

WT Sectors Draw Sites For Probes

Explorers were planned in Reeves and Andrews counties. Chevron Oil Co. will drill No. 1 Reeves-State as a 16,500-foot searcher for gas in Reeves County, 13 miles southwest of Orla.

Drill site is 2,640 feet from north and east lines of section 27, block 45, PSL survey, seven miles southwest of the Chapman, Deep (Fusselman) gas field.

Andrews Re-Entry
The Superior Oil Co. plans to re-enter and plug back to 7,700 feet at No. 1-12-E University, in attempt to re-open Wolfcamp production in the Block 12 multipay field of Andrews County, about 20 miles west of Andrews.

A former Clearfork well, it is one mile southeast of the depleted Wolfcamp opener, and sports 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 23, block 12, ULS.

The Wolfcamp discovery, completed in 1955, was Texaco Inc. No. 4-Q State of Texas.

Southwest Scurry Sector Re-Opened

American Quasar Petroleum Co., Midland, has completed No. 1 Travis P. Allen, as a Pennsylvania re-opener, on a location west of the original discovery, in the Allen-Holiday field of Scurry County.

Application to drill was originally filed by James L. Parker & H. H. Gibson and later taken over by American Quasar.
Drilled to 7,300 feet, with 5 1/2-inch casing set at 7,297 feet, it potentialized pumping 44 barrels of 45-gravity oil per day, plus 8.1 barrels of water, from open hole section at 7,297-7,300 feet, after it had been acidized with 300 gallons. Gas-oil ratio measured 511-1.

Discovery site is 567 feet from south and 1,744 feet from east lines of section 75, block 20, Lavaca Navigation Co. survey, 20 miles southwest of Snyder.
McAlester Fuel Co. No. 1-A T. P. Allen was finalized April 8, 1952, as the pool opener. It flowed 265 barrels of 40.8 gravity oil per day, through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,449-7,451 feet.

Midwest Schedules Edwards Ventures

Three wildcats have been planned in Edwards County, by Midwest Oil Corp. of Midland. The firm's No. 2, G. W. Nethery, a slated 4,250-foot test, spots 1,600 feet from north and 305 feet from west lines of Thomas J. Steel survey 15, abstract 1016, 19 miles northeast of Rocksprings.

The test site spots on the Edward-Kimble line on some maps, and in Kimble County on some maps. There is no nearby production.

No. 4 H&C Peterson, scheduled as a 4,650-foot project, spots (Continued On Page 16B)

Midland bank deposits total $378,475,438.78, up $50,001,522.02 from the $328,473,916.76 reported on March 28, 1973. The figure represents a record high for this time of year.

The present figure, however, is down $6,201,113.64 from the record high of $384,676,552.42 recorded Dec. 31, 1973.

Statements of condition of the city's four banks — Commercial Bank & Trust Co., The First National, The Midland National, and Western State — at the close of business April 24, came this morning in response to calls from the federal comptroller of the currency and the State Banking Department.

Loans and discounts are at an all-time high of $232,221,877.78, up $25,947,079.61 from the $206,274,798.17 reported at a similar date a year ago, and up $8,649,052.59 from the $223,572,825.19 revealed at 1973 yearend.

The First National Bank reported deposits totaling $231,849,755.82, compared with $209,219,798.72 a year earlier and $233,700,627 at the end of last year.

The bank's loans and discounts amounted to $138,662,509.14, compared with $122,411,016.43 on March 28, 1973, and $132,849,479.11 three months ago.

Kissinger: Nixon's Problems May Affect Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today conceded President Nixon's impeachment problems could affect foreign policy over the long run, but said they have had no impact so far.

Kissinger, at a wide-ranging news conference, stressed particularly that the Soviets have not made "exorbitant demands" on the basis of any notion that the Nixon administration is weakened by the ongoing congressional impeachment process.

"Any President lives longer in history than in headlines," Kissinger declared in defending U.S. foreign policy — and disassociating it from Nixon's Watergate troubles.

He said that in negotiating nuclear weapons with Moscow and in all other foreign fields he would be guided by "our national interest" and not by any attempt to make the administration look good as the impeachment showdown draws near.

PECOS TORNADO — An overturned truck and crushed car in top photo are evidence of damage done as a tornado struck a trailer park in Pecos early this morning, injuring 12 persons. In bottom photo, workers sift through rubble of one of four large trailer homes destroyed in the storm.

12 Persons Hurt As Storm Rips Into Trailer Park

Spinning down from a dark sky, a tornado slammed into a trailer park at Pecos about 2:15 a.m. today, sending four persons to a hospital with injuries.

Eight others were treated and dismissed. Civil defense workers counted four mobile homes demolished by the twister in the southwest part of Pecos. Another was wrecked about four miles outside the West Texas city.

'Zebra' Search Limited

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police tactics of stopping young blacks on the streets of this city in a fruitless search for the killers of 12 whites have been ordered stopped by a federal judge. Police said they would abide by the ruling, but continue their manhunt.

Only hours after police had issued revised guidelines which would have cut back on the number of searches in their massive Zebra manhunt, U.S. District Court Judge Alfonso Zirpolo issued a temporary injunction against them Thursday. By that time, searches had been performed on about 600 young black men who fit one of (See ZEBRA Page 8A)

A few residences near the trailer park were unroofed. Other homes received minor damage from the twister, the first in recorded city history.

Witnesses said the funnel cloud apparently started lifting off the ground as it reached the Valley Mobile Park, which had most of the damage. Debris was found at least a mile away.

Rescuers found 2-year-old Brian Smith in the mud 50 yards from the mobile home he occupied with his parents, Lynn Smith, 24, and Sandy Smith, 23. The baby suffered head injuries and his parents leg injuries.

The fourth patient was Janice Merworth, 26, who suffered chest and back injuries. Attendants said all were in satisfactory condition.

Patrolman Butler Smith alerted fellow policemen after spotting the tornado as he cruised down a city street at 2:15 a.m.

"It must be a twister—there's tin flying everywhere," he radioed. "I can't see anything for the tin flying around me."

Violent weather kept parts of the Texas Panhandle under a severe weather warning much of the night and gusty showers lingered this morning east of a line linking Dumas, Wheeler and Silverton.

Another area of violent weather covered far West Texas from the vicinity of Alpine almost to Midland.

For the third day in a row, Midland has a chance of thunderstorms, following an unusual period of heating and cooling early this morning.

The temperature had dropped to only 67 at 4 a.m., when it began climbing, reaching an unexpected 88 degrees at 6:25 a.m.

The temperature dropped to 81 at 7 a.m., falling even further to 71 at 8 a.m. and 68 at 10 a.m.

Strong winds accompanied the temperature climb, which the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal said was caused by a thermal downdraft. Winds peaked at 52 m.p.h. at 4:51 a.m.

Chance of rain is 30 per cent today and tonight as skies remain mostly cloudy. A trace of rain was recorded this morning.

Midland's high this afternoon is expected to be in the middle 80s. The early morning high may stand as the record for the day.

Overnight low will be near 60 (See TORNADO Page 8A)

Junta Leader Announces Sweeping Portugal Reforms

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Junta leader Antonio de Spínola announced today sweeping reforms in the one-day-old coup in Portugal, including breaking up the political police and holding free elections within a year.

The 64-year-old general, who swept to power in a military revolt that overthrew the 42-year-old dictatorship, also announced he was firing all civil governors both in Portugal and its overseas provinces, and all members of the cabinet.

Spínola said former Premier Marcello Caetano and President Americo Thomaz had been sent to the island of Madeira. He did not say if they would face prosecution.

Speaking to newsmen, Spínola said he was dissolving the one-house National Assembly, and he told questioners he would permit a multiparty political cabinet. But he did not say if Communists or Socialists would be included.

Spínola said at the moment he does not intend to negotiate with any of the liberation movements in Portugal's black African territories of Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea.

Hundreds of people gathered at Caxias Prison outside Lisbon as word went out that an estimated 180 political prisoners were to be freed.

In downtown Lisbon an angry crowd jeered and shouted, "Thieves" and "Robbers" as uniformed political police were led to vans by the army.

The crowd threw cigarettes and yelled encouragement to the troops.

A few tanks still moved through Lisbon's streets but the city was quiet. Stores reopened, but the nation's airport remained closed and so was the border between Spain and Portugal.

Lisbon newspapers listed three persons killed and 45 injured during the coup.

But generally Thursday was a day of celebration, with thousands of young men streaming into the streets to cheer the rebel troops, plying them with wine and cigarettes and smashing windows to defy police.

Spínola, who was retired by Caetano last month because he advocated an end to the 13-year-old colonial war in Portugal's African territories, emerged as the leader of the seven-man National Salvation Junta.

The other members of the junta are two navy men, Cmdr. Antonio Alba Rosa Coutinho and Capt. Jose Baptista Pinheiro Azevedo; Gen. Francisco da Costa Gomes, the former chief of staff who sided with Spínola in the dispute over African policy; Brig. Jaime Silveiro Marques, Col. Carlos Gal-

Penn Central Due More U.S. Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will give the Penn Central Railroad up to $18 million to keep the financially ailing line running through May.

Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar says.

In his announcement Thursday, Brinegar said the money will be made available on a "when-and-if-needed basis."

It will come from a special fund created to aid troubled railroads in the Northeast while details of their reorganization into a profit-seeking corporation are worked out.

In return for the grant, Penn Central has agreed to submit a plan by May 15 detailing ways it can improve its efficiency.

Brinegar said further cash may be needed over the summer months.

Western Pollution Control Inc. of Midland will construct a service complex for its several subsidiaries on a five-acre tract at Midland Industrial Park.

Announcement of the land purchase was made by E. E. Runyan, Western Pollution president and board chairman, at a Midland Chamber of Commerce press conference this morning.

Included in the proposed complex will be Western Pollution Control executive offices, sales offices for Casing Bond Inc., office and shop facilities for Instrument Tubing and Electrical Co., office, warehouse and laboratory facilities for Petroleum Analytical Laboratories Services Co. and an additional manufacturing facility for the newly purchased Bell Rubber Co. All are wholly owned subsidiaries or divisions of Western Pollution Control.

Construction will begin during the fourth quarter of 1974 with the IT&E facility planned first.

Executive offices and PAL's laboratory will follow.

Runyan also said his company is investigating the possibility of locating the Meister Tube Coating Plant in Midland. Meister is also a Western Pollution Control operating division.

Runyan, who is a vice president and director of Industrial Foundation of Midland Inc., said, "Midland is our home. We are looking forward to doing lots more things with Midland (See WESTERN Page 8A)

Higher Oil Imports Cost Pushes U. S. Trade Balance Into Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sharply higher cost of oil imports during March exceeded exports by $171.3 million. This compared with a surplus of $213 million in February. The country's trade still is in surplus for the year by $685.6 million.

The department said imports were up 27 per cent over last year to an annual rate of $90 billion. Imports were up 26 per cent to an annual rate of $87 billion.

The United States had a trade surplus last year of $870 million, its first trade surplus in three years.

Before March, the last previous monthly deficit in trade was in June of last year.

The improvement in the trade position last year was due in large part to devaluations of the U.S. dollar that made the nation's goods cheaper overseas. This advantage continues in the current year, but the cost of higher oil imports are more than offsetting the advantage.

In another report, the Commerce Department said the nation had a surplus in its merchandise trade with other nations of $200 million in the first three months of 1974, compared with a $1.4 billion surplus in the fourth quarter last year.

Streaking Has Gone The Way Of All Flesh; Dies 'Au Naturel' Death

By JIM WILSE, Associated Press Writer
Streaking, it appears, has gone the way of all flesh. "It seems to have died an 'au naturel' death," concludes David L. Johnston, director of public safety at the University of Massachusetts.

"It became popularized and campy and that was it." An informal survey of campuses where a few weeks ago the charge of the buff brigade was a daily occurrence shows the practice of dashing about in the nude may suffer the same fate as hula hoops.

Where have all the streakers gone? Back to the books in most cases, although students of the phenomenon differ.

"We never really understood why we did it in the first place, so I couldn't say why we're not doing it now," mused 20-year-old Doug Worley, a Princeton undergraduate.

A spokesman for Florida State University, one of the first schools to experience naked speedsters, says the fad was a one-time-only experience.

"When you've done it once, you can say you've done it and there's no need to do it any more," explains Mike Beaudoin.

Shelling Spreads On Syrian Front

By The Associated Press
Syrian and Israeli gunners on Mt. Hermon duelled in the night and at daybreak the shelling spread south along the entire 40-mile front. In Tel Aviv fear spread that Washington's support for Israel was fading.

Communications from Tel Aviv and Damascus reported the 46th day of shelling on the Golan plateau.

Syria said Israeli and Syrian forward patrols clashed in Mt. Hermon shortly after midnight with machine guns and hand grenades.

Refinery Company Has Plans For Big Plant—But Nowhere To Build It

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Olympic Refineries Inc., a company with $150,000 in known assets, has plans for a $600 million oil refinery — but so far, no place to build it.

After being barred from its first-choice site by the voters of Durham, N.H., Olympic decided to wait for another town near New Hampshire's 18-mile Atlantic coastline to invite the company in.

Bryan Schools File Suit Against City For Utility Money

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — The Bryan school district has sued the City of Bryan for one-third of the city's utility profits during the past 25 years.

The city stopped paying the monies in 1949, although the city charter says that one-third of city utility profits—from water, electricity and a rural electrification systems—must be paid the school district.

The district contends in its suit that the city has kept penalty and interest payments on delinquent school taxes, which the city collects.

A hearing on the suit, in the form of an injunctive plea, has been set for June 13.

The school aid provision was in the first charter in 1917 and the amount varied somewhat with each charter approved by voters. In 1941 the amount was set at 33 1/3 per cent.

The suit also calls for an audit of the utility revenues since 1949. In recent years that has been estimated to be about $2 million annually.

Mobil Eviction Suit Postponed

HOUSTON (AP) — An eviction suit by Mobil Oil Co. seeking to oust a shotgun-toting service station operator set for today as been postponed until May 17.

Art Ballard unloaded his shotgun and moved home Thursday after being holed up in his station for almost a week to avoid an eviction notice.

Justice of the Peace Hugo Touchy lifted the order Thursday. It was obtained by Mobil last week.

Company officials went to court to enforce the ending of a lease with Ballard. Mobil claims Ballard's station does not meet its appearance requirements.

Ballard said he would be open for business today, although Mobil has refused to deliver him any gasoline since late March.

Flores-Amaya Plans To Appeal Drug Conviction

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Flores-Amaya's lawyer says the former U.S. Senate candidate will appeal a drug conviction which resulted in a 10-year federal prison sentence Thursday.

U.S. District Court Judge John H. Wood Jr. gave Flores-Amaya, 32, a 10-year special probation term to follow the prison term.

A jury convicted Flores-Amaya of conspiring to distribute heroin earlier this year.

Learning of the intentions to appeal, Wood ordered that all members of Flores-Amaya's immediate family sign his $25,000 bond.

Newmarket, just to the south of Durham, voted last week in favor of the refinery, and the company went back to the drawing board to develop a proposal that would fit there.

Rochester, inland and to the north, is to vote May 1 on whether to approve refinery construction there.

Olympic is an Aristotle Onassis corporation, although public records don't show the role of the Greek shipping magnate. The refinery plan has the support of New Hampshire's governor and largest newspaper, but virtually no information is available about its resources or plans.

There are indications Onassis is determined to build an oil refinery, if not in New Hampshire then perhaps in Rhode Island or Louisiana.

"It's like fighting a phantom," said John Gibson, a spokesman for Save Our Shores, a citizens' group opposing the refinery. "They make statements and deny them the next day. They make promises and break them. Sometimes you don't even know who they are."

Constantine G. Gratsos, president of Olympic Refineries, is the chief representative of Onassis interests in New York.

In a recent telephone interview, Gratsos said Onassis wanted to build an oil refinery for several years, that the shipping magnate is sole owner of Olympic Refineries stock and that financial information about the company is not available.

Then he hung up. The first inkling of Olympic's activities came last October when a seacoast community weekly, Public Occurrences, carried a report that land buying was under way on Durham Point. The story mentioned rumors that an oil refinery was planning to locate on the site.

A month later, however, the newspaper quoted George Pappademas, a Nashua real estate broker, as saying he was buying up options on more than 1,000 acres of rural land in the sleepy college town of Durham for his own investment, a game preserve for friends in Keene, N.H., and possibly a family compound.

It later turned out that Pappademas, George Stamatelos of Keene and at least one other real estate man were offering top dollar for the options on behalf of a fellow Greek-American, Peter J. Booras, a greeting-card manufacturer and friend of Gratsos.

On Nov. 27, Booras, Pappademas and three consulting engineers met with Gov. Meldrim Thomson in the State House. The governor then joined Booras at a news conference to announce Olympic's plans to build a refinery on the optioned land.

Booras was identified as a spokesman for Olympic. The press release said: "Olympic is an international company and has recently obtained a permit to build a refinery in Nova Scotia. Financial references are available from the First National City Bank of New York."

Onassis wasn't mentioned. Asked about an Olympic refinery project in Nova Scotia, a Canadian official said, "It's never gone beyond the rumor stage" and that no Olympic official has ever contacted the government directly.

When First National City Bank was asked for the financial references, a spokesman said: "We haven't been authorized to give out any information on Mr. Onassis or his company."

Olympic spokesmen now say the company was registered for several years in Monte Carlo but never built anything. It reportedly was Onassis' vehicle for negotiating a refinery agreement with the Greek government, a deal that eventually fell through.

On Feb. 26, in the midst of a public relations drive seeking support for the Durham refinery proposal, Olympic filed papers of incorporation with the New Hampshire secretary of state's office.

Those papers show that Olympic Refineries Inc. has a broad charter to do business in New Hampshire. There are four officers, three directors and 4,020,000 shares of no-par-value common stock.

The officers are Gratsos, president; Nicholas F. Papanicolaou of New York, a 25-year-old Onassis protege, vice president and treasurer; Thomas R. Lincoln of Greenwich, Conn., secretary; and David C. Hamblett of Nashua, N.H., clerk.

Gratsos, Papanicolaou and Lincoln are named as directors. The records show that 3,000 shares of stock were sold to an unnamed investor for $50 a share, indicating the company received $150,000 for the only stock outstanding.

The name Onassis does not appear anywhere in the documents on file. None of the officers or directors is a full-time employee of Olympic. The company's only paid personnel in New Hampshire, according to a spokesman, are two writers and four secretaries who staff the Olympic offices in Concord and Dover.

Papanicolaou later complained to a reporter that refinery opponents "called us liars, gangsters, Mafia, everything in the book."

"We want to build a refinery worth millions to the state," said Gratsos, "and we've been insulted from the very first day we arrived."

But the voters in Durham said they didn't want the refinery, and despite intensive lobbying efforts, the state legislature refused to override that local veto power.

The company, which says it has spent nearly $2 million on feasibility studies, plans and promotion, had anticipated little serious opposition after gaining the support of Gov. Thomson and publisher William Loeb of the Manchester Union Leader.

Demos, Republicans Charge Politics In Wage, Price Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Senate Republicans and Democrats have accused one another of playing politics over a Democratic effort to continue President Nixon's authority to control wages and prices.

The Republicans said the Democrats were trying to lay the groundwork for blaming continued inflation on Nixon. The Democrats countered by saying the GOP wants to be able to say the Democratic-controlled Congress didn't give President Nixon authority to curb soaring prices.

Meanwhile, the Labor Department reported Thursday the biggest decline ever in the productivity of the American worker.

As productivity falls, upward pressure is placed on prices since the cost of labor rises. The Labor Department said productivity declined in the first quarter at a 5.5 per cent annual rate.

The verbal battle between Senate Republicans and Democrats came Thursday as the Senate staged a brief preview of debate scheduled to start Monday, a day before the President's authority to control wages and prices expires.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-

Mich., acting Republican leader, declared that the proposal for a year's extension of stand-by control authority, made Wednesday by the Senate Democratic Caucus, was "pure unadulterated politics."

If the Democrats really think wage and price controls will curb inflation, "they should put their program into effect," he added. And he said the Democrats want to give "broad, unlimited authority to the President so that they could criticize him" later.

That proposal, said Democratic Whip Robert C. Byrd, is "pure bunk" since "335 members of Congress cannot administer a wage-price control program."

The West Virginia Democrat suggested the Republicans want Congress to do nothing so they can say "the Democratic Congress sat on its fanny and didn't give the President the authority he needed" to curb inflation.

Though debate is scheduled to start Monday, there seems little likelihood of Senate action before current control authority expires at midnight Tuesday.

Even if the Senate passes the proposal, House action is uncertain and a presidential veto likely.

Nixon's Handling Of Papers Becomes Major Area Of Inquiry For Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's handling of his gift of personal papers for tax purposes has emerged as a major area of inquiry by the House Judiciary Committee impeachment staff.

Chief Counsel John Doar disclosed Thursday the committee intends to conduct a full investigation, including submitting written questions to Nixon, to determine whether there was criminal fraud in his 1969-1972 tax deductions for papers donated to the government.

The Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation recently concluded the deduction was improper and the Internal Revenue Service assessed Nixon for $432,787 in back taxes. But there has been no previous congressional effort to determine whether fraud was involved in the preparation of the returns.

The tax matter takes its place along with the Watergate cover-up, the activities of the White House "plumbers" unit, settlement of the IIT antitrust case and political contributions by the dairy industry, Howard Hughes and Robert Vesco as the chief items on which the impeachment inquiry has settled.

Doar submitted a status report to the committee Thursday. Doar's report to the committee Thursday.

Other items discussed included a proposed four- to five-cent natural gas rate increase and adjusted street light costs resulting from a Texas Electric rate increase.

Tower Says Extension Of Controls Would Fan Flames Of Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., asserted Thursday that a Democratic proposal for extension of price and wage controls past Tuesday will only fan inflation.

The proposal was made by the Senate Democratic majority.

Tower, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee and ranking member of the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee, said the proposal ignored labor and management pleas that they be dropped.

Fan Inflationary Fires — "Inflationary fires will be fanned by the spectre of a possible reimposition and continuation of controls past April 30," he said.

Tower told reporters that the Democratic maneuver struck him as being political.

The Texan has long advocated abandoning controls, asserting they create distortion in the economy and are counterproductive.

As an example, he cited the shortage of tubular steel needed in drilling for oil. Tower said the controls brought about the shortage because prices for the steel products were too low. He claimed that 200 possible oil sites had not been drilled because of this shortage.

On other matters, Tower said: —He opposed a tax cut "when you consider the fact that we are facing a deficit budget."

—In the past three weeks his office has received 400 letters on possible impeachment of the President; 59.6 per cent supported Nixon and 40.4 per cent favored his resignation or impeachment.

—The prospects of deregulating natural gas are "fairly good."

He said removing price controls over gas would increase supplies and "will eventually mean lower prices for consumers."

Tower also said he opposed a bill in the Senate Interior Committee which would designate most of the Big Bend National Park as a wilderness area.

The measure would set aside 79 per cent of the park land as wilderness, prohibiting its development.

CBS Comedy Bloc Gets Majority Of Emmy Nominations

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The CBS Saturday night comedy block almost ran away with the Emmy nominations for comedy.

"All in the Family," "M-A-S-H" and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" were nominated for best comedy series, along with ABC's "The Odd Couple." The stars of all four shows also were nominated.

"The Carol Burnett Show," another CBS Saturday night entry, was among those nominated Thursday by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for best comedy-variety show.

CBS shows grabbed more than half the Emmy nominations for prime time shows. CBS got 106 nominations, NBC 45, ABC 40, PBS 6 and one went to a syndicated show. The Emmys will be presented May 28.

"The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," with 12, received the most nominations. "The Carol Burnett Show" and "M-A-S-H" got 10 each, and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "The Waltons" got nine each. All are on CBS.

"Jane Pittman" is a fictional epic which follows a black woman from slavery to the 1950s. Cicely Tyson aged from 19 to 110 in the film. Miss Tyson, the show, its director and writer received nominations.

Katharine Hepburn, a three-time Oscar winner, was nominated as best actress in a special for her television debut in "The Glass Menagerie." Michael Moriarty, Sam Waterston and Joanna Miles were nominated in the supporting player categories for "The Glass Menagerie."

Besides her variety show's nomination, Miss Burnett herself was nominated for best actress in a special for "6 Rms Riv Vu." Her co-star in the special, Alan Alda, was nominated for best actor in a special and for best actor in a comedy for "M-A-S-H."

Cloris Leachman was nominated for best actress in a special for "The Migrants" — she won the award last year — and for best supporting actress in a comedy for "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

McLean Stevenson was nominated for best supporting actor in a comedy in "M-A-S-H" and for best writer in comedy for a script for that show.

Unlike past years, where canceled shows sometimes walked away with the awards, only one canceled show was nominated — "The Sonny & Cher Comedy Hour" as best variety show.

DISTRICT UNION SPEAKER—

American Farmer's Goal Is Stability, Official Says

The goal of American farmers is stability, Victor K. Ray, director of planning for the National Farmers Union, said here Thursday.

"Stability is the thing we seek," he said. "We had some high prices last year and it does not appear they will be that high this year."

Ray was in Midland to speak to the District 8 Farmers Union meeting at St. Lawrence.

There are laws on the books setting target prices for farm commodities but they are too low, Ray continued. "If a cotton farmer gets 36 cents per pound he will go broke."

The prices should be stabilized during a time of high prices, he said, and the stability must come through government planning.

Most of them include allegations that the White House used executive agencies for political purposes and two others deal with the impoundment of congressionally appropriated funds and the dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

A decision on whether to keep the secret bombing of Cambodia on the list of possible impeachable offenses will be made after the release, expected next week, of a Senate committee report on the subject, Doar said.

The staff's recommendations on matters to be dropped were challenged by several members, and Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. D-N.J., said none were actually being eliminated. It was just a matter of focusing the staff resources on matters of highest priority, he said.

Before receiving the status report on the inquiry the committee, by a 34-4 vote, granted a 5-day delay requested by the White House for responding to a subpoena for tapes of 42 presidential conversations. The new date for a response is next Tuesday.

In extending the deadline the committee made it clear it hopes for full compliance with the subpoena in return. The request has been outstanding since Feb. 25.

"The only way you can have meaningful planning for large numbers of people is through the government," he claimed. "That is the only way you can bring order to any large segment of the community."

Prices for farm products can be set at realistic levels by controlling the flow of commodities into the marketplace with a workable commodity loan program, he said. International prices should be set by treaty, he added.

Surpluses May Result — If some sort of controls are not instituted there will be large surpluses of farm products next year, Ray said. "This will result in ruinous prices for the farmer."

There is a worldwide food shortage, he conceded, but it is still possible to have large surpluses in America.

"We can have ruinous surpluses here and people starving elsewhere," he said. "There are people to eat what we produce but they are not part of the marketplace. They don't have the money to buy it."

Caught In Price Squeeze — American farmers are caught in a price squeeze with rising costs and reduced income, Ray continued.

Placements in cattle feed lots are down because of high costs, he said, which will result in a meat shortage and high prices.

"It doesn't do anyone any good to have this happen," he said.

Most of the increased food costs to consumers does not go to farmers, he added. Price increases are caused by the middlemen.

"The wrapper costs about as much as the wheat in bread," Ray claimed. "The price the consumer pays is unrelated to the price to the farmer."

Key Enterprises Low Bidder On Water Pipeline

ROBERT LEE — Key Enterprises of Odessa was apparent low bidder for a 14,410-foot water pipeline from E. V. Spence Reservoir with a bid of $134,900.

The city's current water supply at Mountain Creek Lake is "disastrously low," according to Mayor S. E. Adams.

Easements for the 14-inch pipeline have already been obtained at no cost to the city, Adams told the Robert Lee City Council Wednesday night.

Robert Lee residents recently voted unanimously to buy Spence Reservoir water for $1.25 a year up to 16 million gallons and approximately 16 cents per 1,000 gallons for greater amounts. Taxes and water rates are not expected to be increased, city officials said.

More Banks Increase Prime Lending Rate

NEW YORK (AP) — More banks have raised their prime lending rates to 10 1/2 per cent and a record 10 1/4 per cent prime rate has been posted by the Citizens & Southern National Bank of Atlanta.

Only last week, Citizens & Southern was the first bank to move from a 10 1/4 per cent prime to the then-record 10 1/2 per cent level.

At the start of business Thursday Manufacturers Hanover Trust and Morgan Guaranty Trust, both of New York, joined several smaller banks in raising the prime to the 10 1/2 per cent mark. Manufacturers Hanover is the nation's fourth largest commercial bank and Morgan Guaranty is the fifth biggest.

Five Largest Included — At the 10 1/2 per cent rate were more than 20 banks, including four of the nation's five largest. First National City Bank of New York, which announces its prime today, was the only one of the top five that had not moved.

The prime rate is the interest a bank charges on a loan to its biggest and most credit-worthy corporate customers. While not directly tied to consumer and small business loans, it serves as an indicator that money is tight and all interest rates may rise.

Analysts noting a steady two-month rise in the prime say anti-inflationary measures by the Federal Reserve Board helped fuel the surge.

The analysts predicted the 10 1/2 per cent prime rate would spread throughout the banking industry by the end of this week.

They made their forecasts before Wednesday, when the Reserve Board increased its discount rate from 7 1/2 to 8 per cent. The discount rate is the amount banks must pay to borrow short-term funds from the Reserve Board, the nation's central banker.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Energy Saving Starts With Tot

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

DEAR POLLY — In these days of energy saving I have found a way to use the scalding water left after I sterilize my baby's bottle nipples. I wash dishes and set them to drain while waiting for the nipples to boil. After capping baby's bottles I pour the boiling water over the dishes for an extra germ proofing. — MRS. H. W. SHIRLEY.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Our garage floor gets very slippery when it is wet from snow being tracked in and so on. This is very dangerous so I would like to know if any one has a suggestion as to how we could make this floor safer to walk on under such condition. — MRS. M. H. M.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is aimed at shoe manufacturers who design and make shoes with laces that are perhaps extra wide, an unusual length, color, etc. Such shoes have been designed for these particular laces and simply have no style when other laces are used and still we cannot buy replacements even at the store where the shoes were bought. I am sure they expect their shoes to last no longer than a pair of laces so do not furnish an extra pair of laces. I am sure most customers would be delighted to pay the small extra cost at the time of purchase of the shoes. In fact knowing they could be bought might help in the sale of the shoes. — SHIRLEY.

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. C. B. S. wanted to know how to remove cement spots from the floor Mrs. C. B. S. could vigorously scrub with a sponge or scratch pad that had been dipped in a mixture of one part muriatic acid (POISON) and five parts water. Rinse immediately with clean water and be sure to wear rubber gloves. — CARL.

DEAR POLLY — A simple way to apply alcohol without making a big mess and not even having to use cotton is to put it in an empty snap-off, roll-on top deodorant bottle. First, clean the bottle very thoroughly, fill and snap on the roll-on top. Just uncup the bottle when needed and roll on the alcohol. — PAM.

DEAR POLLY — Put a wad of crushed aluminum foil in your pocket when you garden and use it to clean the tools. — MRS. H. A. C.

A whole new world

"Hey! Come bicycling with us tomorrow!" There's another new world inside the doors of your neighborhood church. But the latest bicycling craze may be sweeping the land, but some aren't so enthusiastic: some hesitate here too:

"Haven't been on a bike for years!" "I get all the exercise I want working in the garden!" "Bikes are for kids!"

These skeptics should try cruising down a country road where the smell of haystacks, yacincts or magnolias sweetens the air, or experience the warmth of open playgrounds, the coolness of tree-shaded streets, the unblurred faces of neighbors. It's a whole new world.

Episcopal Diocese Annual Council Set At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO — Delegates from Midland's two Episcopal parishes will join those from other parishes throughout the vast Diocese of Northwest Texas in the Annual Council meeting here this weekend.

Three special events will be celebrated during the annual meeting. First, this will mark the 100th anniversary of the Episcopal church in this portion of Texas. Since the Rt. Rev. Robert W. B. Second, Council delegates will help San Angelo's Church of the Good Shepherd celebrate its change of status from a mission to a parish at ceremonies scheduled Saturday afternoon. And third, visiting delegates will join host parishioners in honoring the Rev. Morris F. Elliott, Emmanuel Church's longtime rector, who is retiring after 25 years in the post. Mr. Elliott and his wife will be honored at a dinner on Sunday.

Delegates, clergy and members are expected here this weekend from parishes in Abilene, Amarillo, Big Spring, Lubbock, Odessa, Pampa and Plainview, in addition to San Angelo and Midland. Representatives from Episcopal missions at Andrews, Borger, Brownfield, Clarendon, Coleman, Colorado City, Dalhart, Dumas, Hereford, Kermit, La Mesa, Levelland, Lubbock, Monahans, Quanah, Shamrock, Snyder, Sweetwater and Vernon also are to participate.

Nicholas' parish are delegates Martin Alday, Robert C. Bledsoe, Mrs. Robert W. Fuller, W. H. Gilmore Jr., John E. Gunter, George F. Horst, James H. Shaw and Dean E. Wolf. Delegates to the House of Church Women include Mrs. Martin Alday, Mrs. Robert C. Bledsoe, Mrs. Jack L. Hitt, Mrs. George F. Horst and Mrs. Dean Wolf.

Council delegates from the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity in Midland include W. C. Montgomery, John Cornwall, Dr. Henry Tillett, Conrad Coffield, Mrs. D. C. Sivals, E. C. Philpy, Mrs. Harvey Herd.

R. Matthew Lynn

First Presbyterian To Celebrate Debt Retirement

The First Presbyterian Church Sunday will celebrate one of the most significant and most festive occasions in its 89-year history — the retirement of the final indebtedness on the $1.5 million church plant at 800 W. Texas St. The original loan on the facility totaled $780,000.

The Rev. Robert Boynton Smith, minister, said several special events are planned during the day. A special service of dedication of the debt-free building and facilities "to the glory of God" is scheduled at the 10:55 a.m. worship service in the sanctuary.

Dr. R. Matthew Lynn of Dallas, who served as minister of the church for a quarter of a century, will preach the dedicatory sermon on the subject, "God's Chosen Place." Dr. Lynn resigned his pastorate here in October 1971 to become general presbyter of the Presbytery of the Covenant, Dallas.

Mr. Smith said all members are requested to bring food sufficient for a complete meal for their own families and enough extra for several persons. He said the meal will be a "dinner-on-the-ground" type affair. A special orchestra will provide music prior to and during the meal.

Following the dinner, the children's choirs, under the direction of Robert E. Poer, minister of music, will present on the stage a special musical drama, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat."

Plans for the building program began in the late 1950s and the construction contracts were awarded on March 16, 1959. The ground-breaking ceremony was held on April 5, 1959, with Dr. Lynn, the late Mrs. Andrew Fasken, the late Mrs. R. L. Miller, Col. John Perkins and the late C. A. McLintic participating.

Americans' Drug Sentences Affirmed By Appellate Court

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A three-judge criminal appeals court today upheld a lower court decision sentencing three Americans to life terms on conviction of conspiring to smuggle drugs into Turkey. The hushed session lasted five minutes. The verdict of the Turkish court virtually exhausted all legal means for a reversal of the sentence of Katherine Zenz, 28, of Lancaster, Wis.; Joann McDaniell, 29, of Coos Bay, Ore.; and Robert E. Hubbard, 23, of San Diego, Calif. The decision of the appeals court makes the sentence final except for a slim chance that a request for retrial by the defense may be granted, legal authorities said. The retrial is only granted in cases where important new evidence or witnesses can be presented, they said. The three will probably benefit from an amnesty bill presently under debate in the Turkish parliament which would reduce all life terms to 24 years imprisonment when enacted.

BANKS—

(Continued From Page 1A) The three Americans were arrested Dec. 10, 1972, while crossing into Turkey from Syria. A police search at the border post revealed 236 pounds of hashish hidden in the three minibuses they were driving. The Americans were first tried in Antakya, in southeast Turkey near the Syrian border. They said they rented the minibuses in Munich, where they met by chance in a discotheque. They drove to Beirut, crossing Turkey, to buy curios and leather goods, according to their testimony. The two women said they had Midland Industrial Park. Western Pollution Control currently employs 110 persons, with 60 scheduled to be located in Midland when the new facilities are completed. Other company plants are located in Odessa, Houston, Dallas and Oklahoma City. The firm does business worldwide. Runyan was introduced by Martin Allday, president of the Industrial Foundation of Midland.

Portugal Junta Leader Orders Major Reforms

On Thursday night, Spínola reported that calm reigned in Portugal and that his government "will guarantee freedom of thought, speech and action." Working under cover of darkness before dawn and with tight control of Lisbon, rebel communications installations and other strong points.

Tanks and infantrymen armed with automatic weapons roamed the country. The rebels urged businesses and shops to close. Food was hard to get by the end of the day.

Caetano, the 68-year-old premier who inherited the dictatorship from the late Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, and several of his cabinet resigned after troops and tanks surrounded them at the Lisbon police headquarters.

The chief holdout was President Americo Thomaz, a 79-year-old ultra-conservative admiral. He was reported held up in an army barracks outside Lisbon, immobilized by a cordon of troops outside.

Zebra—

Two composite sketches of the persons police believe responsible for the random, unprovoked shootings of 18 whites since last November. Six of the victims survived.

Speaking of the new police guidelines, Zirpoli said:

"While the immediate pressure of wholesale stops and indiscriminate searches may have been withdrawn, the danger of repetition has not necessarily been removed." He said the injunction was still necessary "in the interest of public tranquility."

Nevertheless, the head of the Zebra investigation vowed "there will be no lessening of our efforts to apprehend the killer or killers."

Zirpoli's injunction prohibits stopping or searching anyone solely because he "appears to be within the so-called profile."

The order said police must have other independent evidence indicating the man may have committed a crime.

Police Capt. Charles Barca, the inspector directing the investigation, said, "The only thing we have changed is who will be stopped and questioned and who won't be stopped and questioned."

"We will continue our Operation Zebra, staying within the constitutional limits as described in Judge Zirpoli's order."

Bush Remains Confident Nixon Is Telling Truth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman George Bush said today he still believes President Nixon is telling the truth about Watergate.

"If I did not have confidence that President Nixon is telling the truth on Watergate, I would not stand here in this posture," Bush said at the opening of a day-long meeting of the Republican National Committee.

He told members of the committee that the party is considering using national television to convey the message that "our party is much closer to the heartbeat of this country than the Democrats."

"We are right with the people on philosophy," Bush said, "but let's face it, we have an image problem — and the people don't perceive our party to be where we actually are."

Bush said election of a "veto-proof" Congress with heavy Democratic majorities would be a disaster for the country.

Bush also disclosed that the party will inherit any left over funds from Nixon's 1972 campaign.

Bush has long pressed for the funds, which currently total $3.7 million. Some of that will be used to pay pending lawsuits against the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

The committee convened amid strong indications that a bipartisan committee is moving toward recommending taxpayer financing of the presidential nominating conventions.

Thursday night, possibility of another "Christmas" was discussed, although no firm date was mentioned.

The program is a project of Park Center YMCA and the Human Relations Council.

Liz Taylor, Richard Burton Say They're Splitting Again

By LINDA DEUTSCH LOS ANGELES (AP) — So what else is new? Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, who once said they'd loved each other too much, say they're splitting up again — and this time they say it's for good.

Miss Taylor and Burton, whose stormy, lavish relationship began on the set of "Cleopatra" and often seemed to resemble their movie "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" announced through a spokesman that they will seek a divorce Thursday. They said they had recently filed for divorce. They asked their attorney to end the 10-year marriage in the court at Berne, Switzerland, where they make their official home. "Irreconcilable differences" were cited as grounds for divorce between Burton, 48, and Miss Taylor, 42, whose four previous marriages and acknowledged beauty combined with acting talent to take her to the top of her profession. The final split had been rumored for months. But the relationship that hit headlines in 1963 when they took up housekeeping while still married to former spouses had survived other rocky times such as Monica, Calif., where he entered a hospital last week for what was described as a bronchial condition. He talked by telephone with Miss Taylor, a spokesman said, but she did not rush to his bedside. He is still hospitalized. If this is their final parting, it has ended Miss Taylor's fifth marriage and Burton's second. She divorced Eddie Fisher to marry him; he divorced his first wife Sybil. They were married on March 15, 1964, in Montreal.

Two Hurt As Bomb Rips Parking Lot At Denver

DENVER (AP) — A bomb tore through a parking lot here through the lot when the bomb went off, police said, and suffered shrapnel-like wounds. They were listed in fair condition in a Denver hospital.

Inside the Denver Regency Inn, Gov. John Vanderhoof, Sen. Peter Dornnick, Reps. Pat Schroeder and Don Brozman and Denver Mayor Bill McNichols were among a crowd attending the Amigos de Ser Conference. It is a Spanish-American group. None of the persons inside was injured.

The hotel also is hosting a meeting of the Colorado Safety Congress, which includes a number of police chiefs.

Police speculated the bomb was made of dynamite, and said an investigation was under way.

Injured by the blast were Richard Reagan, 37, and his wife, Beverly, 36, of Colorado Springs. They were walking through the lot when the bomb went off, police said, and suffered shrapnel-like wounds. They were listed in fair condition in a Denver hospital.

Weed Says Patricia's Actions In SLA Don't Mean A Thing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Whatever Patricia Hearst says or does while she is with the Symbionese Liberation Army "doesn't mean a damn thing," her fiancé says.

Steven Weed, whom Miss Hearst labeled her "ex-fiance," a "clown" and a "sexist pig" in a tape recording received Wednesday, said in an interview Thursday, "It would be absolutely foolish of me to take that kind of rejection in a personal way, and the same goes for her family."

"The only thing we're concerned about is her safety," Weed said.

"All I am really trying to point out to people is that whatever she does, whatever she says, as long as she's in the custody of these people really doesn't mean a damn thing as far as what Patty really is, and as far as what she really wants to do."

Miss Hearst, 20, whom the SLA claims to have kidnaped on Feb. 4, called her parents the "pig Hearsts" in the latest tape, denied she had been brainwashed and said she was a member of the "people's army."

Speaking of Miss Hearst's statements on the tape, Weed said:

"Now that may be simple coercion. It may be brainwashing. It may be just some severe form of disorientation so that she thinks this is the only way she's going to get out of this."

Her father, San Francisco Examiner editor and president Randolph A. Hearst, said Wednesday he still believes his daughter has been brainwashed.

Miss Hearst, who is wanted on a $500,000 material witness warrant in the April 15 robbery of a San Francisco bank, said on the tape she participated in the holdup willingly.

108,000 Auto Workers Still On Indefinite Layoff

DETROIT (AP) — All but one U.S. auto plant will be operating next week as car production begins to pick up, but 108,000 workers remain on indefinite layoff because of the continued sales slump.

Many auto workers have been jobless since January when the energy crisis, then at its peak, began to make a big dent in car sales. Industry spokesmen concede that few of them will be back on the payroll before the 1975 model run begins this summer. Many won't be recalled even then.

Production this week reached its highest level of the year, although assembly of automobiles is still running 20.5 per cent behind the same week in 1973. For the year, auto sales are down 26 per cent from last year's sizzling pace.

President Nixon, speaking in Jackson, Miss., said Thursday that he believes the economy has passed through "the lowest point of the downturn" and will start picking up later this year.

He singled out the auto industry as one trouble spot where the outlook is brightening.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler believe their sales decline has bottomed out, and have ended the short-term plant shutdowns that have plagued the industry since last December.

None of the firms, however, will estimate when plants will return to full capacity or when their indefinitely idled employees — 15 per cent of the big three U.S. work force of 700,000 — will be rehired.

"It's totally unpredictable," said a spokesman at Ford, where indefinite layoffs are at 16,500. "It hinges on sales. When sales increase, we'll increase production and start rehiring."

At GM, where sales are a third below the 1973 pace, 80,000 workers are on long-term layoff. Company spokesmen said it is unlikely they will be recalled before late summer when the 1975-model run begins in earnest.

And "unless there is a substantial change in demand," recalls may not begin even then, a spokesman said.

The General Motors assembly plant in Southgate, Calif., will be the only Big Three plant closed next week. It is being converted from large to small car production.

In another development, two young women activists appeared under subpoena Thursday before a federal grand jury which is looking into that bank robbery. Four alleged SLA members have been charged in it. U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. declined to comment on how Miss Hearst's new declaration might affect the jury's investigation.

Cynthia Garvey, 23, and Janet Cooper, 26, refused to testify before the grand jury, but told reporters they had no personal contact with the SLA. They said the jurors asked them to return next Thursday.

Mrs. Cooper called the SLA "just an isolated gang with nothing but contempt for the people."

Police said at least two of the getaway cars used in the bank heist were rented by a woman using identification bearing Mrs. Cooper's name. Mrs. Cooper said her identification was stolen a year ago.

Loser To Amend Houston Lawsuit

HOUSTON (AP) — Dick Gottlieb, unsuccessful candidate last December for mayor of Houston, was to file still another amended lawsuit today contesting the election.

Gottlieb, who lost to Mayor Fred Hofheinz, said Thursday more than 7,000 illegal votes were cast in the election.

Gottlieb said the amended suit would amplify his present allegations of voters casting more than one vote, voting outside their precinct or falsely swearing they were qualified voters.

The honey, possum of Australia resembles a longtailed mouse.

HOUSTON (AP) — A city-wide "recycle day" last Saturday brought in 148 tons of reusable materials, a citizens group said Thursday.

Nancy Ryan, executive secretary of the Citizens' Environmental Coalition, said individuals and organizations brought in 250,000 pounds of paper, 40,000 pounds of glass and 6,000 pounds of aluminum.

Dear Abby

Tell 'Starved' Husband To Get Professional Help

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband works out of town three days a week. He takes $80 expense money with him on each trip. Every weekend he comes home complaining that he couldn't afford to eat and went to bed hungry when he was away. I suggested he take more expense money but he refuses, saying he won't need more, but he goes right on complaining.

When we have an argument he goes for days — sometimes weeks — without speaking. I prepare his meals as usual, but he refuses to eat at home. Instead he goes to a restaurant and then complains to anyone who will listen to him that I won't "feed" him. Right now there is a pot roast dinner, homemade bread, cake and cookies drying out in the kitchen while he "is eating in a restaurant!"

What is wrong with him? He was married before, and, according to him, his ex-wives didn't feed him either. He is not underweight, and he doesn't have a tapeworm.

Any advice you can give me will be appreciated. He may not be "fed up" — but I am.

HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: For openers it would appear that your husband has a long history of abnormal behavior. He is obsessed with the notion that he is being "starved" by the women in his life whose duty he feels it is to "feed" him. He needs professional help but unless he admits and seeks it, he's destined to go on his paranoid, obsessive way.

DEAR ABBY: You wrote in reply to Rusty who wanted to know if that picture accompanying your column was really you. "That picture is me!"

Are you right? Shouldn't you have written, "That picture is I? Or is it I who am wrong?"

KENNETH L.

DEAR KENNETH: You are right. The picture is I. But it is you who IS wrong. (And right now I am so confused, I don't know if you are wrong or I is.)

DEAR ABBY: I'll get right to the point. Should I marry for love or money? I'm a 24-year-old woman and have a choice.

LOVE OR MONEY

DEAR L: Whatever turns you on. Some people are more turned on by money than they are by love. You don't get a lifetime guarantee with either. In one respect, they're alike. They're both wonderful as long as they last.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Artists Exhibit At Theatre Centre
Two artists, one a Midlander and the other from Fredericksburg, both of whom have a special feeling for Texas' scenic hill country, will be represented with paintings in the Theatre Centre gallery show during the run of Midland Community Theatre's "Of Mice and Men."
The John Steinbeck drama opens at 8:30 p.m. today, with performances to continue through May 11. The production is designed and directed by MCT's Art Cole and has a cast headed by Glenn Thomason and Russell Buonasera in the pivotal roles of George and Lennie.
Seat reservations for tonight's opening, the second performance Saturday night, and additional performances on May 2, 3, 4, 5, 10 and 11, may be made by telephoning the theater, 682-2544.

The two exhibiting artists in the theater gallery show are Grace Weaver of Midland and Onieta Bartholmae of Fredericksburg, who signs her canvases simply "Onieta."
The gallery exhibit was arranged by Anese Stone of the House of Anese gallery here.
Mrs. Weaver, well-known in this area for her landscapes of Hill Country scenes, including her popular bluebonnet paintings, has been an art teacher and painter in Midland for many years. Her works are in many private collections in the city and surrounding areas.
Onieta was born in Minnesota but grew up in Texas' lower Rio Grande Valley and at Fredericksburg. Largely self-taught in art, she has had several one-woman shows and has exhibited in numerous juried shows, frequently capturing first or second place honors. She is a member of the Texas Fine Arts Association, the Hill Country Fine Arts Foundation and the Kerrville Art Club.

President Remains Optimistic On Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, campaigning to rebuild confidence in his Water-gate-troubled administration, has delivered another optimistic forecast on the economy.

On a quick trip to Jackson, Miss., on Thursday, Nixon said the economy has been through "what I believe is the lowest point of the downturn... The last half of the year we will see the economy moving forward again."

The President received a warm reception in Mississippi, the state that gave the largest plurality to his re-election. A standing-room-only crowd of 12,000 frequently interrupted his address with applause.

The White House is arranging other Nixon appearances in sections of the country considered friendly to the President. He will appear in Phoenix, Ariz., on May 3, and in Spokane, Wash., May 4. Aides also are arranging a May 11 presidential trip to Oklahoma State University commencement exercises.

In Jackson, Nixon blamed food and energy for feeding the rise in prices. He added, "The rise in food prices will tend, as we go through the balance of the year, to level off."

He singled out the automobile and housing industries as two trouble spots in the economy. He said the auto industry is brightening and that he will propose new programs within two weeks to stimulate the sagging housing industry.

Nixon said he could "flatly predict '75 will be a very good year."

And 1976, he added, "will be the best year in American history — the most prosperous, the most free."

After returning to Washington, Nixon went for an evening cruise on the presidential yacht, "Sequoia," and then entertained Republican National Committee members at a White House reception.

Nixon gave a short, upbeat speech to the committee members about Republican prospects. He said the economy and other areas would improve and that the GOP would do better in November than it did this spring in five special congressional elections, four of which were won by Democrats.

The President did not repeat the promise to campaign for Republican candidates that he had made to considerable applause the last time the committee met, in September. He also made no direct reference to Watergate.

Morton: Country Is Overcritical Of Oil Profits

By The Associated Press

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton says the country "is being overcritical of the profits" of oil companies, which continue to announce large increases in their net income.

Morton, speaking in San Diego, Calif., said Thursday that "oil companies need good profits so they will have the gigantic sums of money needed to find and bring out additional oil."

He said, however, he would be uncomfortable if the large profits being reported by the giant companies for the first three months of 1974 were being turned into huge dividends or bonuses for executives.

As Morton spoke, Standard Oil of California and Shell Oil — the nation's fifth and seventh largest petroleum companies — reported first quarter profits up 90 per cent and 52 per cent, respectively.

They joined Exxon, Texaco, Standard of Indiana, Occidental and Gulf, which earlier this week reported net income increases over the first three months of 1973 ranging from 39 per cent to 718 per cent.

Standard Oil of California announced first-quarter earnings — net income after taxes — of $293 million, up 90 per cent. It said that amounted to $1.72 per share of common stock. The company said its gross revenues had more than doubled in the same period, from $1.9 billion to $3.9 billion.

In Houston, Shell Oil, a subsidiary of Holland's Royal Dutch Shell, reported first quarter profits on U.S. operations of $121.8 million. The company said that was a 52 per cent increase over the same period in 1973 and said gross revenues for the period had increased from $1.2 billion to $1.8 billion.

Also reporting Thursday was Marathon Oil Co., a smaller integrated oil firm which said its first quarter profits of $30.6 million were up 52.5 per cent from 1973. But Chairman J.C. Donnell II said those earnings were down 45.8 per cent from net income in the fourth quarter of last year.

In Whiting, Ind., Thursday, about 20 demonstrators forced their way into the shareholders meeting of Standard Oil of Indiana. Seven had to be forcibly removed, including one man who was handcuffed by police. None was arrested, and the meeting went on.

In other energy developments: —The House Commerce Committee reported out an emergency energy bill that contains a provision which would roll back the price of oil produced in this country, and thereby lower prices consumers pay for gasoline and other petroleum products. If the rollback provision reaches the White House, it seems certain to be vetoed. A previous energy bill was vetoed by President Nixon because it contained an oil price rollback.

—Federal energy chief John C. Sawhill said investigations of fuel price gouging will produce nearly $36 million in refunds to consumers. He told a House subcommittee that offending companies will be ordered to pay refunds and roll back prices. He said some also will face civil penalties. He did not identify the companies.

—The House Appropriations Committee said Thursday that Americans must continue to save fuel. It urged that the government spend $2.27 billion to find new energy conservation methods.

BIBLES FOR NURSING HOME — J. H. Hardy, president of the Midland Gideons Camp, recently presented 118 Gideon Bibles to the Permian Lodge, 2000 Main St. The new Midland facility has 56 rooms. Analysts Claim Exxon Reduced Profits To Take Into Account Future Taxes, Political Opposition

NEW YORK (AP) — Exxon Corp., the nation's biggest oil company, reduced its first quarter profits by approximately $400 million to take into account future taxes and political opposition, securities analysts say.

The additional money, if added to the company's announced earnings, would have brought Exxon's earnings for the three month period to over a billion dollars. It would have increased their percentage gain from the year-earlier period to 118 per cent, and not the 39 per cent reported by the firm.

Asked about the amount, an Exxon spokesman would not deny it and said the company had decided not to disclose the actual charge. He said the action was in line with accepted accounting principles.

Some securities analysts and accountants, however, feel the deduction was also taken to defuse an expected public reaction to the high profits.

"Ordinarily a company doesn't reduce its earnings by a liability which hasn't yet occurred," says Peter Knutson, an associate professor of accounting at the Wharton School of Finance in Philadelphia.

Companies usually take note of the possible expense but don't subtract the estimated liability from profits, Knutson says.

Exxon claims its deductions on the basis of two factors. The first is an estimated increase in the price of certain Mideast crude oil which is being bought back from the producing nations. This cost is still under negotiation.

Foreign Tax Credit

The company also says it deducted from its earnings the amount it may have to pay in taxes if the U.S. Congress removes a foreign tax credit Exxon now receives. A bill with such a provision is now in the House Ways and Means Committee and would be retroactive to Jan. 1, Exxon says.

Working independently, two Wall Street securities analysts who follow the oil industry place Exxon's undeclared "contingent liabilities" around $400 million for the first quarter.

Robert Albrecht, an oil analyst with Reynolds Inc., a New York brokerage house, calculates that Exxon's provision for added Mideast crude costs could run "as high as $368 million." A rough guess would place their additional tax burden at $92 million for the quarter if the bill in Congress is passed, he says.

Robert Hinckley, oil analyst with W. E. Hutton & Co., also thinks Exxon's special charge could run around $400 million. He based his estimate on the company's declared inventory profit of $90 million.

Inventory profits are the result of an increase in the value of goods kept in storage or in process in a time of rising prices. At any one time, Exxon has a minimum of 30 million barrels of oil stored around the world, and another 60 million barrels in tankers on the high seas.

Butz Still Dodging Questions About Retirement Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz, who will be 65 in July, continues to dodge questions about whether he plans to retire.

Fresh from a three-week tour of the Far East, Butz put off the retirement question again Thursday at a National Press Club luncheon.

"It's going to be a happy day when I become eligible for Medicare," Butz replied, adding that he approaches his job on a day-to-day basis.

He has been in the Nixon Cabinet since December 1971, and has witnessed one of the most remarkable booms ever to hit U.S. agriculture.

Corn sold for 90 cents a bushel and wheat was around $1.30 a bushel when Butz became secretary.

Within a year, huge grain sales to the Soviet Union helped send grain prices to record levels. By last winter wheat was $6 per bushel and corn $2.

Farm income has jumped accordingly. There have been ups and downs along the line, but Butz said he has seen a "new pride" in agriculture since he took office.

"It's been a fascinating experience," he said.

Butz also was asked how he thought he might fit in with a mythical Cabinet if Vice President Gerald R. Ford should move into the White House.

Butz brushed that question aside and asserted, "The presidency will not be open for another 2 1/2 years."

The comments followed a speech by Butz about his Asian trip, a tour which he said was aimed at assuring leaders in Japan and other countries that the United States is a reliable supplier of farm products on the world market.

But he said it was a two-way street and foreign buyers need to tell the United States of long-term requirements so that American farm programs can be adjusted accordingly.

Butz said Asia is the top buyer of U.S. farm products this fiscal year—$8.5 billion worth—and over the long haul the Far East presents an "horizon of opportunity for trade growth."

Ship Traffic Back Almost To Normal

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Ship traffic in and out of the ports of Houston, Galveston and Texas City is back near normal today after the Wednesday sinking of a dredge in the channel.

Ships drawing 36 feet of water or less began moving around the north side of the sunken U.S. Army Corps of Engineers dredge A. Mackenzie late Thursday.

The A. Mackenzie sank Wednesday after it collided with two other vessels, blocking the 40-foot channel into the three ports.

The Coast Guard said Thursday only one vessel at a time will be allowed to move through the temporary channel marked in an anchorage area.

Jailed In Bank Robbery Attempt

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A young woman became the third person arrested by FBI agents in the attempted robbery of the Brooks Field National Bank and she was jailed Thursday in lieu of $5,000 bond.

The FBI announced the arrest of Watheta Alana Simpson, 19, of San Antonio, Thursday following a federal indictment returned against her Wednesday.

She is charged with aiding and abetting an attempted robbery.

Two persons previously were arrested, said the FBI.

No money was taken in the robbery attempt Nov. 28 of drive-in teller, which the FBI said was foiled when the teller at the window "dropped out of sight."

Javits Asks Ban On Luxury Cars

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., says the federal government should ban manufacture of large luxury cars because they consume too much gas.

Javits, who drives a 1971 Ford Mustang, says, "There seems to be a resumption of the appetite for the large cars which the automobile companies are going along with. The government should not allow it to continue."

Portugal Premier Took Wrong Side

By FENTON WHEELER (An AP News Analysis)

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Six weeks ago Premier Marcello Caetano shook the hands of 200 of the country's top military brass. The military revolt that swept him from office Thursday showed he shook the wrong hands.

Premier since 1968, Caetano dug his own political grave when he ousted popular Gen. Antonio de Spinoza, the deputy army chief of staff, because he advocated a negotiated solution to end the colonial wars in Africa.

Caetano found he could not carry on the policies of his predecessor, longtime dictator Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, and meet the growing unrest within the country at the same time. The premier reportedly agreed with many of Spinoza's views. But he bowed to pressure from the conservative generals who had helped him become premier when Salazar had a stroke in 1968 and especially to President Americo Thomaz, a 79-year-old admiral who had the constitutional power to fire him.

The generals and the president all insisted on continuation of the 13-year-old war against the independence movements in Portugal's black African provinces—Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea—which annually gobbles up nearly 40 per cent of the government's budget.

Along with Spinoza, a war hero and former military governor of Portuguese Guinea, Caetano dumped his boss, Gen. Francisco da Costa Gomes, the army chief of staff. Then he held a public ceremony at which the other top men in the armed forces pledged their loyalty.

The firing of Spinoza and Gomes and the display of conservative solidarity convinced many young officers that the only way open was insurrection, one captain said. When the first attempt at revolt failed a month ago, the arrest of one of Spinoza's trusted aides and former combat comrades, Lt. Col. Joao Almeida Burno, fueled the resentment in the lower ranks.

The public, unaccustomed to political action after nearly four decades of Salazar's iron rule, played a passive role. It was all a military show in a country in which for decades the military had kept the government in power.

Spinoza and Gomes kept silent after they were fired. But both are members of the new junta, and Spinoza appears to be its leader.

Rangers Fatten Lead

Bibby Blanks Red Sox On 4-Hitter

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Rangers left home today for a nine-game road trip through the American League East after completing their most successful home stand since moving here from Washington in 1972.

The Rangers, who lost more than 100 games in each of the previous two seasons, are in first place in the American League West, one game ahead of Oakland. A 4-0 triumph over the Boston Red Sox Thursday night was Texas' sixth in seven games here.

"Nothing is crucial now," said Texas Manager Billy Martin of the coming road trip. "This is April. It gets important in August and September."

Texas fans, meanwhile, are developing symptoms of pennant fever. In 10 home dates so far in 1974, the Rangers have drawn 155,000 fans, compared to 104,000 at this time last year.

The key to the Rangers' early success so far has been pitching. Thursday night's four-hit shutout over Boston was Jim Bibby's fourth victory and he joined teammate Ferguson Jenkins as the American League's only four-game winners.

The Jenkins-Bibby duo has a combined record of 8-3, with 11 starts and nine complete games. The third Texas starter, Steve Hargan, has a 1-1 mark, including a 1.57 earned run average.

"Bibby had real good control tonight," Martin said of his 6-foot-5 righthander. "Especially for someone who throws so hard." Bibby walked two batters and struck out six Red Sox.

"On occasion I was pitching well," said Bibby, who spaced his four hits over four innings. "I got away with some bad itches, but I'm real pleased." Two of the hits off Bibby were singles by Doug Griffin, but he had to leave the game after the second one in the fifth inning, when he aggravated a previous leg muscle injury. The injury-plagued Red Sox also lost Rico Petrocelli to a leg injury in the sixth inning after he got the last hit in the game off Bibby. Star catcher Carlton Fisk missed both games here due to injury, and Texas stole three bases, none of which led to scores.

Banks Has Sights Set On That Scoreboard

West Texas was experiencing one of its typical calm nights Thursday. The wind, blowing at 25 to 30 m.p.h., was practically at rest.

Someone in the dugout asked Ernie Banks how he'd like to hit in Cubs Stadium with a helping hand blowing like that to left.

The former Chicago Cub great has a mandatory wait of a couple of more years before he can be voted into Baseball's Hall of Fame, but Ernie's eyes lit up at the suggestion like a man ready to come out of retirement.

That might not be feasible, but how about a home run contest next time Ernie comes to Midland, which will be in a few weeks.

By that time, there will be a better line on who the Texas League power hitters are and Midland Manager Walt Dixon, quite a home run hitter himself in his playing days, might like to get in on the fun.

It's something that would be a real treat. Many West Texans never saw Ernie hit any of his 512 National League homers and even for those who did, the opportunity to view the fluid grace of that whip-like swing once more would be a special treat.

Ernie seemed to like the idea. In fact, he had his target all picked out. "Right over the scoreboard. Left is where all the scoreboards in most of the old major leagues parks were located."

There's also a 368-foot marker under the scoreboard at just about the same spot where there's a similar 368 sign in Wrigley Field, Ernie's favorite baseball depository back in his Chicago Cub playing days.

"Back when I was young and ate black-eyed peas and grits, I could really crush a baseball," Ernie said emphatically. "I was strong. That high-protein food made you strong, but then I started eating caviar and got weak because that wasn't my kind of food."

Sometimes you never know when Ernie is putting you on, but Ernie seriously said, "You're better off if you stick to the foods you are used to."

Jose (Pepe) Ortiz concurred and recommended fried green bananas stuffed with cheese.

Ernie was asked what his favorite park for hitting was outside of Wrigley. "Shibe Park and Connie Mack Stadium. I played there under both names."

"In fact, I miss the old ball parks. They not only had their own individual personalities," said Chicago's roving batting instructor, "but baseball is a game of history and tradition and they took a lot of that out of the game with the new look-alike parks."

"When a father took his son to a ball park, he could remember Babe Ruth, Ted Williams or Jackie Robinson playing there and it brought back memories."

Ernie went on, "I kinda go along with Mr. Wrigley, who would rather have the excitement of a 35,000-seat ball park almost filled rather than a 60,000 or 70,000 seat football stadium where the crowds are less. And with that size stadium parking and security become serious problems."

Ernie sounds like a man after my own heart.

San Antonio, Travs Nab TL Victories

By The Associated Press
Ninth-inning dramatics highlighted Texas League victories Thursday night by division leaders Arkansas and San Antonio.

San Antonio maintained its one-game lead in the West over Midland with a 4-3 victory over El Paso as Gary Ratliff knocked a two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth.

Arkansas, which shares the East lead with Victoria, won 4-3 as Rusty Kinnard hit a run-scoring double in the ninth that gave the Travelers a three-game sweep against Shreveport.

In other games, Victoria beat Alexandria 4-2 and Midland bombed Amarillo 13-3.

San Antonio trailed 3-0 going into the bottom of the eighth inning and El Paso left-hander Sid Meece was breaking along. But three Diablos errors and four San Antonio stolen bases led to two runs in the eighth before Ratliff's game-winning blow.

Arkansas trailed 3-0 going into the sixth inning against Shreveport but the Travs scored twice in the sixth, with Joe Lindsey's two-run single the big blow. The 3-3 tie held until Kinnard's last-inning double.

Jerry Tabb hit a three-run homer in the first and a two-run double in the fourth in the Midland slaughter of Amarillo. Bill Bright also had a three-run homer for the Cubs.

Angel Centres, Rich Miller and Felix Minaya each went 2-for-3 in Victoria's triumph over Alexandria. One of Centres' hits was a homer.

Arkansas at Victoria, Alexandria at Shreveport, San Antonio at Amarillo and El Paso at Midland make up tonight's schedule.

AARON HITS NO. 718

John Pitches 5th Victory For LA

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer
The only records Hank Aaron is breaking these days belong to ... Hank Aaron.

"I don't want to start on records again; that record business is over with," baseball's all-time home run king said after clouting No. 718 with a man on base in the seventh inning Thursday night, lifting the Atlanta Braves to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

That was one of six games on a light schedule. Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 1-0, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Montreal Expos 8-2 and the New York Mets dominated the San Diego Padres 5-2.

In the only American League contests, the Texas Rangers blanked the Boston Red Sox 4-0 and the Kansas City Royals beat the New York Yankees 6-1.

Despite Aaron's protests, there may be more records in sight. His game-winning homer was his 3,517th career hit and he has a shot at second-place Stan Musial's 3,630. It also was his 2,142nd run batted in, second only to Babe Ruth's — remember him? — 2,309.

Aaron's blast came on the first pitch from Jerry Reuss after Darrell Evans drew a leadoff walk. It was a 400-foot drive over the left field fence near the spot where he belted his record-breaking 715th homer on April 8.

Dodgers 1, Phillies 0
Unbeaten Tommy John, barked a first-inning run, started a four-hitter and became the majors' first five-game winner and the first Los Angeles pitcher ever to win five games in the month of April.

Giants 8, Expos 2
Dave Kingman slammed a pair of two-run homers in support of Mike Caldwell's five-hit, first complete game by a San Francisco pitcher this year.

Mets 5, Padres 2
Felix Milon slapped a tie-breaking single in the ninth inning and John Milner delivered two insurance runs with a bases-loaded single. Winning pitcher Jerry Koosman — who allowed two unearned runs, scattered seven hits and struck out 11 — started the uprising with an infield hit off Bill Greif.

The victory snapped the Mets' three-game losing streak. They had dropped 10 of their previous 11 games.

Royals 6, Yankees 1
Paul Splittort and Doug Bird combined on a two-hitter and Vada Pinson delivered a pair of run-scoring singles.

The Royals, who collected just an infield single off Steve Kline over the first four innings, scored three times in the fifth on Jim Wohlford's triple, singles by Pinson and Buck Martinez, a wild pitch, an error and Fred Patek's single.

Andrews' 11-Run Rally Beats Crane
CRANE — The Class AAA Andrews Mustangs scored 11 runs in the top of the first inning with Morris Roberts' home run starting off the winners as they downed the Class AA Crane Golden Cranes, 12-5 Thursday afternoon.

Arnold was the winning pitcher while Bob Henderson was the loser for Crane.

Besides Roberts' homer, the Ponies got doubles from Arnold and Parker while Kelly Mullins had a two-bagger for the Cranes who are 1-4 on the year.

Crane plays Mustangs' JV in a doubleheader today in it's next action.

Ice skating's origins go back at least 5,000 years.

"I don't know if we can come all the way back and win the series," Leonard said. "We will have to play a lot better ball than we did tonight."

"It would be the first time close the gap."

In the final period, Utah closed within one, 81-80 and 82-81, but the Pacers held on. Although Indiana missed four of eight free throws in the final 20 seconds, the Stars still couldn't close the gap.

Nip Stars, 91-89, In ABA

By JERRY GARRETT

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — "That was a pretty good trick," said Indiana Pacers Coach Bobby Leonard.

"It was atrocious," said Utah Stars Coach Joe Malloney.

The Stars fell just short of stopping Indiana. After leading game after the Pacers' 91-89 2-0 and 4-2, Utah's shooting victory over the Stars Thursday night in the sixth game of their best-of-seven American Basketball Association Western Division finals.

The deciding game will be Saturday night in Salt Lake City.

The "trick" Leonard referred to is Indiana's comeback to even the series 3-3 after losing the first three matches.

IN TALLAHASSEE OPEN--

Miller Fires 7-Under 65

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — "It looks like one of the young players who hasn't won might win this tournament," declared 36-year-old Tom Watson after looking at the leader board at the Tallahassee Open.

On top of the pack after Thursday's opening round was Allen Miller, a 25-year-old Professional Golfers Association tour regular for three years whose best finish was as a runner-up at Memphis in 1973.

Miller shot a seven-under-par 65 on the par 72, 7,204 yard Killdeer Golf and Country Club course to move two shots ahead of Watson, Dan Sikes and Mike McCullough. At 68 were Ken Still, Larry Hinson, Ross Randall and Eddie Pearce and at 69 Homero Blancas, Bruce Devlin, Rod Funeseth, Gil Morgan and Martin Bohan.

Even the older pros here are victory-starved. The tournament draws golfers who failed to win an event during the past year to qualify for this week-end's rich Tournament of Champions at LaCosta, Calif.

Hinson, for example, hasn't won in four years.

Randall, 38, of Tallahassee, is among those seeking his first title ever. The five-year veteran has never finished higher than 11th and for a while was leading Thursday's round.

The 146-man field will be cut to the low 70 scores after today's round. Chuck Courtney, who won the first Tallahassee Open in 1969, became the first casualty when he withdrew after posting a three-over par 73 for nine holes.

First prize money is $18,000.

Foresight Pays For Utility Firm

By PAUL RECER
DALLAS (AP) — Twenty years ago Texas Utilities Co. realized that someday the state's ocean of oil and gas would become but a small puddle.

To guard its future, the company started leasing coal-bearing land—and it's still at it.

That foresight has paid off handsomely for Texas Utilities, the parent company of Dallas Power and Light, Texas Power and Light and Texas Electric Service Co.

T. Louis Austin Jr., the brusque president of Texas Utilities said his company now "controls the majority of known lignite in Texas."

Texas has between two and 10 billion tons of lignite coal that can be strip mined, but most of the power companies hurting for fuel to fire their generators will have to look elsewhere. Texas Utilities got there first.

Prevents Stripping
"We use a procedure known as 'checkerboarding,'" Austin said. "That is, leasing enough land to control a deposit so that no one else can economically strip the coal."

"We've been drilling for 20 years looking for stripable lignite. We've probably drilled more holes than anyone else," he said.

Texas Utilities already has one coal-fired plant operating and plans three others. The company supplies power to a third of the state's population and land mass and Austin says, "lignite will eventually supply the energy for half of our generating system."

Cornering the vast Texas lignite fields was good business, a manifestation of the Texas Utilities philosophy of "the best possible electric service for the customer at the lowest rate," Austin said.

Cheaper in Dallas
A Dallas resident can use 250 kilowatt hours of electricity for less than half of what it would cost a New Yorker. The cost is $8.09 in Dallas and $20.63 in New York.

Other utility companies in Texas, which also are forced to use coal, will have to pay more.

Donald R. Schmitz, supervisor of long range planning with the City Public Service Board in San Antonio, said his board now plans a plant fired by coal from Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming.

Schmitz said the board would like to use lignite, but has not yet been able to line up enough of the Texas coal.

Need Adequate Reserves
"If we can find adequate reserves to support a large plant, we would strongly consider lignite," he said. "We have several hundred acres of lignite land in Bastrop County. We're looking at the possibility of expanding our reserves in that area."

It takes about 10,000 acres of land, covering a 10-foot thick seam of lignite, to support a 1,000-megawatt plant for its expected 35-to-40-year lifetime. Several thousand more acres are required for plant facilities and a water reservoir if it is needed.

A mineral explorer in Corpus Christi, who is familiar with the Texas coal deposits, said, "There's just not much room left in the deposits to put a package together."

Another power company, Southwestern Utilities, Inc., which serves East Texas, also has discovered this.

That company supplies power to some of the richest of Texas' coal deposit area—Panola and Rusk County—and yet it is building a power plant that must burn coal imported from Wyoming.

Due For Top Seven
Several other utility companies in the state will eventually be in the same position, or will have to turn to atomic power, experts say. Oil and gas, notes Schmitz, "are out of the picture for the future."

By some estimates, strip mining of coal will produce about 35 million tons a year and put Texas among the top seven states in the nation.

But Austin, whose company is the state's largest strip mining concern, vows Texas will not suffer the ills that blighted other coal-rich areas. There'll be none of the naked hillsides and raw wounds that scar areas of West Virginia and Pennsylvania, he said.

"We are not going to have an Appalachia in Texas," says Austin. "Not as long as I'm at Texas Utilities. When we decided to go to lignite, we decided that commitment and we'll stick to it."

Will Store Land
Texas Utilities says it has committed millions to restoring land after it has been strip mined. It has so successfully restored land at its plant near Fairfield that many farmers and ranchers—who formerly might have sold their land—now will only lease it. After the coal is extracted, the land is returned to agricultural uses with no loss in productivity.

To use lignite to fire generator boilers, the utility company must build new power plants near the source of coal. Large reservoirs—covering 10,000 acres or more—are also required.

Land for these facilities can be forcibly purchased through the use of eminent domain, a law which enables land to be condemned for the overall public good.

Leasing Like Oil
Land cannot be condemned for mining of coal, however, and land owners can lease the land in an arrangement similar to the oil lease system. Land owners have to abandon the property while it is mined, but they are generally rewarded handsomely.

This has produced new prosperity for some communities near the new plants. Fairfield, for example, has enjoyed a boom since the plant opened there, benefiting not only from new money, but also from contributions to the community in time and volunteer work by the professional engineers and scientists who work at the plant.

Tatum, which is near Texas Utilities plant under construction in Panola County, is experiencing the same prosperity.

"There's a lot more money around now than there was before," said one resident. "I think it's really helped the town."

Counseling Firm Gives Profile Of A Debtor

NEW YORK (AP) — Who are the people most likely to fall behind in their monthly credit payments?

They're young marrieds with children who have an annual income of $10,000 to $14,000 a year, says Gerard A. Lareau, executive vice president of the Consumer Credit Counseling Service of Greater New York.

"We call them 'credaholics' in the trade," he says. "They are like alcoholics or gamblers, who just won't admit they have a problem. They live in a world of unreality and insist their problems are a temporary thing."

"couples who don't have good communications with each other and can't talk about money because money represents power," according to Lareau.

There are two big danger signs:
—When your installment debt payments claim more than 20 per cent of your take-home pay.

—And when that consolidation loan you took out isn't enough to take care of all your outstanding bills and you have to apply for a reconsolidation loan.

Lareau estimates that, in New York City alone some 80,000 families, or three per cent of the metropolitan population, go to court each year because of credit troubles.

They and people like them can get free financial advice from Consumer Credit Counseling and similar nonprofit organizations in some 150 cities across the country.

Dryland Wheat Crop Wiped Out By Drought, Bugs And High Winds

By MIKE COCHRAN
 AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — "I'm more afraid of farming this year than I ever was." "We've been farming in the Texas Panhandle since 1943 and this is the first time I've ever had a total loss," says wheat farmer Louene Lamb.

pleasant one, and Lamb has come to town this warm, windy afternoon to ponder the situation in a small, noisy bar. The dryland winter wheat crop is gone, wiped out by drought, bugs and unseasonably high, hot winds sweeping almost endlessly across the plains.

The 3,500 acres produced an average of 32 bushels per acre, Lamb said, and at $4 a bushel that adds up to $448,000 before deducting expenses and taxes. So they are better off than most. But the squeeze is on. Fuel costs have about doubled in the last year, fertilizer has shot up from $70 a ton to $185 a ton when it's available and machinery costs have gone out of sight.

each year, betting against the odds. "But this is all I ever did. That's all my old man ever did, and he's 76 now. He raised 12 of us kids. I guess he loves this damn soil." Any regrets? "Uh, uh. I don't think a fellow should ever regret what he's doing because he can change it in this country. I love what I'm doing. And it'll all work out. "Sooner or later."

Governor, 'Sissy' Woo Golden Triangle Voters

BEAUMONT (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe had the honorary titles of "carpenter" and "pipe-fitter" today, along with promises of a heavy labor union vote in the Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange area.

"We're talking about a total loss," said Lamb, 45, hoisting a cold beer and shoving his crumpled, soiled hat back over his hair grown long by regional standards.

Ground Is Broken For New Textile Plant

LEVELLAND, Tex. (AP) — A Japanese-based company broke ground Thursday evening for a $15 million textile spinning plant three miles east of this Panhandle city.

The plant will initially employ 700, most of them area residents. Daiwabo was lured here by Gov. Dolph Briscoe's office, the Texas Industrial Commission and the Levelland Industrial Commission.

However, Frances Farenthold, who carried Jefferson and Orange Counties twice in 1972 by narrow margins, brought her campaigning to the Golden Triangle today to challenge Briscoe's labor gains.

"A total loss," he continued. "We didn't even graze it out. Normally, (cattle) grazing will at least pay for puttin' in the crop."

Daiwabo America Corp. is building its facility on land donated by the city, located in Texas' Panhandle cotton belt.

banquet that the plant forges another link in the relationship between the people of Texas and Japan. Hobby pointed out Texas grew 3,500,000 bales of cotton in 1969 and most of it was processed out of state.

Both Democratic candidates for governor made a final major effort to win the labor, senior citizens and college student vote of this highly industrial area.

Instead, the 3,500 acres were abandoned, plowed under to be in preparation for a new season.

Driver Killed In Truck-Train Crash

DALHART, Tex. (AP) — Work crews with heavy cranes today began salvaging a produce-laden freight train which jumped the track on collision with a tractor-tanker rig southwest of this Panhandle city.

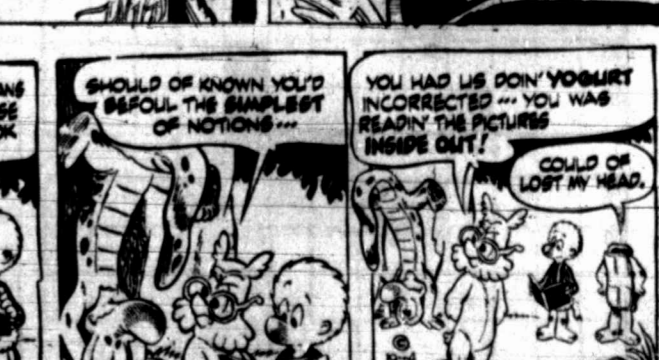

were derailed, the Department of Public Safety reported. Two box cars caught fire.

"It is not often we have a governor in our union hall,"

How do you combat drought, rising operating costs and declining wheat prices? "I don't know what the hell the answer is," Lamb snapped. "I guess you gotta have guts and faith in this wind-blown desert—with a promise of nothing."

The truck driver, Leroy Johnson, 55, of Dalhart, was killed Thursday afternoon when the Rock Island Railroad freight train slammed into his vehicle.

The accident occurred on the Castberry Ranch about 35 miles southwest of Dalhart.

HOROSCOPE
 by Carroll Righter
 (Apr. 27)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Handle all of the small duties connected with home, family and property efficiently so you will be able to get together in the person you really like for recreation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Get all those duties ahead of you and remember that they are well completed.
 If some credit affair needs handling,
 this is the time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Start some new plan that will help you succeed in your sphere of influence. Ignore any criticism from one who doesn't understand your plan.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
 Make sure your first friend to whatever important matters are at hand, and then you can go out for recreation. Carry on your romantic interest charmingly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20)
 Don't agree to a proposal very quickly, or you may trouble in the future. One who opposes you should be avoided now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't get into some labor that is not for you at all which could bring unpleasant and loss. Improve your health and you improve your willpower.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A day for having a good time, at least your activities carefully. Show devotion to those you really like. Spend a lot of time with them.
