

Ventures Set For Yoakum, King Sectors

Wildcat locations have been staked in King and Yoakum counties.

C-M-R, Inc. of Midland plans No. 3 Bateman as a 5,400-foot exploratory test in King, nine miles east of Guthrie.

It is 1/4 mile southwest of the same firm's No. 1 Bateman, an undesignated Burger sand discovery.

Drill site is 3,680 feet from north and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 96, block A, J. B. Rector survey, abstract 391.

The Burger sand strike was completed Oct. 16, 1973, for 40 barrels of 33-gravity oil and 360 barrels of water, through perforations at 3,891-3,894 feet.

Yoakum Try
Amerada Hess Corp. operating from Seminole, plans to re-enter and attempt re-completion at around 9,500 feet, at No. 3-B E. H. Jones, former Wolfcamp producer, in an attempt to re-open Wichita production in the Jones Ranch field, in Yoakum County.

It is 1/4 mile southeast of the depleted original Wichita discovery, but separated by an 11,436-foot Devonian failure.

Test site is 1,250 feet from north and 1,650 feet from east lines of section 6, block A-6, PSL survey, 15 miles southwest of Denver City.

The Wichita opener, Amerada Hess No. 2 L. B. Tannehill, et al, was completed July 8, 1964, for 540 barrels of 52.4-gravity oil per day, with gas-oil ratio of 230-1, through a 1/2-inch choke and perforations at 8,965-8,977 feet.

Lea, Eddy Draw Gas, Oil Strikes

A gas discovery was completed in Lea County, N.M., and an oil strike was finished in Eddy.

Brunson & McKnight, operating from Roswell, announced the completion of No. 1 Oje Chiao Unit, as a Middle Morrow gas discovery in Lea, 30 miles southwest of Eunice.

Calculated, absolute open flow potential was for 14.7 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, producing through perforations at 13,177-13,187 feet. No treatment was reported.

Drilled to 14,739 feet, it is plugged back to 13,350 feet.

Last November, it was announced that R. J. Zonne of Midland had taken over operation of the project, however completion was filed with the New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission by Brunson & McKnight.

Location is 1,960 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 23-22a-94e, 4 1/2 miles northeast of the Bell Lakes, North (Devonian) field.

Eddy Strike
D. L. Hamlin and Joe Don Cook of Roswell completed a Delaware sand oil discovery in Eddy, four miles south of Carlsbad, No. 1 Merland finished to flow 182 barrels of 42.5-gravity oil daily.

Production was through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 4,454-4,464 feet, which had been acidized with 500 gallons.

Location is 2,004 feet from south and 1,870 feet from east

Energy Bill Vetoed; Senate Slates Vote On Overriding

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today announced his veto of energy emergency legislation, saying it would result in reduced energy supplies, longer lines at the gasoline pumps, minimal reduction in gasoline prices and "worst of all serious damage to jobs in America."

Anticipating the veto, the Senate scheduled a vote on overriding later in the day. Nixon said it was "with a deep sense of disappointment" that he sent back the bill without his approval after Congress has worked on it for almost four months.

But, Nixon said, it "threatens to undo the progress we have already made, and creates a host of new problems." "Unemployment would go up and incomes would go down," as a result of the bill's proposed rollback of domestic crude oil prices, the President contended.

Nixon said the proposed bill would set the oil prices "at such low levels that the oil industry would be unable to sustain its present production of petroleum products, including gasoline" and that is the basis for his dire predictions about its impact.

Nixon said it would "make compulsory rationing of gasoline more likely" by cutting the supply of gasoline and other oil products.

Nixon also said the bill was "objectionable because it would establish an unworkable and inequitable program of unemployment payments."

He said it would saddle the government with what he described as the impossible task of determining which unemployed workers were jobless because of the energy situation. Eligibility for such benefits also would not take into account the availability of jobs in a particular area, Nixon said.

A two-thirds vote in both houses was required to override Nixon's veto. In advance of the balloting, the Senate was considered more likely than the House to do so.

Senate Interior Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., floor manager of the long-stalled bill, predicted the vote would be very close. Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said: "I would say at this point that the probability is slightly in favor of the veto being sustained in the Senate."

The Senate originally passed the bill by a greater than two-thirds margin, while the House vote fell 15 short of the needed two-thirds.

Even before the House vote, Nixon said he would veto the bill principally because he believes its rollback provision would lead to decreased oil production and longer gasoline lines.

The current Congress has overridden only one of nine previous vetoes, enacting the measure limiting the President's war-making powers.

Jackson has claimed that the oil rollback would reduce the pump price of gasoline by up to five cents a gallon and cut soaring propane prices in half. The administration, backed by Republicans and members from oil-producing states, contends that the rollback would make it unprofitable for the oil companies to expand their production.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 67 to 31 today to cut off debate on pay raise legislation for Congress and other high government officials.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said today it is abandoning its active search for balloonist Thomas Gatch. Officials said the last search mission by a Navy plane based in the Portuguese Azores would be conducted today.

ANNOUNCES DECISION — James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, arrives at U.S. District Court in Washington today. St. Clair told U.S. District Judge John J. President Sets News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will hold a nationally televised and broadcast news conference at 6:30 p.m. CDT today, the White House announced.

Timing of the surprise news conference—Nixon's second in nine days — heightened speculation the President would announce steps toward ending the Arab oil embargo.

But Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, in announcing the East Room session with reporters, said: "I cannot predict whether the President will have an announcement this evening."

Nixon often opens his news conferences with major announcements, and tonight's session was scheduled amid reports that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger brought back from the Middle East this week assurances that the embargo would soon be lifted.

Midland Officials Seek More Gasoline For Basin

A group of Midland officials headed by Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. are in Washington, D.C., today to meet with John C. Sawhill, deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Office, in an attempt to get more gasoline for the Permian Basin.

Among those meeting with Sawhill at 4:30 p.m. will be Angelo, City Councilmen Frank K. Cahoon and Jim Kent and Ernie Crawford, executive director of Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

Mayor Angelo stated, "The opportunity to meet with Mr. Sawhill came up suddenly and should provide an excellent occasion to present details of our problems. We will attempt to get a ruling on possibilities for an increase in the allocation for the Permian Basin region and for authority to refine independently' crude oil and retain products in the basin."

The Permian Basin has been experiencing gasoline supply difficulty because energy production and agriculture receive 100 per cent of needs, leaving less gas at the pumps for the average consumer.

Approximately 50 area officials met with members of Gov. Dolph Briscoe's staff last week in Austin. At that meeting, the group was told help from the state's three per cent monthly "set aside" could be given on an emergency but not a permanent basis.

W. J. "Jack" Alexander, head of operations division of Dallas office of FEO, will speak at Inn of the Golden West in Odessa at 2 p.m. Thursday. All persons connected with the oil production industry are especially invited to hear Alexander's report. (See GASOLINE Page 15A)

Oil Price Guidelines Stimulate Lot Of Action, Refinery President Says

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP) — The president of a refinery says current federal oil price guidelines have stimulated "a hell of a lot of action out here."

Paul Meek, president of Caden Oil Co., said his refinery is near its 60,000 barrel a day production peak, spurred by the federal policy that has allowed an increase in the price of new oil.

"Crude production in the Permian Basin is on the uptake and will probably stay that way," Meek said Tuesday. He said he did not have any surplus of crude oil, but that there is "no inventory problem of crude oil that I know of."

He said "pipeline capacity is approaching full but of here." "There is a hell of a lot of action out here," Meek said of the oil-rich Permian Basin. "A number of wells are working and old ones are being gone into."

Nixon May Submit To Interview

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon informed the House Judiciary Committee today he will give it all the material he has already turned over to the Watergate grand jury "without limitation."

The President also offered to answer written questions and submit to an oral interview if the committee is not satisfied with the written answers.

Nixon's decision was announced by James D. St. Clair, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, at a hearing called to hear arguments on the disposition of a sealed grand jury report.

St. Clair told U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica that the White House would offer no recommendation as to what the judge should do with the sealed report which sources have indicated contains grand jury findings on the President's role in Watergate.

St. Clair disclosed that the report is 1 1/2 to 2 pages long; that it is in addition to the briefcase containing grand jury evidence which was given the judge along with the sealed presentment.

During a recess St. Clair told reporters the President would be willing to undergo more than one interview by the Judiciary Committee and that there would be no objection to his speaking under oath.

St. Clair also said, "We can probably make delivery of some documentation this afternoon." He said that included (See NIXON Page 15A)

Front Stays At Standstill

It was clear to partly cloudy and warm across Texas today except for near the coast, where there were low clouds and some fog in early morning.

And the Tall City should expect at least two more days of unseasonably warm temperatures, weathermen reported.

National Weather Service observers at Midland Air Terminal predict a high in the lower 80s both today and Thursday. The overnight low will be in the mid-40s.

Tuesday's high was 77 degrees and the overnight low was 44. A weak cool front remained at a standstill across the state's midsection for a second straight day, stretching along a line from near Lake Texoma through the central part of the state to the Pecos River Valley.

Temperatures near dawn were lowest behind the frontal zone, where they dipped as low as 28 degrees at El Paso and 35 at Dalhart and stood in the 40s to 50s at other points. At the same hour thermometers registered in the 60s and 70s farther east, staying as high as 72 at Lufkin. The Associated Press reported.

Tuesday afternoon's top marks ranged from 89 at Laredo down to 70 at Dalhart and El Paso.

Forecasts promised more partly cloudy and warm weather.

Campaign Reform Plans Outlined

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans to ask Congress Friday to enact a package of campaign reform proposals that would sharply limit individual contributions and prohibit direct donations to candidates by organized labor or business groups.

Nixon's recommendations, to be submitted in a special message, were outlined in advance Tuesday by a high White House official who said they reflect many hours of presidential work and represent "vintage Nixon."

The source, who declined to be quoted by name, said the proposals also would call for shortened presidential campaigns, federal laws against "dirty tricks," and legislation that would make it easier for public figures to sue when subjected to "slandering attacks."

Nixon's package will run head-on into strong congressional support for public financing of campaigns and over-all limits on campaign spending. The source said Nixon opposes public financing and believes spending curbs would be unfair and benefit incumbents.

Under Nixon's plan, each candidate in a federal election would finance his campaign through a single committee that would maintain but one bank account and make full disclosure of donations.

All contributions of $50 or more would have to be made by check, the source said. Campaign committees would be barred from accepting more than $15,000 in contributions from one individual in a presidential race and $3,000 in Senate and House contests.

Organizations like the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education or such business groups as the Associated Milk Producers Inc. would be barred by law from contributing to any individual campaign. They could make donations to the national committees of major parties or to Senate and House campaign committees but would be barred from asking that their money be spent in any particular race or races.

The presidential campaign season would be abbreviated by legislating May 1 as the earliest date that a primary election would be held. The major parties would be asked to delay their national nominating conventions until September.

The official said tactics that would become federal offenses as improper campaign practices would include the misrepresentation of a candidate's voting record or the use of paid demonstrators to disrupt rallies.

He said Nixon would make it easier for public officials to sue for libel and slander on grounds this might encourage more Americans to seek public office.

Israel's Labor Party Agrees On Forming Minority Cabinet

JERUSALEM (AP) — The quarreling leaders of Israel's Labor party agreed to form a minority cabinet today, and the Israeli state radio attributed the reconciliation to rising tension on the Syrian front.

The broadcast did not elaborate, but Israeli newspapers published reports from abroad that the Syrians were concentrating forces along a 40-mile front on the Golan Heights.

Mrs. Meir made plans to submit her new minority cabinet to President Ephraim Katzir after winning Defense Minister Moshe Dayan's agreement to remain in the government. And the National Religious party, whose decision to stay out of the cabinet prevented Mrs. Meir's putting together a majority in parliament, said it was reconsidering its position.

Dayan withdrew his resignation at a meeting of the old cabinet Tuesday night. The meeting had been called to discuss developments in either foreign affairs or national security that the government cloaked in secrecy and nobody would explain.

However, Transport Minister Shimon Peres, Dayan's closest political colleague, said there had been a "change in the situation." He said the all-party national unity government that he and Dayan had demanded was no longer feasible because "what has to be done has to be done quickly, and I don't think that, under the present circumstances, a government of national unity could be formed with the necessary speed."

Peres, the No. 2 man in Dayan's Rafi wing of the ruling Labor party, said he also was joining the new government.

The National Religious party, Labor's traditional coalition partner, had refused to join the new government because Mrs. Meir would not agree to religious legislation it demanded. But a switch was indicated by the party leader, Yitzhak Rabin, who said in a radio interview.

"The quick and unexpected developments in the last 12 hours that made Moshe Dayan return to his position will undoubtedly have an influence on the NRP."

He also refused to say what the developments were.

Mrs. Meir planned a meeting with Religious party leaders to urge them again to come in.

Justice Douglas, Peeved By Austin Tv Cameras, 'Loses' Prepared Speech

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Peevish by the court-ordered presence of cameras and microphones, Supreme Court Justice William Douglas told a disappointed lecture audience Tuesday night he lost his prepared speech.

Instead, the veteran jurist delivered scattered comments on a variety of subjects, including his feelings about tape recorders, to a crowd at The University of Texas Union.

University officials said the justice's contract for the speech called for "no press, radio or television interviews and no recording, taping, broadcasting or publication of the lecture."

However, an Austin television station (KVUE) challenged the contract, claiming in a court petition that a ban on cameras and tape recordings violated the constitutional rights of freedom of the press guaranteed by federal and state constitutions. State District Court Judge Charles Mathews granted a temporary restraining order late Tuesday.

Douglas made only brief opening remarks and concluded them by saying he had never read the First Amendment to include "anything about tape recorders, but maybe it's in a different version."

Douglas said if he had not "lost" his speech notes, he would have talked on the "downward spiral of our society and some of the things the younger generation might do to rectify the situation."

Food Giveaway Truck Heisted In California

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — The waiting continues for the family of kidnaped Patricia Hearst after completion of a third free food giveaway for 30,000 persons was marred by a hijacking.

News media reported that a truck carrying food for 4,000 persons was only a few minutes away from its Hunters Point distribution site in San Francisco Tuesday when it was stopped by gunmen. They threatened the driver and left with the rig.

The truck was found later, emptied of between $34,000 and $80,000 of meat, poultry and produce, according to reports.

Police said they received no complaint of the heist and orders from "high up" were issued apparently not to press the matter. A Ludlow Kramer, who heads the food distribution program, confirmed the theft, but provided few details.

As the massive food handout proceeded quietly at 12 centers,

Gov. Ronald Reagan asked for prayers for the safe and quick return of the 26-year-old daughter of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst.

"No one can fail to be moved by the anguish that this tragic situation has meant for Miss Hearst and her family," Reagan said in Sacramento.

FBI spokesmen in San Francisco consistently have said they don't know where Miss Hearst is being held. She was abducted 29 days ago, and a terrorist group calling itself the Symbionese Liberation Army claims it is holding her.

A Ludlow Kramer, the organizer of the distribution plan, said free food will be handed out twice weekly until $3 million made available for the project is exhausted in April or May. He said 78,000 persons received food in the first three food distributions.

Hearst contributed $500,000, and the Hearst Foundation added $1.5 million.

Tower Says United States Must Keep High Level Of Military Preparedness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said today the United States must maintain a high level of military preparedness in the face of oil shortages.

He said that despite a cutback of 15 per cent in the Defense Department's use of petroleum, all necessary levels of training are being maintained.

In a speech prepared for the Naval Reserve Association, he argued against suggestions that the Defense Department was using too much petroleum.

"Nothing could be further from fact," Tower said. "Defense is projected to consume only 3.5 per cent of total domestic petroleum supplies this year."

"But naturally, regardless of how much petroleum is consumed by the military, if the defense of the nation requires it, the military must have it," he said. "Gas shortages have little meaning if the United States lacks the strength to defend her interests."

Site Of Air Crash Guarded

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Guards kept watch over wreckage of two Air Force RF-4 Phantoms which collided over North Central Texas as a military investigation team began its probe early today.

A foreign exchange student pilot from Germany died Tuesday evening when he ejected from one of the planes and his parachute apparently failed to open, civilian authorities said.

Three other fliers ejected safely.

Capt. Meinolf Hoelscher was killed.

Treated for minor injuries were Capt. Ronald L. Westfall, Maj. Edward Craig, 41, and

Maj. Donald C. Cartwright, 38, all assigned to Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, Tex.

Air Force spokesmen said the reconnaissance aircraft were on a training mission between Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma and their home base when the mishap occurred.

The in-flight collision occurred shortly after 7 p.m. near Spring Creek about seven miles south of here, Cooke County sheriff's officers said.

Dr. Ed McGee of Gainesville said he saw the planes collide during maneuvers. The doctor was at the Gainesville municipal golf course at the time.

McGee said the planes burst into flames after the collision.

Both aircraft were assigned to the 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Bergstrom.

Voting Rights Up For Debate Next At Constitutional Convention

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Parliamentary chaos, uncertainty and thirst for "border buttermilk" delayed a major constitutional convention vote until today.

Legislator-delegates returned at 1:30 p.m. to finish work on the education article of a new Texas Constitution.

Early action on education would clear the way for debate to begin on another controversial area, the voting rights article.

Nearly 30 minutes of parliamentary confusion, and several reminders from the floor that a border buttermilk party awaited the delegates, preceded Tuesday evening's 90-84 decision to recess without wrapping up the education article.

The party was sponsored by delegates from the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Border buttermilk is a tequila drink similar to a margarita.

Confusion emanated from a demand by Rep. Ray Barnhart, R-Pasadena, that votes be taken on the education article a section at a time. Barnhart is an arch-foe of the equal educational opportunity requirement approved by the convention by a tight 58-41 vote last month.

Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Dallas, at first made the same demand but retracted it after friends pointed out it would endanger the equal opportunity provision.

Rep. Joe Pentony, D-Houston, indicated he would seek a two-thirds vote today to suspend the rule requiring a section-by-section vote on the demand of any one delegate.

That would bring up the full education article, which could be expected to win majority approval if taken as a whole.

Rep. Billy Williamson, D-Tyler, failed, 90-74, to persuade the delegates to send the article back to the Education Committee for rewriting. Debate on the article, including about 100 attempts to amend it, has gone on every weekday since Feb. 15.

"There is not one of us who can conscientiously say that this is the best we can do. . . . Every group that has a paid lobbyist is well and amply provided for. But what have we done for the kids?" Williamson said.

Convention President Price Daniel Jr. said a major reason for the recess was that some delegates wanted the complete article laid out in its final form so they could "take a calm, refreshed look at it."

"The party had something to do with it," he added.

The article makes few changes in the present educational system. One is the guarantee of equal educational opportunity, whose meaning probably will have to be decided by the courts. Another is establishment of a $31 million annual fund for construction, library books and equipment purchases at the 23 state colleges outside Texas A&M systems.

A section prohibiting discrimination in tax-financed education on the basis of race, sex, religion or national origin was removed Tuesday, 90-72.

Education Committee Chairman Dan Kubjak, D-Rockdale, contended the provision was unnecessary, since the Bill of Rights which already has been approved for the constitution already guarantees equality under the law to all Texans.

The voting rights article contains two areas of controversy: —Its denial of suffrage to persons who have been convicted of felonies, even though they have served their sentences. The legislature, however, could restore convicts' voting rights.

—A provision enabling the legislature to require property ownership in order to vote in certain state or local elections unless specifically prohibited by the U.S. Constitution. This would apply to bond elections.

Ethiopian Constitution Expected To Curtail Emperor's Authority

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Ethiopian observers predict the new constitution promised by Emperor Haile Selassie will drastically curtail the aged ruler's virtually unlimited authority.

"After 44 years as emperor, Haile Selassie is finally saying, 'I've had enough.' He is ready to become a ceremonial figure," one intellectual commented.

The frail, 81-year-old emperor will retain the royal trappings and near-worship of millions of peasants, but real power will shift to parliament, the cabinet and the courts, one top member of the civil service said.

With his country beset by drought, starvation, inflation, unrest and mounting demands for democratic government, the monarch announced Tuesday night that he had ordered a constitutional conference convened to draw up a new charter for the nation.

The emperor said the conference should clarify relations among the branches of government, streamline the courts, make the prime minister more responsible to parliament and guarantee civil rights. He said nothing about the formation of political parties, which the most vocal dissidents have demanded.

"It has always been our ardent wish that our beloved people should have a peaceful transition from one era to another," the emperor said in a five-minute radio and television address.

Haile Selassie said the new constitution should be completed in six months. But any changes appeared to be a year or more away since they must be approved by both houses of parliament at two separate sessions.

There was no immediate reaction from the military, whose mutiny for higher pay last week forced the government to resign, emboldened students, intellectuals and labor leaders in Addis Ababa demanding economic and political reforms, and severely eroded the emperor's power.

A general strike was still scheduled for Thursday by union leaders demanding a minimum wage, free schools and measures to increase employment.

Wheat Threatened By Dry Weather

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dry weather in parts of the Southwest is continuing to threaten winter wheat development, according to a weekly weather report by the Agriculture Department.

The report, issued Tuesday, said warm temperatures last week helped wheat growth in Kansas and Oklahoma but high winds depleted soil moisture in parts of the area.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — My daughter wore her new jeans out to play and got them all wet. When she got home she threw them in the dryer and when she took them out they were covered with stains. The next day when I started to dry more clothes I found lipstick in a little container that was all chewed up; I knew it had been through at least one drying cycle and had caused the stains on the jeans. I tried a stain remover that did not work so I'm confused and would like to know what to do next. — CHARLEEN.

DEAR CHARLEEN — Just the other day I saw a quite expensive denim pants suit that looked streaked all over. Perhaps if the stains cannot be removed your daughter could pass her jeans off as being streaked intentionally. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pat Peave is with the rubber gloves most of us wear while doing household tasks. They come in different sizes but with fingers all the same length. My fingers are long and in a very short time I have punched holes in the ends of the fingers. Even two finger lengths — long and short — would be a great help. — A. L. P.

DEAR POLLY — I have a couple of ideas for Clara who is having trouble with the linings staying tacked on the inside of three handbags. If they have wood frames she might try using a heavy duty stapler and staple the lining to the frame. A tiny artist's brush could be used to paint the staples to match the lining. If the frames will not take staples she could try a good glue. If the lining has an inside seam open it enough to slip a hand inside. Pull the lining out, put your hand inside and after applying glue to the

Dear Abby

'Good Citizen' Hates To Squeal On Policeman
 —By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am in a dilemma of good neighbor relationship and good citizenship. One of our neighbors is a patrolman who constantly drives the patrol car into his driveway for hours. He keeps the loudspeaker very loud so he can hear it inside his house or while he is working in the yard or fixing another car parked next to the patrol car. The other neighbors also notice his constantly playing nooky, especially during the nights and weekends. They joke about it. Since we live in a nice, quiet town with a population around 20,000, we want to keep a good neighbor relationship, we pretend seeing nothing.
 However, I just read in the paper the police department wants to transfer desk officers to patrol duty to cut down the town's costs. The police department claims they keep six patrols on the road at all times, therefore their overtime costs are tremendous. (According to the newspaper, the overtime charge totalled $90,000 last year.)
 Knowing this, I feel that as a taxpayer and good citizen I should do something about it. But how can I do it without making any enemies?
 DEBATING

DEAR DEBATING: Have a friend across town (NOT another neighbor living near the patrolman) tip off the police department's intelligence division. Let the department satisfy itself on the patrolman's conduct. That way you can remain a "friendly" neighbor and get the job done.
 DEAR ABBY: Like "Burned Once," I know what it's like to be married to an aging doctor who takes advantage of "doctor worship." When my doctor-husband was in his late 50s he had an affair with a young married woman in her 20s. According to him, it was all part of the "professional treatment" and her husband approved.
 Why a young woman with a young husband would want to have anything to do with a man

Steel Producers Up Prices

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — sheets. The increases go into effect today and amount to about five per cent, the company said. On Saturday, National announced price hikes on several other lines. The latest increases involve about 40 per cent of its product mix, National said, cold rolled and hot rolled products widely used in the manufacture of automobiles, home appliances and other consumer durables.

The increases were made under terms of the Cost of Living Council's Special Rule 6, which permitted the industry to pass on to customers cost increases incurred through Jan. 31.

Others announcing price hikes Tuesday were Armco, the fifth-largest domestic steel producer; No. 6 Jones & Laughlin; and eleventh-ranked Allegheny Ludlum, a specialty producer.

A spokesman for Armco said the company's increases cover "many products." He said Armco had not determined the percentage of the increase or which specific product lines would be affected.

J&L said its increases average about two per cent over the entire product line and cover bar and wire products; structural shapes; stainless, conduit and tubular products; and coated sheets. Most of those are used in heavy construction and the automotive and appliance industries.

The Allegheny-Ludlum increases come to six per cent on flat rolled specialty products, the company said.

Among other major producers who previously announced price hikes are top-ranked U.S. Steel and No. 2 Bethlehem.

Midlanders Express Disappointment Over Grover Action

Midland Republican party chairman Robert L. Monaghan expressed disappointment over Hank Grover's decision to drop out of the governor's race.

Monaghan said he thought Grover's chances of being elected, with the help of state Republican leaders, would have been excellent. However, it was because he felt he would not get all-out state party support that Grover quit the race.

Mayor Ernest Angelo, a close friend of Grover, said he was sorry that Grover was no longer a candidate, but Angelo said he understood the problems that faced Grover.

Bill Skees of Midland, chairman of the American Party of Texas, said he sent Grover a telegram which congratulated him "for putting principle above politics" and stating "you are a true American."

DPS To Intensify Enforcement Of New Speed Limit

AUSTIN — Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said he is disturbed by many complaints by Texas motorists about drivers refusing to obey the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit, and has directed DPS troopers to intensify their enforcement efforts.

"When the new law went into effect Jan. 20 of this year," he said "our surveys indicated a high degree of voluntary compliance on the part of Texas drivers."

"But since that time, we have noticed that motorists, or at least many of them, have been gradually 'inching' up their speeds on Texas highways. Consequently, our troopers have been increasing their volume of speeding citations, and will have to continue to intensify their efforts until a more reasonable degree of voluntary compliance is achieved."

Speir said he has received numerous reports by motorists who are complying with the new law who are frightened and angered by others who pass them at speeds dangerously above the legal limit, and still others who "tailgate" them when they can't pass for one reason or another.

"We commend these drivers who are cooperating in the state and national effort to reduce accidents, save lives, and at the same time conserve fuel by driving within the legal limits," Speir said.

"And we solicit the cooperation of those who would forget or ignore the dangers posed to themselves and others by dangerous and illegal speeds on the highways of our state."

"We would remind everyone that consistently through the years, excessive speed is involved in more fatal accidents than any other single factor."

First Tech Medical Class To Graduate

The ceremony will begin at 7 p.m. in the Texas Tech University Center Ballroom.

Twenty-four medical students will receive the first doctor of medicine degrees to be conferred by the School of Medicine which was authorized by the State Legislature in 1968.

Easter Seal Girl Meets Mrs. Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven-year-old Tammy Bryant, the 1974 National Easter Seal child, gave First Lady Pat Nixon an Easter Seal button and a key to Tammy's home town of Key West, Fla.

Shy but smiling, Tammy posed for pictures with Mrs. Nixon in the White House on Tuesday.

Tammy suffered brain damage in an automobile accident five years ago, but her mother, Mrs. Kenneth I. Bryant, said physical therapy and speech therapy have helped Tammy to have an almost normal life.

IN NORTH VIETNAM— U.S. Planes To Pick Up POWs' Bodies

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Two United States aircraft headed for Hanoi today to pick up the remains of 12 Americans who died in North Vietnamese prison camps.

The bodies were to be flown to U Taphao Air Base in Thailand, where they will be taken to the U.S. Army's central identification laboratory. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the names will be withheld pending positive identification and notification of next of kin.

North Vietnam agreed on Monday to turn over the bodies in its first major move to carry out the repatriation agreement in the Paris peace accords signed more than a year ago.

At the same time, the North refused comment on when it would repatriate the remains of 11 other American POWs who died in the camps and a B52 crewman whose body was found after his plane was shot down.

Aboard one of the C130 aircraft were specialists from the Hoover's Popularity

Plane Accident Kills Sergeant

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — A United States Air Force sergeant was killed when a window blew out of an Air Force KC135 tanker over British Columbia and he was sucked part way through the foot-square opening.

None of the other 28 persons aboard was injured. The plane was flying at 20,000 feet, and the blowout caused a sudden loss of pressure in the aircraft.

The victim, who was not identified, was one of 25 passengers aboard the plane, which also carried four crewmen. It was en route home to Fort Worth, Tex., from Eielson Air Force Base in Alaska.

Meanwhile, the government said its forces reclaimed 25,000 civilians from rebel control during February and 10,000 civilians came under government control in Kompong Thom this month.

ACCORDING TO POLICE STATISTICS—

Crime In Midland Is Increasing

Midland has had almost three months worth of crime in the last two months, according to police statistics which show huge increases during January and February.

Although crime reports are accumulating at a fast pace, the Midland Police Department is above last year's average clearance rate.

The 1973 average was 55 per cent of the cases cleared but January showed a 60 per cent clearance and February showed 55 per cent.

The 182 crimes reported to police during January are 49 more than in that month a year ago and the 199 reported last month are 76 more than in February 1973.

This is a total of 125 more crimes reported in the first two months of this year over that period last year and if the first week of March is any indication,

California Solon In Governor's Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Jerome R. Waldie says he will run for the Democratic nomination for governor of California in the June 4 primary.

Waldie, who had sought the impeachment of President Nixon, has served eight years in Congress. He said he will not seek re-election to the House.

that increase will continue this month. Police are at a loss to explain the vast upward trend.

Large increases were noted both months this year in misdemeanor thefts and in vandalism but February saw a huge increase in burglaries, the statistics showed.

While January had only one more burglary reported than that month last year, February recorded 25 more than the preceding February.

Misdemeanor thefts have increased by 39 the first two months of this year. Forty were reported in January (16 more than the preceding January) and 32 were reported last month (21 more than in the preceding February).

Vandalism figures have been climbing for some time and the 36 reported in January was 12 more than that month a year ago. The 37 reported last month is 25 more than in February 1973.

That is an increase of 37 vandalism in the two-month period. February escaped without a murder and the number of assaults decreased from 11 in that month last year to seven last month.

But robberies were up by two (three reported last month) and rapes increased by one (two were reported in February).

The number of forgeries, which has been showing an increase for almost a year, decreased last month from nine during the month last year to seven last month.

Auto thefts rose significantly from two during the month last year to 12 last month, an increase of 10 during February compared with a decrease of four in January over that month the year before.

There were two suicides in each of the Januarys but the four in February were three more than the preceding February.

No one has died in a traffic mishap inside the city of Midland this year, but there had been three fatalities by this time last year.

Two felony complaints citing driving while intoxicated (DWI) have been filed this year, one each month, but five misdemeanor DWI complaints were filed last month and there were seven during January.

That is 14 DWI's this year, compared with none by this time last year.

The number of drug cases also increased during February but not by as large a margin as it increased in January.

Last month, police handled seven drug cases, six for possession of marijuana and one for possession of heroin. This is an increase of three over the four marijuana possession cases made during February last year.

January had an increase of eight narcotics cases with nine reported that month and only one reported that month a year ago.

There was only one weapons case reported in each of the two months last year but there were four this January and three last month.

NEW GAME IN TOWN — It seems that the gas shortage has hit just about everyone these days, as proved by these Miami, Fla., youngsters who have changed their game from cowboys and Indians to gas station antics. Four-year-old Michael Morris seems to have all the action on the block as he owns the only gas pump. (AP Wirephoto.)

Odd-Even Gasoline Sales Plans Praised

By NICK TATRO
Associated Press Writer

State officials say odd-even gasoline sales plans have helped reduce long lines and quell squabbling among motorists at service station pumps.

Twelve states and the District of Columbia are using variations of the distribution scheme, allowing motorists to get fuel every other day based on numbers on license plates or inspection decals. In six states the plans are mandatory.

At least seven states have such a system at the county or city level and still more are considering odd-even sales.

Officials, gasoline dealers and motorists surveyed by The Associated Press generally praised the odd-even system. They said results varied, depending on whether the plan was voluntary or mandatory and on whether it was coupled with other measures, such as purchase limitations.

"It's working; it's working," said John Verani, Massachusetts consumer affairs secretary. "The lines are definitely down and in some cases almost disappeared."

The voluntary odd-even system began Feb. 11 in Massachusetts.

Verani said federal announcements that extra gasoline would be distributed in 26 states also helped curb panic buying.

Twenty-one towns have adopted the plan in Connecticut, where state energy officials rate it as "very successful."

Delaware inaugurated mandatory odd-even sales on Feb. 26, but it got off to a faltering start with four revisions in its first five days of operation.

Nevertheless, Gov. Sherman W. Tribbitt said the system has worked.

Oregon, which first used the odd-even system, plans to make its system mandatory next Tuesday and expand its scope. Gov. Tom McCall set up the system under an emergency energy law.

Stations will be required to post their hours, sell gasoline for at least an hour after 4:30 p.m. and set up a system to serve priority customers, such as emergency service vehicles.

Stations selling more than 20,000 gallons a month will have to provide at least 80 per cent of their supplies to the public, and no station will be allowed to pump more than 25 per cent of its monthly allotment in one week. Private motorists cannot buy gas if their tanks are more than half full.

State officials say the odd-even program works when the state has 80-85 per cent of the gasoline it needs. Lines lengthen when the supply falls below 80 per cent, partly because of panic buying, they said.

In Washington, D.C., a voluntary odd-even scheme took effect Feb. 11. A spokesman for Mayor Walter Washington said lines were running 60 to 80 cars long before the program and by last week were down to 25 to 35 cars.

In Pennsylvania, state officials plan to make their voluntary system mandatory to relieve dealers of policing responsibility.

But in South Carolina, energy official Baron Holmes says compulsory odd-even distribution is "absolutely nuts. It would mean a new host of bureaucrats, lawyers and judges hassling people."

In New York State, retailer spokesman James S. Genton said: "It's effective. It does everything but give us gas."

Full-Size Space Shuttle Model Unveiled

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP) — Except for the bell-shaped rocket exhaust nozzles, a 122-foot-long wooden mockup of America's future space shuttle resembles a bloated airliner with stubby backswept wings.

Rockwell International engineers assembled the first mockup of the blend of airplane and spacecraft as a preliminary step to producing the reusable shuttle.

Rockwell and a host of subcontractors are undertaking development, estimated to cost $5.2 billion. First horizontal flight tests are scheduled for 1976, and the windowless craft is expected to begin hauling cargo into space in 1979.

Meanwhile, the X24B aircraft, designed to test approach and landing techniques for the shuttle, made its first supersonic flight Tuesday at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

It was the ninth flight in the joint test program of the Air Force and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The lifting body reached a speed of 740 miles per hour at an altitude of 60,800 feet before NASA test pilot John Manick shut down the rocket engines and glided the craft to a landing on Cuddeback Dry Lake, the Air Force said.

Lawyer Leaves Henley's Case

HOUSTON (AP) — Charles Melder has officially withdrawn as an attorney for Elmer Wayne Henley Jr., one of two youths charged in connection with the mass murder case in which 27 bodies of young boys have been recovered.

Melder announced earlier he would withdraw after a disagreement with two of the defense attorneys, Will Gray and Ed Pegelow. He did so Tuesday. Melder did not want Henley to testify in a January hearing on pre-trial motions.

The metabolic rate of a tiny shrew is twice that of a man.

The shuttle, designed to be launched vertically like a rocket but land on wheels like an airplane, can be used over and over — perhaps 100 times — for a variety of missions in earth's neighborhood.

Inside the orbiter's fat body is a 60-by-15-foot cargo bay for hauling satellites, scientific gear or parts of space stations and larger spacecraft to be assembled in orbit.

Because most of the shuttle can be used many times, NASA hopes the cost of a single mission can be reduced to about $10 million, or about one-sixth the cost of the Apollo 9 orbital flight.

So far, $673.5 million has been spent on the project, $205 million specifically for development of the orbiter. About $1.15 billion has been budgeted for fiscal 1976.

More Gasoline For Basin

The Midland City Council is due a vote of thanks from residents of Midland and vicinity for taking the lead in attempting to gain an increased fuel allocation for the Tall City.

Temporary relief for a critical situation was gained promptly when service stations in Midland and Odessa each received an additional 4,000 gallon supply of gasoline to relieve an end-of-the-month shortage. The extra supply did not affect the regular monthly allocation.

The overall situation appears improved, at least temporarily, and gasoline was said to be fairly plentiful over the weekend.

Beyond that, however, Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. was advised late last week that there is hope for increased fuel allocations for the Permian Basin area. Stations were urged to complete and file a form requesting an increase in the base allocation which has been 77.5 per cent of 1972 usage. The amount of increase, if such is allowed, will be based on 1973 consumption. W. J. Alexander of the Dallas branch of the Federal Energy Office said.

This is where the trouble has been all the time. The allocations made to date have been based on 1972 usage. Everyone knows that conditions were relatively quiet in 1972, compared to 1973 activity in the areas of petroleum and agriculture, which have priority classifications to get all the fuel they need. This, of course, has taken most of the area's fuel allocation, leaving non-priority users with very little gasoline available to them. The allocation should be based on 100 per cent of 1973 usage, if a serious wrong is to be righted.

Midland Councilman Jim Kent first pointed this out to the City Council, which promptly started running with the ball. The Midland County Commissioners Court, Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission and various cities in the area joined with the Midland City Council in appealing for relief.

The emergency allotment came from a state "set aside," and it may be that this will be the source of other shipments. It is hoped, however, that a more permanent arrangement in allocations will be forthcoming.

A delegation from Midland and area cities, headed by Mayor Angelo and Councilman Kent, were in Austin last week conferring with state officials and others concerning the peculiar situation which has resulted in an undue shortage here and elsewhere in the region.

The response to the area plea was termed favorable, and it now remains to be seen just what will be done. Meanwhile, Mayor Angelo and other Midland-Odessa area civic and petroleum leaders are in Washington, D.C., seeking an increased areawide allocation.

NEA TOPICS— School Doors Opening To The Learning Disabled

WASHINGTON (NEA) — According to the U.S. Office of Education, more than 4.5 million school-age children suffer from some form of handicap that affects capacity to use or understand language.

These handicaps range from minor learning disabilities to aphasia, the impairment of loss of language due to brain defects.

"Without the ability to grasp the basic tools of language, a child's future academic success — and social development — will almost invariably be seriously jeopardized," points out George Stern, president of Monterey Learning Systems, one of the nation's pioneers in special education programs for learning-disabled children.

Yet up to only a few years ago, such children were expelled or virtually excluded from public schools. Their education was considered a privilege rather than a right, and the responsibility of their parents rather than of society.

Then in 1970, efforts to integrate learning-disabled and handicapped children into the mainstream of public education reached a climax when parents in Pennsylvania took legal action. They actually sued the state to provide educational services — within the public school system — for their children, regardless of the severity of their handicaps.

In a landmark federal district court decision, a consent decree was issued which mandated Pennsylvania to provide special education programs and services for handicapped children. This mandate — and more significantly, Pennsylvania's response to it — has set a precedent that is being followed in school districts across the country.

The Pennsylvania project is the largest educational program for learning-disabled children in the nation. It was developed by the Monterey Learning Systems through research conducted by the Behavioral Sciences Institute, a nonprofit educational research and therapy organization. More than 20 school districts covering the entire state and more than 1,000 speech and hearing personnel are involved in the project.

Parents in other states are following the example of their counterparts in Pennsylvania. As a result, at least a dozen similar consent decrees have been issued by federal courts across the country and educators in some 30 states have chosen to integrate Monterey's program into their public school systems.

South will win that first trick and probably cash all dummy's diamonds. Then if he tries the club finesse and if West has remembered to hang on to his five of spades, South will be down two.

If South has seen the handwriting on the wall he will cash his ace of clubs and get out for down one.

The last difference is relatively unimportant. The important thing is that East's third-hand-low play has resulted in defeat of the contract.

BRUCE BLOSSAT It's Not Edward Kennedy Vs. Henry Jackson—Yet

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Pro-Israel Sen. Henry M. Jackson's frequent forays into California's big-contributor Jewish community have set off conflicting reports over the prospect Sen. Edward Kennedy might be involved in countering moves bent toward the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

On successive days, the New York Times printed contradictory stories — the first saying Kennedy is already running, the second that it is "extremely unlikely" he will run.

Party leaders with their antennas raised high must surely be bewildered.

First off, just for the record, the second item is closer to the present truth. Kennedy is indeed not disposed to run, but he is keeping the door open.

To tell inquiring political visitors he is holding off decision until late 1975 is not really un-candid, as the second Times account indicated, since altered circumstances involving his crippled 12-year-old son, the rest of his family, and the public's view of the 1969 Chappaquiddick episode could conceivably change his mind. He would love the battle.

The first Times account — "Kennedy is running" — was so badly garbled it even trapped the follow-up reporter in error. Curiously, it did not evoke the flood of other reporters' telephone calls which usually pour in after what looks like a hard-kernel Kennedy political story.

The stated source of the initial account was one Harold Willens, California real estate man, who had lunched with Kennedy in Washington Feb. 6.

Willens earlier had told a Kennedy aide Jackson's forays were "making him nervous."

But the anti-Jackson tone of his remarks as set down in the first Times piece annoyed Kennedy, who viewed them as divisive for the party. Willens and his friends raised millions for Eugene McCarthy in 1968 and Sen. George McGovern in 1972, and naturally see Jackson as unacceptably conservative.

Part of what Willens said was badly misrepresented and it was here that the follow-up reporter himself was misled.

The first story indicated Willens had told at least two wealthy California industrialists, Max Palevsky and Miles Rubin, that Kennedy was running.

The second reporter got from Willens the word that this impression of his conversation with Kennedy was "overdrawn." But the reporter accepted the idea Willens had told his friends something highly encouraging about Kennedy's intentions. In fact, as Willens later telephoned to a Kennedy aide, he had not even talked to Palevsky and Rubin nor tried to spread the notion anywhere else that Kennedy's candidacy was set.

Probably even worse misguidance in the first Times story comes from the assertion that "constant ministrations by telephone to this key base of democratic contributors... confirm the sense that the Kennedy campaign has begun, even if for tactical reasons it remains unannounced for another year or more."

The excised portion of that paragraph indicates that calls have gone back and forth between the Californians and Kennedy, aide David Burke, and former aide David Burke. The proper thing to say is that there have been calls, yes, but that they have absolutely nothing of the significance ascribed to them by the initial New York Times account. Kennedy and his aides not only practice the

Alien Smuggling Shows Increase

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Officials are detecting more alien smuggling in the San Antonio area since the energy crisis began, the Immigration Service's chief investigator here says.

"We're receiving more reports as well as encountering more violations of these smugglers' moving aliens on the weekends," L.A. Mack said Tuesday.

He added that the number of criminal cases filed in federal courts in San Antonio is at an "alltime high."

Mack said he knew of no reasons for the increase except possibly that the smugglers figured their chances better for not getting caught during fuel-short periods.

Dear Editor:
I see where the professional predictors are saying the next U.S. Congress will be vastly longer on Democrats than the present one.

Which is being regarded with jubilation and lamentation, respectively, by all who are Democrats and Republicans first and Americans second.

But if a man is honored by his neighbors with election to Congress and puts the welfare of his party ahead of the best interests of his constituency as a whole, he should be thrown out of office, so he will have to start working for a living.

DON OAKLEY Income Tax Changes???

WASHINGTON (NEA) — How does the public consider it is treated by the government at taxing time — fairly or unfairly?

If they had their druthers, would Americans rather see changes in the federal income tax laws aimed at assuring that each person pays his fair share, or would they prefer a simplification of the calculations involved in filing out Form 1040?

These and other questions were asked recently of a representative sample of 2,073 persons age 18 and above in a nationwide survey conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton. The survey was commissioned by H&R Block, Inc., one of the nation's largest firms specializing in preparing income tax returns.

On the first question, the survey found that the majority felt that present federal income tax laws were fair to them personally, but about the same number believed the laws were unfair to the "average" taxpayer.

Middle-income people were most often named as paying "more than their fair share," followed by people with low incomes. Last named were people in the upper-income brackets. In a direct comparison with the upper-income taxpayer, the middle-income taxpayer was seen to be unfairly treated by an overwhelming majority — 87 per cent — of the public.

On the question of the need for an over-all reform, more than 75 per cent of the people surveyed believed that at least minor revisions were needed, while more than 50 per cent supported major revisions.

Almost 75 per cent of the respondents agreed that present tax forms were "too complicated for the average person to understand." Nearly half the public sought professional assistance in filing their 1972 returns.

However, reforms aimed at ensuring fairness rather than simplification were favored by a margin of better than six to one — 79 per cent to 12 per cent. Yet the only provisions presently in the law that were opposed by as many as a fourth of the respondents were the depletion allowance (31 per cent) and the special tax treatment of investors in commercial real estate (25 per cent).

The survey also indicated that nearly half the public believes that simplification of the tax process — for example, using a flat tax rate on total income regardless of the source and with no exclusions or deductions

BERRY'S WORLD

"I am thrilled and proud to announce that we now have a full tank of gasoline!"

'Miss Kitty' Quitting Show

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Amanda Blake, who for 19 years has played Kitty Russell to James Arness' Matt Dillon on television's longest running series, "Gunsmoke," informed CBS Tuesday that she won't be back next season.

Miss Blake said she was tired of commuting to Hollywood from her home in Phoenix, Ariz., and has other activities she wants to pursue, a spokesman for the network said.

Miss Blake plays the owner of Dodge City's Long Branch Saloon and the cool love interest of Matt Dillon.

The actress was not available for comment at once.

The executive producer of "Gunsmoke," John Mantley, said, "We're all very sad. It will be a tremendous loss."

Mantley said filming on "Gunsmoke's" 20th season is due to begin March 13, but now a number of scripts will have to be revised. He said he didn't know yet whether they will acknowledge Miss Kitty's departure in the program.

As a replacement, Mantley said, "We'd never bring in another Miss Kitty. To replace her would be disastrous. But someone has to run the Long Branch because it's such an integral part of the Dodge City scene. I don't know whether it will be a man or a woman or what."

"Gunsmoke" has endured the departure of key characters in the past. Dennis Weaver, who played Dillon's stiff-legged sidekick Chester, left seven years ago. Milburn Stone, the Dodge City doctor, missed half the season two years ago because of a heart attack.

Missing Portrait Of Nixon Found

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — A missing portrait of President Nixon has been found hidden in a ceiling in the Duke University Law School, where Nixon earned his law degree.

The painting, valued at $12,500, was reported missing Monday morning. It had hung behind the judge's bench in a practice courtroom in the law school.

IMPRESARIO DIES — Impresario Sol Hurok, shown in front of New York's Metropolitan Opera House during a performance of the Bolshoi Ballet in 1966, died Tuesday in New York City of a heart seizure at the age of 85. Hurok was most renowned for bringing Russia's greatest performers to the most prestigious American concert halls (AP Wirephoto.)

Young Artists Winners Share Spotlight

Four immensely talented and very personable young musicians were guest artists with the Midland-Odessa Symphony in its pair of subscription concerts Monday and Tuesday nights.

The events were, of course, the annual young artist concerts, featuring winners of the 1974 National Artist Competition held here in late January. Two students in the secondary schools division of the contest and two in the college division had been named performing winners in the NYAC, and they returned for performances in the concerts here and in Odessa.

In addition to sharing the spotlight in the dual concerts, the four also shared the bulk of the $5,600 in prize money offered in the yearly competition.

As in past years, the visiting artists brought musical expertise far in advance of their ages to the concerts—and poise and assurance as well.

And, also as in past young artist programs, the choice of favorite or best performer among the four is strictly up to you — the performer whose chosen work had special appeal for you, perhaps, or the one whose stage presence you particularly liked.

As for myself, I was especially taken with the pianistic prowess of Candace Bawcombe. This 17-year-old from Cleburne demonstrated remarkable technique, and impressive control and discipline. At times there was perhaps a bit too much discipline and not quite enough feeling in her reading of the Weber "Conzertstück," but one could not fault her facile phrasing nor her clear and concise keyboard intonations.

As for the Weber, my first impression was that it is not a very interesting work — and that continued to be my impression on through to the final note. It is, no doubt, a fine showpiece for pianistic ability — structurally, its demands are such that sloppy playing or shallow artifice will not go unnoticed — but there is not much about it that is memorable.

The other performer in the secondary division of the NYAC was 17-year-old Andres Cardenas, a violin student at the Interlochen Arts Academy in Michigan.

The young man gave us what amounted to a superior performance of the Violin Concerto in D major of Tchaikovsky, but as a performer, I'm afraid he rather turned me off with what seemed an excessive amount of "fiddling around" before he launched into the serious business at hand.

Cardenas was extremely articulate in his reading of this melodic, highly poetic work. It seemed to me that the young man knew exactly what this concerto needed, and applied the necessary technique to make it come fully alive. It was well done.

The other violinist on the program was William Fitzpatrick, a student at New York's Julliard School, one of the winners in the NYAC college division.

Fitzpatrick, 24, chose the Violin Concerto No. 2 of Bela Bartok for his concert appearances with the Midland-Odessa orchestra. Of the two violinists, he had the more difficult task, for a variety of reasons: The Bartok work is less familiar than the Tchaikovsky, it is "modern" music with an occasional atonal quality, and somewhat more angular and irregular in style, and it makes more demand from the standpoint of sheer technicality.

All these things might be considered "minus" factors, true. However, I think it speaks extremely well of the Midland audience Tuesday night that the crowd was aware of the inherent difficulties of the piece, recognized the exceptional talent of the soloist playing the work — and accordingly gave both artist and selection a warm reception.

Fitzpatrick's reading of the concerto was an extremely intelligent one. His playing was smooth, controlled, beautifully disciplined. It was a pleasure to hear this work again — particularly when done so well.

The fourth and final guest artist in the concert was Manjula Harcrow, 24, a graduate student in voice at Sam Houston State University.

The young woman offered two works on the program: An art song, "Pippa's Song," by contemporary American composer Ned Rorem, and an aria from the Donizetti opera "Linda di Chamoni."

The Rorem song is an exquisite short piece, airy and fragile, and it seemed to me that it was just right for the guest artist's voice. It is not a big voice, but extremely sweet and true — there is a fine lyric quality about it. The Rorem piece, small though it is, made a hit with the audience here.

Perhaps Rorem is the logical successor to American composer Samuel Barber as the creator of ingenious and outstanding art songs.

In her second presentation, the "O luce di quest'Anima," aria from "Linda di Chamoni,"

Woman Arrested On Pot Charge

Sara Jo Goodson, 23, of 2405 W. Louisiana St. was charged with felony marijuana possession this morning following a Tuesday night narcotics raid on her home.

Det. L. W. "Porky" Moseley and Policewoman Monte Johnson headed the raid.

Officers reported finding eight bags of a substance believed to be marijuana in a closet and several small amounts scattered throughout the house.

Manus Murder Trial Starts Monday

A motions hearing was held this morning in 142nd District Court in the Tommy Manus capital murder case. Trial is set to begin Monday morning with jury selection.

Manus is charged with Danny Johnson and James Allen Eldred Jr., all Midlanders, in the Sept. 20 slaying of Henry "Pancho" Moyah, a Canadian carnival worker.

The court has approved a severance motion, which allows Johnson and Eldred to be tried separately from Manus.

Dist. Atty. Jim Mashburn will prosecute the case, and defense attorney will be Randall Lundy of Midland.

Mrs. Harcrow was able to demonstrate her considerable technical abilities to greater advantage. Her phrasing and diction are superior, and her projection is good — the audience can hear what she is singing, artist concerts, the orchestra

Nixon Officials Urge Action On Trade Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The best hope of giving Americans more food for their dollar lies in increased farm exports, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said today.

Butz appeared with Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent and Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan to urge the Senate Finance Committee to give the Nixon administration broad authority to make trade agreements with other nations.

Butz noted it was a record $13 billion of farm exports that put the U.S. trade balance in the black last year. And he predicted a rise to $20 billion this year.

He said the trade reform bill is necessary to take full advantage of this nation's agriculture system, generate economic expansion and reduce the trade deficit by expanding farm exports.

Butz conceded that American farmers now are hard pressed to meet current export demands but said they will plant 40 million acres more this year than they did in 1972.

If increasing numbers of people are to be fed, the world's first objective must be

Lions Review Hearing Program

Progress being made in establishing a Midland Lions Hearing Assistance Program was reviewed by Paul Bozeman, a leader in the movement, at the meeting of the Midland Downtown Lions Club today noon in the American Legion Hall.

Midland's eight Lions Clubs — Downtown, Southside, Terminal, Westside, Eastside, Morning, Evening and Tall City — are participating in the program.

Bozeman said a project now is being considered, which, if adopted, would launch the program officially.

The work being done here is in line with a pilot program request from Lions International. The program will be broadened districtwide during the next club year, when a district chairman will be named. The program was arranged by George Weis, program chairman for March.

to negotiate for a rational use of agricultural resources, "one in which each country produces what it can produce best because market competition demands it," he said.

Meanwhile, the Nixon administration was reported to have prepared a new plan in an attempt to overcome congressional opposition to granting special trade status to the Soviet Union because of restrictions on Russian Jews.

Burton, Taylor Receive Honor From Mexicans

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor have received honorary diplomas from Mexican President Luis Echeverria for promoting the resort town of Puerto Vallarta, where the stage couple has a home.

Asked at a news conference Tuesday about his political ideology, Burton said, "Since I was born poor, from a miner's family, my leanings are obviously toward the left."

But he added, "I'm not as leftist as my good friend President Tito (of Yugoslavia) or Mr. (Leonid) Brezhnev (of the Soviet Union)."

Quizzed about President Nixon, the energy crisis and the resignation of British Prime Minister Edward Heath, Burton retorted, "You people are asking strange questions. I thought you were going to ask me about my private life."

But Burton stopped smiling and refused to comment when a newsman asked him about the recent rift in his marriage to Miss Taylor.

Nixon Threatens To Veto Pending Education Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he would be forced to veto a pending education bill because certain provisions of it "would create a bureaucratic nightmare."

The President said Tuesday he considers the bill "an urgent priority" but the present measure contains "major areas of substantive difference that remain to be resolved."

In a letter to Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, Nixon said he wants "bolder action" in returning control of education programs to states and communities.

Streaking Mania Continues On Texas Campuses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a warm spring night and streaking busted out all over Texas campuses—even to the lad who did his bit aboard a motorcycle, shoeless and clad only in a crash helmet.

And then there were the collegians—nude, of course—who descended by rope from atop a four-story dormitory and darted into a throng of fellow students before guards could nab them.

ONE NOTABLE EXCEPTION to the trend was San Angelo State University, where officials had promised stern discipline if any more such hijinks occurred. As security guards stood by with cameras, lights and a video tape unit, several hundred students milled around—but no streakers appeared, as had been the case for several nights.

THE NAKED CYCLIST was a 17-year-old student at Lamar University in Beaumont, and he led a police prowler car on a merry chase before losing it.

Declining to give his name, he said of his ride, "It was for about five minutes but it seemed like three hours. It was scary—it took three years off my life. I didn't worry about being uncomfortable. I just worried about staying up. I realized I didn't have my driver's license with me."

Pedestrian streakers started appearing at Lamar

University, mostly around a dormitory for athletes, about 7:30 p.m. and their performances continued past midnight. Witnesses said they saw only one coed in the lot and most wore paper bags over their heads.

ASIDE FROM PURSUING the cyclist, police offered no interference in Beaumont.

Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches was the setting for the streakers' parade by rope down the side of a men's dormitory. Coeds cheered from three high-rise dorms nearby, and watchers reported several of them joined at ground level.

An observer estimated 400 of the Nacogdoches collegians took part in the streaking, including about 25 of both sexes who rode hanging on the outside of a pickup truck. Campus guards laughed and helped direct heavy traffic.

A WITNESS OBSERVED, "I didn't smell any marijuana either."

At Southwestern University in Georgetown, students said around 100 paraded minus clothing. They reported representatives of fraternities and dormitories helped organize the demonstration and campus policemen paid no official attention.

STREAKERS ALSO APPEARED at a number of other schools where the spring fad has been popular for several weeks.

Arkansas Streakers Arrested

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Officers arrested three University of Arkansas students Tuesday night after a "streaking" incident, a police spokesman said.

He identified the youths as Ellen Wade, 18, of Tulsa, Okla.; Hal Adams of Fayetteville, 19, and Mike Pate, 18, of Fort Smith, Ark. They were charged with indecent exposure.

Bond was set at $409.25 for each. Miss Wade posted bond and was released Tuesday night.

Adams said he thought streaking—running naked—had the "potential to become a national sport. Police don't arrest football players for playing football. Why should they arrest us for streaking?"

Several males who had streaked at the Arkansas campus Monday night issued a challenge to women students to do likewise. Miss Wade's streaking apparently was in response to the challenge.

Susan Holmes, a member of the staff of the Arkansas Traveler, the school's student newspaper, said Miss Wade streaked for about 10 minutes completely nude and with her face uncovered. However, when she was arrested she was wearing a T-shirt, Mrs. Holmes said.

Adams, who said he did not know Miss Wade, told newsmen that he streaked from the campus to the Fayetteville police station, clad only in a sweater, after a crowd of students urged him to protest the girl's arrest. Newsmen said Adams was arrested in front of the station.

Contribution Changed Things Witness Expected To Testify At Mitchell Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has been pictured in government testimony as shrugging off Robert L. Vesco's pleas for help during early stages of a federal fraud investigation into the latter's financial empire.

But key witness Harry L. Sears is expected to testify at the criminal conspiracy trial of Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans that there was a turnaround once Vesco contributed $200,000 secretly to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Within five hours of handing over the money, April 10, 1972, the indictment claims, Sears was making his long-desired personal pitch in Vesco's behalf with Chairman William J. Casey of the Securities and Exchange Commission in a meeting arranged by Mitchell.

Sears was scheduled to return to the witness stand for a second day today.

In return for Vesco's contribution, the government contends, Mitchell and Stans went to bat for Vesco against the SEC, which on March 18, 1971, had launched an investigation of the financier's multibillion dollar corporate empire.

Sears, a former Republican majority leader of the New Jersey state senate, retired in 1971 and went on Vesco's payroll. He said Vesco had been his financial angel when he ran unsuccessfully for the GOP gubernatorial nomination in New Jersey in 1969, contributing $30,000 to that campaign and helping Sears handle $50,000 in debts that were left.

Mitchell and Sears were friends from the 1968 Nixon campaign. Nevertheless, Sears testified against the one-time cabinet member in return for total immunity from prosecution in the case. He had been a confederant.

"WILL YOU CALL MY FODDER?"—Things got a bit crowded for Linda Hagenberg when her mare accompanied her to the telephone booth during a break in the recent Little International Show in Madison, Wis. (AP Wirephoto.)

For nearly a year before the 1972 Nixon campaign contribution, Sears testified that his pleas for aid from Mitchell in Vesco's behalf evoked only lukewarm assurances.

On one occasion, Sears told the jury:

"I told Mr. Mitchell that Bob had been very much concerned over this SEC matter. He considered himself a good friend of the Nixon family. He was friendly with Don and Edward and considered himself a good supporter of the President."

Donald and Edward Nixon are brothers of the President, who also has a nephew, Donald Jr.. The latter has served as a Vesco aide. Sears didn't say which Donald Nixon he was referring to.

"I'll pass it along to Bill Casey," Sears quoted Mitchell as replying, "or, 'I'll talk to Bill Casey."

"Did you request him to do that?" Sears was asked.

"I probably did," he replied.

High Inflation, Jobless Rate, Sluggish Economy Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment and inflation will remain high and the economy will continue its sluggish pace even if the Arab oil embargo is lifted, administration economists say.

"I don't think it would raise our forecasts much," said Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. "I suppose it would remove some negative uncertainty."

"It wouldn't be much different than we anticipate now," Edgar Fiedler, the Treasury Department's chief economist, said. "The biggest effect was the initial impact of the embargo."

The economists made the statements in telephone interviews.

Authoritative U.S. sources said in Washington that they expect the Arab oil ministers to agree to lift the embargo when they meet in Libya Sunday.

Partly as a result of the cut-off and partly because of an already-sluggish economy, the Nixon administration forecast that unemployment will rise to almost 6 per cent this year, throwing an additional one million people out of work, while the economy will grow by an anemic one per cent all year.

While the economy hovers near recession levels, the administration has predicted, the inflation rate will rocket upward by 7 per cent because of surging food and fuel prices.

If the embargo ends, Stein said, "It would take some time to get oil, and we don't know what they (the Arabs) will do about total production rates."

Arthur Okun, who served as economic adviser to former President Lyndon B. Johnson, said that lifting of the embargo wouldn't help Americans much if imported crude oil prices remain at high levels.

But if imported crude oil prices come down from $11 to perhaps $7 a barrel, as suggested by U.S. sources Tuesday, the impact on the U.S. economy would be positive, significant and important, Okun said.

Alexander said more gas will probably be provided through form 17, with the amount based on the station's need. Approximately 70 per cent of Midland-Odesa service stations were out of gas the last week in February.

Allocations are currently approximately 77.5 per cent of 1973 usage. Through form 17, gas could be based on amount used in 1973.

Wiretap Evidence Under Discussion

The question of whether wiretaps will be allowed as evidence in the federal gambling case here was discussed this morning during an evidentiary hearing.

No ruling had been made at noon and the hearing was expected to continue at least through today.

Seven Midland, Odessa and Monahan men were indicted last year for conducting illegal gambling operations and the trial could be held while court is in session here this month.

$10,000 Reward Offered For News Of Balloonist Gatch

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $10,000 reward has been offered for information leading to the safe recovery of missing balloonist Thomas Gatch Jr.

The adventurer's two sisters put up the reward Tuesday to spur further efforts in the search for Gatch, a 46-year-old bachelor from Alexandria, Va.

Gatch was trying to become the first man to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon. He was last seen Feb. 21 by a Liberian ship about 1,200 miles west-southwest of the Canary Islands.

Offering the reward are Eleanor Armstrong Hoaglan and Nancy Gatch Svien, both of Rochester, Minn.

Persons with information on Gatch who wish to qualify for the reward must submit their claims in writing to the Washington law firm of Sachs, Greenbaum and Taylor, according to a spokesman for the balloonist.

Meanwhile, the flight control center in Las Palmas, Canary Islands, said Tuesday it was constantly tuned in to Gatch's emergency radio frequency but had heard nothing in 11 days.

Mrs. Turner, 44, Is Found Dead South Of Here

The body of Mrs. Joyce Bludworth Turner, 44, of 707 Austin St. was found slumped in her car about 18 miles south of Midland this morning.

She had been shot once in the head with a rifle which lay nearby.

Sheriff's investigators said it appeared her wound was self-inflicted. Justice of the Peace John Biggs has ordered an autopsy and is withholding a ruling until investigations are completed.

Passerby found the car parked on FM 1767 about three-fourths mile off the Rankin Highway this morning.

Ranchers in the area said they noticed the car there Tuesday afternoon but did not check it. Deputy Sheriff Mickey Clark said Mrs. Turner had slumped down in the seat just enough so that she could not be seen from the roadway.

Services are pending at the Thomas Funeral Home.

Midland May Get Federal Judge

Judge Adrian Spears, chief federal judge in San Antonio, said Tuesday it appears that Midland will have a permanent federal district judge in the near future.

Judge Spears said two additional judges are authorized and will be assigned to the Western Division of Texas.

He noted that one will be assigned to Midland and the other to El Paso.

Judge D. W. Suttle of San Antonio currently presides here periodically.

Casey Receives Panel's Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asst. Secretary of State William J. Casey has received Senate Banking Committee approval to become president of the Export-Import Bank.

The approval came Tuesday following a three-month delay. Questions had been raised about Casey's actions while serving as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission during its investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco. Casey denied tampering with the probe.

District Court Dissolves Ouster Of Lowe Estate Executors

The executors and trustees of the Estate of Ralph Lowe announced that the district court in Midland Tuesday determined that a writ of sequestration which had been served on the estate last Monday by the sheriff of Midland County, should be dissolved and was of no force or effect. Such writ temporarily had ousted H. L. Landua, Charles L. Morgan Jr., James L. Morris and V. H. Van Horn from their offices, and they now will return to continue their management of the estate.

One of the points made at the hearing was that such writ of sequestration had been obtained from the district clerk without notice to the estate or even to the court in which suit is pending to determine, among other things, the effect of a deed by Erna Lowe and Mary clear to the parties that an Ralph Lowe, Yost to a Texas incorporation chartered as Maralo (overseas) should be had and Inc. The writ had not been ordered a hearing on an application by order of the court publication for temporary injunction as stated in the notices posted by the sheriff and trustees to be heard within The court further made it the next 20 days.

VAN Program Discussed At Ministerial Meeting

The new Visual Aids News-Mobile (VAN) program organized here recently, was discussed by Mrs. Mayme Martin, founder, at the meeting of the Midland Ministerial Association held today noon at the First Baptist Church.

The plan calls for providing a mobile unit which would serve the visually handicapped in Midland and vicinity, taking the program to the homes of the handicapped.

Mrs. Martin cited the services to be offered and reviewed the overall program—its purpose, organization, operation and goals.

She told of visiting several similar organizations and rehabilitation centers in the North and East last fall to assemble information for the Midland project.

She defined blindness and told how it compares with more severe physical handicaps. She estimated that there are more than 8,000 visually handicapped persons in an 18-county area surrounding Midland.

Local sponsorship in neighboring counties would be advocated once a program is under way.

Mrs. Martin said local sponsorship is much preferred over state or federal aid.

She displayed items which would be used in working with the handicapped, — hobby and work projects, recreation programs, helps for housewives, and providing materials to be used in the various programs.

The financing of the program also was discussed.

Senate Expected To Shut Debate On Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate seems close to ending its debate over pay raises for congressmen and other high government officials.

Even one of the strongest supporters of the salary boosts, Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, said he expected today's vote on cutting off debate to carry.

A two-thirds majority of senators voting is required.

If the debate-limitation move should fail, another vote will be taken Thursday under a petition filed late Tuesday by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and other senators.

Pay raises for members of Congress, federal judges and top executive branch officials were included in President Nixon's budget and will go into effect automatically unless disapproved by the Senate or House before midnight Saturday.

Nixon May Appear Before House Panel

He said also the published reports represented a "gross distortion of its contents."

The grand jury gave the report to Sirica last Friday along with an indictment charging seven former Nixon administration and campaign officials with conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

In addition to lawyers from the White House, the special prosecutor's office and the House Judiciary Committee, counsel for all seven defendants were present for today's hearing.

The hearing was moved to the ceremonial courtroom to accommodate some 300 people who showed up.

St. Clair was the first to speak.

John J. Wilson, counsel for former presidential aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, already has notified Sirica by letter that he would argue that the grand jury had no authority to issue its sealed report.

Senate Rebuffs Attempts To Cut Minimum Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has rebuffed several Republican efforts to pare down a bill that would raise the minimum wage to $3.26 an hour.

Final action on the bill was expected today or Thursday.

Rejected Tuesday along with the Republican amendments was an attempt to add a rider to the bill killing wage and price controls.

Sens. John Tower, R-Tex., and

In his letter Wilson said the grand jury "has no power to do other than indict or ignore. It may not make special reports."

Wilson contended the sealed report "prejudices our clients and should be expunged or returned to the grand jury with the court's instructions that their act was wholly illegal and improper."

John Doar, majority counsel for the impeachment inquiry, and Albert Jenner, the minority counsel, were among the participants at a closed meeting called by Sirica Tuesday to prepare for today's hearing.

Other participants included St. Clair, special prosecutor Leon Jaworski and attorneys for the men indicted Friday.

In addition, Jaworski's office filed a sealed brief with the court Tuesday, but a spokesman refused to say whether it concerned the sealed grand jury report.

Sirica scheduled the hearing after a Monday meeting requested by St. Clair.

Sirica ordered all parties to the case not to discuss it outside court.

Meanwhile, Chairman Peter J. Rodino, D-N.J., of the Judiciary Committee, said Tuesday, "The committee is of a mind to exercise its power of subpoena if there is a refusal to honor our request for information."

Rodino made the announcement after the White House asked the committee for another day to respond to its request for evidence for its impeachment inquiry.

Rodino also said the committee had instructed Dear and Jenner to appear in court "merely in response to the invitation. In no way will counsel be party to any proceeding or submit to the jurisdiction of the court."

Doar said he would advise Sirica of the committee's authority to conduct the impeachment inquiry and tell the judge it was prepared to receive the sealed report if it related to the investigation.

Bragan's Pet Plan

One of the pet projects of Texas League President Bobby Bragan is the "anchor umpire," but so far no one will go for the idea.

Bobby would like to see one umpire—in the minor leagues, that is—stationed permanently in each city and have him work with qualified local umpires.

Bragan has advanced the idea at the last three league meetings, but hasn't received much support.

Bragan feels the idea has some merit, especially during the current fuel shortage. Bobby points out that it would be easier for an umpire to make financial ends meet on the monthly AA salary of $775. The umpire in the team who supplies the car gets an extra $250 to take care of expenses.

Of course, the drawbacks are that an umpire stationed in one city would work half as many games and might be inclined toward "home" tendencies.

Bill Shankly, manager of the Liverpool team in the English Soccer League, explains, "The way some people talk about modern football (soccer), you'd think the result of one game was a matter of life and death. They don't understand. It's more than that."

Midland Lee's basketball team was down in the dumps when things got out of hand in the bi-district game against Richland and the Rebels lost 82-67, but that can happen in these playoff games when one team gets momentum going and the other team is forced to gamble by playing catch-up. In fact, it happened to Richland the very next game when Denton scored a thumping 83-63 win.

Most folks who saw Richland in bi-district find the regional score hard to believe.

Trouble From Gals

Golfer Tom Weiskopf hails from Ohio State, just like Jack Nicklaus, but says that's the only similarity between them. "Jack likes to fish and I can't stand it. . . . He gets involved in football. . . . I could care less about it. . . . He likes to play tennis. . . . I hate it."

Weiskopf isn't even so sure he'd care to be a golf super star. "I'd been watching Arnold, Jack and Lee go through it, the harassment that goes with it. . . . It becomes very trying. When you are asked questions, you have to be careful how you answer. You are a politician more or less."

Gwen Gregory, a 36-year-old lawyer out of Denver, has administrators of major college athletic programs looking anxiously toward HEW with her demand that if 200 athletic scholarships are offered to men, there should be a like number available for women.

HEW, the federal agency which spends millions on higher education, swings a lot of influence weight with its money and college officials are obliged to listen attentively and obediently when it speaks. If HEW decides the Denver attorney has a point, bar the door.

And Ms. Gregory also warns, "I know that many schools (Continued On Page 3B)"

MOUND CONFERENCE—Coach Ernie Johnson gives instructions to catcher Blain Murray (28), Steve Hankinson (14), Rebel third baseman and pitcher Keith Bishop, during game with Lubbock Monterey Tuesday at Lee diamond. The Rebs remain undefeated with a 9-7 win over the Plainsmen for a 5-0 season mark.

LEE BEATS MONTEREY, 9-7

Rebels' 8-Run Rally Wins It

By BOB DILLON

The Midland Lee Rebels staged an amazing comeback in the bottom of the sixth inning to erupt for eight big runs to down Lubbock Monterey, 9-7, in a non-district baseball game at the Lee diamond Tuesday.

Trailing 4-1, the Rebels had only managed two hits off the slants of righthander Larry Horn before the bottom fell out on the big Plainsman pitcher.

Monterey jumped on junior starter Keith Bishop for two runs in the first inning on long home runs off the bats of catcher Jimmy Shankle and Horn, but the Lee hurler settled down and scattered five more hits until the seventh inning when he gave up a bases-loaded triple to Bobby Evans and Coach Ernie Johnson called on Phill Anderson to get the final out of the game.

After two were out in the first, Shankle hit one over the fence in left and Horn followed with a towering drive that bounced off the roof of a house across the alley in left. Rocky Alburta rapped a double, but Bishop got Evans to ground to short for the third out.

Steve White started off the top of the second for the Lubbock nine with a base hit past short and went to second on a base hit by Vince Martinez. Bill Denny walked to load the bases and White scampared home when a pick-off attempt by Bishop got away. Marlin Hamilton then legged out a base hit with a perfect bunt to load the bases with none out, but Bishop began getting the ball lower and struck out Brad Harrelson swinging, Shankle on a called third strike and Horn on a fly ball to left fielder Larry Tidwell in the corner.

The Plainsmen added another run in the top of the fourth inning for a 4-0 lead. Martinez singled and was moved to second on a sacrifice by Denny. Hamilton struck out swinging, but Harrelson lined a single past second to score Martinez. Shankle lined out to Tidwell in left for the third out.

Lee finally scratched in the bottom of the fourth without benefit of a hit. David Clingman and Steve Hankinson walked and both runners were moved down on a sacrifice by Murray. Craig McCulloch then squeezed in Clingman with a bunt to cut the lead to 4-1. The Rebs then left the Plainsmen and Horn in a state of shock in the sixth inning. Clingman started things off with a single, stole second and Hankinson was hit by a pitch. Murray walked to load the bases, but McCulloch's shallow fly over second fell in for a double when the center fielder lost the ball in the sun for two runs. On the double, Murray was safe on the relay at third when White hobbled the throw. Pinch-hitter Scott Meaders walked to load the bases, but a squeeze attempt backfired with Murray being tagged out at the plate by Shankle. Steve Koch singled in another run to make it 4-4 and Brett Blackwell tapped back to the mound with the runners (Continued On Page 2B)

AD's Set Meeting In Midland

Midland Schools Athletic Director Thurman (Tugboat) Jones attended the Texas High School Athletic Directors' meeting in San Antonio Sunday through Tuesday and unexpectedly came home with next year's meeting for the Tall City.

Tug didn't exactly go to the meeting with that in mind, "But you know, they are always holding these things in Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, Corpus Christi or San Antonio. It's always a long way for us folks in West Texas to go and I got to thinking, we needed something like this out here."

Tug went on, "When they asked for suggestions Monday night, I stood up and said Midland and everybody kinda snickered. Corpus Christi also wanted."

Then Tuesday they asked for AD's desiring to play host to next year's meeting to state their case and gave Tug the floor first.

Anyone who has heard Tug address a Booster Club or get worked up over a subject would have known this was a mistake. Tug can be a very persuasive talker.

"All I told them was that we'd give them a West Texas Welcome in Midland. And our paper and tv would give them coverage. Shucks, in some of these big towns, they don't even know we're here. But out in West Texas we're interested in Joe Golding and Darrell Tulley. We have good places to meet and good places to eat and if they picked Midland they wouldn't be sorry."

After Tug sat down, Corpus Christi Athletic Director Chatter Allen got up and said, "After listening to Tug, I vote we go to Midland next year." The vote was unanimous.

Snyder Soph Stops Pack

SNYDER — Midland's Bulldogs jumped on the Snyder Tigers in the first inning like they were going to can 'em and sell 'em, but then sophomore Gary Greenlee arrived on the scene to quell the Purple Pack on two hits over the last six innings for a 6-3 victory here Tuesday afternoon.

Midland exploded for three runs on five hits against Snyder's Robert Brazier before Greenlee came out of the bullpen to start the second and mowed down 11 Bulldogs on strikes.

Charley Northington took the loss when Snyder struck for three runs in the fourth inning on a single by Richard Tovar, a hit batsman and walk that loaded the bases and a dropped two-out fly that unloaded them. That gave Snyder a 3-3 lead and their third victory without defeat this season.

Midland, now 2-2, reeled off three double plays in bailing Northington out of some sticky early inning situations, but just couldn't do anything about Greenlee.

The 'Dogs opened the game with singles by Ron Helm and Steve Widner. After Terry Copeland advanced the runners with a bunt, Alan Buonasera, now four hits in five trips this season for an .800 average, singled to left to plate both runs.

Brandon Battles and Bruce Smith then followed with singles that brought Buonasera home with the third run for a 3-0 Bulldog lead.

After the first inning, however, a third-inning single by Widner and a sixth-inning hit by Buonasera were Midland's only hits.

Snyder got two runs in the third on three walks and Doak Witherspoon's two-run single.

Gregg Campbell, who relieved Northington with two out and the bases loaded in the fourth, was touched for a run in the sixth when Ernie Simons singled with two out and scored on a hit by Sid Perry.

The Bulldogs return home to play Odessa Ector Thursday at 4 p.m. at Memorial Stadium Field and then travel to Pecos for a game Friday at 4:15 p.m.

Abilene Rips Coronado, Cooper, Big Spring Bow

Abilene blasted Lubbock Coronado, 9-2, in a non-district baseball game while Abilene Cooper dropped a 2-1 decision to Wichita Falls Rider. In other action involving District 5-4A teams, Pecos rapped Big Spring, 8-4, and Odessa Ector handed Odessa its first loss, 3-2.

Monte Harris and Jim McElyea teamed up to scatter five hits for Abilene while first baseman Rusty McLeskey had two hits in four trips to the plate for Abilene which is 2-2 on the season.

Rider pushed across two runs in the first inning and then held on for its win over Cooper. The Cougars outthrew the Raiders, 7-4, but two errors were costly for the losers. Fernando Hernandez and Wade McLain hit homers to pace Pecos to its victory over Big Spring which stands 1-4 on the season. Wayne Dickens hit a homer for the Steers.

Odessa stands 3-1 in four games with its loss to cross-town rival Ector.

San Angelo only managed four hits with shortstop Ken Perez coming up with two of them. Rudy Izzard went all the way on the mound for the Bobcats in tossing a seven-hitter. The win gives San Angelo a 1-3 mark. The Bobcats had a doubleheader with Kerrville Tivy called off this weekend due to the fuel shortage.

WITH PIRATES AGAIN—

Does Murtaugh Have Old Touch?

By GARY MIHOSES
BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates learned about hard times in 1973, a season that ended with no playoff money and tarnished pride.

Roberto Clemente. Stamp in '73
They're gone because the Pirates fell to third place in baseball's National League East, a division they had dominated three previous seasons.

last season. Veterans Dal Maxvill will battle rookie Frank Taveras at shortstop.
Rennie Stennett is the second baseman now that Dave Cash has been traded. Stennett's average fell to .242 last year but he had 10 home runs and 55 RBIs.

Players To Present 2 Demands

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Football League's Players Association will wind up its convention Wednesday and advance its demands to league owners in Washington March 16.

The club's 80-82 record was a product of many things, including Clemente's absence, the abysmal collapse of pitcher Steve Blass and the kinds of mistakes other teams had always made against Pittsburgh.

Manny Sanguillen returns as the regular catcher, and though he had an off year in '73 he still batted .282. Mike Ryan and Kirkpatrick back him up.
Kurt Bevacqua, acquired from Kansas City, will provide depth at third base and second.

The players came up with two demands Tuesday, impartial arbitration and elimination of the waiver procedure.

Those are the long-range questions. The immediate ones: Who'll be Murtaugh's starting pitchers? Who'll play first base? Or shortstop? Big ERA

Midland High coach Ronnie Houdek will send Tom Klrwan against Meyers in first round action while Lee Coach Bob Connell will send Chad Shaw against Perry. The winners will compete at 6 p.m.

Bill Curry, president of the association, said, "We are now operating under the commission form of self government" in which the players are against NFL Commissioner Pete Roselle making the decisions in matters of arbitration.

Reuss comes from Houston with a 16-13 record last year. Brett was acquired from Philadelphia, where he was 13-9 last season and set a major league record for pitchers by hitting home runs in four consecutive games.

In the girls singles competition, a couple of highly-touted sophomores are expected to make a strong run at the crown. Abilene Cooper's Rick Meyers and Wichita Falls' Rick Perry have both performed well this year and will have the favorites role in the Lee meet.

They also feel that once a player is dropped from a team he has the right to renegotiate for himself instead of being waived from one club to another.

Reuss and Brett will battle for starting spots in a planned five-man rotation with Blass, Dock Ellis, Bruce Kison, Bob Moore and Jim Rooker.

Midland High coach Ronnie Houdek will send Tom Klrwan against Meyers in first round action while Lee Coach Bob Connell will send Chad Shaw against Perry. The winners will compete at 6 p.m.

Controversy Rages

Even If He Plays, Reds May Walk Aaron

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer
Even if Hank Aaron plays in Atlanta's season-opening series at Cincinnati, he may have a tough time catching Babe Ruth.
The Braves, who want Aaron to hit home runs 714 and 715 in Atlanta and thereby surpass Ruth's mark at home, have said he will not be in the starting line-up for the first three games in Cincinnati.

Aaron said Monday that if he is used as a pinch hitter, he will swing for a home run "if the situation calls for it."
Tuesday, though, Manager Sparky Anderson of the Reds said he won't hesitate to walk presson that Etchebarren will carry out his threat to retire.

Meanwhile, the New York Yankees invoked the option clause on second baseman Horace Clarke.
The Cleveland Indians, worried about the knee which Buddy Bell injured playing basketball over the winter, said the third baseman would see an orthopedic specialist in Tucson, Ariz., today.
Oakland second baseman Dick Green, who announced his annual retirement after the 1973 World Series, agreed to return to the world champion A's.

Elsewhere, there wasn't much progress on the holdout front, although the Baltimore Orioles signed outfielders Al Bumbry, 1973 American League Rookie-of-the-Year, and Jim Fuller and infielder Enos Cabell.
General Manager Frank Cashen threatened to take action against the four remaining holdouts — catcher Andy Etchebarren, pitchers Doyle Alexander and Bob Reynolds and outfielder Royle Stillman.
Manager Earl Weaver said he is proceeding under the im-interview Tuesday that he had been negotiating with John Burton, a Stax official, and that all he could say at this point was that "we are close."

Kuykendall, Walsh Lose In Upsets

DALLAS (AP) — Thanks, but no thanks, says Australian Lee Hunt on the privilege of carrying a seeding into the Maudsley Brinker Ladies Tennis Championships.
Miss Hunt, seeded seventh on this seventh stop of the Virginia Slims circuit, drew Betty Stove of The Netherlands as a first round opponent and was almost left holding the short straw before winning 6-3, 2-6, 6-4 Tuesday.

"I saw the draw and couldn't believe it," said the winner. "I might as well have been playing a seeded player."
Long Match
Miss Stove, the No. 1 Dutch women's player, matched passing shots with the Australian throughout the match until a weak serve and a daylong fever finally got the better of her in the final set.

Two other seeded players did not find their day full of many winning shots. Sixth-seeded Kathy Kuykendall of Houston and No. 8 seed Sharon Walsh of San Francisco dropped opening matches.

Sports . . . For The Love Of Money

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The golden age of sports has arrived, if gold means dollars spent and dollars earned in professional arenas across America.

Leagues fight with bundles of money for players and franchises, teams fight for stadiums or whole cities, and players fight for as much of the total take as they can get.

It's a far cry from that day in 1946 when two baseball teams bet a dinner on the outcome of the first game played under Doubleday's rules. Pro sports today amount to a massive poker game, egged on by affluent fans and television, managed by lawyers, assessed in courts.

The 105 professional team owners in baseball, football, basketball and hockey are alternately crying at contract time and smiling as the turn-of-the-clock and the TV cameras whirr.

The fates of the players reflect this battle. A few may lose salary arbitrations, but it's a good bet most of them come out ahead.

When Gordie Howe signed his first professional hockey contract in 1946, he received $2,500 and a Detroit Red Wings jacket as an 18-year-old. Last summer, the 45-year-old Howe came out of retirement to accept a $1 million offer from the World Hockey Association's Houston Aeros. He probably didn't need the money.

Howe, like many athletes in this golden age, is a well established businessman. He breeds 230 head of cattle on a 40,000-acre farm, is involved in life insurance and real estate and endorses a number of products. His sons, Mark and Marty — barely older than their father was when he signed his first contract — received nearly $1 million each for signing with the Aeros.

Alan Eagleson, executive director, manager and executive counsel of the National Hockey League Players Association, reports that in 1973, more than 60 million North American sports fans spent more than $300 million for tickets to watch major league sports. He said television and radio added $100 million for the rights to cover professional teams. Fans spent an estimated $150 million on concessions.

Salaries reflect the infusion of millions, thanks to the increased competition for player talent brought about by new leagues like the American Basketball Association, World Hockey Association, and World Football League.

In basketball, salaries ballooned from an average of $12,000 a few years ago to $85,000 today; hockey players, competing for an average of $30,000 before the WHA, earn $55,000 today. Football salaries had dropped from $40,000 to $30,000 when the American and National Football Leagues merged, but some predict that payrolls will double because of the World Football League.

Owners aren't smiling anymore when it comes time to pay the bills. It isn't easy keeping up with the players in business, and there's the added worry about paying the rent on arenas and offices, buying equipment, paying for transportation, printing programs, and facing the threat of losing players to a competing league — regardless of the status of their contracts.

Then there's another problem: what happens if fans aren't showing up in vast numbers?

"Our biggest problem right now is to fill seats that are now unfilled in many of our arenas," says National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy. "Player salaries and the costs of operation for a club have escalated tremendously in the last 10 years; and to pay the bills," says one while there has been a substantial increase in attendance and the fans don't show, where's the money going to come from?"

At times, usually contract-signing times, owners plead poverty to player demands for six-figure contracts. In many cases, however, the financial bite isn't as severe as it seems.

The National Hockey League's Philadelphia Flyers are an example. They entered the NHL in 1967 after paying an entry fee of $2 million. They received a dividend of close to $1 million in 1970 when Buffalo and Vancouver paid $6 million each to join the league, and received almost the same amount in 1972 when the New York Islanders and Atlanta Flames became NHL franchises. The Flyers are in line for another big payment when league accepts Washington, D.C., and Kansas City next season, bringing back the amount the Flyers had to pay in 1967 with plenty of extra capital as well. They have more than made back their original investment.

BUNT ATTEMPT—Monterey's Bobby Evans tries to lay down bunt as Lee catcher Blain Murray calls for outside pitch during non-district baseball game at Lee Tuesday. The Rebs scored eight runs in the sixth inning to post a 9-7 win over the Plainsmen.

Fired Up Flames Burn Bruins, 4-1

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The Atlanta Flames have lost five more games than they've won. They've given up 36 more goals than they've scored, and they're 25 points out of first place in the National Hockey League's West Division.

You wouldn't have known it from Tuesday night's game against the Boston Bruins, though.

"They thought they were 'Zan,'" said Bep Guidolin, coach of the East Division-leading Boston Bruins — victims of Atlanta's 4-1 victory.

"The Flames are trying for a playoff spot, and that's the way you play. They were playing before a big, noisy crowd, and it was probably their best game of the year."

In other NHL games, the Pittsburgh Penguins edged the New York Islanders 2-1, and the Los Angeles Kings trimmed the California Seals 2-1.

In the World Hockey Association, the New England Whalers topped the Chicago Cougars 3-2, and the Cleveland Crusaders downed the Los Angeles Sharks 6-3.

Atlanta Coach Bernie Geoffrion, who played in front of tremendous crowds during his 16-year NHL career with the Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers, said, "I've never seen a crowd like that, even in my days with Montreal. It gave great spirit to my team."

The spirit carried the Flames to a three-goal second period against the Bruins, highlighted by a spectacular solo goal by Butch Deadmarsh.

Keith McCreary and Bob Lester scored midway through the session, breaking a 1-1 tie. Then Deadmarsh took the puck at mid-ice, faked past Bruins left wing Wayne Cashman and feinted goalie Gilles Gilbert to the ice before tucking the puck into the net.

The Flames, who finished in seventh place last year as NHL rookies, are in third place now with 59 points — one more than Los Angeles and three more than St. Louis, which is in fifth place.

Johnny Bucyk tied the game 1-1 for the Bruins after Curt Bennett opened the scoring late in the first period.

Penguins 2, Islanders 1
The Islanders' Ralph Stewart, who scored the New York goal in the second period, missed a National Hockey League penalty shot which would have tied the game with just 1:47 remaining in the game.

Kings 2, Seals 1
Defenseman Bob Murdoch drove in a 40-foot slap shot with 2:18 left to play, giving the Kings their victory.

Whalers 3, Cougars 2
Third-period goals by Tom Webster and Tom Williams carried the game with just 1:47 remaining in the game.

Crusaders 6, Sharks 3
Ray Clearwater, Russ Walker, Gerry Pinder, and Skip Krake scored consecutively to give Cleveland a 5-3 lead and Tom Edur scored the other Crusaders goal.

NET ACTION—Action was fast and furious Tuesday night in the Midland High Gym with Lee defeating MHS, 15-6, 14-6 in 5-4A play. Midland's Cindy Pulte, left and Lee's Willie Lane (82), both go up at net during game.

Lee Girls Defeat Midland To Go 5-0

Coach Linda Weikel's Midland Lee girls volleyball team stormed to a 15-6, 14-6 District 5-4A victory over Coach Jo Ann Martin's Midland High Bulldogs Tuesday night before a large crowd in the MHS Gymnasium.

"We really wanted to win badly and the girls all turned in strong performances," said an elated Miss Weikel after the big victory which gives the Rebs a 5-0 loop record. MHS, meanwhile, is 3-2 in district play.

Miss Weikel felt that her team really hustled and played one of its better games of the season. She had praise for the play of Trisha Kubik, Willie Lane, Lezlie Frith, Janice Goodley, Anne Higgins, Cindy Hudgens and Karen Johnson.

Midland meets Plains in the MHS Gym Thursday in its next outing while Lee is open until Tuesday when the Rebels take on Snyder in Snyder to open the second half of the district

Big Spring Friday and Saturday before taking on Abilene Cooper in Abilene Tuesday. Lee made it a clean sweep for the evening by winning in junior varsity action, 15-13 and 15-11 over the Midland JV.

The day of the controversial balk stride toward first may be coming to an end with the experimental use of a balk line on the pitcher's mound in major league spring training games this month.

In the past, a pitcher's stride to first, particularly those of some lefties, bordered on the illegal and ignited frequent heated debates, especially if the runner on first was picked off.

With the balk line, the pitcher must stride to the first base side of the line when he makes his throw. . .

Houston Takes Gamble On Farr

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers have acquired Detroit running back Mel Farr from the Detroit Lions but there are stipulations at both ends of the deal.

The Oilers say Farr must pass his physical and be on the 1974 active list and Farr says he may retire unless he gets the right answers from Oiler Coach Sid Gillman.

If Farr, the Lions' No. 1 draft choice and NFC rookie of the year in 1967, does play for the Oilers the Lions will get an undisclosed draft choice.

"It will be a hard decision all right," Farr said Tuesday. "I'm going to talk with Sid Gillman about some specifics (today) . . . I can't say how long it will be before I make up my mind, but it's going to take a little time."

Farr said it was no secret in Detroit that he was thinking about retiring. "In fact, I imagine that's probably the main reason I was traded," Farr said.

Farr, a former Beaumont, Tex. schoolboy drafted by the Lions out of UCLA, has carried 739 times for 3,072 yards and 36 touchdowns in a career hampered by injuries.

Farr played in only eight games in 1971 when he carried the ball only 22 times for 64 yards. In 1972 Farr was in 10 games rushing 216 yards on 62 carries.

AT CONFERENCE— Governors Demand Relief From Crises

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's mayors have ended their two-day conference here and now the governors are taking their turn demanding relief from the federal government for crises from energy to unemployment.

The municipal leaders reacted strongly against the way Washington is addressing their problems, with most of the fire aimed at the White House.

Gasoline Price Refund Expected

DALLAS (AP) — Internal Revenue Service audits at refineries will bring about the first nationwide gasoline pump price refund from a major U.S. oil company within two weeks, the Dallas News reported today.

The newspaper gave these details in a copyrighted article: The IRS refused to say what company is involved or state the amount of money to be refunded. A refund usually is effected at the pump by ordering the price reduced by the amount overcharged for each gallon.

An IRS spokesman in Washington, Bob Zarnoch, said the oil company will not be identified until the Federal Energy Office issues the order, but "it will hit home for you in Texas."

Under orders issued by energy chief William Simon, the IRS has been checking the 30 largest refineries in the nation and started with those in Texas early last month.

Zarnoch said that in probing for violations of pricing, "we've visited 28 of the top 30 refineries so far, and we are finding what we're looking for."

Adding that he could not be too specific about the violation, Zarnoch said, "It's a price issue. It's not intentional at the moment, but the amount of money involved is not minor."

The mayors asked for a doubling of the administration's proposed supplemental appropriations request under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act and new legislation to create up to 300,000 public service jobs.

But at the same time there were new signs that the Nixon administration is moving toward satisfying some of the more insistent local government demands.

The governors, opening the two-day winter meeting of the National Governors Conference today, were looking for some of the same assurances, particularly for better direction in facing energy-related emergencies.

Although the governors have been making the charge for the past year, the mayors for the first time this week raised the complaint that their problems are going unsolved because of Watergate scandals.

Distracted By Watergate
Norfolk, Va., Mayor Roy B. Martin Jr., president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, and a 1972 Democrat for Nixon, keynoted the meeting by charging that "during the past year we have been a nation distracted from effective government by the tragedy of Watergate."

"What we have now, in this country, in addition to the usual problems, are a lot of unnecessary emergencies largely brought on by the inability of government to govern," Martin said.

Floyd H. Hyde, former mayor of Fresno, Calif., who recently resigned as undersecretary of Housing and Urban Development in open disenchantment with federal housing programs, accused the government of refusing to come to grips with pressing urban problems.

Complaints Of Impoundment
The municipal leaders complained that the administration is impounding $11 billion in funds intended for domestic programs which would lift the sagging economy and give employment for many displaced by the energy shortage.

The mayors asked for a doubling of the administration's proposed supplemental appropriations request under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act and new legislation to create up to 300,000 public service jobs.

WINS VACANT HOUSE SEAT — State Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino shakes the hand of a supporter and gives a knowing wink to others in the crowd of well wishers as he and his wife, Norma, right, visit a group at a barbecue held in Ventura, Calif., Tuesday night. Democrat Victor In Ohio Vote

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Glee-filled Democrats chanted "Nixon must go!" as Thomas A. Luken joined the victory party after winning an election for Ohio's 1st District seat in Congress.

Luken is only the fourth Democrat this century to win the usually Republican stronghold in Cincinnati. He was the third Democrat this year to wrest away formerly GOP seats in special congressional elections.

Officials of both parties placed varying degrees of blame on President Nixon and Watergate for the GOP loss in Ohio.

Luken gave his own version of the election results Tuesday night. "The voters of the 1st District of Ohio have expressed their concern about the nature of this administration and our society."

The final unofficial vote from Nominated For Award Carolyn Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Cobb of 2918 McDonald St. and a student of UT-Austin, has been nominated by the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences for the 1974 outstanding student award.

Republican Wins California Election

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Republicans retained firm control on a Southern California congressional seat today after turning back Democratic efforts to capitalize on the Watergate issue.

Republican State Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, 47, swept to victory over a field of seven Democratic candidates in a special election Tuesday. He was the only GOP contender.

Lagomarsino characterized it as a personal victory based on his record of 13 years in the California Legislature and not vote of confidence for the Nixon administration or a referendum on Watergate.

"It is an indication that people will vote for a Republican if they think that he is the best man running for the job," he told newsmen early today.

His chief Democratic opponent, Ojai Mayor James Loeb, attempted to portray Lagomarsino as a party "loyalist" with unwavering support of the administration.

"People know I am not that way. They trust me. They know I'm honest," he said.

The soft-spoken lawyer, businessman and rancher from Ojai said he hopes to take his House seat next week. He described himself as "a moderate conservative" who has an open mind on the question of whether Nixon should be impeached.

The special election was called to fill the vacancy created by the death of New Year's Day of Rep. Charles M. Teague, a Republican who represented the 13th Congressional District for almost two decades.

Under California law, Tuesday's balloting in Ventura and Santa Barbara counties essentially was a primary election. But Lagomarsino won it outright by compiling 53 per cent of the vote against the total collected by the seven Democrats.

With more than 90 per cent of the vote counted, Lagomarsino had 51,987 to a combined total of 45,232 for the seven opponents. Loeb was second with 18,416 votes.

Democrats hold a 48-45 registration margin in the district, but it has been considered safe Republican territory since the early 1960s.
