strip were under sporadic attack.

A European military observer said he believed the insurgents cut the road along such a long stretch because they are moving men and supplies across the highway. The highway, which is also Phnom Penh's supply route from the coast, has been blocked for more than two months 42 miles from the capital.

Farther to the southwest, the command said the government air and land counteroffensive east of the town of Kampot was continuing, but it did not say how things were going. Two thousand troops from Phnom Penh were flown to the town Sunday after the Khmer Rouge overran four government positions four to six miles east of the town.

Meanwhile, a rebel leader camped at a temple compound on the outskirts of Phnom Penh with 600 of his followers told newsmen he was negotiating with the government on behalf of 3,600 rebels who want to change sides. The man, Ung Bun Leang, 32, said he and the others are Khmer Rumdos — nationalists who say they do not support exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk and want to get the Vietnamese Communists out of Cambodia.

Political Observers Eye Ohio Election

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A special election in Ohio's 1st Congressional District is being watched by political observers as a signpost on public feeling toward the Nixon administration and Watergate.

Republican Willis D. Gradison Jr. and Democrat Thomas A. Luken are seeking in today's election the seat left vacant by former U.S. Rep. William J. Keating, R-Ohio, who resigned to become president of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

The traditionally Republican district has sent Democrats to Congress only three times this century. Keating won his seat in 1972 with a 70 per cent vote.

Elections officials declined to speculate on voter turnout. Warm weather, with temperatures in the 60s and a chance of rain, was forecast.

Fair Weather Is Replacing Storms Over Midwest Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair weather spread over the Midwest today, replacing thunderstorms and high winds that raked part of the region through the early morning.

A tornado touched down at Champaign, Ill., Monday night, cutting power lines and causing damage to businesses and homes. No injuries were reported.

Tornadoes also were sighted at Urbana and Danville, Ill., and high winds caused damage at Pawnee, Ill., and Morganfield, Ky.

The thunderstorms, which continued through the night from Central Arkansas into western New England, occurred generally along a cold front that put a damper on unseasonably mild weather over much of the midcontinent.

Ahead of the front, temperatures hit springlike levels with readings in the 60s as far north as southern New York and in the 70s in West Virginia and southern Pennsylvania.

Record highs were registered Monday with 81 at Norfolk, Va.; 79 at Charleston, W.Va., and 67 at Hartford, Conn.

Some snow fell in Upper Michigan and the northern Rockies. The higher elevations of the Pacific Northwest also were dusted by snow, while rain showered coastal areas.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 15 at Hibbing, Minn., to 73 at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

West Virginia Miners Remain Out On Strike

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Southern West Virginia coal miners remained on strike today protesting fuel allocation policies, but action was under way in federal court and by the governor to end the walkout.

Coal industry spokesmen have contended that there is enough gasoline for the miners to return to work, and one official said a total of 1.775 million gallons of gas was pumped into the state over the weekend.

But United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller said Monday the shortage in the 10 affected counties was worse than he had believed.

Miners from Logan County received a proposal from Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. and were to vote on that today. Details of the plan were not made public.

In a related development, U.S. District Court Judge Dennis R. Knapp was expected to rule today on whether to order 6,000 miners of 27 southern locals back to work. Attorneys for 20 coal companies had asked for restraining orders against picketing.

The work stoppage, involving more than 20,000 miners, began Feb. 26 after miners said they could not get enough gasoline to commute to work in some areas.

The major complaint of the miners is an order by Moore under which a motorist is entitled to gasoline only if his tank is less than a quarter full. The miners contend that creates too much risk of running out of gas between stations. Some commute as much as 100 miles a day to work.

Mandatory Safety Rules Are Planned For TV Sets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission announced Monday it plans to develop mandatory safety standards for television sets, suspected of causing hundreds of house fires, injuries and deaths each year.

The commission said at least 28 major manufacturers are being invited to a public hearing in Washington April 23-24 to explain what they are doing to reduce fire, electrical shock and explosion hazards.

Since last June 18, several companies have notified the agency of potential shock and fire hazards in more than 140,000 color television sets, most of them portable models.

Those problems were either corrected or the consumer's purchase price refunded, the commission said. The companies which reported the defects notified, mandatory under federal law, were Panasonic, Philco-Ford, Packard Bell, Montgomery Ward, Zenith, Admiral and RCA.

The commission began to investigate television safety in earnest last year after news accounts of a rash of fires which local authorities blamed on television sets.

From news stories, consumer complaints and hospital emergency room reports last year, the commission learned of 35 fire, shock or explosion incidents related to tv sets which resulted in 14 fire deaths, two electrocutions and at least 15 injuries.

Last September the commission directed its field offices to investigate 916 fires said by local fire authorities to have been associated with tv sets in cities with a combined population of 21.7 million persons, or about one-tenth the nation's total population.

The commission said only three of those fires resulted in serious injury, with one death, one person hospitalized and three injured by burns or smoke inhalation.

Burglars Invade Midland Church

Hearing Wednesday On Secret Watergate Report

TO SPEAK HERE — Well-known author-lecturers Hugh Lynn Cayce, left, and Robert Krajenke will be speakers in a program scheduled for 8 p.m. today in Theatre Centre, 2301 W. Indiana St. Cayce, son of the late Edgar Cayce, the famed "Sleeping Prophet of Virginia Beach," will speak on "The New Testament—A Way of Grace." Krajenke's topic is "The Old Testament As Man's Spiritual Journey." There is a $2 admission charge.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. District Judge will listen to arguments in open court Wednesday before deciding what to do with the secret Watergate report given to him by a federal grand jury.

After meeting with attorneys in his office for more than an hour, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica scheduled a hearing for 10 a.m. Wednesday and said that "all interested parties may state their views regarding the disposition of the report and recommendation filed last Friday by the June 1972 grand jury."

Sirica's office refused to say who had asked for the hearing.

Participants in the meeting included James D. St. Clair and Richard Hauser from the White House; Henry S. Ruth, deputy special prosecutor, and Philip A. Lacovara, Richard Ben-Veniste and Peter Kreinder of the prosecutor's office, and John J. Wilson and Frank Strickler, attorney for H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

The surprise announcement raised the possibility that the White House planned to oppose release of the report and possibly its transmission to the House impeachment inquiry.

Sirica had ordered all parties not to discuss either the report or the indictments returned by the grand jury Friday. But sources said the report contained the grand jury's findings on the role of President Nixon in Watergate.

White House deputy press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said, "Our position will be made known in open court. I have nothing further to say at this time."

Warren's statement came only a few hours after he told newsmen "there is no present intention" on the part of the White House to ask that the report be withheld from the impeachment inquiry.

Warren said St. Clair, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, had asked for the meeting. He said he was unaware when he made his earlier statement that St. Clair planned to meet with Sirica.

Participation of Wilson and Strickler in the meeting indicated the prime concern may have been public release of the report. As defense counsel for two of the men indicted Friday, they would be concerned that release of the report could prejudice the case against the former White House aides.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman were charged with conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury stemming from an alleged effort to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in. Five other Nixon associates also were indicted.

Monday, Haldeman called a news conference on the front lawn of his Los Angeles home and predicted he would be exonerated of the conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury charges against him.

In a related development, the prosecutor's office asked the U.S. Court of Appeals to deny Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt's request for reversal of his conviction in the original Watergate break-in case.

Also Monday, Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., of the House Judiciary Committee said the committee was pondering its next step if the White House refused to turn over material requested for its impeachment inquiry.

Grover Leaves Governor's Race

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former Sen. Henry Grover, who lost to Gov. Dolph Briscoe by less than 100,000 votes in 1972, has dropped out of this year's race.

Grover, 46, said Monday that the Republican party leadership in Texas has decided not to make any effort to win the gubernatorial race.

He identified the leaders as Anne Armstrong, special adviser to President Nixon, and Sen. John Tower.

Grover said he owes "slightly more than $400,000" in campaign expenses and that politics had cost him $200,000 to $250,000.

He will return to his job as fund raiser for Houston Baptist College, he said.

Grover refused to say which of the GOP candidates for governor he would support, Jim Granbury of Lubbock or Odell McBrayer of Fort Worth.

"I'd say the two candidates are about equal since God told me to run and Sen. Tower the other," he said, explaining that he was referring first to McBrayer and second to Granbury.

Grover said he was still convinced a Republican candidate could win this year if the campaign had adequate funds.

"You can't continue to beat your head against the wall when there are those in high positions who are pre-determined to lose it," he said.

Asked if he would ever get back into politics, Grover said: "I can't imagine any circumstance where I'd ever run for office again."

State GOP Chairman Jack Warren disputed the assertion by Grover that Texas Republican leaders don't seek to win the governor's race this time around.

"I've said all along we were going to totally and completely support our gubernatorial candidate whoever it might be," Warren declared at Tyler. "We would have supported Hank (Grover) had he been it."

Granbury, a Lubbock dentist, took issue with Grover over what prompted his candidacy.

Referring to the remark about Tower telling him to run, Granbury said, "I made an independent judgment back in June. Since that time I have weathered the possibility that (Republican National Chairman) George Bush would run. Ray Hutchison (a Dallas legislator) was an announced candidate for awhile.

"There was even the possibility that John Tower himself might get in the race. No one told me to run."

Briscoe Doesn't Know His Worth

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he has large holdings in ranch properties and bank stocks, but he has no way of estimating his total wealth.

"In the ranching business it depends on how much value you put on the value of land and stocks . . . I could not make an estimate (of net worth)," Briscoe told a news conference Monday.

Briscoe, who has been called a multimillionaire and possibly the largest landholder in Texas, filed his 1973 financial statement Monday, as required by a law passed by the 1973 Legislature for all public office holders and candidates. The law says that sources of income must be reported by categories—such as less than $1,000, $1,000 to $4,999 and $5,000 or more.

When asked if he planned to reveal further financial details, particularly an income tax return, Briscoe replied quickly.

"No, sir. I think some things are a private matter and should remain a private matter."

The report said Briscoe owns 48 per cent of Briscoe Ranch Inc., with his mother, Mrs. Dolph Briscoe Sr., his three children and various family trusts holding the remaining percentage.

Subsidiaries of Briscoe Ranch Inc., which has 169,695 acres of ranch properties in Dimmit, Webb, Zavala, Maverick, and Uvalde Counties, are Green Branch Cattle Co., with 7,968 acres in Uvalde County; the First State Bank of Uvalde and the Security State Bank of Pearsall.

Briscoe also is listed as 60 per cent owner of Omittos Ranch Inc., with the other interest held by family members. Omittos is listed with more than 167,000 acres of farm and ranch land in Uvalde, McMullen, LaSalle, Webb, Kinney, Maverick, Zavala, Frio and Dimmit Counties.

The report said that assets of corporations in which 50 per cent or more of the stock was held by the Dolph Briscoe family included:

- Federated Texas Bank corporations Inc., Broadway National Bank, First State Bank of Uvalde, First City Bankcorporation of Texas Inc., Highland Park State Bank, National Farm Loan Association, Federal Land Bank Security State Bank, Pearsall, and Exxon Corp., all 500 shares or more;
- Eisenhower National Bank, Alamo Heights National Bank, and Sabinal State Bank, all from 100 to 499 shares, and Green Branch Cattle Co., and National Finance Credit Corp., both less than 100 shares.

Pair Bound Over In Abduction

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A U.S. magistrate bound over a Georgia couple Monday for grand jury action on charges stemming from the abduction of Atlanta Constitution editor Reg Murphy.

Magistrate J. Roger Thompson denied a motion for dismissal of charges against Betty Ruth Williams, 26, but reduced her bond from $500,000 to $100,000.

He declined to reduce the $1 million bond against her husband, William A. H. Williams. The 33-year-old Williams is charged with extortion and his wife is charged with failing to report the alleged violation.

The couple from Lilburn, Ga., was arrested Feb. 23, hours after Murphy was released unharmed for $700,000 ransom after two days as a captive.

In refusing to reduce Williams' bond, which his attorney claimed was excessive, Thompson said:

"I in good conscience could not set a bond lower than what he (Williams) set for Mr. Murphy—if in fact he did commit the abduction."

In arguing for dismissal of charges against Mrs. Williams, her lawyer, Doug Johnston, told the court: "Her children need her. Her family needs her." He said there was no evidence at the hearing that she participated in the extortion.

Thompson said he found ample evidence in the finding of Mrs. Williams' fingerprints on the plastic bag containing $4,000 found on her dresser, and in the fact that Murphy told the FBI he thought a female had been present during his captivity.

"I have compassion for her children," said the magistrate. "I have compassion for all children—I have children myself. But what compassion did she show for the children of Mr. Murphy?"

However, he added there was evidence to show that her action "was at least secondary" and reduced her bail.

FBI agent Paul B. King Jr. testified that Williams was the driver of a car spotted near where the ransom was paid for Murphy.

Asked by Asst. U.S. Atty. John Gaffney if he could identify the driver, King said, "Yes," and pointed at Williams.

The burly, sideburned Williams, clad in a brown, fringed leather jacket, stared intently at witnesses and occasionally smiled at their answers.

Jim Minter, managing editor of the Constitution and the first of three witnesses, was questioned closely by defense attorneys about newspaper articles concerning the kidnaping.

Gaffney protested, claiming the attorneys were trying to establish pretrial publicity, a motion that did not address itself to the hearing. Thompson agreed.

ATLANTA, Tex. (AP) — School Supt. El Douglas has resigned, effective June 30, to become superintendent of the Garland School District.

Douglas came to Galveston in 1969. He submitted his letter of resignation March 1 and it was received Monday by William McRae, school board president.

Government Borrowing Revenue Sharing Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The revenue-sharing program is providing a new touch of financial irony. The federal government is borrowing back some of its own tax money.

Nobody in the federal Revenue Sharing Office knows exactly how much, although a survey taken last June showed that a large portion of unspent federal revenue sharing money was being invested either in U.S. treasury notes or bank certificates of deposit.

One reason the revenue sharing program has turned into a source of money for investment by state and local governments is that they are not in the fi-ancial pinch that they were a few years ago.

At the same time, state and local governments have earmarked a large portion of their money for capital projects that take a long time to build and which do not require immediate expenditures.

A report issued by the Revenue Sharing Office last week showed that as of last June 30, state governments had spent only about 45 per cent of $2.2 billion in revenue sharing money and local governments had spent about 40 per cent of about $4 billion.

Graham Watt, director of the office, said another survey taken early last spring showed that state and local governments had invested almost $2 billion in revenue sharing funds, some in government securities and others in bank certificates of deposit.

He said under the law the money must be disbursed to state and local governments and put into a trust fund. The Treasury Department cannot withhold the money, he added.

Watt also said that state and local governments have up to two years to spend the money and added that it is only natural that they would invest some of it.

The Treasury official said that state and local governments held about $28.9 billion of the federal debt, an increase of $300 million from a year earlier.

This apparently means that the revenue sharing program is not causing a great upsurge in government securities held by state and local governments, the official said.

But Watt conceded that many state and local governments are finding U.S. government securities a good source of investment. This means that the Treasury Department is collecting the tax money, sending it to states, cities and counties in the form of revenue sharing, and then borrowing it back at interest.

Explosion May Have Caused Airliner Crash

PARIS (AP) — Additional evidence has come to light indicating an explosion may have caused the crash of the Turkish airliner in which 346 persons died just north of Paris Sunday.

At least 17 of the victims were Americans.

Investigators searching the wooded crash site 23 miles north of Paris said they have not ruled out the possibility that a bomb may have gone off aboard the DC10 jetliner, causing the worst crash in aviation history.

But the experts cautioned that even if there was an explosion, it might have been caused by a mechanical malfunction and not a bomb.

The explosion theory is "one of several" being investigated, officials close to the inquiry said. But they pointed to several facts that support the theory.

Six bodies were found clustered together and relatively intact six miles from the crash site, indicating they were ejected while the aircraft was still aloft.

A door to the plane's baggage hold was found intact nine miles from the main crash site. Investigators said it must have fallen to the ground a few seconds before the six bodies.

"The wreckage at the crash site was so shattered that experts said it was likely the plane broke up before it hit the ground.

Officials at Orly Airport said the plane was guarded while it was on the ground in Paris and the 216 passengers who boarded in the French capital were searched along with their hand luggage. But the French civil aviation department said there was no inspection of the plane's baggage hold because none was requested by the Turkish airline.

It was not known what security precautions had been taken in Istanbul, where the flight

Paris and London originated and where the 12 crewmen and 118 of the passengers boarded.

"It will be at least a week before we can say anything for sure," one investigator said.

There were no survivors from the crash.

The airline issued a passenger list Monday containing only the last names of those aboard and was slowly assembling additional information on the casualties.

The U.S. Embassy in London issued a list of 17 American residents of Britain who died in the crash. They included Wayne Wilcox, the American cultural attache in London, his wife, and two of their four children; Loren Hart, an executive of Cities Service International, his wife, and their three children; Ronald Smith, 12, a schoolmate of the Hart children; Thomas Wright, a broker for Merrill Lynch, his wife and three children; Clara Lux, 80, an American citizen living in Britain, and Phyllis Cafe Kwegg, Seattle-born wife of Londoner David Kween.

Also among the victims were four top London fashion models, three senior officials of the British Department of Trade and Industry, and 18 members of a Suffolk rugby team.

Southern California, heading for a Pacific Eight Conference showdown against UCLA Saturday night, is on the rise in the Associated Press' college basketball poll.

The Trojans, 22-3 for the season and 11-2 in the Pac-8, jumped from No. 10 to No. 7 in this week's poll of a national panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Southern California beat Stanford and California last week.

The Trojans face their major test of the season against the mighty Bruins with the league title and an NCAA Tournament bid at stake. UCLA, also 22-3 and 11-2, remained third in this week's poll. UCLA beat Southern California 85-54 in their first meeting earlier this season on the Bruins court.

North Carolina State held the top spot with 25 first-place votes and 770 total points. The Wolfpack recorded victories over Atlantic Coast Conference rivals North Carolina and Wake Forest, raising their record to 24-1.

Notre Dame, also 24-1 after beating Ball State and Villanova, stayed a close second with 15 first-place votes and 750 points. No. 3 UCLA got the other first-place vote and 658 points.

Maryland, 21-4, advanced one spot to No. 4 after topping Wake Forest and Virginia. Vanderbilt, 23-2, moved into the No. 5 spot after beating Mississippi and Kentucky.

North Carolina, 21-4, fell from fourth to sixth after losing to North Carolina State and beating Duke. Providence, which upped its mark to 25-3 with victories over Canisius and St. John's, N.Y., vaulted from 12th to eighth.

SPRING TRAINING ROUNDUP—

Twins' Oliva Fighting Designated Salary Cut

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Tony Oliva, the Minnesota Twins' designated hitter, is trying to avoid a designated salary cut and the issue is whether a designated hitter should be designated a part-time ballplayer.

He met with Twins' President Calvin Griffith for 45 minutes Monday at the team's Orlando, Fla., spring base and continued to demand the $91,000 he received last season when he batted 291 with 16 home runs and 92 runs batted in. Griffith, meanwhile, refused to raise his $84,000 offer.

"The designated hitter is something new," Griffith said. "No one knows what they're worth. I feel, however, they are part-time players and should be paid accordingly."

Naturally, Oliva has a different view. "I had a good year," he said. "I deserve at least as much as I made last year. Other designated hitters like Orlando Cepeda and Deron Johnson received raises and I'm only asking for the same as I got last year."

Griffith said doctors have told him Oliva, who has had four operations on his right knee, will never again be able to play the outfield. He said if the player doesn't sign by Sunday he may change his offer to a maximum 20 per cent cut.

In New York, meanwhile, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn met with Bill Bartholomay, president of the Atlanta Braves, and you can bet the topic was whether to make Hank Aaron a designated player in the Braves' season-opening series in Cincinnati. The commissioner's office, though, slipped a top-secret lid on the discussion.

However, Kuhn has questioned the Braves' announced intention not to start Aaron in the three games at Cincinnati in an effort to have him break Babe Ruth's record of 714 home runs when the team returns to Atlanta — hopefully before he is stay healthy.

out crowds. Aaron has 713 homers. Elsewhere, the 24 major league teams continued to get their players in shape for the exhibition games, which begin later this week. The Detroit Tigers were given a clean bill of health following routine physical examinations. Outfielder Ken Berry rejoined the Milwaukee Brewers after a three-day bout with the flu and pitcher Sam McDowell of the New York Yankees, another flu victim, was reported much improved. So was Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris, also out three days with the bug. Outfielder Rick Monday of the Chicago Cubs, who has regained seven of the 17 pounds he lost to the flu, was to be examined today to decide whether he can start working out. Cincinnati second baseman Joe Morgan, coming off an operation to remove a calcium deposit from his left heel, said it "seems to be fine." Los Angeles pitcher Andy Messersmith threw 30 minutes of batting practice and said he "didn't feel any strain whatsoever" from the pulled groin muscle that hampered him late last season. X rays of Montreal outfielder Boots Day's right knee, which he twisted Saturday, were negative.

McNEAL WINS— Rebels Trip Pecos, 6-0

PECOS — Eddie McNeal, senior righthander, threw a two-hitter at Pecos Monday night to hand the Midland Lee Rebels their fourth baseball victory without a loss, a 6-0 win over the Class AAA Eagles.

McNeal, a 6-1, 195-pounder, walked four and struck out six and got good support from the field by his teammates to give Lee a 4-0 record going into this afternoon's game with Lubbock Monterey at the Lee diamond.

The Rebels got all the runs they needed in the second inning off loser Kenneth Williams by scoring twice and the Tall City nine added four more in the third inning.

Williams was tough, too, just surrendering four hits, but four errors hurt the Eagles.

With one down in the top of the second, David Clingman singled and Steve Hankinson walked. A throwing error by catcher Danny Abila enabled Clingman to score and Hankinson came in on a squeeze bunt by Craig McColloch for a 2-0 advantage.

In the big four-run fourth for Lee, Steve Koch got started with a single and Blackwell sacrificed Koch to second and was safe on an error by third baseman Al Hernandez. Larry Tidwell was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Bobby Stevens grounded to short and Koch was forced at the plate for the first out, but Clingman walked with the bases full to force in Blackwell for a 3-0 lead. Hankinson plated another run with an infield single and Blain Murray walked with the bases loaded for another run. McColloch tapped back to the mound for the second out with Clingman scoring for a 6-0 lead.

Lee only had two more base runners the rest of the way when Stevens singled in the fourth and Hankinson was safe on an error by shortstop Donald Walker.

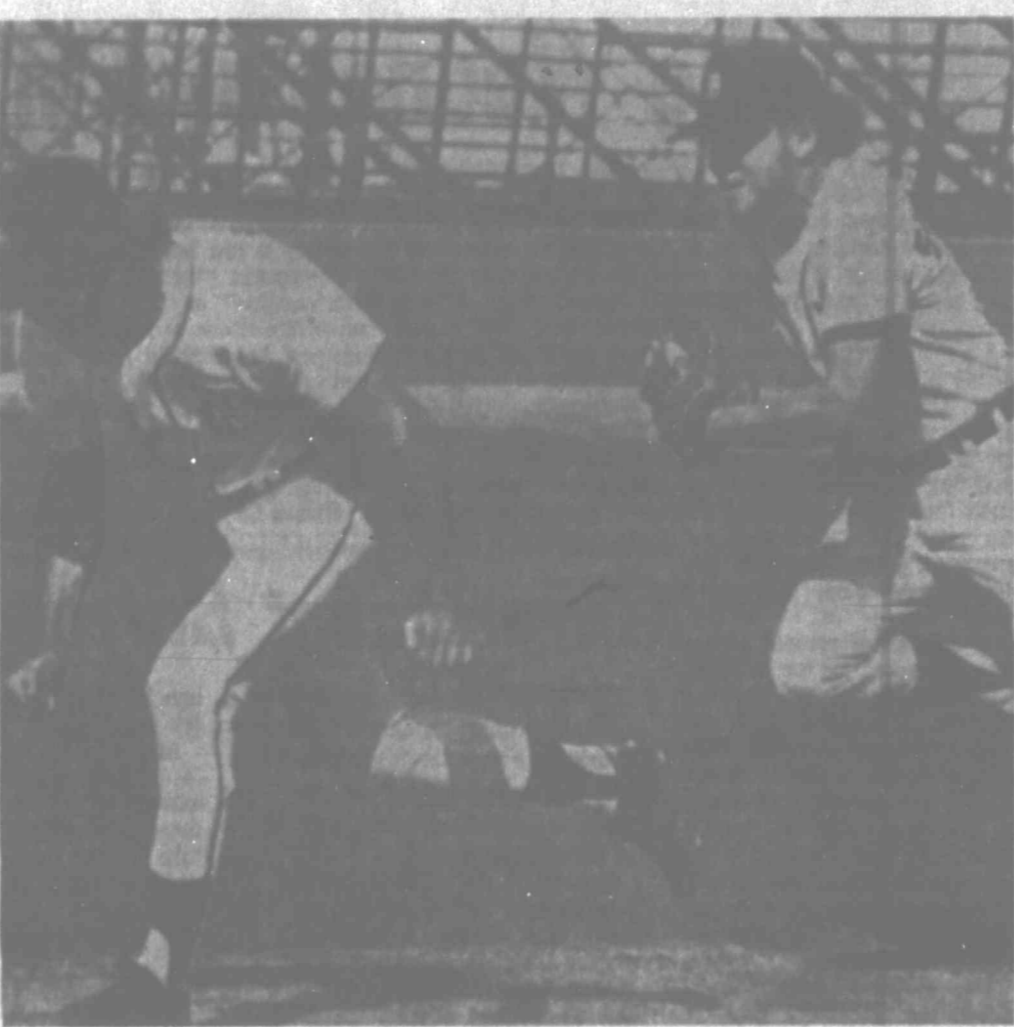

Pecos got a runner as far as third base in the seventh inning when McNeal uncorked two wild pitches.

Odessa Permian opened its 1974 baseball season by pounding out a 18-0 victory over Fort Stockton while Snyder blanked Big Spring, 1-0 in another game involving District 5-4A teams.

Permian had 19 hits with third baseman Mark Chellette going four-for-four with a home run and three runs batted in. Catcher Rusty Breazeale had two hits in four trips and four RBIs for the winners. Righthander Alex Keger struck out 12 and tossed a one-hitter.

Doak Witherspoon tossed a one-hitter for Snyder while loser John Thomas Smith had a four-hitter for Big Spring. Ralph Lewis doubled and scored on a single by Robert Alderete in the third inning.

Snyder is 2-0 going into its game with Midland today in which the Steers stand 1-3 on the year.

THE CHASE IS ON — Ron Cash, left, Detroit Tiger infielder, is about to be tagged by second baseman Gary Sutherland as the team worked on rundown plays at spring training camp in Lakeland, Fla., Monday. Sutherland came to the team in a winter deal with the Houston Astros. (AP Wirephoto.)

Bucks Down Kings

Virginia Upsets Utah In 2 Overtimes

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Oscar Robertson attacked reports of his decline verbally and statistically.

The big guard for Milwaukee had just played 40 minutes in the Bucks' sixth game in six nights, a 109-103 National Basketball Association decision over the Kansas City-Omaha Kings Monday night, and he felt the books could be definitively closed on two oracles: the team's and his own.

In the only other basketball action Monday night, the Virginia Squires nipped the Utah Stars 107-106 in the American Basketball Association.

The Bucks, decimated all season by injuries, posted a 4-2 record during the six-game stretch by winning their last three. Their endurance has been tested and they have survived and now lead second-place Chicago in the Midwest Division by five games.

The 35-year-old Robertson, help the Bucks beat the Kings. Robertson's backcourt mate, Lucius Allen, paced the Bucks in the last 5:13 with eight points and two steals.

Allen scored 21 points and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 20 for the Bucks, while Jimmy Walker and Ron Behagen led the Kings with 24 points apiece.

Cincy Powell's three-point field goal with 22 seconds remaining in double overtime put the see-saw game in the Squires' victory column, 107-106.

Virginia led most of the way, but Utah's James Jones sent the game into overtime at 92-92 when he stole an inbound pass and scored with 25 seconds left.

After each club added six points to its total in the first overtime, the teams continued to trade baskets in the second five-minute period.

Willie Wise put the Stars in front 106-104 with 42 seconds left but Powell finally settled the issue by going for the three-pointer.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL ROUNDUP— Notre Dame Falls To Dayton Flyers

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

"I won't get any sleep tonight," crowed Dayton Coach Don Donohoe after his Flyers upset mighty Notre Dame 97-82 Monday night.

"This is just the greatest win we've had in the time I've been here."

Dayton, egged on by an enthusiastic home crowd of 13,528 screaming, partisan fans, roared off to a 13-point lead in the early going and the Irish never caught up. Notre Dame, ranked No. 2 nationally, crept to within four points, 52-48, five minutes into the second half, but the Flyers refused to fold and won going away.

In other top games, No. 8 Providence whipped Brown 92-77, No. 10 South Carolina defeated No. 19 Creighton 78-69, No. 12 Alabama beat Auburn 97-84, No. 18 Louisville outlasted Illinois State 117-107 and Tulsa shaded No. 20 Oral Roberts 85-84.

Senior guard Donald Smith was the top man for Dayton with a season-high 32 points, 20 in the second half. Johnny Davis added 18 for the Flyers, who closed out the regular season with a 19-7 record.

John Shumate paced the Irish, who wind up 26-2, with 29 points.

Both clubs are headed for NCAA playoff games Saturday. The Irish go against Ohio Valley Conference champion Austin Peay and Dayton faces Pacific Coast Athletic Conference representative Los Angeles State.

Senior Marvin Barnes powered Providence past Brown with 37 points and 23 rebounds. The Friars, 26-3, broke it open midway through the second half and cruised home.

Brian Winters pumped in 29 points and Nate Davis added 18 as South Carolina finished its regular campaign with a 23-4 mark. Doug Brooks led Creighton with 23 points. Both clubs have accepted NCAA bids.

Charles Russell scored 26 points and Ray Odums added 22 as Alabama raised its record to 23-4, the first time ever the Crimson Tide has won 23 regular-season games. Southeastern Conference scoring leader Eddie Johnson collected 28 points for Auburn.

Louisville had to overcome a 38-point effort by Illinois State's Rick Whitlow to notch its 20th victory of the year, against five losses. Bill Butler topped the Cardinals with 24 points and Allen Murphy added 20.

Tim Carson's 25-footer, with 48 seconds left gave Tulsa its upset over NCAA-bound Oral Roberts.

Knights Edge Blazers In Wild 7-6 Ice Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Harry Howell, in his 23rd season as a defenseman in professional hockey, knows good defense when he sees it.

He didn't see it Monday night.

The Jersey Knights and the Vancouver Blazers kept the scoreboard operator in business with 13 goals, but when the pucks had stopped flying it was the Knights whose defense had the statistical edge.

Brian Morenz backhanded a shot past George Gardner at 5:33 of the overtime period, giving the Knights a 7-6 victory over the Blazers in the only World Hockey Association game.

There were no games scheduled in the National Hockey League.

The Knights give up goals in bunches, but they can score them that way, too.

Andre Lacroix, the WHA's leading scorer last season when he played for the Blazers — then in Philadelphia — had a goal and three assists Monday night, including the pass which set up Morenz' game winner.

Norm Ferguson opened the scoring for the Knights at 5:06 of the first period and Garry Peters made it 2-0 4 1/2 minutes later. Danny Lawson's 42nd goal for Vancouver halved the margin, but Lacroix's 28th of the year sent Jersey off with a 3-1 first-period lead.

In the second period Murray Myers, twice, John Migneault and Jim Adair scored for Vancouver while Gene Peacosh had two goals for Jersey, tying the game at 5-5 after two periods.

Ron Plumb scored from in front of the crease at 3:19 of the third period, giving Vancouver its only lead of the game, but Lacroix set up Kevin Morrison's goal at 12:07 to force the overtime.

In the extra period, Vancouver tested Jersey goalie Joe Junkin with three shots for a total of 35, while the Knights, who had 42 shots on goal in the game, scored on their only shot of the overtime.

The victory, second in a row for the Knights, moved them into a tie for fifth place with Chicago in the WHA East. Both clubs are four points behind Cleveland in the battle for the division's fourth and final playoff spot.

The Blazers, who haven't played a tie game in two seasons, lost their eighth straight game, but maintained their four-point lead over last-place Los Angeles in the Western Division.

Salary like Issue Still Unsettled

BY JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—The issue of a pay raise for congressmen and other high government officials still is unsettled, but opponents were decisively in the first test votes in the Senate.

A resolution to kill the salary increases is pending, but a filibuster to keep it from being brought to a vote is threatened and other maneuvers are in prospect.

The pay raises budgeted by President Nixon, 7.5 per cent this year and for each of the next two years, will take effect automatically Saturday unless disapproved by the Senate or the House.

The next scheduled Senate vote in the controversy is Wednesday, on the question of whether to invoke the Senate's debate cutoff rule.

A two-thirds majority is necessary to put the rule into effect, and the outcome is in doubt.

Mansfield Hoped
Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who is opposed to the pay raises and who has been urging the Senate to settle the issue, said Monday that he still hopes a filibuster won't develop.

Under Nixon's recommendations, the pay of congressmen would go up to $45,700 this year, $49,100 next year and $52,800 in 1976.

Judges and top-level executives would get comparable three-step raises, except that Cabinet officers and Supreme Court justices would receive a single $4,500 increase next year in their $60,000 salaries.

Ervin Sees Action On Data Bank Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress will act this year to place privacy restrictions on the rapidly growing criminal data banks used by many states and the FBI, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., predicts.

Massachusetts Gov. Francis Sargent was to be the leadoff witness today at the opening of six days of hearings into privacy legislation introduced by Ervin and endorsed by the Nixon administration.

Sargent's state has refused to take part in the national computerized criminal data bank system run by the FBI, principally because of its state laws protecting the release of such information as arrest and conviction records and criminal histories.

Ervin, chairman of the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional rights, has praised the President's recent endorsements of legal restrictions on the data bank system and called on him to urge Congress to enact those limits "at the earliest possible date."

Both the Ervin bill and the administration legislation, sponsored by Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., call for sealing certain records after a period of time and forbidding their further dissemination.

The major difference between the two bills is the way in which they would be administered.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The issue of a pay raise for congressmen and other high government officials still is unsettled, but opponents were decisively in the first test votes in the Senate.

A resolution to kill the salary increases is pending, but a filibuster to keep it from being brought to a vote is threatened and other maneuvers are in prospect.

The pay raises budgeted by President Nixon, 7.5 per cent this year and for each of the next two years, will take effect automatically Saturday unless disapproved by the Senate or the House.

The next scheduled Senate vote in the controversy is Wednesday, on the question of whether to invoke the Senate's debate cutoff rule.

A two-thirds majority is necessary to put the rule into effect, and the outcome is in doubt.

Mansfield Hoped
Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who is opposed to the pay raises and who has been urging the Senate to settle the issue, said Monday that he

Tower Votes Yea On Pay Increases; Bentsen Abstains

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., voted with the minority Monday as the Senate rejected 26-62 a pay raise amendment providing for a single, 5.5 per cent pay raise this year for congressional and other top government salaries.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Jr., D-Tex., was not listed as voting.

Tower joined 18 Republicans and 13 Democrats in voting against the measure. Voting for the amendment were 37 Democrats and 25 Republicans.

Tower voted against a related amendment as the Senate defeated 73-17 an amendment to delay for a year a pay increase for congressional members and other high government officials. Again, Bentsen was not listed as voting.

Florida Authorities Investigating Deaths After 'Sheep Blood' Therapy

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Authorities investigating the deaths of two men treated at a rejuvenation clinic say they are seeking names of other people given sheep cell injections there in the past six months, the Fort Myers News Press has learned.

In a copyrighted story Sunday in the newspaper reported a Lee County probe into the deaths of Texas millionaire Arthur Reed, 50, and George Aacco, 39, a Tampa fireman.

Officials said they were checking reports of two more deaths of persons treated at the clinic but the investigation was incomplete. They would not disclose the names.

Investigators also confirmed Monday that they went to Texas last week and exhumed Reed's body. They said results of an autopsy won't be known for two weeks.

The Dallas insurance magnate, who suffered from diabetes and a heart condition, died Jan. 21 after undergoing rejuvenation treatment at the new life clinic operated by Dr. Robert Peterson in North Fort Myers, investigators said.

Sacco, who was treated at the clinic for poor circulation, died Jan. 22, two days after he was transferred from the clinic to the Miami Heart Institute. The cause of death was listed as gas gangrene and sepsis decay associated with therapeutic sheep cell injection of the buttock.

"We are undertaking a thorough investigation not only of the deaths, but of the entire operation at the clinic to determine whether any laws have been violated," said Louis St. Laurent, assistant Lee County state attorney.

The News Press said it also has learned that officials are seeking clinic records to learn the names of those treated over the past six months.

Peterson disputes whether there are grounds for an investigation. "We did the procedures just as we should," he said Monday. "The people who come to us are poor risks. We don't promise miracles. We don't promise anything. All we say is that we will try."

Peterson said Reed was warned that the chances for recovery were "very, very slim but he wished to go ahead with the treatment."

Sacco left the hospital before being discharged and failed to follow post-treatment instructions, Peterson said.

The so-called cellular therapy was pioneered in Switzerland as a method to retard the degenerative process. Peterson uses an extract made from sheep, a patient pays an average of $1,000 for seven to 10 injections to help conditions ranging from arthritis to sexual impotency.
