

Three Deep Ward Probes Are Planned

Three exploratory projects have been planned for Ward County.

Deepest of the tests is Union Texas Petroleum Corp., No. 1-175 Anderson, et al, a planned 22,000-foot Fusselman and Ellenburger searcher, four miles east of Fusselman production in the Quito field and 3,500 feet southwest of Gulf Oil Corp. No. 2 P. Walker, Fusselman and Ellenburger gas prospect.

The project spots 990 feet from northeast and 660 feet from southeast lines of section 175, block 34, H&TC survey, 13 miles west of Pyote.

Second Searcher
American Quasar Petroleum Co. intends to drill a 21,500-foot venture, two miles east of Fusselman production in the Quito field, and 2 1/2 miles west of Gulf's No. 1 Walker. It is No. 1 D. P. Anderson Estate.

Drillsite is 660 feet from northeast and southeast lines of section 194, block 34, H&TC survey, seven miles northeast of Barstow.

Gulf was running tubing and preparing to treat and test at No. 2 Walker.

Drilled to 20,690 feet, it has 5- and 5 1/2-inch liner hung from 15,645-20,688 feet, and a cast iron bridge plug is set at 20,200 feet. Operator perforated opposite the Fusselman from 17,095-17,143 feet, and opposite the Ellenburger from 19,370-20,150 feet.

Production was indicated with the flowing of gas at the rate of 20 million cubic feet per day on a drillstem test from 17,000-17,158 feet, and with the flowing of gas at the estimated, maximum daily rate of 15 million cubic feet on a drillstem test from 19,320-19,780 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from southeast and southwest lines of section 40, A. J. Wilson survey, 10 miles west of Pyote, and three miles west of Ellenburger gas production in the Caprio field.

Plugging Back
Amarillo Oil Co. of Amarillo, has filed application to plug back to 16,500 feet, at No. 1 Miller Estate, originally scheduled as an outpost to Fusselman production in the Barstow field, it was drilled to 18,372 feet.

It spots 4 1/2 miles east of Wolfcamp gas production in the Barstow field and 1 1/4 mile southeast of a Delaware gas discovery.

Location is 1,000 feet from northwest and 8,920 feet from northeast lines of section 35, block 33, H&TC survey, three miles east of Barstow.

Wolfcamp production in the Barstow field is at approximately 14,831-16,527 feet.

Borden Gets Sites For Three Ventures

Three wildcats have been slated in Borden County. Texaco Inc. staked No. 1 Sterling Williams, a 7,400-foot test, three miles southwest of Gall.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 45, block 31, T-5-N, T&P survey, 1 1/4 mile north of the recently completed re-opener of the one-well Aplark (Spraberry) field. The discovery was C&K Petroleum, Inc. No. 1 Juanita (Continued On Page 7B)

Kissinger Opens Moscow Talks

Brezhnev Voices Hope For Accord On Nuclear Arms

MOSCOW (AP)—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger cautioned Soviet leaders today that there can be no world peace "if we attempt to blackmail each other."

He made the remark after opening talks in the Kremlin with Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev on prospects for a new treaty limiting nuclear arms and fostering peace in the Middle East.

At the same time, Kissinger pledged that President Nixon and his administration remain committed to detente. "Our greatest goal is that over the next three years we can make the relationship that has grown up between our two peoples and our leaders irreversible," Kissinger said.

Blackmail Ruled Out

In a luncheon toast, Kissinger said "We want to make the next summit as significant" as the two preceding ones between Nixon and Brezhnev. But he said, "If our two nations attempt to take advantage of each other, if we attempt to blackmail each other, or deal with each other from a strong position, then there can be no peace among ourselves or in the world."

As the talks opened Brezhnev said he was optimistic about another Soviet-American arms agreement.

Kissinger hoped during his three days of talks in the Kremlin to set the stage for a new nuclear weapons treaty President Nixon could sign on a visit to Moscow next summer. "Very Good Beginning"

Asked by newsmen if he expected to reach another arms agreement with Nixon then, Brezhnev replied: "I take an optimistic view of that. We have made a very good beginning on that process."

He said relations between the two superpowers "are good" but "there is much work to do at this time."

Asked to characterize the situation with regard to East-West detente, he said the European security conference in Geneva is "dragging its feet a little" because "the opponents of detente are introducing petty matters that have no bearing on detente."

Trade, Jewish Problems

Although he was speaking of the Geneva conference, it was assumed that he was referring to the Soviet government's problems with the U. S. Congress over trade and Jewish emigration as well as to the Western demand at the security conference for freer flow of peoples and ideas.

The principal question the American secretary of State and the Soviet Communist party chief faced was how to work out a deal limiting development (See KISSINGER Page 2A)

Tony Boyle Faces Court For Yablonski Murders

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—Former United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle walked slowly into a heavily guarded courtroom today to stand trial on charges he ordered the 1969 assassination of union rival Joseph "Jock" Yablonski.

The proceedings began precisely at 10 a.m. with 35 prospective jurors waiting to be interviewed by opposing counsel and Common Pleas Court Judge Francis Catania.

A total of 350 prospective jurors were summoned. The others waited in other courtrooms to be interviewed later.

The 72-year-old Boyle, flown here Sunday from the Springfield, Mo., federal prison hospital where he is serving three years for illegal use of union funds, is charged by the state with three counts of murder.

Flanked By Marshals
Thin and pale, and flanked by federal marshals, Boyle broke into a thin smile and waved as he spotted his wife, Ethel, and daughter, Antoinette, sitting in the third row of the high-ceiled courtroom. He was dressed in a loosely fitting blue; pin-stripe suit.

Yablonski, his wife, Margaret, and daughter, Charlotte, were shot by hired killers before dawn on Dec. 31, 1969, as they slept in their secluded southwestern Pennsylvania home in Clarksville.

Boyle's lawyers attempted to delay the trial, claiming the indictment charging conspiracy and murder was defective. They carried their fight to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, which quashed the appeal on Friday after 43 minutes of oral argument. It is expected it will take special prosecutor Richard A. Sprague and chief defense lawyer Charles F. Moses a week to select a jury, and then

Shot Fired In Robbery Of City Grocery Store

A shot was fired but no one was injured this morning when two masked Negro men, one with a pistol, robbed E-Z Way grocery, 1101 E. Scharbauer Drive, of $185.

Mrs. Goldie Marie York, an employe, was alone in the store about 8 a.m. when the two men entered, she told Det. Sgt. Les Fine.

They walked to the meat market but that was closed and they returned to the counter at the front of the store.

One pulled a pistol and demanded money.

Mrs. York put the money — $10, $5 and $1 bills — into a paper sack but the men demanded more. As she started to put the coins from the cash register into the sack they said they didn't want them.

Refineries Shut Down In Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Oil refineries shut down in Belgium today as the war between oil companies and the government over price hikes was reaching its peak.

Gas stations also started to close down, either empty or in protest against the government, but also against oil companies which refuse to raise their income.

Only the Texaco refinery in Ghent was still operating, because it has to supply the Scandinavian market. Other companies stopped their imports and shut down their refineries.

Most Gas Stations, Too

In some areas, nine out of 10 gas stations closed. Priority users like hospitals and doctors were served but some schools and even hospitals were said to have their tanks almost empty.

A special government meeting was called after a meeting with oil companies and trade unions failed to grant companies their requested $50 a ton hike for refined products.

Powerful trade unions are either refusing the hike or asking for state control on oil companies in return for a smaller hike. Some unions also want the state to set up a state-owned oil refinery.

Jaworski Grants White House Four More Days On Subpoenas

WASHINGTON (AP)—At the request of the White House, special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski today gave President Nixon four more days to respond to a subpoena demanding additional Watergate evidence.

The subpoena, issued March 15, called for a response today. But, over the weekend James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, asked Jaworski for more time and the prosecutor extended the return date to Friday.

In a brief statement, Jaworski's office said, "In agreeing to the White House request, Mr. Jaworski emphasized the grand jury's need for the material covered under this subpoena."

The prosecutor's office refused to give details about the material subpoenaed.

And, in a related matter, lawyers for two former White House aides said they will not go to the Supreme Court to try to block transmission of the secret grand jury report on President Nixon's Watergate role to the House impeachment inquiry.

"We've just decided that we've stated our objections and our warnings as forcefully as we can and the government has decided to take the risk," said John Bray, who represents Gordon C. Strachan.

John J. Wilson, lawyer for former presidential chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, declined to comment on the decision not to appeal.

Late Freeze, Ice Storm Relax Assault On Texas

A spring attack of deadly ice and unseasonable freezing weather loosened its grip on Texas today and warming was promised in all sections.

There were still some scattered patches of light rain near the coast from around Freeport into Louisiana in early morning and skies remained overcast across the eastern two-thirds of the state.

It was mostly clear and south breezes already were pushing temperatures back up over the western third.

Partly Cloudy, Warmer

Midland skies will be clear to partly cloudy through Tuesday, with warmer temperatures promised by the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal.

High today will be near 70, with an overnight low expected in the lower 40s. Tuesday's high will be in the middle 70s. Winds are south to southwest, 10 to 20 m.p.h. this afternoon, decreasing to 5 to 12 m.p.h. tonight.

Treachorous spots of ice were blamed for at least four deaths in auto accidents Sunday, when parts of highways and bridges glazed from Abilene and San Angelo eastward through Fort Worth and Dallas, and as far south as Junction, Corsicana and Waco.

Early reports indicated also that the weekend freeze dealt heavy blows to fruit trees full of blossoms and vegetable gardens.

FEWER DEATHS, BUT... DPS Chief Says Texans Raising Driving Speed

DALLAS (AP)—The energy crisis is saving lives, Col. Wilson Speir of the Texas Department of Public Safety reported today.

"It would seem the energy crisis has done more in the short term to reduce traffic accidents and save lives than any other single factor in the history of motor transportation," Speir said.

His remarks were prepared for delivery to the annual conference of the Texas Safety Association.

Through noon Friday, Speir said, 443 persons had died in Texas traffic accidents, a reduction of 197—or 31 per cent—from the same period in 1973.

He attributed the lower death rate to reduced travel and slower speeds brought on by the fuel shortage.

But Speir said Texans' compliance with the new 55-mile-an-hour speed limit "has not been as good as we might have hoped for."

The new law went into effect Jan. 20, but by March 1, Speir said, "we had noticed that motorists, or at least many of them, had been gradually 'inching' up their speeds on Texas highways."

In February, Speir said, highway patrolmen issued 39,742 speeding citations, 24,630 more than in February 1973—an increase of 61 per cent.

It was also the energy crisis, the DPS director said, that helped give Texas the lowest death rate per 100 million vehicle miles in the state's history in 1973. The rate was 4.6.

Kissinger: Mutual 'Blackmail' Could Block World Peace

(Continued From Page 1A) of missiles carrying multiple warheads (MIRV). The groundwork was laid in early February when Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko visited Washington, and in talks with the Soviet Ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, who accompanied Kissinger from Washington and worked with him aboard the secretary's Air Force jet. Dobrynin at one point in the flight beamingly assured reporters he had high hopes for a breakthrough. Senior American officials were more guarded, but they encouraged speculation that Kissinger's trip would be a success. Both sides were going to try to make "a conceptual breakthrough," said one of the officials. For four weeks American and Soviet negotiators in Geneva have been clearing away technical underbrush. Differences between the State and Defense departments on how to approach the Russians in this second round of Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) were resolved weeks ago, an official said. But Kissinger will submit whatever can be worked out here to the National Security Council after he returns to Washington at the end of the week.

His second major topic in Moscow is the Middle East. Kissinger hopes to get the Russians to influence the Syrian government to accept a disengagement agreement with Israel providing for an initial Israeli withdrawal considerably short of Syria's long-range goal: return of all of the Golan Heights territory Israel captured during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

A Syrian-Israeli disengagement agreement is necessary for resumption of the Arab-Israeli peace talks in Geneva, and there Syria and the other Arab states could press their demands under the watchful eye of the Soviet Union, the co-chairman of the talks. Kissinger is to meet in Washington Friday and Saturday with Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, who is to represent his government in the disengagement negotiations with the Syrians in Washington. The Syrian negotiating team arrives in Washington April 10. Kissinger probably also brought to Moscow special pleadings for individual Jews who have been blocked from emigrating to Israel. But U.S. officials cautioned that he may not be able to accomplish much in terms of numbers. They pointed out that almost 35,000 Jews were allowed to emigrate in 1973 and said that seems to be about as high as the Soviets are willing to go. Other subjects to be discussed are the East-West talks in Vienna on a mutual reduction of military forces in Central Europe and the security conference in Geneva in which the Soviets are seeking Western recognition of their hegemony in Eastern Europe.

New Democratic Irregularities Turn Up In Investigation Of Milk-Money Affair

By BROOKS JACKSON WASHINGTON (AP) — The unfolding story of the milk-fund affair has turned up new irregularities in the 1972 campaign finances of several Democrats, including Rep. Wilbur D. Mills and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey. Associated Milk Producers Inc., the nation's largest dairy cooperative, paid $137,000 in corporation funds to help buy costly computer-mail lists for Humphrey, Sen. James Abourezk of South Dakota, Gov. Robert Docking of Kansas, Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma, and the Iowa Democratic party of Sen. Harold Hughes.

A Watergate grand jury has heard testimony about the payments. Federal law prohibits use of corporation funds to assist campaigns. And the giant dairy cooperative reportedly used company funds to pay salaries and expenses, including apartment and furniture rent, for two key workers in the draft-Mills campaign in the last months of 1971 and the early weeks of 1972, before the Arkansas Democrat announced himself as an active presidential candidate. The payments are outlined in a report commissioned by the cooperative's board, which was obtained from court records. Mills, contacted Saturday at his home in Kennett, said, "I know of no AMPI corporate funds that came in at all." Mills, asked about the statement that the cooperative paid rent for the Washington apartments of the campaigners as well as rent for their leased furniture, said, "I know nothing about that either. That was not in my campaign; that was in the draft Mills campaign." He was referring to the Draft

Mills Committee which, he said, was separate from his own campaign. The congressman said he doubted that any illegal AMPI contributions were made even to the Draft Mills Committee. He said that by that time, AMPI had set up a committee so that political contributions could be made legally. Associated Milk Producers is the same group under investigation, with two other dairy cooperatives, for allegedly trying to pay $300,000 to a Nixon fund raiser to have an antitrust suit killed. A report by lawyer Edward L. Wright says the cooperative paid the $750 monthly salary of Mrs. Betty Clement Bullock, who worked at the Mills headquarters in Little Rock, helped promote a Mills appearance at an Iowa farm rally, and later worked at the Mills headquarters in Washington, D.C. Also paid by the milk producers was Joe P. Johnson, who was an advance man for Mills. His salary wasn't specified.

13 Burglaries Cleared Up With Arrests Of Youths

Thirteen recent burglaries were cleared with the weekend arrests of two 16-year-old Midland boys, police said. Most of the stolen items, including $1,365 in musical instruments, have been recovered, according to Juvenile Sgts. Joe Matlock and Henry Wedel. One of the youths was arrested Friday night and the other Sunday night. They have been released to the custody of their parents and the cases will be referred to the county attorney for consideration of filing in juvenile court.

Defensive Driving, Other Courses Start This Week

Two defensive driving courses start this week under the sponsorship of Midland College. One class starts at 7 p.m. today in room 456 of Lee High School and runs for two weeks on Mondays and Wednesdays. A second class, at the same time and in the same room, will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays, starting this week. Fee for the class is $10. A second offering in brush up typing will be made available beginning Tuesday, from 7 to 9 p.m. instructed by Mrs. William Blaine, in room 603 at Lee High, at a cost of $18.

Court Tosses Out Statute On Flag

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today struck down a Massachusetts law forbidding contemptuous treatment of the American flag on grounds that the statute was too vague. But the court indicated that more specific statutes might be acceptable. The court ruled 6 to 3 that the Massachusetts law was too vague to warn anyone about the kind of conduct that would be considered criminal and was thus a denial of due process. The majority opinion, written by Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., invited legislatures to be more specific in defining the kind of flag behavior they intend to outlaw.

Hartford Won't Insure Streakers

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Hartford Insurance Group says it won't insure streakers. Streakers clubs in Georgia and Idaho contacted the company recently for insurance against assault and exposure to the elements. The Hartford's underwriters decided since there was no underwriting experience in this area, the company could not afford to take the risk, a spokesman said. One Hartford underwriter said if streaking should become legal "a blanket policy might do the job."

Crawford Wins First In French Symposium

Allan Crawford won a first place in the 10th annual French Symposium at San Antonio Friday and Saturday and five other Lee High School French students plus the Lee French Chorale Ensemble took other places. The state contest was held at MacArthur High School and was sponsored by the Northeast Independent School District of San Antonio. Crawford's award was in listening comprehension I, and the chorale ensemble placed fourth in the competition, which drew 1,100 students from 48 Texas schools. Other individual winners from LHS were Susan Bechtel, third in listening comprehension II and fourth in the projects category; David Long, third in water color (fine arts); Rene Mauzy, fourth in extemporaneous speaking III; and Connie Brookmole, honorable mention in listening comprehension IV. Members of the French Club of Midland High School also participated in the symposium, with Mary Tompkins taking second in costume, Jill Murphy second in ballet competition, Peter Reed winning third in instrument solo, and Mary Motter and Julia Hall placing third in ballet.

The government alleges the murder conspiracy was hatched in Boyle's fancy Washington, D.C., office on June 23, 1969, when he was battling Yablonski for the presidency, that the killers were paid out of $20,000 embezzled from the union treasury, and that it eventually involved a total of nine persons — eight of whom already have confessed or been convicted. Boyle's union victory was overturned by a federal judge in May 1972 on grounds it was achieved by fraud. Then Boyle was convicted of illegally contributing $49,250 in UMW funds to political candidates. Finally, he lost the presidency to an ex-miner running on the Yablonski platform. The trial was shifted to Media from Washington County after Boyle's lawyers said their client couldn't get a fair trial in the coal region where Yablonski lived and worked.

White House Given Four Additional Days

Haldeman and Strachan were among seven persons indicted March 1 in connection with the Watergate cover-up. President Nixon had not opposed delivery of the report to the House committee. Deputy presidential Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren refused last week to say whether the President planned to comply with the prosecutor's subpoena. He said it was being handled routinely by White House lawyers.

Executive Killed In Kidnap Attempt

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Eight gunmen tried to kidnap a textile executive today but he resisted and they shot and killed him, police said. The victim was identified as Jorge Oscar Wabellich, 46. Police said the kidnap attempt took place near Wabellich's house in the wealthy suburb of San Isidro, five miles north of the capital, where dozens of kidnappings have occurred in recent years. Police said the gunmen fled in two cars. Leftist terrorists kidnaped American oilman Victor Samuelson, 36, of Cleveland, Ohio, on Dec. 6, and Esao Argentina recently paid a record $14.2 million ransom for his release. But Samuelson still has not surfaced.

Israel Says U.S. Photos Confirm Egypt Violation

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — American satellite photographs confirm Israel's charges that Egypt has moved artillery east of the Suez Canal in violation of the Israeli-Egyptian disengagement agreement, Israeli press reports said today. The reports said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who negotiated the agreement in January, appealed to the Egyptians to withdraw the guns, but Egyptians had violated the restriction.

Linda Lovelace, Streakers Top Off 'Bama Sex Week'

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Sex Week at the University of Alabama ended with four streakers appearing on stage to kiss sex starlet Linda Lovelace. Miss Lovelace, star of Deep Throat, was a featured speaker Sunday night. During her address, four male streakers appeared on stage. They ceremoniously gave her a bouquet of flowers, one of the men kissed her and the four then streaked off. Sex week, subtitled Human Sexuality in the 70s by the University of Alabama's University Program Council, was designed to inform, not offend, publicity director Andrew Powell said. The program included lectures, films and an original play on various aspects of sexuality.

North Korea Proposes Peace Pact, Withdrawal Of All American Forces

TOKYO, Japan (AP) — North Korea today proposed to the United States that a peace agreement replace the military armistice that ended the Korean war in 1953 and that all American forces be withdrawn from South Korea. The North-Korean news agency reported that the request was made in a letter to the U. S. Congress by the fifth Supreme People's Assembly in Pyongyang after a proposal by Foreign Minister Ho Dam. The letter said the military armistice signed July 27, 1953, "has become outdated and cannot guarantee a durable peace." The proposal stressed that the agreement be reached with the United States, not with South Korea, because "it is right and proper to settle the question between the parties concerned which hold real power to guarantee it with certainty." The letter listed four points to be included in a peace agreement: 1. Both sides would remove "all danger of direct armed conflict" and the United States would pledge not to "instigate the South Korean authorities to the war provocation maneuvers and fascist repression of the South Korean people or patronize them." America would also promise not to obstruct unification efforts by the North and South. 2. Both sides would "discontinue arms reinforcement and the arms race and stop introducing any weapons, combat equipment and war supplies into Korea." 3. "The berets of the United Nations Forces shall be taken off the foreign troops stationed in South Korea and they will all be withdrawn at the earliest possible date with all their weapons." 4. No foreign country will be allowed military bases in Korea.

Cold air gripped the northern and middle Atlantic Coast and parts of the Midwest today as record low temperatures for this time of year were registered.

At 13 degrees, Binghamton, N.Y., equaled a record for Sunday while a cold Arctic air mass hung between the Great Lakes and the Ohio Valley. Freezing temperatures spread as far south as the southern Appalachians, the Tennessee Valley and southern Arkansas, and scattered rain in those areas glazed the ground. Rain also fell from East Texas through the Lower Mississippi Valley. Lake Charles, La., measured one inch of rain during the night.

Gale warnings were posted as winds gusted to 40 miles per hour along the northern Atlantic Coast and the lower Great Lakes.

A little snow fell around the Lower Great Lakes and Upper Mississippi Valley and in the northern Rockies, but accumulations were less than one inch before daybreak. Clouds prevailed over much of the nation, but skies cleared through the Plateau region and much of the upper Midwest. Early morning temperatures ranged from 11 degrees below zero at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to 77 degrees at Miami, Fla.

Gallup Poll Shows GOP Chairmen Prefer Reagan

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan is the top choice of Republican county chairmen for the party's 1976 presidential nomination, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

In a mail survey of 3,725 county chairmen, 39 per cent of the 2,384 who responded chose Reagan. Vice President Gerald Ford had 24 per cent of their votes; former Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York had 12 per cent, and former Treasury Secretary John Connally, 7 per cent.

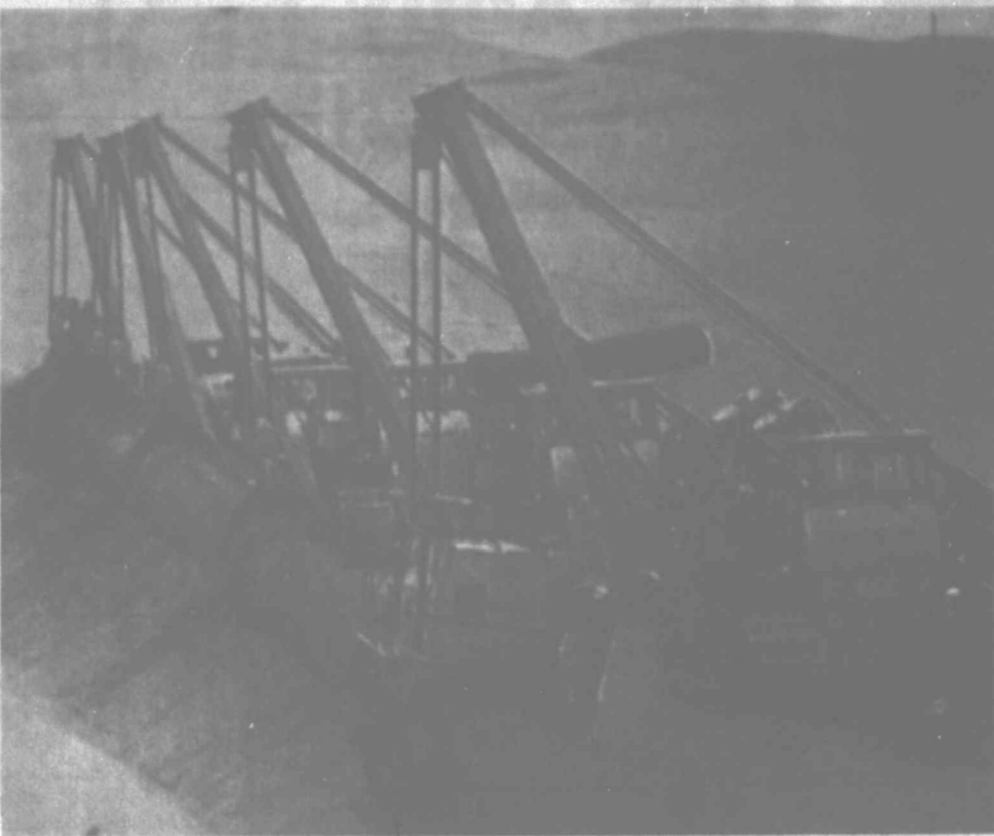

Over the past 20 years, the views of the GOP county chairmen have prevailed in national conventions, except in 1952 when they favored Ohio Sen. Robert Taft over Dwight Eisenhower by 2-1.

Reagan also has wide support from GOP rank-and-file members. Last April, Reagan was second only to then Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. By October regular GOP members picked Reagan as their top choice. Ford's backers were asked to list a second choice for the nomination if the vice president refused to run for the presidency. Two-thirds of those who selected Ford swung to Reagan, giving him a 55 per cent rating. Without Ford in the race, Rockefeller's support rose to 15 per cent, while Connally rated 12 per cent.

In questionnaires mailed in late January and early February, the county chairmen were asked: "As of today, which one of these men do you personally prefer as the Republican candidate for president in 1976?"

The responses and percentages were: Ronald Reagan, 39; Gerald Ford, 24; Nelson Rockefeller, 12; John Connally, 7; Barry Goldwater, 6; Elliot Richardson, 4; Charles W. Percy, 3; and Howard Baker, 2.

Paralyzed Georgia Tot Flown To Houston For Rehabilitation

HOUSTON (AP) — Rachel Gann, a tiny 4-year-old Georgia girl, can produce a smile or maybe even a laugh for a visitor to her hospital room even though she is paralyzed from the neck down.

She even teases her nurses as any child her age might do. Rachel, who was injured in an automobile accident last August that killed her mother, was flown to Houston from Atlanta, Ga. Saturday for special treatment at Texas Institute for Rehabilitation and Research. Nurse Carol Carpenter, who is attending Rachel here, said the brown-haired girl watches television and plays with a purple monster-like puppet she calls "Oscar."

Rachel cannot breathe by herself and needs an artificial respirator. She also calls the machine "Oscar" because "it grows like a monster." Miss Carpenter said Rachel told the nurses she had a "boy friend."

When told she might be a little young for a boy friend, she grinned and replied: "I'm almost five."

Miss Carpenter said Rachel's case was being evaluated and there was no indication how long she would remain at the institute. She said institute personnel will determine which of the child's muscles are useless and which are available.

BRANNON ELECTED—Young Democrats Endorse Amnesty

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Bill Brannon of Denton was elected the new president of Texas Young Democrats Sunday as the group ended its convention asking amnesty for draft evaders.

Brannon said that as new state president he hoped "to give young people more of a sense of political efficiency." He asked for representation from the Young Democrats on the Texas Democratic Executive Committee.

In asking amnesty for draft evaders and voting rights for the ex-convicts, the Young Democrats also called for state funding of public education, the creation of a statewide utility regulation commission and pari-mutuel betting.

Resolutions passed by the group included: —One calling for the legalization of marijuana.

—Another calling for a woman and her doctor to decide on abortions without "legal interference."

—Support for the United Farm Workers.

—Opposition to the "right to work" law which was described as "misnamed."

—And one asking that 18-year-olds be permitted to run for the Texas Legislature.

Another controversial resolution passed by the convention called for the House of Representatives to "consider and vote on the impeachment of President Nixon."

Tower Doubtful Senate Will Extend Wage, Price Controls

By PEGGY SIMPSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John G. Tower of Texas, ranking Republican on the Senate Banking committee, says he doubts that the Senate will extend wage and price controls.

The administration's proposal to extend mandatory controls on the health and construction industries appears to be in trouble in both the Senate and House.

Last week the Senate Banking subcommittee considering the issue reported out a compromise bill shaped by Sens. J. Bennett Johnston Jr., D-La., Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., and Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del.

The vote was 4-3, however, and Tower said in an interview he doesn't think it has much chance in the full committee.

A source close to the Democratic sponsors agreed that the outlook was dim. In the House, Banking Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said last week he saw little chance that the Economic Stabilization Act would be extended in part or fully.

Many House members appear inclined to wait to see what the Senate passes on wage-price controls. The administration only last Tuesday got its bill introduced in the House.

The Republicans on the Banking Committee declined even to introduce it "by request," a tagline that doesn't commit them to support the measure. Rep. Thomas I. Ashley, D-Ohio, finally introduced it by request a day after Patman's House speech.

Under the administration bill, the Cost of Living Council would administer the continued mandatory controls on health and construction and possible other segments of the economy.

The Johnson-Stevenson-Biden bill would extend the act with two purposes in mind: To establish criteria to be met before controls could be reimposed, and to require the Cost of Living Council to get firm commitments of noninflationary action before removing controls from the remaining industries.

Tower said he will oppose "any extension of controls—they have created distortions, inequities and dislocations in the economy."

He rejected an argument by John D. Twinn, administrator of the Cost of Living Council's health programs, that removing controls would cost health consumers $3 billion more a year.

He said this would be so because the health industry is not a free-market situation due to substantial federal programs' correction.

and is likely to be less so in the future if, as expected, some form of national health insurance is enacted by late 1975.

Tower said the government has caused the higher medical costs by too much involvement already in the medical industry.

"Let's take off controls and provide catastrophic insurance only," he said, and then assess the situation later for possible substantial federal programs' correction.

Senator Still Convinced Facts Support President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, long a supporter of President Nixon, says evidence exists to exonerate the President but, despite pleas by the Republican leadership, Nixon refuses to release it.

"I'm hopeful this material will be released that is exculpatory of the President," the Texas Republican, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said in an interview.

"I'm convinced in my own mind. I can't go much beyond that. A number of us have been urging him to open up," Tower said.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said in January that material he has seen shows

John W. Dean III, the former presidential counsel, perjured himself when he testified Nixon was aware of the Watergate cover-up before March 21, 1973.

Tower predicted Nixon would still be in office by next November's elections. But when asked if this would be best for the Republican party, he replied: "It's a long time away. It depends on the climate at the moment."

He said Nixon is refusing to release the material because of his "jealousy of the institution of the presidency."

But Tower said "the leadership collectively has urged it."

Teams To Promote U.S. Cotton

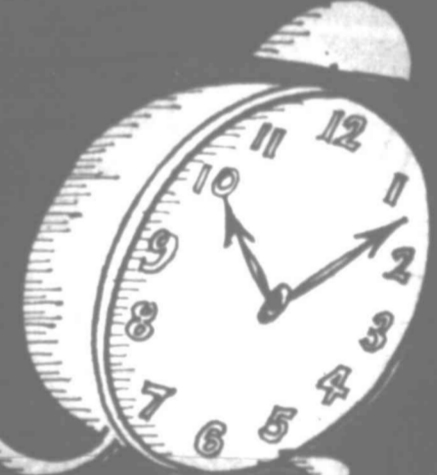

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four teams of government and cotton industry representatives are fanning out this spring to promote U.S. cotton in Europe and Asia.

The Agriculture Department, a co-sponsor of the marketing campaign, says the first delegation left March 15 and will return after a two-week tour of Italy, Switzerland and eastern France.

Two more teams will visit prospective cotton buyers April 14-30 in Korea, the Philippines, Thailand, Indonesia, Singapore and Malaysia.

The fourth is scheduled May 18-June 1 in the Netherlands, Germany and the United Kingdom.

Other sponsors with USDA are: the American Cotton Shippers Association, the Cotton Warehouse Association of America, the National Cotton Ginners Association and the Cotton Council International.

Tourist Industry Cheered At Gasoline Supply Hopes

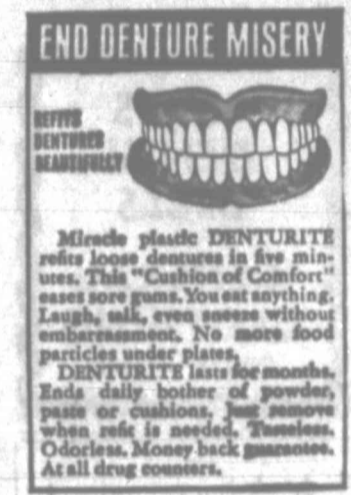

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tourist industry officials are keeping their fingers crossed that the lifting of the Arab oil embargo will mean an upswing in travel.
"There's a feeling that people can plan at least limited vacations this summer," said Ken Miller, president of the Idaho Automobile Association. He said reports from gasoline dealers "are the most optimistic we've had for several months."

Maryland Residents Continue Bird Fight

GRACEHAM, Md. (AP) — Maryland health officials are considering using infra-red equipment to detect how many birds remain in a pine grove here after a weekend blitz to scare them off.
Shotguns, fireworks and amplified noise exploded around the site in an attempt to unroot the millions of starlings and grackles from the 60-acre nesting place they've inhabited since last fall. Their droppings are several inches thick in places and officials fear a health hazard.
Dr. Kenneth L. Crawford, Maryland veterinarian who heads the bird chasing project, claimed 90 per cent success after the weekend campaign. "Each night fewer birds return," he said Sunday.
But some Graceham residents claim the birds wait until after dark, when the noise has stopped, to return to their roosts.
Health department spokesman John McAviney said efforts are being made to get infra-red equipment to search out the pines at night and get an accurate count of the number of birds remaining. The procedure, used in Vietnam to search out enemy snipers, finds targets by zeroing in on their body heat.
Meanwhile, fresh explosive attacks were planned for tonight and Tuesday night.

Officials noted that the oil will take several months to flow through the pipeline to the United States in the wake of last Monday's announcement that the embargo was over.
But they indicated that things won't be as bad as they were during January and February. An Associated Press survey showed that more gasoline stations were open over the weekend than on any Sunday since early December when President Nixon urged voluntary closings to conserve energy.

Nixon said last Tuesday that he was lifting that ban and Federal Energy Chief William E. Simon said tourism was a major reason for the action.
Simon said on Sunday that the sales ban "has had a significant impact on our conservation... but we have an industry that's critical to many of the states and that is tourism and leisure industry and this is a way to safely assist them."
He said that although the United States still doesn't have enough gasoline to meet the demand, April allocations would be "significantly larger" than the March allotments.
Simon, who was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers," said specific allotments would be announced later this week. But he added that the states probably would get about 90 per cent of the amount they received in 1973 — up 5 per cent from this month.
Tourist officials expressed hope that business would improve.

Dear Abby He Enjoys Christmas Through The Entire Year

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For the last two years, my husband and I and our little son have been spending the Christmas holidays with my family (parents, sisters, brothers, etc.).
On Christmas morning everyone gathers in the living room and we all open our Christmas gifts under the tree. Everyone, except my husband. He refuses to open his presents at that time. He takes them home — still gift-wrapped, and opens one or two a week. It takes months before they're all opened. He says if he spreads the excitement over a long period of time he enjoys it more than opening 15 or 20 gifts in a half hour and then experiencing a big let down. He prefers to prolong the joys of Christmas as long as possible.
I think it's rude to make people wait months to be thanked for a Christmas gift. (As of today, he still hasn't opened mine!) He says they are his gifts and he can open them whenever he feels like it. What do you think of this weirdo!

NEW MEXICO WIFE
DEAR WIFE: His behavior is somewhat strange, but he's right, they're his gifts to open whenever he feels like it. By now your family must be accustomed to this peculiarity. But it might comfort you to know that there's at least one more "weirdo" who lies to prolong the joys of Christmas. Read on:
DEAR ABBY: There is a nut who lives across the street from us who still has his Christmas ornaments up! People come from all over just to drive by his house and laugh!

DISGUSTED IN PENNSYLVANIA
DEAR ABBY: I don't mean to carp, but I was bothered by one of your reader's references to being "gypped," and by the use of that word in the headline of your column.
It's a common but probably unintentional slur, for most people are unaware that the expression "gypped" comes from the word "gypsy."
I am not a gypsy, but because of the connection between these two words, I am offended. Can't we stop using the word "gypped" as a synonym for cheat?
CONCERNED IN ANN ARBOR
DEAR CONCERNED: Even though (according to Ted Bernstein, my expert on words) the expression "gypped" probably does come from the word "gypsy," I doubt that even a gypsy would make a connection and feel maligned.

Problems: You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Giant Waves Claim Five Victims On Oahu Shores

HONOLULU (AP) — Giant waves up to 30 feet pounded the north shore of Oahu over the weekend, claiming the lives of five persons and injuring several others.
The mountainous surf was caused by a storm northwest of Hawaii, a spokesman for the National Weather Bureau said. The waves began subsiding late Sunday and were expected to get back to normal today, he said.
Four women sitting on Sunset Beach in the North Shore area were swept out to sea by a giant wave Saturday. All four bodies were recovered. Three of the victims were from Honolulu, and the fourth, Judy Ann Moore, 23, was from Eugene, Ore.
A 26-foot boat with three men aboard was swamped by the surf Sunday while trying to enter a North Shore harbor. The men were picked up but one was dead on arrival at a hospital. The other two men were reported in fair condition.
Two seaside homes in the area were hit by a wave Sunday. A person inside one of the houses was injured slightly.
Rescue squads were called on many occasions during the weekend to pull swimmers from the churning surf.

Ice Sheathed Roads Boost Texas Violent Death Count

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Icy spots on roads and bridges Sunday were blamed for accidents which helped to swell the violent death toll in Texas.
The tragic count between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday went to at least 22 fatalities — 18 in auto crashes, three shootings and a stabbing.
Marvin L. Moyler and his wife Linda of Parker County died Sunday when their truck and another collided on Interstate 20 about 20 miles east of Weatherford. Officers said one of the trucks skidded on an icy bridge into the path of the second vehicle.
Three-Vehicle Pileup
Timmy Matthews of Hollister, Okla., was killed Sunday in a three-vehicle pileup just outside Burk Burnett in North Texas. Two other men were injured seriously.
Steven Hyer, 23, believed to be from Indianapolis, Ind., died Sunday when his tractor-trailer rig skidded on an icy Fort Worth freeway and went through a guard rail. Officers said Hyer apparently tried to miss some piled-up cars.
A collision near Hillje in Wharton County Sunday killed Deputy Sheriff Sidney W. Jolly, 57, and his wife Oneta, 53, of Victoria. Four persons in the other car—Earl Mitchem of Channelview, his wife Melba and two young daughters—suffered injuries.

Juan Jose Ebarra, 25, of Alvin was killed Sunday when his car ran into a ditch and hit a tree at Arcadia.
Officers said a car driven by Donald Dees, 41, of Houston smashed into the side of another Sunday on Interstate 10 near an intersection 40 miles northeast of San Antonio and the crash killed William H. Allio, 40, of Dickinson. Critical injuries were suffered by Dees. Allio's wife Billie, 34, and her son Chris, 10.
Tyrone L. Martin, 34, of Houston was killed Sunday when his car skidded at an intersection, slammed through a barricade and overturned in a ditch. Police said William H. Hodge, 43, a passenger, was critically injured.
R. V. Winfrey, 40, of Houston was shot to death Sunday at a service station. Officers said the shooting followed an argument that arose when one car blocked another vehicle's exit from the crowded station.
Four Persons Killed
Four Lubbock residents died late Friday when two cars smashed together on Farm Road 1729 about 12 miles southeast of the South Plains city. State police identified them as Blas Gutierrez Guerra, 27; Rosalio Trinidad, 41; Andrea Gutierrez, 40; and Liborio Gutierrez, 43.
Bennett Morton, 68, of Kilgore died Friday night when his car left Farm Road 1797 and hit a tree four and a half miles east of Tatum in East Texas.
Raleigh Rodriguez, 19, was killed early Saturday when his car ran off U.S. 277 near Christoval in West Texas.

A two-car collision about 40 miles south of San Antonio early Saturday killed Haro Mantillo, 43, of Matalia. The head-on crash occurred on U.S. 57.
Two Amarillo residents died Saturday evening when a dune buggy overturned on a vacant lot in the Panhandle city. They were Darwin Bagley, 36, and Judy Burley, 23.
Youth Stabbed
Fred Junior Cameron, 17, died several hours after being stabbed during an early morning argument Saturday at Henderson in East Texas. The stabbing occurred outside the Henderson Community Center, where a 4-H Club party was in progress.
A Harris County deputy sheriff and his wife were found dead early Saturday, both shot in the face, apparently after the officer stopped a car in Southwest Harris County. They were James H. McKay Sr., 42, and Rose McKay, 35.

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?

"Thy Word is Truth" (John 17:17)
by Bryan Bost
Jesus Christ changes lives. In this age of nominal, watered-down "Christianity," we tend to forget that Christianity was never intended to be a facet of life to be listed on one's biography along with other organizations and honors, as if it just was one good activity among many. Instead, Christianity was intended to be a completely new way of life.
This newness of life is pictured many times in the New Testament but never more vividly than in the twelve apostles. Among the original twelve were Matthew, the tax collector for Rome, and Simon, the Zealot who previously had committed his life to the overthrow of the Roman oppressors. Indeed, it was common for Zealots to filter into a crowd and stab those who were sympathetic to Rome. Therefore, in the group of the apostles two men were working side-by-side that under any other circumstances would have been mortal enemies. Why the change?
"Therefore, if any one is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away, behold, the new one has come. (II Corinthians 5:17). Do you have this new life in Christ?"

Episcopalians Plan Quiet Day

The Rev. Robert Hibbs of St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Borger will be the guest speaker for a Quiet Day observance to be held by the Women of the Church, Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday in the church.

The Rev. Mr. Hibbs is a graduate of Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., and the General Theological Seminary in New York. He did graduate work in philosophy at the University of Toronto and the Pontifical Institute of Medieval Studies in Toronto, Canada.

In 1961, the Rev. Mr. Hibbs and his wife joined the faculty of St. Andrew's Seminary in Quetzon City, the Philippines.

They were there 11 years, during which time he taught moral theology and philosophy. In 1965, he was appointed sub-dean of St. Andrew's and in 1967 was made a member of the faculty of the Southeast Asia Graduate School of Theology. He returned to the U.S. in 1972 and assumed his present work.

The speaker's topic will be a series of meditations, "Three Faces of Jesus."

Those attending are requested to bring sack lunches.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I hope some of the readers can tell me what can be done with sample patches of imitation leather. I have about 1,000 pieces each of three-inch circles and pieces 2 1/4 x 5 inches with a small hole about 1/4 inch from the edges. Thanks for any help. — MRS. S. W. C.

DEAR POLLY — Watching people prepare various recipes at a cooking demonstration where so much food is wasted is my Pet Peeve. My mother and home economics teacher taught us to scrape bowls, pans, etc., clean and not to waste food. — DAIRE.

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Mary Louise who wants to know how to clean her fur bonnet. Years ago when cleaners were not so numerous I cleaned my fur with corn meal and have been doing it ever since. If the fur item is not too large put it in a paper sack with some corn meal and shake it around until it has absorbed the dirt. Remove item and if it is still dirty repeat the process with clean meal. — GLADYS.

DEAR POLLY — Mary Louise can use corn meal to clean her fur bonnet. Rub corn meal in well and let it stay on the hat overnight. The next day gently shake the hat and brush with a soft hair brush. This draws out any oil, etc. Sometimes I do it twice. — BARBARA.

DEAR POLLY — When I knit I always copy my pattern in a spiral notebook and where it says to make even rows of one stitch I write 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 or whatever in my book. As I knit I check off each number after I have made that row. If I have to put my work aside for a while or even a few weeks I always know just where I stopped so I always keep my pattern even. This is especially good when making sleeves so the two are alike.

I also jot down any changes I make in the pattern. By going over all of this I study the pattern before I start and can work out any changes I want and do not have to undo work already done. I also write down the required amount of yarn needed so I know if I am using the same pattern again. — HELEN.

DEAR HELEN — When knitting two sleeves or any such pieces I want to be exactly alike I do them at the same time on the same needle with two balls of yarn. — POLLY.

4 ways to make electricity work more efficiently in the laundry.

Here are several good ways to make the most of the electricity you use in the laundry. These tips may make laundry day a little easier, too.

1. Sort clothes according to type of fabric, color, texture, degree of soil and garment construction. And try to accumulate a full load before you do a washing to save water.
2. Choose the washing cycle that is correct for the clothes

3. If your washer has a water-level selector, choose the correct setting for the load. You'll use less hot water.
4. Clean the lint filter on your clothes dryer after each load to help it operate more efficiently and reduce drying time.

Minimum Wage Bill Rolls

The minimum wage bill—the bill which is destined to put many young persons out of work and numerous small business firms out of business—appears to be well on the way to final passage.

The House has approved the measure by an overwhelming majority. The vote was 375 to 37. The Senate previously had passed its minimum wage bill, 69-22.

There isn't much doubt that congressional approval is forthcoming.

Then, once again, it will be up to President Nixon to veto the measure, as he did last year. Washington observers, however, doubt if Nixon will veto the legislation, even though the administration prefers a provision for youth differential, along with other changes.

This is an unfortunate situation from numerous standpoints. One must remember, however, that this is an election year, and votes are all-important to many congressmen.

Proponents of such measures keep coming back year after year, until the opposition finally throws up its hands in despair, and the proponents claim another victory.

The House measure, incidentally, raises the minimum wage from $1.60 an hour to $2 this year for most workers covered and to $2.30 for all by 1978.

On top of this, the measure would bring an additional seven million persons into the fold, increasing to 56.5 million the number of workers covered by the minimum wage laws.

The minimum would increase to $2 this year for most workers covered, and then in two steps to $2.30 in 1976. Millions of workers, including government employees, household domestics and retail and service workers, would be brought under minimum wage coverage, with final passage of the measure.

Other nonagricultural workers who have been covered since 1966 would have a $1.90 minimum this year and would reach $2.30 by 1977, in four steps.

Congress overlooks completely the fact that a higher minimum wage rate is just about the surest guarantee of increased unemployment, particularly among the young people. Congress can prescribe the rate but it can't prevent an employer from laying off an employee rather than paying him more money.

It's tough on the employee who loses his job, and it is tough on the businessman who is forced to dispense with personnel he really needs but can't afford. It's strange that Congress cannot or will not recognize this fundamental fact.

... And This Is The Washington Rumor Mill!!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Secret intelligence reports reveal power struggle continues despite diplomacy. WASHINGTON — The world of diplomacy, like the moon, has its hidden side where intelligence operatives and agents cavort in the half light.

We have had access to the latest secret intelligence reports which provide fleeting glimpses into this shadowy, subterranean world.

Behind the cordial handshakes and cocktail parties of detente, the reports reveal, the power struggle rages on. In Africa, for instance, the Chinese are conducting guerrilla schools, the Russians are training and equipping troops, the Arabs are supplying arms and the Americans are wheeling and dealing.

U.S. Ambassador Robert Yost reports from Burundi that President Micombero "suspects the Chinese and has great dislike for the Russians." Nevertheless, Yost says, Burundi has "moved closer to the Arabs and Chinese and, to a much lesser extent, the Soviets."

"A substantial number of Burundi military officers are now being trained" in Communist and Arab countries, he asserts. These include "30 in the Soviet Union, 60 in Algeria, 10 in Egypt, that we are aware of."

Yost reports "regular shipments of arms and ammunitions have been coming in from Algeria on Algerian planes. One shipment of arms and ammunition from Libya was received."

In another confidential dispatch from Burundi, he urges strengthening the U.S. Embassy "to monitor PRC (People's Republic of China), North Korean, Arab and Soviet activities in Central Africa."

A confidential State Department memo to the White House urges improving "access to Burundi leaders who might be influenced to support the U.S. on international issues."

Throughout Africa, the scenario is the same: The Chinese, Russians and Arabs train and equip friendly troops or insurgents while the United States maneuvers desperately to stay in the ball game.

In Guinea, Tanzania, for example, the Chinese are conducting guerrilla schools. The graduates are supplied with arms and ammunition to stir up revolution in such countries as South Africa, Mozambique and Angola. State Department documents reveal that Rhodesia, in particular, is bedeviled by Chinese and Russian-trained guerrillas operating from bases in Zambia and Mozambique.

Intelligence reports tell of a loose, worldwide underground alliance of revolutionary movements around the world. Young activists in Africa, Asia and the Americas reportedly aid one another with weapons and tactics. They draw their ideological inspiration chiefly from the world's oldest revolutionary, Mao Tse-tung, who provides them with his thoughts more than substantial aid.

BRUCE BLOSSAT Cramped Japanese Said To Thrive In Tension

KAGOSHIMA, Japan (NEA) — Making your way down the island chain from Tokyo to this southernmost Japanese city, you quickly come to feel the crucial thing about the Japanese almost vibrating in the air. It is tension.

The tension is born of great numbers of people moving about in work and play with furious energy, jammed into slender corridors of flat and rolling land amid a great spread of mountains, and using the tiniest spaces for their living needs.

Once at mid-day in an office-building's deep basement garage, I saw a man in a business suit, standing between closely parked cars, flailing his arms vigorously for exercise.

In an alley just wide enough to keep her elbows from scraping adjoining buildings, an old woman in traditional Japanese attire sat sunning herself. (Cars, bicycles, motorcycles, small vans, piles of stored materials are typically fitted into the narrowest slots just off-street).

Ride a sizable cable car to the top of a volcano crater edge and you'll find the swaying vehicle packed with stonies hanging onto rails overhead, as in a subway or bus.

In Tokyo and Osaka, at least, there are now three-story golf practice driving ranges, with players swinging their clubs from little cubicles like boxes at the theater.

Here in Kagoshima, I saw a man practicing his swing in a little park across from the city's only Catholic church. Two spare clubs leaned against a tree while he swung away.

Everyone knows that the Japanese, like some other cultivators of spare land, terrace their hillsides to gain more crop planting space. But it is astonishing to see terrace levels barely wide enough for a few rows of rice plants.

Yet, while most Japanese may not even realize it, generally they thrive curiously on this tension. There are reports that some from Japan who live abroad for a while, in slower-paced Western European lands as one example, sorely miss the bustling tension of their home islands.

There are exceptions, naturally. One gets the idea in Tokyo now and then that the whole population lives at the edge of nervous crackup. Suicides, well down for a time, are up again as the nation bustles about in gritty competition as the world's third largest industrial power.

But exceptions noted, order and discipline, the discipline of the group and the organization, usually prevail. I saw a huge marching column, banners high, heading for a rally in the workers' "spring offensive" for higher wages. Orderly.

Sight-seers, threading their way through parks and shrines and scenic marvels, trail easily together behind uniformed guide girls holding identifying flags above their heads.

Unlike in the United States, when a plane lands it isn't a signal for everyone to pop out of his seat and shove for the exit. Here, people up front rise first, while those in the rear sit patiently until it makes sense to get up and move out.

Sure, with such enormous numbers of people milling about on the streets, in the stores, at stations and airports, there is some minor jostling (the celebrated big push at the subway car door is always that very special exception). But generally the pace and the movement, though bustling, are managed with orderly ease.

Maybe the children have something to do with it. Every place you look, the lots are racing about, being lugged around in their parents' arms or on mother's back, finding fun amid the crush. The Japanese travel in whole families, from baby to grandparents. Perhaps adults can't easily smart at each other with so many children joyfully underfoot.

It is common to say the Japanese find their release from tension in the peace of their quiet homes where old traditions tend to reign. And, of course, in their sports and other pleasures, trailing off into the night in city bright spots.

No doubt it is true in considerable part. But much of the pleasure — the traveling, the games, the night-club flurry, the active and imaginative artistic life — is tensely pursued, too.

I came back to it. I think the Japanese like tension. Here, somehow, it has become equated with living importantly, with having a fuller sense of being. Economically, they must scramble to live. But they have long since come to love the scramble.

BUSINESS MIRROR— Adjusting To Inflation Is New Recommendation

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — In conservative banking circles the greatest heresy is to believe that inflation is in any way acceptable. You must deplore it.

A conservative Boston bank committed heresy during the past few days and, rather than shrinking in anticipation of being whipped and ostracized, it is circulating its beliefs throughout the land.

Being distributed with the annual report of the State Street Boston Financial Corp., which operates the State Street Bank and Trust Co., is a statement on "Inflation: The Need for a New Mentality."

"We in the United States have an economic and financial system which assumes price stability when in fact such a condition no longer exists," the report proclaims. Therefore, it declares, let us learn to live with it.

How? By taking a tip from Brazil, says Francis Hassey, the bank's chief economist, who spent six weeks in that booming but highly inflated South American nation at the urging of George Rockwell, the bank's president.

In Brazil, where 10 years ago the inflation rate briefly touched 100 per cent and where it is still between 15 and 20 per cent, interest rates, prices and wages are adjusted automatically to negate changes in currency values.

If, for instance, a bond holder was promised a 4 per cent annual yield he would receive that, plus the amount of inflation. If inflation amounted to 15 per cent he would receive 4 per cent plus about 19 per cent.

"Brazil, with 15 to 20 per cent inflation, probably behaves with more economic stability than we do with an annual increase of 8 or 9 per cent," Hassey maintains.

We know what causes inflation, he states, alluding to easy money and a loose fiscal policy. "But we don't control government policy. So rather than saying how bad it is maybe we better learn to live with it."

Immediate reaction suggests the Brazilians will be more pleased with the report than most American financial, accounting and business executives. Most concede the problem, but apparently few accept the solution.

The report is not a new suggestion at all, but its time may have come.

The fact is that something of the sort, although on a vastly limited scale, is either being proposed or studied or actually being implemented here in the United States.

Labor, for example, is insisting on escalator clauses that will give workers their raises in constant or comparable dollars. The insurance industry, where the fixed-value dollar was dogma for a century, is gradually accepting the notion of variable return annuities and life policies.

Mortgage lenders are increasingly convinced they cannot continue to make 30- and 30-year mortgages at fixed rates so long as inflation persists, and are considering variable or adjustable rates.

Says State Street: "The prospects are that in the next few years the rate of inflation will continue to rise, and that a return to 1 per cent or 2 per cent is most unlikely even in the distant future."

The debate over how to face this likelihood, for several years the subject of academic and business committee discussions, is now thrust into the open. Too many Americans, it appears, are tired of living an illusion.

Nixon Antibusing Program Heads For House Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-busing legislation, backed by President Nixon in an education speech Saturday, seemed headed for House passage this week.

Public financing of election campaigns was expected to share the congressional spotlight, with debate slated in the Senate.

The new effort to curb busing for school desegregation purposes will be made when the House starts voting on a federal aid to education bill.

Formula In Dispute

The measure provides for a three-year, $18-million extension of aid to elementary and secondary schools, with the formula for distribution of the money in dispute.

The move to curb school busing drew backing from President Nixon Saturday in a radio broadcast.

Nixon termed the House bill "an important first step" in 1972 Campaign Most Expensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential campaign of 1972 cost at least $115 million, making it the most expensive in history, government figures show.

Exact comparison with previous campaigns is difficult because of drastic changes in reporting requirements. But the General Accounting Office figures put total spending at more than 2 1/2 times that of the 1968 campaign.

In releasing the report Saturday, officials of the GAO's Office of Federal Elections said figures for 1972 probably are on the low side.

Growers To Destroy Contaminated Birds

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The federal Environmental Protection Agency refused Saturday to allow the marketing of chickens of three poultry raisers after extensive testing showed birds from their flocks contained unacceptable levels of the pesticide dieldrin. Dieldrin is known to cause cancer on prolonged exposure.

T. H. Eberidge, chairman of the board of the National Broilers Association, said the source of the contamination was pinpointed as an ingredient in chicken feed.

He said the dieldrin was found in the blended fat — a mixture of vegetable and animal oils — purchased from a "common source" by two of the affected poultry firms.

Poultry raiser H. F. McCarty said that once the problem was found, all affected chickens were placed on "clean feed" and the birds involved were isolated.

Industry representatives said they could not estimate an over-all dollar loss.

McCarty said his loss, not including time and potential market profits, would be about $2

Worldwide Cancer Cooperation Urged

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — The President of the American Cancer Society has proposed a worldwide cooperative effort to dig out knowledge which "would be useful for immediate application to cancer control."

Out of the annual toll of 350,000 cancer deaths, "at least 100,000 American lives that we know about are needlessly lost to cancer each year," Dr. Justin N. Stein told a Cancer meeting his educational goals, and urged citizen support for administration-backed programs to consolidate federal education grants.

"You understand better than any federal official what is best for your children," Nixon said.

The House has proposed consolidating seven grant programs into two, a move supported by the administration.

Nixon said parents value neighborhood schools and are "naturally concerned when the courts, acting on the basis of complicated plans drawn up by far-away officials in Washington, D.C., order children bused out of their neighborhoods."

The antibusing amendment, similar to a bill passed by the House in 1972 but killed in a Senate filibuster, makes busing a last resort to be used only after other desegregation measures have failed.

Nixon also called for Congress to provide $1.3 billion to

Associated With Sunspots

A Boston meteorologist has pointed out that heavy snowstorms east of the Rocky Mountains are associated with sunspots.

Final action also may be taken before the end of the week on a bill to increase the minimum wage in three steps from $1.60 an hour to $2.30.

Except for its public financing provisions, the campaign reform bill is substantially the same as one the Senate passed last July but on which the House has taken no action.

Senate leaders are hopeful of passing the bill in a few days, but Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., has threatened to lead a filibuster against it.

Two Fort Bend County Fugitives Jailed in Florida

JUNO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two escapees from the Fort Bend County jail at Richmond, Tex., and a woman who gave them refuge here have been arrested, the FBI said Sunday.

The two escapees were among five prisoners who cut their way out of a cell in the Texas jail on May 29, 1972.

Doyle Ray Henderson, 31, of East Point, Ga., and Frederick Leon McCain, 34, of Rosenberg, Tex., were arrested at the home of Bella S. Woods, 34, who was charged with harboring fugitives.

Most of those facing high risks of contracting cancer of the lungs, breasts, stomach, cervix, colon and rectum could be saved by earlier diagnosis or by avoiding some risks. These include cigarette smoking in case of lung cancers, or exposure to chemicals in the environment, Dr. Stein said.

He proposed a formalized system embracing efforts of the American Cancer Society, National Cancer Institute, state health departments, medical societies, World Health Organization and the International Union Against Cancer. The aim would be to protect high-risk people by informing them of solid facts.

To identify the high-risk people, "much remains to be learned about environmental influences, industrial hazards, ecological factors such as atmospheric and water pollution in this country. But much is known to permit us now to make a greater effort toward saving the lives of those who die needlessly every year," Dr. Stein said.

Convention Soon To Complete Work On Finance Article

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates were expected to finish their work on the finance article today or Tuesday and begin debating the local government article.

The convention has defeated 20 attempts to change what can be done with the $750-million-a-year highway fund.

City delegates repeatedly tried Friday to get money from the fund for mass transportation.

"Houston is strangling in its pollution and traffic, and Dallas will soon be there," said Rep. Kay Bailey, R-Houston, who supported use of some of the money for mass transit.

The fund is financed primarily by Texas' 5-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax, the lowest in the nation. Three-fourths of the revenue goes for building, maintaining and policing highways and one-fourth helps finance public schools.

Farmers' Share Of Consumer Dollar Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower prices for cattle, hogs, poultry and eggs mainly were responsible for a dip in the farmer's share of the consumer food dollar in February, the Agriculture Department reports.

Although over-all retail costs of a food market basket went up last month, farmers averaged 45.6 cents of each $1 spent in retail stores for farm-produced items, the department reported.

That was down from 46.1 cents in January.

Ice Skating Origin

Ice skating's origins go back at least 5,000 years. Archaeologists have found animal bones apparently used as skates during the Bronze Age in Pannonia, an area that is now in Hungary and Yugoslavia.

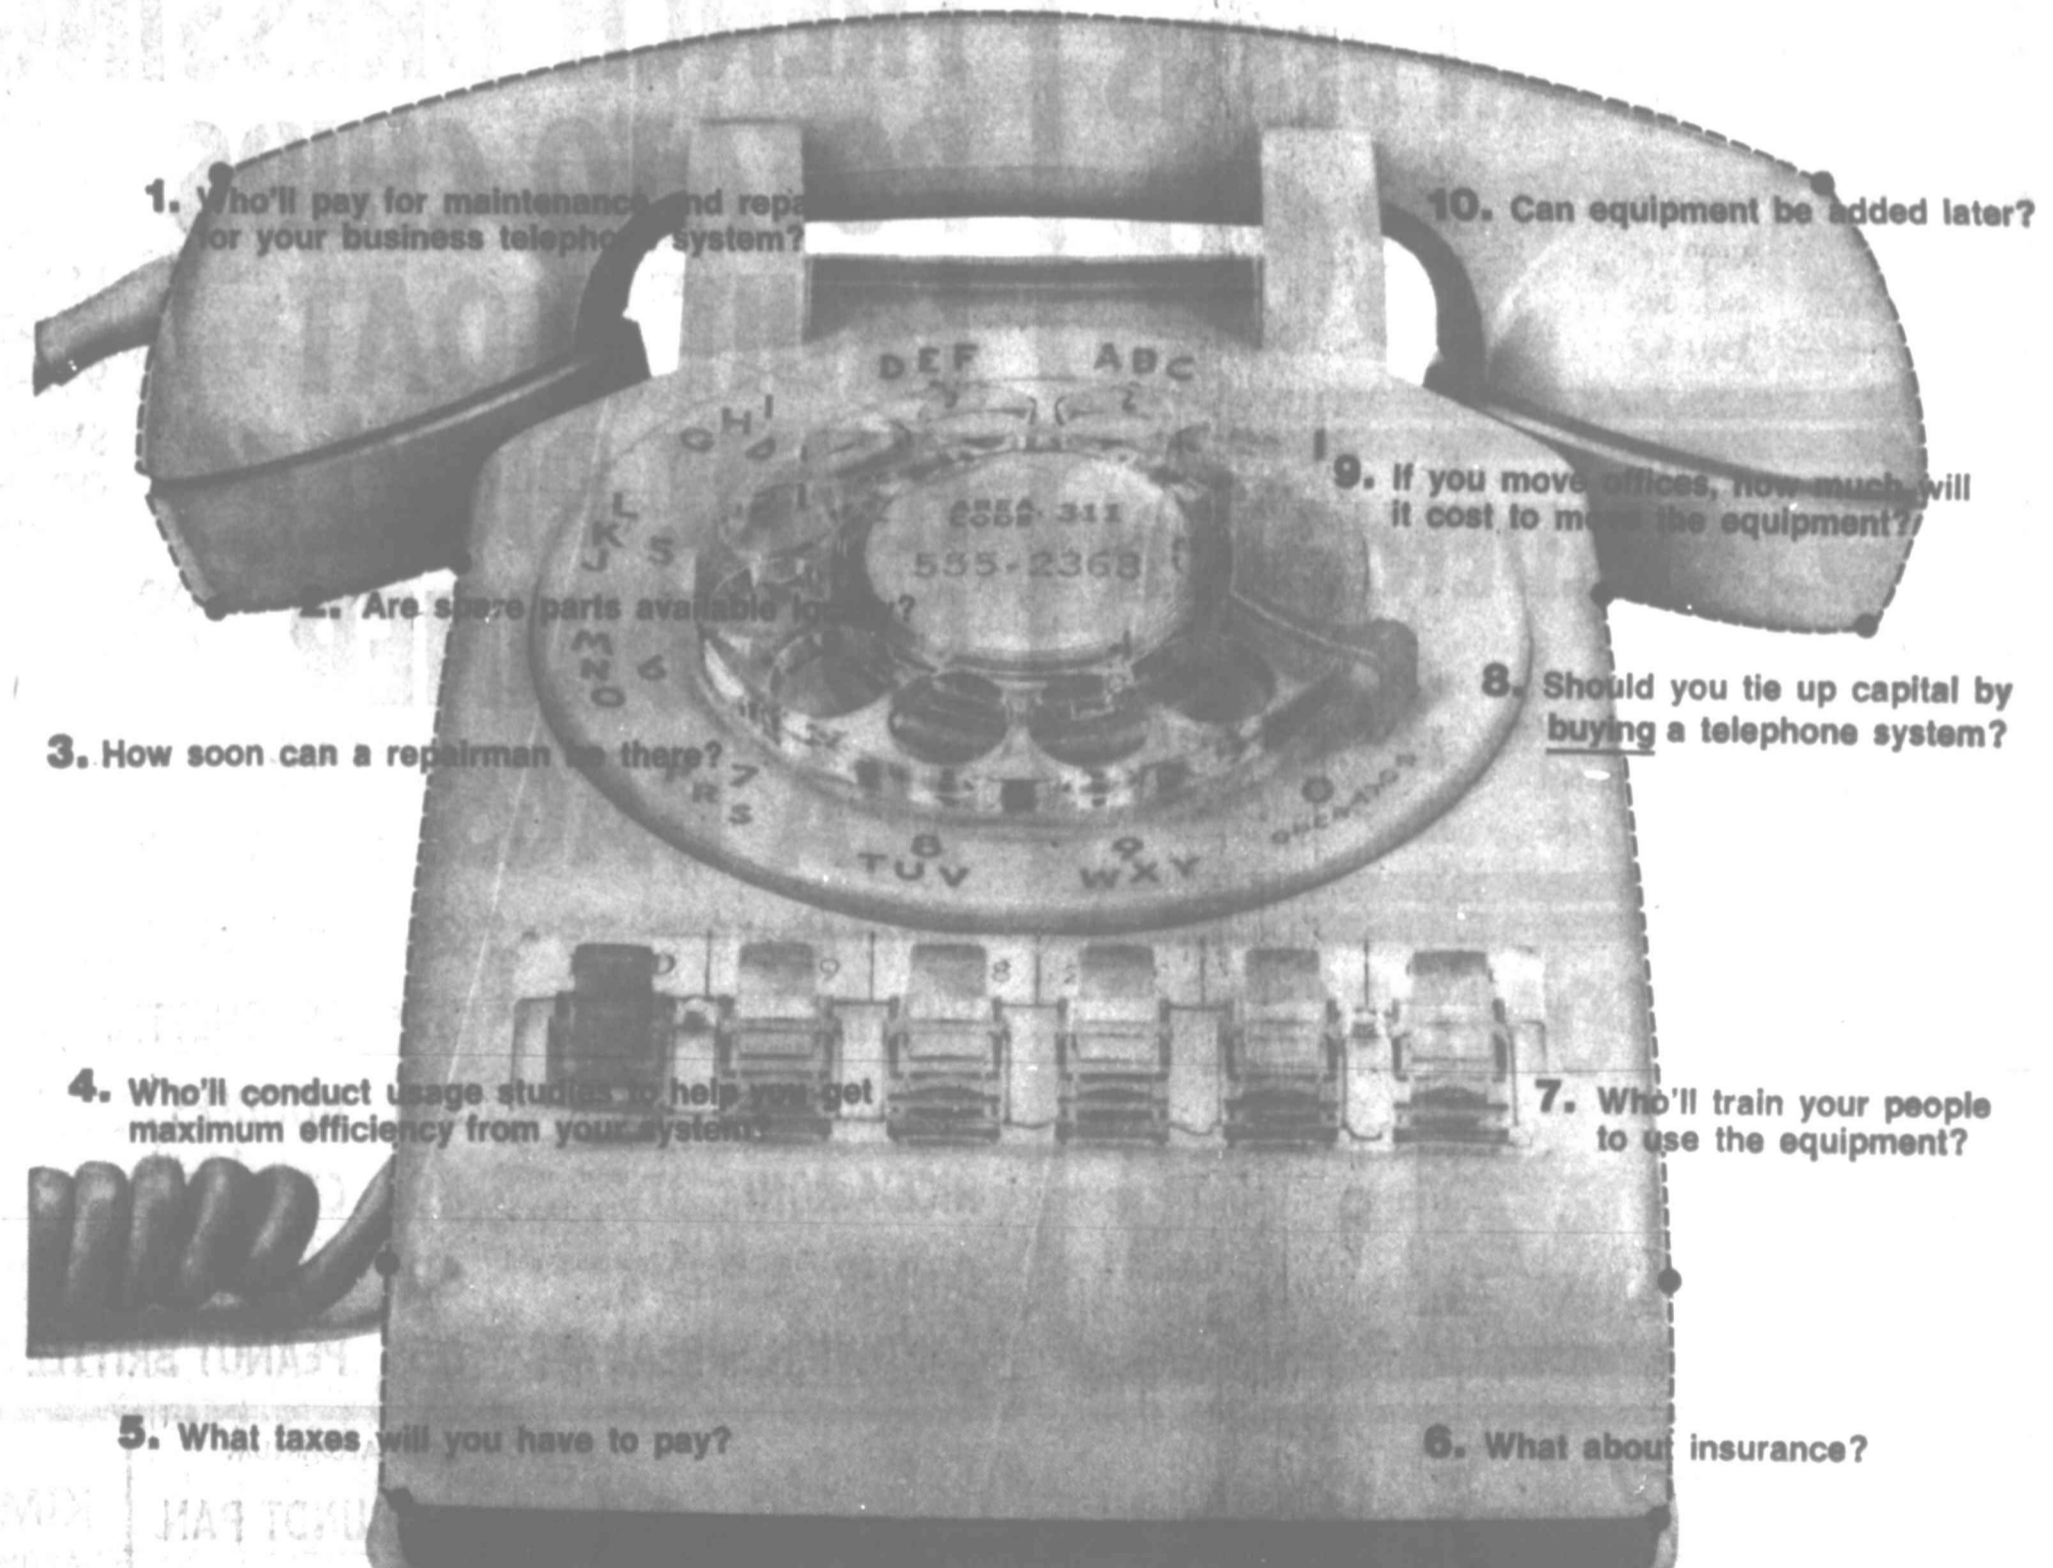

Texas Society Elects Archer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bill Archer of Houston Sunday became the Texas State Society's first Republican president in the organization's 70-year history.

The 1,000-member group includes Texans in all walks of life who live in the Washington area.

Archer succeeds the wife of Rep. Abraham Kazen Jr., D-Tex. He was elected at the Texas Society's annual brunch held in a Washington hotel.

TAE KWON DO, "The Kung-Fu of Korea"
KARATE
TERRY LAMBDIN, Black Belt
PRIVATE INSTRUCTION 682-1962

BUSINESS NEWS

ROUND KICK—Terry Lambdin, Black Belt holder and Karate instructor, demonstrates the Round Kick with Henry Lara. Lambdin gives private instructions in the defensive art of Tae Kwon Do.

Tae Kwon Do Art Of Many Purposes

People study Tae Kwon Do for many reasons: to develop confidence, to condition themselves mentally and physically, and strictly as a means of self defense in today's world.

It is surprising to most that the main purpose of Tae Kwon Do is actually to eliminate fighting rather than to provoke it. This is accomplished by strong discouragement of oppression of the strong against the weak. The art of this means of self-defense is based on humanity, justice, morality and faith, thus helping to promote a better and more peaceful world.

With the recent upsurge of violence and loss of morality in all levels of society, there is a definite need to pursue means of preventing the frustrations of so many misguided people in their search for values and relevance in today's "corrupt world." It is unfortunate that many of these people strike out blindly, either destroying what they should be rebuilding or simply running away from reality — as through the use of drugs.

Today the tendency appears more and more to be reaching its peak. There are so few people, young or old, who seem to be constructively channeling their energy and potential toward making a better world.

Men's struggle for survival pushes him toward this tendency which is the result of an overdeveloped, material, and scientific civilization. Not only are the young misled into egoism and materialism, but they are led to fear the world they live in. Tae Kwon-Do is an art that can play a great part in restoring the mental status of a human being, one who prevails and keeps abreast of modern developments. It does so by implying a way of life which particularly instills morality and justice in society. Tae Kwon Do is also well known as one of the most outstanding means of development of the emotional, perceptual and psychological characteristics which enable people, regardless of age, sex or social status, to learn and actively participate in the demands of their peers.

Each separate movement of Tae Kwon Do is scientifically designed with a specific purpose. A skillful instructor can use these movements to develop a belief that success is possible for any student.

Self-confidence is the result of the tremendous energy generated by the body. This self-confidence extends to meet any opponent, at any place, and in any situation.

Besides self-control, the student of Tae Kwon Do develops humility, courage, alertness, accuracy, adaptability, flexibility, grace, balance and coordination. The fundamental exercises of the art help develop precision, method, principle and purpose. This kind of training eventually becomes a rooted part of every conscious and subconscious action of the student.

Tae Kwon Do, along with the guiding hand of a skilled and qualified instructor, could very well serve as an effective aid to the insecure, misguided and physically weak student as he comes to love the art and realize, that to excel, the body must be kept at its highest peak of condition.

Terry Lambdin is now giving private lessons in the art of Tae Kwon Do at 2000 W. Ohio St. For more information call 682-1962. Tae Kwon-Do is also being taught at Midland College.

Peppertree Under New Manager

The Peppertree at 3213 West Wadley St. is under new management. Tommy and Janet Garth bought the floral and gift shop Feb. 1 and plan a complete remodeling in the near future.

A full line floral shop, the Peppertree creates unique and distinctive designs for all occasions specializing in parties and weddings.

Recently the Peppertree provided flowers for Deana Martin's room when she arrived in Midland to star in "A Shot in the Dark" at the Midland Community Theatre. Garth also presented Miss Martin with a basket of flowers when she visited the Peppertree.

They carry an extensive supply of regular fresh cut flowers, as well as many less common varieties; brought in several times a week, and blooming plants and green foliage plants of all sizes.

When preparing arrangements the designers create the floral design in the individual's own containers if they prefer, or they will use the beautiful baskets, pottery, copper, crystal or brass containers in the store.

For a lasting item of decor for your home, the Peppertree has a supply of permanent material. The selection includes top quality silk flowers made in France and Czechoslovakia, and a large quantity of bone china flowers from England. Also to blend with the permanent flowers the Peppertree has an attractive assortment of dried materials.

In the gift section the Peppertree has many items such as the music boxes by Anri, handcarved and handpainted in Italy with genuine Swiss movements.

Perhaps you would like to participate in the "creative ecology" movement with a terrarium of either live or dry plants. The Peppertree has all sizes and shapes of terrariums. All you have to do is add the plants, live or dry; and the Peppertree has them, or they will do it for you.

Among other gift items are Naturalist scenes with bees, butterflies and other insects, and an assortment of small figurines and animals in ceramic.

The Peppertree is the only place in Midland to have a complete gift wrapping service all year round. They also have a large stock of ribbon, the largest in the area. Women and girls visit the Peppertree to buy ribbons for their hair from the extensive assortment of sizes and colors.

Directly in front are the dried and permanent plants, an interesting jungle of colors and greens to browse in. Visit the Peppertree Floral and Gift Shop at 3213 W. Wadley St. and find what you're looking for.

BASKET OF FLOWERS FOR DEANA — Tommy Garth, owner of The Peppertree at 3213 W. Wadley St., presents Deana Martin with a basket of flowers while his son, Tanner, observes.

Burtons, All Star Cast Bring Gold Back To Oroville

By BOB THOMAS
 OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — This pleasant mid-California town, founded by gold seekers in 1849, is undergoing another invasion — by film makers headed by Richard Burton and his reconciled wife, Elizabeth Taylor.

Oroville is doubling for a southern hamlet in "The Klansman," a $4.5-million movie based on William Bradford Huie's novel of bigotry in the South. It's all being staged here — rape, riot, castration, lust — which may explain why producers Bill Shiffrin and William Alexander chose not to film below the Mason-Dixon line.

There hasn't been so much excitement here since the Oroville Dam was built. Citizens can visit the town square and find a race riot being staged. They can catch glimpses of such celebrities as Lee Marvin, Cameron Mitchell, Lola Falana, Luciana Paluzzi and pro football running back O. J. Simpson. The football star, playing a dramatic role, almost draws the most attention of anyone in the film company.

But the football superstar can't outshine the legendary Burtons. Since Burton is appearing in the film and playing a Southern aristocrat, he is more visible. His wife has spent most of the time at their rented house, but she occasionally visits the location.

She was there one day when Terence Young, director of the James Bond films, was shooting scenes at the abandoned Western Pacific passenger station, doubling for a bus stop. Deeply tanned from a vacation at Puerto Vallarta, the actress seemed fully recovered from her abdominal surgery of last November.

"I'm retired," she announced happily. But upon questioning, she admitted, "Well, I'm retired until something worth doing comes along. So far it hasn't."

While Burton did a television interview with Merv Griffin, Miss Taylor sat in a dressing room trailer with Lee Marvin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Mitchell and a visitor from Hollywood. Miss Taylor displayed her husband's 10th wedding anniversary gift — a necklace medallion of a 1907 $20 gold piece, surrounded by tiny rubies.

"Yes, it has been 10 years," she remarked. "Of course we've been together 13 years." After a lifetime in public view, Miss Taylor displayed an annoyance with the press, particularly the gossip purveyors. She said she was not talking to a longtime columnist friend — "Why does he have to be so bitchy?"

The dressing room session broke up when filming ended for the day, and the Burtons disappeared inside his trailer with two or three others. A half-hundred Orovilleans waited outside for an hour, hoping for a view of the famous pair. At last they emerged, smiling and signing autographs and exchanging small remarks with the fans.

The Burtons were ushered to a waiting limousine which returned them to the motel. Miss Taylor retired to prepare for a reception for the local townspeople. Burton went to the dining room and ordered a vodka martini. He was repeatedly interrupted by fans, both young and old, who wanted autographs and words with the famous star. He was cordial to all of them.

Between interruptions, Burton, who is one of the film world's best conversationalists, reflected on many matters including the five-month rift in his marriage last year. What caused it?

"Mutual aberration," he replied. "There is no other way to explain it. There are times when you do things that defy logic and reason. This was one of them."

He explained at least one of the things that restored his reason: "I couldn't read. I have the habit of waking up at 2:30 or 3 in the morning and not being able to go back to sleep. Oddly enough, that's when I do my most serious reading — Gibbon, Milton, that sort of thing. Always I would wake up, reach over for the assurance of that febrile body next to me, then start to read."

Sound for the aging bulletin faded and a local announcer came on saying, "Please stand by while the tape of the dated news bulletin from the mainland runs out . . ."

Events of top national interest — football games and a few presidential speeches — are brought in live, despite the high satellite cost. But the time difference takes its toll. For example Sunday afternoon football.

It may be Sunday afternoon in New York when the Jets are playing the Cowboys, but it's Sunday morning in Hawaii — early Sunday morning. The 2 p.m. kickoff on the East coast is an 8 a.m. eye-opener in Hawaii.

Many ministers here complain that when a big game is on television Sunday morning, their church attendance is way down.

"It's a shame when God has to compete for attendance with a football game," said one disgruntled Baptist clergyman. "And it's even more a shame when God loses."

Unfortunately, not much can be done about the two major problems that cause Hawaii's tv system to be the way it is. So with the motto of "better late than never," everyone here just sits back in the true Hawaii way and lives with it.

'Tomorrow' Never Comes In Hawaii

By ROBERT MURPHY
 HONOLULU (AP) — How would you like to live in a place where you get the "Today Show" tomorrow, the "Tonight Show" two weeks late, and the "Tomorrow Show" never? If you would, move to Hawaii because that's where it's all happening.

That's right, this Pacific paradise is great for sun, surf and bronzed bikini beauties — but tv viewing here leaves something to be desired.

To start with, the evening's network prime-time variety shows seen here run a week or sometimes two weeks after they've been aired on the mainland. This means some Christmas specials make it to Hawaii in January, and Johnny Carson is asking about your Thanksgiving Day bird in December.

The network news programs offered by CBS and NBC are seen about dinner time on the mainland. They're shown here at 6:30 a.m. the morning after. ABC's offering is seen here on the same night as on the mainland, but at midnight. NBC's popular "Today Show" is programmed here at the same time as on the mainland, 7 a.m.-9 a.m. But it comes the day after it is presented to mainland viewers, which makes the news segments somewhat stale.

Basically, there are two reasons why the Hawaii television viewing audience is subjected to this confusing and sometimes irritating system of scheduling.

—The time difference. There is six hours difference in Hawaii Standard Time and Eastern Daylight Saving Time, and three hours difference between here and the West Coast. So anything shown "live" from the mainland will be seen here at an odd hour.

—Cost. The cost of transmitting shows from the mainland to Hawaii via satellite is high. A one-hour show from the West Coast costs over $3,000. A three-hour football game runs about $7,000.

Timely network programs such as news shows are taped on the West Coast and put on the first plane to Hawaii. They're shown here as soon as possible, or feasible, with the five-hour flying time accounting for most of the delay.

The evening variety fillers also are taped on the West Coast, then flown here. But once here, the stations hold them a week or sometimes two weeks so they can arrange the shows "competitively" to fit a station's needs, one owner said.

This method of taping and flying skirts the high cost of transmitting the shows to Hawaii via satellite. But it also causes problems and sometimes amusing errors.

For instance, one morning in the middle of the "Wizard of Odds" game show, the NBC network news bulletin slide appeared on the screen, and the announcer, with a voice of doom approach, broke in with:

"This is an NBC news special report . . . from our New York office, Jim Hartz."

Talking with people in Hawaii later about this, all said they expected Hartz to say World War II had just started, or the President had resigned. What he did say confused everyone.

"The Skylab 3 astronauts have just splashed down in the Pacific."

The Skylab 3 astronauts had returned safely to earth two weeks earlier.

New Science Series Not Casual Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
 NEW YORK (AP) — There's a new science series on tv that might be just the ticket for you if you're the sort of adult who feels uneasy when tots ask things like, "Who invented dirt?"

Although the "Nova" series on public tv doesn't come across with that answer, it did make a valiant effort Sunday night to explain the origins of life in a one-hour segment called "The Search for Life."

Granted, it sort of lost me amid chats on nucleic acids, "primordial soup" and "proteins." But at least it wasn't one of those "popular" science shows rampant in childlike generalities.

The 13-part Sunday series, which premiered March 3, isn't casual viewing. Billed as "scientific adventures for curious grownups," it demands the same intense concentration a particularly tough crossword puzzle requires.

"We don't think the series is going over anybody's head, but it does respect the viewer's intelligence," says Michael Rice, a program executive at Boston's WGBH, which produces "Nova."

Rice says "Nova" was inspired by the British Broadcasting Corporation's successful "Horizons" science series and in fact includes seven "Horizon" programs in the current batch.

Rice said there'll be from 20 to 26 new "Nova" segments on the air next season, depending on finances.

Walter Brennan Recovering After Stay In Hospital

OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — Actor Walter Brennan is recuperating at his cattle ranch after spending five days in a hospital here for a series of tests for emphysema.

Doctors said the 79-year-old actor's condition improved enough that he was sent home Saturday to his ranch at Moorpark, 40 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Brennan starred as Grandpa McCoy in the television series "The Real McCoys" and won Academy awards as best supporting actor in three films from 1936 to 1940.

Warrior Defense Against Wolfpack's 92-Point Offense

NC State Win Could Make Driesell Prophetic

One thing and another, and quick now, but you can't guess the American Basketball Association's rookie-of-the-year. Just to make it easy, he averaged about three minutes a game playing time in college.

If North Carolina State avoids a very possible let-down and beats Marquette tonight in the NCAA finals, Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell's words will seem prophetic. Before NC State beat Maryland 103-100 in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament in the overtime finals, he said, "We're playing for the national championship right here."

When the Wolfpack ended UCLA's long dynasty Saturday, they did it by exploiting the Achilles Heel first exposed in the Notre Dame loss that fractured the Bruins' 86-game winning streak... inability to take care of the ball with a lead.

Against the Irish, UCLA took a 12-point lead into the final minutes only to lose it. Saturday, the Bruins twice blew comfortable cushions, one a 74-67 edge in the second overtime.

It makes an eye opening quote. You know the one Al Attles, coach of the Golden State Warriors, is supposed to have come up with when they asked him if anything about Bill Walton surprised him. "Yes, the fact that he's white." Al not only didn't say it, but he's angry about it.

You probably noticed that because of the energy crisis, Texas A&M will play all of its football games next fall in daylight.

Hank Aaron has hit 700 home runs, but can you name the other one-time Brave who hit more than 600 home runs?

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

Back with the Houston Astros after a couple of years at Cincinnati, former Midland Braves shortstop Denis Menke is optimistic of the team's chances for a pennant.

"This team has had enough talent for a long time," says Denis. "The difference this year is that Preston Gomez is the kind of man who can put everything together." Ah, in the spring, hope blooms like the flowers.

Abilene Cooper and Odessa Periman are leading the 5-4A baseball race after two games and probably the reason is found in the team averages for and against.

Periman is hitting .301 while its pitchers are holding foes to a .156 average. Cooper is hitting .263 to .129 for rivals.

Favored Lee is doing fine at the plate with a .333 average, but league foes are doing even better with a .400 mark.

In case you haven't guessed, the Sporting News version of the ABA rookie is 6-11 Swen Nater, who spent his college career under studying some red-head at a West Coast college. . . . And the other ex-Brave to hit more than 600 homers. . . . Babe Ruth, of course, he finished his career with the old Boston Braves and hit three homers the day he decided to call it a career.

By KEN ALTYA
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Norman Sloan of North Carolina State and Al McGuire of Marquette, two basketball coaches who believe strongly in love, were down to the final game of the season tonight as their teams met for the NCAA championship.

"This team is made up of men who truly love one another — that's why it has been a winner," said Sloan, 47-year-old Indiana native who played in the backcourt at N.C. State 25 years ago under legendary Everett Case.

Sloan said the family feeling generated by his players toward each other and their coaches has made them a new team to the squad this season, fit in comfortably as members of the family.

McGuire said before Marquette began his season, "It's definitely going to depend upon if the players really love each other or just make-believe and have their love affairs with the semi agents who will tout them and blow their heads out of proportion."

The N.C. State Wolfpack, No. 1 in the nation and 23-1 on the season with a 27-game winning streak, is averaging 92 points a game.

Marquette, ranked No. 3 on a 25-4 record, traditionally has been a defensive leader under McGuire, who regards his swarming defense as part of his offense.

His Warriors are 104-11 for their last four seasons. In those 115 games they have yielded more than 75 points only 11 times, twice in overtime games.

The Wolfpack recovered from an 11-point deficit to end UCLA's bid for an eighth straight NCAA title with an 80-77 double overtime victory over the Bruins as Thompson led the way with 28 points. Incredibly, State wiped out a seven-point UCLA lead in the second extra period.

Marquette, trailing 24-23 at halftime, rallied to clip Big Eight champion Kansas 64-51 as Maurice Lucas scored 18 points.

The N.C. State-Marquette game, set for 8:10 p.m., CDT, will be televised nationally by NBC. It will follow a 6:35 p.m. third place game between Kansas and UCLA.

Miller Bags 4th Tourney Title

Johnny Miller files out of sand trap

Not Ready To Dethrone Jack

By BOB GREEN
HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Johnny Miller's now won four golf tournaments this year and $149,106 — a record for this stage of the season.

But the 26-year-old U.S. Open champion isn't ready to challenge Jack Nicklaus as the games' premier performer.

"Maybe," he said in the wake of his victory Sunday in the Sea Pines Heritage Classic, "maybe when I've won 10 more major titles and he's 45, maybe then I'll say I'm better than he is."

Miller, the leader all the way in this tournament, closed with a cozy, front running one-under-par 70 and won the $40,000 first prize by a comfortable three strokes on the 6,555-yard Harbour Town Golf Links.

Gibby Gilbert was second with a final round 69 for 279 but really didn't have a shot at the title after Miller tossed a little sand wedge shot up to within two feet for a clinching birdie on the 15th hole.

Richard Crawford followed at 70-280, Tom Kite had 69-281, Leonard Thompson 70-282, with Tom Weiskopf, Homero Blancas and Ray Floyd bunched at 283. Weiskopf slipped to a 73 in the warm, sunny weather. Blancas had a 67 and Floyd had a sparkling 65, matching the course record on the subtly demanding layout that was hacked out of a South Carolina swamp.

Arnold Palmer and South African Gary Player never really got in the title chase. They tied at 287, Palmer with a last round 73, Player with 70.

Miller, who earlier this year scored a record sweep of the first three titles of the year — the Bing Crosby, Phoenix and Tucson opens — led all the way in the Heritage and once had a 10-shot advantage.

That dwindled to four strokes at the end of the third round and, when Johnny bogeyed the 13th from a bunker, diminished to two strokes late in the last round.

But he flipped that sand wedge shot to the 15th and made the two-foot birdie putt.

Even golf's first exposure to streakers couldn't shake him after that.

A nude man and woman streaked through a sand trap on the 15th while Johnny was striding down the fairway. He gave them only a glance as the laughing pair disappeared into a grove of moss-bearded cypress trees, and went about his business.

The pair was within range of the national television cameras, but they modestly refrained from airing the episode.

Purdue's Bench Strength Pays

Utah Comes Unglued In Final Half Of NIT Tilt

By ANDY LIPPMAN
NEW YORK (AP) — "We suddenly came all unglued," said Coach Bill Foster Sunday after Purdue had defeated the Utah team 87-81 to win the National Invitation Tournament.

"It seems like all of a sudden for about eight minutes of the second half we got careless and didn't seem to be able to grab a rebound."

While Utah was mired in mistakes and foul trouble, it was Purdue's bench strength which was providing game-winning opportunities.

"We've had a strong bench all year," said Purdue Coach Fred Schaus after Sunday's victory. "But when Jerry Nichols got hurt in the Hawaii game, I started to get worried about the flexibility of our bench, and being able to substitute freely."

"I guess I needn't have worried."

Boston College won the consolation game from Jacksonville 87-77 as Mark Raterink and Will Morrison each scored 24 points.

Both teams had crises which tested their benches. Tyrone Medley, the Utes' second-leading scorer going into final game, fouled out with 13:01 remaining in the game after tallying only six points, while Chas Menatti, their starting forward, got four fouls late in the first half, and spent the early part of the second half on the bench.

"We went into the locker room at halftime leading in the score, leading in shooting and rebounding," said Foster. "But we were also leading in fouling. And when Medley fouled out after Menatti got into trouble, we were really hurt."

Purdue seemed to be in trouble when center John Garrett picked up his fourth foul with 12:42 remaining. But Tom Scheffler came in and not only scored two baskets, one of which tied the score 63-62, but also helped put a damper on Mike Sojourner, who was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Another key player in the Purdue second-half comeback was Bruce Parkinson, whose four points in less than a minute late in the game put Purdue ahead to stay 76-72 lead.

Garrett and Frank Kendrick finished as the high scorers for Purdue, which after finishing third in the Big Ten, came to New York and completed its season with a 21-9 mark. Kendrick has 25 points, while Garrett finished with 24.

Sojourner and Burden, who finished as the tourney's high scorer with 118 points, were the big guns for Utah. Sojourner finished with 23 points and 19 rebounds, while Burden had 27. Burden scored 18 in the first half when the Utes, true to Foster's pre-game promise, came out running.

Angel 'Wastes' Hits

Chris Ward Paces Cubs Over Giants, 5-4

When you're hot, you're hot, but if Charlie Sands doesn't cool off pretty soon he won't have anything left for the regular season.

The 26-year-old California catcher is violating Yogi Berra's old theory that there are only so many hits in your bat and why waste them during spring training.

Saturday, Sands cracked his second pinch homer of the spring, a three-run shot that lifted the Angels to a 4-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers. Sunday, he walloped a grand slam home run and a double as the Angels trounced the Brewers 15-2.

It was his fourth home run of the training season, giving him 12 runs batted in and an unheard-of .615 batting average.

"I've been hot before, but never anything like this," he said. "I can't explain it, I'm just swinging good."

It also was a productive weekend for Steve Kline of the New York Yankees, who missed most of the 1973 campaign with a sore arm. The sinker-balling right-hander checked the Chicago White Sox on three hits and one run in six innings Sunday and the Yankees eked out a 2-1 victory on a seventh-inning wild pitch by Chicago's Stan Perzanowski.

Rookie Chris Ward, ex-Midland Cub outfielder, rapped a two-run single in the fifth inning, leading the Chicago Cubs over the San Francisco Giants 5-4.

Richie Zisk slammed two home runs and Bob Robertson hit one as the Pittsburgh Pirates trounced the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3. Zisk added a single and drove in four runs, giving him six home runs and 12 runs batted in for the spring.

Harper stroked two-run singles and the Boston Red Sox struck for five runs in the sixth inning to beat Minnesota 6-4 despite home runs by the Twins' Steve Braun, Bob Darwin and Eric Soderholm.

John Ellis drilled a two-run homer and singled in another run to pace the Cleveland Indians over the University of Arizona 9-4.

Cutback In Social Security Tax Eyed For Lower Incomes

By EDMOND LeBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The burden of Social Security payroll taxes on low-paid workers is a problem but tapping the general treasury to help support the system isn't the answer, Social Security Administrator James B. Cardwell says.

"I think general fund financing could become an open invitation to play games with the system," Cardwell said in an interview.

The fact that the retirement system always has been self-financing through employe and employer payments during working years has protected it, he said.

Another possibility would be to let the present system of taxes and benefits continue, but provide rebates or tax credits out of general revenues to low-earning workers.

Cardwell said such a system might be difficult to administer and might also disturb the contribution-benefits relationship. But he noted that "several senators have developed ideas along these lines."

A proposal somewhat similar in principle, but not specifically related to Social Security, has been passed by the Senate but seems only to have slender chances of approval by the House.

It would provide for a federal payment of 10 per cent of earnings to family heads below the poverty level. The payment would scale off after the first $4,000 of earnings.

Critics say the proposal is inequitable because it does nothing for low-paid workers who are either single or married but childless.

Burke cites testimony that the payroll tax now takes a bigger bite out of the pay of at least half the nation's workers than does the income tax itself.

Other alternatives for easing the Social Security tax burden also run into problems, Cardwell said.

One would be to have a progressive payroll tax with the rate increasing—like the income tax rate—on higher earnings, instead of a level tax rate beginning with the first dollar earned and applying to all wages up to a fixed ceiling, as at present.

Another possibility would be to let the present system of taxes and benefits continue, but provide rebates or tax credits out of general revenues to low-earning workers.

Arab Foreign Ministers Meet To Review Efforts To Halt Syrian-Israeli Battles

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Arab foreign ministers began meetings in Tunis today to review efforts by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and President

Anwar Sadat of Egypt to stop the Arab-Israeli shooting on the Golan Heights.

Tunisian Foreign Minister Habib Chatti, chairman of the Arab League meeting, said the ministers would also discuss a wide range of economic issues.

They will discuss the conference between the Arab states and the European Common Market planned for the end of the year, and the special United Nations Assembly on raw material problems opening in New York April 8.

Several Arab governments, notably Libya and Iraq, were expected to be represented by their ambassadors to Tunisia instead of their foreign ministers, demonstrating their disapproval of Sadat's efforts to achieve a political settlement with Israel.

But the Egyptian president continued to encourage Syrian President Hafez Assad to accept a disengagement agreement with Israel.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said Sadat and Kissinger were continuing secret contacts on this subject during the American's visit to Moscow this week.

Arab sources said they expected Kissinger to ask the Soviet leaders to join in pressing Assad for a disengagement agreement.

The sources said Assad personally favors such a move but has run into vigorous objections from radical members of his government.

Egyptian Defense Minister Ahmed Ismail Ali will visit Damascus later this week to strengthen Assad's hand, the sources added.

The original purpose of the Tunis meeting was to prepare for an Arab summit conference some time next month to endorse the various peace moves.

King Hassan II of Morocco invited the summit to meet in Rabat, his capital, and Sadat quickly endorsed the invitation. His endorsement was generally viewed as an affront to President Moammar Khadafy of Libya, who has been a bitter enemy of the Moroccan monarch since 1971 and is not likely to go to Rabat.

The atmosphere for a summit became even less favorable earlier this month when Libya and Syria refused to endorse the lifting of the oil embargo against the United States.

Morocco and Egypt have now proposed postponing the summit until September, apparently in the hope that Syria will have negotiated a disengagement agreement with Israel by that time.

Arab League sources in Cairo said Egypt urged the delay because of continuing Libyan opposition and because Sadat is anxious to avoid widening the split in the Arab ranks.

Parking Meters Being Replaced
Replacement parking meters are being installed in downtown Midland, with work expected to take three days.

Tom Hoot of the traffic department said the new meters are manually operated, not automatic like the current meters. Time will not register until the lever is pulled, he added.

The new one- and two-hour meters have courtesy dime and quarter slots for persons without change. Parking is available for five cents per hour, but the new meters will accept the larger coins. No change will be given, however.

Hoot also emphasized the coins must be placed in the correct slot for them to register.

O'Neill Urges Election Of Veto-Proof Congress

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—

Thomas T. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., said Sunday night the future of the Democratic party lies in electing a Congress that will be veto-proof on Nixon administration policies.

Speaking at Tulane University, O'Neill said, "The future of the Democratic party to me is in the elections of the fall," in which he predicted a "smashing victory" for Democrats.

He said a "veto-proof House" must be chosen if the country is to move ahead with important legislation.

Over the past two years, he said, President Nixon has vetoed 14 bills on such subjects as minimum wage and campaign reform and such legislation must be enacted into law.

"We must look past this year after we have a veto-proof congress," O'Neill said.

Also appearing on the panel program were Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and Frank Mankiewicz, political campaign advisor to 1972 Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern.

Bentsen, who says he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, said the party is vibrant and alive.

"I don't agree with those who say our party is bankrupt in political ideology," the Texan said.

However, he said of the fall elections, "it is not going to be enough for us as Democrats to offer just candidates. We have to offer ideas as opposition to their poverty of ideas."

Bentsen also said the party must work to restore "leadership and integrity" to American politics.

Bentsen, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he wanted to see passage of campaign reform legislation because "it is time to take elections off the auction block."

Mankiewicz said he believes President Nixon would resign before an impeachment vote materializes, and said an impeachment vote probably will come.

He said Democrats will continue to gain seats in Congress as long as Nixon stays in office. He said Republicans will be hurt by the President's remaining in power.

Rising Interest Rates Send Stock Market Prices Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The recent upswing in short-term interest rates kept the stock market off balance today, nudging prices lower in quiet trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial was off 6.10 at 972.03 and losers outstripped gainers by better than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts say rising interest rates represent generally a double blow to stock prices: They tend to inhibit economic growth, and they increase the attractiveness of fixed-income investments in comparison with stocks.

"Higher interest rates are scaring people, and obviously they represent competition for money that might otherwise go into equities," said John Doherty at Blyth Eastman Dillon.

Bucyrus-Erie was the Big Board's most-active issue, down 1/2 at 32 1/2 in trading that included blocks of 50,000 and 29,900 shares at that price.

The American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .56 at 98.48.

General Motors was off 1/4 at 51 1/4. Barron's magazine said this morning that some analysts on Wall Street had lowered their estimates of GM's first quarter earnings.

Ford, meanwhile, was down 1/4 at 50 1/4, and Chrysler lost 1/4 to 18 1/4.

American Cyanamid, which projected an earnings increase of at least 15 per cent this quarter, rose 1/4 to 23 1/4.

The Amex volume leader was Sanitas Service, unchanged at 1/4, trading for the first time since last Wednesday. Late last week the company said it had a one-month extension on a loan agreement.

The NYSE's noon index of all listed common stocks stood at 51.74, down .29.

Texas Chalks Up 'Major Breakthrough' In Campaign Against Venereal Disease

By ROD DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

Your next sexual encounter in Texas is less likely to end in a doctor's office this year because of what health officials call a "major breakthrough" in treating venereal disease, especially in women.

Figures for 1973 still show an increase over 1972 in reported gonorrhea cases, but the increase is smaller than in past years. The incidence of syphilis, the other major form of VD, is decreasing absolutely.

Dan Error, a federal health officer assigned to the Dallas City Health office, said there were 64,210 reported Texas cases of gonorrhea in 1973, an increase of 12 per cent over 1972.

But the increase in 1972 from 1971 was 14 per cent, meaning a slight improvement in 1973.

The statewide figure for syphilis for 1973 was 3,438 cases, which is an absolute decline of 14 per cent. In 1972, the decline from the previous year was 15 per cent.

Gonorrhea is not normally fatal, but can cause various maladies if unchecked.

Syphilis is the killer. It usually appears as an open sore within a few weeks and if undetected will seem dormant for years, finally reappearing to cause senility, blindness or other bodily horrors.

Detection in women has been the traditional problem in stopping what turned into an epidemic rise in the gonorrhea rate in the United States the last several years.

Error said that during the past year in the state, health officials were able to reduce the ratio of male to female treatments to about 3 to 1. In the past it was 16 males to one female.

Thus, Error explained, although males could be treated, females could continue unknowingly to carry the painful disease.

Error said now health officials have been able to have females in high-incidence VD areas checked for VD during visits to doctors for non-related problems. Often, he said, a positive VD test will be found in a woman who otherwise might not have known.

"We're finding asymptomatic females more successfully than ever before," he said.

But gonorrhea still is not being found as effectively as syphilis, chiefly because a mass-scale program to stop syphilis was begun several years ago, while the same drive against gonorrhea is more recent.

While the battle continues, the suburban VD infections, often reinforced by hardy germs brought back by soldiers from the Far East, are harder to kill.

A few years ago it took about 600,000 units of a penicillin derivative to treat gonorrhea. Now 4.8 million units are needed. Syphilis, which once required a few hundred thousand units, now needs 2.4 million.

Getting cured is still not pleasant, but it's not as bad as it used to be. Pills now can do the trick, while a few years ago shots were required.

City health services in most cities provide treatment, but usually ask a person to identify his sex partner. Beyond that, confidentiality prevails.

Persons requiring greater secrecy can go to family doctors, who normally do not forward patients' names to health officials.

Some hospitals will refuse VD patients. In many it depends on which doctors are on duty.

Midland 4-H's Win Top Honors At Judging Contest

BIG SPRING — Two Midland 4-H club members captured top honors in the annual Howard County College invitational 4-H and FFA judging contests Saturday.

Susan Mertz was high girl in cattle judging and Angie Casbeer won top place in sheep.

Lamb County won first and second places in team cattle judging. Stanton FFA took first and second in plant identification, and second and third in crops.

Third in team stock judging was Divide FFA. Individual winners include Ricky Young, Divide, first; Rodney Logston, Lamb, second, and Neal Bearden, Plains, third.

Third in plant identification was Snyder FFA all girls team. Individual winners were Terry Kelly, Stanton, first; Jessie Hernandez, Seagraves, second; Jacky Romine, Stanton, third; and Larry Romine, Stanton, fourth.

Individual crop winners included Bobby Sharpling, Socorro, first; George Henson, Stanton, second and James Franks, Stanton, third.

Estoril Schedules Pecos Prospector

Estoril Producing Corp., Midland, will drill No. 1 Shell-Mann as an 8,000-foot venture in Pecos County, 10 miles northwest of Iran.

The test site is seven miles southeast of the Tripoli (Ellenburger) field, 10,000 feet from southwest and 660 feet from northwest lines of section 36, block 12, H&GN survey.

Operator set 4 1/2-inch casing at 5,099 feet, on total depth of 5,150 feet, after a drillstem test at 5,100-5,120 feet, yielded 600 feet of gas, 60 feet of drilling fluid and 15 feet of oil.

There were no reports on production tests.

Location is 1,220 feet from south and 2,357 feet from east lines of section 4, block 213, M. J. Ashmore survey.

Council Cancels Tuesday Meeting

The Midland City Council meeting scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday has been cancelled due to lack of a quorum, according to Midland City Mgr. James W. Brown.

Brown said the meeting will not be rescheduled. Two councilmen are sick and one is out of town, forcing cancellation of the meeting.

Tipperary Slates Gaines Explorer

Tipperary Corp., Midland, plans No. 1 Houston as a 9,500-foot prospector in Gaines, five miles east of Loop.

Drill site is 467 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 2, block C-32, PSL survey, two miles west of San Andres production in the Adair field, and five miles south of Wolfcamp production in the Terry County part of the field.

Eddy Test Flows Gas From Morrow

Monsanto Co. No. 1 Avalon Hills, Eddy County, N.M., project, 1 1/2 mile southwest of Morrow production in the Burton Flat field, flowed gas at the rate of 11.53 million cubic feet per day from the Morrow, for two hours.

Flow was through a 32-64-inch choke and perforations at 11,168-11,354 feet. Testing continued.

It spots 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 7-21S-27E, six miles northeast of Carlsbad.

Tranco Directors Declare Dividend

HOUSTON (AP) — Directors of Tranco Companies Inc. declared on Monday a regular quarterly dividend of 28 cents a share on common stock, payable May 1 to shareholders of record April 15.

Tranco is a holding company for Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. and other subsidiaries.

GM Soon Will Announce New Auto Price Increase

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors says it will increase retail car and truck prices an average $28 in the next several days.

The giant auto maker cited higher delivery and production costs for the price hike, its third since the 1974 model year began last September.

The GM announcement Sunday came after the federal Cost of Living Council approved a $50-per-car increase for American Motors. The council indicated in its ruling Friday that it would not challenge a Chrysler increase of $28, effective today.

The council also said that the makers last December to limit price hikes for 1974-model vehicles did not cover adjustments for destination charges.

General Motors said Sunday that $15 of the new $28 retail increase will go for destination charges.

Ford said recently it has no plans to seek a further price increase on 1974-model cars. The firm increased destination charges $25 per vehicle on March 12.

All four U.S. automakers are expected to raise prices again when 1975 models debut in September.

Uganda Coup Attempt Fails

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — President Idi Amin, Uganda's military strongman, says he will deal severely with soldiers who tried to overthrow him during the weekend.

The aborted coup, which the government radio said was led by the army chief of staff, was broken by loyal forces in bloody fighting Saturday night and early Sunday at several military camps in the Kampala area.

The death toll was not immediately known, but the government said a number of soldiers and civilians were killed.

Radio Uganda said the uprising was led by Brig. Gen. Charles Arube and that he killed himself when his attempt failed at dawn Sunday. The radio said Arube spread a false report that an invading force was trying to kill Amin, and this touched off the fighting.

The broadcast said Amin told loyal troops a special commission will investigate the rebellion and those implicated will be dealt with severely.

Reports said the Makindye military police headquarters and prison, about four miles from central Kampala, were destroyed in heavy fighting in which tanks took part. Troops from the loyal Mukoti Battalion were sent there.

Some sources speculated that the Mukoti Battalion had put down an uprising by the military police, but this could not be confirmed.

Offshore Royalty Bill Action Delayed For At Least Year

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Congressional action will be delayed for a year on a bill allowing coastal states with oil production off their shores to share in federal royalties, the leading U.S. House Democrat said Sunday.

"So much time is being taken with the impeachment and there's so much major legislation being held back, action on the bill is at least one year away," said House Majority Leader Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass.

The bill sponsored by O'Neill and 22 representatives from New England states would benefit several Gulf Coast states with oil production now springing up off their shores.

Another in a series of federal offshore oil lease sales is scheduled Thursday in New Orleans for 206 tracts of land off the Louisiana coast.

Under the proposed legislation, the federal government would share part of the revenue with states to help pay for the cost of services they provide to oil company workers.

Under current law, states automatically share in petroleum yields from onshore federal lands.

The proposed bill, which creates a Marine Resources Conservation Fund for coastal states, is currently in a subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee.

Woman Injured In Fall From Car

Carol Bulman, 23, of 806 Powell St. fell out of a car as it turned a corner Saturday night. She was treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital a short time later, authorities said.

The accident occurred at Cuthbert and Garfield streets about 7:10 p.m.

Miss Bulman was a passenger in a car driven by George Dean Sowell, 23, of 500 W. Tennessee St.

Cambodia Reports Advance

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Government troops closing on Oudong killed 173 Khmer Rouge insurgents in two days and nights of heavy fighting a mile from the provincial capital last week ago, Cambodian army officers in the field reported today.

The battle around the Chet Del Thmel temple east of Oudong was the most significant government advance in the drive to recapture the town 23 miles north of Phnom Penh.

Government forces from Phnom Penh who had been landed on the banks of the Tonle Sap river pushed out of their beachhead with 30 armored vehicles and ran into an insurgent bunker complex near the temple Friday night.

Another government force landed by helicopter a mile north of Oudong six days ago has been unable to cross a river heavily defended by the insurgents, field reports said.

Little Strategic Value

A third government column has fought its way from Phnom Penh's northern defense line 10 miles south of Oudong to an area five miles south of the town, field reports said.

Oudong has little strategic value but is important to the Cambodians because it was the royal capital in the 17th century. The Khmer Rouge controls sizable stretches of territory north and south of the town including the highway from Phnom Penh to the rice fields in northwest Cambodia.

In other war action, government troops at coastal Kampot, 85 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, advanced a mile north of their defense line and killed 30 rebels, the Cambodian command reported.

In South Vietnam, government and Communist troops engaged in heavy fighting in parts of the Mekong Delta during the weekend, the Saigon command reported. A communique claimed 53 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops killed in three battles. Government losses were put at three dead, 37 wounded and eight missing.

Trustees May Act On Youth Centers, Enrollment Trends

Midland Independent School District trustees Tuesday will consider the future of the Midland and Lee youth centers and discuss projected pupil enrollment trends.

School board members will hear a plan concerning the future of the youth centers. Details of the plan have not been announced.

The trustees also will continue a discussion of enrollment differences among the city's schools.

At a special meeting Thursday, Supt. Dr. James Matley said enrollment at Lee High School is about 400 more than at Midland High School.

Enrollment projections announced in January predict that by 1976 Lee High will have about 475 more students than Midland High.

In other business, the trustees will approve a new teacher salary schedule and 1974-75 teacher contracts, consider a workman's compensation insurance plan and take action on a request from the Alamo Center YMCA for the use of school facilities for a summer program.

The meeting is set for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the School Administration Building, 702 N. N St.
