Pecos County Ellenburger Venture Set

Exxon Corp. has filed application to drill a 25,000-foot Ellenburger explorer for gas in Pecos County, 3/4 miles east of Ellenburger production in the Gomez multipay gas field. It is No. 1-C W. A. Stroman.

Location is 2,240 feet from south and 2,590 feet from west lines of section 526, C.C.T. Co. survey, seven miles east of Fort Stockton and 1/4 mile northeast of a 10,026-foot failure.

San Andres Strike Finaled In Chaves

Roy K. Furr, Lubbock No. 1 O'Brien has been completed as a San Andres oil discovery in Chaves County, N.M. five miles southwest of Elkins.

It had a 24-hour pumping potential of 20 barrels of 25.3-gravity oil, and 45 barrels of water, producing through perforations at 2,372-2,411 feet. The section had been acidized with 12,500 gallons.

Drilled to 2,632 feet, operator set 4 1/2-inch casing on bottom.

Top of pay was picked at 1,745 feet under ground elevation of 3,986 feet.

The well spots 600 feet from south and west lines of section 4-29-29e. It had been temporarily abandoned last March.

Connell Re-Opener Seen For Andrews

Dorchester Exploration, Inc., was installing pumping equipment at No. 1 Olson-Brown, Andrews County wildcat, 13 miles southwest of Andrews townsite and one location east of the depleted Connell opener in the Block A-41 field.

It grabbed new oil at the hourly rate of 10 barrels, through Connell perforations at 11,560-11,584 feet, which had been acidized with 500 gallons.

Location is 2,120 feet from south and 1,850 feet from west lines of section 21, block A-41, PSL survey.

Confirmer Finals In Reeves Sector

The Worsham field of Reeves County gained its second Cherry Canyon of the Delaware gasser and a 3/4-mile southwest extension to that pay, with completion of Union Oil Co. of California, No. 4 H. F. Anthony, nine miles southeast of Barstow.

It gauged a calculated, absolute open flow of 3.16 million cubic feet of gas per day, with gas-liquid ratio of 399.714-1. Gravity of the condensate was 50.5 degrees.

Production was through perforations at 5,930-6,271 feet, which had been acidized with 250 gallons.

Drilled to 6,330 feet, it has 5 1/2-inch casing set on bottom, and is plugged back to 6,294 feet.

Location is 467 feet from north and east lines of section 7, block C-6, PSL survey.

The Cherry Canyon gas opener, Gulf No. 4 Horry, a former oil producer, was reclassified in August, 1973, for a calculated, absolute open flow (Continued On Page 13A)

Flooding, Storms Rake State

College Bids Exceed Funds By $800,000

By TOM MORAN
 Midland College trustees Thursday opened bids for three buildings and found themselves $800,000 short of cash.

Total low bids for the student center building, occupational-technical building and physical education building were $3,303,412. Architect Preston Geren told the trustees the building fund has only $2,408,482 and an additional $400,000 can be raised by issuing tuition bonds.

None of the bids were accepted or rejected. The board has 30 days to consider them before any action is required.

Herman Bennett of Brownwood submitted the low bid of $2,297,000 for general contracting. Other bids from general contractors included $2,311,500 from Area Builders of Odessa, $2,368,000 from J. W. Cooper Construction of Odessa, and $2,385,000 from Rose and Sons of Odessa.

Keyton Mechanical of Odessa offered the low bid of $546,412 for the mechanical contract. Other bids included $597,891 from Permian Air Conditioning of Odessa and $603,000 from C. A. Gray Plumbing of Midland.

Mid-West Electric of Midland was the low bidder for the electrical contract with an offer of $360,000. Basin Electric of Midland bid $375,000 and Cardinal Electric, also of Midland, bid $382,000.

Bids which eliminated the student center building also were opened.

Area Builders submitted the low general contracting bid for the remaining two buildings with an offer of $1,748,500. Bennett bid $1,777,000, Cooper bid $1,793,000 and Rose bid $1,807,000.

After omitting the student center, Keyton still offered the low mechanical contract bid of $433,424. Permian bid $474,310 and Gray bid $493,000.

Mid-West also offered the low alternate bid of $298,000 for electrical contracting. Basin bid $315,000 and Cardinal bid $318,000.

If the trustees accept the alternate bids, the two-building cost will be $2,479,924, or $723,488 less than the three-building cost.

Geren told the trustees $600,000 of the $2.4 million building fund is from revenue bonds issued only for the student center. An additional $750,000 is from the Texas Education Agency and can be spent only on the occupational-technical building.

The physical education building is the only building which is financed with unobligated funds, Geren explained. Unfortunately we did not bid it separately so that it could be cut out, Geren said.

Any further changes in building design would lower the quality of the buildings, he added.

The college has 20 days to consider the bids, the Fort Worth architect said. During that time, the board could negotiate with the low bidders to omit the physical education building.

Board President Reagan H. Legg said the building should not be cut out. "We need it." "We've got to find a way to do this," he added. "We have (See MC BIDS Page 8A)

Area's Dry Spell May Be Broken

Flooding rains hit parts of South Texas during the night, driving some persons from their homes, and vicious thunderstorms ranged from that section into much of West Texas before tapering off today.

At least one tornado writhed down from black thunderheads and spun on the ground seven miles southwest of Big Spring's Webb Air Force Base for a couple of minutes. Then it whipped back aloft and disappeared.

A fierce gust of wind overturned a mobile home north of Edinburg in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, injuring a mother and child slightly.

Midland may at last break its long dry spell today or Saturday, if predictions of thunderstorms in the area made by the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal prove true.

The weather service gives Midland a 40 per cent chance of thunderstorms this afternoon, decreasing to 30 per cent tonight. The storms may become locally severe in some areas, forecasters warn.

The storms will bring southerly winds increasing to 20 to 30 m.p.h. and gusty this afternoon, decreasing late tonight.

The rains will also bring somewhat cooler temperatures Saturday, following a high today in the middle 80s. High Saturday will be a "cooler" upper 70s. Overnight low will be in the middle 50s, following a low this morning of 64. High Thursday was 89.

Thunderstorms roamed much of West Texas Thursday, dropping long-awaited moisture and bringing severe storm warnings to several counties.

Lubbock received a trace of rain about 5:30 p.m. and Crosby and Dickens had showers. Post reported hail and showers about 7:30 p.m. and shortly after the tornado was sighted about 7 p.m., Big Spring residents reported "blinding rain and mottled hail."

It also was near Edinburg that torrential rain sent water rising into homes and forced about 20 persons to evacuate. In the Pecosville community six miles to the north, civil defense workers used an amphibious vehicle to rescue 15 others stranded by water shoulder deep in one low area.

Many Edinburg streets filled (See STORMS, Page 8A)

LATE NEWS FLASHES

NEW YORK (AP) — Maurice Stans insisted at his federal conspiracy trial today that it was financier Robert L. Vesco who demanded that his $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's 1972 campaign be kept secret.

DALLAS (AP) — Jake Jacobsen, Austin lobbyist indicted in the Watergate-milk fund controversy, is ready to implicate former Texas Gov. John Connally in the affair, Jacobsen's lawyer told the Dallas Times-Herald today. The lawyer, Charles McNeil, told the Times-Herald in Washington: "I will do whatever I can to get my client out of a bad problem."

WILL INTRODUCE BILL FOR RESEARCH FUNDS

Mahon To Seek Non-Petroleum Energy Production

By ROBERT C. BORDEN
 Reporter-Telegram Staff
 ODESSA — U.S. Rep. George H. Mahon, speaking to more than 300 members and guests of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here Thursday night, announced he will introduce a bill April 30 calling for $2.2 billion for additional research in non-petroleum energy production.

Of this amount, approximately $1 billion would be used to develop nuclear energy, which Mahon noted produces six per cent of the nation's total electricity today. By 1980, the congressman stated, nuclear power will generate 21 per cent of America's energy.

Other non-petroleum forms of energy will not be available or fully developed for at least 10 years, Mahon said, so "we've got to depend on petroleum — oil and gas — in the foreseeable future."

The 40-year congressional veteran from Lubbock, speaking at the opening banquet of the 56th annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, said American energy consumption is doubling every 15 years. He also stated Texas produces 38 per cent of all domestic oil and the Permian Basin accounts for 22.1 per cent of the nation's domestic production.

He added, "The Permian Basin produces more oil than Saudi Arabia and some other Middle East countries."

Many members of Congress are anti-oil industry, Mahon stated, noting several threats to energy production. The Senate is debating the establishment of a Federal Oil and Gas Corporation (FOGCO), which Mahon said, "would put the federal government right in the middle of the oil and gas business and would appear to be the first step toward nationalization of the oil industry."

Speaking out harshly against such a corporation, Mahon said, "We must block this measure, and we think we can."

A solution more likely to be adopted in some form, Mahon believes, is an oil tax bill being completed by the House Ways and Means Committee. Mahon termed the bill "more realistic," which although he disagreed with several of the steps taken in the bill.

Basically, Mahon pointed out, the bill would reduce the income of the oil industry by $16 billion over the next six years. "Broadly," Mahon stated, "the proposal phases out the oil depletion allowance, taxes windfall profits, and raises taxes on U.S. companies drilling overseas."

"Without a doubt," the congressman said, "national attitudes overall are anti-oil industry. Members of Congress from Eastern and Western states compete with one another in trying to be the most critical of the oil and gas industry."

Mahon told of one Massachusetts representative on his House Appropriations Committee who said recently the oil industry is so unpopular in his district "he wouldn't be willing to have his picture made next to a gas pump."

"Regardless of the consequences," Mahon said, "most people seem to want to punish the oil industry. At the same time of course these people want to see the oil industry prosper."

Living Costs Skyrocket; Food Prices Blamed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharply higher food prices and a record jump in nonfood commodities pushed the cost of living up 1.1 per cent in March as the worst inflation in a quarter of a century held its grip on the economy, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said last month's rise sent consumer prices 10.2 per cent higher than a year ago, the most in any 12-month period since an identical rise in 1948.

For the first quarter of 1974, consumer prices rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 14.5 per cent, highest in any three-month period since the first quarter of 1951 during the Korean War.

The gloomy economic report was the second in two days. The Commerce Department reported Thursday that the Gross National Product — the nation's total output of goods and services — fell at a 5.8 per cent annual rate, the first decline in three years and the biggest drop in 16 years.

Although the Nixon administration says it expects the economy to turn around in the second half of the year, some government analysts predict the next three months will be as bad or worse than the inflation for the first three months of the year.

With inflation continuing unabated, the Labor Department said buying power of American workers fell nine-tenths of 1 per cent in March to a level 4.7 per cent below a year ago. It marked the biggest annual decline since the government began keeping that statistic in 1964.

The Consumer Price Index climbed last month to 143.1 of its 1967 average, meaning that it costs consumers $143.10 to buy the same variety of retail goods and services that $100 bought in 1967.

The 1.1 per cent jump in prices last month, on both a seasonally and unadjusted basis, compared with a 1.3 per cent rise in February and an increase of 1 per cent in January. It was the third biggest monthly jump since September 1947. August of last year was the biggest since then — 1.9 per cent — followed by this February and March.

Government analysts said higher prices for gasoline and food were responsible for about 25 per cent of the March increase.

Grocery prices jumped one per cent, substantially more than is usual for March, but less than the increases for the previous two months. Fresh vegetables, processed fruits, cereals, bakery and dairy products were up but beef prices, after rising sharply in February, declined in March.

But the sharpest increase was in nonfood commodities including industrial prices — which rose 1.5 per cent both seasonally and unadjusted last month. It was the biggest increase in this category since the government started those statistics in 1956.

Gasoline and motor oil again jumped sharply in March, rising 7 per cent to a level 39.3 per cent above the previous March. Fuel oil and coal prices dropped slightly last month but were still 57.7 per cent above March 1973.

New car prices increased instead of declining as they usually do in March. Prices for used cars continued to fall.

Services rose eight-tenths of 1 per cent from February to March, driven up by a 20 per cent jump in postal charges and a rise of 1.7 per cent in physicians' fees.

A rise of five-tenths of one per cent in average hourly earnings last month was offset by the jump in consumer prices and a drop of three-tenths of one per cent in average weekly hours, sending average weekly earnings down eight-tenths of one per cent for the month.

Earlier, a Commerce Department official said inflation in the second quarter this year will be as bad or worse than the 10.8 per cent rate for this first three months.

All Mass Murder Cases Filed Against Henley Transferred To San Antonio

HOUSTON (AP) — In an eight-minute hearing today, all the mass murder cases filed against Elmer Wayne Henley were transferred to San Antonio. Henley, 17, accused in six of 27 deaths of teenage males, replied "Yes, sir," when asked if he wanted the five cases transferred on a change of venue.

He is accused, along with David Owen Brooks, 19, of procuring victims for a homosexual murder-torture group headed by Dean A. Corll, 33. It was Corll's death from a gun fired by Henley last Aug. 8 which brought the slayings to light. That shooting was ruled self-defense.

No trial date has been set for Brooks.

Henley was transferred to San Antonio after winning a change of venue in one of the six cases against him — the slaying of Charles C. Cobble, 17, who lived across the street from Henley.

He was sent back here to appear before District Court Judge William Matten today after lawyers for the state and defense agreed to consolidate all six cases against Henley and try them at one time.

mony was expected at the forenoon hearing.

"Both sides will simply re-submit the same" evidence which led the judge to transfer the other case without putting live witnesses on," Vance said.

"This will permit the judge to go ahead and change venue and transfer the cases to San Antonio, which will in turn permit us to proceed on the consolidated cases in one trial . . ."

Henley will be taken back to San Antonio, Vance said, for another pre-trial hearing Monday before District Court Judge Preston Dial.

Henley is due to go on trial July 8. His lawyer, Will Gray, said consolidating the cases should not cause any delay.

Israeli, Syrian Warplanes In Action For Second Day

By The Associated Press
 Syrian and Israeli warplanes roared into action for the second straight day today as ground fighting raged for key positions on Mt. Hermon and along the 40-mile Golan Heights front.

The Syrian command said its MIGs "scored direct hits" on Israeli positions, "causing heavy losses in men and equipment," but Israel reported no casualties in the air strikes.

The Syrians also claimed their missiles downed 17 Israeli warplanes, but Israel said all its planes returned safely.

The Tel Aviv command said the Israeli jets attacked artillery and troop emplacements six miles behind Syria's front lines, hitting Syrian targets for three hours on the slopes of Mt. Hermon and on the southern Golan front.

In Lebanon, nine Israeli planes were seen striking a Syrian radar station on the peak of the Anti-Lebanon Mountains just east of the Syrian-Lebanon frontier. There was no immediate estimate of the damage or comment from the Syrian command.

Control of Mt. Hermon is sought by both sides because its 9,200-foot peak commands a view for miles into Lebanon, Israel and Syria, and possession could be used as a trading point in disengagement negotiations.

A Syrian communique said the downed Israeli planes were seen falling into Israeli-held territory onto Mt. Hermon itself.

An Israeli military spokesman said "all our planes returned safely."

Syria also claimed that Israeli planes had bombed their own positions "inflicting casualties on their own troops" at Tel Al Arayess in the Golan Heights during confusion created by the Syrian missile (See AIRPLANES Page 8A)

Commission Members' Evaluation Of Constitutional Progress Vary

EDITOR'S NOTE: There have been various evaluations of the work of the Texas Constitutional Convention, which is in a month-long recess for political campaigns. The Associated Press went to the Constitutional Revision Commission, a 71-member citizens group that wrote the original draft after seven months of study and public hearings, and asked reactions. Here are the comments.

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Original drafters of Texas' proposed new constitution are not yet ready to hand out "well done" plaudits to the Texas Constitutional Convention.

In fact, a small minority of the Constitutional Revision Commission contacted by The Associated Press believes the cause may be lost.

Other key members of the appointed 37-member citizens commission agree generally that the 180 legislator-delegates have bettered the current constitution, written in 1875 and amended 218 times since then. They say it is too early to put a label on the convention's work, which resumes May 6 and may continue until July 31.

However, there are numerous complaints from commission members that the politically and legislative oriented delegates may not be choosing the best way of modernizing the state basic policy document for future generations.

"Unless the final product is an improvement on what has transpired, I won't be able to support it," says Dr. George Beto, Huntsville, former director of the Texas Department of Corrections and a member of the commission's legislative committee.

"There is little point in deliberately provoking years of litigation . . . They have committed the sin of putting too much statutory language in the constitution. There is not enough of a change from what we have had in the past," Beto said.

"I think they (the delegates) have made good progress and they had a tremendous job to do," said Beeman Fisher, Fort Worth, retired board chairman of Texas Electric Service Co. and chairman of the commission's Finance committee. "I really think the people should withhold their judgment until they are finished and they are a long way from being finished."

"If they had the election right now, not 30 per cent of the people of Texas would vote for the new constitution," said

Houston Extortion Attempt Thwarted By Senior Citizen

HOUSTON (AP) — Two men eluded law enforcement officers today after failing to extort money from a retired college professor and his wife.

Police said the method used by the two men on Thursday was similar to other robberies by a pair of men who have been preying on elderly residents for the past month.

The two men forced their way into the home of Charles Salin, 77, retired head of the University of Houston foreign languages department, then struck his wife, Mrs. Phyllis Salin.

Mrs. Salin said the pair ransacked the house, then demanded that she drive one of them to a bank while the other stayed with her husband.

"They wanted me to write a check on the bank," Mrs. Salin told officers. "The plan was one would go with me to the bank in my car and if anything happened the other would kill my husband."

At the bank, Mrs. Salin managed to pass a note to an off-duty policeman working as a bank guard who in turn called in other officers.

Salin was found, tied up but unharmed, at his home.

L. G. Moore, Deer Park, a representative of the International Union of Operating Engineers and chairman of the commission's education committee.

"I've been traveling over the state . . . we've taken a look at 102 counties in the last four months and people are really saying: 'We can't have a bunch of politicians writing a new constitution.'"

"The best chance we ever had of getting a new constitution was about 50-50 and now I don't think the people will vote for the politicians putting in all this statutory language . . . I sure would like to support the new constitution but it makes me sick what is going on now. And all the tax money that is being spent. That is the sadness of the thing," Moore said.

"I think it would be foolish for us (on the commission) to have hang-ups on some reforms," said Honore Ligarde, Midland County Judge Barbara Culver, a Republican, who was chairman of the commission's committee on local government, "but I will have to see it not before I decide what we only be for but I will work for the new constitution . . . But I do feel that it has fallen far short so far, particularly on handling taxation and in the area of funding education . . . I feel optimistic for the final product but I feel we have failed in major reforms."

"I think they have come up with some good stuff," said Judge Robert W. Calvert, head of the Constitutional Revision Commission and former chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, said that the articles tentatively approved by

have. I will support it if the product is good and if not, I will oppose it." She said she is pleased with most of the local government articles tentatively approved by the convention but she is "sorry" the convention put in definite tax rate ceilings for cities and counties "which will just have to be changed in the future."

Judge Robert W. Calvert, head of the Constitutional Revision Commission and former chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, said that the articles tentatively approved by the convention "on the whole are a considerable improvement."

Calvert said he is "greatly disappointed" in the county home rule provisions approved, which he said are "pretty well meaningless" and said he is "terribly concerned" that the Texas Supreme Court is set up as a restricting body if the legislature does not act. And in the executive department the new flexibility given the governor is limited each time by provisions that it will be governed by general law as passed by judiciary committee has not legislature. "I'm afraid the legislators tried to keep control of too many powers," Calvert said.

Houston Judge Andrew Jefferson Jr., vice chairman of the commission's judiciary committee, said he feels the delegates are "taking their work seriously but everything is very tentative." He said he believes it was a good idea that proposals of county home rule and a legislative pay commission be submitted separately. "But I am real disappointed that the judiciary committee has not recommended that the merit selection of judges be presented to voters also."

Mrs. Mary Beth Brient, El Paso, vice chairman of the executive branch committee, said she is "generally well pleased with the convention's work" although she is disappointed the delegates refused to give the governor more budget making power. "They have made a definite improvement on what we have now," she said. "I certainly hope I can work for it but I want to see what finally comes out."

Borrowed Foreign Words Are 'Fouling Up' Japanese Language

By LEONARD PRATT
 TOKYO (AP) — A night baseball game is a "nitah," an air conditioner is a "koolah," a dirty movie is a "porno" and if a girl is in the "mudo" she can go to a beauty shop and get a "perma."

The country where this language is spoken is Japan, and some people say that unless you speak English, you'll never understand modern Japanese. Staying "uppatodatu" in Japan is complicated by the firm conviction that foreign languages — French, German, Spanish and above all English — are classy.

Old people complain they're unable to understand television ads, and those out of the country a few months say they have a lot of catching up to do when they get home.

One of Tokyo's major newspapers reserves space in each day's edition to explain new foreign words used in that paper. These are combined into a dictionary published at year's end. Last year it was 535 pages.

That can get technical, with words like capital gain — "kyapitaru gain" — and syndicated loan — "shinjiketo ron."

"There are some people critical of the introduction of foreign words, but they are in the minority," says a Japanese linguist. "I put them roughly in two main groups: conservative elderly professors and college-educated housewives."

"Why housewives? I don't really know. Perhaps they want to show others that English words are anything but special to them, having been to a university."

"And then there are the emotional complaints in newspaper 'Letters to the Editor' columns. A middle-aged person will write in saying he ordered a hot coffee in good Japanese at a coffee house, only to hear the waiter shout back to the cook, 'One hotto!'"

Another Japanese said foreign words are borrowed because they have the connotation of good quality. "French words are used by the fashion industry here because France has a fine reputation in that field."

"Likewise, many English words are used for cars and machinery."

But it's not just the long words of science and industry which are imported. It's the flood of foreign words and titles applied to everything from mailboxes — posto — to electronic remote control — remoncon.

The words are used freely in college lectures and in television newscasts. "Many of these words, such as ice cream or hamburger, were borrowed because the objects they describe were new to Japan. Others, like 'dee-oro-jee' ideology — were imported into Japanese because our word for it may have been too broad in meaning and the foreign word was more precise," one Japanese professor commented.

"But sometimes we completely Japanese the word so that Americans have difficulty identifying it in our daily conversation."

Oldtimers recall that immediately after World War II, the Japanese — although somewhat fearful — accepted the in-pouring of American occupation troops with no outward sign of hostility and adapted quickly to things American. That started the popularity of English words.

Most words Japan borrows from English are just names of things: English words often shortened, and spelled in the Japanese alphabet.

But it goes further than that, to the point where American ways of saying things have been taken over as well.

Japanese, for example, has no possessive pronouns — my, his, ours, theirs. So Japanese has taken over the English words, especially "my."

A family that owns an automobile is a "mycar" family.

If you're complaining about not getting paid enough, you could tell the boss you don't have enough money to buy "myhouse."

There's even a soft drink called "mytime."

In addition to the borrowed English words spelled in Japanese, there are wholesale imports as well. The English doesn't always appear to make sense, but it's evidently good advertising.

A major department store once installed potted shrubs and blasted off an ad campaign proclaiming "Walk in green... Talk in green."

That makes some sense, but what about "47 Days Christmas"?

Gold, Silver Firm Ordered To Close Business In Texas

DALLAS (AP) — The nation's largest silver and gold investment firm, Pacific Coast Coin Exchange, has been ordered to close its business in Texas because of possible securities violations.

District Court Judge Fred Harless issued on Thursday a temporary restraining order prohibiting PCEE from selling or offering to sell unregistered securities in the state.

Representatives of the company, which has offices in 10 states, Canada, England and West Germany, also were ordered not to move funds of Texas investors in margin account contracts from the state.

A hearing on the state's request for a temporary injunction was set for next Thursday.

The company, based in Long Beach, Calif., had national sales of $273 million in 1973, President Louis Carabini said in court Wednesday.

Autopsy Ordered In Flight Death

HOUSTON (AP) — An autopsy has been called in the death of Edwin Moddy, 30, who died following a light plane crash last Friday.

Moddy, a flight instructor, had been believed only slightly injured in the crash which killed Wayne Nelson, 27. He died Thursday.

The plane stalled while practicing touch and go landings Friday night, investigating officials said.

Nelson's wife, Nancy, 24, walked from the wreckage and summoned rescuers. She is still hospitalized with pulled muscles and abrasions.

Moddy had been admitted with a fractured right ankle and bruises but was believed to have been in good condition.

POLLY'S POINTERS
Wall Marks Are A Constant Bother

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association
Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — How can cloth picture hangers that stick on the wall be removed without leaving a mark or ruining the paint?
In transferring an embroidery pattern, not all the unnecessary marks were cut away and were transferred along with the design. Is there any way these marks can be removed safely or what can be done so the piece does not have to be discarded? — MRS. P. L. B.
DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve really stems from the high cost of postage. I think greeting card companies could help us with the high cost of postage by making "Greeting Postcards" as they would take the eight cent stamps formerly used on first class. This would be especially helpful with Christmas card mailing. — MRS. H. E. N.

DEAR POLLY — Lucy should be able to find several different types of finishes to apply to her Mexican and Indian pottery pieces at a ceramic shop. Doubtless she will not get a really shiny finish without firing but there are stain and water-resistant finishes that can be applied to the outside of many such pottery pieces. (POLLY'S NOTE: such items should be used for decoration only.) — KATHIE L.
DEAR POLLY — I do not know how Lucy could refinish her Mexican pottery but I would like to caution her against using it for food. Several years ago a leading magazine printed several articles about people becoming quite ill from using such pottery that had not been correctly treated. Sometime ago you published a Pointer that told of an herb that would keep insects out of cereals and flour. Could you repeat this? (POLLY'S NOTE: A bay leaf or two in each container does the trick.) — ARLINE.
DEAR POLLY — I find talcum powder very helpful, in fact almost magic, in controlling shredded foam when working with it. I powder my hands and arms and sprinkle some in the top of the bag and around the edges of the article I am filling. — ANNE W.
DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for tea drinkers. When I make hot tea I brew it in a tea pot and make two cups with each tea bag. If I do not drink all the tea while it is hot I pour the remainder into a half gallon jar. When the jar is full I season the tea and have good iced tea for the family members who like the cold drink. Also, when washing acrylic sweaters, socks and other wash-and-wear things turn them inside out before washing and they do not get nubby and I think they wear longer. — JOAN.

Maker Declares Affidavit Against Judge Has Errors

HOUSTON (AP) — A county employe who gave a supporting affidavit in a civil suit filed against County Judge Bill Elliott alleging improper use of county men and materials says portions of it are untrue.

Floyd Neeley, a former county employe, filed the suit against Elliott Wednesday, alleging that the county judge had used county men and materials to build and furnish a vacation home on Lake LBJ in the Texas Hill Country.

One of the affidavits signed by William Word, 70, a painter in the county building maintenance department, says he saw county employes working on bunk beds and bar stools in a county carpenter shop and that he marked them.

Word said Thursday the affidavit contained errors. He said Ramsey took him to a lawyer last summer and he signed the affidavit but did not read it.

"They asked me some questions and then told me to sign it," he said.

Dear Abby Patricia's Name Found In SLA Book Before Kidnaping, Paper Says

When The Phone Rings, It's A Call To Duty

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Here is the opinion on the matter. I am, curious to know your opinion on the matter.

TIRE D: I think your mother is right. It could be an emergency or an important message for someone in your family. Now, get off your duff and answer the telephone when it rings!

DEAR ABBY: In a few months we will be moving into our new home, and I'd like to throw a question out to you, and your readers.

We will have a swimming pool, and I want to enjoy using it, however, I've observed other pool owners having problems with uninvited friends who overstay their welcome. Also neighbors who get hurt if they are told "No, not today!"

Someone suggested the flag system (when it's out, come over), but how do we keep the undesirables from joining in, too?

How can we ask people nicely to leave at a certain time without turning them off completely?

There it is. Am I making a mountain out of a molehill?

NEW POOL OWNER

DEAR OWNER: The flag system is the best. Who are the "undesirables" who "might" join in, too? If you mean strangers, ask them to leave. If they're neighbors who have been invited by you to "come on over" when your flag is out, when you want them to leave at a certain time make it plain beforehand, so they won't be surprised.

DEAR ABBY: At a banquet recently, I was being introduced to my husband's boss and employes when a secretary piped up, "Your hair is very pretty. Or is that a wig?" (It was.) There was total silence while everyone waited for my reply. Having been put on the spot, I had to tell the truth, but I don't know when I've been so humiliated. Another time, I was asked by a woman I hardly knew: "Those aren't your real eyelashes, are they?" (They weren't.)

I have witnessed nervy questions being asked of others. For example: "How much did that cost?" Also: "How come you never had any children?"

Are people getting less considerate of others? I have never noticed such bad manners before. Please tell people to cut it out!

PLEASE DON'T ASK

DEAR PLEASE: Rude, thoughtless and presumptuous people always have been with us, but no one is compelled to answer a question he doesn't want to answer. An appropriate response is, "I don't think it's any of your business." And don't hang around for a rebuttal.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three weeks before Patricia Hearst was abducted, police found a Symbionese Liberation Army notebook containing cryptic references to her, the San Francisco Chronicle reported today.

The cod's father, newspaper magnate Randolph A. Hearst, told the Chronicle the notebook was "unquestionable proof" his daughter had "in no way" arranged her own kidnaping.

On Thursday, he called U.S. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe ir-responsible for saying Patricia was a common criminal because of her role in an SLA bank robbery. Hearst said only his daughter and her abductors knew whether she was a willing participant in the holdup.

The Chronicle said the green notebook was one of several documents found in a Concord, Calif., house damaged in an abortive arson fire Jan. 10. Authorities believe the house was the headquarters for the SLA, which claimed responsibility for the Feb. 4 abduction of Miss Hearst.

"Patricia Campbell Hearst, on the night of the full moon of January 7," was one reference in the notebook, the Chronicle said.

"At U.C. — daughter of Hearst" and "Junior. Art student" were others, the newspaper said.

Miss Hearst, 20, was studying art at the University of California and sharing an apartment in Berkeley with her fiancé, Stephen Weed.

Police and FBI had no immediate comment on the notebook.

DEAR ABBY: I am, curious to know your opinion on the matter.

TIRE D: I think your mother is right. It could be an emergency or an important message for someone in your family. Now, get off your duff and answer the telephone when it rings!

DEAR ABBY: In a few months we will be moving into our new home, and I'd like to throw a question out to you, and your readers.

We will have a swimming pool, and I want to enjoy using it, however, I've observed other pool owners having problems with uninvited friends who overstay their welcome. Also neighbors who get hurt if they are told "No, not today!"

Someone suggested the flag system (when it's out, come over), but how do we keep the undesirables from joining in, too?

How can we ask people nicely to leave at a certain time without turning them off completely?

There it is. Am I making a mountain out of a molehill?

NEW POOL OWNER

DEAR OWNER: The flag system is the best. Who are the "undesirables" who "might" join in, too? If you mean strangers, ask them to leave. If they're neighbors who have been invited by you to "come on over" when your flag is out, when you want them to leave at a certain time make it plain beforehand, so they won't be surprised.

DEAR ABBY: At a banquet recently, I was being introduced to my husband's boss and employes when a secretary piped up, "Your hair is very pretty. Or is that a wig?" (It was.) There was total silence while everyone waited for my reply. Having been put on the spot, I had to tell the truth, but I don't know when I've been so humiliated. Another time, I was asked by a woman I hardly knew: "Those aren't your real eyelashes, are they?" (They weren't.)

I have witnessed nervy questions being asked of others. For example: "How much did that cost?" Also: "How come you never had any children?"

Are people getting less considerate of others? I have never noticed such bad manners before. Please tell people to cut it out!

PLEASE DON'T ASK

DEAR PLEASE: Rude, thoughtless and presumptuous people always have been with us, but no one is compelled to answer a question he doesn't want to answer. An appropriate response is, "I don't think it's any of your business." And don't hang around for a rebuttal.

Worst Profit Report In Decade Expected From Three Automakers

DETROIT (AP) — Stock market analysts predict the Big Three auto makers collectively will report their worst first-quarter profits in more than a decade. The analysts say January-through-March earnings for General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will range from very poor to terrible because of a severe sales slump coming on the heels of a banner year in 1973. The automakers will release their January-March operating results in 10 days.

Cure For Diabetes Seen In Five Years

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Hollbrooke Seltzer of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dallas said Thursday that a cure for diabetes should be possible in another five years. Seltzer, who is chief of endocrinology at the Dallas VA, told newsmen that doctors in Minneapolis and St. Louis have developed a technique for curing diabetes in rats. However, he said it will take about five years to transfer the methods to human beings. Diabetes currently can be controlled through the use of insulin and other medication, but cannot be cured. The technique that Seltzer said he and other doctors were working on entailed injecting insulin-producing cells or "islets" found in the pancreas of normal persons into the abdominal cavity of the diabetic. He said the treatment would be relatively inexpensive, virtually painless and permanent. The main obstacles are the necessity for getting better methods for isolating the islet culture and obtaining the islet cells from human beings, he said. Seltzer said the cells would have to be obtained from dead persons with no hereditary proclivity toward diabetes. Since one of every 20 persons has diabetes and more are genetically disposed to the disease, obtaining the cells could become difficult, he said. Seltzer, who also is a professor of internal medicine at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, was in Little Rock to speak to the Arkansas Diabetes Association.

"Stinking sales," said auto analyst Robert Williams of Argus Research Corp., in New York, as he explained the expected poor performance of the three firms. Sales are down more than 27 per cent from last year, and production has fallen 34 per cent, forcing the layoff of more than 107,000 workers. General Motors, the industry's No. 1 producer, is expected to be the biggest loser. GM's sales during the quarter plummeted nearly 38 per cent because big cars, the mainstay of the company's previous success, aren't selling. GM attributes the sales slump to consumer uncertainty over the economy and fuel availability. The stock experts say Ford is in the best position profit-wise because of its early invasion of the small car market with a variety of compacts and sub-compacts, even though its sales were off 24 per cent from the first three months of 1973. If the analysts' gloomy forecasts are correct, Big Three first quarter profits will total as little as $1.35 a share, the lowest level since 1961, when the auto makers returned an aggregate 75 cents a share. "Detroit is getting the worst of both worlds," said Arvid Jouppli at New York's Delafield-Childs. "Total sales volume has gone down this year, and the Big Three have not been able to get relief from higher costs." Williams said the industry should do better during the second quarter — which has already shown a sales increase — but will still be off significantly from last year's pace.

Bureaucratic Battle Begins Over Chemical Disposal

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A bureaucratic battle has erupted over the disposal of chemical wastes. EPA Region III, which embraces West Virginia, filed an appeal of Region VI's decision to EPA headquarters in Washington.

Hofheinz Names Two Women Judges
HOUSTON (AP) — The first two women named municipal judges were among four persons appointed Thursday by Mayor Fred Hofheinz.

move, EPA Region III, which embraces West Virginia, filed an appeal of Region VI's decision to EPA headquarters in Washington. However, the state, assorted environmentalists, and fishermen argued at a March 28 public hearing that the Gulf has enough problems without adding industrial waste from West Virginia which is carried back in to shore.

DuPont spokesmen said the wastes did not harm marine life in the Gulf, and said storing the waste chemicals at the plant would force them to shut down "units that produce essential products for agriculture and textiles." In Washington, Wastler said he has asked both regions to send him their conflicting documents and studies, and he indicated he will adjudicate.

'Big Three' To Begin Sending Cars To Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Big Three U.S. automakers will soon begin sending cars and trucks to Cuba from their Argentine subsidiaries under an historic decision announced by the State Department.

After five months of indecision, the State Department announced Thursday night approval of export licenses filed by Ford, Chrysler and General Motors Corp., despite hemispheric restrictions on sales to Cuba. Auto industry sources estimated the transaction will total some $150 million.

The only American automobiles left in Cuba are those of the tail-fin era of the late 1950s — before U.S.-Cuban relations soured. State Department officials said they made an exception for the Big Three because "we did not want to see the companies suffer as a result of U.S. policy."

Congressman Opposes Forgiveness Features In Disaster Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican congressman says a key concept in efforts by Congress and the Nixon administration to settle on terms of new legislation for helping disaster victims.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, whose district includes tornado-torn Xenia, Ohio, said Thursday his "consistent position" has been one of opposition to the concept of disaster loan "forgiveness" features. Brown said he feels disaster victims would "rather have honest help than some kind of a dole."

When President Nixon vetoed a 1973 bill aimed at liberalizing the disaster loan program, he told Congress this measure would have provided "federal subsidized loans and grants to all disaster victims regardless of economic need."

Nixon argued that a "wealthy landowner, who could provide for himself through insurance or could easily obtain a private loan, should not be entitled to a $2,500 free grant from the government and an additional loan

Mahon To Introduce Energy Research Bill

CONGRESSMAN VISITS CENTER—U.S. Rep. George H. Mahon of Lubbock was a surprise visitor Thursday afternoon at the Midland Opportunity Center. With him are Mrs. Cecil Aycock of the Opportunity Center, Sonja Sholt and Oscar Lopez.

more energy at cheaper prices." Mahon noted, "The days of cheap energy are gone forever. Oil and gas prices are going to continue at a high level for the duration of the energy crisis and that means, of course, for a long time."

"The pleas from the oil and gas producing areas and their representatives cannot be very successful until the average American consumer from non-oil producing areas has a better understanding of the energy problem and the oil industry," Mahon stated. The congressman, who is seeking his 21st term in the House, sees some encouragement in recent editorials in formerly anti-oil publications calling for a "more sane and responsible approach to our energy problem."

In closing, Mahon listed six steps to solving the energy crisis: have a stable economic climate in terms of taxes, prices and regulatory policy; deregulate the wellhead price of natural gas; increase efforts to conserve the energy available; increase the search for new oil and gas reserves; develop policies that will permit the construction of domestic refineries and support facilities; and pursue the development of other forms of energy, such as nuclear fusion, coal gasification and geothermal, solar and wind power.

Prior to Mahon's speech, current West Texas Chamber president Emil Rassman of Midland was honored for his service to the organization. He was presented two silver bowls and a silver tray and Mrs. Rassman received a set of plastic bowls.

Mahon said Rassman has done a "masterful job in uniting the people" of West Texas. "He has the characteristics of leadership that inspire others to follow," Mahon added. Prior to his speech, Mahon said, "This country needs a rebaptism in the spirit of patriotism." He added the Bicentennial will help bring this rebaptism.

Belinda Myrick, former Miss Texas, entertained with four songs during the banquet.

Proposal Would Ban Joint Bidding By Big Oil Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department plans shortly to propose a regulation that would prohibit major oil companies from making joint bids on federal offshore leases. Undersecretary John C. Whitaker told a reporter Thursday that the proposal, to be made "within a few days," would be subject to public comment and hearings before a final decision is reached.

If the regulation were adopted, it would take effect with the first auction of federal leases for offshore areas next year, perhaps in January, Whitaker said. The offshore areas are the most likely sources of new oil for this country.

The proposal would be aimed at increasing competition in the U.S. oil industry by giving smaller, independent producers a better chance to obtain the leases.

Under current rules, the Interior Department leases offshore tracts to the highest bidders, and major oil companies often combine their considerable financial resources to outbid independent firms.

The proposed regulation would ban joint bidding by large companies, but it would permit a large company to join with a small one for bidding purposes.

Deputies Serve Four Indictments

Midland County sheriff's deputies have served four more of the 22 indictments returned this week by the Midland County Grand Jury. Wayne D. Blue, 18, of 402 Hamby St. is charged with burglary with intent to commit theft. He is charged with the March 6 burglary of the Midland Youth Center and is free on $2,500 bond. His indictment was served Thursday. Another 18-year-old man, David Wayne Hubbard of 2829 W. Louisiana St., is charged with the same burglary and his indictment was served today. He is also free under $2,500 bond. The other indictments were served Thursday. Gary Don Neal is charged with burglary with intent to commit theft. He is free under $2,500 bond. Leonard Ray Smith was indicted for forgery by making and is free under $2,500 bond.

during the 20-day waiting period. J. D. Von Wahlde and Sons of Fort Worth submitted the low basic bid of $86,464 for the carpeting. The trustees postponed action on the contract because of the possibility that the physical education building may not be built.

The trustees also postponed consideration of bids for curb and gutter construction. Desert Paving Inc., of Odessa offered the low bid of $23,625. One bid, for the campus sprinkler system, was approved. Tex-Line, Inc. of Odessa was awarded a $79,400 contract for the construction.

In other business, the board approved a contract with the City of Midland and the Midland Independent School District for operation of a joint tax office, approved new faculty and staff positions, set salaries for department chairmen, employed a new business manager, accepted a data processing bid from the Midland National Bank, authorized purchase of two vans for the athletic department and rental of additional and the water lapped into some downtown business places. At McAllen, in the same vicinity, 1.74 inches of rain fell in the six hours before midnight. There also was some flooding in low parts of San Antonio and hail the size of golf balls fell around Alice before the South Texas thunderstorms weakened or moved out over the Gulf of Mexico.

Forecasters issued a series of severe thunderstorm warnings for a big chunk of Southwest Texas, where boiling storms ranged over Comal, Guadalupe, Medina, Banderita and Kendall counties.

The turbulence broke out at the end of a warm day which sent temperatures as high as 89 degrees at Midland and 90 at Wink. Galveston on the coast was the coolest spot with a maximum of 73, according to The Associated Press.

Readings early today ranged from 72 at Corpus Christi down to 54 at Lufkin. By this morning skies were clear over much of West Texas but at least partly cloudy everywhere else in the state. Forecasts promised more showers or thunderstorms scattered through nearly all sections.

manager for the Region 18 Education Service Center here. The trustees voted to allow College President Dr. A. Langford to hire swimming and tennis coaches. Langford said both coaches will be hired in the near future.

The board also authorized Langford to rent additional office space in the Globe Building, the college's temporary location. He said most of the space at Globe will be vacated as soon as the first buildings on the permanent campus are completed, probably in January 1975.

blows with the aim of silencing the sources of enemy fire and gun emplacements." The battle marked the 39th straight day of fighting on the Golan Heights.

On Thursday the Syrian air force launched its first air attack since the October Middle East war. Israel has sent its planes against the Syrians four times this week. Israel claimed Thursday that Syrian planes attacked the Israeli reconnaissance post on the peak of the 9,233-foot Mt. Hermon.

"Israeli planes went up against the Syrians but no contact was established," the Israeli command said. The Israeli air force made its fourth attack of the week earlier Thursday, hitting at Syrian positions around Mt. Hermon. The Syrian military command claimed its missiles brought down one F4 Phantom, but Israel said all its planes made it home safely.

In Washington, President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a surprise meeting with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy. High-ranking American officials said the session was to inform Egypt of continuing American efforts to arrange an agreement disengaging the Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights. They said it was not concerned with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's an-

Felons Flee Rio Prison

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Forty prisoners armed with knives, revolvers and submachine guns fought their way out of a downtown Rio prison this morning, police said.

They reported seven persons wounded, including one guard and one military policeman. The convicts fanned out through the north and south of the seaside city and gun battles were reported in at least five locations as police threw up barricades and surrounded small bands of convicts.

They were shopping in the West for the advanced missiles and planes the Soviet Union refuses to sell Egypt. Sadat told the National Assembly in Cairo the Soviet Union had hesitated for six months on Egyptian arms requests. He did not name his new prospective suppliers, but there was speculation he would buy from France or would get Saudi Arabia or Kuwait to transfer arms sold them by some of the Western powers.

Three Face Felony Marijuana Charges

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Three South Texans have been charged with felony possession of marijuana in connection with the biggest narcotics seizure in Wichita Falls history.

On Tuesday, President Alice: Romero Gutierrez, 39, of Mathis, and Jesse Gutierrez, 42, of San Diego were arrested and charged Thursday after narcotics officers confiscated 210 pounds of marijuana from the trunk of a car. District Court Judge Stanley Kirk set $33,000 bonds for each of the men.

The arrests climaxed a 45-day investigation by narcotics officers authorities said. Police indicated the marijuana had a street value near $34,000.

Pretrial Hearing Continues In Charges Against Jacobsen

By JIM BRIGANCE

DALLAS (AP) — A ruling was expected today on pretrial motions made by lawyers for indicted Austin lobbyist Jake Jacobsen, accused of misapplying funds from a San Angelo savings and loan institution.

Jacobsen, a former aide to late President Lyndon Johnson, is also accused of perjury in connection with the case. He and Ray Cowan are named in an indictment charging them with using shaky collateral to secure $825,000 in loans from First Savings and Loan Association of San Angelo for their personal use. Jacobsen also is accused of lying to a grand jury about his alleged role as an officer in the association.

Defense lawyer Arthur Mitchell asked Thursday that U.S. Dist. Court Judge Robert Hill grant any or all of several motions, among them: to dismiss the case, to move it away from San Angelo, to suppress evidence, to order the government to surrender to him certain evidence and documents and to sever the perjury charge from the other counts in the indictment.

Motions are being considered here since U.S. Dist. Court Judge H. O. Woodward of San Angelo excused himself from the case because he is personally acquainted with Jacobsen. The trial is slated to begin May 6. Jacobsen also is under a grand jury indictment in Washington, accused of lying to a Watergate grand jury about $10,000 received from a milk marketers' group.

Jacobsen told the grand jury he accepted $10,000 from Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) in order to influence their request for government milk price support increases. But Jacobsen testified he placed the money in a bank vault and never touched it.

Bob Lilly, an officer in AMPI, had said Jacobsen told him the money was earmarked for former Texas Gov. John Connally to buy his influence with the Nixon administration for the milk hike.

Connally has denied receiving any money.

Woman To Fill Education Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has chosen a woman college administrator and a Utah school superintendent for top education posts in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The President announced Thursday he will nominate Virginia Y. Trotter of the University of Nebraska as assistant secretary for education and Terrell H. Bell of Salt Lake City as U.S. education commissioner.

Both positions require Senate confirmation.

Sohio Increases Gasoline Supply

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Standard Oil Co. of Ohio has announced increased supplies of gasoline available for motorists and a 29 per cent jump in profits during the first quarter of 1974.

Sohio Chairman Charles Spahr said Thursday the amount of gasoline available to motorists was increased this week by about 11 million gallons, about 10 per cent more than had been scheduled for April.

Texan Plunges To Death At Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Ralph N. Greenberg, 47, of Orange, Tex., plunged 10 stories to his death Thursday when the guard rail on an office building window gave way and he fell out, police said. Greenberg was engineering manager of the U.S. Steel subsidiary Companhia Meridional de Mineracao.

Project Complete At Terminal After Delay Of 120 Days

An overlay and improvements to runway 10-28 at Midland Air Terminal has been completed after a delay of 120 days.

Although some cleanup and shoulder work remains to be completed, the instrument runway is available for use by all aircraft.

The city council will meet at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday to open bids on $2 million in airport bonds to help finance further airport improvements. Following the bid openings, the council will recess until its regular 1:30 p.m. meeting time to give the city finance officer a chance to study the bids.

The money is part of $7.5 million in improvements planned for the primary runway and taxiway to eventually permit aircraft the size of the DC-10 to land at the airport.

Work will start in September or October and should take about two years to complete.

Hard Part Of Vigil Over—Pilot To Survive Bullet Wounds

BALTIMORE (AP) — For Joyce Lofton the hard part of the waiting is over—the part when she didn't know if her husband would survive an airplane hijacker's bullets.

The wife of pilot Reese D. Lofton spent those weeks in Baltimore, far from their home in Waco, Tex. Even as she plans the trips they will take during his recuperation, she says she will always remember the weeks of waiting.

"When one of us hurts, the other hurts," she said.

They have lived with hurt since the morning of Feb. 22 when Samuel Joseph Byck burst into the cockpit of the Delta DC9 Lofton was to fly from Baltimore-Washington International Airport to Atlanta.

An airport security guard had already died at Byck's hands. Before Byck's own death, the tire salesman-turned-hijacker also would shoot and kill pilot Freddie Jones and pump three hollow-pointed bullets into Lofton's chest and stomach.

The bullets twisted and tore through the insides of the 39-year-old pilot, damaging his lungs and other major abdominal blood vessels and tearing off pieces of his liver, pancreas, large intestine and small intestine.

"I don't know of anybody else surviving those injuries," said Dr. William Gill, the clinical director of University Hospital's shock trauma unit in Baltimore.

It took four major operations to get the pilot out of the shock trauma unit and into the John L. Deaton Medical Center, where he has begun his journey back to a normal life.

"The fourth operation was the worst," Mrs. Lofton said as she sat in the center's lobby. "They had to rush him through because he got awfully weak.

How long was rushing him through? About five hours, I guess. The other operations were six hours or so."

While she waited those long weeks, she timed operations, prayed at St. Alphonsus Church, caught up on her needlepoint, watched movies, visited with her stepson and mother-in-law and read the 1,000 get well cards and letters sent to her husband.

She could not do what she most wanted to do—be with him—during the four weeks he was in the shock-trauma unit.

"You learn to accept the waiting when you come so close to losing somebody," Mrs. Lofton said. "All I can say is thank God for those people at the hospital."

She couldn't even be with him when he was first moved out of the unit, but she could listen as the FBI questioned him about the morning of the hijacking and visit with him four or five hours a day on a hospital telephone.

She would peer through the glass into a room where a man, who was scarcely the 6-foot-3, 225-pound jogger and weight lifter she remembered her husband as, talked to her. She said helping him regain that robust look is one of the goals she has set for herself.

They were reunited three weeks ago in a third floor room at the center and he hopes to spend a weekend away from the hospital in late May to attend daughter Maria's high school graduation, Mrs. Lofton said.

A sales representative for Levi Strauss and a handsome woman, she said she has not had time to have her hair done.

"But that doesn't really matter now," she said. "There are just lots of plans we have to make."

She said they hope to travel to Nashville after he is released for good and to rendezvous with son Jerry, a Marine officer, in Australia.

There will come the time later next year when, his wounds healed, Reese Lofton will have to decide what to do with the rest of his life.

"He has a lot of good working years left," Mrs. Lofton said, "and I don't think he will want to give up his career flying. I just know I wouldn't want to be with him when he goes up the first couple times."

Rain, Thunderstorms Splash Over Mid-Mississippi Valley

By The Associated Press

Showers and thunderstorms splashed over the mid-Mississippi Valley, across the Ohio Valley and into New England today and near-freezing temperatures frosted the upper Great Lakes region.

Freeze or frost warnings were posted for Michigan's Lower Peninsula as temperatures tumbled into the 30s from Minnesota to Maine. Readings in the teens stung Upper Michigan.

A few showers were scattered over Texas and Arkansas. Most rainfall was below half an inch, but San Antonio measured more than an inch before dawn.

A new storm system formed in the Plateau and northern California today, moving into the Rockies. Stockmen's advisories were posted from the central Plateau into the upper Rockies for tonight. Colorado was alerted to a winter storm watch for tomorrow, through Saturday.

The defendant, Larry Delon Casey, saw a six-man, six-woman jury deliberate only about 10 minutes Thursday before returning the guilty verdict in the death of Beulah H. Davis, 86.

Casey is also charged with shooting two young girls, ages five and 10, killed as they walked home from school last April 18.

He is also charged with killing a woman store clerk during a robbery.

High winds stirred up sand in the Southern California mountains and deserts, making traveling hazardous.

A tornado was sighted near Big Spring, Tex., late Thursday. Hailstones the size of golf balls hit the ground at San Antonio and Alice, Tex. A mobile home was overturned near Edinburg, Tex.

Another twister was spotted near Stockton, Calif., but there were no reports of damage or injuries.

Flooding continued on some rivers in Mississippi and Alabama still aggravated by heavy rains of one week ago. The Pearl River at Bogalusa, La., crested Wednesday night at a record level of 10 feet above flood stage.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 15 at Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

Some other reports: Anchorage 37 clear, Atlanta 50 clear, Boston 47 very light rain-showers, Buffalo 37 cloudy, Chicago 40 partly cloudy, Cincinnati 50 very light rain, Cleveland 38 light rain shower, Dallas 67 partly cloudy, Denver 55 clear, Detroit 34 clear, Honolulu 75 cloudy, Indianapolis 54 cloudy, Kansas City 60 clear, Los Angeles 55 clear, Louisville 58 partly cloudy, Miami 74 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 38 clear, Nashville 47 clear, New York 53 partly cloudy, Philadelphia 55 clear, Phoenix 75 clear, Pittsburgh 50 cloudy, St. Louis 56 partly cloudy, San Francisco 49 clear, Seattle 46 cloudy, Washington 53 cloudy.

Hiss Expresses Hope For Politics

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP) — Alger Hiss, who was involved in a government scandal in the 1950s, says despite scandals surrounding high political office, "this is the moment to go forward with new ways and a new politics."

Hiss said Thursday he is optimistic about the future of American politics. He spoke at Kenyon College on the McCarthy era during which he was convicted, saying mass education has prevented "the type of political hysteria which pervaded people at that time."

Hiss is a former State Department employee convicted on two counts of perjury in 1950 after being accused of passing secret documents to the Communists. He served four years in federal prison and now lives in New York City.

White House Ponders What To Do About New Subpoena

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is pondering what to do about a sweeping subpoena that orders President Nixon to turn over a mass of tapes and documents to be used in the Watergate cover-up trial of his former top lieutenants.

The subpoena issued Thursday by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica directs Nixon to give the Watergate special prosecutor tapes and documents covering 64 presidential conversations.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski had asked Sirica last Tuesday to issue the subpoena after what he said were unsuccessful efforts to negotiate a voluntary agreement with the White House.

The subpoena was served late Thursday afternoon about two hours after Sirica signed it. It orders the materials turned over by 10 a.m. May 2.

Withholding subpoenaed materials needed for the conduct of a trial is a tougher legal problem than resisting such requests from investigatory bodies. Two of the defendants in this case joined the prosecutor in requesting that the materials be subpoenaed.

The new subpoena requests materials specifically for evidence in the trial, scheduled to start Sept. 9, of former White House chief of staff H. R. Halde- man, ex-chief domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman, former attorney general and Nixon campaign manager John N. Mitchell, and four others.

Earlier subpoenas issued by the prosecutor's office had sought information for the grand jury rather than for a trial. One of these was upheld by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here and led to the firing of original prosecutor Archibald

Cox when he refused to halt the subpoena process. The White House later released the subpoenaed material.

Some of the tapes also are being sought by the House Judiciary Committee, which is studying impeachment, in a separate subpoena under consideration by the White House.

Another subpoena from the Senate Watergate committee still is in the courts.

In other Watergate developments: —Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said that if Nixon refuses to cooperate with the House impeachment inquiry it would put his administration in grave danger.

—John H. Melcher Jr., executive vice president of American Ship Building Co., pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact in an effort to cover up an illegal corporate campaign contribution to Nixon's 1972 re-election effort.

—Informed sources said Jaworski's office has taken over the Internal Revenue Service investigation of Nixon's controversial gift of pre-presidential papers. Previously, a congressional committee had conducted an inquiry.

Two Sisters Follow Crusaders' Route From Paris To Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) — You'll die of thirst, hunger, cold or heat, their mother told them. Brigands will kill you. Please don't go!

But Evelynne and Corinne Coquet, whose home is in Nevers, France, set out seven months ago on horseback to follow the 4,000-mile route the Crusaders took from Paris to Jerusalem.

A French magazine paid their expenses — $1,100 — and Evelynne sent back weekly reports on their progress.

The sisters crossed the Jordan River Thursday and rested up in Jericho, whose walls Joshua trumpeted down, for the last 25 miles to their destination in Jerusalem, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, which Catholic tradition says is on the site of the tomb of Christ.

"We're sad that we couldn't make it for Good Friday," said Evelynne, 27, "but my sister's horse suffered a bad leg in Syria, and it slowed us down by a week."

Israeli soldiers and civilians watched as the sunburned sisters jogged across the Allenby Bridge over the sluggish Jordan and checked into Jericho's only hotel.

Their two 7-year-old geldings, Mickey and Donald, were hitched to a mulberry tree in the backyard of the hotel. A few bones were found for Pluto, the mongrel who followed the women across West Germany, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Turkey, Syria, Lebanon and Jordan.

Evelynne and Corinne, 30, who is studying to be a tourist guide, were met in Jericho by their mother.

"I knew I could never dissuade them," said Solange Coquet. "But when I saw them safe, I knew it was a miracle from heaven."

The girls journeyed across the Alps and the Balkan range, where temperatures dropped well below freezing, and then over the baking Jordanian desert.

"The only time we did not ride the horses was on the ferry in Istanbul across the Bosphorus, and on the coastal highway of Lebanon, when we took a bus," Evelynne said.

In Syria they passed within a few miles of the Golan Heights.

"We could hear the explosions where the Israelis and Syrians were fighting," said Corinne. "A helicopter tailed us out of the war zone."

Liberace's Watch, Stolen In Dallas, Found At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A $5,500 diamond-studded watch taken from the pianist Liberace in a Dallas hotel burglary has been recovered and a Chicago jewelry store operator arrested.

Adolph Lewin, 58, operator of a downtown store, was wearing the watch when arrested, the FBI said Thursday. It said 500 other allegedly stolen pieces of jewelry worth $25,000 was found in his safe.

The jewelry store was raided Wednesday after agents, using a legal, court-sanctioned wiretap, listened to three telephone conversations between Lewin and another man, authorities said.

Peter Vaira, chief of the Justice Department's organized crime strike force, said the agents heard Lewin discuss the Liberace watch, taken Feb. 14, with a man identified only as "Herby."

Vaira said most of the allegedly stolen jewelry recovered had been taken in Texas.

Wildcat Miners Strike Now In West Virginia

By The Associated Press

A wildcat strike by thousands of miners spread from southwestern Pennsylvania into West Virginia as court, union and company officials worked without success to stop it.

By Thursday the weeklong strike had idled nine major coal companies in five Pennsylvania counties and in adjoining Monongalia County of West Virginia.

Reports indicated that roving bands of pickets kept anywhere from 6,000 to 10,000 workers off the job, despite court orders and the urgings of the International executive board of the United Mine Workers Union.

The strike began ostensibly out of sympathy for two fired miners at the Pennsylvania Florence Co. mine. But the walkout quickly spread and observers said it has been fueled by intra-union conflicts.

"The locals are getting letters from the district and the international offices advising the men to go back to work," said Ed Monbourne, a Dist. 2 representative to the board.

"Most of them do vote to go back," Monbourne explained. "But when they do, the pickets show up. We don't know where they're from."

Action in Indiana County and Pittsburgh federal courts produced back-to-work orders but to no avail.

I Believe

I believe this universe is no accident.
I believe all life comes from God.
I believe He cares about ME... and wants me really to care about Him.
I believe I have fallen short of pleasing God... yet He still lets me live in freedom. I am not his slave.
I believe that Jesus Christ revealed God's forgiving love when He—the Son of God—sacrificed His perfect life for my imperfect life.
I believe that Jesus rose from death, assuring me that it is God's desire that I, too, may reach eternity.
And because I believe—I want to share with you my Faith... and the inspiration I have found as I worship every Sunday in church.

Spiritual Commune Looking To Court

By BILL RAWLINS
SUMMERTOWN, Tenn. (AP) — Not far from this rural community, 70 miles southwest of Nashville, there lives a thriving colony of Menonites, whose religious roots are in Switzerland. In nearby Loreto, there are two churches — the Church of Christ, with its roots in the Bible Belt, and Sacred Heart Catholic church, with its roots in Rome. Even closer, however, is The Farm, a spiritual commune of 600 longhairs with roots in San Francisco. "We're the largest peaceful, nonviolent, longhair community in the country," says Stephen Gaskin, 38, the acknowledged spiritual leader of the 1,750-acre commune. They also are the only one of the divergent spiritual groups asking the U.S. Supreme Court to preserve their religious freedom — to use marijuana. "Every Sunday morning we get together before sunrise and take Communion," says Gaskin. "We sit in meditation for an hour before the sun comes up, and we smoke marijuana when we have it." The case for religious freedom resulted from an Aug. 3, 1971, raid by state agents in which Gaskin and three followers were charged with manufacturing marijuana. Convicted at nearby Hohenwald and sentenced to prison terms of up to three years, the four appealed — and lost — to the State Supreme Court.

The U.S. Supreme Court then refused to hear an appeal that the convictions violate the First Amendment prohibition against interfering with free exercise of religion. They are reappealing on another aspect of the law. "We use marijuana because we find open religious experience to be one step closer to God than open Bible, which was a step closer to God than having a Bible of Latin that only the priesthood understood," said Gaskin in a state's Supreme Court brief. Copies of the brief, with a green marijuana leaf imprint, were distributed to newsmen. The printed brief sent to the Supreme Court itself had no such embellishment.

The farm is chartered under Tennessee law as a nonprofit charitable institution. Its 144 children attend a state-approved school in which commune members, some highly educated, serve as teachers. About 350 of its men, women and children arrived in Nashville in 1971 — and camped for several weeks in their brightly painted buses and similar vehicles on the shores of Percy Priest Lake. When the original group left San Francisco on Columbus Day 1971, Gaskin — who has a master's degree — quit his post as an instructor of English and creative writing at San Francisco State College. Subsequently, the group tried to farm a hilly, wooded farm north of Nashville, and failed. Finally, they settled on the farm north of here and purchased an additional 700 acres to go with the original 1,050 acres for which they paid $70,000. The money came from inheritances and savings, Gaskin says — and the news of the colony spread by word of mouth so that the original San Francisco group has nearly doubled in size. Hot showers are available at a community bath house, men and women together. "We're into believing the human form is beautiful and it's all right for folks to see each other and stuff," Gaskin explained.

Memorial Concert Scheduled Sunday

The second annual Memorial Concert at First Presbyterian Church will be presented Sunday evening, in memory of members of the congregation who have died during the last year. The concert will offer Franz Joseph Haydn's universally popular oratorio, "The Creation," featuring members of the FPC Motet Choir with orchestral accompaniment. The presentation will be under the direction of Robert E. Poer, choirmaster and organist at FPC.

Soloists for the work will include bass Don McCartney, tenor Ken Mills of Monahans and soprano Dana Davis, Alice Helms, Sue Oldham and Carolyn Winkler. "The Creation" is choral music on a grand scale. Poer points out — a skillful blend of elements of 18th Century Italian opera with those of the classical symphony, to provide a unique musical work in Haydn's own distinctive style. The oratorio had its first performance on April 29, 1798 and was immediately successful. Subsequent performances throughout Europe added to Haydn's immense popularity. Today, almost two centuries later, the oratorio continues to be one of the most respected and popular works in the entire choral music literature.

The memorial concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. Sunday in the fellowship hall of the First Presbyterian Church, W. Texas and N. B. Sts. It will be open to the public at no charge.

A special training course for lay speakers will be held this weekend in First United Methodist Church here.

The training event, open to all interested persons, will begin with registration from 1:45 to 2 p.m. Saturday, followed immediately by the first class session. Designed primarily for persons who have had little or no previous public speaking experience, as well as those who have had some speaking experience, the course will prepare lay people for certification as lay speakers in the United Methodist Church.

The Rev. O. A. McBrayer, superintendent of the Big Spring District of the UMC, will be the moderator for the workshop, assisted by district lay leader Robert Crowell and Cliff Chapman, district coordinator of lay speaking.

Youths Attempting To Raise Money

Youth of Wilshire Park Baptist Church are hard at work on projects to raise funds for a missionary trip to Colorado this summer. The young people plan to conduct Bible schools in various of the scenic parks in that state and to do so, they must raise several hundred dollars to finance travel and living expenses.

Accordingly, they are conducting a mammoth paper drive in the city, and also have planned a super garage sale this weekend.

The drive for old newspapers to be recycled is a continuing project. Persons may bring papers to the church at 801 S. Bentwood St., or, if they have large quantities of paper, they may telephone 694-7787 to make arrangements to have them picked up.

The young people's garage sale opened this afternoon at 3607 Stanolind St., and will continue all day Saturday. The public has been invited to come browse and buy.

State Officials Visit

The Tall City of Midland is honored today by the presence of four distinguished state officials, and, needless to say, Midlanders are delighted to have them as very special guests.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe visited briefly in the city during the early part of the afternoon. He will be in Odessa tonight to address the annual banquet of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at its 56th annual convention.

The three members of the Texas Railroad Commission — Chairman Jim Langdon, Ben Ramsey and Mack Wallace — were due to arrive here later in the afternoon. They were to be the guests of The Midland House Judiciary Committee at a reception arranged in their honor at the Midland Petroleum Club.

Commissioner Langdon, who formerly resided at Midland, appeared on a discussion panel, "Energy and the West Texas," at the WTCC convention at Odessa early this afternoon.

It isn't often that Midlanders have the opportunity of being hosts to so many important state officials on any one day, but they are pleased and proud when such occurs.

The governor and the commissioners all have been responsive to Midland and to West Texas generally in matters on which they have been approached from time to time. They truly are friends of West Texas and West Texans.

Briscoe particularly has been helpful in a long-range water proposal advanced by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and in other regional matters, including increased fuel allocations.

With the Railroad Commission serving as the oil and gas regulating agency in Texas, it is only natural that Commissioners Langdon, Ramsey and Wallace would be well known to West Texans, particularly those in the petroleum industry who have frequent business dealings with the commission. The commissioners not only are well known, they are favorably known among Midland and area residents.

Midland is fortunate in having a district office of the Railroad Commission located here. Its staff members are good citizens of the community. The commissioners always take time out to visit the office when in the Tall City.

Midlanders extend a most cordial welcome to the visiting state officials and invite them back to the Tall City at every opportunity.

'All I Want Is Enough Evidence To Nail You'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Pressures brought on Spiro Agnew termed 'terrible.' WASHINGTON—Spiro Agnew grimly told aides after his abdication last October that the White House had brought "terrible" pressures on him to give up the vice presidency.

The White House feared he would lose his fight to stay in office, said Agnew, thereby setting a bad precedent for President Nixon's own struggle against impeachment. Agnew felt compelled to resign in exchange for a deal to keep out of jail.

Only a few hours after the high drama in a Baltimore courtroom, we now have learned, he discussed his action individually with trusted aides. "There are things you don't know about and pressures that were brought on me that you may never know about," he told one aide, who now has recounted the conversation to us.

To another aide, Agnew described the White House as "ruthless" and the pressure it brought on him as "terrible."

What pressures? For one, the White House staff chief, Alexander Haig, had called Agnew's top aide, Art Sommer, and had warned brutally that the vice president could end up behind bars if he continued his fighting tactics.

White House Maneuvering But the Agnew aides were familiar with this incident; they knew the President was maneuvering to ease their man out. What, then, were the terrible, unknown pressures?

One former aide told us that he had learned from Agnew's Secret Service bodyguards that the pressures were "personal." Another former aide said he "understood" that Agnew wanted to protect his family from embarrassing revelations.

Washington Post reporters Richard Cohen and Jules Witcover in their carefully researched Agnew book, "A Heartbeat Away," allude cautiously to "spicy insights into Agnew's personal life."

They report that "several witnesses had volunteered very damaging information about aspects of Agnew's personal life." These findings, they assert, were "ruled out of bounds" by the prosecutors, we have learned, dealt with allegations that a Maryland contractor had provided Agnew with a call girl in exchange for government favors.

'Laughable' Agnew told us that the call girl charge was "laughable" and "ridiculous," and played no part in his decision to resign as vice president. He knew who had told the prosecutors these stories, he said, and the contractor was a "congenial liar... a wild man."

waiting for the House Judiciary Committee to lay out the evidence. Sources close to the impeachment inquiry say the grand jury evidence, which was delivered to the committee in such great secrecy, contains little new material. But the compilation of all the existing evidence, say our sources, adds up to a "devastating case against the President."

South figured out an honest swindle that just might work if West held the ace of trumps and jack of spades. He proceeded to discard his six of clubs on one good heart and the queen of clubs on the other. Then he led a trump.

West won the ace and decided that East was marked with four clubs to the ace. In that case if East also held the spade king, a spade lead would allow South to play dummy's 10 and avoid the loss of a spade trick. So West led a third heart and South was able to discard his three spades on dummy's clubs.

BRUCE BLOSSAT Gerald Ford's Looking Better All The Time

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Vice President Gerald Ford is a deeply torn man today as he watches the swirling Watergate currents which might spin him into the presidency he says he does not aspire to.

Thoughtful Republican analysts who have begun to watch Ford closely find absolutely no reason to doubt his sincerity when he declares right now that he doesn't want the big job and won't seek it in 1976. They do not believe he has developed secret aspirations since he took over from Spiro Agnew who resigned in October, 1973.

Yet, obvious to all, his position six months later is vastly altered. Public opinion polls have showed his leading top Democrats for the presidency. To be sure, one gauging responses of lower-echelon GOP officials placed him well behind California's aspiring Gov. Ronald Reagan, but that is not really significant. Many party leaders are touting Ford, and one tough-minded reporter who held the standard impression of "plain-talking Jerry" told me he found his recent Chicago speech to midwestern Republicans "electrifying."

Meantime, of course, the mills in Congress grind slowly but inexorably toward a judgment on impeachment of President Nixon, with a greatly heightened prospect the House decision will go against the President. And I have just heard again, persuasively, that such a decision would fairly quickly line up almost 60 of the 87 Senate votes needed for removal of Mr. Nixon when and if that body sits as a jury in the case.

Truly this was not foreseen when Ford was inducted. It was pre-Saturday night massacre (the firing of Special Prosecutor Cox), and, notwithstanding a massive array of evidence possibly drawing the President into Watergate, no real stirrings toward impeachment had begun.

Moreover, and it is cruel to have to report this judgment from a most knowledgeable source, Mr. Nixon had chosen Ford with what he deemed to be great precision as the kind of man the Congress and the party and the country would never want to see as president. What Ford was told, or thought the reason to be, in the President's eyes he was fresh insurance that the Congress, most crucial because of its impeachment role, would prefer to have Mr. Nixon serve out his second term.

The President miscalculated, as he so often does when he is trying hardest not to do so. Ford quickly gained appeal as a clean, new figure, and at least for a while, as a "safe haven" for politicians to seek out who are sick of the mess and not entranced by the prospect of a 1976 race fought on the old, threadbare Reagan-Rockefeller lines.

Looking at this today, Ford, as indicated, is puzzled. Closer to the presidency than he imagined he ever would be, he is constantly pulled at—credibly at the private level—by those who say he must separate himself from Mr. Nixon. Why? Loyalty to a party in great distress, self-preservation, the need for independent stature if he should have to play a key role on both the domestic and foreign scene. But Ford also hears another drum pounding the incessant theme of loyalty to the man who chose him. So he wobbles back and forth.

If he became president through Mr. Nixon's removal, he would likely be free of Watergate mud but deluged by all the practical problems of

It has been suggested that synthetic gas be extracted from coal, which can also have its polluting sulfur content eliminated by an additional chemical reaction. The World Almanac notes. Though these processes would make America's vast low-grade coal deposits more usable, environmentalists urge consideration of federal standards to regulate strip-mining and land restoration as well as stringent enforcement of pollution controls on coal gasification plants.

Dear Editor: I see where the moustache is back in bloom, and youths and semi-youths are finding it takes just as long to grow a respectable handlebar as it did in the 1880s.

My bare-faced neighbor says shaving is a chore, somewhat like lawn mowing, but both are more so when you have to skip around patches like moustaches, goatees, and flower beds.

With riding mowers, womankind has taken over some of the lawn mowing, but it is still mankind that expedites or multiplies the problems of shaving.

DON OAKLEY Electric Goldmine In America's Trash Heap

NEW YORK (NEA) — A four-leaf clover is blooming on the nation's growing mountain of trash, and more and more communities are beginning to look it over.

This is the idea, which is becoming increasingly attractive and practical in these energy- and ecology-conscious days, of converting trash into power and mining it for recyclable metals and other resources.

According to the federal Environmental Protection Agency, there is enough energy in garbage and other solid wastes generated in the nation's large cities to provide the equivalent of 150 million barrels of oil a year, or more than a quarter of the oil expected to be piped from Alaska's North Slope.

In a recent status report on programs to convert waste to energy, the agency listed these cities as having either started or seriously considering transforming trash into electricity or otherwise utilizing it: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Washington, D.C., Boston, St. Louis, Baltimore, Cleveland, Milwaukee, San Diego, Buffalo, Rochester, Memphis, Albany, Akron, Nashville, Knoxville, Bridgeport, Conn., Brockton, Mass., and Eugene, Ore.

New York, which has created a virtual dead sea off the East Coast by years of dumping of sewage sludge in the ocean, is considering a proposal by a private company to build a "resource recovery center" at its lower harbor.

First, a 225-acre island would be constructed out of garbage, and then on top of it a plant which would initially consume about 11,000 tons of garbage a day, or almost a third of the amount produced by the city itself. The plant would generate 100,000 kilowatts of electricity, enough to power 10,000 homes. The plant would also produce 100,000 tons of ash, which would be used for road building. The plant would also produce 100,000 tons of slag, which would be used for brick making.

Waste conversion will not in itself be the answer to the country's long-term energy needs, but even if some of the estimates that have been made as to the amount of energy available in the nation's municipal refuse output are exaggerated or unrealistic — seven per cent of current natural gas consumption, for example, or six per cent of electricity production — the potential power now being thrown away in our garbage is not anything to turn one's nose up at.

Bad News Causes Stock Market To Fall Back; Trading Light

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, confronted by a steady stream of bad news on inflation and interest rates, fell back sharply in light trading today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.00 at 860.92, and declining issues swamped gainers by close to a 1-point margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Among the negative influences listed by analysts were the spread of a record-setting 10 1/2 per cent prime lending rate through the banking industry, and a government official's prediction that inflation in the second quarter might be at least as bad as it was in the first.

Coastal States Gas was the Big Board volume leader, up 1/2 at 8 1/2 in trading that included a 171,000-share block at 7 1/4.

It kicked liquid sulphur with a slight show of gas, and solidification of sulphur began plugging the drilpipe.

Plans by Lone Star are for making production tests in possible producing horizons above 14,000 feet.

The test is in Washita County, in section 27-10N-19E, 20 miles east of Lone Star's No. 1 Baden, which set the previous depth record in April, 1972. It was plugged and abandoned at 30,650 feet.

McGee Would Have Winced At Tributes

By JAY SHARBUTT NEW YORK (AP) — Frank McGee, the NBC newsman whose little-known fight against bone cancer ended in death this week, is being buried Sunday near Washington, Va., a small farming town 65 miles from the nation's capital.

McGee, 52, a polite, unassuming man, was eulogized Thursday on NBC's "Today" show, a program he joined in October 1971. The eulogies, however well-intended, seemed overdone. He'd probably have winced at them.

You rarely read much about him until his death Wednesday. He was an anomaly among top network newsmen, for whom publicity machines work long and hard to get names known

Women's News Special

NEW YORK (AP)—On May 2, CBS News will air a one-hour daytime news special for women. It eventually could become a regular weekly event, according to a CBS executive in charge of the project.

The show is called "Magazine" and is hosted by correspondents Sylvia Chase and Charles Kuralt. Employing a format similar to CBS' "60 Minutes," it'll report on such diverse stories as hysterectomies, economical supermarket shopping and how soap operas are put together.

How did the show come about? Was it prompted by pressure from women's activist groups who feel daytime television should offer its predominantly female audience more than soap and games?

"No, I wouldn't think so," says Bill Leonard, a CBS News senior vice president. He said it basically stemmed from a suggestion made about 1 1/2 years ago by CBS program chief Fred Silverman.

If the show gets the reaction CBS hopes it will, he said, it could become a weekly series in future years: "I would hope they (CBS brass) could make it that."

NBC covered both scenes live. And McGee, facing millions of viewers from a midtown studio, suddenly had to make the supremely difficult on-the-air transition from great triumph to great tragedy.

He continued working, even though in great pain, until April 11, when he checked into a hospital. It was there he died of pneumonia which his doctor said was brought on by a combination of both the cancer and the treatment that sought to arrest it.

Texas Politics Picking Up Steam

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With two weeks of campaigning remaining before the May 4 primaries, Texas politics showed signs of picking up a little steam Friday.

Republicans and Democrats were beating the war drums and increasing the tempo.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, fighting for his political life and a second term, made whirlwind tours of the Wichita Falls region. He dedicated a facility for the mentally retarded at Wichita Falls and then helped with the formal opening of Copper Breaks State Park, between Quanah and Crowell.

Frances Farenthold, Briscoe's female opponent, told a Plainview audience she considers mainly three issues in her race for governor. She named property tax reform, public school financing and utility rates protection.

While accusing the governor of appointing 17 lobbyists to state boards and commissions, she said she would be a "free agent" if elected to the governor's seat.

Mrs. Farenthold issued a 17-man list and said all had registered as lobbyists during the 1973 Legislature. Each of them, she added, was appointed to state commissions by the governor. She said the list included five oil and gas lobbyists who were named to committees of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Briscoe, who less than 10 days ago said he would not involve the office of governor in the pari-mutuel betting referendum, said at a news conference in Abilene that as a private citizen he would vote against the wagering.

The governor declined comment when asked if he would sign a betting bill.

Mrs. Farenthold earlier voiced opposition to horse racing gambling, commenting that it would bring a "bad element" into the state.

Odell McBrayer, the Republican hopeful from Fort Worth, was in Austin Thursday. He told his audience that "Watergate has been no problem to me in my campaign."

Asked at a press conference if he would like President Nixon to campaign for him, the GOP candidate said he thought it "too late" to arrange for the primary. How about Nixon's help in the General Election?

McBrayer answers "it would not necessarily hurt or help." The Fort Worth lawyer added, "Texans don't seem to be interested in any race this year... They seemed to be turned off."

The other Republican gubernatorial candidate, Jim Granberry of Lubbock, spoke in Abilene at a luncheon sponsored by Taylor County supporters.

The former Lubbock mayor said Briscoe should take a stand on an agency shop bill which would permit labor and management to negotiate contracts requiring all employees of a firm to pay an agency fees or dues.

Granberry said he was against such a measure and would veto one if it were passed by the legislature.

Bob Bullock, candidate for state comptroller, campaigned in Orange, Port Arthur and Galveston during the day.

Bullock said the 2 per cent fee levied by the comptroller's office for processing city sales tax collections back to the cities is "unwarranted, excessive and an obvious back door scheme to pay for a large part of the comptroller's operations."

He added that the fee now runs about $4 million a year. He promised to lower the fee to the actual cost of collection if he were elected.

Gargan Wins ACS Courage Award
WASHINGTON (AP) — Actor William Gargan, who lost his larynx to cancer, is the recipient of the American Cancer Society's courage award.

Gargan was presented the award Thursday by First Lady Pat Nixon. The 66-year-old actor, who had a life-saving operation 14 years ago, learned to speak without a larynx through a breath control method. He has become a volunteer leader in raising money for cancer research.

Homosexuals Gain New York Victory
NEW YORK (AP) — Homosexuals battling for equal rights in employment, housing and public accommodations won a major political victory Thursday night in the New York City Council.

The council's committee on general welfare voted 7 to 1 to send a bill banning discrimination against homosexuals to the full council, which was expected to approve the measure later this month.

World's Deepest Drilled Oil Well Plugged At 14,000 Feet
CORDELL, Okla. (AP) — The world's deepest drilled oil well—about 11 miles northwest of here—was being plugged Thursday back to a depth of 14,000 feet.

When a veil of secrecy was placed around the drilling operation recently, speculation mounted that the Lone Star Production Co. had brought in what would have been world's deepest producing well at 31,441 feet.

Company officials said Thursday, however, that the well was being plugged.

Additional testing and evaluation of the Arbuckle formation, as well as other zones, up to a depth of 14,500 feet "have become impractical due to mechanical problems," they said. The problems stem from the solidification of liquid sulphur. There was a slight show of natural gas, officials said.

Further tests will be conducted in potentially productive zones above 14,000 feet where Lone Star owns 100 per cent working interest.

Lone Star is the operator of the well and owns a 37.5 per cent interest at the bottom depth along with Natural Gas Co. of America with 37.5 per cent and ONG Exploration, Inc., at 25 per cent.

Texas Oil, Gas Well Completions Far Ahead Of '73
AUSTIN (AP) — Oil and gas well completions in Texas in this year of the alleged energy crisis are running well ahead of 1973's pace, the Texas Railroad Commission reported Thursday.

The oil and gas regulatory agency said 1,395 oil wells have been drilled since Jan. 1, compared with 1,191 for the same period of 1973.

Gas well completions total 799, up from 673 last year at this time.

Nine oil and 28 gas discoveries were reported in the April 1-15 period, bringing the year's totals to 79 oil and 102 gas finds. Comparable figures a year ago were 56 oil and 109 gas discoveries.

Four new oil fields were located in the Corpus Christi district, three in the Abilene district and one each in the San Antonio No. 1 and San Angelo districts.

Eight gas discoveries were in the Corpus Christi district, six in the San Antonio No. 2, five in San Antonio No. 1, four in the Houston district and one each in the Kilgore No. 5, Kilgore No. 6, San Angelo, Lubbock and Pampa districts.

The year's totals for well completions were boosted during the April 1-15 period by the drilling of 208 new oil wells and 120 gas wells.

A total of 538 wells were plugged during the period, including 139 dry holes.

Arkansan Pleads Guilty On Stolen Automobile Charge
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A Jacksonville, Ark., man has pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to receive and conceal a stolen car.

The charges grew out of an investigation of the slayings near Charlotte, Tex., last summer of a deputy sheriff and his wife.

Michael Douglass Hatfield, 22, pleaded guilty Thursday before U.S. Dist. Court Judge D.W. Suttie, who set sentencing for May 6.

Hatfield admitted conspiring to bring the car to Cotulla, Tex., from Arkansas and abandoning the car near Cotulla.

Also charged with conspiring to receive and conceal a stolen car is Terrell Cookston, Jr., 33, of Dallas. Other charges against Cookston allege he conspired to rob a Cotulla bank.

Leonard Wilson Freeman, 28, of Houston is charged in state court with the slayings of Deputy Louis Garza, 32, and his wife, Elida, 29, last July.

Cookston and Hatfield are not charged in the slayings.

Services For Mrs. Marion Francis Johnson, 80, will be at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Newtne W. Ellis Chapel. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery. She died Thursday in a Big Spring nursing home.

Showing 'Deep Throat' To Raise Money For Michigan Campaign

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Other politicians hold fish fries and hot dog roasts to raise campaign money. Perry Bullard is showing an X-rated movie.

Bullard's showing of "Deep Throat" this weekend is in keeping with his unorthodox ways in the Michigan House since his election in 1972 by Ann Arbor's liberal student community.

"The Democrats are really upset," Bullard remarked. "But I should stress they had nothing to do with this."

It's not the first time the Democrats have been upset with the 31-year-old lawyer. He has acknowledged using marijuana, and once smoked it at a public rally to urge the removal of criminal sanctions for the use of pot; he has been arrested for hitchhiking; and now he plans to show "Deep Throat."

"I approved the showing of this film by the group because I believe in the fundamental First Amendment right of any adult individual to see any movie that person desires to see," he said.

He predicted he might raise as much as $2,000 from the six showings of the movie at the University of Michigan Friday and Saturday nights. But a ruling by university counsel Roderick Dean apparently bars the money from direct use in the Bullard campaign.

Dean said Thursday that use of a public institution for political purposes might be illegal.

A spokesman for the Bullard's campus campaign organization said the money might be used for public purposes in Bullard's district office or on campus for his support.

No one is opposing Bullard in the Democratic primary this spring.

State Rep. Dan Angel, a Republican from Marshall, issued a news release calling the showing a "debasing" of the legislature. The statement said Bullard was "notoriously without redeeming social value."

Defense Expected To Rest In Jack Favor Murder Trial

BENTON, La. (AP) — The defense was expected to rest today in the murder trial of former rodeo star Jack Favor, after winning a legal battle to keep the dramatic testimony of its star witness in the court record.

Donald Lee Yates, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the same 1964 slayings Favor is charged with, testified Thursday that Favor was nowhere near the Houghton, La., bait stand when Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Richey were killed.

Yates testified that Floyd Cumbey shot and killed the Richeys during an attempted robbery at their home and adjacent bait stand. He said that only he, Cumbey and an unidentified third man were involved in the robbery attempt.

During cross-examination Thursday, Yates asked District Court Judge C. J. Bolin to appoint a lawyer to represent him.

After a two-hour conference with Yates, Steve McKenzie, the court-appointed lawyer, asked Bolin to strike Yates' testimony from the court record because Yates had not been advised of his right not to incriminate himself in testimony.

The judge denied the motion, but Yates refused to answer further questions from the prosecuting attorney on Fifth Amendment grounds.

Testing for the defense, Yates had told the jury that Favor drove him and Cumbey to Bossier City, La., from Oklahoma a few days before the Richeys killed.

"That was the last time I saw Favor until we met at Angola (at the Louisiana state prison)," Yates said.

It was Cumbey who killed both Mr. and Mrs. Richey, Yates testified.

"At no time was Favor involved. Myself, Cumbey and a third person were the only ones involved," the witness said.

He said he and Cumbey broke into the house while the third man—whom he would identify only as a Bossier Parish man—waited in a car outside. He said the third man had told them the Richeys kept $60,000 at their bait stand.

Yates said the Richeys insisted they did not have a large amount of money there.

"Mrs. Richey said they did not have any money. Cumbey laid her on the bed, put a pillow over her head and shot her."

Then he did the same to Richey, Yates said.

Cumbey pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the Richey slayings and was sentenced to 21 years in prison. In 1967, however, he was taken by Bossier Parish officials to Texarkana, Tex., and freed. Later he was convicted of killing two women in Oklahoma City—two days after his release. He is now serving a life term in Oklahoma.

This is Favor's second trial on charges of murdering the Richeys.

Ranchers, Student Fined For Helping Smuggle Aliens
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two ranchers and a college student pleaded guilty to charges of helping smuggle illegal aliens Thursday and were assessed fines by U.S. Magistrate John Giles.

B. J. Dewitt, 49, of Nacogdoches was given two concurrent six-month jail terms that were suspended. He was fined $500 in each of two counts in addition to being placed on probation for three years.

Clyde Cox, 56, of Pearsall was fined $400 and Charles Jones, 19, a college student and employe of Dewitt, was fined $150.

Richeys. He was convicted in 1967 but a federal judge ordered a new trial after Richey accused Bossier Parish officials of collusion with Cumbey, who was a key witness in Favor's first trial.

After Yates left the stand Thursday night, the defense called character witnesses, some from rodeo circles, who testified that Favor was honest and upstanding and once had been elected a rodeo judge.

Lighthouse For Pigeon Birth Control
The rusting Plum Point lighthouse near Jamestown, R.I., is the home for a pigeon colony and the "natural laboratory" where two scientists, Drs. Frank Happer and David Preble, are trying to learn the secrets of what appears to be a birth control system for the birds.

They found the birds deserted about 40 per cent of their eggs, apparently to compensate for lack of predators. When scientists took the role of predators, the birds made up for it by deserting fewer eggs. (AP Wirephoto.)

Walkers Now Spend $400 Million On Equipment, Clothes

NEW YORK (AP) — Well-behaved Comfy, a manufacturer of sleeping bags, Trail Blazer tentmaker, and Seattle Quilt, which produces sleeping bags and apparel.

Still, some of the independents are thriving. L. L. Bean, the famous old Maine hunting-camping supplier, claims sales rise 25 per cent a year.

Kemsley feels that the rise in numbers of backpackers will be only moderate over the next five years, perhaps about 20 per cent. But sales might soar.

He believes makers of dress clothes are beginning to pick up some ideas from the hikers and forecasts that the backpacker look in shirts and jackets will become obvious very soon, as it already is on some campuses.

Why the interest? Kemsley cites several reasons, the first of which is that people have more time and money. Old-time backpackers outfitted themselves at military surplus stores. Teen-agers today might spend more than $1,000.

The inspiration for backpackers seems to be the same as that which is driving people back to substance instead of appearance, to the natural and simple life. And the company of the small, independent equipment producers, and highly successful equipment producers.

And not to be overlooked is the sheer comfort of backpacking today. You can stay warm in Seattle, one of the best and fittest in the business. Your gear is light-weight. And your food is light-weight, too, and in the opinion of some backpackers, really excellent.

Single Woman Happy With Adopted Child

DALLAS (AP) — A year ago Peggy Varner had a neat, well-ordered house with everything in its place and a nursery complete with baby furniture but no baby.

Now her living room has a lived-in look, a high chair in the adjoining dinette, baby bib over its back and blocks and toys pushed under the chair.

"I have seen happy families. But one as happy as this? Never," says Mrs. Varner, a Dallas laboratory technician.

In March 1973, a story appeared in the Dallas Times Herald titled, "I want a baby." It told of a deep yearning of the young professional woman in her late 20s for a child. She was single, had no intention of marrying, but wanted to adopt a baby.

She tried everywhere, but no one would accept her application although she had bought a house, set up a room for a baby and made arrangements for baby sitting.

The story prompted people to offer Peggy help. "Most of all, people began to take me seriously. One of my dearest friends to whom I had daily expressed my desire for a child read the story and said, 'Peggy, I believe you are really serious about this.'"

It took awhile, but the day came when Peggy received a call that she could pick up her baby boy the next day.

"I don't remember much after that. I think I took the afternoon off and bought diapers and things," she said.

The baby she named Jason Wade "was the most beautiful child—no red wrinkled face. I remember he just relaxed in my arms and fell asleep," she said.

The Vernon Daily Record, hometown paper of Peggy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jones, said: "Parents aren't generally too happy when an unmarried daughter provides them with a new grandchild... but this isn't the case with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jones." Peggy had made it clear a year ago that she had no desire to marry, only to become a mother.

"But when Jason arrived and filled that ache in me, it was as if I suddenly were free to develop in other areas."

Now she is married to Jim Varner—after a unique wedding ceremony. The couple not only exchanged vows with each other but made it a family unification ceremony. Jason got a ring, too.

CUBS OPEN TEXAS LEAGUE SEASON ON ROAD—

Schultz Faces Brewers

Texas League President Bobby Bragan expects the biggest season for his AA circuit since Albuquerque and Fort Worth-Dallas were secure citadels of the circuit a few years ago.

The season opens tonight with Midland at San Antonio and El Paso at Amarillo in West Division openers.

Bragan, in Midland for a Cub-welcoming barbecue Thursday at Cubs Stadium, expects big things from Amarillo, the San Francisco Giants farm club.

"The field is in the best shape it has ever been in and the community and Chamber of Commerce have swung their weight behind the ball club and there is energetic new management."

"I expect Amarillo to go over the 100,000 mark in attendance."

Bragan also is pleased with the addition of Victoria, which replaces Memphis as the New York Mets entry in the league.

"The ball park there is as beautiful as it was the last time it was in the league."

"The playing field of course can't compare with the one here in Midland, but it is among the better ones in the circuit."

Shreveport (Milwaukee Brewers); Alexandria (San Diego Padres), Arkansas (St. Louis Cardinals) and Victoria compose the East Division.

In the West, Midland (Chicago Cubs), Amarillo, El Paso (California Angels) and San Antonio (Cleveland Indians) will battle it out.

The TL will play 140 games, 92 intra-divisional games and 48 inter-divisional. The winners of each division play a best-of-five game championship playoff.

Last year, Memphis beat San Antonio in the playoff.

Midland's Cubs open the season tonight in San Antonio with left-hander Budd Schultz scheduled to pitch for Manager Walt Dixon.

The home opener for Midland will come Tuesday after four games in San Antonio. The Cubs will begin a six-game stand against Amarillo, three, and El Paso, three.

Probable starters for the Cubs tonight will be Joel Green at third, Bill Hulsman at second, Joe Wallis in center, Jerry Tabb at first, Bill Droegge in left, Bill Bright in right, Wayne Tyrone, DH, Ken Szukiewicz at short and Steve Haug, catching.

With Gonzales going on the disabled list with a bad back, Jose (Pepi) Ortiz, veteran outfielder who has played with both the Chicago White Sox and Chicago Cubs, goes on the active roster. Ortiz proved popular with Cub fans last year for his hustle when he came to the Tall City from Wichita and battled 264 in 32 games. Pepi, a native of Ponce, Puerto Rico has spent most of his career in AAA ball, batting .293 with Tucson in 1969 and .308 for the same club in 1970.

The Chamber of Commerce-Booster Club welcoming barbecue at Cubs Stadium Thursday was so successful that they ran out of food after feeding 250. There were an estimated 375 on hand.

Texas League President Bobby Bragan said, "It's always a pleasure to come to Cubs Stadium. It's one of the most beautiful parks, not only in the Texas League, but anywhere."

Ernie Banks took note of the wind blowing a gale to left and longed for a bat once again.

Mike Krukow, one of the Cubs' young pitchers getting his first look at Cubs Stadium, couldn't believe it while Bill Droegge noted the outfield, where he plies his trade, had received a lot of work during the off season. "It's nicer than most infields."

Ex-Lee Hurler Makes Grade With Captains

One thing and another... and did you know the Texas League, founded back in 1888, is the second oldest minor league. Only the International League, 1884, has been going longer...

Former Midland Lee athlete Roger Alexander, who pitched at Danville, Midwest League last year, got a look from Shreveport this spring and was impressive enough so that he'll stick with the Texas League Captains.

Before reporting to the Milwaukee farm club at Tempe, Ariz., this spring, Roger, who played for Ernie Johnson as a junior in high school before transferring to Norman, Okla., worked out with the Lee nine for two weeks...

Wednesday wasn't a bad night for Texas League grads, with Dave Schneck, who wore out Midland pitching while with Memphis a couple of years ago, hitting two homers for the Mets. Alexandria ex John Grubb supplied a game-deciding hit for San Diego.

Schneck leads the National League in hitting with a .464. And among the American League pitching leaders is Frank Tanana, a 16-game winner at El Paso last year.

Rookie Tanana's presence, some say, makes the California Angels a pretty good bet to set a major league staff strikeout record. Tanana joins a couple of other well-known heat men in Nolan Ryan and Bill Singer...

The other day when Midland High handed Odessa Permian its first District 5-4A loss, a Bulldog reached base in the first inning and was told by a garrulous defender, "We're going to beat you guys today." The next time the runner reached base, Permian trailed by 3-0, and the defender assured, "We're still going to beat you, soon as we start hitting."

Finally, in the last inning with Permian trailing 6-2, the runner again got on base and

And in case you've been wondering, certainly Big Lake's Joe Barnes, headed for the Chicago Bears, is going to play in the Coaches' All-America football game at Lubbock June 22. MHS-AHS, Lee-Cooper Matches 1st Place Clubs

 Midland entertains Abilene and Midland Lee travels to Abilene to take on the Cooper Cougars in key District 5-4A baseball action 2 p.m. Saturday.

SPORTS

1B-FRIDAY, APRIL 19, 1974

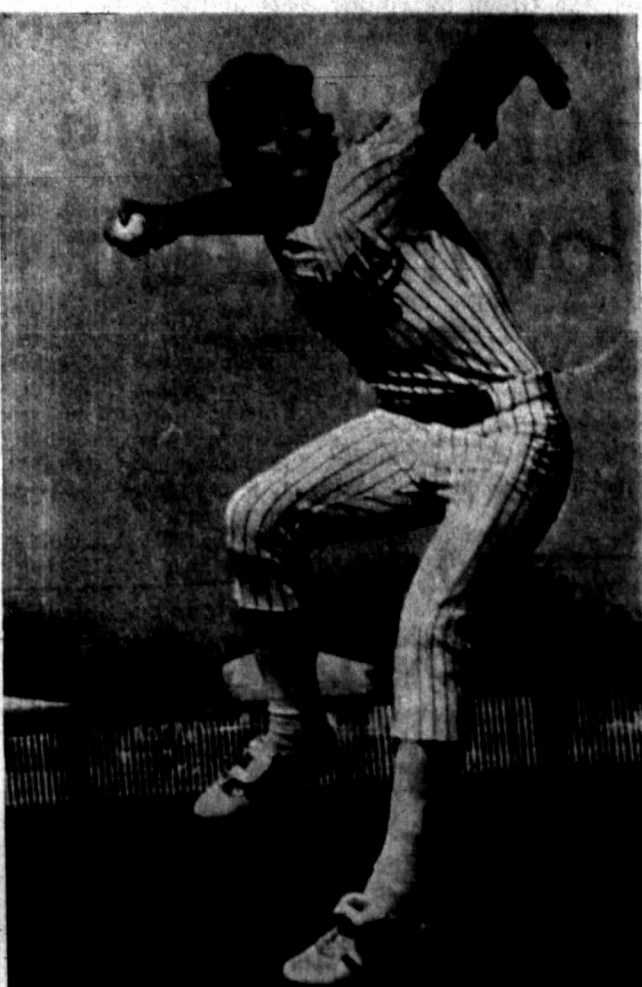

All four teams share first place in the second half of the race with 2-0 marks so the logjam will ease up considerably after Saturday's play.

While the two Midland and Abilene schools are going after each other, the bottom four teams, Odessa Permian, Odessa, San Angelo and Big Spring will be facing each other. Those four all stand 0-2 in loop play.

Coach Arlen Dickson's Purple Pack has come alive, winning five out of its last seven games and is on a three-game winning streak which includes wins over Midland Lee, Permian and Big Spring.

Dickson will call upon either Terrill Littlejohn or Jeff Cole to face Abilene and Monte Harris most likely will throw for the Eagles. Harris swings

Ron Heim
 Bulldog's acrobatic second-sacker inning to pull out a narrow 7-6 victory over Big Spring while Lee beat San Angelo, 4-2, scoring three unearned runs off Rudy Izzard.

Lee takes a 15-6 season record against Cooper's 9-10 reading, but the Cougars have been hitting the long ball, smacking three homers against Midland recently and duplicating the feat against OHS Tuesday in a 6-1 victory with Alan Lakatta hitting two and Steve Baber one. Lakatta, who will pitch against Lee, has four loop homers, Baber three.

Lee Coach Ernie Johnson will start Keith Bishop and relieve with Phil Anderson in Abilene Saturday.

Permian will try Ray Nunez (3-0) against Big Spring since Alex Kager (8-2), has lost two straight for the first half champions. Permian's defense has fallen apart and the teams are taking advantage of the breakdown.

Midland is 10-11 on the year and Abilene is 12-9 and has began winning in recent games after a 4-3 finish in the first half of the race.

The Panthers take a 13-3 mark against the Steers who stand 4-17 while OHS is 9-10 and San Angelo sports a 6-9 season mark.

Garr Snaps Slump With 7 Hits In Row

By BRUCE LOWITT
 AP Sports Writer

Hank Aaron finally hit one... a single, that is.

"It's about time," the Atlanta superstar said Thursday night after getting his first non-home run hit of the baseball season.

Ralph Garr, meanwhile, was smacking everything in sight, getting three straight hits, driving in two runs and scoring twice to lead the Braves to a 7-2 victory over the San Diego Padres.

In Thursday's other National League games, St. Louis beat Philadelphia 6-2, Montreal downed the New York Mets 8-5, San Francisco defeated Houston 5-2 and the Chicago Cubs edged Pittsburgh 1-0. In the American League, the New York Yankees whipped Boston 6-1, Minnesota clipped California 3-2 and Baltimore's game at Detroit was rained out.

It's been quite a turnaround for Garr, who went 0-for-16 at the start of the season but has hit at a 21-for-38 clip since then to put his average at .382.

Cards 6, Phils 2
 Pitcher Lynn McGlothen's two-run double helped the Cards snap the Phils' six-game winning streak. He and Ron Schueler pitched scoreless ball through four innings before St. Louis took the lead on McGlothen's hit.

Bake McBride's sacrifice fly in the sixth gave the Cards the winning run and they added two in the eighth on Ken Reitz' single.

Expos 8, Mets 5
 "I was looking for a fastball all the way," said Jim Cox—and that's exactly what Ray Sadecki served him. The Montreal rookie drove it over the wall for a two-run homer in the third inning, giving the Expos their winning margin over the staggering Mets.

Cox, who also drove in a pair of runs with a single that capped a four-run first inning, said, "I feel real great about hitting my first homer. It's a thrill that comes just once."

Cubs 1, Pirates 0
 Chicago managed only an unearned run off Jim Rooker—but that's all the Cubs needed to send the Pirates tumbling down to their ninth setback in 11 games.

Rick Monday and Jerry Morales singled in the first inning, with Monday making it to third when second baseman Rennie Stennett committed an error on the throw in. Then Williams delivered a sacrifice fly.

From then on, Ken Frazier and Ray Burris did the job, scattering seven Pittsburgh hits. Former Midland Cub Burris fanned four of the six batters he faced.

Yanks 6, Red Sox 1
 George "Doc" Medich stifled Boston on four hits—one of them Bernie Carbo's homer with two outs in the ninth inning—and rode New York's six-run sixth inning to an easy victory over the Red Sox.

Rick Wise, in his second American League start, had the Yankees stifled until the big sixth. Then Bobby Murcer singled, Ron Blomberg doubled, Graig Nettles hit a sacrifice fly and Duke Sims and Gene Michael doubled to make it 3-0.

Twins 3, Angels 2
 Steve Brye's three-run homer in the sixth inning carried Minnesota to victory and within a game of the first-place Angels in the AL West.

A walk to Joe Lis and a single by Eric Soderholm preceded Brye's shot over the left field wall off rookie Frank Tanana. California scored its runs in the seventh inning on a double by Bobby Valentine, a walk to Frank Robinson, Bob Oliver's single and Lee Stanton's grounder.

Bucks Outlast Bulls After Blowing Lead

By JOE MOOSHL
CHICAGO (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was near perfection Thursday night but his Milwaukee Bucks teammates "made a lot of dumb mistakes" and instead of an easy victory over the Chicago Bulls they had to settle for a 113-111 decision. Nevertheless, the Bucks took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven semifinal series. Game No. 3 will be played in Milwaukee Saturday afternoon with the fourth game scheduled for Chicago Monday night. "I thought we were going to win it in the fourth quarter," said a dejected Dick Motta, coach of the Chicago Bulls.

Bucks, tried to explain how his team, leading 77-57 well into the third quarter, came within an eyelash of defeat. "We made a lot of dumb mistakes down the stretch," said Costello. In an American Basketball Association game, the Indiana Pacers scored a 118-107 victory over the Utah Stars. In NBA action tonight, the Boston Celtics host the New York Knicks. The Bulls came back on the shooting of Norm Van Lier and Howard Porter and it was 91-77 going into the final period as Jabbar's total soared to 42 points. Then the game turned around. Jabbar managed only two points the rest of the way and Chet Walker, helped by Rick Adelman, started to chop away at the Milwaukee lead. The Bulls scored 10 straight points in one stretch and crept within six points at 93-87. Walker and Norm Van Lier topped the Bulls with 27 points each. Pacers 118, Stars 107. Indiana rallied from a 14-point deficit behind the shooting of Fred Lewis who finished with 40 points and George McGinnis who tallied 30. The victory prevented Utah from sweeping the West Division playoffs and dethroning the defending American Basketball Association champions.

Canadiens Bounced Rangers Usher Champs Out Of Cup Play

By HAL BOCK
NEW YORK (AP) — You can add a new adage to hockey's vast collection of proverbs and courtesy of Emile Francis and the New York Rangers. "We proved," said the general manager-coach of the Rangers, "that a team that refused to be beat, can't be beat."

comeback Thursday night, beating Montreal for the third straight game, this time 5-2. And they did it because, as Francis said, they just refused to be beaten. In other NHL action Friday, the Chicago Black Hawks beat the Boston Bruins 4-2, while in the World Hockey League, Minnesota trimmed Houston 5-4 in sudden death overtime.

New York seemed dead after dropping the second and third games of the series and trailing the best-of-seven set 2-1. That was when Giacomin took charge. "I'm going to be the leader. Somebody has to and I'm the oldest guy. We're going to win this thing." It marked the third straight year the Rangers have eliminated the defending Stanley Cup champions in the first round of the playoffs. Boston was victimized last year and the Canadiens two years ago. "Maybe it's an omen," said Francis. "Maybe it's our turn to get one for ourselves now."

Cullen Rides Wind To 70

Midland's Judy Rankin Only Three Strokes Back

By RON ROACH
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A year ago, Mickey Wright came to this desert resort to become a student of golf under a local pro. It paid off with a $25,000 victory in the Dinahold, nine-year veteran went

Shore Winners Circle LPGA championship. Betsy Cullen, an Oklahoman who used to fret when the wind blew, arrived in Palm Springs a month ago and the 35-year-old, nine-year veteran went directly to John Reboita, teaching pro at Tamarisk Country Club. Miss Cullen hasn't won the richest tournament in the history of women's golf but, with the wind as an ally—not an enemy — she whipped the Mission Hills Golf and Country Club course in two-under-par 70 for a one-stroke lead entering today's second round of the $200,000 tournament.

Sears Classic and the 1973 Alamo Open. Midland's Judy Rankin was fourth with a 73. Miss Cullen said her secret to success in the wind is not to worry about it. Red-eyed from the gritty air, she said, "As long as I'm hitting solidly, I have control. You have to have on this course. If you know what kind of spin you'll have, you're okay."

Fezler's 66 Tops Pensacola Golf

By BOB GREEN
PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Soft-spoken young Forrest Fezler says he's playing less and enjoying it more this season. "I was putting too much pressure on myself last year," Fezler's heartbreak kid said Thursday after his five-under-par 66 had set the pace in the opening round of the $150,000 Monsanto Open.

headed the latter group. He said his play was "miraculous... I could have had a 76 real easy." Blanches once got it in the water, made three trips into the piney woods and found three of the sparkling white sand bunkers in his trip over the 6,679-yard Pensacola Country Club course.

But he pitched in from 45-50 yards to save par on one occasion, holed three putts in the 20-25 foot range and one-putted a total of nine times. Here are the top scores Thursday in the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament on the 6,679-yard par 35-36-71 Pensacola Country Club course — denotes amateurs.

Kathy Whitworth, the LPGA's all-time leading money winner, shot an 80, and Carol Mann, the only two-time winner on the 1974 tour, an 82.

WFL GOLD RUSH—Csonka Claims Stampede Over

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The recent flurry of jumps to the World Football League may be over, says Larry Csonka, who helped start the trend when he took the leap along with two Miami Dolphin teammates.

Csonka said fewer pros will make the switch now "because I think National Football League owners are taking the World Football League seriously."

In Montgomery Thursday for a speaking engagement, the star fullback said NFL owners are now offering contracts that are "considerably higher" than before he and teammates Jim Kwik and Paul Warfield decided to play out their option this year and join the WFL's Toronto franchise.

Csonka also told a news conference that WFL rules may eventually infiltrate the older circuit and open up the game more.

Robby Sloan Leads Edison To Triumph

Although Bobby Walker set records with 30.2 in the 220-yard dash and a leap of 16-1/2 in the broad jump for Austin Ninth Grade, Edison won the Freshman division of the girls extra-mural track meet at Memorial Stadium Thursday, 74-58.

Robby Sloan won the high jump, the 100-yard dash and ran on a winning relay team to pace Edison to his win.

Clows Tennis Classic

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Unseeded Helga Mastoff knocked off fourth-seeded Olga Morozova 6-4, 6-2 and became the first player to reach the semifinals of a $50,000 women's tennis tournament.

In the seventh grade, Julie Ochner set the only record, a 30.8 in the 220, to lead her team to 71 points. Alamo had 39 and San Jacinto 24. In the eighth grade, Goddard scored 65 1/2 points to 36 1/2 for SJ and 32 for Alamo.

GOVERNMENT REPORTS ON NFL BAN—Little Blackout Damage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite dire predictions about the impact of the anti-blackout law last fall, the 26 National Football League teams suffered only minimal economic damage in televising sold-out home games locally, the government says.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on communications and one of the anti-blackout law's sponsors, said the FCC report supports what he has believed all along. "I always felt, and felt sincerely, that the league was its own worst enemy in painting a pessimistic picture about lifting the blackout," he said.

In a 400-page report to Congress, the Federal Communications Commission said the big winner was the hometown fans who benefitted by having 109 of 180 home games televised in their cities, as opposed to only one in 1972. "This means that the fans of home-team football were able to see their team-play, which is what the law was designed to accomplish," said the FCC report, made public Thursday.

In New York, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the league fears the long-range effects of televising home games in home areas. He said the league didn't expect any serious financial effects to be felt in 1973 because 90 per cent of the tickets had been sold before the law was passed. "Several clubs, including the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins, have noticed such

Giants' Bats Top Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — San Francisco Giants shortstop Chris Speier proved Thursday night that traditional baseball strategy doesn't always work. Twice Houston Astros manager Preston Gomez ordered SAN FRANCISCO ROTATION

Speier's bat was the key to the Giants' victory over the Astros. Speier walked in a move which brought Speier to the plate. Both times the Giants' shortstop responded positively, knocking in three runs with a pair of singles that brought Steve Bradley and the Giants a 5-2 victory over the Astros.

Bradley needed late relief from Randy Moffitt, but he got it to enable the Giants to salvage the finale of the four-game series at the Astrodome. "I don't blame them," Speier said of the walks to Ontiveros. "I did want to go out and disprove their strategy. It fires you up a little—it's a big help. Really, if you're looking for a psychological edge, this gives it to you. It just makes you bear down that much harder."

The Astros had taken the first three games of the series, but with Houston rookie starter Doug Koniczny trailing Bradley 1-0, the stage was set for Speier's two-out single to left center.

Then in the eighth, with Jerry Johnson doing the flinging, the whole scene was repeated. Maddox doubled off the left field wall and was hunted to third base after a walk to Matthews. Again Ontiveros was walked.

Challenged once more, Speier ripped a line single to right field after a wild pitch by Johnson permitted the fourth run to score.

Rankin Captures A Regional Golf

LUBBOCK — Rankin walked off with the Class A Regional Golf championship Thursday by 14 strokes over Iraan. The Red Devils were paced by Tommy Lester who had a 36-hole total of 151 to finish second in medalist honors to Iraan's Ross Wortham, who shot a 148.

While Rankin was winning the A title, Booker won the Class B championship.

Class A AAA competition started off Thursday with San Angelo and Odessa Permian picking up where they ended in District 5-4A play with the Bobcats holding a narrow one-stroke lead over the Panthers, who won the 5-4A title two weeks ago. San Angelo shot a 293 with Mark Mattingly shooting a 72. Bobby Smith and Len Feemster both had 72s for the Panthers.

The AAAA tourney winds up today at Meadowbrook with the winner advancing to the state tourney in Austin, May 4-5.

Louisiana To Vote Saturday On Streamlined Constitution

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisianans decide Saturday whether to replace their 53-year-old constitution with a more streamlined version.

More than 1.7 million persons will be eligible to vote but, despite the controversy surrounding the new document, there are indications of a light turnout at the polls. Some state officials are predicting 16 per cent of the eligible voters will vote.

Gov. Edwin Edwards, who pledged to work for adoption of a new constitution as a gubernatorial campaign pledge, says it must be adopted if the state is to move into the 20th century.

The old constitution has been amended more than 500 times and in recent years voters have sometimes been asked to contend with as many as 50 constitutional amendments at one time.

The fact that voters have taken to rejecting the proposed amendments uniformly was one thing that spurred Edwards and other politicians to seek a completely new constitution. The constitutional convention,

Portable Tv Set Taken From Home

A portable television set was taken by burglars at 306 E. New York St. between 5 p.m. Wednesday and 11 a.m. Thursday.

Police reported the burglars kicked open the front door of the residence.

formed by the legislature in 1972, convened in January 1973 and worked for a full year in preparing the new 35,000-word document.

Most of the opposition centers around two articles in the new document—the one dealing with property taxes and the article on education.

The taxation article, in brief, sets up a uniform system of property assessment—the key used in the formula which decides how much tax the property owner will pay.

Under the article, all homes would be assessed at 10 per cent of actual value and homeowners would get a $3,000 homestead exemption. That means any home valued at $30,000 or less would not be taxed at all.

All business property would be assessed at 15 per cent of actual value.

Business interests contend the formula would shift the burden of taxation from homeowners to business and industry and, as a result, would thwart business growth.

The other key issue is education and voters will be given two choices at the polls.

They can choose "alternate A" which sets up five boards to govern education or "alternate B" which creates only two boards.

The five-board system includes supervisory boards for the Louisiana State and Southern University systems, a board for elementary and secondary education, a board for colleges other than LSU and Southern and a so-called super-board to oversee all of them.

Alternate B would give the state one board to govern all higher education and one board to govern elementary and secondary education.

DISCUSSES ARAB OIL—John Sawhill, who has been named to succeed William Simon as head of the Federal Energy Office, says in a Washington interview that the nation will remain "just as vulnerable, possibly more so, to an Arab oil embargo for the next few years as it was last winter." (AP Wirephoto.)

Project Sanguine Apparently Doomed By Rising Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Refusing to surrender, the Navy says it is ready to resume development of a controversial submarine communications system next year if Congress provides money.

That is a big "if." The House Appropriations Committee is on record as favoring an end to Project Sanguine, which has been fought by environmentalists and others who fear its vast underground network of wires would endanger animal and plant life.

nuclear submarines deep in the oceans in time of crisis.

On Thursday, the Navy announced it was suspending development and halting activity on the project for the remaining 2½ months of this fiscal year. Later, the Navy acknowledged it had overspent about $3 million and was trying to figure how to pay it back.

Pentagon sources said they believe the suspension will lead to the death of the project.

which has been under fire for about five years. However, the Navy then insisted it "plans to continue the Sanguine research and development effort next fiscal year provided funds are appropriated by Congress."

The defense budget proposed by President Nixon for the 1975 fiscal year contains $13.2 million to carry forward Sanguine development. The Navy already has spent $73.8 million on the project.

Candidate Carrillo Charges Threats In Senate Campaign

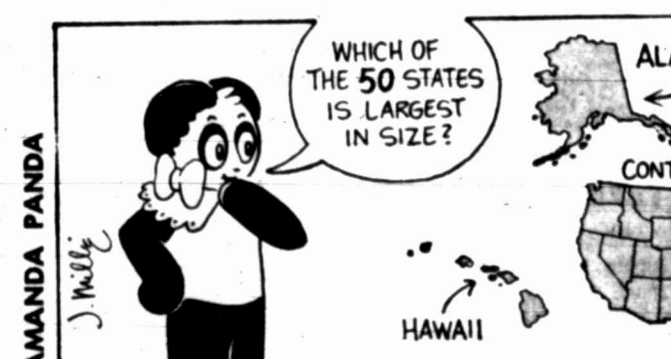

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—Citing threats, gunshots near his home and the delivery of a funeral wreath, former State Rep. Oscar Carrillo said Thursday he will curtail most of his campaign activities in a race for the Texas Senate.

Carrillo, who opposes incumbent Sen. John Traeger of Seguin for the sprawling 21st District seat, said this does not mean he is leaving the race.

"I ask the people of the district to vote for me," he said in an interview at the Duval County courthouse.

Carrillo announced recently he had split with Duval County political boss George B. Parr because Parr is supporting Traeger. He also claimed Parr has joined forces with rancher-banker Clinton Mangos of Freer and Oscar Wyatt of Coastal States Gas Producing Co. to form "an octopus party."

Nixon's Attorney Says His Law Firm Not Directly Responsible For Tax Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank DeMarco, the attorney under investigation for his role in preparing President Nixon's contested tax returns, says his law firm still is handling business for Nixon but isn't directly responsible for his current tax return.

He said his firm continues to handle local property matters for Nixon, presumably concerning the President's San Clemente estate.

DeMarco's actions in preparing Nixon's tax returns for 1969-72 were examined by the Internal Revenue Service and a congressional committee as part of their review of the President's taxes. After their findings, Nixon agreed to pay $432,787 in back taxes, plus interest.

Informed sources now say the IRS has referred the questions about the preparation of the returns, including DeMarco's role, to the Watergate special prosecutor. DeMarco said he has not been contacted by anyone on the special prosecution force.

DeMarco commented from his Los Angeles office in response to questions asked by telephone through his secretary, who relayed the answers.

DeMarco had signed Nixon's tax returns as preparer along with Arthur Blech, a Los Angeles accountant.

The White House has refused to comment on who is preparing the return for 1973. Blech said recently the White House had obtained an extension of the normal April 15 filing deadline.

The White House has also refused to say for nearly two months whether DeMarco, his law firm, or former partner Herbert Kalmbach are still handling any legal or personal business for Nixon.

They began representing the President when he bought his San Clemente property in 1969. Kalmbach also was a principal fund raiser for Nixon campaigns.

Kalmbach pleaded guilty Feb. 25 to one felony and one misdemeanor violation of federal campaign finance law. The next day, he announced he had resigned as of Feb. 15 from the Kalmbach, Chillingsworth, Knapp and DeMarco law firm.

Sadat's Announcement He's Shopping For Arms Latest In Series Of Headaches For Russians

By ROGER LEDDINGTON
An AP News Analysis

MOSCOW (AP) — President Anwar Sadat's announcement that he is shopping in the West for the arms the Soviet government won't sell him is the latest in a series of crises in Soviet-Egyptian relations that have always fallen just short of a complete break.

Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev will probably welcome the Egyptian president for the summit meeting he proposed in his speech Thursday. But unless Sadat convinces the Soviet leaders Egypt cannot survive without the missiles and planes he wants — and Egypt demonstrated last October that it could — he is unlikely to get them.

As if anticipating another headache in his relations with the Egyptians, Brezhnev moved last week to bolster the Soviet position in the Arab world by pledging new arms shipments to Syria. He also told visiting Syrian President Hafez Assad that the Kremlin takes a dim view of the United States' "partial steps" to solve the perennial Middle East crisis and Arab moves to secure peace without Moscow's direct participation.

The Kremlin's diminishing influence in Cairo undoubtedly spurred Brezhnev to solidify relations with Damascus by promising more weapons. But no matter what develops in the wake of Sadat's latest outburst against Moscow, it is unlikely to lead to a total break between the two governments.

Sadat may get the advanced planes and missiles he wants — the icing on the arms cake, as it were — from France or some other Western supplier. But his armed forces now are completely armed with Soviet equipment, and this leaves him dependent on the Kremlin for replacements.

Ever since the Arab debacle in the 1967 war, Egypt has been regularly asking the Russians for late-model missiles and attack planes. The requests were always refused. In 1972 Sadat responded by expelling Soviet civilian and military advisers from Egypt.

The Kremlin also has been unhappy about Sadat's encouragement of the private sector in the Egyptian economy.

Two Reporters Subpoenaed For Mitchell-Stans Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Reporters Sally Quinn of the Washington Post and Yneida Dixon of the Washington Star-News have been subpoenaed as government rebuttal witnesses at the criminal conspiracy trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans.

The prosecution hopes their testimony will tilt the balance against Mitchell on one of the perjury counts in the indictment.

Currently under advisement by federal Judge Lee P. Gagliardi is a motion to quash the subpoena against Miss Quinn, who returned to the Post after a highly publicized five-month stint on the "CBS Morning News."

Meanwhile, Stans returns to the witness stand today to wind up cross-examination by Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wing.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of conspiring to obstruct a massive Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation of international financier Robert L. Vesco, in exchange for Vesco's secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign. The government claims the alleged perjury was an attempt to hide purported influence peddling from the grand jury.

One of the perjury counts in the indictment charged that Mitchell falsely denied seeing volunteer Republican campaign worker Daniel Hofgren at a political fund-raising gala at the Washington Hilton Hotel on March 8, 1972.

Hofgren testified he asked Mitchell if he'd seen Vesco that day and that Mitchell replied, "you stay away from that."

Miss Quinn and Miss Dixon were said to have been covering the March 8 event for their newspapers. It is known the government hoped to elicit testimony from one or both that they saw Hofgren talking to Mitchell at the Washington Hilton that night.

The Vesco aides turned over the $200,000 contribution in $100 bills to Stans on April 10, 1972. He and Mitchell had left the Cabinet by that time to direct Nixon's successful re-election effort. Stans headed the fund-raising activities of the campaign, with Hugh Sloan Jr. as his finance committee treasurer.

Stans said he had Sloan put the contribution down under John Mitchell's name "for the time being" because he was concerned that Vesco's name connected with such a large contribution might have aroused staff interest and produced news leaks.

ABA Chief Says Saxbe May Have Endangered Prosecution Of SLA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Bar Association says Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe may have endangered the prosecution of Symbionese Liberation Army members charged with a San Francisco bank robbery.

ABA chief Chesterfield Smith said Saxbe also may have threatened the prosecution of Patricia Hearst if it turns out that criminal charges are brought against her.

In an interview Thursday, Smith was questioned about the legal implications of Saxbe's statement on Wednesday labeling the SLA and Miss Hearst as a group of "common criminals" and Miss Hearst as a willing participant in Monday's robbery.

The FBI has issued a warrant for Miss Hearst as a material witness to the robbery and filed bank robbery charges against four others identified as previously associated with the SLA.

The SLA claims it seized Miss Hearst, daughter of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, from her apartment on Feb. 4.

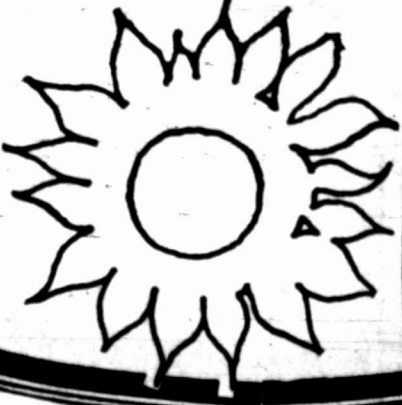

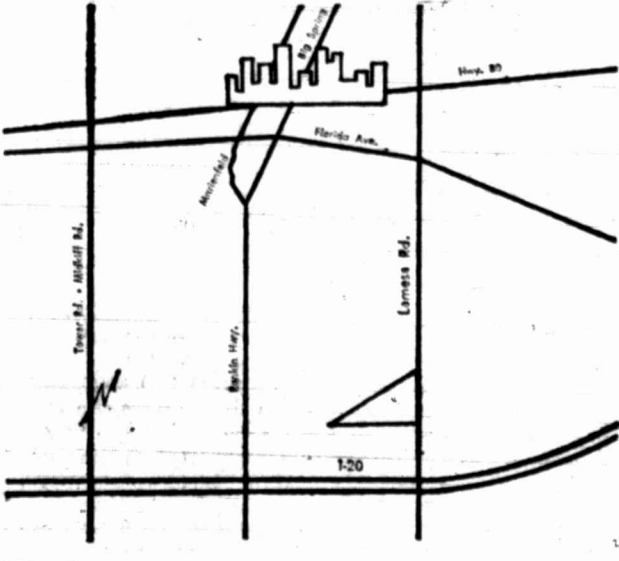

As criticism mounted, Saxbe said through a Justice Department spokesman he stands by his statements and has "nothing to add."

"The potentials for prejudice can only be weighed when you're trying to impanel an impartial jury," Smith said. "I would not be surprised if an ingenious defense attorney on the proper occasion would raise it as some type of evidence that she could not get a fair trial because of these statements."

Smith said the prejudicial impact would depend on whether Saxbe's statements were widely read in the area from which a jury is drawn.

"But certainly if everybody saw it and everybody was aware of it, there is a possibility that it could prevent any prosecution," he said.

Meanwhile, in Atlanta, Ga., FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley said the FBI would be "guided by facts and not by any opinion," when asked about Saxbe's comments about Miss Hearst.
