

Holt Horizon Opens To Gas In Ward Area

Gulf Oil Corp. has re-completed its No. 319 G. W. O'Brien, former Pennsylvania oil producer in the Ward-Estes field of Ward County, as a Holt gas pay opener, one location northwest of the two-well Holt oil area in the Ward-Estes, North field.

It finished for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2.5 million cubic feet of dry gas per day through perforations at 5,060, 5,165 feet.

Originally drilled to 15,815 feet, it is plugged back to 5,275 feet, in 7½-inch casing set at 12,495 feet.

Location is 1,979 feet from north and 1,985 feet from east lines of section 20, block F, G&MM&A survey, one mile east of Wickett.

Marlin, Reeves Get Sites For Explorers

Wildcats have been planned for Reeves and Marlin counties.

Texas West Oil & Gas Corp., Midland, accounted for a 19,500-foot searcher in Reeves, five miles northwest of Pecos. It is No. 1 Pecos Unit.

Location is 660 feet from southeast and 990 feet from northeast lines of section 29, block 4, H&GN survey, six miles southwest of Ellenburger production in the Mi Vida field.

Texaco Inc. plans No. 2-B-4 J. E. Mabee as a 13,300-foot wildcat in Marlin, one location west of the firm's No. 1-B-4 Mabee, an active wildcat, which has yielded shows in an unidentified zone.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,890 feet from east lines of section 3, block HA, H. A. Moore survey, 12 miles west of Tarzan.

Texaco No. 1-B-8 Mabee recovered 360 feet of oil and gas-cut mud on a drillstem test from 11,000-11,068 feet, and was preparing to run a liner for completion attempt after drilling to 12,892 feet.

It spots 660 feet from south and east lines of section 3, block HA, H. A. Moore survey, and one location west of the two-well Ellenburger area of the Lacaff multiphase field.

Ellenburger production in the field is at approximately 13,264-13,285 feet.

Eddy First Triple Well Is Completed

Announcement has been made of the first triple completion in Eddy County, N.M., six miles northeast of Carlsbad.

The well, Monsanto Co. No. 1 Wilderspin, is a Wolfcamp pay opener and fifth Strawn well and one-mile northeast and southeast extension to Strawn and Morrow production in the Burton Flat field.

A preliminary calculated, absolute open flow of 785,000 cubic feet of gas per day was reported through Wolfcamp perforations at 9,660-9,710 feet. No treatment has been reported.

A calculated, absolute open flow of 9 million cubic feet per day was reported through Strawn perforations at 10,398-10,430 feet.

The Morrow had a preliminary calculated, absolute

Portugal Rebellion Under Way

Committee Extends Subpoena Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee today extended the deadline for President Nixon to respond to a subpoena for tapes of 42 presidential conversations and received a recommendation that a number of impeachment charges against Nixon be dropped.

Both developments had been expected.

The committee voted 34 to 4 to extend until next Tuesday the deadline for Nixon to respond to the subpoena, which originally called for compliance by today.

May Drop Charges

The committee's staff, meanwhile, recommended that a number of impeachment charges should be dropped and said the committee should concentrate on Watergate, Nixon's taxes and contributions to his re-election campaign.

The report, if accepted, would be the basis for the presentation of evidence to the committee, which is scheduled to begin May 7.

Most of the charges that would be dropped under the recommendation relate to allegations of White House use of executive agencies for political purposes.

Also to be laid aside under the staff's recommendation were charges relating to the impoundment of funds appropriated by Congress, the dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity, and, conditionally, the secret bombing of Cambodia.

Decision Delayed

A final decision on the bombing charges is to be made after release of a Senate Armed Services Committee hearing record on the issue.

If accepted by the committee, the recommendation would focus the impeachment inquiry on areas where the staff believes documentary evidence is available to aid its investigation.

That would include Watergate and its aftermath, the settlement of an antitrust case against ITT, political contributions by the dairy industry, Howard Hughes and Robert L. Vesco; and Nixon's income taxes.

Investigation Urged

In connection with the taxes, the staff recommended that the committee conduct its own investigation to determine whether there was criminal tax fraud in the preparation of Nixon's returns from 1969 through 1972 for which the Internal Revenue Service has assessed Nixon $432,787.

Both the IRS and the staff of the congressional Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation reported after reviewing Nixon's tax returns for those years that they found no evidence of fraud on Nixon's part.

The Judiciary Committee staff suggested that to facilitate this part of the inquiry a series of questions should be submitted to Nixon for his written replies.

The staff report disclosed for the first time that it is inquiring into a $100,000 political contribution by Howard Hughes and a $200,000 contribution by Robert Vesco.

Purpose Cited

"The purpose of this inquiry is to determine the extent, if any, of presidential responsibility for unlawful campaign contributions and illegal or improper executive branch action in response to them," the committee staff said.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said no items are being eliminated from the inquiry. If evidence relating to those laid aside should turn up later, he said, they could be re-activated.

FACING ARMY REBELLION—The government of Portuguese Premier Marcello Caetano, left and President Americo Thomaz is facing its second rebellion in the armed forces in the last five weeks. A group calling itself "The National Junta of Salvation" announced the rebellion today. (AP Wirephoto.)

Troops Claim To Have Won Over Premier

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Armed troops favoring a return to democracy and peace in Portugal's African territories seized radio and television stations today, claimed to have overthrown the regime of Premier Marcello Caetano, and said they arrested him.

But an official at the Foreign Ministry said, "It is not true the government has surrendered. There is an attempt to take over the government and the situation is confused."

A 12-minute round of machine-gun fire was heard in the neighborhood of the Plaza de Comercio, Lisbon's main square, around noon. Diplomatic dispatches reaching London said tanks of Portugal's 7th Cavalry Regiment were deployed there, and that some civilians were wounded.

The regiment was one which evidently had not joined the rebels. There was no indication available immediately as to who fired first or how an apparent confrontation began.

According to diplomatic dispatches reaching London, the rebels, styling themselves "The National Junta of Salvation," pledged to work for the restoration of civil and democratic rights in Portugal, work for peace in Portugal's African territories and run the country transitionally pending national elections for a constitution-writing assembly.

They said the junta had seven members, but did not immediately identify them.

The rebels spoke of the failure of the Portuguese system after 13 years to formulate an overseas policy that would produce peace between Portuguese "of all races and creeds."

Their proclamation also spoke of the need "to clean up" Portugal's institutions, to eliminate what it called "the illegal acts which the abuse of power has legalized."

The proclamation also was said to have declared that the movement of the armed forces would "complete a program of salvation" for Portugal and would restore to the nation the civil liberties it had lost.

The junta said it would exercise power of government only temporarily — until there could be nationwide elections for an assembly that would be charged with writing a new constitution.

West Texas Due Showers

Occasional showers and thunderstorms eased across the New Mexico line into West Texas today and were expected to spread over the western half of the state.

Aside from some clouds moving from the Gulf of Mexico into the south central part of the state, skies were clear in other sections.

The National Weather Service forecast from Midland Air Terminal predicts a 20 per cent chance of rain this afternoon and Friday and a 30 per cent chance of precipitation tonight.

The high this afternoon and Friday will be in the mid-80s and the overnight low will be in the low 60s.

Wednesday's high was 86 degrees and the low this morning was 64.

Thunderstorms boomed around Sierra Blanca and Van Horn in early morning, and showers dotted the Panhandle Plains area between Hereford and Lubbock eastward to around Childress.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from a rather chilly 45 degrees at Texarkana up to 71 at Corpus Christi, The Associated Press reported.

UNTIL IT CAN CONSIDER THE ISSUE— Supreme Court To Allow Texas To Use 'Dual Box' System In Bond Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to permit Texas to continue its "dual box" system for municipal bond elections until it can consider the issue.

The court blocked the effect of a lower federal court decision that struck down the system Texas uses for voting on bond issues insofar as it dealt with the dual boxes.

The action will give Texas an attempt to meet state constitutional requirements for a vote of property owners while at the same time attempting to conform to U.S. Supreme Court decisions requiring a broader vote on bond elections.

In asking for the stay, state Atty. Gen. John L. Hill said the legality of any bond elections held with the dual box system would have been subject to legal attack if the lower court decision had remained in full force.

That would have meant that bond buyers, a very wary group, would not have bought Texas' municipal bonds until the matter was finally resolved, Hill said.

The high court's stay was issued in a brief order. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger took no part in consideration of Texas' application.

Strict Energy Conservation Is Being Abandoned

By CRAIG AMMERMAN
Associated Press Writer

Americans are abandoning the strict conservation measures they imposed on themselves at the height of the energy crisis.

A nationwide Associated Press survey finds that automobile traffic in most areas of the country is approaching pre-embargo levels. It also shows that toll road receipts are climbing, mass transit use is slipping and the rate of electricity conservation is falling.

"There are as many people on the road now as there were in September," before the Arab oil embargo brought the winter energy crisis, said federal energy chief John C. Sawhill. The AP survey showed that in recent weeks police in many states have written many more speeding tickets as motorists press down on the gas pedal.

It was the embargo imposed by Middle East producers in the fall that forced Americans to significantly cut back their use of energy, and it was the end of that embargo on March 18 that apparently has started them back toward their old habits.

A spokesman for Florida Power & Light Co., the state's largest utility, said its customers used six per cent less electricity than they normally would have between early December and late February.

But that figure fell to three per cent in March and a spokesman said "figures the week the Arab oil embargo was lifted indicate customers used noticeably more electricity than any other week in March." A similar pattern was repeated in many states, with utilities and state agencies reporting that conservation is slipping. They noted, however, that Americans still are not using the amount of electricity they would under normal growth patterns.

The push by city, state and federal governments for citizens to use car pools appears from the AP survey to have been a miserable failure in most areas. A group of scientists

Municipal Court Stops Accepting Penny-Filled Parking Fine Envelopes

Midland's municipal court was having penny problems until a law was found to solve the costly situation.

The problem: Some Midlanders have been sending in $1 worth of pennies in payment of their parking ticket fines. That method of payment costs the court $1.26 for postage when courtesy postage-paid envelopes provided by the city are used.

However, according to Municipal Court Judge Bill Ahlers, a federal statute says that no one has to accept more than 25 cents in pennies in payment of a debt.

The solution: The court has stopped accepting the penny-packed ticket envelopes.

When the post office receives the bulky envelopes an employee calls municipal court and the secretary there looks up the license number marked on the parking ticket.

That way the owner of the vehicle on which the ticket was placed can be identified.

The post office returns the ticket envelope to the sender and he has to pay the postage overage rather than municipal court.

There have been quite a few of these incidents in the last year or so and it caused problems other than the financial loss, Ahlers said.

The paper ticket envelopes are not designed to contain bulky coins and they have, on occasion, torn open, spilling coins everywhere.

And sometimes people don't (See PENNIES, Page 6A)

Texas Dairy Farmers Reject Cow-Slaughter Proposal

By SYLVIA LEE-Associated Press Writer
Texas dairy farmers say milk industry conditions are not bad enough to draw them into a nationwide cattle-slaughtering protest organized by the National Farmers Organization (NFO) in several northern states.

Other individual milk producers, and spokesmen for two major dairy cooperatives said they do not believe the slaughter protest is the answer to the cost-price squeeze that has pinched the industry in recent months.

A Texas Panhandle dairyman, Louis Hinder of Canyon, Cumby, says he knows of no protest movement among them. "We don't see any need to do it here. Things are not that bad now, and I don't know how bad they'd have to get before we would think about it," Petty said.

Joe Gore of Comanche County said that economic remedies are more effective. He said, "I don't believe in indiscriminate slaughtering of dairy cattle to create a shortage of milk. I don't think that (slaughtering) is the philosophy of people in this area or in Texas."

Ray Conway, manager for the Mid-America dairy cooperative in Sulphur Springs said he has heard no talk of a slaughtering protest among 200 cooperative members in the Northeast Texas area. He said, "I think our organization would say that's not the way to solve something like that. We've never had any of our people who wanted to go that far."

Conway said he feels dairymen in his area are in slightly better shape than they were a few weeks ago when feed prices were at a peak.

"The best gauge is that few people are selling out; instead we have people starting in the industry," Conway said.

Johnny Holmes, a spokesman for the Associated Milk Producers Inc., based in San Antonio, said he is not aware of such a protest among the cooperative's southwestern members.

Gore noted that dairymen said hay has increased from $40 to $60 a ton—and in the price of roughage—the price of baling wire.

Six Present Or Former Air Officials Given Immunity In Grand Jury Probe

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Court records here showed today six present and former airline officials have been granted immunity recently in connection with a federal probe of intrastate airline service in Texas.

The grand jurors say they want to know of Braniff's talks with First National Bank of Dallas regarding the bank's acting as transfer agent for Southwest stock.

The subpoena says the jurors want to look at the records of Braniff board chairman Harding Lawrence, and Braniff President C. Edward Acker.

Further, the documents indicate the jury is interested in Braniff and its "buying, selling, underwriting or brokering securities concerning purchase, sale or underwriting of Southwest stock."

The jury also is looking, according to court records, into a Braniff complaint with the Civil Aeronautics Board which sought to invalidate terminal service agreements between Southwest and other airlines.

The grand jury has asked Braniff officers to testify about "loans or other type of relationships between Braniff and TI."

Immunity has been granted to Jacob Sorlie and Roger Street, both Braniff officers; George Grant, a former Braniff official; Jack C. Ayers, former president of TI; Theodore Brinkley, vice president of TI; and Leslie D. Vaughn, a TI officer.

Sugar Workers In Hawaii End 45-Day Walkout

HONOLULU (AP)—Hawaii's 9,000 sugar workers ended a 45-day strike and returned to their jobs Wednesday after ratifying a new two-year contract with 16 plantations.

The workers, represented by the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, won guarantees against job layoffs and a 75 cents-an-hour across the board wage increase for the life of the contract.

However, the union failed to win one of its key demands—a cost-of-living wage increase clause.

The wage hikes will come in four increments, giving top scale workers $5.55 an hour Aug. 1, 1975, in the final stage.

Meanwhile, 6,000 striking pineapple workers were expected to begin voting later this week on a tentative contract agreement with three pineapple companies.

The pineapple workers, also represented by the ILWU, went on strike April 7.

Edwards said Wednesday that Constantine Gratsos, president of the Onassis-owned Olympic Refineries, Inc., tentatively plans to visit Louisiana in May, although a firm date has not been set.

The decision to visit was made after officers from the state Department of Commerce and Industry met with company officials in New York Tuesday, Edwards said.

Edwards has been actively seeking the refinery for Louisiana since it was spurned by voters in Durham, N.H.

Governor Hopeful Louisiana May Get Onassis Refinery

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Gov. Edwin Edwards says he is optimistic that Louisiana will get the $600-million Aristotle Onassis oil refinery that sparked controversy when it tried to settle in New England earlier this year.

Edwards said Wednesday that Constantine Gratsos, president of the Onassis-owned Olympic Refineries, Inc., tentatively plans to visit Louisiana in May, although a firm date has not been set.

The decision to visit was made after officers from the state Department of Commerce and Industry met with company officials in New York Tuesday, Edwards said.

Edwards has been actively seeking the refinery for Louisiana since it was spurned by voters in Durham, N.H.

Another New Hampshire town, however, recently voted to accept the refinery.

Hinders said dairy farmers would be helped by a decrease in imports from European cheese producers. He said such imports have increased 10 percent in the first three months of 1974. Hinders noted that domestic dairymen can produce as cheaply as their European counterparts, but cannot compete with the huge subsidies the Europeans receive from their governments.

Gore noted that dairymen said hay has increased from $40 to $60 a ton—and in the price of roughage—the price of baling wire.

Meredith George Court Duchess In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO — Meredith Kay George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem George of Midland, was presented as the Duchess of Lifting Operettas at the Coronation of the Queen of Fiesta, sponsored by the Order of the Alamo, Wednesday evening in San Antonio.

Miss George, escorted by her brother, Kenneth S. George of Houston, wore a gown with a train of vibrant azules with sparkling roses in shades of pink entwined by two golden hearts, which also were on the white skirt of the robe. Jeweled epaulets and gold cording embellished the short jacket which was sashed in military blue. A plumed hat and boston completed her costume.

The theme of the coronation was "The Court of Musical Theater," with the visiting duchesses' robes and trains illustrating the European influences which led to America's own creation of musical theater. The in-town court robes and trains represented specific musicals.

James W. Gorman Jr. was the lord high chamberlain, and Kitty Carlisle and the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra provided musical entertainment. Miss Meredith, a junior student at The University of Texas-Austin, is a member of Phi Beta Phi social sorority.

Margarite Parber was the Queen of the Court, and Lucie Jean Wolf was the Princess of the Musical Theatre of Today and Tomorrow.

Shorter Showers Help Cut Bills

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — When taking a shower, I no longer turn the water on full blast, only about half as strong as I used to. This helps with the energy crisis and my utility bill has been visibly lower since I started doing this. — L.N.

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I put my wet clothes basket on the mat in front of a door and the dye from the mat soaked into the green-and-white checked tile floor. This left a red-looking stain that I have tried to remove with various household cleaners, full strength ammonia and lighter fluid but to no avail. I did not think the mat would run. There were no warnings or instructions on it when purchased. I do hope someone will have some suggestions as to how I might remove this stain from my slightly-cushioned tile floor of the type that does not require waxing. — SONJA.

DEAR POLLY — So many products now come packed in such heavy cardboard and plastic that is hard as glass. The guarantees, directions for use, replacement part numbers, etc., are written on the edge of the cardboard. This cardboard is too large for a file folder and too heavy to bend in half and also it often has to be damaged to even get the plastic cut enough to remove the item. It seems this pertinent information could be printed on a piece of paper inserted under the plastic covering so it could be saved for future reference. — RUTH.

DEAR POLLY — Since Mrs. W. S. finds toilet bowl cleaners and deodorizers that turn blue objectionable she could use bleach in the bowl. I have used it for years and find it works well. — MRS. A.H.

Guests were the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Duane Magee, and Brenda Morris, Linda Hagler, Linda Hancock, Theresa Rice, Linda Ewan, Cindy Webb, Jay Lynn Weir, Marilyn Dwyer, Melanie Francis, Arliss Sjog, Allison McCright, Mrs. Cliff Schaafsman, aunt of the honoree, and Mrs. Henry Paup of Phoenix, Ariz.

A punch party Sunday with Raggedy Ann-Andy theme in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Vashinder, 2308 W. Kansas St., feted Chris Hull, graduating senior at Lee High School.

Mrs. Vashinder was assisted in hospitalities by her daughter, Laura, who also made the Raggedy Ann and Andy posters used as decorations in the entertaining rooms.

Spring flowers were used as a centerpiece on the serving table. The honoree received a gift and corsage. She plans to attend Lubbock Christian College. Some 25 guests attended.

AUCTION ITEMS — Mrs. G. A. Donnelly III, right, chairman of the gift committee for the Museum of the Southwest's auction and dinner May 2, and Mrs. Edwin Magruder, member of the gift committee, are in a dilemma as to which of the many items to be auctioned they should bid on. The black tie dinner and auction will be held at Midland Country Club.

Auction Features Variety Of Items

The Museum of the Southwest will have an invitational black tie dinner and auction May 2 in Midland Country Club.

There will be many items on which to bid following the dinner, according to Mrs. John J. Redfern III and Mrs. William H. Jowell, co-chairman for the benefit. For ski buffs, there is a trip for two for a week in Purgatory, Colo., complete with accommodations, ski lifts and instruction.

There also will be a trip for two for a week at a tennis ranch in Phoenix, Ariz., including accommodations, meals and lessons, a week at a spa, a vacation in a four bedroom condominium at Lakeway. Bids also can be made for a dove hunt for three couples or a weekend in Ruidoso, N.M., for three couples as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Fasken. There will be a second honeymoon on opening night of the new Hilton, complete with the finest suite accommodations and a champagne supper.

Items will include decorative pieces for homes, art work by such artists as Robert Marshall, Mrs. Raymond Lynch, Mrs. Dolyle Balengar, Dub Franklin, Sherry Hatchett and Frederick Remington. There will be chess sets, furs, including parkas and a mink and leather coat, a Christmas tree decorated with ornaments, door decorations, flowers and centerpieces.

FHA Delegates Attend Meeting

Representatives of the Lee High School Chapter of Future Homemakers of America are attending the Texas Association of Future Homemakers of America convention being held today through Friday in Dallas. They include Willie Lane and Karen Bass, delegates; Lynn Gnagy, area third vice president; Mrs. Charles Ambrose Jr., adviser, and Mrs. Carolyn Peterson.

"Today's Concern - Tomorrow's Impact" is the theme of the convention. More than 5,000 members and advisers representing more than 68,000 members in 1,800 chapters throughout the state are attending. The keynote speaker was Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach.

FHAers who have achieved unusual accomplishments by completing all three levels of Encouragement and Development Program will be honored at a breakfast Friday. The Midland girls receiving honors are Sheryl Compton, Terry Cleveland, Becky Lambeth, Nancy Peterson and Donna Murphy.

Installation of 1974-75 state officers will climax the Friday evening session.

The FHA is sponsored by the Home Education, Texas Education Agency.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Alice Ann Brown, bride-elect of Mike Cunningham, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Saturday in the home of Mrs. Booker L. McDearman, 800 W. Golf Course Road.

Other hostesses were Mrs. C. D. Brown Jr., Mrs. Jack Bessellie Jr., Mrs. Laddie F. Long and Mrs. L. A. Doty Jr.

Hurricane lanterns with daisies decorated the sidewalk and daisies were on the door.

The refreshment table, covered with a yellow check cloth, had a centerpiece of yellow Dutch iris, apricot carnations, daisies and yellow mums in a tiered silver compote.

Corsages were presented to the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. Victor C. Brown, and to Mrs. Jay Cunningham of Big Spring, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Among some 50 guests attending were Mrs. H. D. Perry and Mrs. Jimmy Morehead of Big Spring and Marilyn Cunningham, student at Texas Tech University, sister of the future bridegroom.

Miss Brown received a hostess gift of silver.

Women's Rights Program Topic Presented By Mrs. Richard Story

Mrs. Richard Story presented a program on "Americanism," using the theme, "Women Who Dared," for a meeting Tuesday of the Twentieth Century Study Club in the home of Mrs. Raymond Monkress, 2407 Seaboard St. Mrs. Morgan Gist was the co-hostess.

The club's program theme for the year is "The Emerging Woman." Mrs. Story presented vignettes of three famous women in the 19th Century to relate their stories of strong feelings of women's liberation and their accomplishments then. They included Sarah Bagley, who worked in the mills 12 to 13 hours a day under poor conditions and was paid from 50 cents to $4 per week. She dared to write letters to the mill owners and testified before the legislature of Massachusetts.

Box Supper Held By Scouts

Members of Girl Scout Junior Troop 447 entertained their fathers with a box supper Monday in the Emerson Elementary School cafeteria.

The girls presented two plays, "Girl Scout Week" and "The Mystic Charm," and girls earning their drawing and painting badges received the badges.

The plays will be presented at the Scout Spring Fair to be held May 4 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Midland County Exhibit Building. Girl Scouts in Midland and Greenwood will have booths displaying crafts, paintings, needlecraft, collections, plays, folk dancing, puppet shows and a boutique, where items produced by the girls will be sold. There also will be a slide presentation on Girl Scout camps at Hat-A-Ranch and Mitre Peak. The fair will be open to the public.

DRT Chapter Selling Flags

The Aaron Estes Chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas met recently in the home of Mrs. R. E. Estes, 211 W. Kansas St., to observe San Jacinto Day.

Presiding was Mrs. F. E. Melear. Mrs. John McKinley reported she had ordered and received a supply of 3x5 foot Texas flags made of outdoor cotton bunting. These will be for sale to the public and persons wishing flags may contact Mrs. Melear, 683-3613, or Mrs. McKinley, 682-2931. Indoor flags or other sizes also can be ordered by the chapter on request.

Plans for the dedication last Sunday of a Texas flag at High Sky Girls Ranch were finalized for San Jacinto Day.

Mrs. McKinley, Mrs. Melear and Mrs. Robert Turner announced plans to attend the DRT convention to be held May 13-15 in Amarillo.

Mrs. John E. Cross presented a program on her ancestor, David Rusk, a native of South Carolina, born 1814 at the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains on a plantation owned by a southern statesman, John C. Calhoun. A stone mason, Rusk built the Old Stone Presbyterian Church at Clemons, which is still standing after 176 years. Rusk moved to Texas in 1835 from Clarksville, Ga., to St. Augustine. A veteran of the Battle of San Jacinto, at the age of 20, he was named first sheriff of Nacogdoches County and served 10 years. He also was a farmer, and the 1840 Republic of Texas census listed him with 1,534 acres in Houston County, 1,000 acres in Nacogdoches, two townsite lots and one saddle horse. He died in 1877 in Orange and he and his wife, who died in 1908, are buried in the Oak Grove Cemetery in Nacogdoches, Mrs. Cross related.

The next meeting will be held May 21 in the home of Mrs. Max Perry in observance of the signing of the Treaty of Velasco, which was the Boston Harbor of the Texas Revolution and scene of the first chapter in its history. Mrs. Richard S. Brooks will give the program on French colonization in Texas.

Wallet Found By Boys Tips Police To Utah Torture Murder Suspects

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Two young boys rummaging through trash containers at Hill Air Force Base in search of pop bottles found a wallet belonging to one of five murder and torture victims in a robbery at a stereo shop, police said Wednesday.

The discovery of the wallet was one of the reasons for the arrests of two servicemen in the case, Ogden Police Chief Leroy Jacobsen said.

Three persons were killed during the Monday night holdup and two others were badly hurt. Police said all were tortured, and a teen-aged girl was raped.

Airmen Dale S. Pierre, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and William A. Andrews, 19, of Dallas, Tex., were arrested at their Hill Air Force Base quarters Tuesday night and charged with three counts of murder.

Their arraignment was resumed today before City Court Judge E. F. Ziegler. The proceedings were interrupted Wednesday to allow the airmen time to consult their lawyer.

Weber County Atty. Robert Newey said a third airman went voluntarily to police to talk about the case. Newey said no decision had been made whether to charge the third airman or hold him as a material witness.

Jacobsen said there were at least three witnesses to the robbery and slayings besides the two survivors. They included passersby, and at least one is prepared to identify three men seen in a van near the area about the time of the incident, he said.

Officers said Andrews owned a van which they seized as evidence Wednesday. They said

Pierre had rented the garage in which $24,000 worth of stereo equipment stolen from the Hi-Fi Shop was found.

Jacobsen said the three murder victims and the two survivors were forced to drink a liquid drain cleaner. He noted that a recent television program depicted a crime in which such an agent was used to silence witnesses to a robbery.

The dead were Sherry Michelle Ansley, 18, of suburban Washington Terrace; Carol Naisbitt, 32, of Ogden, Courtney's mother, and Stanley O. Walker, 20, son of Orren Walker.

The two parents had gone separately to the store to determine why their children had not returned from work.

Miss Ansley, whose body was found almost nude, had been raped, an autopsy showed.

Pierre and Andrews are on their first Air Force assignment and are attached to the 1550th Organizational Maintenance Squadron as flightline helicopter mechanics.

PLUCKY PIRATE—Virgil Teleday, 11, of Sterling, Colo., wears a plumed pirate's hat during a boat ride at the marine park in San Diego, Calif. Virgil is suffering from terminal cancer, and the home folk have given him a trip to all the places in California he has wanted to see. (AP Wirephoto.)

Energy—

tists at the Opinion Research Center in Chicago, who have conducted weekly energy surveys for a year, said they found no tendency by consumers to switch away from the single-passenger auto trip.

The sharply higher prices for gasoline brought about by a quadrupling in the foreign price of oil does not seem to be keeping people off the roads. But the price hikes, coupled with lower speed limits, may be responsible for the continued strong business being done by Amtrak and the airlines.

High Wire Stroll Promotes Circus

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Karl Wallenda crossed the street in a most unusual fashion — 80 feet above the ground. The 69-year-old aerialist made the 500-foot walk on a wire stretched from the roof of the Onondaga County War Memorial to a construction crane crossing over a city street and a museum. His high wire stroll was to promote a circus opening Thursday.

Patricia Hearst Calls Parents 'Pigs' In New Tape

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — And now this from Patricia Hearst: My parents are "pigs," my fiancée a "clown." And "I am a soldier of the people's army" who voluntarily robbed a bank.

Speaking in a calm, subdued voice in a taped message received Wednesday, Miss Hearst said "Greetings... This is Tania." She then proceeded to heap scorn and ridicule on her family, said she never cared if she saw her "sexist pig" fiancée again, and added:

"To those people who still believe that I'm brainwashed or dead, I see no reason to further defend my position. I am a soldier of the people's army.

"The only way we can free ourselves of this fascist dictatorship is by fighting — not with words but with guns."

In the tape, the 20-year-old college coed called her parents "the pig Hearsts," and at one point addressed her father as "Adolf," an apparent reference to Nazi leader Adolf Hitler. She termed Steven Weed, to whom she became engaged last December and planned to marry in June, "my ex-fiance."

believe she has, then it's not surprising she would say something like this.

"No matter what she says, we still love her. The girl we've known all her life would not say something like that of her own free will."

Miss Hearst, whom the Symbionese Liberation Army claims to have kidnaped on Feb. 4, said in the tape she was a voluntary participant in an April 15 bank robbery in which four alleged members of the SLA have been named in warrants. She is wanted as a material witness. Of that robbery, which she called "a revolutionary act," she said:

"I was positioned so that I could hold customers and bank personnel who were on the floor. My gun was loaded and at no time did any of my comrades intentionally point their guns at me."

Steven Weed and the pig Hearsts," she said, "It's absurd to think that I could surface to say what I'm saying now and be allowed to freely return to my comrades. The enemy still wants me dead."

The tape, which also included the voices of two men, was Miss Hearst's first communication since she renounced her family on April 3 and said she was joining the SLA as an armed comrade. She also said she had taken the name "Tania," in memory of a slain girl friend of Latin American guerrilla Che Guevara.

Police Community Relations Director Rodney Williams, who obtained the tape through an intermediary, turned it over to the FBI. He said the tape was in a brown paper package along with half of Miss Hearst's driver's license and a red poster showing hands and a clenched fist. The other half of Miss Hearst's license was used to authenticate a previous SLA communication.

Speaking of Weed on the tape, Miss Hearst said: "As for my ex-fiance, I'm amazed that he thinks that the first thing I would want to do once freed would be to rush and see him. The fact is, I don't care if I ever see him again."

Explaining the alleged reason for the bank robbery, she said the holdup "forced the corporate state to help finance the revolution... As with the money involved in my parents' bad faith gesture to aid the people, these funds are being used to aid the people and to insure the survival of the people's forces in their struggle."

She said she was alive and well. "As for being brainwashed, the idea is ridiculous to the point of being beyond belief."

Shortly before police received the tape, the FBI announced that two rented getaway cars used in the bank robbery had been located in a basement parking garage. The FBI said the vehicles, which turned up in a routine check, apparently had been left there within a few hours of the April 15 holdup.

'Zebra' Expected To Strike Again

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Judge Alfonso Zirpoli Wednesday said the Zebra killer will strike again when asked whether he believed. And he says almost a Zirpoli is conducting a hearing of stopping and searching on lawsuits seeking a halt to young blacks on the streets has produced no clues in the case resembling the description of in which 12 white persons have been gunned down at random.

Barca said that since the "I think it will continue," Chief Inspector Charles A. Barca told U.S. District Court

"There is nothing more urgent in the annals of the police department" than to find the killer or killers who have terrorized this city since last November, said Barca.

The killer has been described by two of the six persons who survived apparent unprovoked attacks. Police code-named the case Zebra after the radio channel being used on the case.

Barca said bus stops were the most likely spots for future Zebra killings, since 14 of the 18 shootings have taken place at city bus stops. Barca told the judge an injunction against searches "would make it difficult to locate the Zebra killer."

At the same time, Barca promised that police "from now on will be more selective in making stops" and would only make them "when the individual is acting or appears to be acting out of the ordinary."

Barca said that in the six days the sweeping operation was in force, 567 black men were stopped. He said seven were arrested on outstanding traffic and other warrants.

He said the modified stop-and-search operation probably would scale down to five a day. On Tuesday night, 61 men were stopped; on Monday night, 62 were stopped.

The two lawsuits, filed by NAACP and the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of black men, asked the judge to declare the stop-and-search tactic unconstitutional.

Nixon Receives Airport Welcome In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — President Nixon returned today to this state where, a year ago, he adopted a phrase now associated with his determination in the face of mounting adversity: "Tough it out."

Accompanied by Mississippi's two Democratic senators and a bipartisan congressional delegation, the President and Mrs. Nixon got an airport welcome from Democratic Gov. William Waller prior to speaking to the Mississippi Economic Council.

The presidential jet taxied to a remote corner of Allen C. Thompson Airport where only military and security personnel were on hand. A crowd of several hundred were kept behind a fence many hundreds of yards away.

Rep. Trent Lott, R-Miss., a member of the House Judiciary Committee that is considering Nixon's impeachment, had planned to accompany the President on the flight from Washington. However, Lott's office said this morning the pressure of business would keep him in the capital.

Speeding Citations Increase Rapidly Within Recent Weeks

By The Associated Press — Speeding citations by police have increased dramatically in some parts of the country in recent weeks.

Police interviewed in a number of states in an Associated Press survey said speeding tickets were up because of the lowered 55 m.p.h. speed limit and because gasoline is longer short in supply in most regions.

Washington State police said they issued 2,992 speeding tickets the first week in April, compared to 1,490 in the same week a year earlier. "Since they no longer have to wait in line for gas, they feel they should no longer have to go 55," said state patrol Chief Will Bacholner.

Connecticut State Police said speeding arrests in their state escalated from 916 in February to 2,554 in March.

"They've gone wild again... they're just flying out there," said Capt. John S. Timmerman of the South Carolina Highway Patrol. "We're giving tickets about as fast as we can write them."

Similar reports were issued by officials in a number of other states. In some states, such as Montana, officials are not doing much to discourage speeders.

The Montana Highway Patrol said it issued 1,164 citations the first eight days in April, compared to 1,568 for the entire month of March. But a law passed by the legislature when it lowered the speed limit to 55 m.p.h. under threat of losing federal highway monies sets a maximum $5 fine for speeding.

"It makes a mockery of all our old speed laws," said Justice of the Peace Al Mues in Helena. "They come into my court all smiles now. I had a fellow in who was doing 98 m.p.h. and he was fined $5."

20 MILES PER HOUR— Radar Now May Check Cuthbert Speed Limit

The grace period for speeders in the new 20-mile-per-hour speed zone in the 1400-1700 block area of Cuthbert Street expired Monday but authorities said this morning they don't know of any tickets being given there this week.

The new speed zone came into the news with a stir last week because of the vast number of speeding tickets issued there during the first few days the new limit was in effect.

Because of the complaints that the public hadn't had a chance to get used to the new speed limit, Midland Municipal Court dismissed the tickets and Police Chief Harold Wallace declared the grace period.

Radar units have not been working the short stretch of Cuthbert Street since the grace period began, Lt. Herman Wicker, head of the police traffic division, said.

The Lee High School band is participating in the annual Corpus Christi Buccaneer Day Celebration this weekend.

The band left Midland Wednesday and will return Sunday night. While there they will participate in several contests.

Pennies—

But the main reason the court is refusing to accept the ticket envelopes is the cost of the postage.

Post office personnel have called the court six times since the court stopped accepting the heavy ticket envelopes about a month ago, including three times this morning.

Why do people send the fine all in pennies? Anders smiled and said, "I don't think I'll speculate on that publicly but I imagine your guess is as good as mine."

Alaska Pipeline Oil Export Talk Draws Bayh Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh says the planned exporting of Alaskan oil to Japan could end up costing U.S. consumers as much as $9 billion through 1985.

Bayh asserted in a Senate speech Wednesday that the "swapping" of oil from the new Alaska pipeline for foreign crude oil might lead to "one of the all-time greatest frauds perpetrated on American consumers."

The Indiana Democrat, an opponent of the pipeline, said he is asking the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee "to conduct a probe into the entire matter."

He also said he plans to introduce legislation to prohibit the exporting of any Alaskan oil if this would result in higher oil costs to American consumers.

Bayh spoke out after a regional administrator of the Federal Energy Office disclosed that because West Coast refineries would be unable to handle the Alaska pipeline's full capacity of two million barrels daily, a large portion of the oil probably would be exported to Japan.

Revolution Shakes Portuguese Capital

The reports said rebel tanks besieged the army ministry in downtown Lisbon and that four ministers—those of the interior, army, navy and air force—who had taken refuge in the building managed to slip away through a hole they made in the wall.

The reports said government troops refused to obey their commander when he ordered them to open tank fire on rebellious troops in the center of Lisbon.

Reports said the revolt had the support of 29 regiments and that most of the leaders were young majors and captains.

Moving swiftly in the pre-dawn darkness and benefiting by surprise the rebels took over the studios of Emissora Nacional, the national radio station, the studio of the Portuguese radio and television, and the studio of a private radio station, Radio Clube Portugues in the city proper.

Others in the coup apparently seized a transmitter of Radio Clube Portugues about 30 miles southeast of Lisbon on the other side of the Tagus River.

Shortly after the seizure the armed groups began broadcasting from Radio Clube, urging troops and national guardsmen and police to avoid bloodshed and urging the populace to remain at home. The broadcast said that a "military movement" under the leadership of the armed forces was liberating Portugal from its present regime. Activity throughout the city appeared generally normal. Despite the appeals to stay at home, traffic appeared as dense as ever, streetcars and buses were operating, and most of the shops were open. However, banks were closed, and fewer people appeared on sidewalks. Lisbon airport was closed, and no ships were permitted to leave Lisbon harbor. Reports reaching officials in London said the rebels called on Gen. Antonio Spinoza, ousted recently from his post of deputy chief of staff, to join them. This suggested the rebels were prepared to identify themselves with the views expressed by Spinoza about need for a radical change in Portugal's African policies. On March 16 about 200 army officers tried to enter Lisbon with an armored column, but troops loyal to Caetano turned them back, and they were arrested. Those dissidents were protesting the war to preserve Portuguese rule in its African colonies and also demanding more freedom for the Portuguese at home.

For Ford, Impeachment Would Mean One Thing Now: The White House

By WALTER R. MEARS
(An AP News Analysis)
WASHINGTON (AP) — Impeachment is a political puzzle for politicians of both parties, raising questions no one can answer now. They can only guess who would benefit, who would lose, what it would mean at the polls next fall if President Nixon were to leave office. For Vice President Gerald R.

Ford, there is one answer, the obvious one: if Nixon goes, he succeeds to the White House. The vice president does not believe that will happen, and maintains that the President is innocent of impeachable offenses. But the impeachment inquiry, and the resignation demands the President has rebuffed, make Ford's position both delicate and difficult.

Increasingly, Ford is cast as the spokesman for Republicans in a congressional election year. He says Nixon will be doing some campaigning on a selective basis — but Ford will be doing a lot more.

He is out front at the GOP fund-raising dinners, a Republican much in demand. And everything he says is studied for any hint of a break with the President who chose him for the vice presidency five months ago.

Vice president watchers always have been alert to any sign that the No. 2 man differs with the boss. They seldom have found anything of substance, simply because vice presidents have had only as

Jesus Followers Refuse Freedom If It Means Giving Up Preaching Sessions

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Smiling and carrying their Bibles, 107 youthful evangelists have trooped off to jail, refusing to accept freedom if it means giving up their preaching even for a few days.

County Judge Raymond L. Simpson offered the defendants, all charged with loitering, released on their own recognizance Wednesday if they would promise to quit bothering people in area shopping centers.

Their attorney, Louis Hardin Jr., contended that such conditions would violate the constitutional rights of the defendants.

Smiling as they went, the 35 young women and 72 young men marched to separate jails. Another 30 persons paid the bond and were freed.

"We don't try to get arrested," said Jerry Romprey, 32, a leader who was not jailed. "Christ is the Answer," he said.

"The merchants are just very uptight about us talking about Jesus," Romprey said. "The arrests were made Tuesday."

Treatment Center Opens For Children

HOUSTON (AP) — A short-term residential treatment center for children with emotional problems was officially opened Wednesday.

The facility, called Cambio House, will treat children from 7 to 12 years of age. It is operated by the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Authority of Harris County.

He said the group frequents shopping centers because that's where they find people. "The Lord told us to go into the world and preach the gospel wherever people are," he explained.

Police said the group arrived from Fort Lauderdale this week and, after getting permission to conduct missionary work in a shopping center, began grabbing people to get them to listen. Customers complained and merchants called police. The arrests were made Tuesday.

Israel Says Raids To Continue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel says it will continue to raid southern Lebanon in retaliation for guerrilla attacks from there despite the United Nations Security Council's seventh condemnation of such action.

The council on Wednesday night adopted a resolution condemning Israel for its April 12 raid on six Lebanese villages in retaliation for the guerrilla massacre of 18 Israelis the day before in the village of Qiryat Shmona. Lebanon said the Israelis killed three civilians and kidnaped 13 others.

The vote was 13-0, with China and Iraq not participating. It was the council's seventh condemnation of a retaliatory Israeli raid into Lebanon.

The resolution also condemned "all acts of violence, especially those which result in the tragic loss of innocent civilian life." But the council by a vote of 7-6 rejected an American amendment specifically including the attack at Qiryat Shmona in the condemnation.

Israel's delegation walked out of the council chamber just before the voting. Chief Delegate Yosef Tekoah said the resolution was a "gross miscarriage of justice" because it did not condemn the Palestinian guerrillas. He warned again that "Israel will continue to hold the Lebanese government responsible for any armed attacks organized or perpetrated in Lebanon."

The United States voted for the resolution after the defeat of its amendment. U.S. Ambassador John A. Scali said despite the failure of his attempt to get specific mention of Qiryat Shmona, "we believe the resolution ... did condemn all violence, whatever its origin, including the tragedy at Qiryat Shmona."

It was the third time the United States has voted against Israel in the council.

Royalty Owners Included!

Clyde La Motte, The Reporter-Telegram's Washington oil correspondent, writing in last Sunday's issue, alerted royalty owners as to what is in store for them if the proposed tax bill is passed by Congress.

He said the amount of taxes they owe next April 15 could be an unpleasant surprise.

And if this doesn't awaken the royalty owner to the problem facing him, we don't know what will.

Royalty owners now are receiving larger royalty checks because of the increase in the price of crude oil. This is as it should be. La Motte terms this the good news.

The bad news, he said, is that the proposed windfall profits tax would take away a good part of the price increase benefits they presently are enjoying.

Reviewing the situation, the House Ways and Means Committee has drafted a bill designed to prevent oil companies from making so-called windfall profits as a result of the oil shortage. Most persons know this, but many are not aware of the fact that the royalty owner faces the same problem.

One provision is that income being received as a result of the crude oil price increases would be subjected to the special tax. This includes the royalty owner as well as the producer.

In other words, the royalty owner is in the oil business whether or not he realizes it.

It is suggested that he wake-up to this fact and shoulder his responsibility in the all-out effort to side-track the proposed legislation.

Certainly, there is nothing fair or right about this feature of the tax bill, but the proposal has a good chance of becoming the law of the land. Royalty owners should join with oil companies and independents in fighting it to the bitter end.

"You oil boys had better do something about this before it is too late," a Midland royalty owner told Ed Thompson, executive vice president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, one day last week.

Well, it just so happens that the royalty owner actually is one of the oil boys, and his help—financial and otherwise—is needed right now as never before.

In fact, it is possible that the royalty owners—and there are a whole lot more of them than there are oil producers—just might have much more influence in Washington. This is an excellent time to find out.

Time is short, however. Royalty owners certainly should join with producers and others—actually everyone in the oil patch—in presenting a united front against the tax bill.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson conducts history lesson as a respite from headlines of today.

WASHINGTON—For a respite from the heat of the headlines, a brief history lesson may help. A look backward at the human comedy, as it has been performed here, takes some of the starkness out of Watergate.

The moldy annals of the Republic reveal that in 1783 Congress experienced its first serious face-to-face confrontation with a group of disgruntled Americans.

Troops of the Continental Army marched into Philadelphia demanding back pay and threatening violence if they did not get it. Setting a precedent for future years, Congress acted promptly. It decided to skip town.

For the next seven years, the seat of government was on tour. Like an unpopular band of minstrels, Congress roamed up and down the Eastern seaboard.

Ultimately, the government sought a spot for its permanent home. Like most questions before Congress, finding a home for the Republic became confused with other issues totally unrelated—like re-establishing the Continental dollar and funding the war debts of individual states.

The issue finally was settled one summer evening in 1790. Thomas Jefferson, a shrewd arbitrator, invited Alexander Hamilton and a few others for dinner. The men talked, "consulting together coolly," as Jefferson wrote later.

Finally, a bargain was struck. A Northern plan for paying the war debts was accepted and, as a gesture to the South, a stretch of land along the Potomac between Virginia and Maryland was selected as the site of the nation's capital.

In June of 1800, a sloop from Philadelphia docked in Georgetown with the first contingent of federal clerks. They carried with them their baggage and several cartons of government records.

Upon arrival, they found not a city at all but a rough frontier town of 400 houses and 3,000 inhabitants. Elderbushes choked what would become Pennsylvania Avenue.

For the next decade, the young nation got along quite adequately with a small coveytown as a capital. The country was expanding and the federal government was beginning to settle down. Across the land, local boys joined the militia and drilled with broomsticks in village squares.

Across the sea the British were trying to crash Napoleon. As a recruitment program for its navy, the British intercepted U.S. merchant ships.

This stirred talk of war in pastoral Washington. If war would come, reasoned the bureaucrats, the Americans would never defeat the British with broomsticks. So in 1808, Congress passed a law alloting $200,000 annually for arms.

The first dollars were spent for muskets and the bureaucrats fashioned their accounting procedures around the muskets. All figures were entered in the books in units of muskets. They bought swords and hats and horseshoes, pots and tents and bridles, candles and bright red sashes. But everything was reduced to muskets.

The units of muskets were today still move easily in Washington circles.

During the Civil War, as Washington grew, vice and filth prevailed. Gambling houses flourished. Murder and rape became commonplace. Prostitution was rampant. There was no escape from the squalor of the city.

President Ulysses S. Grant cleaned up the city but subjected the rest of the country to one spectacular scandal after another. The President was literally surrounded by crooks and scandals flowed out of his administration like flood waters bursting from a cracked West Virginia dam.

New York swindlers Jay Gould and Jim Fisk pocketed $11 million after unsuccessfully trying to buy up all the gold in New York City; the Union Pacific bribed the vice president in a fruitless effort to avoid an investigation; "Boss" Tweed bilked the people of New York of $100 million; the infamous Whisky Ring of St. Louis defrauded the government of millions in taxes; Secretary of War William Belknap accepted a $25,000 kickback from a political appointee—and these were only the tip of a corrupt political pyramid, the base of which touched every citizen.

But so much of American politics is cyclical. Corruption invariably leads to reform and, at the turn of the century, Teddy Roosevelt fought the conglomerates and trusts that Grant had encouraged.

Washington has been the site of man's most intensive effort to subject the function of governing to the will of the governed. For two centuries, this noble experiment ever has seemed to flounder but somehow has managed to survive.

He did not. He saw an opportunity in the former cabinet official going back to the cash circuit. And he tried to escape the assignment, in vain. The pressure was kept on him, and he yielded.

There is terrible irony for Stans that he is in such deep trouble today over money matters. Funds to finance Mr. Nixon's 1966 runnings for congressional bidders were not easy to come by. Standing out against any real help was former GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss.

But Stans not only proved his skills, he husbanded the collections with scrupulous, tight-fisted honor. He didn't even want to let money go for an election-night party at New York's Hotel Delmonico.

After a 1968 presidential campaign from which the Republicans emerged without a penny of debt, Stans, however, encountered what is surely his greatest disappointment in life.

He wanted very much to be secretary of the Treasury. A New York financier with a long background in accountancy (part of it as a federal court accounting aide in Chicago), he served—evidently well—as President Eisenhower's budget director in the 1950s. He felt qualified, and deserving.

But the banking community thought Stans lacked stature for the cabinet post. Mr. Nixon, notwithstanding heavy obligation to him, accepted the veto quickly named the recommended Chicago banker, David Kennedy. He turned out to be one of the early failures in the administration.

Stans, shunted to his secondary post at Commerce, watched a succession of others get the job at Treasury he coveted. Cruelly, he was wholly left out of the secret talks at Camp David in mid-1971 which led to the President's imposition of foreign trade and domestic economic controls on Aug. 15 of that year.

By then he knew he would never make Treasury. This was the very reason he agreed to get out of government and go to fund-raising again. Maybe a stronger man would have resisted. Stans didn't. Some combination of pressure and appeals to loyalty worked. Mr. Nixon chews up people by the dozens. And he has never uttered one public sound in Maurice Stans' defense. So his fall—and it is a fall—may be one of the real tragedies of the Watergate mood.

It is widely accepted that, having served President Nixon heavily as campaign fund-raiser from as far back as 1966 when the task was barnstorming the nation to help elect more U.S. congressmen, Stans took on the 1971-72 money-raising assignment with easy willingness.

BRUCE BLOSSAT Maurice Stans: A Case Of Misused Talent!

WASHINGTON (NEA)—One of the sadder figures caught up in the great maw of Watergate and related issues is former Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans.

This is said without in any way trying to pass judgment on the degree of his involvement either in Watergate directly or in such other matters as the Robert Vesco influence case. In this latter, of course, he and former Attorney General John Mitchell have undergone many weeks of formal trial for conspiracy in a New York federal court.

If the official judgments on Stans' conduct finally are harsh, some psychologist surely will be willing to step forward and say: "He had it in him all the time."

Nevertheless, up to the moment of a breaking point (assuming there was one), Stans seemed to countless people, and this includes numerous government insiders, a man beyond reproach.

It is widely accepted that, having served President Nixon heavily as campaign fund-raiser from as far back as 1966 when the task was barnstorming the nation to help elect more U.S. congressmen, Stans took on the 1971-72 money-raising assignment with easy willingness.

Dear Editor: I see where scientists have developed a "mental pacemaker" to implant in people's heads which will make their brains work according to radio commands.

And Congress just might pass a law that one of these gadgets, tuned to a Washington command post, must be attached to every citizen's brain.

Then, when a federal deficit impends, a stupid-signal could be broadcast throughout the land which would compel all taxpayers to make out their tax checks for enough more than they owed to balance the budget.

THE CONSUMER ALERT— Investigate Promoters Offering Coupon Books

By JOHN L. HILL, Texas Attorney General

AUSTIN—Several cases involving the use of coupons or coupon books in promotional campaigns or to interest consumers in dealing with certain shops or businesses recently have come to the attention of attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division.

In one case, books of coupons good for a dinner in some of a city's "finest restaurants" were offered for sale. The coupons supposedly would allow one free meal with the purchase of another at regular price.

Court Ruling On Tax Break For Women Only Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court decision approving women-only state tax breaks in some circumstances has met with less than approval from advocates of equal rights for women.

"I can't say it's great because it smacks to be a little of paternalism," said Dorothy Andur, director of the tax task force of the National Organization for Women.

The New York lawyer said ratification of the equal rights amendment would solve such issues.

The high court's decision came Wednesday. By a 6-3 vote it upheld a Florida law granting a $500 property tax exemption to widows only, not to men whose wives have died.

"We deal here with a state tax law reasonably designed to further the state policy of cushioning the financial impact of spousal loss upon the sex for whom that loss imposes a disproportionately heavy burden," wrote Justice William O. Douglas for the majority.

"Whether from overt discrimination or from the socialization process of a male-dominated culture, the job market is inhospitable to the woman seeking any but the lowest paid jobs," Douglas continued.

He said previous court decisions have given the states "large leeway" in making distinctions to fashion a reasonable system of taxation.

The American Civil Liberties Union Foundation, which handled the latter stages of the attack on the Florida law, viewed it not as a boon to women but as a production and perpetuation of "stereotypical notions about their proper role in society."

The justification behind the Florida law, beneficial treatment for an economically deprived group, overlooks or misunderstands, "the critical distinction between lump treatment of women as the inferior and therefore needier sex, and measures designed to undo the inequalities in economic opportunity women encounter," read the ACLU brief.

It was prepared by Columbia law professor Ruth Bader Ginsberg, a prominent figure in court battles for equal rights.

"Both discrimination against and special benefits for women stem from stereotypical notions about their proper role in society," she wrote.

"Special benefits for women such as the tax exemption here at issue result in discriminatory treatment of similarly situated men, themselves victims of male sex role stereotypes."

"Absent firm constitutional foundation for equal treatment of men and women by the law, individuals seeking to be judged on their own merits will continue to encounter law-sanctioned obstacles."

Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Oron R. White and Thurgood Marshall dissented.

Con Ed Is Symbol Of Embattled Industry In U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The suspension of its quarterly dividend payment by Consolidated Edison is more than just another demoralizing blow to the stock market. The big utility is also a symbol of an embattled industry.

Environmentalists have forced delays in plant construction. The increase in energy prices caused operating costs to skyrocket. The depressed condition of financial markets prevented it from raising cash.

Moreover, its customers, who are equally pressed, have tended to become slow payers, a problem that many businessmen around the country will recognize. Payment delinquencies are on the rise generally.

And what is Consolidated Edison's solution? Well, there is no over-all solution, of course, but one that has become rather common among giant companies is to lean on government for assistance, in the name of the public good, of course.

Unlike the Penn Central and Lockheed and some airlines, which sought aid from the federal government, Consolidated Edison seeks to resolve some of its problems by transferring ownership of one or more plants to the state power authority.

All these facets of the utility's problems also can be found in other areas of American enterprise — the environmental bagging, inflated costs, inability to raise money, slow-paying customers, the high cost of borrowing.

They are the business challenges of the day, and while businessmen are always facing and attempting to overcome challenges, many of them would agree that the set they now face makes them wonder if their abilities are sufficient.

Con Ed, as it is familiarly but not warmly called by customers, had been paying dividends every quarter since 1888. Of late that dividend, of $1.80 a share, represented more than a 9 percent return.

Dividend consistency of that kind is what attracts investors, as opposed to speculators. Con Ed might have been an unexciting stock but it was safe and you could depend on it for steady income — until 1974. In breaking that 89-year-old record, Con Ed probably has destroyed that feeling of investor security for years to come, not only for itself but for a lot of other utilities to which it might be compared.

Con Ed always could count on raising money too, it seemed, because it was the only electric utility in the biggest city of America, assured to be of income and growth and therefore of the ability to earn money, pay back loans.

But with the prime rate over 10 per cent even Con Ed balked. It could, as an alternative, go into the equity market by selling stock, but even at a relatively low price of $18, now around $12, there was a question of attracting buyers. Stock markets aren't what they used to be; there are fewer buyers.

Midland Youth Center Chatter

By KATHY ALLDAY, LISA BROCK and MOLLY UPCHURCH

These last few weeks of school are turning out to be as hectic as a THREE RING CIRCUS! So step right up to the BIG TOP and see what's happening.

Our baseball boys really have been putting on a good show for the second half of this season. Last Saturday, they lost a close 5-4 game to the Abilene Eagles. Tuesday afternoon we tamed the San Angelo Bobcats 5-2! This Saturday at 2 p.m. in Memorial Stadium, we'll crack the whip over those Odesa Bronchos. So everyone gather round and support our boys!

Steve Reddell performed in a regional track meet held in Lubbock. He received a 5th place in high hurdles. Great! We hope Larry Munson is feeling better real soon now.

In The Center Ring

MHS won top honors in the Industrial Arts meet at Abilene Christian College last week. Outstanding Projects awards went to Russell Forest, music and plastics; Burt Stickney, mechanical drawing; Arthur Ortiz, foundry; Kevin Pierce, ceramics; Debbie Smith, jewelry; Randy Waugh, metals; Terry Lyles, models; Danny Dean, mechanics, and Mark Day, open. Norman Fredrick and Rex Barker brought in three firsts each. Lots of other students won ribbons to total up a fantastic win!

Singing their way to the top in the Regional UIL Vocal Solo and Ensemble contest, in Odessa were a number of Bulldogs! Those receiving first places in voice solo were Jeanne Glass, Roslyn Johnson, Jean Houston, Charlotte May, Susie Newberry, Janie Johnson, James Coldeaway, Bill Drummond, Terrill Littlejohn, Mike Robards, Sam Zachery and Kevin Shelburne. Dabney Tompkins won a first in piano solo. A number of second and third places also went to Midland High students. Congratulations to all these people — you were the hit of the show!

A Notorious Side Show

The Class of '74 was walking a tight-rope last Thursday night when it put on an "Odyssey" for a not so sympathetic audience. In spite of a lot of technical difficulties, some true talent did shine through and the show ended on a peaceful note! Thanks to everyone for working so hard, especially the Senior Class officers and stage crew.

Eight MHS students are folding their tents and packing up to head for the State Convention in Dallas today. Tony Diaz, Wes Perry, Cody Meyers, Sam Hurt, Sara Moore, Vicki Throckmorton, Kathy Allday and Molly Upchurch will represent our Student Council along with the sponsor, Mr. Stanley Cobb.

Big Events

Today and Friday, SITCA is sponsoring bike, hike or ride days. So everyone ride a bike, horse or walk to school. If you live too far, plan to carpool! SAVE ENERGY!

The Junior Class has been working hard to plan this year's Junior-Senior Prom which will be on May 4. "Shadetree" will play for the dance. The cost is only $2 per couple. The dress is semi-formal or formal so all you boys hurry up and get a date and plan to attend!

Junior Rotarians this week are Sheila Greene and Chip Lutke. The Junior Lion for last week was Jeff Cole. Congratulations!

Those clowns celebrating birthdays this week are Debra A. Johnson, Robert Lewis, Janis Dunn, Shannon Bates, Micheal Collier, Tom Cotton, Ronnie Hill, Julie Jackson, Kirby Locklar, Liz Millie, Tina Otruch, Dusty Rhodes, Irma Rodriguez, Carrie Brice, Ricky Cox, Jimmy Griffr, Kathy Johnson, Ramon Mays, Calvin Meneffield and Robert Adams. HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Your three midgets, Kathy, Lisa and Molly.

Operators Schedule 25 Prospectors, 59 Development Tests In Basin

There were 25 exploratory tests and 59 development projects scheduled in West Texas and Southeast New Mexico last week.

The total of 84 compares with 151 which were planned two weeks ago, when there were 23 wildcat projects slated. Eddy County, in Southeast New Mexico accounted for 12 of the wildcats, while eight venture applications were received by Texas Railroad Commission District 8 office in Midland.

The Lubbock RRC office, supervising District 8-A operations, processed four wildcat applications, and District 7-C (San Angelo), one.

APPARENTLY DISPUTED BY API REPORTS— Executive Defends Data In Mobil Tv Commercial

By JEAN HELLER
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Mobil Oil Co. claims in a national television ad that drilling for oil is a risky business since only one in 60 wells pays off. But oil industry statistics indicate results 36 times better.
 Data obtained from the American Petroleum Institute and from several major oil companies appears to dispute Mobil's figures. However, a spokesman for the oil company said Mobil would stand by the television spot.
 Sources within the Federal Trade Commission said that at one time an investigation of the Mobil ad had been suggested but said they did not know the current status of the matter. An official spokesman for the FTC would not comment.
 The television ad is one of a number that were produced for major oil companies during the worst stages of the energy crisis to try to explain fuel shortages and high prices.
 Figures compiled by the American Petroleum Institute show that of all new wells drilled worldwide last year, 61.2 per cent — or three of every five — was productive, a record 36 times better than that claimed in Mobil's ad.
 An executive of Doyle Dane Bernbach, the advertising agency that created the Mobil ad, said the ad did not refer to all wells dug everywhere in the world, but only to exploratory wells. Asked why the ad didn't specify exploratory wells, the executive, Mary McCarthy, replied: "We couldn't explain what an exploratory well is because the public wouldn't understand it."
 Exploratory drilling, sometimes called wildcatting, is searching for oil or gas in new, untried areas. Production drilling is the sinking of wells where reserves have already been proved.
 The public records of three oil companies — including Mobil — showed their success rate at wildcatting considerably higher than one-in-60, or 1.6 per cent.
 Standard Oil of California, the nation's fifth largest oil company, drilled 33 wildcat wells in the United States last year and five, or 15 per cent, were productive. Worldwide, Standard's success rate was close to 17 per cent.
 In 1973, the Exxon Corp., the world's largest oil company, drilled 161 wildcat wells and 23 were commercial successes for a 14.3 per cent success rate.
 Mobil, the nation's third largest oil company, drilled 51 ex-

Okinawa Won't Appeal Acquittal Of U.S. Marine
 Naha, Okinawa (AP) — The Naha district prosecutor's office said today it won't appeal the district court's acquittal of a United States marine accused of killing a Japanese houseboy.
 The American, Lance Cpl. James S. Benjamin, 26, of Austin, Tex., was acquitted on the ground of insanity.
 The Marine Corps said he will be sent to the United States in the next week for treatment at a military hospital.
 He was charged with shooting Selyu Enokawa, 36, at a military camp on Okinawa in September 1972.
 Benjamin was acquitted April 11. During his 18-month trial, two American and eight Japanese psychiatrists testified that he was schizophrenic.

'Sissy' Presses Attacks On Briscoe 'Nothingness'

By The Associated Press
 Democrat Frances Farenthold says she would call an immediate special legislative session if elected a and scored her opponent, Gov. Dolph Briscoe, for "calculated nothingness" while in office.
 "I don't have anything personal against the incumbent governor—it's just his ineptness and his calculated nothingness that bother me," Mrs. Farenthold told an audience Wednesday at Houston-Tillotson College in Austin.
 Briscoe meanwhile issued a statement saying he has been endorsed by 21 Texas newspapers.
 "In this day when the news media have done such an energetic and candid job of overseeing the business of politics and government, it is particularly gratifying to find such a representative group of Texas papers supporting my reelection," the statement said.
 Briscoe said the endorsements indicate he has been "fully responsive to the needs of our large metropolitan areas as well as our smaller towns and communities."
 Mrs. Farenthold said an immediate legislative session is needed for bills on school finance, increases in teacher retirement benefits and a cost-of-living pay raise for state employees.
 "We were able to catch the man while he was giving instructions," an FBI agent said of Robert W. Knight, 46, of Amarillo.
 Knight was charged before a U.S. magistrate with attempting to obstruct, delay and affect commerce by extortion. Bond was set at $100,000.
 FBI agent J. Gordon Shanklin said Knight was arrested while making a call from a pay telephone to the home of F. N. Stupp, manager of the Santa Fe office in Amarillo.
 The FBI said Stupp had received a note April 15 demanding $150,000 and saying the train from Los Angeles to Chicago would be wrecked unless $150,000 was delivered.
 Stupp reported the note to the FBI, which set up surveillance and arrested Knight when a subsequent call was placed to Stupp.

Threat To Wreck Santa Fe Train Charged Texan

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A man who allegedly threatened to wreck a Santa Fe Railroad train en route from Los Angeles to Chicago was arrested here Wednesday reportedly while making an extortion call.
 "We were able to catch the man while he was giving instructions," an FBI agent said of Robert W. Knight, 46, of Amarillo.
 Knight was charged before a U.S. magistrate with attempting to obstruct, delay and affect commerce by extortion. Bond was set at $100,000.

Student Craftsman's Fair Set Saturday

The West Texas Student Craftsman's Fair will be held Saturday in the Midland High School gymnasium. Judging for the contest is set to begin at 9 a.m. and projects will be open for public viewing from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. More than 2,000 projects from 40 West Texas high schools and junior high schools will be exhibited at the fair. Areas to be represented include metal, wood, drafting, electronics, plastics and power mechanics. Projects will include grandfather clocks, china cabinets, gun cases, two and four-wheel trailers, jewelry, ceramics, wrought iron furniture and even scale models of homes. The fair is sponsored by the West Texas Industrial Arts Teachers Association and the Midland Evening Lions Club.

Reaction To President's Plan For Egyptian Aid Puts Future In Doubt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposed U.S. aid to Egypt has drawn an unlikely reaction in Congress that leaves its future in doubt.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, a powerful opponent of U.S. foreign aid programs, said he will view the Egyptian aid proposal with an open mind.

But House Foreign Affairs Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., one of Congress' chief foreign aid supporters, said he has "serious reservations about it. It seems to me now that we're trying to buy peace," Morgan said.

"I think after the oil embargo that some of the oil-producing countries could contribute to opening up the canal."

President Nixon said the $250 million for Egypt would be "used for the tasks which come with peace," help in clearing the Suez Canal, repairing damage in nearby areas and restoring Egyptian trade with America.

The money is part of a $5.18 billion foreign aid request Nixon sent to Congress. It includes $907.5 million in aid to the Middle East and some $2.3 billion aid for Indochina.

Developer Named In $45-Million Suit

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana land developer Harry J. Hart, who was partly financed by state employees' investment funds, has been named in a $45-million damage suit.

Hart has received financial backing from both the State Employees Retirement System and the Louisiana Teachers Retirement System.

In a federal court suit filed late Tuesday, Normandy Investment Corp. charges that Hart is selling about 12,000 acres of land — in which it has a part interest — to Bihm Oil & Gas for $18.5 million. It says the land actually is worth $90 million.

The suit also lists as defendants the West Side Twelve Corp. of Shreveport, Great American Investment Corp. of Atlanta and Bihm Oil & Gas Co., located at the address of a Fort Worth, Tex., lawyer E. W. Sampson Jr.

West Side and five other corporations agreed last week to sell almost 12,000 acres of land in West Baton Rouge and Pointe Coupee Parishes, along with other properties in Shreveport, Monroe and Alexandria to Bihm.

Normandy says it negotiated a written agreement last summer with Richfield Corp., the record owner of the land, acquiring "the right to purchase or resell the said land."

Afterward, Normandy said it agreed to let West Side buy the land, in return for which it "was to receive the sum of $5 million in cash plus 30 per cent of the stock in West Side Corp. for the nominal consideration of $3,000."

Friends Of Library To Meet On Sunday

Former Midlander John Barnett will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Friends of the Library organization Sunday afternoon.

Barnett, a Roswell geologist, presented an illustrated program on the Guadalupe Mountains National Park at last year's Friends meeting. That program was so successful he has been invited to return as the speaker for this year's meeting.

Barnett's topic this time will be the Big Bend National Park. He is a former employee of the National Parks Service and has written a series of books on various national parks which are on sale at parks headquarters.

At the 3:30 p.m. meeting in the Midland County Public Library, reports will be presented and new officers will be elected for the volunteer support organization. Membership in the Friends organization is open to any city or county resident, with annual dues as low as $1. In addition to regular membership at $1, persons may become sustaining members, at $5 yearly; sponsor members, at $10; patron members, at $25; or life members, for $100. Dues may be mailed to the Friends of the Library, P.O. Box 1191, Midland 79701.

Set Construction For Pageant Begins

SAN ANGELO — Construction began today on the set for the Fiesta del Concho pageant, "The Land and the River," an historical drama about Ft. Concho, which will have nightly performances June 7-22.

Volunteers from Goodfellow Air Force Base are reassembling the set and will build a pontoon bridge over the Concho River to connect the stage with the audience area.

Midland Man's Friends Died In Pan-Am Crash

A long-time friend, and his wife, of Ed Eubanks of Midland were listed among the victims who died aboard the Pan-American 707 jet which crashed late Monday into a jungled mountain on the island of Bali.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Art Sanger of Dallas, formerly of El Paso. Eubanks said he had known the Sangers since the late 1950s when Sanger moved to El Paso to assume ownership of the Almerite Co. of the Southwest. Sanger traveled extensively throughout West Texas for many years and had many friends throughout the region.

After disposing of his El Paso business several years ago, Sanger moved to Washington to accept an assignment with the Small Business Administration. He later returned to El Paso for a brief period, but more recently had been with the SBA at Dallas.

The Sangers reportedly were on a pleasure trip at the time of the crash, Eubanks said. The Sangers are survived by four daughters.

Lee, Permian, Odessa Bands Win Sweepstakes

Lee, Permian and Odessa high school bands Wednesday took AAAA sweepstakes honors at the ULL Region 6A Band Contest at Lee High School.

To win a sweepstake award, a band must be in the first division in marching, concert and sightreading. Concert and sightreading contests were held during the two-day contest at Lee High. The marching events were held earlier.

Midland High School earned second division ratings in both events and Big Spring High School earned a first division rating in sightreading and a second division in concert.

Fort Stockton and Monahans high schools bands won AAA sweepstakes honors.

Other AAA results, with concert scores listed first, include: Andrews, III, II; Colorado City, III, III; Ector, II, II; Kermit, II, II, and Pecos, II, I.

Constitutional Convention's Progress Reviewed By Snelson

Progress made to date by the Texas Constitutional Convention in drafting a new state constitution was reviewed by Sen. W. E. "Pete" Snelson for members of the Midland Downtown Lions Club at their meeting Wednesday noon in the American Legion Hall.

Reagans Take Off On Four-Day Trip To Iowa, Texas

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan was to leave today on a four-day trip to Iowa and Texas that is a mixture of nostalgia and politics.

He scheduled the flight to the Midwest a few hours after judging a California elementary school's snail race.

Reagan and his wife Nancy will participate Friday in the 50th anniversary celebration of Des Moines radio station WHO, where Reagan worked for nearly five years in the 1930s as an announcer and sportscaster.

Saturday he will be grand marshal of the Drake Relays parade, also in Des Moines. He broadcast the Drake track meet during his days at WHO in the early and middle 1930s, before he went to Hollywood for a motion picture career.

Reagan, a potential Republican presidential candidate in 1976, will go to Houston to address a testimonial dinner Sunday for Republican national Chairman George Bush.

The dinner chairman will be former Texas Gov. John Connally, also considered a potential White House aspirant.

The Reagans will return to California Monday.

Progress has been made by the convention in that seven of 10 articles have been passed; most of them on second reading.

"A certain amount of give-and-take is involved in the more controversial points," the Midland legislator and convention delegate explained, "and much has been accomplished since Jan. 1."

He said it is doubtful if all of the 181 delegates ever would agree 100 per cent on a new constitution, "but hopefully it will be a vast improvement on what we now have."

Snelson explained that the voters of Texas will have the opportunity of voting on the entire document when completed, accepting or rejecting it. He said it is possible that certain controversial issues will be set apart for separate vote. The convention must determine if this will be done and, if so, how many separate issues will be permitted.

He expects the Judiciary and General Provisions articles will stimulate a great deal of debate when the convention reconvenes next week.

The speaker, who was introduced by Bill Collins, program chairman for April, outlined the operational procedure of the convention and told of the meetings and public hearings held by the various committees.

He reviewed the basic issues and said that a two-thirds vote of the delegates is needed for approval on the third reading of each. Then, he said, a two-thirds vote of the convention is required on the overall document before it can be submitted to the people for a final vote.

The convention originally was scheduled to complete its work in 90 days, Snelson said, but the time was extended 60 days to May 31. He expressed the hope that the job can and will be completed by that time.

"I encourage you," Snelson told his listeners, "to keep an open mind on the subject; await the final product, and then make your decision on the proposed constitution."

Utility Officials Say Anti-Nuclear Group Not As Large As They Claim

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — They call themselves Citizens for Safe Power, and to them nuclear power is not safe.

Among their number is a retired county auditor who successfully fought attempts in the 1960s to fluoridate the city's water supply.

The group surfaced at a board meeting this week of San Antonio's municipally owned utility, City Public Service, which heard its protests but then agreed to pursue plans for a nuclear power plant for the San Antonio-Austin area by 1983.

Stephen Harvasty, threatened City Public Service with a lawsuit about the proposed plant.

The proposed San Antonio-Austin plant, for which a site must be selected is the fifth planned for Texas. Besides another proposed for South Texas in Bay City, there are plans for plants near Houston, north of Beaumont and southwest of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

4,000 Members? Mrs. Jean Levine, a former science teacher and co-chairman with Harvasty, says Citizens for Safe Power has 4,000 paying members here.

The wife of a physician also active in the anti-nuclear campaign, Mrs. Levine says there is the Citizens Association for Sound Energy in Dallas, Citizens for Better Energy in Austin and Houston and her group.

"I don't think they have 20 members. That's all I've seen," the information officer for City Public Service, Jerry Spangler, said of the group.

Of this week's meeting where reporters counted about 25 protesters, Spangler says "They fortified their numbers with some perennials at City Council, including...a retired fiddler."

He says, "I am so frustrated with that little group."

Retired persons compose about half the group, he says.

Murray Jolly, an assistant general manager, says, "I don't agree with them at all. I think they are wrong, but they have formed an opinion. I don't believe they could change an opinion."

Declines Invitation He says Dr. Levine, who protested nuclear power at a public hearing here last year, declined to be a guest of the utility at a nuclear energy conference at the University of Texas.

"He couldn't be confused with the facts," says Jolly.

Mrs. Levine says Citizens for Safe Power began in 1966 and has snowballed. She says it has a 13-member board of directors, including three physicians and a lawyer, and estimates 350 persons attend meetings twice annually.

"We feel that there could be alternatives brought into Texas," she says. "We could have solar energy. We have plenty of sun in Texas. There is geothermal, coal or coal gasification, the way they are doing it in Mexico."

City Public Service says it has ordered a coal plant in the late 1970s to bridge the gap between natural gas and oil.

Limited Promise The other solutions have limited promise, utility officials say.

But Mrs. Levine says, "We don't have to go into technology which has all these hazards, like the wastes and the low-level radiation."

Mrs. Levine claims Texas oil interests are encouraging nuclear power for the utilities, such as City Public Service, because oil companies can continue to charge high prices without competition while nuclear plants are 10 years away from operation.

ue to charge high prices without competition while nuclear plants are 10 years away from operation.

Jolly says, "That is strictly her opinion. We would certainly take exception to that in every way. We have looked into everything that is feasible."

About the threatened lawsuit, Jolly says statutes already provide for numerous reviews and public hearings for proposed nuclear power plants.

"I am at a loss... I don't know what they had in mind. In this day and time, if you want to threaten someone, you threaten them with a lawsuit," says Jolly, who can't predict how long such a suit would delay the proposed plant.

Probable Participants

Although firm agreement has not been reached, City Public Service says other probable participants in the plant would be the City of Austin, Houston Lighting and Power Co., Corpus Christi Power and Light Co., the Lower Colorado River Authority.

With the exception of the Lower Colorado River Authority, all the utilities are participating in the Bay City plant in Matagorda County.

Tom Jones of the Bay City Tribune says citizens there appear to be "100 per cent" behind the Bay City project.

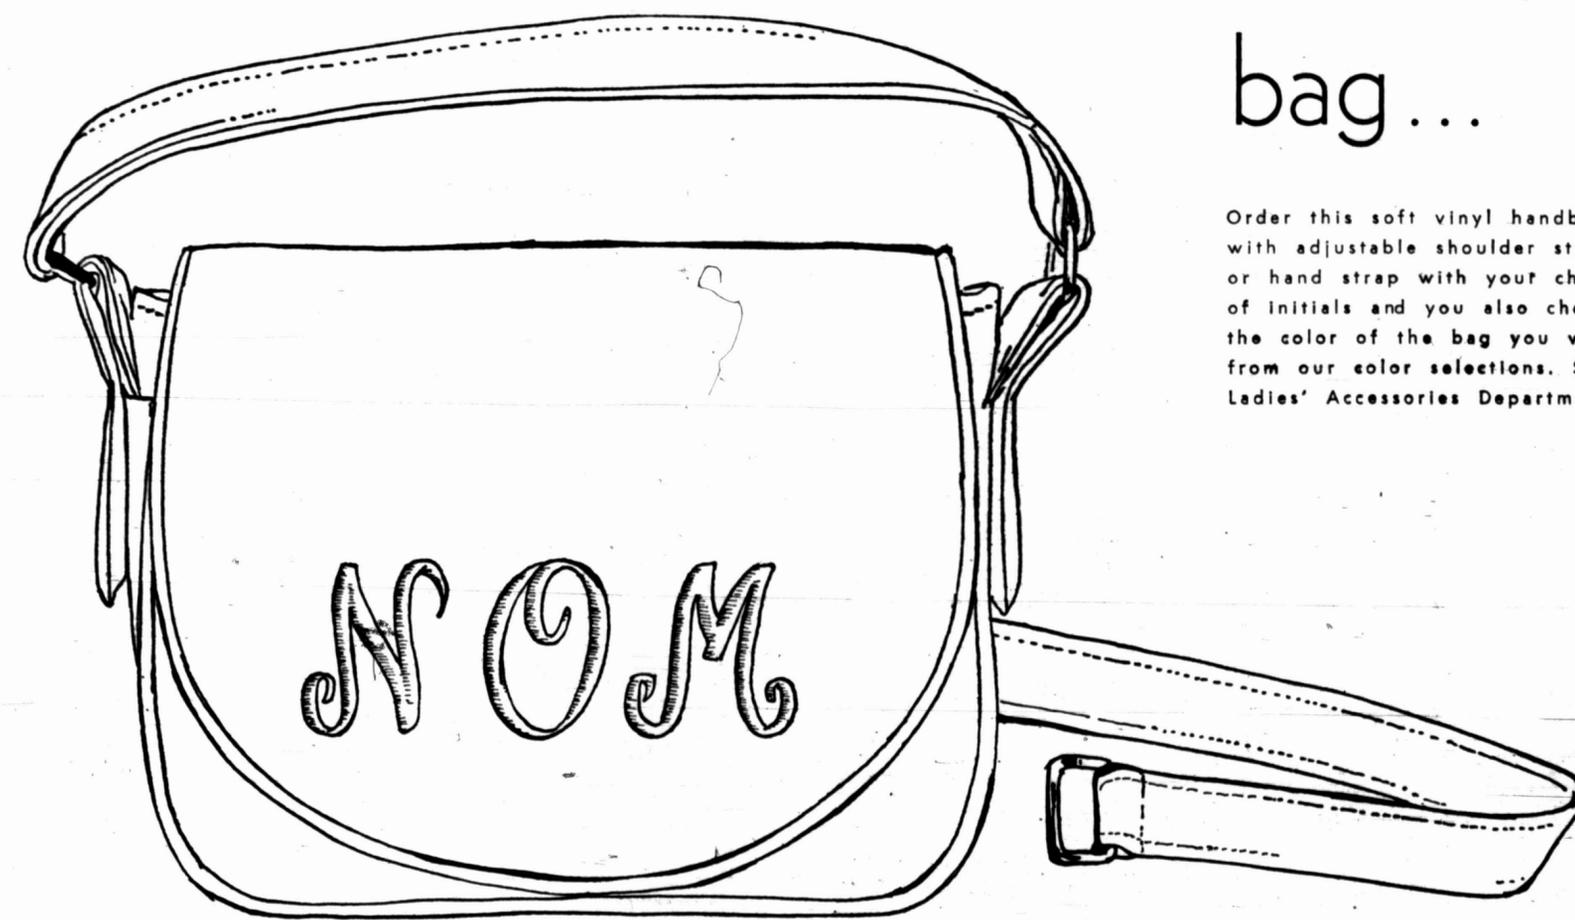

He says he received some anti-nuclear material from a New England organization which said it was forwarding the material at the request of Concerned Citizens of Matagorda County.

"There's no evidence yet" of such a group, says Jones.

Farah Plans To Reopen Closed San Antonio Plants

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Union spokesmen looked today to a possible 3,000-member work force in San Antonio after Farah Manufacturing Co. disclosed plans to reopen its plants in San Antonio.

Union hopes Farah's full potential of 3,000 employees here will be reached within a year. She noted that would be more than twice the size of Farah's work force in May 1972 when the company was struck by the union.

That projection, Mrs. Suarez said, was based on reports the company has received on the progress in sales and those figures were reported to former Farah workers at a union meeting Wednesday night.

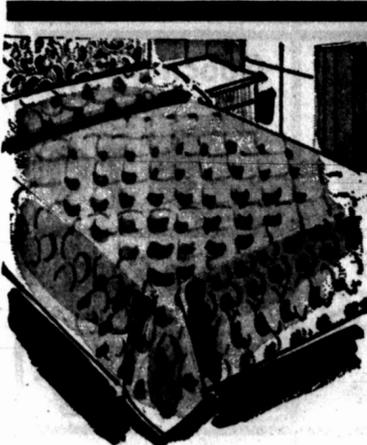

Company plans to reopen the Frio City Road plant the week of May 6 were made public by Willie Farah, company president, earlier in the day.

A spokesman said management did not want to commit itself on the number of employees who will return to work. He indicated, however, that workers would be phased into jobs by stages as production increases. He said the company had no timetable for this phase-in, and the second plant probably will not reopen until the first is operating at full capacity.

Farah said former employees in San Antonio were being notified by mail. His company's two plants in San Antonio were closed last December because of a union boycott.

The strike and boycott ended in February when Farah agreed to recognition of the ACWA. The company and union reached a contract agreement on March 7. Wednesday's news release indicated Farah is experiencing a solid business resurgence. "Response by retailers to our new lines has been tremendous," Farah said. "It is allowing us to make this move sooner, than many people thought. We're both pleased and extremely gratified."

WEB OF STEEL—Maintenance electricians, seemingly tangled in a star-like web, work from a built-in ladder on what's billed as the largest ferris wheel in North America, the Giant Wheel at Cedar Point Amusement Land in Sandusky, Ohio. Gene Puskar, a biology and journalism student at Bowling Green State University, caught the shot as the workmen readied the 15-story high structure for the park's May 18 opening. They have to make sure the 12,000 red, white and blue lights will burn. (AP Wirephoto.)

Nixon Reportedly Vows To Veto Bills With Oil Price Rollbacks

By The Associated Press
With oil profits continuing to soar, President Nixon reportedly has pledged to veto emergency energy legislation if it contains an oil price rollback.
Rep. James F. Hastings, R-N.Y., said Wednesday he had been told by "people at the White House" that the President would not accept an amendment approved by the House Commerce Committee.
That amendment would roll back domestic crude oil to the prices that existed in November 1973, at the beginning of the Arab oil embargo. This would lower the cost of most oil from the current $5.25 a barrel to $4.25, and would lower the retail cost of gasoline and other petroleum products.
Nixon vetoed previous emergency energy legislation because of a similar price rollback provision.

Profits of major oil companies, meanwhile, continue to show sharp increases for the first three months of 1974. Continental Oil (Conoco) reported Wednesday that net income after taxes for the first quarter rose 130 per cent to $109.2 million, or $2.16 a share, compared to $47.5 million in the same period of 1973.
Getty Oil reported a 122 per cent increase in its first quarter profits, with after-tax earnings reaching $73.6 million. They were $33.1 million a year ago. And Murphy Oil Corp. of El Dorado, Ark., a smaller firm, disclosed quarterly profits of $27.3 million, up 257 per cent from the year-earlier level of $7.67 million.
Earlier this week, Exxon, Texaco, Gulf, Standard of Indiana (Amoco) and Occidental reported first quarter profits up from 75 per cent to 718 per cent over 1973 levels.

"The exceptionally favorable results in the first quarter of this year are not indicative of the earnings gains anticipated for the full year of 1974," said Conoco chairman John McClean.
S. B. Pinyan, Atlanta representative of the Phillips Petroleum Co., said Wednesday it is a "phony charge" to say oil companies are making windfall profits. Large oil companies are reporting dramatic profit increases because current earnings are being compared to 1973 when, he said, industry profits were the lowest in a decade.

Wintry Air Swirls Into Eastern Areas
By The Associated Press
Cold air swirled into the eastern half of the country today while rain showered the Pacific Northwest and upper Mississippi Valley.
Although the chilly readings prompted freeze warnings for much of the region from Michigan and Kentucky into Pennsylvania, the drop in temperatures also was accompanied by clear skies.
From the Great Lakes to New England, the mercury dipped into the 30s during the night, with readings in the 40s as far south as Alabama and Georgia.
On the West Coast, showers sprinkled areas from Idaho to Central California and snow drifted down in the mountains. Although most of the snow was light during the night, a snow warning was issued for eastern Oregon and travel advisories were posted for the Sierra Nevadas.
Scattered showers sprinkled parts of Texas, Florida, Michigan and Missouri, and skies clouded over portions of the middle and north Atlantic Coast and the southern Plains.
Temperatures before dawn ranged from 75 at Key West, Fla., and El Paso, Tex., to 25 at Massena, N.Y.
Some other reports: Anchorage 34 snow, Atlanta 47 clear, Boston 38 cloudy, Buffalo 34 clear, Chicago 37 clear, Cincinnati 37 clear, Cleveland 31

Police Rule Out Robbery In Candidate's Shooting

HOUSTON (AP) — Police have ruled out robbery in the shooting death of a Republican candidate for the state legislature.
"No way," said homicide detective C. J. Lofland on Wednesday. "There was too much stuff that could have been turned too easily. There was $7,000 worth of camera equipment sitting right here."
The candidate, Jack Dak Waite, 42, was shot five times in the back in front of a building 225 feet from his home Tuesday night. Police said his marks on his wrists indicated he had apparently been handcuffed before the shooting.
Detectives said Waite's home had been entered by forcing a living room window. There was evidence of a search throughout the house.
The telephone was broken.

and wires ripped from the wall, officers said. They said Waite was apparently released from his handcuffs and shot after he sprinted through the front door.
Waite was a film maker and real estate developer. Included among Waite's possessions were some films of nude women, the officers said.
Waite, an unsuccessful city council candidate last year, was the only GOP candidate in the May 4 primary for state representative in District 82.
State Rep. John Whitmire, a Democrat, currently holds the seat.
Waite was unmarried and apparently lived alone.

Wool Prices Due To Remain Strong
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sheep producers can expect wool prices to continue mostly strong this year, the Agriculture Department says.
The department's Outlook and Situation Board said Wednesday 1974 wool market prices are expected to average "slightly above" the government's support price of 72 cents per pound.

Lewis G. Raymer, a Lee High School senior, is one of 1,000 winners of $1,000 National Merit Scholarships, it was announced today.
Raymer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis L. Raymer, is a member of the National Honor Society, an academic award winner and will be an honor graduate.
He plans to attend Rice University in Houston where he will major in electrical engineering.
The scholarship is a one-time nonrenewable award.

Houston Lawyer Convicted Of Bail Bond Swindling

HOUSTON (AP) — A lawyer, Robert Amira, pleaded no contest Wednesday and was convicted of swindling a client out of $160 in a bail bond case.
Amira was given a 90-day probation sentence. He also made restitution of the money and agreed that Jim Sims, an assistant district attorney, would recommend to the State Bar of Texas that Amira's license to practice law be suspended for 90 days if the bar asks for a recommendation.
The prosecution charged that Amira was paid $160 to make bond for a man jailed on an assault charge, but did not return the money after he learned the client had already been released.

Sunken Dredge Ties Up Traffic To Texas Ports

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Ship traffic in and out of the ports of Galveston, Houston and Texas City was seriously restricted today because of a collision and sinking.
Three vessels collided in Galveston Bay and one of them, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers dredge A. McKenzie, sank Wednesday in the main channel leading into the three ports.
The U.S. Coast Guard opened a temporary detour through an anchorage area Wednesday night.
But Coast Guard Lt. Steve Ponjes of Galveston said only ships drawing 30 feet of water or less could use the temporary detour.
"I know of at least two ships in port which can't get out," Ponjes said. "I am sure there are more. A good number of tankers which use the channel draw 39 feet or better."
"I would say it is a really serious tieup."
Ponjes said it will be several days before operations can start on lifting the sunken dredge.
The collision involved the dredge, a University of Texas research vessel, the Ida Green, and a Norwegian tanker, the Bow Elm.
"Only a few minor injuries to the crew were reported. The Ida Green took the 50-member crew off the dredge before it sank.
The tanker's loaded bunkers were not breached in the collision, a Coast Guard spokesman said, and there was no oil spill.

Affluent Beverly Hills Now Has Beauty Salon For Young Girls

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Andrea Weiner, draped from shoulders to sneakers in a brown gingham cape, is in the chair having her hair styled for a trip to Mexico. Her mother sitting nearby explained that Andrea's problem is baby fine hair.

No surprise, since Andrea is only nine years old.

It's Tipperary, a beauty salon where baby fine hair is the norm, where it's not unusual for haircuts to be styled around excised bubblegum gaps, where stylists are trained to cut squirming, if not moving targets, and work around faces hidden in comic books.

Andrea, daughter of an insurance executive, goes to Tipperary only three times a year, but many kids in this affluent southern California community have standing appointments.

The shop is owned and managed by Jack King, a 35-year-old London native, who said he became aware of the need for a children's salon while he was working as a stylist at a Beverly Hills women's shop. Mothers would bring in their children but no hairdresser was anxious to cut their hair. They were charged full price — sometimes more at other salons — and generally felt out of place in a room full of women in curlers and pastel smocks.

"This is a very affluent community," said King. "If six-year-olds could drive they would have cars. They have everything."

Unlike adult shops where hair is swept out by the bushels, fallen curls receive loving care. For a first haircut, a Polaroid picture is taken and a strand tied in ribbon is placed in a small envelope marked "Precious locks." Sometimes grandparents come in with movie cameras to film the event.

Children can be given gift certificates to the salon and each child gets a small toy when leaving. The salon is decorated from floor to ceiling in cute, kiddie decor — murals, animal mobiles, balloons. A sign declares that through Tipperary's portals pass the world's most beautiful children. In large canisters are animal crackers and lollipops.

Games, typewriters and dolls abound and there are two pinball and Pachinko machines. The lemon yellow barber chairs are scaled down to children's size and have seat belts for infants. Instead of women's fashion magazines, the kids have Jack and Jill, Seventeen and Ingenua, among others.

As King talked, 8-year-old Jill Levy entered the shop leading her father by the hand. "I think the whole school goes here," said Bert Levy, a retired textile manufacturer, as his daughter headed for the pinball machines. "The kids love it. I think a barber shop can be very terrifying for a kid."

A shampoo is $2.50, a cut $5. King said the kids are good tipsters, though one little girl got confused and gave the money to a parent.

The shop also has manicures, pedicures, permanent waves and hair straightening but not facials — "Most kids have beautiful skin," said King — or hair coloring, though some kids have had their hair dyed by their mothers.

Story Of Patricia Hearst Before Feb. 4 Kidnaping Told

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — Are Patricia Hearst's startling words being forced from her?

An Associated Press investigation finds no evidence in her background that the 20-year-old heiress to a newspaper fortune would say or do anything violent — much less join terrorists, mouth radical rhetoric or aid in a bank robbery.

But she has done them as the astounding developments of the country's first political kidnaping unwind. Whether or not her actions have been voluntary, whether she has been brainwashed, coerced, threatened, is not known.

This is the story of Patty Hearst before Feb. 4, when the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army claims it kidnaped her.

She was a thoughtful art student at the University of California at Berkeley, once a hotbed of student radicalism but now stirred only by an occasional streaker. She rarely discussed politics.

Domestic life with Weed was quiet. They spent most of their time at home, watching television reruns of "Star Trek" and "Mission Impossible" during long, candle-lit dinners.

They lived in a $250 Berkeley apartment. Their income was a $300 monthly allowance from her parents and a small salary he received as a teacher's assistant.

They lived in a $250 Berkeley apartment. Their income was a $300 monthly allowance from her parents and a small salary he received as a teacher's assistant.

Excellent Cook

Patty was an excellent cook, especially good at souffles, cakes and pies. She and Weed listened to the stereo, he favoring the classics, she the soft rock singers Paul Simon, Carole King and Carly Simon.

They had used marijuana, but wine was their thing. They usually had 20 or 30 bottles on hand and were trying to learn better vintages.

They didn't subscribe to the San Francisco Examiner, of which her father, Randolph A. Hearst, is editor and president, as an important collector of art. She has read no biographies about him nor has she seen "Citizen Kane," the fictional film based in part on his life.

She was born the third of five daughters. Both parents have always been busy with their own lives. Besides directing the Examiner against stiff competition from the San Francisco Chronicle, Hearst served as board chairman of the Hearst Corp. His wife, Catherine, helped found the San Mateo Crippled Children's Society and is a regent of the University of California.

The daughters were supervised by a succession of governesses and maids, some good, some bad. An English governess named Heather proved kindly and sympathetic to the problems of the middle daughter as she sought her place in the family and at school.

Followed Family Tradition

Patty followed the family tradition: catechism and confirmation at the parish church, teaching from the nuns at the parochial school. She went away from home for the first time to begin high school at tightly-run Santa Catalina School in Monterey.

After the second year she convinced her father she was unhappy and left the school. A rumor that she was expelled for smoking marijuana is denied by the school and her parents.

She enrolled at the less conservative Crystal Springs School. Life began to flower only magazines were Cosmopolitan, satiric National Lampoon and Sunset, a travel and recreational magazine.

The Hearsts learned of the living arrangement shortly before last Christmas. They thought their daughter had a female roommate.

"Mr. Hearst was more understanding," said Weed. "Mrs. Hearst is very traditional and Catholic, so she was obviously opposed to it. But she finally said, 'Well, you're going to do it anyway,' so there was no big fuss."

Birthdays In Captivity

Weed, a Princeton University graduate, is six years older than Miss Hearst, who had her 20th birthday in SLA captivity. He is tall and slender, with a brush mustache. An art professor of Patty's described her as "like something painted in the 15th century... long, golden-brown hair and perfectly fair skin."

When they went out, Steven and Patty enjoyed prowling auctions and second-hand shops to find antiques and art works.

Last summer they traveled around California, in his Volkswagen or her blue MG, a gift from her parents. They went to Wynton, a Hearst family retreat in the forests of northern California.

Patty is the granddaughter of the publishing giant, William Randolph Hearst. But she knows little about him except as an important collector of art. She has read no biographies about him nor has she seen "Citizen Kane," the fictional film based in part on his life.

She was born the third of five daughters. Both parents have always been busy with their own lives. Besides directing the Examiner against stiff competition from the San Francisco Chronicle, Hearst served as board chairman of the Hearst Corp. She enrolled at the less conservative Crystal Springs School. Life began to flower

She discovered art and literature. She took a class trip to Japan and was deeply impressed.

In the fall of 1971 she entered Menlo College, a liberal arts school near Stanford.

She met Weed at Crystal Springs, where he taught math. She pursued him, Weed said, and he was taken by her slim beauty and eagerness for knowledge. They dated regularly.

In the summer of 1972 Patty toured Italy and Greece with her art class. When she returned, she and Weed rented an apartment.

"Grew Up Fast"

"Patty grew up fast; she didn't appear like an 18-year-old at Berkeley," said Weed. "Our friends were ones I had known, all in the 25-30 age bracket. She fitted very well into the adult world."

Though the Hearsts were upset at their daughter living with Weed, they were visibly relieved that a wedding was planned for June.

It seemed that their world, which combined quiet, graceful living with civic responsibility, would be well-ordered once more.

Then came the night of Feb. 4.

And from that point on the story of Patty Hearst blurs, and the questions that are being raised about what has happened to her, about what she is really like now, cannot be answered.

Lamesans Selected Parents Of Year At Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION — Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gene Hamilton of Lamesa were named as Aggie Parents of the Year at recent ceremonies at Texas A&M University.

The Hamiltons were chosen for the honor by a committee of TAMU students. David White, committee chairman, noted the parents were chosen on the basis of their overall contribution to TAMU based on sustained and demonstrated interest in the university and its students.

The Hamiltons, chosen from more than 20 nominees for the honor, have three sons enrolled at TAMU.

The eldest, Melvin is a graduate student in building design.

Kent, a senior botany major, is a member of the Ross Volunteers, commander of the Second Wing, AFROTC, and is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Brett, the youngest, is a freshman management major, and is a member of Squadron 2 in TAMU's Corps of Cadets.

The Hamiltons were presented Aggie ring crest jewelry as a memento of their award. Mrs. Hamilton also received long-stemmed roses. As parents of the year, they will be invited to all major functions at the university throughout the coming year and they were guests of honor on the reviewing stand for Saturday's Corps of Cadets review.

Midlander Again Chosen Cheerleader

SAN MARCOS — Five Southwest Texas State University cheerleaders have been re-elected to serve another year as campus spirit builders.

The five re-elected include Ballinger senior T. J. Gabbert, Midland senior Scott Emerson, Lubbock senior Evy Thurman, Kerrville senior Jim LeMellieur and Houston junior Paul Castro.

DCO Head Takes Over DSO Reins

DALLAS (AP) — Lawrence Kelly, general manager of the Dallas Civic Opera, has also been named acting general manager of the financially troubled Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

Kelly noted the DSO and DCO have worked together successfully in the past, but he did not indicate whether the two might be merged as a means of easing the symphony's chronic money problems. The opera has generally operated in the black.

The DSO cancelled its spring season March 12, saying it was broke.

A report was expected to be issued this afternoon at Mayor Wes Wise's office discussing possible city-county support for the symphony.

Center Co-Founded

Klinikum, the most modern medical center in Europe, was funded by the U.S. and West Berlin at a cost of $75,500,000.

Rising Cost Of Money Still Bedevils Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — The rising cost of money battered stock market prices for the third straight session today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 3.76 at 828.61, and losers outpaced gainers by more than 3 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

The bulk of the drop came early in the session, apparently prompted by the Federal Reserve Board's approval of a 1/2 point increase, to 8 percent, in the discount rate — the interest rate its district banks charge on loans to commercial banks.

At midday the downward pressure on the market appeared to be easing.

Matsushita Electric was the Big Board's most active stock, down 1/4 at 15 1/2 after a huge 425,000-share block changed hands at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down 97 at 89.54.

Other Big Board issues on the active list included Trans World Airlines, down 1/4 at 10 1/4. The issue sold for as much as 42 1/2 last year. On Wednesday the company said it did not expect to make a profit this year because of higher jet fuel costs.

Among glamour issues hitting 1974 lows were Polaroid, down 1/4 at 56; Avon Products, down 1/4 at 43 1/2; and MGIC Investment, off 1/4 at 26 1/2.

Oils were also weak, remaining generally depressed, despite a series of strong first-quarter earnings reports.

Standard Oil of Indiana was down 1/4 at 90 1/2. Standard of California declined 1/4 to 27 1/2, and Exxon was down 1/4 at 77 1/2.

"The oils are unpopular because Congress is after them," said one broker.

The Amex' most heavily traded stock was Syntex, up 1/4 at 46 1/4.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was off .30 at 47.66.

Worsening Energy Problems Seen If Trends Continue

"If Congress, the Federal Power Commission, the steel industry, major oil companies and the Arabs continue on current paths, I predict that our energy problems will surely get worse, not better," said John R. Dorr, Permian Basin Petroleum Association president.

Dorr went on to say that "the punitive taxes being planned by Congress (including elimination of depletion, price rollbacks and excess profits taxes); the planned and growing shortage of tubular steel; the FPC demands for disclosure of heretofore private information; the lack of major company support in either pricing, taxes or steel and the Arabs deliberate holding down crude oil production to hold up prices, can only lead to forcing the domestic, independent operator out of business."

"When those who have found 80 percent of all domestic oil and gas reserves are forced out of business," he said, "there will be less reserves, smaller fuel supplies, longer lines at the gasoline pump and skyrocketing prices. Had the Arabs held off their embargo until 1976, $3 per gallon gasoline would be guaranteed."

Outpost Planned In Loving Field

Exxon Corp. filed application to drill No. 1 Evelyn Lineberry, a Loving County test, as a two-mile south and west outpost to Silurian production in the Evetts multiphase field of Loving and Winkler counties.

Drillite for the project, slated to 17,900 feet, is 1,867 feet from north and 980 feet from east lines of section 14, block 28, PSL survey, 14 miles west of Kermit.

The field has six Silurian wells, one of which is in Loving County.

Drillite for the project, slated to 17,900 feet, is 1,867 feet from north and 980 feet from east lines of section 14, block 28, PSL survey, 14 miles west of Kermit.

Three WT Counties Draw Exploration

Exploratory tests have been scheduled in Crockett, Stonewall and McCulloch counties.

The Crockett explorer is Texas Oil & Gas Corp., Dallas, No. 1-4 University, a slated 7,000-foot Strawn test, one mile northwest of production in the Lancaster Hill (Strawn) field, but separated by a failure.

Drillite is 1,470 feet from north and 1,960 feet from east lines of section 4, block 29, ULS, 15 miles east of Sheffield.

Stonewall Test

Lobo Oil Corp., Midland, will drill No. 1 Branch, a 6,500-foot Pennsylvanian wildcat in southwest Stonewall County, two miles north of the Rough Draw (Noodle Creek) field, but separated by failures.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 336, block 2, H&TC survey, 19 miles southwest of Aspermont. It also is 1 1/4 mile west of a 6,856-foot Ellenburger failure.

McCulloch Try

Willard Duffy of Okarche, Okla., filed application to drill as a 1,800-foot wildcat in McCulloch, No. 1 Algie H. Hill, three miles west of Fife.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,200 feet from east lines of Heirs of Anton Fink survey 1177, 1/2 miles east of Evans & Davenport No. 2 Hill, a recent Pennsylvanian gas discovery.

The strike finished March 1 for 1.96 million cubic feet of gas daily, through perforations at 1,414-1,420 feet.

Offset To Strike Set In Edwards

Mitchell Energy Corp., Houston, intends to drill a 9 1/2-mile northwest outpost to the one-well, Pan-Gil Ranch (Canyon) gas field of Edwards County. It is No. 1-10 Pan-Gil Ranch.

Drillite for the test, slated to 3,700 feet, is 2,170 feet from south and 640 feet from west lines of section 10, block 2, J. H. Gibson survey, eight miles northeast of Rocksprings.

The pool operator, Mitchell Energy No. 1 Pan-Gil Ranch, was completed in June, 1973, for 2.5 million cubic feet of gas daily, through perforations at 2,282-2,276 feet.

Extension Seen In Eddy Sector

Belco Petroleum Corp., Midland, continued drilling below 13,475 feet on a 14,500-foot Morrow contract at No. 1 Hudson-Federal, Eddy County project, one location northwest and 1/2 mile southwest of Atoka production in the Los Medanos multiphase gas field.

During a 105-minute drillstem test in the Atoka from 12,966-13,021 feet, it had gas to the surface in 15 minutes at the daily volume of 2.7 million to 1.5 million cubic feet per day on a 1/2-inch choke. Recovery was five feet of condensate and 1,265 feet of heavily gas and condensate-cut mud.

Location is 1,830 feet from north (amended from 1,980 feet from north) and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 1-23-30e, 15 miles northeast of Loving.

The field has two current Atoka wells.

Grand Jury Report Raps Drug Usage In Bexar Schools

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—An estimated 20 to 50 per cent of Bexar County's school pupils between the ages of 10 and 17 have used drugs but schools are more concerned with their image than the problem, says a grand jury report. A Bexar County grand jury which investigated drug abuse among youth for five weeks issued a 13-page report Wednesday. "All too many school officials admittedly handle their drug violations themselves, without calling in law enforcement people," said the report. "This is done even though a law has been violated."

The report said "the result has been a complete failure" of the disciplinary policies of the schools. The grand jury recommended an elaborate "Turn in pushers" informant program. A spokesman for the county's largest school district, the San Antonio Independent School District, said the district cooperates fully with law enforcement. However, the spokesman, Jeff Duffield, said, "We do normally on first time occurrences try to bring parents in and work with them. "On multiple occurrences of one or more students, the police are called in."

He said the policy of working with parents on first time occurrences "is strictly with marijuana," which he said is involved in 99 per cent of the schools' cases. Duffield said, "The police frequently tell us you didn't have enough to pinch a kid...it's hard to make a case."

He said usage of hard drugs, which the grand jury called attention to, is shown by statistics to be decreasing while marijuana usage is increasing. The grand jury said, "It appears some school officials are more concerned with the school image than fighting the drug problem which exists in their schools." Duffield said, "We will and do take issue with the comment that we are more concerned with image than with students. The students always come first." He said in the report all 11 of Bexar County's school districts "are indicated but we don't know where" the practices mentioned in the report occurred. Streaking Cubs Beat Giants, 3-2

Tyrone's 8th-Inning Single Drives In Winner

Giesel Goes For Cubs' 4th In Row
 By TED BATTLES
 The Midland Cubs have 67 more Texas League games left at home, but it's unlikely that there will be any better game played in Cubs Stadium than Wednesday's 3-3 Bruin victory over the Amarillo Giants.
 It was Midland's third straight victory, pulling the Cubs even at 3-3, and once again third baseman Wayne Tyrone came up with the big hit, an eighth-inning single that drove in Bill Hulsman from second with the winning run.
 However, it was Wayne's glove work that helped keep the Cubs in the game as both teams made so many dazzling plays afield that they began to look routine.
 Right-hander Gary Junge, 1-1, the Clarkson Tech rifle, came within two outs of pitching the first complete game of the season by a Cub.
 Manager Walt Dixon lifted Gary in the ninth after Craig Barnes singled to right with one out.
 "It was going to be his last inning anyway, so why let him pitch in trouble," Walt reasoned.
 "He used up his bench," Dixon pointed out, "But what else could Denny do. He had to tie before he could worry about extra innings."
 Ware foiled the strategy when he got Guerra on a sharp rap back to the box and forced Shaunessy at second.
 With Mike Minster up, Al Smith went in to run for Guerra, and Mike Young ran in from the bullpen to face the right-hander. Mike fanned Minster on four pitches to nail it down.
 Junge had a no-hitter going into the fifth when he gave up his first hit and both runs.
 "I stuck with my fast ball all night. It was breaking down," Junge said.
 "And he kept it low," catcher Steve Haug added.
 "He didn't have a strikeout or walk, but he was making 'em hit it," Dixon said.
 Barnes' hit was a clean shot to right and he moved to second on an infield out. Minster then dropped a single in front of Bill Droege in left. Bill's throw to the plate took off on him and Junge, backing up the plate, took the ball at the screen as Barnes scored and Minster took second.

Abe Martin, TCU Pin Hopes On Former Star

Back in the 1950's Abe Martin made a habit of guiding Texas Christian University to the Cotton Bowl with more regularity than any one in the Southwest Conference until Darrell Royal and Texas applied a hammerlock on the post-season invitation in the 1960's, a habit that has continued into the 1970's.
 Abe, now athletic director at TCU, was in Midland this week with Jim Shofner, one of the players responsible for the fun-filled fifties and the man he hopes can once again make Purple a popular hue in the Dallas saucer.
 "I like his down-to-earth philosophy. It's the same as mine," says Abe. "Only he is better at expressing it than I am."
 After a pro career with the Cleveland Browns, Shofner, still only 38, returns to his alma mater after seven years as an assistant coach with the NFL San Francisco Giants.
 While much is made of the time recruiting requires, Shofner feels the switch from pro to college will give him more time with his family.
 "We started in July and were away from the family for two months and were completely involved in football for the rest of the year. I think I'd rather have the two months of concentrated recruiting," he says.
 Of course, in considering the TCU coaching job, or that of any private school in the SWC, the dominating shadow cast by Texas would be more of a cause for pause than the switch from pro to college coaching. But Shofner says TCU is the only college job he'd consider and he wouldn't have taken it if he didn't have confidence he could make the Frogs competitive again.
 Many felt Shofner's predecessor, Billy Tobill, hurt the TCU program by his aloofness to the alumni friends to the point he actually alienated them. Shofner's presence

In West Texas is evidence that he is cognizant of the contributions an observant alumni can make to a successful program beyond their mere vocal support at the games.
 Although there was much grumbling when it was adopted, Jim, like Grant Tseft at Baylor, believes the limit of 30 scholarships will help equalize things between privately endowed institutions and the state universities.
 "They won't be able to just take those 30 extras. They've got to be right. They won't be able to make mistakes," says Jim, and then quickly adds, "That goes for us too."
 Offensively, Shofner will go with a pro offense, but hopes to offer a balanced running-passing attack. He admits, however, that most of the recently-completed spring drills were devoted to developing a passing attack. "The timing is so important and it takes longer," he points out.
 Right now, he feels he has found a drop-back quarterback in Lee Cook, a junior, who played the final three games last year after Kent Marshall was hurt. "He wasn't a drop-back quarterback before, but he is now."
 Jim is also high on Jim Gillespie, a Navarro JC transfer.
 On immediate prospects, Jim expresses optimism on what he saw this spring. "But I haven't been around the college game or the SWC in some time. Coaches who have been say 'Not yet.'"
 Still Jim leaves the impression he doesn't expect to wait indefinitely... which is the kind of attitude that Abe Martin likes.

Jenkins Pitches Texas Into First

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — If Ferguson Jenkins thinks he's reborn, you can imagine how Texas Rangers fans feel today with their team in first place in the American League West for the only time in history.

The veteran Jenkins, a former Cy Young award winner who was disgruntled in band-box-sized Wrigley Field with the Chicago Cubs, collected his fourth victory with a six-hit 3-1 decision over Boston Wednesday night.

It was the first time since at least 1948 the Washington-Texas franchise has owned undisputed possession of first place. The old Senators and Rangers have been tied for the lofty perch, but never... never owned it all by themselves.

"I feel like I've been reborn since I came here," said the 30-year-old Jenkins, who won 20 games six times for the National League Cubs.

"If you are doing something, it's imperative that you're happy at your job," he said. "I gave up several hits tonight which might have been homers in Wrigley Field. I can pitch my kind of game and I really love the enthusiasm of this team. They are 25 great guys."

Jenkins is now 4-1 and has a 1.26 earned run average. He mopped up the Red Sox in 88 minutes but said he had several games in the National League that lasted only 70.

"I don't like to waste any time," he said.

Jenkins has such a magical hold over the team that he led them off the field in one inning Wednesday night when there were just two outs. The team followed Jenkins to the dugout before the umpires ordered them back. Jenkins came back to the mound laughing.

"I just lost count, but wouldn't it have been funny if it worked?" he chortled.

Lenny Randle's pop fly double to left field in the seventh inning scored the winning runs for the Rangers. Boston left fielder Carl Yastrzemski and centerfielder Juan Deniquez both called for the ball but pulled back at the last second.

"One of us should have had it," said Yastrzemski. "It's tough to lose a game like this."

Reggie Cleveland, who threw a smart six-hitter himself, was the victim. He's now 1-2 for the season.

The Rangers are half a game ahead of defending world champion Oakland.

Martin has taught his Rangers to think big. First place is as big as you can get.

Bucs Flash Old Power

Pirate Homers Subdue Braves, 5-3

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It's not exactly what you'd call a winning streak... but then, two in a row is better than nothing at all.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, preseason picks to win the National League's East Division flag, have looked like anything but winners thus far this season. In fact, it took them 14 games before they could put victories back to back.

They finally did it Wednesday night, using an old, reliable method... Pirate Power!

Richie Hebner, Willie Stargell and Manny Sanguillen slugged the home runs that boosted the Bucs to a 5-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves... and out of the basement for the first time this year.

"Two in a row! Wow! That's really a streak, isn't it?" Hebner said sarcastically after the victory. Hebner hit a first-inning solo shot, Stargell made it 3-0 in the fifth, the Braves got two runs in the sixth, one of them on Dusty Baker's homer, but Sanguillen wrapped it up in the eighth with a two-run clout.

Reds 1, Cubs 0

George Foster drew a bases-loaded, two-out walk from Bill Bonham in the bottom of the ninth inning to force home the only Cincinnati run — the one that beat Chicago.

Dave Concepcion doubled, Cesar Geronimo drew an intentional walk, Terry Crowley batted for winner Jack Billingham and forced Concepcion at third, Pete Rose popped up, then Joe Morgan singled to lead the bases and bring Foster to the plate. The count went 3-0, Bonham got a strike, then came the back-breaker.

Dodgers 6, Phillies 1

Jim Wynn drove in two runs with a single and a homer and Willie Crawford tripled for two runs to back Don Sutton's seven-hit pitching for Los Angeles.

Brewers Nudge By El Paso In West

By The Associated Press

Victoria and Arkansas continued their early season battle for Texas League dominance Wednesday, each picking up tie-sustaining victories in the East Division.

Third baseman Randy Trapp went four for four, including two RBIs, in leading Victoria 5-2, helped along by first inning doubles from Rudy Kinard and Joe Lindsey. Both Victoria and Arkansas have 3-1 records.

In other games, Midland squeaked by Amarillo 3-2 and San Antonio tip-toed past El Paso 8-7.

Tampa's Franchise To Cost $16 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League begins considering ownership applicants for its new Tampa, Fla. franchise today and the bidders will have to come equipped with hefty bankrolls.

The league attached a record sports expansion team price tag of $16 million for the Tampa franchise granted Wednesday. Commissioner Pete Rozelle also said the NFL would add at least one other franchise to begin play along with Tampa in 1976. The same price, of course, applies.

The $16 million price represents a jump of nearly 100 percent in the cost of an NFL expansion franchise. New Orleans, the last team added to the NFL, paid a reported $8.5 million in 1966. A year later Cincinnati was admitted to the old American Football League for somewhere between $7.5 and $8 million.

"A number of things have changed," said Rozelle. "Television for example. The new team becomes an equal partner in tv income immediately, diluting the shares of the other 26 teams."

Tampa was one of five cities under consideration for expansion by the NFL. Rozelle said that the other franchise the NFL adds this year will most likely come from the remaining four — Honolulu, Memphis, Phoenix and Seattle.

"We are relieved and elated," said Leonard Levy, former chairman of the Tampa Sports Authority and one of the city's representatives. "We felt that whatever criteria the NFL set for a franchise, we had to be seriously considered. We're very pleased."

The criteria included "stadium, weather, sports interest and growth potential," according to Rozelle. Tampa has plans to expand its current 47,000-seat stadium to 72,000.

The commissioner said that the league has been pursued by several groups seeking the Tampa franchise and had not sought ownership yet. He said general guidelines for the club would include at least 51 percent individual ownership, local where feasible.

The commissioner said the owners wanted to give further thought to the other city or cities to be added. He said a final decision might come at their next meeting, scheduled for June 4 in New York. The current meetings continue to deal with a consideration of possible rule changes the chief topic on the agenda.

The old gag used to go something like this: Washington... first in war, first in peace and last in the American League. Would you believe first in the American League?

Oh, it's not really the Washington Senators; it's the Texas Rangers. And it's not really the entire American League, just the AL West. And the lead is only a tiny one-half game over the world champion Oakland A's.

But there is the transplanted franchise in first place today, podnuth, thanks to Wednesday night's 3-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox... in the first time the club has been undisputed possession of first place in either Washington or Texas uniforms since 1948, according to publicist Burt Hawkins.

New York's Graig Nettles tied the AL record for most April homers by swatting his 10th in the Yankees' 4-3 victory over the Kansas City Royals, the Chicago White Sox whipped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-2, the Baltimore Orioles edged the California Angels 4-3, the Detroit Tigers downed the Minnesota Twins 8-4 and Oakland trounced the Cleveland Indians 9-2.

Sal Bando drove in five runs with a double, a sacrifice fly and his third homer, helping Ken Holtzman gain his first victory.

Minster moved to third on Frank Zawatski's grounder to second and scored on Scott Wolfe's exasperating pop down the first base line.

Midland tied it in the sixth. Droegge singled home the run with a hot smash between short and third after Steve Haug walked and Ken Sotkiewicz was hit by the pitch.

Then in the eighth, Huisman walked, moved up on Socko's sacrifice and scored on Tyrone's hit to right-center.

Midland's first run came in the second when Jose Ortiz and Jerry Tabb led off singles. Tabb's hit to right moved the flying Pepi to third and he scored as Ron Matney grounded into a double play.

Tyrone's biggest defensive play may have come in the sixth and was the result of heads-up hustle. Tom Smith had doubled. On Barnes' fly to Ortiz, Smith took third. The relay got away from Sotkiewicz and Smith headed home. Tyrone chased the ball down and fired to Haug who held on to the ball, although spun around by the collision at plate, for the out.

Tyrone went to the fence beyond the bullpen bench to snag a Zawatski foul in the seventh and then got Wolfe on a spectacular scoop and throw in the same motion on a slow roller for the next out. He also pulled the same type play on Smith in the fourth.

Bill Huisman went on the grass behind first to throw out Engert in the eighth and went behind second to nail Tony Pepper in the ninth.

Amarillo reeled off three doubles plays, all started by Smith at third while Strougter made a grass-top robbery on Matney's liner to left in the seventh.

Rangers Still Replay Loss

By ANDY LIPPMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Rangers still swear they got the short end of the stick and that, although they're on the short end of the series, their playoff against Philadelphia is far from over.

The rough-and-tumble Flyers lead the National Hockey League's best-of-seven semifinal round 2-0 going into tonight's game at Madison Square Garden.

"I swear that puck did not go over the line," said Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin of Ed Van Impe's second-period shot Monday night. The puck deflected off Ranger defenseman Rod Seiling and bounced over the New York goalie who whirled around and grabbed the puck as it headed into the net.

Giacomin claimed the puck never reached the net, but referee Dave Newell upheld the goal judge and Philadelphia swept to a 5-2 victory.

The victory was the Flyers' sixth straight playoff victory, a streak they now risk in Madison Square Garden where they have never beaten a team coached by Emile Francis. Under Francis, the Rangers have won 10 and tied six against the Flyers in New York.

New York has the home ice advantage for the next two games. The series will return to Philadelphia for Game 5, if necessary.

Hot Race Going For ERA Honors

When it comes to earned-run-average, which is the way they rate pitchers nowadays, Midland's Terrill Littlejohn is the best in District 5-4A with a 1.03 ERA for 27 innings.

The Bulldog junior isn't doing badly in the percentage department with a 3-0 record, topped by only the 4-0 mark of Odessa Permian's Ray Nunez.

Littlejohn was strictly a reliever in the first half of the District 5-4A baseball race, but has been a life-saver in the second half.

Jeff Cole, who posted all three Midland first-half victories and was the most reliable staff member, has been struggling the second half, so Littlejohn's emergence has kept the Purple Pack in the race.

The ERA race down the stretch should be close. Abilene's Monte Harris (1.37) and San Angelo's Keith Ellwanger (1.63) aren't giving Littlejohn much breathing room and Cooper's Steve Lakatta (2.37) for the pennant-stalking Cougars isn't out of it.

The 5-4A moves into its final three games, starting with Saturday's action, and the teams to catch are Abilene and Abilene Cooper, both 4-0.

The only teams with a chance to do it are Midland and Midland Lee, both 3-1. Odessa Permian is 1-3, but is assured of a playoff since it breezed through the first half in 7-0 fashion.

Midland Lee hosts the Panthers at 2 p.m. Saturday while Midland is at Odessa, also 2 p.m., and the other games find Abilene vs. San Angelo and Abilene Cooper against Big Spring.

'Turandot' To Be Final Met Radio Show Of Season

NEW YORK — Giacomo Puccini's "Turandot" will be the final broadcast of the season on the Texaco-Metropolitan Opera Radio Network.

The performance will be heard over Station KCRS in Midland, beginning at 12:30 p.m., Saturday.

The production will originate in Boston, where the Metropolitan company is in the first week of its annual U.S. tour. Itinerary of the tour which continues through late May includes Minneapolis, Atlanta, Memphis and Dallas, in addition to Boston.

To be heard in principal roles in the upcoming broadcast are soprano Elinor Ross as the beautiful Princess Turandot, soprano Edna Moser as Liu, baritone Robert Goodloe as Ping, bass John MacCurdy as Timur, and tenor Franco Corelli as Calaf. The conductor will be Gabor Otvos.

The Texaco - Metropolitan Opera broadcasts will be back for the 35th consecutive year next winter. Opening the 1974-75 broadcast season next Dec. 7 will be a production of Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet."

School Eliminates Attendance Awards

WAVERLY, N.Y. (AP) — The Waverly Board of Education has decided to do away with perfect attendance awards, branding them counterproductive.

The board said some pupils were too determined to win the awards. They came to class sick and infected their fellow pupils.

PERFORMANCES RESUME — Odessa's Permian Playhouse takes its new production, "Private Lives," into the second weekend with performances Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon. Seen above in the roles of Sibyl and Victor in the 1930 comedy success by the late Noel Coward are Diane Toomey and Mike McLaren; not pictured are Sandra Magill as Amanda and Larry Carter as Elvot. Seat reservations for the upcoming performances may be made by telephoning the box office, 362-2329.

How About Little Kiss For Winners?

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Louise Heath and Vincent Torro had been kissing for 36 hours and 22 minutes, except for a five-minute break every hour, when their last competitors unclimbed and dropped out.

"Far out," said Torro, 24, as the kissathon ended Wednesday and he and his partner were declared the winners. "Oh, I love him so much," said Miss Heath, 26.

Fort Lauderdale radio station WSHE sponsored the contest and offered the winners a trip to Toronto, Ont., to hear the rock music group, "The Kiss."

Torro and Miss Heath are Fort Lauderdale residents who recently moved down from Woodbridge, N.J. They outlasted 40 couples who entered the contest Saturday.

Stanton Lions Queen Contest Slated Tonight

STANTON — Jack Page, disc jockey with radio station KBYG, Big Spring, will serve as master of ceremonies for the Stanton Lions Club Queen Contest at 8 p.m. today in the Stanton High School Auditorium.

Sixteen Stanton girls will compete, with judging on beauty, poise and personality. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Melton and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hunt of Midland will serve as judges.

The entrants are Lois Howard, Darlyn Stewart, Charlotte Ramsey, Karen Anderson, Betty Pacheco, Kathy Russell, Jackie Jones, Molly Hughes, Rosalind Welch, Denise Klein, Diana Wells, Terri Graves, Sherry Smith, Karla Gregg, Rita Pinkerton and Susie Hopkins.

Entertainment will include the Stanton High School Stage Band, the Freedom Four and country and western singer Larry Adams.

Flatt Ticket Sales Brisk

Ticket sales are brisk for the Country and Old Time Gospel Music Festival scheduled Saturday afternoon and evening in Odessa's Ector Coliseum, with Lester Flatt as the headliner.

Joining Flatt in the big show are the Nashville Grass, the Blue Grass Alliance, Joe Bass and the Double Mountain Boys, and Little Jimmy Henley.

The festival, with performances scheduled for 3 and 8 p.m. Saturday, is sponsored by the Midland High School Choir Booster organization. Proceeds from the venture will go to underwrite expenses of an upcoming choir trip.

Tickets for the festival are $4 for adults, if purchased in advance, and $4.50 at the doors. Children between the ages of 6 and 12 will be admitted for $2. Tickets may be reserved by telephoning 682-0296.

One ticket will enable the purchaser to attend both performances of the festival. There will be a dinner break between shows.

'John And Abigail' To Open At Globe

ODESSA — "John and Abigail," a special presentation, will have performances at the Globe of the Great Southwest here today and Friday.

The production, sponsored jointly by the Globe and Odessa's Presidential Museum, presents dramatic readings from the letters of John and Abigail Adams and is adapted from playwright William Gibson's acclaimed play, "John and Abigail."

Globe managing director Charles D. McCally and wife

Regina Walker McCally are in the roles of the famous pair, backed by a select cast and original music.

The initial presentation at 8 p.m. today will be a "bonus" for Globe season ticket holders and patron members. The second performance at 8 p.m. Friday will be open to the public, with tickets priced at $3 for adults and $1.50 for students. Proceeds from the evening will benefit the Globe's Summer Shakespeare Festival and the new Odessa Arts and Humanities Council.

Reservations for the Friday evening performance may be made at the Globe box office, 2308 Shakespeare Road, or by telephoning the theater, 332-4031.

'The Origin' Sets Benefit Concert

"The Origin," popular vocal ensemble at Lee High School, has scheduled a concert a week from Friday in the school auditorium.

Proceeds from the show will benefit the Lee High choir's Vienna Fund. The choir is raising money to pay its expenses to the annual Youth and Music In Vienna festival in the Austrian capital in July.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. Origins concert will be $1.50 for adults and students. The tickets are being sold at United Jubilation and Waltrip's Music Center, and by choir members.

Junior Rodeo Set At Crane May 3-5

CRANE — The Crane County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a West Texas Junior Rodeo May 3-5.

The rodeo is open to all youths through 19 years of age. Events include barrels, poles, roping, steer riding and bull riding, flags. A daddy roping event is scheduled Saturday morning.

Language Students Set Annual Fiesta

Foreign language classes of Midland public schools will present their annual fiesta from 6-8 p.m. Friday on the patio at Lee High School.

There will be food from different countries, a sponge throw and music characteristic of various countries. A group of students from Trimble Tech High School in Fort Worth will give a demonstration of Mexico's folkloric dancers and foreign language students will have handicraft items for sale.

French, German, Latin and Spanish classes will participate in the fiesta and proceeds will be used for the various activities of the language clubs.

Linda Kaye Henning Starring In Hayloft Show

LUBBOCK — Linda Kaye Henning, probably best-known for her portrayal of the simple, homespun Betty Jo on tv's long-running comedy series, "Peticoat Junction," is the star of Hayloft Dinner Theater's current attraction, "A Shot in the Dark."

Miss Henning is in the pivotal role of Josefa, the French parlor-maid accused of murdering her chauffeur sweetheart, in the sexy French comedy by Marcel Achard.

Linda recalls that she wanted to act as far back as she can remember, and her mother — herself a successful actress before her marriage to tv writer Paul Henning — saw to it that Linda had the necessary career foundations, such as ballet and voice lessons. When her father was reading "Peticoat Junction" for the cameras, the late Bea Benadaret, who was to be the star in the series, saw Linda

Denese Bynum To Give Recital

Denese Bynum will present her senior piano recital at 7 p.m. Friday in Crestview Baptist Church. It will be open to the public.

Miss Bynum, a keyboard student of Mrs. Wayne Matthews, is being presented in recital by the music ministry of Crestview Baptist Church, of which she is a member, as an event of Youth Week currently under way there. She will perform works by Bach, Beethoven, Haydn, Schumann, Tcherenpin and Ferguson.

The Lee High School senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Bynum, has received several first and second place awards in annual contests sponsored by Midland Music Teachers Association and has been a member of the Student Affiliate state ensemble team. She has received the Superior rating in National Piano Guild auditions for several years, and will receive a Guild diploma in piano next month.

Exxon Gambles $200 Million On Oil, Gas From Coal

By PAUL RECER
 BAYTOWN, Tex. (AP)—Exxon Corp., the world's largest oil company, is betting $200 million that turning coal into gas and oil is going to be an important part of the nation's future energy picture.

The corporation is, in effect, spending that kind of money to develop a machine that can economically take in coal at one end and put out pipeline-quality gas or crude oil at the other end.

Dr. R. E. Pennington, the manager of the synthetic fuel research laboratory at Exxon's refinery here, said the company has already developed the process on an experimental basis.

Scaled-Up Version

The company starts construction here this year on a scaled-up version of the same process. The second plant, costing $40 million, will handle about 500 tons of coal a day and should be in operation by 1976.

Engineers will operate this experimental plant for several years, using it as a tool to complete development of a process to convert coal to gas. Only after these additional experiments, says Pennington, will Exxon be ready to proceed to a full commercial process. This will probably be sometime in the 1980s.

Long Research Essential

Such a commercial plant may well cost $500 million and Pennington notes that the long research process is essential because the stakes are so large.

"We'd have to put down a half billion dollars for a commercial plant and you don't do that lightly," he said.

Much of the Exxon process is an industrial secret, but Pennington said that, in general, it works this way:

Coal and steam are placed in a ceramic lined pressure vessel and heated to 1,500 to 2,500 degrees at 200 to 1,000 pounds of pressure. This forces out a gas mixture of methane (as in natural gas), hydrogen, hydrogen sulfate and some other chemicals.

High Quality Gas Fuel

The mixture is fed into a cleanup processor that removes the undesirable gases. Harmless gases separated out are vented. Others, such as hydrogen sulfate, are further refined. From hydrogen sulfate, for example, the process can produce a commercial quality sulphur.

End product of the process is methane and hydrogen. These can be further processed to produce a high quality gas fuel, such as natural gas, or they can be used for liquefaction.

The liquefaction process produces a synthetic crude oil that can, in turn, be refined into gasoline.

Gas and oil from coal is not a new idea. Germany, for example, fought some of World War II on gasoline produced from coal, said Pennington, "but it was a very crude technology and the price of gasoline was extremely dear."

Even under the Exxon process, he said, "gas from coal is certainly not going to be cheap."

It will be competitive, however, said the scientist, with other fuels available in the 1980s.

The very nature of coal—its expense to handle and transport—limits where a coal gasification or liquefaction plant can be located, said Pennington.

It's much cheaper to transport the finished product than it is to transport coal to an existing plant perhaps hundreds of miles away.

As a result, Pennington said, the commercial plants probably will be established near the mouth of the coal mines, and that's awkward to handle," he said. "What we're coming out with is a very pure product at the other end."

Systems have been developed to control or re-use waste gas and heat coming from the system. Water is cleaned and recycled for steam and other uses. About the only major disposal problem will be the inorganic ash left as a residue from the coal. This could be used as a building material or as a fill material.

Exxon officials will not eliminate Texas as a possible site, one day, for a coal gasification plant. But logic is against it. Most of Texas coal is in the form of lignite, a fuel with a low BTU (British thermal unit) content. And most of the Texas lignite that can be easily recovered is already controlled by other industries.

The most likely site for coal gasification, many believe, will be the major coal areas in the Midwest and in Wyoming. Exxon has extensive holdings in both areas.

Pennington said the efficiency of the process goes up with the grade of coal.

Coal with 80,000 BTU content per ton, he said, could produce 500,000 to 600,000 BTUs in gas. In effect, one ton of such coal would produce about three barrels of synthetic oil.

Coal of this grade is not deposited in commercial quantities in Texas.

As a result, some experts think, some states which have no oil, but plenty of coal, may one day become major centers for gas, gasoline refining and petrochemicals, perhaps even eventually overshadowing the current Texas position.

Bell Executive Raps Competition

DALLAS (AP) — The president of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. threatens here that competition may cause the public some "disturbing consequences" unless it is halted.

He called experiments in telephone competition "tides" which may be "strong enough to erode the basic principles that underlie the finest, most reliable telephone system in the world, and in doing so increase the cost and adversely affect the quality of telephone service."

The speaker, Zane E. Barnes, appeared before the YMCA annual meeting Wednesday.

Santa Fe Won't Move Car Built To Carry Radioactive Material

CHICAGO (AP) — How can radioactive waste materials be transported safely from nuclear power plants to reprocessing plants?

That question arose Wednesday when the Santa Fe Railway said it has refused to move a railroad car specially designed to haul radioactive materials until the nuclear power industry establishes some safeguards.

The heavily shielded new car, weighing 70 tons when its 18-foot-long cylinder is filled, has been on a siding in Fort Madison, Iowa, for a month. The empty container was put there while en route from the General Electric Midwest Fuel Recovery Plant in Morris, Ill., to San Onofre, Calif., where it was to pick up a load of burned out nuclear fuel for recycling at Morris.

"Our people are not going to move it unless there are adequate safeguards for handling radioactive fuel," Santa Fe's vice president of operations, Larry Cena, said.

The car was delivered to Fort Madison by another railroad, and Cena said Santa Fe wants to be certain that hauling can be done safely before the car is loaded.

A General Electric spokesman said it owns the car and a twin which is parked at its Morris plant. When the plant opens in midsummer it will be the first commercial nuclear fuel reprocessing plant in the United States. The plant will recover uranium for use in making new fuel.

Another General Electric executive said the cars were built to AEC and GE specifications at a cost of $3 million and were licensed by the AEC.

The AEC in Washington said it knew nothing about the side-tracking.

The nuclear power industry estimates 100 carloads of nuclear waste will be transported by 1975, and as more nuclear power plants open across the country, 900 carloads may be shipped by 1980.

A spokesman for the Association of American Railroads said his group feels radioactive fuel should be hauled in special trains, not with general cargo. The Santa Fe said it wanted to determine if the car should be hauled by itself, with only an engine and caboose or with other cars.

A spokesman at Morris said the consumer will be the one to feel the difference. A special train costs more than $30,000 compared to $6,000 to $7,000 for a regular train.
