Glorieta Oil Strike Finals In Crane Area

V-F Petroleum, Inc. of Midland has completed No. 2-21 ARCO as a Glorieta discovery in Crane County, 18 miles south of Crane.

It pumped 66 barrels of 36-gravity oil and 12 barrels of water on 24-hour potential test, through perforations at 2,952-2,960 feet, which had been acidized with 500 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 80-1.

Drilled to 3,651 feet, and plugged back to 3,200 feet, it has 4 1/4-inch casing at 3,517 feet.

Location is 467 feet from southwest and 2,173 feet from southeast lines of section 21, block 35, H&TC survey.

Confirmer Finals In Pecos Gas Area

The Apco-Warner, West (Wichita-Albany) field of Pecos County gained its second producer and a location southwest extension, with recompletion of National Cooperative Refinery Association of Midland, No. 1 Myron A. Smith.

It rated a calculated, absolute open flow of 3 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, flowing through perforations at 4,594-4,608 feet, after acidizing with 8,500 gallons.

Originally drilled by U. S. Smelting, Refining & Mining Co., it was completed in 1962 as the Ellenburger discovery, for 108 barrels of oil per day, through a 12-64-inch choke and perforations at 4,900-4,952 feet.

Drilled to 4,955 feet, it has 5 1/2-inch casing set one foot off bottom, and is plugged back to 4,750 feet.

Location is 660 feet from northeast and 1,900 feet from southeast lines of section 59, block 10, H&GN survey, 11 miles southwest of Buena Vista.

The Wichita-Albany opener, Adobe Oil Co. No. 1 Knight-5, finished in April, 1971, for 4.8 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations at 4,569-4,605 feet.

Exploration Stated For Upton, Gaines

Fowler & McDaniel, Midland, staked site for an 11,800-foot Devonian wildcat in Upton County, 20 miles northeast of Rankin. It is No. 1 McCusiston Community Hospital.

Drill site is 1,182 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 22, block B, CCSD&RGNG survey, 1/4 mile northwest of the one-well Neal Ranch (Wolfcamp) gas field.

The Neal Ranch opener originally was completed by Richardson & Bass as No. 1 Neal, Dec. 23, 1948, for 342 barrels of oil per day, gravity 46.1 degrees, through a 3/4-inch choke and perforations at 10,020-10,050 feet. It was reclassified in February, 1972, as a gas well for 1.68 million cubic feet of gas per day, through the above perforations.

Gaines Re-Entry

Chevron Oil Co. has filed application to re-enter and plug back to 6,100 feet for tests of a wildcat zone at No. 2 F. C. Dodson Estate, et al, former (Continued On Page 12A)

Governor's Power Cut Again

Where Is Heidi?

SEATTLE (AP) - Few know little Heidi, but seldom a day goes by that hundreds of shoppers, working people and school children don't watch for her face in the crowd.

The 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peterson has been missing since Feb. 21 and police say they are sure she was abducted.

"I used to tell her, every night when I tucked her in, 'Remember Heidi, whatever happens, mommy and daddy always love you,'" said the mother of the little girl with a winning smile.

The caring and concern are not the Petersons' alone. Thousands of volunteer housewives, students, Boy Scouts, merchants and laborers have mobilized in the search. Heidi has become almost a family member in many households.

An initial and massive search turned up no sign of her. Undaunted, hundreds of housewives began covering the city with posters bearing the picture and description of the girl.

Nearly 50,000 leaflets have been distributed and the search is spreading to other towns and cities of the Northwest and the nation.

Where Is Heidi?

"There's probably been more response on this case than any other I've been on in 16 years," said police Detective Bill Baughman, one of two officers assigned full time to Heidi's case.

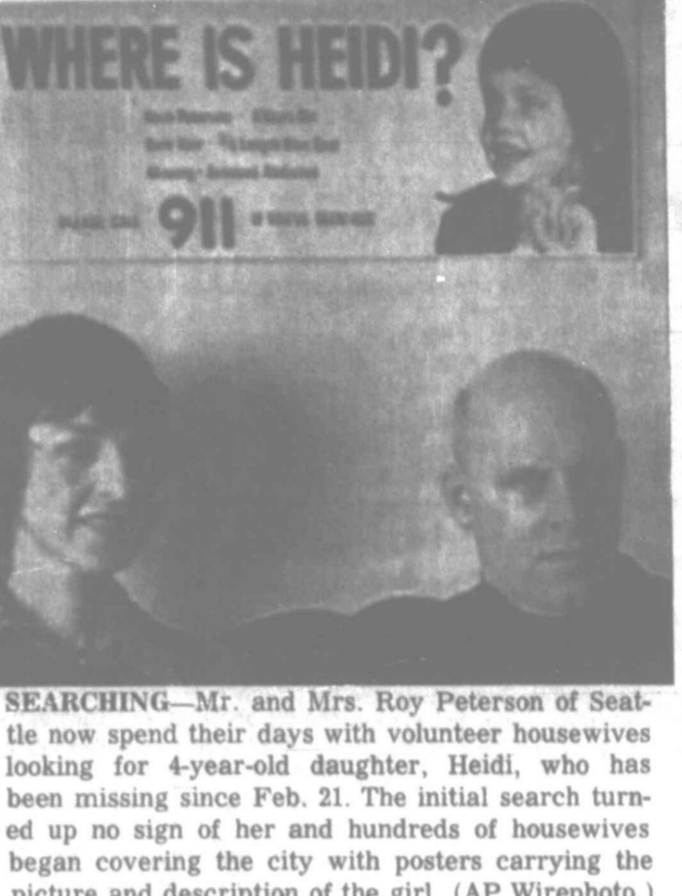

In schools, children take a lesson to be careful of strangers and offer a prayer for Heidi. Police, merchants and shoppers spent an afternoon downtown hunting without results after a man said he thought he had seen the girl with an older woman.

At the Peterson home, overlooking the boats on Portage Bay and with the Cascade Mountains in the background, the waiting is hard. The balding Peterson, carpenter by trade and Swedish by descent, holds his wife's hand. She is 36 and wonders if it isn't harder because she became a mother relatively late.

Mrs. Peterson last saw her daughter the afternoon of Feb. 21 as Heidi and brother Carl, 2 1/2, played in front of the modest family home. Mrs. Peterson left for a short trip to the grocery store.

Within 15 minutes her husband stepped outside the house to check on his children and found Carl sitting on his tricycle, alone and with a long face.

"Heidi go," said the boy.

SEARCHING—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peterson of Seattle now spend their days with volunteer housewives looking for 4-year-old daughter, Heidi, who has been missing since Feb. 21. The initial search turned up no sign of her and hundreds of housewives began covering the city with posters carrying the picture and description of the girl. (AP Wirephoto.)

Delegates Okay Easier Way Of Overriding Veto

AUSTIN (AP)—Constitutional Convention delegates put another nick in a Texas governor's power today by making it easier for the legislature to override his veto.

The delegates voted 64-62 against an amendment that would preserve a governor's power to veto bills at the end of a legislative session without the legislators having a chance to override his veto. The vote puts into the proposed new constitution a new provision that says if the legislature is called back any time during its term it will take up any governor's vetoes pending.

Earlier, the convention voted to let governor's vetoes be overridden by two-thirds of the legislators present, not two-thirds of the membership of either the Senate or House, as now.

"We have not had a governor's veto overridden since 1941," said Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eules, whose committee recommended the change. "We are better skelter, unroofing a food store and starting many fires as electrical power was knocked out. At the same time as much as two feet of water filled a number of streets. There was no word of serious injuries."

Storms Prowl Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Damaging thunderstorms and heavy showers pounded parts of South Texas during the night and spread northward today with downpours threatening floods as more than two inches of rain per hour fell in places.

Destructive winds tore through Kingsville in one of the storms, tumbling trailer homes and spreading damage to a food store and starting many fires as electrical power was knocked out. At the same time as much as two feet of water filled a number of streets. There was no word of serious injuries.

Danish Airliner Crash Kills 29

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - A Danish airliner carrying 96 persons burst into flames while preparing to take off from Tehran airport today, and airport officials said 29 persons were killed.

Civil Aviation Director Hushang Arbabi said the remaining 67 persons were rescued.

Arbabi described the cause of the fire as hydraulic fault, which occurred while the plane was taxiing toward takeoff. He did not elaborate.

Earlier, the official Iranian news agency said that 37 persons were killed and 42 injured.

It said 17 were unharmed and were taken to hotels.

Earlier, the state radio reported 37 persons were rescued from the plane and "the rest of the passengers were killed."

In addition, airport officials said the plane was carrying 94 passengers and a crew of four, and the number of dead was not officially announced.

A spokesman for Sterling Airways in Copenhagen said the plane was carrying Scandinavian, French and West German tourists.

He said the plane was on charter to Denmark's Tjaerborg Reiser Agency, and was on a refueling stop before flying on to Copenhagen from New Delhi.

Prime Minister Amir Abbas and the spark caused an explosion," the prime minister said.

"Two minutes later fire engines reached the scene and rescuers cut the plane door open by electric saw, and managed to rescue 37 of the passengers," Abbas said.

One witness said the cockpit section broke off and came to rest about 350 yards from the rest of the plane.

GAO Says Using Funds For Agnew Services Legal

WASHINGTON (AP) - The General Accounting Office says that using government funds to provide office space and services for former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is legally proper but has questioned the use of a presidential fund to pay the salaries of his staff.

Comptroller General Elmer Staats, in a letter released today by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., recommended that Congress in the future spell out more clearly exactly what a vice president who resigns is entitled to in the way of government services.

At issue is the money spent for Agnew's staff and office space since he resigned Oct. 10 after pleading no contest to a charge of income tax evasion.

The staff is helping Agnew sort through his vice presidential papers.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

NEW YORK (AP) - A volunteer fund-raiser for President Nixon's re-election campaign, who said he got the first word that financier Robert L. Vesco wanted to be a big contributor, told a jury today former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell later told him to stay away from Vesco.

CHICAGO (AP) - Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will begin talks in Moscow March 25 on preparations for President Nixon's visit to the Soviet Union later in the year, White House officials announced here today.

Nixon Slates Question-Answer Session

CHICAGO (AP) - President Nixon has been welcomed here by Democratic Mayor Richard J. Daley, who declared "Watergate is not a real issue" in the 1974 elections.

Daley was at O'Hare International Airport to meet Nixon upon his arrival from Washington Thursday night and drove with him to a Loop hotel where the President will hold a question-and-answer session today with members of the prestigious Executives Club.

The session will be carried nationally by television and radio.

Surrounded by reporters at O'Hare before Nixon's big jet landed, Daley predicted Democrats will do well in the November elections but said living costs rather than Watergate would be the major issue.

Asked if he had an agenda for a private discussion with the President during their half-hour ride from the airport, the mayor said, "I wouldn't tell you if I had."

Once Nixon got to his overnight lodgings at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, where many in a crowd of several hundred cheered or booed, Daley was asked what they had talked about.

"The great scenery," he replied.

Spring Fever Activities Create Garbage Problem

Spring fever is striking Midland residents, who are trimming trees, mowing yards and cleaning house.

All this is creating a problem for garbage collectors in the city, who collected nearly one million pounds of trash during the first three days of this week.

Director of Public Works Fred Baker said 993,420 pounds of garbage had been collected by Wednesday during 122 trips by city trucks. Last week, only 780,350 pounds was collected all week in 100 trips.

Baker urged residents to leave some room in waste containers for regular garbage. He also said leaving trash in the alley is against city ordinances. "All trash must be placed in the containers," he added.

Garbage is picked up twice a week in residential areas and daily in commercial areas.

"There are no big problems in most areas," Baker noted.

Everett Jordan, Ex-Senator, Dies

SAXAPAHAW, N.C. (AP) - Former North Carolina Sen. B. Everett Jordan died today at his home in Saxapahaw. He was 77.

Cause of death was not immediately known, although the soft-spoken Democrat had been ill for some time, his doctor said.

Jordan, the son of a Methodist minister, was appointed to the Senate in 1956 by Gov. Luther Hodges to succeed Sen. W. Kerr Scott, who had died in office.

Scout Exposition Opens Saturday

The Annual Buffalo Trail (Chaparral District) Scout Exposition will open with flag-raising and ribbon-cutting ceremonies at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Midland County Exhibit Building.

More than 800 scouts will participate in the exposition which will end at 6 p.m. Saturday. It is expected to draw more than 5,000 visitors, according to Ken Peeler, exposition chairman.

Visitors will be greeted by a huge sign proclaiming the theme of this year's event - "Get Involved For Them."

Impressive exposition-opening ceremonies will be held at the entrance to the exhibit building, with Midland County Dist. Atty. James Mashburn serving as master of ceremonies.

George H. O'Brien Jr. of Midland, an independent oil operator and Congressional Medal of Honor winner, will be a special honor guest during the ceremonies.

Lt. Col. Bob Smith of the United States Marine Corps, will read the citation which accompanied the medal bestowed on O'Brien for heroism during the Korean conflict. The medal for him was authorized by late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Special guests during the opening ceremonies will be Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., Bill Malone, United Way campaign chairman; Wayne Gideon, assistant police chief; Preston Bridgewater Jr., Midland's outstanding young man of 1973; and Charlie Welch, Midland County commissioner.

A. L. "Ike" McCarroll, president of the Buffalo Trail Council and Forrest Muire, Chaparral District chairman, also will be special guests during the opening ceremonies.

One of the scouts will introduce Mashburn.

Scouts, Explorers and Cubs from Midland and Stanton will take part in the exposition which will have 45 booths depicting many phases of Scout life and subjects of interest to everyone.

The booths will include exhibits on ecology, safety, first aid, energy, geology, life-saving techniques and camping procedures.

The affair will get under way with flag-raising ceremonies conducted by the Marine Corps Reserve color guard. Mayor Angelo will lead the ribbon-cutting ceremonies.

Approximately 800 Scouts, Explorers and Cubs and about 200 adults have been working many weeks to put the exposition together and to make it a success, Peeler said.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) - The whereabouts of American oil executive Victor Samuelson remained a mystery today despite payment four days ago of a record $14.2 million ransom to Marxist guerrillas for his release.

It was not known if the People's Revolutionary Army (ERP) were still holding the 36-year-old refinery manager from Cleveland, Ohio, or if he had been released and secretly flown abroad.

Officials of Esso Argentina, Samuelson's employer and a subsidiary of Exxon, would say only that they would make no immediate statement when Samuelson was released. They implied the announcement would come from Exxon's New York headquarters.

Police sources said they had no information that he had been freed. There was also no information from Samuelson's wife, who was sent to the United States in mid-January with the couple's three children.

Along with the ransom, Exxon agreed to the guerrillas' demand for an advertisement in 42 local and provincial newspapers saying the ransom returned "super-earnings obtained in Argentina through exploitation of workers."

Only three newspapers printed the advertisement, however, fearing government retaliation for disseminating rebel propaganda. The leftist El Mundo printed the ad twice, and the government closed it indefinitely for "attempting to distribute subversive material." No action was taken against the other two papers.

ERP guerrillas seized Samuelson Dec. 6 while he was eating lunch at the refinery, he headed at Campana, 60 miles north of Buenos Aires. Informal sources said a suitcase containing the $14.2-million ransom in $100-bills was delivered Monday at a secret rendezvous.

In northern Italy, meanwhile, police found kidnaped Count Luigi Rossi di Montelera tied to a bed in the cellar of a farmhouse and arrested two persons at the farm. Rossi, 27 and an heir to the Martini and Rossi family, was kidnaped four months ago near Turin. He was reported in good shape.

Pastore Replies To Nixon Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said today the most serious defect in President Nixon's campaign reform proposals was his opposition to public financing.

"Public funds for the public campaigns of public officials make good sense if we want to end political payola," Pastore said.

He called the Watergate scandals "conclusive proof that the present system of private financing breeds corruption."

Pastore spoke on all major radio networks as the spokesman for the Democratic Congress in reply to the proposals Nixon advanced a week ago in his message to Congress and on a nationwide broadcast.

Opposes Individual Gifts
"Let us not be misled by those who claim that public financing is taxation without representation and a raid on the federal treasury," Pastore said.

"Taxation without representation is precisely what you have when you have corruption," he said.

He took exception to Nixon's recommendation that individuals be permitted to contribute up to $15,000 to the campaigns of presidential candidates.

"How many Americans are capable of making a contribution of $15,000?" Pastore asked.

"Surely any such contribution is suspect of some personal vested interest."

Pastore, who devoted most of his address to public financing, said the idea was "first proposed in America by one of the nation's greatest Republican Presidents — Theodore Roosevelt."

"He called for public financing nearly 70 years ago in response to the notorious corruption in campaign financing that prevailed in American politics at the turn of the century — and the scandal of that time was child's play compared to the scandals in the 1972 elections," Pastore said.

He said Congress already had provided for public financing of presidential campaigns by passing legislation under which taxpayers can check off $1 of their income tax for this purpose.

Pastore urged taxpayers to make use of the dollar check-off. "It will not add to your tax nor will it take away from any refund to which you are entitled," he emphasized.

He called the Watergate scandals "conclusive proof that the present system of private financing breeds corruption."

Panel Completed For Manus Trial

The twelfth and final juror for the Tommy Manus capital murder case was selected at 3 p.m. Thursday in Midland's 142nd District Court.

Testimony is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Monday.

The panel includes seven women and five men. Those chosen Thursday afternoon are Mrs. Emogene Parker of 2304 Wedgewood St., an employee of Superior Oil Co.; James L. Simmons of 702 Devonian St., a teacher at Crockett Elementary School, and Johnny C. Landers of 3107 W. Louisiana St., a signalman for Texas-Pacific Railway Co.

Others chosen since jury selection began Monday afternoon are Connie S. Tenney of 3714 Humble St., Mrs. Donald A. Macle Hunt of 1900 Hughes St., Mrs. G. E. Smead of 5 Greenwich Drive, Margaret Mary Cerf of 601 George St., Perry Whitehead of 318 Fiesta Drive, Dennis Clements of 4511 Pleasant St., Mrs. Joe M. Parsley of 7 Bristol Court, Alice B. Helms of 809 Sinclair St. and Joe L. Pate of 2811 Goddard St.

Three Men Charged
Manus and two other men, Danny Johnson and James Allen Elred Jr., are charged with capital murder in the Sept. 20 robbery and shooting death of Henry Moyah, a Canadian Indian in Midland with a traveling carnival.

The court granted a defense motion for severance, which means that Johnson and Elred will be tried separately from Manus.

Under the new death penalty law in this state, murder becomes a capital crime when committed during the commission for certain other felonies including robbery.

If the jury finds a defendant guilty of capital murder, it must answer three questions. Based on the answers to those questions, the trial judge pronounces a sentence of either life in prison or death.

No other sentences are possible and this was explained to each prospective juror as he was questioned during jury selection.

areas embracing Corpus Christi, Laredo, Cotulla, Del Rio, Kerrville, San Antonio, Austin and points in between.

Midland, however, will have clear to partly cloudy skies and somewhat cooler weather today and Saturday, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal.

High today will be in the middle 70s, with an overnight low expected around 40. High Saturday will be near 70.

High Thursday was 74 and the overnight low was 44.

Winds will be south to southwest 10 to 20 m.p.h., becoming northerly 5 to 15 m.p.h. tonight.

Hail accompanied the deluges at some points. Ice pellets the size of ping pong balls spattered on the rooftops at Kingsville. Smaller hailstones fell at Cotulla.

At Hondo the official rainfall measurement was 1.50 inches in 50 minutes after midnight.

The intensity of the storms caused a flash flood warning to go out for residents of Duval, La Salle and McMullen counties, and a severe thunderstorm alert was in force as people in Corpus Christi awakened.

Another batch of showers and thunderstorms headed inland from the Gulf of Mexico through the coastal sections from Palacios to Galveston.

Outside the rain belt, skies also were cloudy over the rest of Southeast Texas. It was clear to only partly cloudy elsewhere across the state.

Early morning temperatures stayed as high as 68 degrees at Alice and McAllen in deep South Texas while Dalhart in the Panhandle was one of the coolest spots at 40. Thursday's top marks went as high as 94 at McAllen.

Still more weather was predicted in all sections of the state tonight and Saturday, The Associated Press reported.

Sturgeon Resigns Post With TSTA

FORT WORTH (AP) — L. P. Sturgeon says he resigned as executive secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association at an executive committee meeting because of health reasons.

Leaders of the 151,000-member TSTA said Sturgeon's resignation caught them by surprise. The resignation becomes effective July 1.

Committee members voted Thursday to accept the resignation, but to retain Sturgeon on a one-third time basis for the two years on his contract after July 1.

Sturgeon, who devoted most of his address to public financing, said the idea was "first proposed in America by one of the nation's greatest Republican Presidents — Theodore Roosevelt."

Father Hooks Body Of Missing Son, 6, While Fishing

MENTOR, Ohio (AP) — Stephen E. Malenda went fishing in Mentor Lagoons Thursday, as he has for the past several days on the urging of family members, to get his mind off his 6-year-old son, Timothy, who disappeared Jan. 25.

"I've been casting there for the past two or three weeks," Malenda said. "I never hooked anything — maybe some tree stumps."

Thursday his hook found Timothy's body in the water.

"When I first hooked on, I had a feeling," said Malenda, his voice heavy with sorrow. "I said, 'Oh my God! What have I got? Timothy?' I pulled him up and saw his face. There was blood on it."

"I started hollering and screaming. I left the rod there and went to get help."

Mentor police were called to remove the body from the water. The body was taken to the Cuyahoga County coroner's office for examination.

Always Available

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gasoline will continue to be available 24 hours per day, including Sundays, on all Oklahoma toll roads, a spokesman for the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority said Thursday.

State troopers said the cars, loaded with vinyl acetate, continued to burn early today along a section of track bypassing the site of a derailment last Monday in which five Amtrak passengers suffered minor injuries.

Investigators said the spectacular fire made estimates difficult as to how many cars left the track. The figure at first ranged as high as 50 units, but later dropped to 10 or 15.

The Senate bill proposed a voluntary system that employers could join. The House proposed merely to have the Social Security Administration keep track of the pension rights an employee had built up when he left an employer, and inform him of these when he applied for Social Security benefits.

As a further backup, an insurance system would be set up in the Labor Department. Pension plans would pay premiums and benefits, up to certain limits, would be insured. If the government insurance system had to pay off, it would have a claim — the limits to be determined — on the assets of the company involved.

One issue on which the Senate and House bills differ widely is over ways by which an employee might be able to take his pension rights with him if he changes jobs.

away the governor's power and puts the pressure on us."

The convention continued work after taking two days off following the death and funeral of Rep. Hawkins Menefee, D-Houston, who was killed in a car accident early Wednesday.

Only 54 of the 181 delegates were on the convention floor when debate began this morning and a bare quorum to do business was present when the first vote was taken. The vote showed 129 present. A quorum is 122 delegates—two-thirds of the total.

Speaker Price Daniel Jr., convention president, urged the delegates to work both this afternoon and Saturday despite the sparse turnout. "We owe it to the people of Texas to devote ourselves more seriously and fully to finish our work," he told the delegates.

Shortly afterwards Daniel told a newsman that he now feels certain the convention will not be able to complete its work without a recess for the primary elections.

"That's pretty clear," he said when asked if he now thought a recess would be necessary.

Meeting Draws Up Plans For Christmas In April

A kickoff meeting for Christmas in April was held Thursday.

A repeat of the successful Christmas in October event, plans are being drawn to repair on April 27 houses of Midlanders who otherwise would not be able to have extensive repair work done.

Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. said the program brought about an awareness of the plight of unfortunate citizens of the Tall City.

City Manager Jim Brown told project planners solving the city's problems is up to all citizens.

Richard Schmidt, executive director of the Human Relations Council, said houses are selected for repair by volunteers mainly on the basis of need.

All homes considered for repairs must be occupied by the owner, Schmidt added.

Christmas in April will give persons a chance to put into practice ideas of people helping people, he added.

The project is being coordinated by the Park Center YMCA. Any person or organization wishing to be a part of the Christmas in April project may contact Bruce Stores, Park Center YMCA director, at 682-0533.

Washington (AP) — Luther Holcomb, vice chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission since 1965, has been nominated for one of three vacancies on the seven-member Federal Communications Commission, President Nixon said Thursday.

Holcomb, 54, of Garland, Tex., would fill the unexpired term of H. Rex Lee until June 30, 1975. Lee resigned Dec. 28.

President Lyndon B. Johnson named Holcomb to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in 1965 and he was reappointed in 1970.

The former Baptist minister did ground work leading to peaceful desegregation of schools and public accommodations in Dallas before President Johnson named him to the employment commission.

Both Lee and Holcomb are Democrats, the party in power being limited to four spots on the FCC.

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — Attorneys for two Symbionese Liberation Army "soldiers" say their clients may appeal for the immediate freedom of kidnapped heiress Patricia Hearst if the courts allow them to make a nationwide television broadcast.

Lawyers for Joseph Remiro, 27, and Russell Little, 24, on Thursday denied that the men want to trade themselves for the 20-year-old coed. They said the men want to clear themselves in court.

The SLA, which claims responsibility for Miss Hearst's kidnaping on Feb. 4, has threatened to break off communications with her family unless Little and Remiro appear on nationwide television. They are charged with the Nov. 6 cyanide-bullet assassination of Oakland School Supt. Marcus Foster and attempted murder of a policeman.

Contra Costa County Superior Court Judge Sam Hall, who is presiding over the attempted murder case, promised a ruling Monday on the request for the tv appearance, Oakland Municipal Judge Stafford Buckley, presiding over the Foster case, said he would hold a hearing on the request next Wednesday.

Miss Hearst is the daughter of Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner.

The FBI has identified the Symbionese Liberation Army as a militant group of about 25 members.

Washington (AP) — Texas' Killeen High School literary-art magazine, "Reflections," today won a first place rating in the 50th annual newspaper-magazine contest conducted by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

There are five ratings, from medalist, certifying a publication of distinction, through fourth place. Certificates of award are given to all entrants except those in fourth place.

Food, Raw Material Crises May Face America In Future

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(An AP News Analysis)
Maybe the oil embargo is being lifted and maybe in a few weeks the atmosphere of panic at the filling stations will vanish, but there's a lot else to worry about.
If oil were the only major concern, there might be an excuse to relax and breathe easy. The oil crisis, in fact, may have been just a taste of things to come.
There's a prospect ahead of a long-lasting era of economic instability in the industrial world that could lead to highly unpleasant consequences. The energy troubles the industrial nations have been experiencing cannot all, by any means, be laid at the door of the Arab embargo. But oil is only one aspect of a developing and worrisome picture.

In the offing are signs of another crunch, this one in raw materials. On top of that, there are likely to be enormous food problems in the years ahead.
The performance of the OPEC — Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries — in squeezing the powerful nations has generated excited thinking in so-called "developing" countries. They see that raw material is power.

Will there be more "OPEC's"? The "poor" countries are becoming acutely aware of their potential. Metals and minerals vital to the Western world's economic health lie under the ground of many a poor country.
A highly placed Washington expert says that six of the 13 metals most essential to American economic health are in short supply and must be more than 50 per cent imported in another 10 years, that will be the case in nine of them.
The United Nations is about to hold a session on the whole picture of raw materials and that could quicken an urge to make big nations dance the little nations' tune. Is there new crisis ahead? The concerned experts of the Club of Rome, an international study group, think so. Their February "Salzburg statement" had this to say:

"The fact is that the industrial societies operate wastefully and stimulate unnecessary consumption. . . . World society is torn asunder by growing and intolerable disparities in living standards and opportunities. . . . Hundreds of millions of men and women live marginal lives. . . . Nature is pillaged and poisoned for the benefit of the few. . . .
"The present crisis is much deeper than an oil or energy or a food crisis. Its negative effects will have many and diverse repercussions throughout the entire world. . . .
An era of instability can be generated by an ever-upward push on living costs. Oil, just as an example, pushed up costs of manufacturing, food and services. Along come poor countries with new ideas about raw materials and another push upward is in prospect. All this can have political spin-off in resentments, unrest, anger, revolution and even possibly major war.

It Wasn't His Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It wasn't 18-year-old Richard Farrell's day for streaking, even if he had wanted to. In fact, it just wasn't his day.

First, the youth said he was struck when he refused to streak. Then he was struck again when others thought he was streaking.

It went like this:

Farrell said he was hitchhiking in Des Moines, Iowa, Thursday when he met two men who asked him to streak — run in the nude.

He said he refused and the men jumped out of the car and beat him into unconsciousness. He awoke, nude except for his shoes, a T-shirt and a floppy hat he had not had before.

Groggy, he went up on a viaduct and shortly ran afoul of two other men in a car who objected to his lack of clothing. He said he was beaten again, and these assailants took his floppy hat with them.

By this time, Patrolman Marshall Irwin arrived, gave him a blanket to ward off the chill and sent him to a hospital. He was treated for mouth cuts, a chipped tooth and cuts and bruises.

The fad that began on college campuses and spread among students, hardhats and then on to other nations continued unabated.

In Honolulu, three young men wearing only ski masks streaked through the studio of television station KITV Thursday while the local live news show was being presented.

The men yelled, "Streak! Streak! Streak!" as they darted across the news set. They were seen from the chest up on television sets throughout Hawaii.

The streakers escaped in a truck.

Texas Firms Get Tips On Carpools

HOUSTON (AP) — Representatives from 25 Texas firms have received tips on how to set up carpools at a car pooling workshop here, one of 14 workshops being held around the nation.

Carlton C. Robinson, vice president of Highway Users Federation, said Thursday certain forms of car pooling were more economical for employees who drive as much as 10 miles to and from work rather than other forms of mass transportation.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Cavorting Kids Irritate Shopper

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Editor's Association

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how to remove white craft glue from a pink shag rug. — MRS. T. C.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with mothers who take children to thrift shops, etc., and turn them loose. The kids pull out the best toys, often break them and then leave them scattered on the floor for people to stumble over. They run screaming and yelling through racks of clothes and knock many garments to the floor to be trampled on. True, this merchandise is all second hand but it has been donated to be sold. Many lower income people find things they can use. I am sure these same inconsiderate mothers would not let their children act the same way in other stores. — HELEN.

DEAR POLLY — I am a beautician who wishes to answer M.D. and C.K. who wanted suggestions for keeping rubber gloves dry and sanitary. I wear them a lot. Each time I am ready to take them off I first wash the gloves as if washing my hands and with an antibacterial soap for the hands. Rinse thoroughly and then dry thoroughly. Dust with baby powder. Remove them with the inside out by pulling gently from the wrist. After all fingers are out powder what was the inside but is now out. This also makes the gloves easy to put on and take off and makes them last longer.

I also have a Pointer for mothers who spend more time with their children than the fathers do. Let us always remember a well-disciplined child knows that you love him, knows what is expected of him and feels more secure. So come on, mothers, let us teach our kids what is right and what is wrong and why. Children can tell by the tone of voice or by a look if you mean what you say. Please do not say "yes" or "no" unless you really mean it. Too many kids today do not know what "no" is. — EILEEN.

DEAR POLLY — To reduce my light bill and also help with the energy crisis I pour all the leftover coffee in my thermos after my husband leaves for work. It stays nice and hot and ready to serve any time without having to keep turning the electricity on and off. — FRANCES.

DEAR POLLY — When cutting pieces of foam I have discovered that rubbing two pieces together creates a fine smooth edge. When making round forms cut foam in a square piece, cut the four corners off to shape like a round. Take one of these discarded pieces and rub on the round pieces to get a smooth edge. To cut I always use a serrated knife and cut like I was sawing wood. — JULIE.

Scouts Planning Summer Camping

Camping is an important part of Girl Scouting and Girl Scout Week is not too early to start thinking about camping in 1974.

Girl Scout camping theme is "Today's Vision... Tomorrow's World through Camping." Dates for Hat-A-Ranch have been set from June 5 through Aug. 6. Camp Mitre Peak dates run from June 8 through July 26. Full details will be announced later or you may check with your local troop to get your camping date set.

Plymouth Duster.
More miles per gallon than Nova, Comet, Maverick, Apollo and Ventura.

If you're concerned about gas mileage, the tests Popular Science magazine conducted should be of interest to you. The tests they conducted on '73 vehicles (and adjusted by them for 1974 models and the results of E.P.A. tests) show the "Slant Six" engine that's standard in our Duster can go farther on a gallon of gas than Maverick, Nova, Comet, Ventura and Apollo.

...Priced less than VW Super Bug.

The manufacturer's suggested sticker price for Plymouth Duster is actually less than Volkswagen's Super Bug. The prices, naturally, don't include comparable destination charges, state and local taxes or dealer prep charges. Even though you pay less for Duster, you get a lot more. For example, Duster has room for five inside. VW—only four. Duster's got three times the trunk space of VW. And Duster's got an electronic ignition tune-ups. VW doesn't even offer one.

Duster gas mileage and price. Two ways we're out to win you over to Duster this year.

Escape?

He's escaped the fate of an egg—but what has the chick got to look forward to? The technology that incubated him in twenty-one days now carries him relentlessly toward the roaster.

We, too, often seem trapped on a similar conveyor belt, caught in a cadence which carries us step by step through life. The care-free days of childhood swiftly wane once schooling begins. Then come jobs, marriage, family, a home.

The list—and the responsibilities of mature life—seems endless. No wonder we long to escape—to "get away from it all."

Yet such daydreams little help us to cope with life today. God's love and wisdom give us the guidance and solace we need. His Church—the church down the street—stands ready to meet our needs.

Alton To Speak Here

How practical is the "Golden Rule" in everyday experience? William Henry Alton, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will discuss that question in a lecture scheduled here next Tuesday night under sponsorship of Midland's First Church of Christ, Scientist.

The lecture, free to the public, will be in Theatre Centre, 2301 W. Indiana St., beginning at 8 p.m. "How to Love and Be Loved" is to be his topic.

Alton, a graduate of Dartmouth College, is a former executive with the Mobil Oil Corp. He later was associated with New York's Rockefeller Center Inc., and also has been an assistant to Nelson A. Rockefeller. He entered the public practice of Christian Science in 1957, and in 1963 became a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Christian Teaching Tradition Continues

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of feature stories appearing in The Reporter-Telegram through Easter Sunday.

By DAVID POLING
NEA Religion Editor

The teaching tradition of the Christian Church was learned from Jerusalem. It later became expressed in Rome and Athens for the pursuit of the Christian life is intellectual as well as spiritual, academic as well as moral. This century has seen an amazing advance in Biblical scholarship and new translations. At no time in human history has there been a richer, more fuller choice of Bible studies.

One of the finest teachers-Biblical scholars of the last 50 years was Edgar J. Goodspeed of the University of Chicago. He was to become one of the leading translators of the New Testament, serving Chicago, the Baptist Church, and the Christian fellowship for more than 40 years. Generations of young people have discovered the vitality of scripture and the searing impact of Jesus Christ through the studies and lectures of this teacher.

In one of his remarkable sermons, "Riches and Life," he offered this counsel to a university audience:

"One of our novelists somewhere tells of an old man who spent years in collecting curios and works of art until he had gathered a rich and valuable collection. Showing them one day to the man who was to be his heir, he said to him, 'Do not keep them. If you want a collection, sell them and begin to collect anew. These will never mean to you what they have meant to me.'

"Is not that a parable of religion: Cathedrals and libraries, liturgies and theologies and the latest zeal and success of former generations in the supreme quest. In these great achievements they recorded their struggle and their victory, and expressed their religious life. What do they mean to our day: Are we to settle down into possession of them, complacent in the abundance of our possessions? Or must we, if life is to be all it may, repeat their conflict, win our own discovery, and enter into their joy?"

Dr. Goodspeed concluded, in the high tradition of great teachers. "The religious life lays upon those who would possess it, the stern duty of winning it by deep and personal conflict with selfishness and doubt... the greatest truths of religion never become real to us until we have in our measure reproduced the agonizing experiences of their discoverers, and drunk the cup that they drank."

Theologians Explore Streaking Fad

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — Those "streaking" cut-ups may be showing more than they realize, including a subconscious wish to be small children again, immune from care or responsibility.

That and various other impulses to mock the pressures of adult reality are seen by several religious scholars in the current campus antic of running nude through public places.

While it's somewhat off balance, he adds, "I don't see any Sodom and Gomorrah about it."

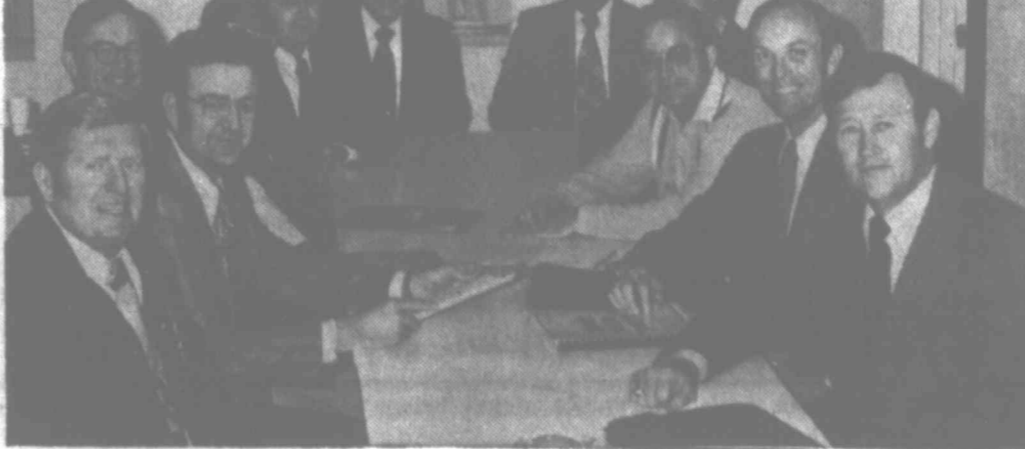

"It's an absurd gesture in the face of the vaster absurdity around us," says the Rev. Dr. Joseph Sittler, an influential Lutheran theologian of the University of Chicago Divinity

School. "In a time of general muck and guff, it's a sort of good, clean swipe across the dirty face of dissimulation."

"In our winter of discontent, compounded by all the administrative rot, it's saying, 'We've had enough. Let's do something real crazy.' The calculated craziness of our times has diminished the spirit of man, but spontaneous madness is a kind of purgation. It has a purgative quality about it."

"The nudity is not so important," Dr. Sittler adds. "We've had plenty of that. It's the running, the incongruity of something suddenly, surprisingly joyful and actual in the midst of what has become an accumulation of expected weariness."

Injunction Aids Coyotes

The Environmental Protection Agency recently announced an experimental chemical device for killing coyotes, to be attempted on a trial basis in 44 Texas counties, most of which are in West Texas.

The State of Texas had asked the EPA for the testing program as a means of controlling coyotes which are ruining sheep and cattle herds. Farmers and ranchers were elated at prospects of the practical, effective program. Classes had been set up to train personnel in proper use of the chemical.

But then the Humane Society of the United States had to get into the act, gaining an injunction against the program in a Washington federal district court. A hearing set for last Monday now has been delayed until Tuesday. Training classes have been canceled and the coyotes continue to kill sheep and cattle throughout the ranch country.

Isn't this ridiculous? One can imagine how the ranchers feel, with vicious packs of hungry coyotes taking a high toll of their cattle and sheep. If an effective program of some kind isn't launched soon, the coyotes, increasing in number by the hundreds, soon will take over the ranch country completely.

And the extremist ecologists and Humane Society members will be to blame.

The cattlemen and sheepmen eventually may have to take things in their own hands on their own property.

But what makes it all so ridiculous is the fact that someone came up with a practical device which apparently was acceptable to the Environmental Protection Agency, but the Humane Society folks wouldn't even let it be tested on the range. It is hoped the federal judge will listen to reason.

The coyote device approved for trial is called a "sodium cyanide springloaded ejector mechanism." It also is known as the "M-44 Coyote Getter."

The EPA, incidentally, previously had banned the use of chemicals in coyote control, so this device must have looked pretty good to the agency to gain its O.K.

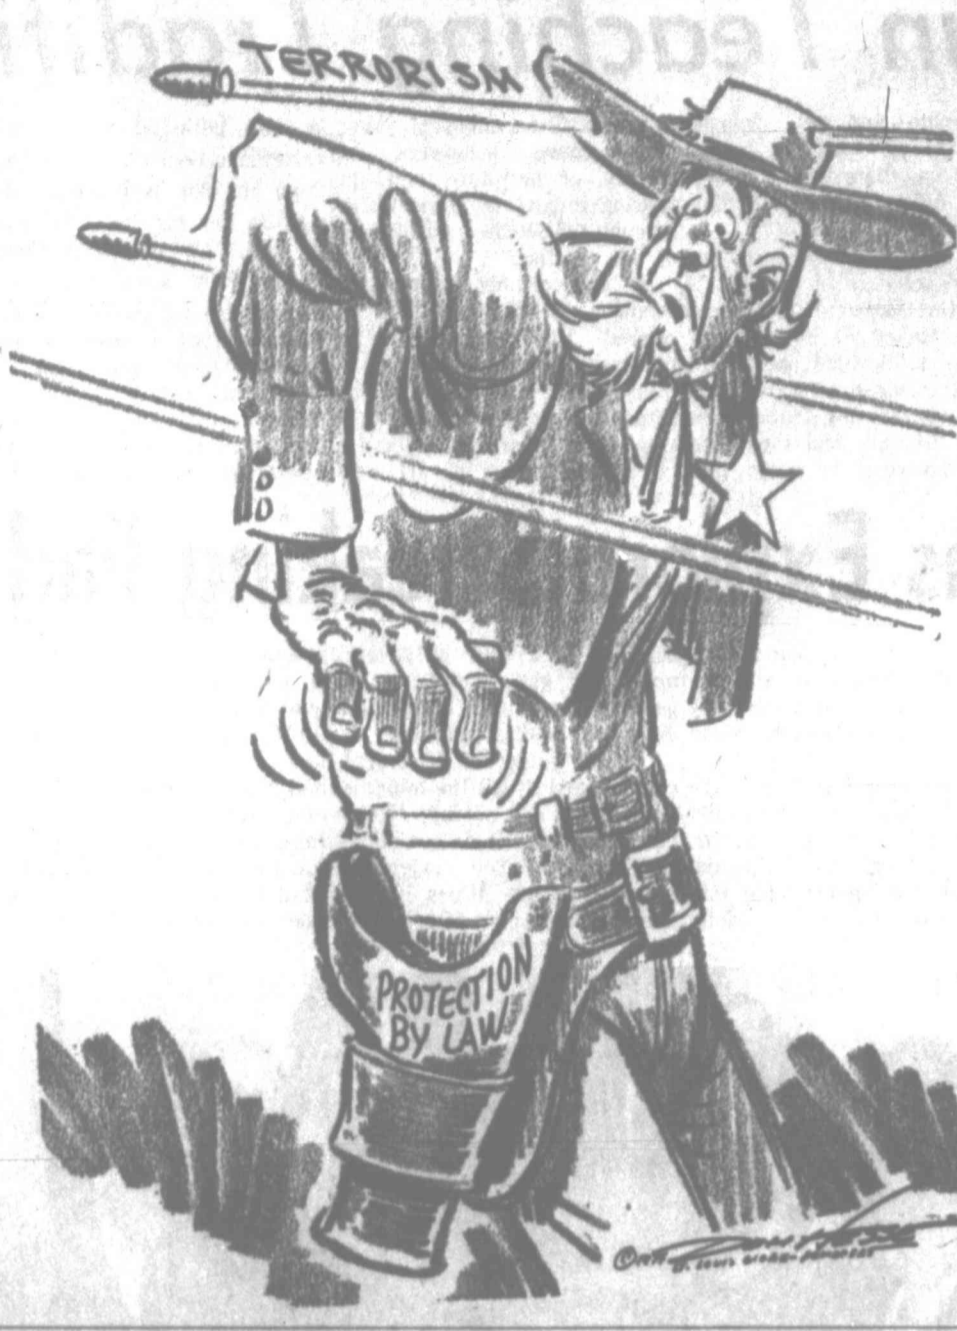

The device could be used only by persons trained in its operation. But the injunction stopped all planning for the time being.

The device is buried in the ground and fires a pellet into the mouth of the coyote, causing a release of gaseous sodium cyanide.

The excellent part about it is that the chemical degrades very quickly and would not result in secondary killing of wildlife.

This apparently is what the EPA liked about it. It is hoped that the federal judge in Washington, D.C., will be equally impressed with it.

Give Him A Gun!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Burundi's nickel brings United States thaw.

WASHINGTON—Despite the deliberate slaughter of thousands of tribal rivals by the Burundi government, the Nixon administration quietly has started normalizing relations with the central African state.

The thaw coincides with the discovery of vast nickel deposits in Burundi, worth an estimated $14 billion.

Until this past January, the United States pursued a policy of "minimal relations" with Burundi. But since the nickel strike, agents representing U.S. corporations have swarmed into the tiny nation and overnight the repressive Burundi government has become a courted friend.

The administration's sudden change of attitude toward Burundi is spelled out in classified State Department documents, which we have seen.

A recent State Department memorandum to the White House, written by top official Thomas Pickering, now ambassador to Jordan, argued that "normalization" of official relations would provide "opportunities for American corporations that are interested in exploiting the major new mineral discovery."

American businessmen also smell oil in Burundi. As Pickering put it, the resumption of U.S. aid and cultural programs might also earn "concessions for American companies who believe there may be hydrocarbon deposits (oil) on the eastern shore of Lake Tanganyika."

"In view of the foregoing," concluded Pickering, "the Department requests NSC (National Security Council) concurrence in the normalization of relations with Burundi."

The White House responded in a secret memo, dated Jan. 29, 1974, from Maj. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, who is Henry Kissinger's chief deputy in the White House. "President Nixon has authorized Department of State to begin the normalization of relations..."

The new Burundi policy, which some State Department insiders irreverently refer to as "nickel politics," restores official U.S. blessings to a government which, over the last two years, has engaged in mass genocide on a scale the world has not seen since Adolf Hitler tried to wipe out the Jews during World War II.

Beginning in early May 1972, the ruling Tutsi tribe undertook the systematic slaughter of their ethnic rivals, the Hutus, who outnumber the tall, statuesque Tutsis by more than six to one.

The Tutsis literally went crazy with revenge after an attempted Hutu coup and used bullets, bulldozers and sledgehammers to massacre the Hutus. By late 1973, more than 200,000 Hutus were dead; another 100,000 had been driven into exile.

Last June, we reported that the State Department had engaged in diplomatic dawdling while the blood flowed. Instead of issuing a public protest, the United States chose "quiet diplomatic pressure," which failed utterly to alleviate the carnage.

In an airgram to Washington, dated March 20, 1973, American ambassador to Burundi Robert concessions is courting a nation guilty of genocide.

Scowcroft said he saw nothing wrong with promoting U.S. corporate interests. "This is a function of our embassies overseas," he said.

The general also contended: "I think your emphasis on the nickel is not correct. The thrust of the policy change is that at the time of the fratricide, we cut back our relations. We continued that for quite some time. Then the embassy reported that Burundi had gotten the message and that our policy had had the appropriate effect."

Generally, the historical judgment seems to support Porter's printed assertion that rationing, when belatedly put into national effect, worked well — not badly as the President proclaims.

But the cheaters and big-play crooks did get into the act. In Brooklyn, authorities turned up one cache of counterfeit gasoline ration stamps sufficient to last four-million people a month.

Life magazine's U.S. history series states, furthermore, that "no single restriction was taken with worse grace, for most people had long since forgotten how to move about without an automobile." This is a comment, mind you, on a period when we had only a fourth as many vehicles on the road as today, and when public transportation by rail, bus and street car system was far more widespread than now.

The late Robert Sherwood, playwright and later aide to Franklin D. Roosevelt, wrote that Americans were "loudly reluctant to cut down on their normal consumption of red meat and gasoline..."

Right now Richard Nixon has few defenders in any field except foreign policy, and even there most of the kudos go to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. But the record shows that Nixon's reluctance to introduce rationing, often heavily assailed, was well matched by FDR in World War II.

It has to be recalled that except for the East Coast oil crunch, rationing of gasoline in the big war was seen primarily as a means of dealing with a critical rubber shortage stemming from the Japanese cutoff of U.S. supplies of natural rubber and the almost scandalous slowness with which we created an offsetting synthetic rubber program. Tires were rationed, and were in such short supply

Setting Rationing Story Straight: Writer's Task

WASHINGTON (NEA)—This is not an argument for or against gasoline rationing in the present energy crunch, but merely an attempt to put the idea in better perspective against the record of governmental and public performance in World War II.

President Nixon more than once has said of war-time rationing that it didn't work. Recently Paul Porter, an official involved in the program, said in print that it did, and that criminal and other deviations from decreed practice affected no more than five percent of supplies.

Combing the histories of the time for domestic economic information is not as fruitful as one might imagine. I was into my sixth book before I found the date when gasoline rationing took nationwide effect: December, 1942, one whole year after Pearl Harbor and our entry into war.

Before that, German U-boat sinkings of American and other tankers heading for eastern ports had forced rationing on the eastern seaboard in May of 1942.

Searching my own memory and that of others who were veterans of the domestic wartime scene, I could not remember anything like the present-day phenomenon of long lines of cars at gas stations. But memories are faulty, of course.

In one wartime text, I found a picture of a long line crowded around a Brooklyn gas station where a single pump was in operation. The caption noted that "a line of cars was often seen following tank trucks to the service stations." Admittedly, this was in the hard-hit East.

Generally, the historical judgment seems to support Porter's printed assertion that rationing, when belatedly put into national effect, worked well — not badly as the President proclaims.

But the cheaters and big-play crooks did get into the act. In Brooklyn, authorities turned up one cache of counterfeit gasoline ration stamps sufficient to last four-million people a month.

Dear Editor:
I see where one of our sacrosanctious senators say if Mr. Nixon refuses to turn over evidence of his guilt to the House Judiciary Committee, that act of non-cooperation would be grounds for impeachment.

Obviously, somewhere between the lines of the Fifth Amendment there is a clause excluding the President from its benefits.

And if horse stealing ever gets in the same category as president, an accused horse thief could be sent to the pen for refusing to bring the horse to court.

Partners Really Do Make Good Neighbors

NEW YORK (NEA) — This month an organization called Partners of the Americas observes its 10th anniversary.

Founded in 1964 as a means by which private citizens in the United States and Latin America could act directly together to help one another raise the quality of life.

Partners of the Americas now has committees in 41 U.S. states working with 43 counterparts in 18 Latin American nations in projects involving education, public health, agriculture, sports and cultural exchange, emergency relief and much else.

More than 50,000 Utah school children, for example, have helped to build over 50 schools to date in Bolivia's Altiplano region where there were no schools before. The Bolivian Partners and Bolivian government are providing the land, labor and teachers.

Iowans have introduced new techniques in agriculture, livestock and poultry raising in Yucatan that are expected to have multimillion-dollar impact on that region's economy.

Wisconsin Partners are helping to rebuild Managua, Nicaragua, and restructuring its health-care system following that city's devastating earthquake.

All told, the 43 partnerships in 1973-74 conducted 557 programs totaling $6.4 million in value, exchanging 3,444 people and shipping 589 tons of equipment and supplies to Latin America. Worth noting is that for every dollar provided by the federal government through the Agency for International Development, the partnerships produced $13 in self-financed travel, donated equipment and supplies, scholarships, disaster relief and other cash contributions.

Summing it up, "We're what you might call an adult Peace Corps," says David Luria, an associate director of Partners. "A lot of people would like to be involved in aid programs, but they just can't take off two years to join the Peace Corps. They might be able to take off a few weeks or a month however. And that's what Partners offers."

It may well be that the people-to-people philosophy and programs of Partners of the Americas will turn out to be the most effective way of bringing the nations of the Americas closer together.

Little Plastic Balls Help Save Energy

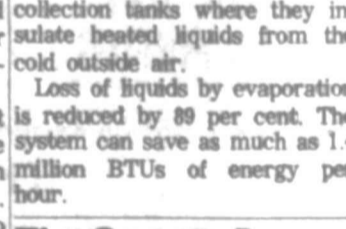

FREEMONT, Tex. (AP) — Hollow plastic balls, not much bigger than ping pong balls, are used at a chemical complex of the Dow Chemical Co. here to reduce heat loss and save energy. Hundreds of the plastic balls are allowed to float on the surface of previously uncovered collection tanks where they insulate heated liquids from the cold outside air.

Loss of liquids by evaporation is reduced by 89 per cent. The system can save as much as 1.4 million BTUs of energy per hour.

San Francisco City Strike Settled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Transit system. Limited picketing also was reported on the waterfront, but it was not expected to halt all work by longshoremen.

Some 350,000 commuters have driven autos, pooled rides or hitchhiked to work since the city's buses, streetcars and cable cars were shut down.

There were estimates the strike was costing the city $30 million a day.

Union officials were not immediately available for comment on the agreement, but Alioto said the union negotiating team voted unanimously to accept the contract.

The union already had pulled pickets away from the transbay bus terminal where AC Transit delivers some 18,000 daily commuters here from Oakland. The bus company said it would make regular runs today.

Only one of nine members of the city Board of Supervisors present did not vote to approve the package. The full 11-man board will vote today.

Word of the impending settlement circulated after reported agreement by both sides on a $9.5 million pay package—up $4 million from the city's original offer. The union first demanded a $16 million annual pay boost.

A strike by city schoolteachers continued, keeping most of the system's schoolchildren away from class.

A major obstacle to reaching an agreement in the city employees' strike was removed Wednesday when stationary engineers at four of the city's sewage treatment plants returned to work in a negotiated agreement. The engineers belong to a nonstriking union but had honored picket lines.

Some 100 million gallons of raw sewage a day had poured into San Francisco Bay since last Friday. Beaches on the bay were quarantined because of pollution.

$20 Billion Needed Annually For Crash Oil Hunt Program

By MIKE COCHRAN
 AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — One of the state's leading independent oil operators says an annual exploration and development investment of $20 billion will be required for the United States to achieve self-sufficiency in oil and gas.

"The geological basics of the nation are such that present known oil reserves are only one-tenth of what remains to be found, and known natural gas reserves are only one-fifth of the nation's potential," said George P. Mitchell of Houston.

"But meeting our needs will be expensive," he added.

Mitchell, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn., said a crash program of five to seven years is necessary to reach the annual expenditure of $20 billion.

That is more than three times the present amount of $6 billion.

"If we fail to spend the money, our entire economy will be dependent on foreign sources of energy, a situation that cannot be tolerated," he told the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association Thursday.

Congress has a responsibility to help make the industry attractive to investment capital, Mitchell said. "And yet, by everything I observe, its main intent seems to be to make petroleum companies even less desirable as investments."

One of our main tasks as oilmen is to gain the understanding and cooperation of Congress and consumer; now we have antagonism based on misunderstanding and misinformation," Mitchell said.

Mills Wants Depletion Allowance Out And Tax Imposed On Windfall Profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top taxman in Congress suggests letting oilmen escape paying a proposed new tax if they pump their windfall profits into more efforts to boost America's energy supplies.

House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said Thursday that Congress should repeal the petroleum industry's 22 percent depletion allowance and should impose an 85 percent new tax on windfall oil profits.

The new levy on excess petroleum profits should be linked to some sort of plowback system in which oilmen could avoid this tax if they put into new exploration or conservation programs any money that otherwise would be collected by the government under this plan.

As an example, he said, if there is $100,000 in windfall profit and $100,000 is plowed back, the oilman would owe no taxes under this new levy.

Therefore, instead of a goal of raising substantial new revenue for the government with this new tax, Mills said, the object would be to let the industry spend it on things "related to increased supplies of energy and improved ecology."

Mills said he wants to get rid of the 22 percent oil and natural gas depletion allowance for U.S. producers at home and abroad.

This allowance is worth about $2 billion a year for American petroleum companies. It provides that 22 percent of gross income from oil and natural gas property can be deducted from taxable income up to a top of 50 percent of taxable net income.

The committee began work on energy tax legislation Feb. 4. It is considering two proposals calling for eventual ending of this allowance domestically.

Only Four Texas Fields Denied Full Production

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Texas oilmen were free for all-out production today for the 25th consecutive month this April, the Texas Railroad Commission decided Thursday.

Commission members voted at a hearing here to set the oil allowable for April at 100 percent market factor.

Some of the nation's top oil officials testified at the monthly commission proration hearing, blaming the government for the oil shortage.

The oilmen also said the lifting of the Arab oil embargo will not immediately improve the energy situation in the United States.

John McKinley, president of Texaco Inc., said other than the immediate war-induced embargo, "The primary reason we face a shortage in the United States is because of governmental tampering with a complex market over a period of years."

"The only system known to work effectively in our complex society is the free market system," he said.

Other oil company executives at the meeting echoed McKinley's remarks, calling for an end to government regulation and warning of continued efforts in Congress to roll back prices and imposition of new controls.

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Langdon said the April allowable after nominations totaled 3.9 million barrels daily, up 106,400 barrels from last month.

Exceptions to the all-out allowable will be the Kelley-Snyder field and East Texas, which will be 86 percent, and the Trinidad and Louise fields on the Upper Coast, at 80 percent.

Redd Foxx Will Come Back If NBC Brass Come Around

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Redd Foxx says he will return to the television series "Sanford and Son" if NBC corrects conditions that forced him to leave.

Foxx met with network executives this week and said Thursday he was "very pleased with what I heard." He had complained that the show's depiction of black life was inaccurate.

Among other things, the 51-year-old Foxx said he wanted more time to review scripts before filming and wanted the show to move from its junkyard setting occasionally to give a more rounded view of the black community.

"Nobody stays in a junkyard forever," he said.

Tyler Flower Trail Begins Sunday

TYLER — Tyler's 15th annual Azalea and Spring Flower Trail will begin Sunday, with the spring flowers in their most gorgeous bloom in years. The event will continue through March 27.

Tens of thousands of visitors are expected to traverse the five-mile route of floral beauty during the 10 days of the festival.

Home gardens throughout the city are blossoming tulips, daffodils, jonquils and other flower varieties which annually attract beauty-lovers to Tyler.

As in years past, the trail will traverse the older residential areas of the city.

Maps of the trail route will be available at the Tyler Chamber of Commerce offices, 407 N. Broadway, and on Sundays at the Fountain Plaza.

An added attraction to the festivities will be a display of more than 300 paintings contributed by some 50 East Texas artists. These will be exhibited on easels on the Fountain Plaza, both Sundays.

The "Sidewalk Art Show" will feature original works primarily by Tyler area artists, and C. E. Presley, are show chairman, said the 1974 edition of the art show will be one of the best ever. A gem display by the East Texas Gem and Mineral Society will also be on display, featuring thousands of polished semi-precious stones in jewelry and raw cut on tables and display cases.

The blooming in unison of red-bud, dogwoods, wisteria and a wide variety of azaleas will give visitors an unusually beautiful view of spring flowers, trail officials promise. A special feature of this year's event will be young women outfitted in the hooped skirts of by-gone days. The "Old South" decor of the more colorful gardens will be mellowed by an added dash of East Texas hospitality. The Tyler beauties will appear during both Sundays of the Trail. They will be at some models for shutterbugs.

Actor Doesn't Mind Paying For Chance To Create

SPECIAL DAY — Actress Deana Martin talks with Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo after Angelo proclaimed today as Deana Martin Day. Miss Martin and a local cast begin a two-week run of "A Shot in the Dark" at Midland Community Theatre tonight.

By MARY CAMPBELL.
NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Nicholson doesn't mind paying for a chance to be creative.

He says he has turned down roles in big money films because the parts offered weren't especially challenging as far as he's concerned.

"I do what I think is the best thing available to me to do at a time when I want to work," Nicholson said. "I do the thing I can best contribute to, the most satisfying for me to do creatively. I decide mainly by the overall project; who else is going to be involved, what is the script content, how interesting is my character and is it something I haven't already done."

After making his mark as the boozey dropout in "Easy Rider," Nicholson did "Five Easy Pieces" and the critically acclaimed "Carnal Knowledge." He turned down the role of Michael in "The Godfather," a role that made Al Pacino a familiar film face. He said no to "The Sting" for which Robert Redford garnered an Academy Award nomination.

Then a girlfriend reading gallery proofs of unpublished novels brought Nicholson "The Last Detail," a first novel by Darryl Ponicsan. Playing Signalman First Class Buddusky, a 20-year Navy man, was something the actor felt immediately would be "creative."

Students Present Recital For Fathers

Piano students of Mrs. Bruce Grover presented a special recital for fathers only in their teacher's home, 1101 Sparks St., Sunday afternoon.

Participating in the event were Vee Ann Atmipp, Todd Bates, Lori Brewer, Debbie Anderson, Dana Anderson, Ellen Stump, Paul Boruff, Barbara Hunter, Dana Cagle, Brigitte Coon, Kim White, Marisa Adam, Elaine Haines, Lee Wise, Ellen Christensen and Stephen Dorn.

son has been nominated for an Academy Award as best actor.

"A guy my age in the Navy is an old man in his profession. I like to play young-old men. They have depth," he said.

Nicholson, droopy-eyed, his hair thinning, will be 37 in April. Oscar month. He thinks Buddusky is probably the best thing he's ever done. Anyway, he adds, "I can't do any better."

"Buddusky is a master of his profession, so to speak. I like that aspect of the character — there is nothing cliché about it. He has his own personal code. He loves the Navy and in line with that he does things that he doesn't love with as little fuss and fuss as possible.

"His code is most rigidly tested: his duty is to take a young man of 18 and place him under extremely difficult prison conditions until his middle adult life. That has to be a soul-searching experience. That is the action of the film, a trip and a search at the same time," the actor said.

Nicholson calls "The Last Detail" a moving tragedy with a lot of laughs in it.

"When I first started listening to what others had to say about movies, they said if you can make an audience laugh and cry, you should have enormous success."

As an actor, Nicholson has a reputation for improvising.

"Most films you do are written. I've done it all ways. In 'A Safe Place' I improvised the entire part. 'Carnal Knowledge' was done word for word. 'Five Easy Pieces' had two or three scenes improvised and a few who plays them. It is denial of this which leads to too much acting." Does he mean over-acting? "I prefer too much to over," Nicholson says.

Nicholson likes going on location as well, even the bus and train trip in the new film's journey from Norfolk, Va., to Portsmouth, N.H., with forays to Canada to use Canadian naval bases. The U.S. Navy did not open domestic bases to the film's cameras.

Considered a prototype of Hollywood's carefree bachelor, Nicholson married once for five years and divorced. His daughter, Jennifer, now 10, lives with her mother but sees her father often.

Nicholson is bored with repeating his life history but admits he grew up in Manassas, N.J., and left to live with an older sister in Los Angeles after high school. A few movie parts led to nothing, so he went into screenwriting. Rip Torn dropped out of "Easy Rider," opening the role of the alcoholic but lovable lawyer, which was offered to Nicholson.

"I'm looking forward to four smash winners in a row and I'll be the undisputed king of the silver screen. Now how will you get onto the page the frivolous mood in which this was said?"

Nicholson smiles a boy's smile, crinkles his eyes for the young-old look and the gentle rasp of his voice quotes pop songwriter Randy Newman:

"It's lonely at the top you know. All right you fools out there. Go ahead and love me. I don't care. It's lonely at the top."

Members of the Chopin Junior Music Club presented a program recently in the home of Jean Houston. The organization, affiliated with the Texas Federation of Music Clubs, is sponsored by Mrs. Hans Rowck.

Performing keyboard works on the program were Miss Houston, Susan Sneed, Kiki Warren Krist Westbrook, Kathy Davis, Sheryl Sprull and Judith Ottman, a new member of the club.

Mohammed Subject Of New Film

By HILMI TOROS

ROME (AP) — With Jesus Christ already a superstar and Moses the lawgiver on television, Mohammed broadens the ecumenical picture in a film to enter production soon, film sources said here.

Called "Mohammed, The Messenger of Allah," the $7 million international production carries the blessing and financial support of a number of Moslem nations, the sources said.

The production was confirmed by the film's screenwriter, Harry Craig, a 52-year-old Irishman who also wrote the script for "Waterloo."

Craig said in an interview it took him more than a year to complete the Mohammed screenplay: "Every page had to be approved by more than one Moslem authority," he said.

Because Islam lacks a universally accepted center, Craig said his script was scrutinized by Moslem authorities at Cairo's Al Azhar University and the university in Medina, Saudi Arabia.

Sources said the film will be financed by contributions from Morocco, Libya, Kuwait and Bahrain among other Arab nations. The film will go into production on location outside Marrakesh, Morocco, where a miniature Mecca will be built.

But, in contrast to Jesus Christ and Moses, Mohammed will never be seen in the film, Craig said. This was in accordance with a Moslem dogma prohibiting images of the prophet. Neither will there be his voice.

"However," Craig said, "his presence is felt."

The script, according to its writer, deals with Mohammed's life from the time of his call until his death, taking place in Mecca and Medina in the 7th century. It will show the struggles, persecutions and warfare in the time and life of Mohammed and his followers.

There will be no reference to any of Mohammed's wives, the scriptwriter stated.

A film on the life of Mohammed has often been discussed but never done, partly because of the Moslem ban on even portraits bearing his image. In addition, film sources said, it was feared that unless the film had some backing from Moslem nations it could have led to hostility.

The film will be produced and directed by Mustapha Akkad, a U.S. citizen who now lives in Lebanon. According to the plans, the filming will be done in both English and Arabic, with two different sets of actors.

Milk Unit Directors To Seek Recovery Of Diverted Funds

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Now that its internal operations have been investigated by a private law firm, Associated Milk Producers, Inc., is considering attempts to recoup any funds or property improperly diverted in the past five years.

The board of directors of the nation's largest milk cooperative formed a special committee on Thursday "to pursue possibilities of recovery" of such funds "from persons or organizations," a board statement said.

The board reviewed copies of the so-called "Wright Report," a 157-page report furnished them by the Little Rock, Ark. law firm of Wright, Lindsey and Jennings.

The law firm was commissioned in September 1973 to conduct an independent investigation of AMPI's political and other activities.

AMPI made public the 157-page report in U.S. District Court in Kansas City Thursday during pretrial hearings in a pending antitrust suit.

AMPI has been hit by disclosures in the milk fund controversy and one present and one former cooperative official have been granted immunity in the milk fund cases being investigated by a Washington, D.C. grand jury.

Also, an AMPI attorney, E.C. Heining, said in a letter to an attorney for the Committee to Re-elect the President that AMPI made an illegal corporate contribution of $100,000 to President Nixon.

Heining sought return of the $100,000 from the committee.

A company source indicated Thursday night there were many more possibilities in the Wright report besides the $100,000 contribution but the source would not say anything more.

John E. Butterbrodt, AMPI president, said, "The special committee is studying the report. If wrongdoing is established, the board will take timely and proper action while at the same time protecting the constitutional rights of any citizen or organizations."

PRACTICE RUN—Sheriff Ed Darnell draws a lot of attention as he samples a heaping plate of the same kind of pancakes to be served during the Saturday Pancake Jamboree in the Dellwood Plaza Mall. The others, from left, are Don Combs, Harold Steck, John Clark, all members of the Downtown Lions Club, and Curtis McClain of Sambo's.

AT DELLWOOD PLAZA MALL— Pancake Jamboree Saturday

It's flip 'em — flop 'em . . . and come and get 'em all day Saturday at the Dellwood Plaza Mall.

The occasion is the 18th annual Pancake Jamboree sponsored and staged by the Midland Downtown Lions Club.

The first pancakes, delicious sausages, fine syrup and favorite drinks will be ready for serving at 7 a.m., with the big event continuing right on through the day, until 8 p.m.

Special musical entertainment will begin at 8 a.m. and will continue without interruption until the closing hour. Paul Dively, entertainment chairman, terms it a "really outstanding" entertainment program. A touch of "county fair" spirit will prevail during the day.

Chairman J. D. "Buck" McCarty said the electric griddles, fryers and food warmers will be put in place tonight, as will the tables and chairs.

"Everything will be ready for a fast opening at 7 a.m. Saturday," he said. "Arrangements have been made for fast-moving serving lines and there should be little waiting for food."

Jeff George and George Weiss of the ticket sales committee, report record sales. Tickets also will be on sale at the mall Saturday. Tickets are $1 each.

Ken Wray, publicity chairman, said the club expects to feed between 8,000 and 9,000 persons during the day.

President Frank Marlow, in explaining that proceeds from the Pancake Jamboree will fund an $8,500 activities fund budget for the coming year, said the jamboree is a community-wide event, with the public invited and urged to attend. All of the proceeds will be used in sight conservation, youth welfare, crippled children affairs, hearing aid program, civic projects and charitable work.

All of the work in connection with the jamboree is done by members of the club, working in two-hour shifts. This includes mixing, cooking, serving and cleanup details. Members of the Lion Tamers Club will lend a hand in various ways during the day.

The pancake mix used in the jamboree is furnished without charge by Sambo's Restaurant. A. J. Tisdale, procurement chairman, said all food and drink items, in abundant supply, are on hand and ready to be consumed Saturday.

John Berry is the equipment chairman, and John Clark heads the service committee.

Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. has proclaimed the day "Downtown Lions Club's Annual Pancake Jamboree Day" in Midland.

In issuing the proclamation, the mayor urged all Midlanders to support the Downtown Lions Club and its worthy activities by eating pancakes "all day" Saturday.

President's Testimony Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — James W. McCord Jr., seeks to have President Nixon brought into court to explain why he didn't inform the Watergate trial judge when he learned that payments had been made to keep the conspiracy defendants quiet.

If the court had been made aware of the hush money, McCord said in a motion filed Thursday, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica would have had "an absolute duty" to lift McCord's conviction "and either order a new trial or dismiss the indictment."

The President said at a news conference March 6 that he learned of the hush money March 21 last year. Two days later, on March 23, the seven Watergate defendants were scheduled for sentencing.

"The court should have been made aware of the payments for the simple reason that the chief law enforcement officer of the United States," Richard Nixon knew of it," the motion said.

"He had a positive duty under his oath of office and under the criminal statutes of the United States to make this information available to the court without delay."

As it turned out, the court sentenced only G. Gordon Liddy on March 23, deferred sentencing on McCord, and gave provisional maximum sentences to the five other defendants. McCord and the other five were sentenced on Nov. 9.

McCord and Liddy were convicted of conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping. The other five had pleaded guilty to the same charges.

McCord said he received none of the money and doesn't know whether his co-defendants, Bernard L. Barker, Frank Sturgis, Eugenio Martinez and Virgilio Gonzalez did.

Bishop Identifies One Of Assailants

HOUSTON (AP) — A Roman Catholic bishop, blinded in one eye after a beating by robbers last week, has identified a man in a police lineup as one of two men who beat him.

Bishop John L. Morkovsky, 63, bishop of the Houston-Galveston diocese, Thursday identified the man, Roger Glenn Lewis, 24, as one of two men who attacked him.

Lewis had been arrested and charged in connection with another beating-robbery of a woman in her home Sunday night. Police filed aggravated robbery charges and set bond at $40,000 for Lewis in the Morkovsky case.

Morkovsky said two men forced their way into his home, pistol-whipped him and took his wallet and car keys.

Controlled Pay Day Being Tried To Cut Crime By Marines

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — The Marine Corps, cracking down on Leathernecks involved in crimes off base, is trying another tactic in addition to discharge—the controlled pay day.

By ordering 25,000 men and women at Camp Pendleton to be paid only on Fridays, Brig. Gen. Robert Nichols expects fewer problems in neighboring Oceanside.

A computer study in progress since last August shows that most of the crime involving Marines in Oceanside takes place on payday nights which fell on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. As much as $250,000 floated nightly into the four blocks in which topless bars, massage parlors and X-rated movie houses abound.

Nichols said the study showed, "When pay day occurs on a Thursday or a Friday, invariably we have much less of a discipline problem in Oceanside."

He said the men take their cash and they are off to bigger cities and resort areas farther away. A cut-rate ticket plan allows Marines to go reasonably to Los Angeles, San Diego and Las Vegas, Nev.

"So far, I have had no large numbers of Marines detained in those cities," said the commanding officer of the world's largest Marine base. "I think those large cities have a capacity to absorb and provide outlets to meet the broad social needs of different categories of people."

Nichols said he spent two payday nights disguised as an ordinary Marine on liberty in Oceanside's "tenderloin" district and "one could get the feeling in walking around that this is a sin city—Marines were elbow to elbow in bars."

'Gift' Saves Boy's Sight

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — A retarded girl's "last gift of herself" has enabled doctors to perform a cornea transplant on the damaged right eye of an 8-year-old boy.

Kevin Barton is recovering at his home here from the operation, and doctors say his chances for recovering most of his vision are good.

Kevin's new eye came from Shellah Urtz, 18, who died earlier this month. She was a patient for seven years at the Rome State School.

The convention will be attended by Gallery members from all parts of North America. Gallery of Homes, Inc., the nation's largest residential real estate network, has 1,400 offices throughout the U.S. and Canada and abroad.

WHEN EMBARGO ENDS— Industry Expects Car Sales To Turn Upward

DETROIT (AP) — Auto industry spokesmen predict car shoppers will stop looking and start buying once the Arab oil embargo is lifted.

"The main impact on our business will be to help dispel the cloud of uncertainty about gasoline supplies and prices that has been hanging over us since last October," Ford Vice President John B. Naughton said Thursday.

Spokesmen at the big three auto makers, stung in recent months by an unprecedented slump in big car sales, say they are anxiously awaiting official word that the embargo would be lifted. The auto makers hope the end of the embargo will revive sagging car sales, the spokesmen say.

But even after the embargo ends, industry observers agree that consumer preferences will not switch away from small cars.

Small car sales are easily outpacing 1973 sales levels, while big car sales have slumped more than 50 per cent and total car sales for the 1974 model year have dropped almost 27 per cent.

While the big three haven't attributed the decline entirely to the embargo, executives say consumer uncertainty brought on by the Arab boycott was instrumental in keeping potential car buyers out of the showroom.

The sales decline has led to the indefinite layoff of 92,000 workers — 12 per cent of the auto makers' hourly work force — and temporary furloughs of another 90,000 workers during the first quarter.

General Motors, which depends on big car sales more than any other manufacturer, has suffered the worst slump with a 37 per cent sales decline and 65,000 workers on indefinite layoff.

Industry midget American Motors, with emphasis on its hot-selling small car lines, has bucked the trend, with sales for the year up 21 per cent from 1973 levels.

Family Food Costs Rocket

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The average American family spends $42 per week on food, up $5 from last year, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

In the East, the figure is highest — $49 — while the rest of the country reports weekly food costs of $40, according to the polling organization.

In 1942, when Gallup first asked about food costs, the weekly average was $11.

The Gallup organization interviewed 1,444 nonfarm families between Feb. 8 and Feb. 18.

Nixon Comments On St. Pat's Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says in his annual St. Patrick's Day message that "Irish wit and warmth, grace and charm, have enriched our literature, our music, and, of course, our politics."

Thursday's declaration marked the Irish-American holiday to be celebrated on Sunday.

Grand Ole Opry To Walk Out Of Old Home Tonight

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — American music walks away from a childhood homeplace tonight. The Grand Ole Opry is moving.

The Ryman Auditorium walls, echoing fiddles and banjos since 1942, will hear no more "Wabash Cannonballs" from Roy Acuff, no more of Minnie Pearl's "Howdees."

"Curtains" at the Ryman tonight is just that: the last show in the barny, brick building that has been home for the Opry most of its life.

In these last few weeks, nostalgia has crept into local music circles like cold air seeps into the Ryman in winter.

Last Saturday night, Minnie Pearl broke into tears on stage just after finishing the last bars of "Jealous Hearted Me." On the narrow wooden stage, she clutched her price-tagged bonnet to her face before the tears ended.

"I'm just a little sad because I'm saying goodbye to a lot of spooks and shadows," she said later.

She and the other 61 Opry members will be saying hello to $15 million worth of glass, carpets, air-conditioning and electronics. Officials of the Opry and some of the stars, notably Acuff, have insisted the new Opry house will maintain the authenticity and casual air of the Ryman.

Built as a church in 1890, the rambling, gothic structure has almost no space for dressing rooms, few production facilities and too little space for the crowds who line up for tickets on Friday and Saturday nights.

The new Opry house will increase seating capacity by more than one-third and provide space for recording equipment and dressing rooms for the Opry cast. WSM radio, which has broadcast America's oldest live radio show since the late 1920s, and the National Life and Accident Co., owners of the Opry, bill the new structure as the world's largest broadcasting studio.

Five Arabs Wanted To Hijack Jumbo Jet To Prevent Lifting Of Embargo

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Five Arabs told Lebanese investigators today they planned to hijack a Dutch jumbo jet to prevent Arab states from lifting an oil embargo against the United States and Holland, police reported.

The five said they intended to hijack the KLM Boeing 747 shortly after take off from Beirut Thursday night, fly to Lahore, Pakistan and announce their demands, a police spokesman said.

Then they would fly to the Persian Gulf emirate of Abu Dhabi to wait for further instructions from their leaders, they were quoted as saying.

The five, three Palestinians, a Lebanese and a Libyan, were arrested at Beirut airport Thursday night moments before boarding the plane. They carried South Yemeni, Libyan and Jordanian passports.

A Lebanese catering porter for KLM also was arrested while trying to smuggle explosives onto the aircraft from the hijackers, police said.

"They insisted during their interrogation that they did not plan to blow up the plane," the spokesman said.

He said the five said they belonged to the Popular Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine, one of the five major guerrilla groups.

The police spokesman reported they said they began training for the KLM hijack 15 days ago. They were provided with forged passports, first-class tickets and given $800 to $1,600 each out of which they bribed the porter to smuggle their explosives onto the jumbo jet, the spokesman added.

Their "full confessions" were made at a lengthy interrogation that lasted into the early hours of the morning.

Police said the Lebanese catering porter, Hassan Ali Youssef, was arrested Thursday night as he tried to slip aboard the big jetliner with food containers containing two pistols, two grenades and 22 pounds of plastic explosive.

A police source said Youssef tried to bribe a policeman when the contents of the containers was discovered.

The five other men were picked up in the airport departure lounge where they were waiting to board the plane with 15 other passengers from Amsterdam to Beirut, New Delhi, Bangkok and Tokyo, continuing on its way on schedule after a thorough search.

Airport sources said the hijackers were tipped four days ago that the plane might be hijacked. Officers had all the suspects except the KLM employee sources said.

Collin County Residents Say Dream Homes Now Nightmares

By JIM BRIGANCE
MURPHY, Tex. (AP) — Their dream homes in Collin County, say several Dallas commuters, have turned into nightmares and health hazards.

"Sewage is running through the yard, into the street from the septic tanks. I had three inches of water in the playroom and six inches in the garage last time it rained," said Sharon Crook. Last April she purchased a home in the $50,000 range in this small Collin County community.

"You can't get the county to do anything about anything," added Lee Reed, another $50,000 custom home owner at nearby Plano.

"He (County Health Officer Winfred Taylor) is doing all he can. It's a one-man office," said a secretary in Taylor's office.

Taylor, she said, was in the field investigating complaints. Taylor has been unavailable for comment the past two days.

Mrs. Crook said she is preparing to file suit against her home builder since he has failed to finish painting the home, the foundation is sinking, the septic tank overflows and the kitchen is incomplete.

"The only problem is, my attorney says it is difficult to get legal papers served in the county. He said he may have to serve them himself," she said.

Mrs. Crook said many homeowners in her neighborhood have overflowing septic tanks. "Children and dogs go scampering right through all the sewage leaking into the yard and the street," she said.

Reed said although he lives inside the city limits of Plano his fashionable estate home is "out in the boondocks. The county is supposed to take care of the roads but they don't. Nobody but the homeowners."

Reed said he and his neighbors have formed a water cooperative and also must supply their own natural gas and road maintenance.

"The county has graded this miserable road out here twice in two years," he said.

"I've had to pay for gravel and grading myself just so my wife won't run off the roads."

Emmett Renfrow, a Murphy resident who commutes to Dallas, is another unhappy homeowner who has filed suit.

"Nothing works in this county. My lawyer also has told me it's near impossible to get any relief through the county offices," he said.

Mrs. Crook said her neighbor across the street built a custom home 18 months ago but still has to close the deal "because the contractors haven't finished up the house and won't. He's been living there without making a payment since then. He says he won't close the deal until the house is properly completed. I wish I had thought to do that," she said.

Investigation Launched Into Cause Of Air Crash

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — A federal team of investigators has launched a probe to determine the cause of an airplane crash that killed 36 persons on the side of a mountain near here.

Bodies and debris lay at the scene of the crash late Thursday when a team from the National Transportation and Safety Board flew in by helicopter to make a quick check of the site.

The team planned to begin a detailed investigation to determine what caused the Sierra Pacific Airlines Convair 440 to crash into the eastern slopes of the Sierra Nevada six minutes after takeoff from Bishop Airport Wednesday night.

Thirty-one members of a television movie crew and five airline crewmen were killed in the fiery crash of the propeller-driven plane.

Wolper Productions had chartered the plane for a crew that was shooting a segment of the ABC television series "Primal Man" near this town of 6,000. The crew had been filming a Siberian tiger hunt segment on location since Monday and was returning to Hollywood-Burbank Airport at Burbank, 250 miles southwest of here, when the crash occurred.

Investigators were hopeful the aircraft's flight recorder, which was recovered at the scene, might provide clues as to what caused the crash. The

Spring Knee Sinks Leaks

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The injury to Roosevelt Leaks' right knee was "about as bad as you'd want," says the Texas Longhorns' team physician. Leaks is not expected to play this fall.

Three of the four ligaments in the knee were torn, plus the posterior capsule (wall of the knee) was torn, and it was necessary for an orthopedic surgeon to remove the medial cartilage in order to perform a transplant on the ligaments Thursday, the physician said.

The All-American fullback suffered the injury in spring drills Wednesday when he was tackled high and low by two defensive players. Coach Darrell Royal said films showed Leaks' right leg was not planted as earlier reported—but was in the air when he was hit.

"It looks like that pretty well eliminates him for '74," Royal said. "We have received no encouragement from our orthopedic surgeon for this year. We are hopeful he can rehabilitate and be ready for '75."

Royal said the injury was similar to the one suffered by offensive halfback Don Burrisk in the 1972 Baylor game. Burrisk is back at full speed for the first time this spring.

"I really feel sorry for Roosevelt," Royal said. "If our team could have done well, he would have had an excellent run at the Heisman Trophy. He is a rare talent. There is not a team in America that can afford to lose his kind of ability."

The surgeon, who, like the team physician, prefers not to be named, said: "It was a complete new tear. The ligaments were completely separated and were repaired with a transplant operation."

"We feel good about the repair and have high hopes that he'll have a good knee, but it will take some time for rehabilitation, and we are not expecting him to play this fall."

Leaks will be eligible for the pro football draft next year and conceivably would pass up his last year of eligibility at Texas if offered enough money. However, the pros might want to wait until they could see him perform on the repaired knee.

Leaks is replaced by sophomore-to-be Pat Kennedy, who is as tall as Leaks at 5-11 but weighs 30 pounds less than Leaks' 220.

A possible replacement next fall could be Tyler's Earl Campbell, 6-1, 215, rated by many as the state's outstanding high school runner in 1973.

THE ENERGY CYCLE
We're an important part of it!
The energy cycle flows from the exploration for oil to drilling, production, refining and finally consumption. Where do we fit in? You the consumer use gasoline, one of the most important oil products. We help you to use it efficiently and wisely by providing an engine designed to get you the most miles for the gallon with the best possible in power and comfort. And we see that your car is serviced properly to maintain its high efficiency.
We live and work in the middle of a great energy source, but we don't believe in wasting it. Where energy is concerned, we're doing our part.

Dear Abby

Changing Your Name
Not Way To Play Game

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very successful and highly respected businessman. We have two sons who are planning to follow in their father's footsteps. The problem: Our name.

It has been in the newspapers often over the years because someone with the same name as ours has been involved in some terrible scandals. In fact he was found guilty of a crime and served time in a federal penitentiary. Wherever we go we are asked if we are related to this infamous character, because he has a brother who is in the same business as my husband.

We say no, which is true, but it still bothers us. At this stage of my husband's life, he doesn't want to change his name. But what do you think about our sons changing theirs? They love their father and wouldn't want to hurt him, but their lives would be much less complicated if they didn't have to explain that they are NOT related to "so-and-so." (And how about people who think we are — but never ask?)

VICTIMIZED IN N.Y.

DEAR VICTIMIZED: The unfortunate coincidence of having the same name as one who has sullied it is a widely shared experience. However, it carries no real stigma, because intelligent, fair-minded people judge a man by his own performance. And those who don't deserve to be ignored.

DEAR ABBY: I am 26, not bad looking, have a college degree, and a very good job. However, I have a serious problem. Due to an accident, I have trouble controlling my bladder. During the daytime I control it by going to the restroom often, but I cannot control it at night.

Because of my bed-wetting, I probably never will marry unless I find a girl who has the same problem. It isn't easy to find such a girl because she probably would be too embarrassed to admit it.

How can I meet girls about my own age who also wet the bed? If they wrote to you, we could correspond. I promise not to rush into marriage; I would be very cautious and be sure we loved each other first. Thank you.

WANTS TO MARRY
DEAR WANTS: Instead of looking for a girl with the same problem, look for a girl who qualifies in every other way, then deal with the problem later.

A possible solution is the "wet alarm," which awakens you during the night and helps you to keep dry. Another, twin beds.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who is considered quite popular. (I am not bragging, but people tell me I am very pretty, and I know I have a good figure.)

My problem is that I don't want to damage my reputation which is okay, but it's getting tougher to keep it that way. You see, when a fellow takes me to a show or some place nice and spends his hard-earned money on me, I feel that I can't turn him down when he wants to park and make out.

I don't go too far, Abby, but afterwards I feel so cheap. Is this wrong when I know when to stop?

CANDY
DEAR CANDY: When a fellow asks you out, all he is entitled to is your company. And unless you want to risk your hard-earned reputation, don't feel obligated to give a fellow his hard-earned money's worth. YOU may know when to stop, but he may insist on calling the signals.

Young Crash Survivor's Condition Said Critical

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Hospital spokesmen say it may become also necessary to amputate the left leg of an 11-year-old Houston boy who survived a mountain plane crash which killed four members of his family and the pilot.

Morris To Conduct Instructors' School For Law Officers

Jim Morris, who was training chief for the Midland Police Department until Nov. 1, 1971, will be here next week to conduct a police instructors' school for the Permian Basin Law Enforcement Academy.

He is with the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education. Another commission employe will assist him.

Thirteen local, county and state officers will attend the school.

Two are from Midland, six from Odessa, two from Big Spring, two from San Angelo and one from Brady.

Funds for the 40-hour school, which will be held Monday through Friday at the Academy building here, are provided by the National Highway Traffic Safety Commission.

Mark Godfrey remained in critical condition late Thursday after amputation of his right leg, an operation doctors said was necessary to save the youth's life.

The boy suffered serious injuries to both legs in the March 2 crash and during 44 hours trapped in the plane before rescuers arrived.

His eight-year-old brother, Andy, the only other survivor of the crash, is in good condition, an Aspen Valley Hospital spokesman said.

The spokesmen said Mark's upper right thigh began to show evidence of a serious infection Tuesday night. Later examinations indicated the leg below the knee was hopelessly damaged by frostbite and would have to be amputated. The operation was performed Wednesday night.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Godfrey, an older brother and sister; and the pilot, Bernard Gallaher, died when their twin-engine plane crashed while traveling to Colorado for a vacation.

Solzhenitsyn Plans No U.S. Visit Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Author Alexander Solzhenitsyn says he cannot visit the United States at the present time because he must devote himself to his work.

The exiled Soviet writer refused "with great gratitude" an invitation from AFL-CIO President George Meany to visit and lecture in this country.
