

Columnist Says Nixon Vows Not To Quit Under Any Circumstances

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he has given long thought to the possibility of resignation but has decided he will not quit the nation's highest office "under any circumstances."

His strongest vow to date not to resign came in an interview with conservative columnist James J. Kilpatrick, published in today's Washington Star-News.

Nixon told Kilpatrick he would not surrender his office even temporarily to Vice President Gerald R. Ford under the 25th Amendment.

If the House of Representatives votes impeachment, Nixon said he would accept the verdict "with good grace" and then defend himself to the very end before the Senate.

Nixon's release of edited transcripts of private Watergate conversations two weeks ago led to demands — including some from leaders of his own party — that he consider resigning.

The House Judiciary Committee began hearing evidence on Nixon's possible impeachment last Thursday.

The committee eventually will submit its recommendations to the full House, which then would decide by majority vote whether Nixon should be impeached.

If the House votes for impeachment, the Senate would then conduct a trial on the House charges, with a two-thirds vote needed for conviction and removal from office.

Kilpatrick said that he spent one hour, 20 minutes with the President in his Oval Office Tuesday in a session he described as "more of a monologue than an interview."

Besides pledging not to resign, Nixon made these disclosures:

—During his 1968 campaign for the White House, "there was not only surveillance by the FBI, but bugging by the FBI, and (J. Edgar) Hoover told me that my plane in the last two weeks was bugged."

—All of his Cabinet members except one—then Treasury Secretary John Connally—opposed his "loneliest decision of all" to resume bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong areas of North Vietnam in December 1973.

—He believes "we had no choice" but to make public the edited transcripts, and said he sees no reason to permit technicians to examine the tapes because "we've already done that."

Several times in the article distributed by the Washington Star Syndicate Inc. Kilpatrick quoted Nixon as rejecting calls for him to step down rather than face impeachment proceedings.

"I would have to rule out resignation. And I would have to rule out the rather fatuous suggestion that I take the 25th Amendment and just step out summing, but I could do it and I have Vice President Ford would do it for reasons that are step in for a while," Nixon not — "what do you call it — those of a treader in the ring, but I would do it because I have given long thought to what is best for the country, our system of government and the constitutional process."

Midland Youth Selected Young Texan Of Month

Jeffrey Alan Kozak, 17, of Midland has been named Young Texan of the month for June. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kozak, he was chosen for the statewide honor by the Young Texas Foundation after being nominated by the Westside Optimist Club.

Kozak was chosen from 250 nominees. He will be one of 12 finalists for the Young Texan of the Year award.

A senior at Lee High School, he has maintained a grade point average of 4.231 and will be an honor graduate, ranking 12th in his class of 670. He has earned three academic letters and one in debate.

A native of Amarillo, Kozak lived in Oklahoma City before moving to Midland four years ago. Graduating with honors from ninth grade of Trinity School of Midland, he has been involved in numerous school activities at Lee. He is president of the Lee Chapter of the National Honor Society, is a member of the National Forensic League in which he was awarded degrees of merit, honor and excellence, and has been a Student Council representative two years.

As a sophomore and junior, Kozak was a member of the Lee debate team, winning first, second and third place in boys' standard debate at various local, regional and statewide tournaments. As a sophomore, his poem, "Enigma," was published in the Creative Writing Award edition of the National High School Poetry Press.

His senior year, he was named a Junior Lion and was also honored as Boy of the Month for March by the Westside Optimist. His slide-tape presentations on "The Philosophy of the Indians," made as a project for a film study class, won first place in the West Texas Education Center contest this month.

Kozak has been employed by Ski Skeller Sports throughout his senior year and is now an employee of Los Patios Landscaping Center. He enjoys tennis, skiing, backpacking, camping out, scuba diving and water skiing. He is an active member of St. Ann's Catholic Church.

Kozak plans to attend Duke University, where he will major in pre-medicine.

Jacqueline Poses For Photographers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Onassis found herself surrounded by a crush of photographers vying for good camera angles when she made one of her rare public appearances here.

Mrs. Onassis attended a dinner Wednesday night for former New York Gov. W. Averell Harriman given by the Democratic Study Group.

Mrs. Onassis posed with her escort Billy Walton, a Washington sculptor. She said Walton was an old friend. The former first lady seemed amused at the shouting photographers. Asked whether she missed the American press, she grinned and replied, "Yes."

Pressmen's Offer Rejected At Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Striking pressmen offered to resume work at Dallas' two major daily newspapers and management rejected the proposal, spokesmen said Wednesday.

The strike began May 2 at the Dallas Morning News and Dallas Times Herald. Both have continued publication.

Dear Abby
Generalizing Peoples' Characters Is Dangerous

-By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have this in on what kind of person I am, and I would like your opinion. If you want to know a person's true character, find out how he feels about animals. People who like animals make a big fuss over them and are likely to make good mates and parents.

But a person who dislikes animals (especially dogs and cats) and either ignores or mistreats them, is sure to be unkind, inconsiderate and unaffectionate and will probably make a very poor mate or parent.

What do you think?

ANIMAL LOVER

DEAR LOVER: Generalizations are dangerous. There are people who relate much better to animals than they do to humans, so they naturally make a big fuss over animals—but it doesn't necessarily follow that they will make better mates or parents. We've all known animal lovers who lavish an excessive amount of affection on pets, but who are cruel to people. The best index to a person's character is (a) how he treats people who can't do him any good, and (b) how he treats people who can't fight back.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years and have the reputation of being a very good cook.

Whenever we have company and someone compliments me on my cooking, my husband says: "She's great in the kitchen, but she's not hot in the bedroom." It always gets a laugh. My husband thinks he is being funny. I don't.

How should I respond next time he says this?

GREAT IN THE KITCHEN

DEAR GREAT: Ask your husband if he'd be happier if you slept in the kitchen and cooked in the bedroom.

DEAR ABBY: I will have to go back a long way to fill you

League Members Attend Meeting

Mrs. Richard Lamphere, president; Mrs. William H. Jowell and Mrs. William P. Aycock, delegates from the Junior League of Midland, Inc. are attending the 52nd annual conference of the Association of Junior Leagues being held through today in Boca Raton, Fla.

"Agenda for the City" is the theme of the conference, with more than 700 delegates attending. Those attending examined some of the critical issues facing today's cities, skills in analyzing community needs and creating programs to cope with the issues. Land use, education, housing, aging, leisure and health was the focus of workshops held earlier in the week. Keynote speakers in these areas included Dr. Effie O. Ellis, special assistant to the executive vice president, American Medical Association; B. Frank Brown, chairman, National Commission on the Reform of Secondary Education; Jack Ossofsky, executive director, National Council on Aging; and Max Kaplan, director, Leisure Studies Program, University of South Florida.

Ralph Widner, director of the new Academy for Contemporary Problems, spoke on "The Community As a System." Special workshops followed his presentation on "Sizing Up Your Community," "Mobilizing Your Community" and "Moving Into Public Affairs."

Chapter Holds Salad Luncheon

Chapter BS P.E.O. met recently in the home of Mrs. Clark Matthews, 1804 N. H. St., for a salad luncheon, with Mrs. W. C. Shoemaker as co-hostess.

Mrs. John Brooks Campbell, president, reported on the P.E.O. state convention held recently in Amarillo. It was reported there are seven International Peace Scholars attending colleges in Texas. Since 1948, the P.E.O. Sisterhood has granted $1,849,330 to 1,205 students from 84 countries for study. During 1971-73, 189 women have had International Peace Scholarships.

It also was announced four adult women have received grants from the P.E.O. Continuing Education Program, and four girls from Texas are attending Colley College, which is owned by the sisterhood.

Mrs. W. C. Hayes gave a brief report on the Alberta, Canada, provincial meeting held earlier this month.

Chapter Holds Business Meeting

The Alpha Iota Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had a business session Monday in the home of Mrs. Bill West, 3065 Douglas St. Mrs. Jim Hughes, president, presided.

It was announced an ice cream social for chapter members and their families will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the home of Mrs. West. The next regular meeting was changed to Tuesday at 7 p.m. Installation of officers will be held, and secret sisters will be revealed.

Sharon Turner was introduced as a guest.

Mrs. Mike Smith spoke on "Good," and Norma Risinger spoke on "The True."

Following the program, a bridal shower was given for Debbie Ables, who is to be married June 1.

Luncheon Held For Miss Pardue

Martha Pardue, graduating senior at Midland High School, was entertained recently with a luncheon in La Bodega Restaurant.

Miss Pardue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Pardue, 900 Harvard St., plans to attend The University of Texas-Austin.

Mrs. Durward Goolsby and Mrs. Boyd Laughlin were hostesses.

Potted pink geraniums in white containers decorated with pink and white dotted ribbons centered the tables. Guest favors were pink "Betsy Clark" playing cards.

Corsages of pink silk flowers were presented to the honoree, her mother and sister, Mrs. John Wetzel.

Other guests were Cherie Nickell, Jo Hendrix, Lisa Bedford, Lisa Rhodes, Jennifer Blonkivist, Sydney Lindley, Robin Yeager, Carolyn Cox, Pat Powers, Sharon Bray, Sue Eng, Lee Hunt and Mary Mathis.

Parties Entertain Tall City Seniors

Mrs. Roy Williamson of 6 Chatham Court honored Karen Conger, Lee High School senior, with a party recently in the Williamson home. Miss Conger plans to attend Texas Tech University.

Guests were dressed as they visualized themselves 10 years in the future.

The serving table was covered with a yellow cloth and was decorated with tree branches, holding diplomas and graduate figures made of yucca pods.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pierce of 2204 Country Club Drive honored Lisa Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cecil Rhodes, and Sydney Lindley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lindley, with a swimming and supper party recently at the Pierce home.

Miss Rhodes and Miss Lindley are graduating seniors at Midland High School. Miss Rhodes plans to attend Texas Christian University, and Miss Lindley will attend Trinity University.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4149 had an installation ceremony Monday in the Post Hall.

Mrs. Patrick McMullan, past state VFW Auxiliary treasurer, installed: Mrs. Charles White, president; Mrs. Dale Bolinger, senior vice president; Mrs. Bill Rickey, junior vice president; Mrs. Peter Briggs, treasurer; Mrs. Al Downs, secretary; Mrs. Alvie Faulkenberry, chaplain; Mrs. Don Hunt, conductress, and Mrs. Larry Walker, guard.

Mrs. Alton Winburne and Mrs. McMullan, outgoing president and treasurer, were presented charm bracelets and charms.

Business Group Hears Instructor

Ned Pilcher Jr., an English instructor at Odessa Junior College, was guest speaker for the Monday evening meeting of the Tall City Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association at Sambo's restaurant.

The son of chapter member Mrs. Ned Pilcher, the guest spoke on "Words," giving each member a spelling test and stressing the importance of using simple words which can be easily understood.

Mindy Beane, a future student at Baylor University where she will study to become a dental assistant, was named as the group's new scholarship recipient.

Mrs. Roger Patterson, the club's current recipient, was present for the meeting and expressed appreciation for the chapter's support. She is moving to Houston where she will enroll at the University of Houston to continue work on her nursing degree.

The meeting also included installation of three members, Mrs. W. R. Falls, Melanie Erwin and Ann Workman.

A salad supper has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. June 10 in the home of Mrs. Leo Merriman, 4317 Roosevelt St.

Grease Drainer

When serving fish, cut a piece of wax paper the same size and shape as the fish platter. Then place fried fish on the paper. The paper will help to drain the grease. It can easily be disposed of afterwards, making the platter easy to wash and free of grease and odor.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Baby Bib-Maker Wee Bit Frayed

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I am going to make some baby bibs out of washcloths and use bias tape for the binding and ties but my past experience has been that such ties eventually break and the bias tape pulls away from the neck edge. I hope someone will tell me how to remedy this. They are to be a gift and I would hate to have them pull apart. — MRS. R. B.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve concerns the way stores make it so hard for us to return soft drink bottles. Some will take only bottles in cartons, others suddenly refuse brands they sold until recently. I have gotten soft drinks out of those machines that are often near the exit and paid a deposit to take the bottles out. Then when I would bring the bottles back the store would not refund the deposit. Such deposits not only drain our coin purses but take up needed space. This is why people probably buy non-returnable bottles at great expense to our environment. — DONNA.

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Renee that I find using embroidery floss in lieu of darning cotton for mending and darning is great. The strands can be separated to any desired thickness. Such floss comes in so many colors and shades that most anything can be matched. — MRS. D. W.

DEAR POLLY — Those who have small children and the problem of occasional bed wetting might try my Pointer that is a money saver. I bought plastic painter's drop cloths for as little as 20 cents each and covered the mattresses with them. Plastic is between the mattress and bottom sheet. They can be cut to fit any bed or crib.

When traveling by car I always put a large folded paper bag in my suitcase. As clothes get soiled they are put in this "travel hamper" and are separated from the clean ones. On arrival home it is easy to tell which are soiled and the contents of the bag go right into the washer. — MRS. B.

DEAR GIRLS—Last summer I did a similar thing to Mrs. B's pointer about covering mattresses. Being in a rented beach house with small grandchildren I bought very inexpensive plastic shower curtain liners (at a drug store of all places) and one of them split in half was enough to cover the mattress on a twin bed. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Those mothers who have helped their little girls dress Ken and Barbie dolls know how hard it is to slip pants on those sticky legs. I made "leggings" out of old nylons to fit over their legs and the clothes slide right on. After they are arranged properly the "leggings" are pulled off. I do hope this will help other frustrated mothers and little daughters. — MRS. M. A. H.

Watergate Panel Hears Haig Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. has testified before the Senate Watergate committee after being threatened with a possible contempt of Congress citation if he maintained his silence.

Haig testified Wednesday about a $100,000 payment from billionaire Howard Hughes to C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo, President Nixon's friend.

He refused to answer questions in an appearance May 2, but Wednesday said Nixon had waived executive privilege to let him testify.

The New York Times and CBS News reported that Haig told the committee he was warned a year ago about an investigation of the Hughes contribution by then-Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon.

Simon Briefed Garment

Both news organizations, quoting sources familiar with his testimony, said Haig told the committee that Simon also briefed presidential aide Leonard Garment about the investigation by the Internal Revenue Service.

The Times said Haig testified Nixon was informed of the matter and told him several days later to put Rebozo in touch with a tax lawyer.

Simon, former energy chief who last week became Treasury secretary, had never been connected previously with any Watergate matters.

The committee also decided to postpone its long-awaited final report to at least June 30 and to avoid making any conclusions as to the guilt or innocence of Watergate figures, including Nixon.

The panel voted unanimously to ask the Senate to allow it to extend its mandate, retain its subpoena power and grant it an additional $200,000, sources said.

Nixon's former appointments secretary, Dwight L. Chapin, was sentenced to 10 months in prison for lying to a grand jury.

Chapin said later that he would appeal to the Supreme Court if necessary and added, "I've always told the truth when questioned under oath—I'm very proud of that."

In the House Judiciary Committee impeachment inquiry, members listened to their first two tapes of White House conversations. Members said listening to the tapes was better than reading the edited transcripts supplied by the White House.

In another development, the U.S. Court of Appeals ordered the government to answer by Monday the efforts by five of the Watergate cover-up defendants to disqualify U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica from presiding over their trial.

The defendants claim Sirica in the trial of the original Watergate break-in defendants displayed "bias and prejudice."

FOLLOWING SENTENCING — Dwight Chapin, the President's former appointments secretary, talks with newsmen outside U. S. District Court in Washington Wednesday after he was sentenced to 10 to 30 months in prison for his April 5 conviction on two counts of lying to a grand jury about political trickster Donald Segretti. Chapin remains free on bond for an appeal. (AP Wirephoto.)

Threats Of Rain, Storms Spread Over Most U.S.

By The Associated Press

Threats of rain and thunderstorms spread over most of the nation today and golf ball-size hail hit Grand Island, Neb. after a day in which 300 persons were evacuated from Helena, Ark., homes because of rain-caused flooding.

But the plains, central Gulf and northern Atlantic states enjoyed fairly clear skies.

Thunderstorms rumbled from South Carolina through Florida, soaking Gainesville in almost an inch of rain in 24 hours, and snow was reported in Oregon.

"It seemed like the rain stopped right here in Phillips County and began coming down in sheets," Deputy Sheriff Dorris Lee said at Helena, where eight inches of rain fell in 24 hours.

No injuries were reported. Damage had not been estimated.

Temperatures in the 20s chilled Montana, Wyoming and Idaho. Cool air continued to dominate the Great Lakes region with some spots in northern Michigan dropping below freezing.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 81 degrees at Corpus Christi and Kelly Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex., to 28 at Butte, Mont., and Evanston, Wyo.

Other temperatures and conditions around the nation: Anchorage 48 cloudy, Atlanta 65 clear, Boston 65 cloudy, Buffalo 46 clear, Chicago 56 cloudy, Cincinnati 60 partly cloudy, Cleveland 53 clear, Dallas 26 cloudy, Denver 52 clear, Detroit 50 partly cloudy, Honolulu 71 clear, Indianapolis 62 cloudy, Kansas City 63 cloudy, Los Angeles 60 cloudy, Louisville 62 clear, Miami 77 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 50 cloudy, Nashville 64 clear, New York 69 partly cloudy, Philadelphia 66 clear, Phoenix 80 clear, Pittsburgh 53 clear, St. Louis 68 clear, San Francisco 49 clear, Seattle 44 cloudy, Washington 70 cloudy.

Peoples Sworn In As U.S. Marshal

DALLAS (AP) — The new U.S. marshal for the Northern District of Texas is Clint Peoples, sworn in during federal court ceremonies attended by peace officers from wide parts of the nation.

The retired Texas Ranger captain took the oath Wednesday before a crowd of about 200, mostly law enforcement officers from all over Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Washington, D.C.

"I pledge to do everything in my power to uphold the high honors of this office. This climaxes a real fine honor for me to reach a goal in law enforcement I've always wanted," Peoples, 63, said.

Among the peace officers on hand for the ceremonies was M. T. "Lone Wolf" Gonzales, a legendary Texas Ranger who joined the group in 1920.

U.S. Marshal Service director Wayne Colburn praised Peoples, who retired in March as senior Rangers captain, and hailed the Rangers as one of "the most respected law enforcement outfits in this nation."

Peoples began his career as a deputy sheriff at Conroe in 1930, later joining the Texas Highway Patrol in 1941. Five years later he transferred to the Texas Rangers, becoming their senior captain in 1969.

The much-honored Peoples was instrumental last year in establishing the Texas Ranger Hall of Fame at Ft. Fisher, near Waco. He was chairman of the executive committee of the Ranger Commemorative Commission, appointed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Constant Is Among Top Tech Graduates

LUBBOCK — Graduating in a class of more than 2,000 students at Teas Tech University last weekend were eleven who received recognition for top scholastic honors in their colleges.

Among them was Steven L. Constant, son of Frank Constant, 3761 Humble St., Midland. Constant's grade average for four years was a perfect 4.0. His major was finance, and he was the top honor graduate in the College of Business Administration.

Constant said he would like to work for a year and then return to graduate school.

Controversy On Sirhan Is Being Raised Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — While Sirhan B. Sirhan fired gunshots at Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was there a second person near him, pulling the trigger of another gun?

Arguments over the controversial "second gun theory" in the June 5, 1968, assassination were raised anew in an informal hearing earlier in the week by county Supervisor Baxter Ward.

Prosecution officials have discounted theories presented by two criminologists who testified at the hearing held by Ward, who is running for governor but denies political motivation.

Criminologists Herbert McDonnell of New York and Lowell Bradford of Campbell, Calif., said examination of pictures of the bullets fired in Kennedy's assassination at the Ambassador hotel here show two of them were fired from two different guns.

Ward noted officials have downgraded the criminologists' theory as based on photographs, not a microscopic examination of the bullets themselves. He said they want to make such an examination and do a refiring test of the gun used by Sirhan, now serving a life sentence for Kennedy's murder.

The district attorney's office said retesting would be "worthless." And in an interview, prosecutors who probed the slaying and "second gun" questions said they were reluctant to re-fire the gun because mis-handling of the death bullets made such a test meaningless.

Chief Deputy Dist. Atty. John Howard, one of the prosecutors, said the murder gun and bullets have been handled by so many people that their composition has probably changed since 1968.

UTPB Graduating First Class In Saturday Commencement

ODESSA — The first graduates of UTPB will receive degrees Saturday in ceremonies in the university's new buildings.

Approximately 40 students who entered UTPB at its opening last September are expected to graduate at the end of the university's first year of operation.

The Odessa High School Band will play a concert at 2:30 p.m. to open the graduation events.

Commencement ceremonies are scheduled for 3 p.m., and a reception honoring graduates and their families will follow.

The graduation ceremony and reception are open to the public, said Dr. B. H. Amstead, UTPB president.

Beginning at 10 a.m., campus visitors may take guided tours of the new $12.8 million Phase I buildings, which will house regularly scheduled classes for the first time during the summer session. The tours will continue at frequent intervals until afternoon.

Edward Clark, former U.S. Ambassador to Australia and a member of the board of regents of the UT System, will confer degrees upon the candidates. They will be certified by Dr. V. R. Cardozer, vice president of academic affairs, Dr. J. Edwin Becht of the College of Management, Dr. James Colwell of the College of Arts and Education and Dr. Lee Harrisberger of the College of Science and Engineering.

Among those receiving bachelor's degrees, with their majors, will be Aida H. Carrasco, Midland, Spanish; Myrtle L. Cruce, Midland, history; Tanya M. Dorfler, Big Spring, creative writing; Helen M. Fox, Midland, Spanish; Paul A. Herrera, Midland, economics; Patricia C. Metts, Midland, art; Mary E. Parke, Midland, American literature; Penny G. Perser, Andrews, mathematics, and Gertude M. Thomason, Midland, literature.

Larry R. Turpen of Midland will receive his master's degree in management.

First Lady Says Story On Jewelry Is 'For The Birds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Oh, that's for the birds," commented First Lady Pat Nixon when asked about a newspaper story concerning a gift of jewelry from the Saudi Arabian royal family.

Mrs. Nixon was responding Wednesday to a report, first disclosed in The Washington Post by columnist Maxine Cheshire, that the jewelry had been kept in Mrs. Nixon's bedroom safe before being recorded in a special White House gifts office.

The White House acknowledged Tuesday that the First Lady and her daughters over the past five years had accepted jewelry worth more than $2,400 from the Saudi Arabian family, but said it was all within the bounds of official protocol and was properly recorded.

However, Mrs. Cheshire said the jewelry was not actually processed or received by the gifts office until March 28, 1974, after a reporter asked to see records on specific Saudi jewels.

Wired-Up Housewife Couldn't Move Jaws When Plates Off

LONDON (AP) — Housewife Shirley Turner, who has lost 93 pounds since a surgeon clamped her jaws together with metal plates in November, found she couldn't move her jaws when the plates were removed for cleaning.

"My ears popped and I nearly passed out. It was a terrible sensation," said the former 247-pounder.

She is on a liquid diet of 600 calories a day. She hoped to slim to 133 pounds by June, when the plates are to be removed permanently, but her doctors now think it will take at least two months before she can eat properly. She still weighs 154 pounds. "... and there is also the danger I may lose some of my teeth," she said.

But a spokesman at Nottingham General Hospital, where the plates were installed, said, "We are satisfied with her progress. We are quite sure that her jaws will go back to normal when she has the plates removed permanently. And there is no evidence that her teeth have deteriorated as a result of her treatment."

TOURNAMENT COMMITTEE MEMBERS — Mrs. Bill Dillon, left, and Mrs. J. C. Greenhaw are co-chairmen of the Tall City Sectional Bridge Tournament's Trophy Committee. With them is D. T. Branch, chairman of the Hospitality Committee. The tournament opens Friday in the Rodeway Inn.

Tall City Invitational Bridge Tournament Will Open Friday

The Permian Basin Duplicate Bridge Club's Tall City Invitational Bridge Tournament opens at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Rodeway Inn with the Men's Pairs and the Women's Pairs competition.

The three-day tournament will end Sunday with the second session of the main event — the Swiss Team of Four which begins with the first session at 12 noon. The second session will begin at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Fisher Elected To Head Agency

Mrs. Marion Fisher, director of services at Midland Senior Citizens Center, was recently elected president of the Midland Health and Welfare Association.

Mrs. Fisher replaces Mrs. Lynn Bass.

Other officers include Louis R. Turcotte, first vice president; Mrs. Joan Bennett, second vice president; Mrs. Mary Ramzy, secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Haden, treasurer.

The tournament, held here annually until last year when the Hotel Scharbauer, the traditional playing site, was demolished, each year draws many of the Southwest's outstanding bridge players, Mrs. J. T. Dickerson, president of the PBDBC, and director of the tournament, said.

The Friday schedule also includes the Master's Pairs event for players with 20 or more American Contract Bridge League master points. The game begins at 7:30 p.m.

A side game, for players with less than 20 points, will be played in conjunction with the Master's Pairs.

Saturday, the Midland Pairs, another side game designed for beginners, but open to all players, will get under way at 9:30 a.m.

The first session of the two-session Open Pairs will begin at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, with the finals slated at 7:30 p.m. The Open Pairs consolation, for players who did not make the finals and for those who did not play in the first round, will also start at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Persons who need partners for any of the sessions should contact Mrs. Robert F. Wilson Jr. or Mrs. Bill Lively, co-chairman of the Partnership Committee.

The Permian Basin Duplicate Bridge Club invites all players in the Permian Basin area to take part in the tournament.

A special warmup game will be held, starting promptly at 7:30 p.m. today, in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Israelis Shocked, Angry With Security Forces

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — "If the army had done its job of guarding the borders, they wouldn't have had to shoot it out with the terrorists in Maalot and all those children wouldn't have been hurt," said an angry young Tel Aviv mother.

Her words were echoed by many Israelis, shocked and angry with their security forces after the Arab guerrilla attack Wednesday in which 20 schoolchildren, a family of three and a soldier were killed, and 74 others were wounded. An Arab woman was also killed in an ambush.

Another Invasion

The attack came 34 days after another group of Arab guerrillas invaded another town near the Lebanese border, Qiryat Shimonah, and killed 18 persons, including eight children.

A day or more before each attack, security forces found indications that guerrillas had crossed the border.

"What is to stop the terrorists from doing the same thing in Tel Aviv?" asked Etti Cohen, a young suburban housewife. "We need more security or else more people are going to die."

The government last week refused a group of Tel Aviv teachers when they asked for guns to protect their classes. But police allowed taxi drivers to carry guns after guerrillas murdered a Jerusalem cabbie last month and wired his body with explosives.

Sarah Ehrlich, another Tel

Aviv mother, said she was frightened for her two student daughters.

"Nowhere is safe any more," she said. "It reminds me of the days in Palestine before statehood when the Arabs would attack out of nowhere. It isn't any safer now than it was then, but we carried guns and you felt better knowing you were protected. And the army did its job much better then."

Menahem Begin, leader of the opposition Likud bloc in

Kissinger Nowhere Near Israeli And Syrian Truce

JERUSALEM (AP) — After 19 days of shuttle diplomacy, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger appears nowhere close to a truce on the Israeli-Syrian front. The Arab guerrilla attack on Maalot undoubtedly will make his job much more difficult.

"At a minimum it will cause some delay," Kissinger said Wednesday night.

He was scheduled to return to Damascus today for his fifth meeting with Syrian President Hafez Assad. The trip was postponed Wednesday because of the Maalot attack.

Kissinger has been to Israel eight times. He has met twice with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, in Geneva and Cyprus. He has sought the help of Presidents Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Houari Boumediene of Algeria and of King Faisal of Saudi Arabia.

And still an end to the fighting on the Golan Heights and the disengagement of the armies there eludes him.

U.S. officials say the mission is "in a holding pattern."

parliament, called for an official inquiry into the Maalot massacre and charged a "weakening in Israel's defenses."

Rafi Jacobson, a reserve tank officer, compared the Biblical seven years of plenty with the seven years after the 1967 war.

"We had it very good then and we may have forgotten that there are many Arabs that want to kill us," he said. "Now we should figure on seven years of famine."

Some observers interpret that to mean a deadlock.

In Washington, other problems, other regions of the world cannot wait. The secretary may decide within 24 hours to go home, giving the Syrians and Israelis time for tempers to cool and for his appeals for conciliation to sink in.

The sticking point remains where to draw the lines separating the Israeli and Syrian armies. Control of three strategic hill positions now in Israeli hands is at issue. Israel fears that to release them from its control would endanger some of the settlements it has established on the Golan Heights to help make permanent its hold on the territory it captured in 1967.

Certain other problems will be easier to solve. These include the composition of the United Nations force that stand between the two armies, a thinning out of men and armor behind the lines and an exchange of prisoners.

South Vietnamese Camp Overrun By Communists

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Some 5,000 North Vietnamese troops with tanks overran a remote South Vietnamese camp near the Laotian border today, inflicting heavy losses on the government force and pushing the survivors into a defensive pocket, the Saigon command reported.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, Saigon's chief military spokesman, said half of the troops in the 369-man ranger battalion at the Dak Pek camp were killed, wounded or missing.

Hien said the massive North Vietnamese force pushed into the eastern half of the base and drove the survivors, many of them Montagnard tribesmen, into the district military headquarters in the adjoining town of Dak Pek.

The headquarters was manned by about 200 militiamen, he said.

The town of Dak Pek has a population of 3,200, mostly Montagnards, Hien said. He said he did not know if any of the civilians had been evacuated.

The town is inside territory controlled by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, but the command said it had not been attacked previously in the 15 months since the Paris cease-fire agreement.

Hill Will Decide On Changing Ruling On College Student Fees In 30 Days

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Hill has promised state college administrators he will decide in 30 days whether to change his opinion on student service fees.

Hill had ruled that students taking the maximum course load normally permitted would pay a $30 fee, with those taking fewer courses paying proportionately smaller fees.

The college administrators said a strict interpretation of the opinion would result in substantial dollar losses from the income that supports such services as student government, newspapers and health services.

F.H. McDowell of East Texas State University, representing the Council of Presidents of Texas Senior Colleges and Universities, said Wednesday the change of just one word would satisfy the college administrators.

Apply the $30 fee to those with 12-hour "full-time" course-loads—not to those with a maximum load—and the problem will be resolved, he said.

Hill's opinion interpreted a new state law calling for lower student services fees for part-time students.

Rep. Herman Adams, D-Silber, sponsor of the bill, told Hill the committee that wrote the measure "in no way" intended to give relief to full-time students. He said the committee assumed that 12 hours was the cut-off between full-time and part-time students.

University of Texas regents contend reduced income from mandatory student fees because of the new law forced them to remove the Daily Texan from the list of services automatically financed by the fees.

UT Regent Frank Erwin Jr. also spoke to the intent of the bill.

"Let's face it. The Texas State Teachers Association has the strongest lobby in the legislature. They wanted to help public school teachers going back for refresher courses, and this is just fallout from it," Erwin said.

Martin Sheriff Resigns Position On Advisory Group

BIG SPRING — Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders of Stanton was commended Wednesday for his two years of service as chairman of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission's Criminal Justice Advisory Committee.

Sheriff Saunders was named head of the committee when it was organized two years ago. He resigned Wednesday due to the time involved in carrying out the duties of running the committee, he said.

Sheriff Saunders expressed pride that the regional communications system became a reality during his term.

Mims Game For Bulldogs

Reddell Gets Last Spring Look At Purple Pack

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Coach John Reddell's Midland High Bulldogs will close three weeks of spring football training drills with the annual Bill Mims Benefit Game at 8 p.m. Friday at Memorial Stadium.

A Junior Varsity game will precede the varsity scrimmage session at 6 p.m. and the two scrimmages are open to the public. Tickets can be purchased at the gate for $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

by Reddell as having the top spring among his players. Dunlap may be used both ways next fall, a tackle on offense and as a linebacker on defense. Reddell also said that Bill Sutton may be the most improved player this spring and said that Scott Pollard and Neil Hill also had a good spring.

Friday, John Webb, will run the first team offense with halfbacks Mike Huspeth, Kim Madden and fullback Mike Gaddy rounding out the Purple backfield. Bill Newberry will handle the center slot while guards Bruce Smith, Holt Cowden and tackles Bill Rhotenberry and Dunlap complete the interior line. Sam Hubert and Rufus Johnson, both with good springs, will be at the end positions.

The White defense will have Sam Zachery and Steve Campbell at end; Randall McCleskey, Mitch Irvin and Sutton at linebacker; Pollard and Hill at guard. The second dary will be composed of Ronnie Hill, Derrick Michael, Dusty Hicks, who will also run the second team offense, and Sam Jordan.

Ray Verkerk and Ted Fay will coach the Purple squad during the scrimmage while Bob Tucker and Johnny Williams will coach the Whites. The four coaches insure Reddell Wednesday that both teams would have some surprises during the contest. Reddell will be an observer during the affair.

ASHE, RIESSEN, LUTZ ADVANCE— Newcombe Triumphs

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Top-seed John Newcombe of Australia faced Paul Gerken of East Norwalk, Conn., today for a shot at a quarter-final berth in the $50,000 Alan King Tennis Tournament.

Four players reached the quarter-finals Wednesday in the tournament, which awards $30,000 plus a $21,000 automobile to the winner.

Third-seeded Arthur Ashe, playing cautiously in blustery winds up to 30 miles per hour, defeated Mexico's Raul Ramirez 7-5, 7-5.

Unseeded Marty Riesen also reached the quarter finals by beating six-seeded Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., 7-6, 6-3.

In a late afternoon match Wednesday, fifth-seeded Stan Smith defeated Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., 4-6, 6-0, 6-3.

Bob Lutz of Sausalito, Calif., won his chance to enter the round of eight by beating defending champion Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Newcombe, who defeated South Africa's Cliff Drysdale for the title two years ago, and Laver are the only players to win four tournaments on the World Championship of Tennis tour this year.

Rose Ordered To Give Up 'Column'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds' President Robert Howsam, incensed over player criticism in a local baseball tabloid, has pressured Pete Rose to quit writing a column for the paper.

Howsam said Rose also agreed to ask Landmark Publications, Inc., to remove his name from the masthead of "Pete Rose's Reds Alert," a new publication which sells about 35,000 copies weekly.

"I'm flabbergasted," said publisher William Matthews, writer of one of the articles branded by Howsam as "ridiculous."

Matthews said the financially successful publication is "99 per cent pro Reds." He said an article critical of utility infielder Darrel Chaney will be rebutted in the next issue. Matthews criticized Chaney for poor fielding and inability to hit.

Rose declined comment and referred all questions to the Reds' front office.

Howsam, in a prepared statement, said Rose agreed to withdraw from the publication after a meeting with a club official. Howsam said Rose violated his contract with the Reds by not seeking permission before signing a contract with Landmark.

Rose was paid $1 per subscription plus 20 per cent of advertising and circulation revenue, Howsam said.

Griffin Registers Hole-In-One

Dave Griffin shot a hole-in-one Wednesday at the Midland Country Club, according to pro George Clark.

Griffin's ace came on the 11th green which plays 166 yards and he used a No. 6 iron for his shot.

Rounding out the foursome were Dr. Bill Alexander, Bill Franklin and Gary Wisener. Griffin had an 82 total.

Hunt Hit Again

231st 'Hit-By-Pitch' Pays Off In Montreal Victory

By The Associated Press
"You learn to live with it," said Ron Hunt in his case, it's almost amazing he hasn't been killed by it.

It's the pitch that gets away and ends up in the ribs or the back, on the leg or the arm—somewhere on the batter's body.

The gritty, gutsy 33-year-old second baseman was plunked on the right knee leading off the ninth inning Wednesday night for Montreal and hobbled down to first base. It was the 231st time in his career that Hunt has been hit.

A few minutes later he scored the winning run, scoring the tie-breaker on a Ken Singleton single that carried the Expos to a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Cromwell Paces Amateur Golfers
Steve Cromwell, former Midland Lee basketball and golf star, shot a 73 Tuesday to qualify along with six other area golfers for State Amateur Golf Tourney in Dallas next month.

Ronnie Leverich of Odessa shot a 76 as did Price Courter of Midland and Big Spring's Howard Stewart. There was a three-way tie between Andy Shapira, Jimmy Stewart of Big Spring and Midland's Doug Hughston with Hughston being eliminated in the playoff.

Aeros Take 2-0 Advantage Over Chicago In WHA

CHICAGO (AP) — The Houston Aeros are aiming for a four-game knockout in the finals of the World Hockey Association playoffs while the Chicago Cougars find themselves looking for still another miracle to remain alive.

"We can wrap this up in four straight," said Houston goalie Don McLeod Wednesday night after the Aeros swamped the Cougars 6-1 to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Colonial Changes Way

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Under a cloud of suspicion and controversy, goldfom's fairway pharaohs unveiled a new concept of "super events today in the $250,000 Colonial National Tournament.

By unprecedented mandate, the 144-man field included all of the game's elite in a four-day joust for a top prize of $50,000 and the shadowy distinction of winning the first designated championship.

Not necessarily by choice, the lineup sparked with the likes of Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Lee Trevino, Johnny Miller, defending champion, Tom Weiskopf and the growing pack of the game's young lions.

The site of the inaugural event was Colonial Country Club's treacherous Trinity River course, a 7,142-yard, par 70 spread known for years as "Hogan's Alley" in honor of Fort Worth's Ben Hogan.

Hogan was a five-time winner of the annual May classic that until this year was called the Colonial National Invitation. The club sacrificed its invitational prerogative in favor of hosting the first designated tournament.

Under the new concept, the touring pros are required to compete or face a hefty fine and/or suspension from the lucrative $8 million circuit. No one chose to challenge the ruling by Deane Beman, the young czar of the Tournament Players' Division.

"By providing a series of tournaments with superior fields competing on superior courses we hope to bring more national attention to the tour," Beman said.

He said no attempt was being made to scrap the star system. "But, by focusing attention on selected events on a national basis, we should be able to help other sponsors sell their tournaments on a local basis."

Quite obviously Colonial's hierarchy is ecstatic, but the same could not be said, for instance, of sponsors of the Byron Nelson Classic in neighboring Dallas or last week's Houston Open.

AMENDMENTS DEFEATED— Civil Right Forces Win On Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil Opposed were 20 Democrats rights forces have triumphed and 26 Republicans. The Senate also rejected 55 to 47 to 46 amendments seeking to end busing for school desegregation purposes. They managed Wednesday to turn back one of the strongest antibusing challenges yet—an amendment by Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., strongly backed by the Nixon administration. The proposal would have put such tight limits on court busing orders as virtually to eliminate them. The Senate thus preserved its record of rejecting all such antibusing riders in the 20 years since the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision. The House has voted for them in recent years and attached an amendment identical to Gurney's to the pending education bill when it acted on it in March. The issue will be settled this year in the Senate-House conference on the legislation. Busing foes in the Senate also will get other chances before the bill finally is passed next Tuesday. Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin of Michigan has announced he will try to substitute the entire House bill for the Senate measure in debate starting Monday. But the civil rights forces insisted their victory was secure, saying a majority of Wednesday's absentees favored their position. The Gurney proposal was tabled and thus killed on a motion made by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. Supporting this were 33 Democrats and 14 Republicans.

Texas Senators Vote Together

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' two senators, Democrat Lloyd Bentsen and Republican John Tower, voted against busing, thus killing an amendment by Sen. Edward J. Gurney to restrict pupil busing. The Senate voted 47-46 to table the amendment.

Waco Man Due To Face Charges In Two Killings

CLEVELAND, Miss. (AP) — Justice of the Peace Joe Johnson of Waco set bond at $100,000 on murder and theft charges in the Perryman death. No bond had been set late Wednesday in the Broyles death. Perryman died Friday night. Broyles, Coker and St. John were gunned down about dawn Saturday, all with a .30-caliber carbine apparently after being forced to lie on the floor, investigators said. A witness to the McKinney killings said two men entered the store, one of them armed. However, there has been no further mention of a second man being sought. Collin County Sheriff George Smith said White waived extradition, clearing the way for his return to Texas from Mississippi. Investigators said White told them he would show where he stabbed to throw away a rifle used in the McKinney slayings during his flight to Mississippi. Earlier, Waco officials charged White in the death of Roy Perryman, 51, stabbed to death at his home, from which 28 guns were taken.

New Government Says Portugal To Continue Its 'Defensive' Wars

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Communist world with which Portugal will continue its "defensive" wars in Africa, the nation's new government announced today in outlining its aims. At the same time, the government also promised a "renewal of Portugal's relations with the Arab countries," which have been at odds with Portugal and have maintained an oil boycott against it because of the colonial wars. Only Lebanon has a diplomatic mission in Portugal. The 200,000-member textile union voted to strike Friday for 50 to 70 per cent increases in wages that now range from $56 to $128 a month. Thousands of workers went on strike at the Portuguese divisions of the Pfizer, Bayer, Wander and Sandoz chemical companies. Nearly 9,000 workers struck at the Lisnave shipping yard. Strikes were reported imminent in the Algarve, the resort area in southern Portugal. Gen. Spinoza prepared to wind up the initial phase of his military revolution by swearing in a provisional cabinet that includes two Communists.

Economic Decline Caused By Embargo May Be About Over

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economic decline resulting from the Arab oil embargo may be about over, government figures show.

Industrial output rose in April by four-tenths of 1 per cent, the first increase after four months of decline, the Federal Reserve Board reported Wednesday.

Output fell by three-tenths of 1 per cent in March.

The board attributed the April turn-around largely to the 14 per cent increase in auto assemblies. The rate of auto assemblies rose to 7.5 million units a year, compared with 6.6 million in March.

Government economists interpreted the increase as an indication that the worst effects of the oil embargo on the economy may be over, although they cautioned against over-optimism.

"It is one indicator, an important indicator to be sure, and it is only one month in that indicator. But it is consistent with our general over-all outlook," said a spokesman for the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

He also said it supported Nixon administration predictions that there will be no recession in 1974.

"We said we felt we would not have a recession . . . We continue to feel that way," he added.

The administration has predicted that the big 5.8 per cent decline in the economy in the first three months of 1974 will level off in the second quarter, followed by a resumption of economic growth after mid-year.

A recession commonly is depicted as an increase in two consecutive quarters of economic decline. The industrial production index stood at 124.7 per cent, considerably below the high of 127.5 per cent last November just before the impact of the oil embargo.

A Commerce Department analyst also said the industrial production index does not reflect activity in the housing industry, which has been severely depressed by high interest rates. He also noted that the April increase in production was due almost entirely to the auto industry, but said there is no assurance yet of a complete recovery.

Besides the increase in auto production, the Federal Reserve Board said production of machinery, electrical equipment, chemicals and other non-ferrous metal products also registered gains.

Delegates To Complete Work On Judiciary Article

By ROBERT HEARD
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention has rejected attempts to allow less than unanimous verdicts in criminal cases or to allow the state the right of appeal in certain cases.

Delegates were expected to complete work today on the judiciary article and dispose of the first five sections of the final article, general provisions, before adjourning for a long weekend.

Wednesday, the convention approved continuation of rule-making authority in the Supreme Court by a 103-24 vote despite a recommendation by a majority of the Judiciary Committee that the legislature be given the right to veto rules before they go into effect.

The legislature had this power before 1939, and Rep. DeWitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, said it should have it again. The Supreme Court has adopted some rules that are substantive rather than procedural, he said, citing "a little different" time element put on the legislative continuance law by the high court when it was intended by the law-makers.

The delegates agreed to limit the court's rule-making power to civil cases, however, and keep criminal procedure rules in the hands of the legislature.

The convention approved central management of court dockets through an administrative judge in each of the courts of civil appeals districts, working under the Supreme Court. Both cases and judges could be transferred to equalize dockets. Texas is one of only seven states that lacks any kind of administrative control of its dockets.

Rep. Forrest Green, D-Corsicana, offered an amendment that would permit the legislature to authorize 10-2 verdicts in felony cases and 5-1 verdicts in misdemeanor cases.

Green said juries sometimes are deadlocked by jurors who possess "irrational prejudice" and are not guided by the evidence.

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, suggested that sometimes it is the majority of the jury that acts irrationally.

The convention defeated Green's amendment, 100-36. It also rejected two similar amendments.

Rep. Andrew Baker, D-Galveston, offered an amendment that would have allowed the prosecution the right to appeal from an order suppressing evidence, an order quashing an indictment or a decision holding a criminal law unconstitutional.

Rep. Bill Heatly, D-Paducah, a staunch conservative, suggested this would permit the state to drag out a trial while an accused person who could not make bond would rot in jail. "This amendment is inhuman, in my opinion," he said.

Washington, a liberal, said: "It is in my opinion, too, Mr. Heatly."

The convention rejected the amendment 92-43.

Midland Woman Held In Shooting

Oscar Cecil Simmons, 31, of 803 E. Wall St., is in satisfactory condition in Midland Memorial Hospital following a Wednesday afternoon shooting incident.

He was shot once in the lower abdomen and underwent surgery.

Shortly after the 5:45 p.m. shooting at the Lee Street Apartments, 500 S. Lee St., Mrs. Dorothy Marie Brown Polk, 21, was arrested and charged with attempted murder.

She remains in city jail in lieu of $15,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Robert Pine.

Investigators said Simmons was shot in the courtyard of the apartments following an argument.

4-H Open Horse Show Set Saturday

The Midland County 4-H Horse Club will hold its 11th annual Open 4-H Horse Show Saturday, beginning with performance classes at 8:30 a.m. The show will be located at the Midland County Livestock Youth Arena behind the Exhibit Building on East Highway 90.

Judges for the show will be John Trimmien Jr. of Hale Center, and Bryce Ann Thomas and Jerry Hancock of Midland.

Performance classes will consist of English pleasure, jumping, Western pleasure, Western horsemanship, Western riding, reining, showmanship, poles, barrels and flag race. Halter classes are registered mares, any breed, 1971 and up; registered mares, any breed, 1970 and under; grade mares, 1971 and up; grade mares, 1970 and under; grand and reserve champion mares; registered geldings, any breed, 1971 and up; registered geldings, 1970 and under; grade geldings, 1971 and up; grade geldings, 1970 and under; grand and reserve champion geldings; and pony class.

The four age groups are: boosters — 8 and under; 9 through 12; 13 through 15; and 16 through 18; with age being determined as of Jan. 1, 1974. The 1974 State 4-H Horse Show Rules will apply, except where otherwise stated. There will be a Show Rules Committee present.

Entry fees will be $3 for the first class, and $2 for each additional class for each horse. All events will count toward all-around.

Awards will be trophies for first places, 4-H medals for second and third places; ribbons second through sixth places; trophies for grand and reserve champion horses; monogrammed horse blankets for all-around in each age group; and a $50 gift certificate to the high point horse of the show.

Sawhill Warns U.S. Energy Crunch Likely To Recur

By STAN BENJAMIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy chief John C. Sawhill says the United States has indications that Arab nations will increase their oil production, allowing this country to import all the Arab oil it can use.

Sawhill said in an interview this was a favorable development but does not completely remove U.S. energy problems, because a refinery shortage and the threat of a new Arab oil embargo would persist.

He said the steep oil-price increases imposed by the Arabs last winter would cost the United States some $12 billion to $14 billion this year. But he forecast that the foreign oil prices would begin to drop within the next few months.

Sawhill became administrator of the Federal Energy Office last week when William E. Simon left to become Secretary of the Treasury.

Sawhill also has been designated to head the Federal Energy Agency, recently authorized to replace FEO, and is awaiting Senate confirmation.

Here are key excerpts from the interview with Sawhill:
Q. Do you have any indication the Arabs will increase their oil production and let us have adequate supplies for the next couple of years, or do we face a tight situation indefinitely?

A. We had a team in the Middle East for the past two weeks. They came back optimistic that we would see increased production.

Q. Does that mean primarily Saudi Arabia?

A. Well, not only Saudi Arabia. I think the team just felt that, in general, we would see higher production over the next few years from these countries because they feel they have an obligation to expand production, and they are anxious to fulfill that obligation.

Refinery Shortage Continues
Q. Does this mean we would expect no recurrence of oil shortages here for the foreseeable future?

A. I don't think we can say no recurrence of shortages, because we still have a shortage of refinery capacity in this country.

And, while today we are optimistic about increases in production, I don't think we can necessarily count on those increases in production. We've got to get ourselves in a position where we are less dependent on it.

Q. Have you reached any conclusion about how dependent we can afford to be?

A. No. Some have argued that we should be dependent for no more than 15 per cent of our total petroleum consumption. I think that figure might be a little bit low.

Q. Once such a level is decided, will it require an import quota or tariff to maintain that limit?

A. That's one of the things we are working on right now. I would be very reluctant to see a reimposition of a quota system. The quota system built up a lot of vested interest in maintaining that system and freeing the quotas at certain levels, and removed a lot of the flexibility that we could get if we had, for example, a variable fee system.

Variable Fee System
Q. What do you mean by a variable fee system?

A. As the import price gets lower, the fee on imported oil would increase so that the cost of the imports to this country would remain about the same.

Q. Where would the fee go — to the U.S. Treasury?

A. Yes.

Q. Is there a hazard of foreign oil producers cutting their prices to undermine U.S. development of alternative energy sources?

A. Well, that's a possibility, but again I think something like a variable fee system could help there. The other alternative would be, as suggested by Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent, to guarantee the prices of at least a certain portion of the output of these alternative energy sources.

Q. What about the balance of payments problem caused by Arab oil-price increases?

A. It is serious. Until we see lower prices, the United States, and especially the developing nations, are going to have balance of payments difficulties.

On the other hand, I think we are going to see some downward movement over the next few months as the supply and demand forces begin to work in the world marketplace.

The higher prices have already begun to result in significantly lower consumption, not only in Europe but in the United States.

Q. How large an impact will the recent higher oil prices have on the U.S. balance of payments?

A. We have said it could be as much as $12 billion to $14 billion in 1974 for increased oil payments over 1973. It will, in effect, wipe out the balance of trade surplus that we had in 1973.

Q. What is the consequence of that — more inflation?

A. It could have an inflationary impact, yes. What it will mean is that we will either have to find ways of exporting more American goods abroad or reducing our imports in other areas.

Q. How realistic is it to expect us to close a $12-billion to $14-billion trade gap?

A. We can't close it in 1974.

Q. What are the major elements of your long-range plan?

A. Well, certainly in the immediate future we are going to have to focus on energy conservation, because it is going to be hard to increase our supplies quickly. I think we ought to try to reduce the rate of energy growth in this country from the 4.5 to 5 per cent it has been running to something like 3 per cent.

Q. How fast can that be done?

A. I think we ought to be able to do it in a two- or three-year period. Much of the reduction we're talking about is in industrial processes — things like recirculating hot water, insulating pipes more effectively.

A. Before I come to a conclusion on that, I want to meet with the auto industry and see what kind of goals they are willing to set for themselves, and I do plan to do that this summer.

'Get To Know Us ...'

A Midland man said recently that he never had given much thought to hospitals until an emergency situation brought him into close personal contact with Midland Memorial Hospital.

"And then all of a sudden I knew why we must have, and why we must support our hospitals," he said. "Never have I had better care, attention and treatment. I realized for the first time what hospitals mean to a community, and suddenly it dawned on me that even when I don't need them, someone else does. This is why the support of all residents is necessary, so that the hospitals will be ready for us when we need them."

This testimonial is right in line with the observance of National Hospital Week.

The annual observance is sponsored by the American Hospital Association on behalf of its member institutions to create public interest in and support of the accomplishments and goals of the nation's health care institutions.

"Get To Know Us Before You Need Us" is the appropriate theme of this year's observance.

People need to know more about hospitals and the services they offer, but they also need to be better informed as to the growing responsibilities they are assuming both inside and outside their walls. They also need to be aware of the challenges hospitals face in meeting increased demands for their services in a time of rapid social and economic change. Hospitals today have evolved into complex health care institutions.

Yes, we expect hospitals to treat us and to save our lives, through "tender, loving care," but we also look to our hospitals to be the centers of effective research into the cause and cure of disease and to their key role in educating the health care professions of the future.

Today's hospitals also are concerned more and more about the social, psychological and economic problems created by illnesses.

Most persons take for granted the fact that hospitals serve not only those persons in bed, but also those whose health care needs can be met in outpatient clinics and with other ambulatory services. Hospitals today are asked to assume leadership in development of neighborhood health centers and to seek better methods of distribution of health care services to more persons.

Midland is fortunate in having a first-class community-owned hospital—Midland Memorial—and a fine privately-owned facility—Parkview 68.

Tall City residents are urged to "get to know" their hospitals. It is an "acquaintance" you will be glad to make.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Impeachment Inquiry: Inept and Inadequate.

WASHINGTON — With the House impeachment hearings in full swing, the mighty, 101-member staff still hasn't completed its homework.

We reported last January that the lawyers hadn't interviewed a single witness, that many staff members were assigned merely to answer routine impeachment mail and that some investigators spent their time reading newspapers and novels.

The pace picked up only slightly as the hearings approached. Not until the last few weeks have major Watergate figures been interviewed. Sources close to the investigation say the interviews have been inept and inadequate.

For instance, silent, stoic G. Gordon Liddy, the mastermind of the Watergate break-in, recently was ushered into the committee headquarters in handcuffs.

As he entered the long, sterile hallway, Liddy was directed to sign the log book. True to form, he refused to write his name until his lawyer persuaded him to relent. The only information Liddy gave the investigators was his signature accompanied by a note to the effect he had signed "only on advice of counsel and under duress."

Autograph Seeker

His co-conspirator, E. Howard Hunt, who demanded and got White House hush money, caused a stir when he appeared before committee investigators.

One young aide asked Hunt to autograph a copy of one of his spy novels. Hunt noted that the book was stamped the property of the Library of Congress. The staff member pleaded with him to sign anyway and Hunt grudgingly gave his autograph.

When the staff hauled in the President's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, the atmosphere again was more that of a carnival than a serious inquiry. Kalmbach's presence caused so much excitement that the interview constantly was interrupted by committee employees entering and leaving the room.

Other Watergate figures, such as Jeb Magruder and Judge Matthew Byrne, have been interviewed. For example, aerosol valve king Robert Abplanalp, a presidential crony and financial benefactor, hasn't appeared before the staff.

But the poor preparation probably won't prevent impeachment. The members of Congress are political weather-vanes and the winds of impeachment have shifted against the President. A reluctant Congress, it now appears, may be forced by an angry nation to impeach the President.

POLITICAL FOOTBALL: Among the confidential documents that the Watergate investigators now have obtained from the White House is a report on an amazing scheme to recruit pro football stars for President Nixon's 1972 campaign team.

The President's political aides tried to get the football heroes who had recorded antidrug commercials to do political commercials for Nixon.

"The Great Fumble," as the play might be called, literally was halted at the White House gates. The story is told in a 'overzealous' staff member.

But this didn't cool the zeal of the campaign aides. Early in 1972, they learned that President Nixon was holding a reception for the athletes who had made the tv spots.

The campaign aides rushed the two blocks to the White House gate and sought admission. Their plan was to buttonhole the athletes right under the President's nose and sign them to work on the Nixon campaign.

But once again, Rhatican intervened. He personally notified the White House guards not to clear the campaign officials through the White House gates. Only after they would not try to proselytize the football stars were the aides finally admitted.

Footnote: A National Football League spokesman said the league strictly avoided any pressure on players to support candidates. Minshall, now working in New York, refused all comment. Rhatican confirmed the basic accuracy of the Porter memo. Porter was in prison on Watergate-related charges and could not be reached.

TIMELY QUOTES

"No matter what you hear from Washington, the only way you'll be able to tell the situation is improving is when you see your service station open at 7 in the morning and stay open all day.

— James V. Cresente, director of the Northern Ohio Petroleum Retailers Assn., an organization of independent service station operators, on the worsening of the gasoline situation in Ohio in April.

— The White House says Dean told the Senate on March 13 that he and Mr. Nixon discussed executive clemency for the basic Watergate burglary defendants.

The transcript for that date shows this was not so. But the transcript of their prior meeting on Feb. 28, 1973, just two weeks earlier, discloses they did indeed talk of clemency then.

BRUCE BOSSAT The Transcripts Still Don't Prove Who's Lying

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon, in his own view, constantly beset by enemies, has tried in recent times to make a particular adversary of his former counsel, young John Dean. Their relationship in the Watergate controversy is worth scrupulous scrutiny.

Since Mr. Nixon's release of transcripts of many White House Watergate conversations recorded on tapes requested by but refused to the House Judiciary Committee, the White House has turned out an analysis charging 15 discrepancies between what Dean said — as reflected in the edited transcripts — and what he told the Senate Watergate investigating committee last spring.

In the President's April 29 nationwide television address declaring his intent to release transcripts, he mentioned specifically that John Dean is the one man who has openly accused him of direct complicity in the Watergate scandals.

The day before that, when a New York jury acquitted former Nixon cabinet officers John Mitchell and Maurice Stans on 15 counts involving perjury, conspiracy and obstruction of justice, one unidentified senior administration official said the verdict "by implication makes Dean a liar, which makes one wonder how many other lies he told."

On April 30, several hours before release of the transcripts, the White House put out a 50-page brief by the President's lawyer, James St. Clair, in which he subtly calls attention to Dean's role in the Mitchell-Stans trial. First he notes Dean has pleaded guilty to a felony in the Watergate matter, then quickly notes that the New York jurors acquitted the two men Dean, among others, testified against.

Now, neither in this column nor in a succeeding report will there be any attempt to justify actions by Dean, a confessed participant in the Watergate scandals, or to give any special dignity or sanctity to his utterances as against those of Mr. Nixon and other key administration figures.

But several things must be said in fairness to Americans trying to thread their way through the mountainous chaos which Watergate and its paper avalanche have become.

A key New York juror said Dean's role in the Mitchell-Stans case bore on only one count (a perjury charge) among the 15 levied against the defendants. Though the jurors didn't believe Dean in that matter, he was not central to the case.

St. Clair's specific mention of Dean in his April 30 brief was gratuitous, since he observes that seven other "former White House officials stand indicted" for Watergate offenses, but names not one. They include, of course, such luminaries as Mitchell, and the President's three top White House aides of the time — H. R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman and Charles Colson.

In the short interval since the White House sought to show disparities between Dean's Senate Watergate testimony (which covered five full days) and his transcript utterances, no reporter could make a full comparison check.

But there is partial evidence this assault upon Dean's credibility was carelessly prepared and thus does not itself deserve to be given full credibility.

The White House says Dean told the Senate on March 13 that he and Mr. Nixon discussed executive clemency for the basic Watergate burglary defendants.

The transcript for that date shows this was not so. But the transcript of their prior meeting on Feb. 28, 1973, just two weeks earlier, discloses they did indeed talk of clemency then.

Dear Editor: My worrying neighbor says it looks to him like things are getting in a mess.

Like all of these movies being made and books written about exorcising the Devil, and all of the hysterical, hyperbating news explications whooping it up to get Mr. Nixon impeached.

He says if both the Devil and Mr. Nixon get exorcised, there won't be anybody left to take the blame for high prices, oil company profits, having to work for a living, and other public inconveniences.

DON OAKLEY America's History Can't Come Cheap

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is growing concern that the nation's forthcoming 200th anniversary celebration will be tarnished and cheapened by commercialization.

Over the next couple of years, novelty manufacturers are expected to flood the market with Bicentennial T-shirts, ash trays, beer mugs and similar ephemeral products with patriotic themes.

Certainly, there should be a place in the Bicentennial sum for such things. But there should also be a place for objects of real historic value conforming to the highest standards of artistry and workmanship which Americans will want to pass on to their descendants.

Private Organization To insure that there are a group of distinguished Americans from several fields of arts and letters has formed the U.S. Bicentennial Society, a private, nongovernmental organization in Richmond, Va.

Its chairman is Virgilinus Dabney, noted historian, Pulitzer prize-winner and former editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The society was formed, says Dabney, in response to the government's policy of encouraging participation in the Bicentennial observance by private citizens and organizations, as well as by local and state governments.

It will mark the Bicentennial by commissioning such activities as a symphony, collectors' publications and lasting works of art related to the history of the United States.

For example, a limited edition of 1,000 copies of George Washington's inaugural sword, modeled after the original in a Morristown, N.J., museum, is being offered at $925 apiece. Reproductions of six Winslow Homer paintings on fine china plates sell for $825.

At those prices, most Americans, alas, will probably have to settle for an ash tray. But it is encouraging to know that the field will not be left entirely to the cheap and the gaudy.

THE JAPANESE ARE NOT yet completely Americanized, but they're getting there. If a man slips on a wet floor in a Japanese office building, for example, it's almost certain that he won't sue the building's owners. In fact, the owners probably won't even carry liability insurance for that kind of contingency.

"In Japan, the individual almost never sues a company for such a reason. And if he

ART AND CRAFT ITEMS — Several residents of Terrace Gardens Nursing Home are shown at work on art and craft items which went on display, and on sale, today at the Senior Citizens Center in First Christian Church, 1301 W. Louisiana St. The exhibition will continue all day Friday. Shown putting finishing touches to some of the handcrafted items included in the show are Margaret Ayers, Lois Sims, Annie Farrington and Lucille Foster.

First Ladies Documentary Book Planned By Society

AUSTIN — Ted Kruger of a short biographical sketch of each governor's wife. Midland and Mrs. Glenn L. Brown of Stanton, both recent appointees to the board of directors of the Fine Arts Society of Texas, and other leaders of the organization have joined with the Texas State Historical Association in planning a new project.

The project is publication of a documentary volume on the "First Ladies of Texas" — the women who have lived in the Governor's Mansion while their husbands served as the state's chief executive. Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert, president of the Fine Arts Society of Texas, and Dr. Joe B. Frantz, executive director of the Texas State Historical Association, recently made the announcement that the governing boards of the two organizations had adopted the project. Director of the documentary publication is Dr. Frantz. Publication is expected during the 1976 Bicentennial Year. Dr. Frantz said he needs copies of photographs or portraits of each of the first ladies. It is anticipated that the limited edition publication will include pictures as well as

57 Foreign Firms Plan U.S. Plants

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifty-seven foreign firms announced plans during the first quarter to invest more than $340 million in 59 manufacturing facilities in the United States, an independent study reported today. That represents an increase from the last nine months, when foreign plans for direct ownership of U.S. manufacturing plants averaged 40 announcements per quarter, the study says. Japanese firms planned 14 new investments in U.S. plants, West Germany nine, and Canada and the United Kingdom eight apiece. Most of the investments will be in chemical, machinery, electrical equipment and textile plants, the report says.

Globe Double-Bill Ends This Weekend

ODESSA — The Globe of the Great Southwest will offer final performances of its double-bill of comedies, "The Sandbox" and "The Bald Soprano," Friday and Saturday nights. The dual production has had appreciative audiences the last two weekends, with out-of-town school groups and local students joining Globe season ticket holders at performances. Deanna Dunagan, a professional actress, is a special guest performer in Ionesco's "The Bald Soprano." She has performed in off-Broadway productions and worked for several years at the Dallas Theater Center where she was featured as Eve in "The Apple Tree." Tickets for the closing Sophie in "The Star Spangled" performances at 8:30 p.m. Friday, "Marat-Sade" and Kate in "The Star Spangled" at $3 for adults and $1.50 for students. Telephone reservations may be made through the coveted Greer Garson box office at 332-4031.

MELODRAMA PERFORMANCE — Sixth graders at St. Ann's School performed their melodrama, "Virtue and Justice Triumph Again," as the entertainment at the Wednesday luncheon of the Senior Citizens Center. The melodrama, directed by Jim Pogue, was presented at the recent Independent Schools Arts Festival at Trinity School here, and was to have a final performance today at Immaculate Heart of Mary School at Big Spring. Shown in a scene in the production are Megan Harrington, Ernest Angelo and Stephanie Derby.

PREPARING FOR CONTEST — Mark and Jeanne Seerey, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Seerey, go through a "trial run" in preparation for the annual fence painting contest scheduled from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday at the Hodge Theater. The art contest at the theater parking lot, sponsored by the Midland Society of University Women, will be open to children of kindergarten age through ninth grade level. All art supplies will be furnished.

'New Candid Camera' Planned

By JAY SHARBUTT
NEW YORK (AP) — Most tv stars beef about overwork if their shows last two seasons. Not Allen Funt. Despite 800 "Candid Camera" episodes, he still insists the work has kept him out of a home for the weird.

"If I hadn't done this show all these years, I'd be more insane than I am now," he says. "It's really given me a wonderful sense of balance because you find human behavior doesn't really change much."

Funt currently is working on an ABC-TV show, to air next Wednesday, in which he'll give a historical perspective of his long-running attempt to restore disorder in America.

He began giving the citizenry mental hotfoots in 1947 on radio with "Candid Microphone." It led to "Candid Camera" on tv two years later, and the show still is in reruns across the country.

Although Funt quit making "Candid Camera" in 1969, he'll be loose again next September with "The New Candid Camera," a syndicated effort, and fresh havoc will be the order of the day.

His world is one of talking mailboxes, workmen carrying areas, and will be available at the coliseum box offices before performance times.

riding in gas stations without motors. It is a world of, ah, alternatives to normal life.

Funt, 59, said it all started happening when he was in the Army, where many things happened. The year was 1944. His outfit had gotten a wire recorder and he did gag interviews just for kicks.

This led to his postwar radio effort and then "Candid Camera."

Mexican Music Festival Slated
ODESSA — A Mexican Music Festival, featuring some of the top singers and entertainers of Mexico, will have performances in Odessa and San Angelo this weekend.

The festival will have a presentation in Odessa's Ector County Coliseum at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, and a repeat at 8 p.m. in the San Angelo Coliseum.

Featured in the big show are such stars as El Piporro, Gerardo Reyes, Angelica Maria, Vicente Fernandez and Alicia Juarez.

Tickets for the performances are on sale in various locations in the Odessa and San Angelo areas, and will be available at the coliseum box offices before performance times.

Lee Production Of 'Teahouse' Opens Tonight

Lee High School drama students will conclude their season with performances of "Teahouse of the August Moon" tonight and Friday night.

The hilarious comedy by John Patrick, which was one of the top Broadway hits of the 1960s, has a cast of 40. It is described as "the closest thing to a musical without being a musical that a show can be."

Performances will begin at 8 o'clock both nights. Tickets, priced at $1 for students and $2 for adults, will be for sale in the Lee High auditorium lobby before curtain time nightly.

"Teahouse of the August Moon" takes place on Okinawa during the U.S. military occupation of the island in the immediate post-war years. A bright young Marine officer, Capt. Fisby, sets out to win the natives of a small village to Democracy, aided by his mischievous Oriental interpreter, Sakini. However, the outcome is somewhat different than that planned by the officer.

LHS drama director Horace Griffin's cast is headed by Johnie Hollums as Capt. Fisby, Donnie Patchell as Sakini, and Kathy Cox as the beautiful Lotus Blossom. Lee High School's foreign exchange student from Japan, Maysayo Sumukawa, will be a featured dancer in the production.

Midland Artists, Andrews Craftsman Fair Exhibitors

KERRVILLE — Two artists from Midland and a craftsman from Andrews will be representing Texas' Permian Basin at the 1974 Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair next week on the campus of Schreiner College here.

The Midlanders are painter and printmaker Marian Ford and sculptor Mary Griffith. The Andrewsian is knifemaker Delbert Brewster.

Theme of this year's fair, which opens May 24 and continues through May 27, is "Traditional Texas Goodtimes," creating an atmosphere of an old-time country bazaar but at the same time featuring some of the most outstanding art works and handicrafts being done in the state.

Located on the shaded banks of Quinlan Creek, the fair is an outdoor event with artists selling and demonstrating under colorful tents and canopies. Plenty of walking room, free parking, bales of hay to rest on, good music and excellent food all guaranteed an enjoyable day of shopping or just viewing, planners point out. The fair is sponsored by the Texas Tourist Development Agency.

aries are out of the way, the main event is coming up. It's the first time in the 26-year history of the Emmys that the category winners were announced early in competition for the "best of the year" awards, which will be telecast May 28 on NBC.

Winners were announced at a news conference Wednesday at the Century Plaza Hotel. Telly Savalas, a mixture of charm and menace in "Kojak," and Michael Learned, who mothers "The Waltons," won Emmys as best stars in a television drama series.

Mary Tyler Moore, in pursuit of career and not marriage on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," and Alan Alda, the anti-establishment surgeon of "M-A-S-H," were named best comedy stars of the season.

Cicely Tyson, who aged from 19 to 110 in "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," and Hal Holbrook, the skipper who lost his ship to the North Koreans in "Pueblo," were named best performers in special programs.

William Holden, in his tv debut as the tough, aging cop of "The Blue Knight," and Midland Natwick, the slightly daft amateur sleuth of "The Snop-Sisters," won Emmys as stars of limited series.

For the final awards, the performers, directors and writers named as category winners will be matched against each other for the best of year awards for specials and series May 28.

Alda and Savalas will compete for Actor of the Year, Series, and Holden and Holbrook will compete for Actor of the Year, Specials. For this, limited series are paired with specials.

CBS won 25 Emmys in the prime-time categories, far outdistancing NBC with seven and ABC with three. None of the winners was present.

Rob Reiner was named best comedy supporting actor for "All in the Family," Michael Moriarty in drama for "The Glass Menagerie," and Harvey Korman for variety on "The Carol Burnett Show."

Cloris Leachman won as best comedy supporting actress for "The Mary Tyler Moore Show." Joanna Miles in drama for "The Glass Menagerie" and Brenda Vaccaro in variety for "The Shape of Things."

Daytime Emmys will be given on an afternoon NBC telecast May 28.

'Austin Swings Into Spring' Entering Final Two Weeks

AUSTIN — "Austin Swings Into Spring," a two-month multi-faceted celebration, will swing into its final fortnight this weekend.

"Fiesta Laguna Gloria," one of the outstanding art and crafts festivals of the Southwest, will highlight the weekend happenings in Texas' capital city.

Sponsored by the Laguna Gloria Art Guild, the event will take place Saturday and Sunday on the tree-shaded grounds of Laguna Gloria at Lake Austin, home of the Texas Fine Arts Association, and will showcase the work of some of the Southwest's most famous artists and craftsmen.

Other events during this period include the play "Goodbye, Charlie" at the Country Dinner Playhouse, to run through June 16, and "The Importance of Being Earnest," a Victorian farce by Oscar Wilde, with performances every Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 8:30 p.m., at the Center Stage.

A sports event for the exceptional student is the Texas Special Olympics, May 23 and 25, at Texas Memorial Stadium and Gregory Gym.

Dog lovers will also gather May 25 at the Municipal Auditorium to view the Lower Colorado Kennel Club dog matches.

Winding up the two months of activities in "Austin Swings Into Spring" is a big sports car weekend, sponsored by the Lone Star Region of the Sports Car Club of America.

Final Candlelight Concert Canceled

The sixth and final Candlelight Concert of the Permian Basin Chamber Music Society has been canceled.

The season-closer, which was to have been presented Sunday afternoon in Midland Woman's Club, was canceled because of conflicts and the heavy end-of-season schedules of various instrumentalists in the chamber music ensemble, said James Gambino, founder-director. Additional programs are planned later this year, he said.

Dance Program Set Saturday

An annual dance revue will be presented Saturday night by students of the Dee-Ann Dance Studio. "There's No Business Like Show Business" will be the title of the program, scheduled for 8 p.m. in Alamo Junior High School auditorium. The public is invited.

Participating in the revue will be Kelly Lewis, Marlene Hummer, Katrina Madala, Angela Proctor, Maria Hollingshead, Melissa Eiler, Karla Miller, Debbie Young, Amy Hill, Trisha Bondman, Judith Moore, Sarah Treasurer, Ralph Stauder, Shannon Ferguson, Dee Dee Timberlin, Monica Hunter, Shelby Pope, Camille Chis, Sherry Shook, Tracy Hollingshead, Kelly George, Kim Searles, Melissa York, Shelly Hodges, Tracy Hodges, Sarah Schuler, Kara Altier, Pam Boudreau, Beth Murray, Shannon Burnett, Kimberly Knoke, Dee Dee Dyer, Kimberly Hodges, Melissa Collier, Gene Hall, Gina Brewer, Michele Barrios, Jill Lewis, Sherry Stewart, Susan Belden, Lisa Jewell, Jana Ward, Sheila Dugger, Kelly Moders, Sherry Milham, Duni Wright, Sherry Johnson, Susan Allison Pace, Ann Becher, Shelly Altier, Lori Hamilton, Cheryl Dawson, Adena Barrow, Sydney Barron, Elmer Prater, Jo Beth Sturges, Cristin Carey, Missy Dielman, Beth Ann Williams, Jessica Garrett, Kimberly Jones, Beth Akhara, Stephanie Alton, Rex DeBord, Paula Harwood, Melissa Harwood, Ellen Longfellow, Palao Phillips, Kristi Evers, Angela Estill, Ava Lett, Stephanie Connelly, Maria Hartman, Dana Goding, Emily Murray, Susan Murray, Jennifer Rankin, Rosalind Rankin, Jana Minahan and Diana Scott.

Texas Medical Care Said Controlled By Small Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has told that a small group of Texas influences and thus its competition in medical care. Jackie Cox, a consumer advocate who writes on health matters, told the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee that personnel, delivery facilities and payment mechanisms "are significantly controlled by a small group of men."

She identified them as the Texas Medical Association, Blue Cross-Blue Shield, The University of Texas Board of Regents and the Texas Department of Health.

"The degree of their control is sufficient to curtail all possibility of a truly competitive market system."

Other witnesses told the subcommittee that state regulations hampered, rather than helped, efforts to offer medical services to the poor.

Michael Mendelson, formerly an attorney for the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund, noted the charter for a non-profit health care cooperative was rejected by the Texas secretary of state's office because none of the incorporators were licensed, practiced members of the Texas medical profession, as required by state law.

"The practical effect of such restrictive legislation is to preclude laymen providing to themselves and their families health and medical care that the political medicine men want a fee for," he said.

"Organized medicine, at least in Bexar County, Tex., is more worried about dollars than the health needs of the community," she said.

State involvement with insurance firms "extends only to guaranteeing the consumer that his insurance company will be solvent," said Ms. Cox.

"There is virtually no monitoring of costs in the health insurance industry in Texas." State Rep. Mickey Leland of Houston criticized the use of state welfare funds to develop a system to review health care when federal funds are available by law.

Dallas May Extend MH-MR Care To Area Counties

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County Mental Health-Retardation (MHMR) officials say they may expand operations into seven area counties unable to afford adequate services.

"The state MHMR board has felt for some time that the rural counties in our neighborhood are not able to afford to develop adequate services for the mentally ill and mentally retarded without help from larger centers," Dr. Robert H. Dovenmuehle, Dallas MHMR executive director, said.

He told reporters Wednesday that a detailed plan of the proposed expansion would be presented to the Dallas County Commissioners Court early next month.

Counties affected would include Denton, Collin, Hunt, Rockwall, Ellis, Kaufman and Navarro.

"We will make a formal presentation to commissioners in June and if they like the idea, we will begin contacting the commissioners courts and school boards in these counties to see if they are interested," Dovenmuehle said.

He added the legislature already has budgeted $340,000 for the area MHMR proposal. Dallas County must implement the area program to get the funds.

The Dallas County Commissioners Court sponsors the MHMR with annual budgets of $600,000. The county funds generate more than $7.5 million in federal and state grants.

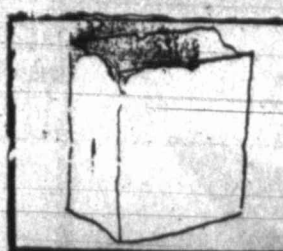

If Dallas commissioners approve the plan, Dovenmuehle said he would know by September how many area counties would participate. The program would begin next February or March, he added.

"There has to be local matching funds of about 30 per cent, but it can be help in the form of transportation or office space. Some of the counties may have some problems, but I think we can help them work them out," he said.

The proposal includes representation from participating counties on the Dallas County MHMR board of directors.

Dovenmuehle said about 25 per cent of the retarded persons being institutionalized from the eight-county area come from the seven counties outside Dallas.

Democrat Stand Against Nixon Resignation Makes Political Sense

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems an unlikely alliance, but it makes political sense for Democratic leaders to side with President Nixon in rejecting his resignation as the way out of Watergate now.

That is not to say that the Democrats were motivated by the coming elections, rather than the constitutional concerns they cited, in counseling against pressure for the President to quit.

The Two Go Together
But at this point, the two go together.

The constitutional argument is the one Nixon has been advancing all along: That the resignation of a president because of accusations and unpopularity would so weaken the presidency as to change the American system of government.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the deputy Democratic leader, said a forced resignation would "change our system from one of fixed tenure to one in which a president would remain in office only by popular approval."

Nixon said two months ago that resignation in the circumstances he faces would "lead to weak and unstable presidencies in the future, and I will not be a party to the destruction of the presidency of the United States."

'Good, Friendly Partisans'
At the same time, the President acknowledged that his resignation "might satisfy some of my good, friendly partisans who would rather not have the problem of Watergate bothering them."

With impeachment proceedings under way, and with the release of the edited White House transcripts, Watergate is bothering Republicans more now than it was then.

Republican talk of Nixon's resignation prompted the Democratic comments. Five Republican senators, three seeking re-election this year, have said the President should resign, consider it or step down temporarily during impeachment proceedings.

Among House Republicans, Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, the party leader, has said resignation is an option for the President to consider; Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois said he would welcome it. Anderson, chairman of the GOP conference, now says he does not foresee it happening. There also have been the editorial calls for resignation or impeachment from newspapers that had supported Nixon.

Resignation, of course, would spare congressional Republicans the agonizing vote on whether to impeach the President in the House and, if that is done, whether to convict him in the Senate.

For many Democrats, Nixon looms as the issue in the campaign months ahead. There is Democratic speculation about a landslide that would create a veto-proof, two-thirds majority in both houses of Congress. But a Watergate backlash against Republican congressional candidates would be diminished, if not eliminated, with Nixon out of office and Vice President Gerald R. Ford in.

Tactically, the Democrats are in a stronger campaign position with Nixon in the White House. There is more to the political equation. If the President were to resign, the impeachment process would end. Watergate prosecutions would continue, but there is no way to foresee whether they would provide final judgment on the innocence or guilt of the President. It would be up to the prosecutor and the grand jury to decide whether Nixon, as a private citizen, should face trial and verdict in Watergate.

What would remain is a question mark: Did political pressure force an innocent president from the office to which he was elected? Nixon was, after all, the choice of 47 million voters, 60.7 per cent of the electorate, in the 1972 election. And millions of those voters would remain convinced that their ballots had been overruled by mid-term political pressures.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., said if Nixon were to quit and later were proven innocent, the damage to the country would be irreparable. But if nothing were proved, the problem would still exist.

What the Democrats, and most Republicans, are saying is that the impeachment process should be allowed to run its course; that Congress should judge the evidence and, ultimately, the President.

Specialist Cites Dangers In Child Cancer Treatments

By FRANK CAREY
DALLAS (AP) — A New York cancer specialist said today there's initial evidence that the powerful, combined treatments being used with ever-growing success against childhood cancer can cause "second cancers" and other defects in some patients years later.

Dr. Giulio J. D'Angio stresses that so far only a relatively few such cases of late-developing complications—including impairment of normal function of some bodily organs—have been noted among hundreds of patients who have benefited by what he termed life-prolonging "notable advances" made against childhood cancer in the last decade.

Evidence Suggests Caution
But he told the first national conference on childhood cancer, sponsored by the American Cancer Society, the evidence suggests special caution in applying the "radical treatments" that have yielded so many successes against the original malignancy.

The treatments include surgery, super-voltage irradiation, and various combinations of "chemotherapeutic" drugs—sometimes all three in combination.

Steps Already Under Way
And he said steps are already being taken by cancer specialists to try to identify and retain "only those components that are essential for success" against the initial cancer—and to eliminate those that may pose a risk to the patient years later.

He indicated, in a report prepared for the opening session of the conference, that the investigative studies are stressing assessment of the particular combinations of drugs, and radiation doses, being employed at present.

His remarks were made against this background:
Childhood cancer—including leukemia, Hodgkins' disease, and certain tumors of the brain, nervous system, eye, kidney and bone—is relatively rare, striking only one child in 7,000.

Nevertheless, it ranks second only to accidents as a killer of school-age children—and thus is the No. 1 disease killer for children under 15 years of age.

The American Cancer Society says that "only during recent years has it (childhood cancer) been recognized as an important national health problem."

But, whereas only a decade or so ago, some of these childhood cancers invariably killed within months, there are many children who are alive and apparently cured of cancer five or more years after being treated, says the ACS.

In his report, Dr. D'Angio, chief of radiation therapy at New York's Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases, put it this way:

"Notable advances continue to be made in the management of children with cancer. Improvements in surgery, radiation therapy and chemotherapy have all contributed to changing the outlook from one of hopelessness to one of expectation and optimism.

"These laudable gains have not been made without cost in disability, deformity, and death from the radical treatments employed.

"Added to these recognized immediate complications are less well-known, more insidious, but equally severe late effects of treatment which may take decades to become manifest.

"Such sequelae as oncogenes (production of a second cancer) and impairment of normal organ function are becoming matters of increasing concern now that more children are surviving longer . . ."

And he said the ultimate goal of precautionary efforts already under way is "to insure that the increasing number of successfully treated children of today do not become the chronically ill adults of tomorrow."

In a separate report, Dr. Melvin Tefft, also of Memorial Hospital, said "growth disturbance effects" had been noted in the spinal columns of some children long after they were successfully treated for a cancer elsewhere in the body.

Transportation Charges Dropped Against Austrian

HOUSTON (AP) — Charges of interstate transportation of stolen property against an Austrian art dealer have been dropped here.

Instead, the U.S. attorney's office said Wednesday they will leave any legal action against Johannes M. Schweiner, 56, up to the U.S. Immigration Service.

Schweiner was arrested here April 13 by FBI and U.S. Customs agents when they found several valuable pieces of art in his possession, including a Rembrandt painting valued at more than $200,000.

Immigration officials have a June 5 hearing scheduled to see if Schweiner should be deported. His visa expired April 1.

Robert Scardino, Schweiner's lawyer, has filed a federal court suit asking for the immediate return of the paintings in his client's possession when he was arrested.

Scardino claimed the 11 paintings were either Schweiner's property or were on consignment to him.

The lawyer said he would also appeal any deportation order, saying his client simply wants to sell the paintings and voluntarily leave the country.

Graduates' Names Omitted By Error

The names of three Midland College graduates were inadvertently omitted by The Reporter-Telegram.

All three received associate of applied science degrees in MC's first commencement Saturday night, and all three are employed by the Midland Police Department.

They are patrolman Jerrold D. Luckie, Det. Sgt. Leslie R. Fine and Eulalio M. Camarillo of the special services division.

Abernathy, Wood Graduate At Tarleton

STEPHENVILLE — Two Midland students are among 271 seniors who were graduated from Tarleton State University recently.

The Midlanders are Curtis E. Abernathy, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Abernathy, who received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural education, and John D. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wood Jr., who received a bachelor of science degree in agri-business.
