AT KANSAS CITY—

Inmates Free Hostages

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Angry Jackson County jail inmates seized three guards as hostages and held control of one section of the fortress for three hours before surrendering early today.

The inmates first exchanged their hostages for County Executive George Lehr and a local newspaper reporter. After eight of the 46 rebellious prisoners met with other newsmen to publicize their grievances, the inmates released Lehr and Kansas City Star reporter Harry Jones Jr. unharmed.

It was the third disturbance at the jail in the past week.

The situation was touched off when more than a score of visitors were turned away from the jail Tuesday night because of a policy that allows the 46 inmates in the one section a total of only 15 visitors a night—on a first-come basis. Inmates said it was a continuing problem and that jail officials had not carried through promises to correct it.

Lehr said the inmates cut through a wall to an adjoining construction area and armed themselves with sledgehammers, power saws, steel bars, chains and other weapons. At one point they threatened to kill the guards if officers tried to overpower them.

The inmates in Tank E on the 13th floor of the downtown county courthouse seized the three guards as they were completing the 10 p.m. lockup. Lehr and Jones remained in the E tank area with the 38 prisoners. The incident ended about 1 a.m.

Lehr called the jail situation deplorable.

"These things are going to happen as long as we have this hell hole," he said. "The jail is the most improved program in our county government, and it's still the most serious."

Among their demands the inmates listed humane treatment by guards, better food, no reprisals for Tuesday night's action, uncrowded living conditions and better medical treatment. Authorities said the other 340 inmates at the jail were peaceful during the incident.

Merit Selection Of Judges Loses

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention voted 105-95 today against merit selection of judges on courts of appeal and the Texas Supreme Court.

Rep. Andrew Baker, D-Galveston, urged the delegates to allow Texans to vote on the matter as a separate issue.

Baker said 95 per cent of all judges are appointed anyway, then usually run unopposed in the first election after their appointment.

Baker's proposal called for creation of a nominating commission that would submit three names to the governor from which he would pick one to fill a vacancy on an appellate court.

HOSTAGES RELEASED — George Lehr, county executive, is interviewed after he and a newsman had been released by the 46 prisoners at the Jackson County jail in Kansas City, Mo., today after an uprising in which three guards were first taken hostage. Lehr and the newsman volunteered to place themselves in the prisoners' custody in exchange for the guards. (AP Wirephoto.)

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON (AP) — McGeorge Bundy, a former aide to two presidents, said today there is no reason why a president should have an absolute right to decide what government secrets to keep secret from the American people.

CHELSEA, Mass. (AP) — Fire destroyed six multi-storied buildings in a four-block industrial complex today but was kept from spreading to an area of small businesses and residences, officials said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — C. Jackson Grayson, head of the old Price Commission, said today there is a high probability the United States will adopt some forms of economic controls again in the next few years.

$400,000 IN TUITION REVENUE BONDS SOLD— No-Tax Hike MC Budget Okayed

By TOM MORAN

Midland College trustees Tuesday gave tentative approval to the 1974-75 budget.

The new budget, which will not require a tax increase, is $395,966 greater than the current budget. Dr. Al G. Langford, college president, said about $200,000 of the increase will be for 14 new full time faculty positions.

Also, all employees of the college have been granted raises averaging seven per cent.

A public hearing on the budget and final passage is expected at the trustees June meeting.

The trustees also sold $400,000 in tuition revenue bonds. The bonds, which were brought by The Midland National Bank and associates, will be used to finance construction of the Student Center Building, the Vocational-Technical Building and the Physical Education Building.

The bonds pay five per cent interest and will mature in 1989. The college has the option of paying off the bonds after 10 years with no penalty.

The trustees also reappointed Main Lafrentz & Co. as the college district auditors. The firm has been the district's auditors since it was founded.

In other action, the trustees appointed the board of equalization, approved a change in the Midland College Foundation articles of incorporation.

discussed furniture needs for the new campus, adopted a workman's compensation plan and granted an easement to the Texas Electric Service Co. to provide the electric service to the campus.

Board of equalization members include Mrs. B. J. Bohannon, Fred Kester and Byrne O'Neil. The three also will serve as board equalization members for the Midland Independent School District and City of Midland.

The foundation's articles of incorporation were changed to have foundation board members terms expire in 1974, '75 and '76.

When first drafted the articles envisioned appointment of the members in 1973 and called for the staggered three year terms to expire in 1973, '74 and '75.

Foundation members also drew for terms. The terms of Robert Leibrock, William B. Blakemore II and Reagan H. (See MC Page 9A)

Belfast Strikers Defy British Troops

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Gunfire crackled today in Protestant strongholds of East Belfast as militant strikers defied thousands of British troops in combat gear by erecting barricades the soldiers had torn down.

There was no immediate word of casualties, but police said six or seven men were involved in the shooting.

One mob of young men armed with rocks and clubs attacked and encircled a police patrol, and soldiers in armored cars moved in to rescue the officers.

Traffic that had begun flowing for the first time in three days after the army swooped again as the new barricades went up.

The Protestant reaction came a few days after soldiers in combat gear swarmed through the British province's beleaguered capital, clearing streets blocked to back up a Protestant-led general strike.

It was a quick reply to claims by strike leaders that they controlled Northern Ireland to the point of being able to form a provisional government.

Soldiers with blackened faces and guns at the ready moved in at dawn and quickly cleared all main roads into the capital. They bulldozed vehicles to the sidewalks.

After eight days of almost total industrial disruption, the militants had tightened their stranglehold on the British province's capital by cutting off the distribution of fuel supplies.

The early-morning action followed a night in which Protestant extremists were blamed for two attacks, with machine gun fire and a bomb, in which four teen-age girls were wounded.

The fuel ban took effect at midnight. A few service stations remaining open Tuesday night filled cars.

Leaders of the general strike said oil and gasoline would be allowed only for essential services such as hospitals and public utilities still operating.

William Craig, leader of the hardline Vanguard Unionist party, told newsmen: "We are in effective control of the country. We certainly control the sinews of life in the community."

A lieutenant, Glenn Barr, took an even tougher line: "We could set up a provisional government if we took the notion. We have the power to govern in our hands."

In another major development, Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. told reporters Tuesday that a significant portion of a March 17, 1973, White House transcript may be missing.

Rodino said the tape recording representing that transcript apparently includes a discussion by Nixon of the possibility of White House involvement in the Watergate cover-up. Nixon has said he first learned of the cover-up on March 21, 1973.

Rodino said the committee (See NIXON Page 9A)

Department searched for the car for a short time.

At one time, the couple was supposed to be at a supermarket on the Rankin Highway. Then there was a report that the couple was going either east or west on Front Street.

Officers found the vehicle and stopped it at the bus station, where they identified the confused couple, and thus dispelled the rumor that Patty Hearst and the Symbionese Liberation Army had come to the Tall City.

President Won't Hand Over 11 Tapes To Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon notified the House Judiciary Committee today he would not comply with a subpoena demanding tapes of 11 Watergate conversations.

Rep. Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa, emerged from a closed committee session and told newsmen that the White House response was delivered to committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., about 11 a.m., one hour past the deadline set by the subpoena for a reply.

Mayne said Rodino told the 38-member committee that he had just received the response "and he said it was unfavorable ... it was negative."

Earlier, Nixon offered the committee one edited transcript in response to the committee's request for tapes of 66 White House conversations dealing with the dairy industry and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Nixon's lawyer, James D. St. Clair, said the President feels he has already given the committee everything else it needs for that phase of its impeachment inquiry.

St. Clair said many of the 66 conversations sought by the committee in connection with the ITT and dairy industry matters were not recorded and that others were not pertinent to the committee's inquiry.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today rejected a House Judiciary Committee subpoena for more taped presidential conversations and said the decision also applies to "such further subpoenas as may hereafter be issued."

St. Clair spoke to newsmen before entering another closed-door hearing of the committee. The committee heard the tape of a March 21, 1973, meeting on Tuesday, and some members said it was the most damaging evidence against Nixon they have yet heard.

There also was considerable fog in early morning over the humid sector, into which moist air flowed from the Gulf of Mexico.

The first tropical depression of 1974, a little in advance of this year's hurricane season, dwindled the day before, however, to a mere disturbance as it moved from the Northwest (See Weather Page 9A)

And Officers Thought They Had Patty

As the Patty Hearst-SLA saga continues in California, local law enforcement officers were given a turn this morning when someone reported that the newspaper heiress and a black man were seen here.

It caused some excitement for a short time until the couple was "captured" at a bus depot and it was learned that they are Midlanders.

The Department of Public Safety dispatcher received a report shortly before 8 a.m.

Today that a white woman and a black man were seen in Midland in a Pontiac with California license plates and that the woman was Miss Hearst.

There have been reports in California that Miss Hearst might be with two black men and that a Pontiac was one of the cars officials there have been searching for.

SLA Trio Faces More Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Patricia Hearst and two comrades faced additional charges today stemming from two alleged kidnappings as hundreds of police searched for the three believed to be the remnants of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Heavily armed police swarmed into the Los Angeles suburb of Van Nuys and into a neighborhood in Sacramento

Tuesday night in response to some of the scores of citizen reports claiming to have seen Miss Hearst and two SLA members, William and Emily Harris.

Neither report checked out. But FBI agent Charles Bates, in charge of this case since Miss Hearst was kidnapped 3 1/2 months ago, said early today a tip will check out sooner or later. He appealed to the three to surrender to avoid more bloodshed.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Cash In Hand Speeds Checkout

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

DEAR POLLY — I am carrying them. I do a lot of shopping through their catalogue house — on the baseboards, window sills, in the closets, on furniture. You name it, there is mildew. The pest control people I had cannot guarantee anything to eradicate it and the things they did failed to do the job. I have washed everything with vinegar and sprayed with that popular deodorant spray but in a few days it begins to come back again so I do hope to get some suggestions to keep me from going bananas. — MRS. L.P.M.

DEAR POLLY — I am a cashier in a grocery store and my Pet Peeve concerns those going through the express checkout lane. Everyone is in such a hurry, but when I ask for their money they never seem to have it ready. If they would have it out and ready, the line would move much faster. — D.K.

DEAR POLLY — Elva can have fitted sheets on her three-quarter bed even if she cannot sew a stitch. Get small brass rings, such as one sews on cafe curtains, pull each corner of the sheet through a ring and push up until she has made it fit over the corner and tuck the corners under the mattress. A twin-size sheet can be used for this. The same method can, of course, be used for other size beds and sheets. Remove rings before laundering and find this method also makes it easier to neatly fold the sheets after laundering. — JOSEPHINE.

DEAR POLLY — Elva and others wanting three-quarter size sheets will find that old and well-known mail order house

Further Charges Possible As State Studies Archer Parr's Prosecution

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Attorney General's office is studying the federal prosecution of Duval County Judge Archer Parr from the standpoint of possible misapplication of public funds and "that's where we might come in," a spokesman says.

Parr, 46, faces six five-year prison terms and $63,810.00 in fines and court costs, unless his appeals of federal perjury convictions succeed. Two of the terms run consecutively and the other four are concurrent with the second.

If the state enters the case, it would add yet another problem. Already, the federal conviction means Parr's law license could be suspended during appeals.

He believes he can continue to hold his county judgeship until appeals are exhausted, and Parr and his attorney are optimistic about the appeal.

Two representatives of the state attorney general's office sat through Parr's nine-day federal jury trial earlier this month, taking notes on yellow legal pads.

In a telephone interview, a reporter asked Jim Bushala, special assistant to Texas Atty Gen. John Hill, about the significance of the two representatives' presence at Parr's trial.

"It's obvious some of the allegations or charges in the federal case would lead anyone who reads and understands them to be aware of possible misapplication of state funds," said Bushala, reached in Austin.

"That's where we might come in," he said.

Actually, the public funds involved were those of the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District, which was established by state law. The federal jury found Parr lied when he said $121,500 in payments to him from the district were private legal fees.

"Naturally, we have to be interested in that and we have been for a long time," said Bushala.

Parr testified at his trial that he performed legal services for the district, despite testimony of three government witnesses who said they were not aware of such services.

And, when Parr appeared Monday before U.S. District Court Judge D.W. Suttle, he was asked if he had anything to say before Suttle pronounced sentence.

"I know that I did legal work, sir. I did perform the legal services," reiterated Parr, who then was reminded by Suttle the jury verdict was to the contrary.

Suttle showed little mercy for Parr, who had never before been convicted. He assessed Parr maximum fines and prison terms on each count, meaning Parr joins George Parr as the second member of the prominent South Texas clan to be ordered to prison this year.

George Parr, 73, Archer Parr's uncle and longtime South Texas kingpin in Democratic politics, was convicted in Corpus Christi of federal income tax evasion charges.

Like Archer, George Parr also is a lawyer.

Texas civil statutes provide that the local bar grievance committee or the State Bar of Texas act to suspend law licenses of attorneys convicted of felonies such as the Parrs.

Archer Parr's attorney, James Gillespie, said Tuesday "our decision at this point in time" is to contest such a move against Parr's ability to sustain his lucrative practice. He said Parr will abide by any subsequent orders of the court.

Legal sources say suspension is mandatory when, after a suit to suspend the license is filed in the convicted attorney's home county, proof of the conviction is presented. Such proof could be a certified copy of the criminal judgment, sources say.

The legal sources say the law provides that, even if an attorney appeals his suspension conviction, along with an appeal of his criminal conviction, he cannot practice law during the appeal of the suspension.

Texas statutes provide that when appeals of the criminal conviction are exhausted, disbarment proceedings begin.

Besides being county judge, Parr has testified he is retained privately by Coastal States Gas Producing Co. at $36,000 annually and has other clients.

Henry Weber, Chicago corporation counsel, shudders at legal problems involved.

"For instance, the heirs of dead policemen might sue the city for money," he said. "They could contend Chicago was discriminating against men who had died before it decided to pay."

Weber and Cusak agree the case comes under the doctrine of laches, which holds that a lawsuit must be filed within a reasonable period of time. But Cusak adds:

"I think the old timers are getting a kick out of the whole thing. But it is typical at this juncture to try to get them something or put the matter to rest for always."

Over-The-Hill Gang Of Chicago Former Policemen Seek $3 Million In Back Pay

CHICAGO (AP) — An over-the-hill gang of former Chicago policemen is out to get $3 million in back wages from the city. But there doesn't appear to be much hope.

"Our bunch numbers about 1,500 and we think the city owes us about $3 million it took out of our pay checks in the Great Depression years of the 1930s," said Abner Bender, ringleader of the over-70 group.

"If we are going to get the money it had better be soon — a lot of us won't be around much longer," he said. "Maybe we should be called the under-the-gun gang."

Bender, 74, was on the Chicago police force from 1922 until retiring in 1950. His group has hired attorney John Cusak Jr. to push its case.

"Back in the Depression the city simply didn't appropriate the money to meet the full paychecks, it didn't have the money to give," Cusak said. "There isn't too much hope of getting it now, but we are researching the entire legal question."

"Almost every payday the city would withhold $10, $15 or even $30 from our paychecks," Bender said. "They said we would get our money back later, but we never did. In those days patrolmen got $99.21 every two weeks. We didn't quit and get another job because there weren't any."

He figures those still alive — including widows — are entitled to about $2,150 each.

SELLING PRACTICES HIT — FTC Is Investigating Hearing Aid Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission disclosed today it is investigating an industrywide basis the possibility that hearing aid manufacturers and marketers have used unfair selling practices or false advertising.

The announcement, first of its kind since the commission decided to make industrywide investigations public, follows complaints already filed against the industry's major manufacturers.

On May 7 the commission named Sonotone Corp., Seeburg Industries, Textron, Radioear Corp., Dahlberg Electronics and Beltone Electronics in proposed complaints alleging false advertising. The complaints are pending.

The commission alleged the companies failed to disclose that no hearing aid can restore normal or natural hearing or reverse or retard a hearing loss.

All but Seeburg had been cited earlier for engaging in unfair marketing practices by Smith To Complete Studies At TSTI among other things, restricting dealers to specified geographical areas.

Beltone, Dahlberg and Textron chose to fight the marketing charges. Radioear and Sonotone signed negotiated agreements promising not to restrict dealers.

LIONS QUEEN — Lorelei Beck of San Angelo will represent District 2-A1, Lions International, in the state Queen Contest to be held in connection with the Texas Lions convention scheduled June 1-2 at Waco. Miss Beck, representing San Angelo's Sundown club, won the district contest last Friday at Big Spring.

Dear Abby

Found: A Real Life 'Our Girl Friday'

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I was quite amused at the letter in your column from the secretary who objected to doing personal jobs for her boss and his family.

She should have MY boss. I've been with him for 16 years. I get along fine with him, his wife, their five children — three of whom are now married. He feels (and I heartily agree) that I hired out to work eight hours a day, so if he wants me to do something other than straight secretarial work, I should do it.

I have vacuumed his office, met planes, trains and buses, shopped for gifts for his wife, children and grandchildren, typed essays and term papers for his high school and college children, and have even scouted for information for his wife when she was involved with the Junior League. I've gone to his home for dictation, have worked evenings, weekends and holidays, and have never felt that any of these duties were beneath my dignity as a secretary. Oh, we've had our differences, but I've never refused to do anything he's asked me to do, and he's never asked me to do anything immoral or illegal. I love my job, he's a wonderful boss, and the pay is exceptional.

HAPPY IN DALLAS

DEAR HAPPY: I'm glad the pay is exceptional because you certainly are.

DEAR ABBY: This is to thank you for publishing that hilarious column in which you included all those formal divorce announcements. I laughed until my sides ached.

When our daughter was divorced two years ago, my husband and I went through all the agonies other parents endure when their married children divorce. ("Isn't there some way we can keep them together? The whole town is talking. What will we tell people?")

Now we realize it wasn't all that tragic. Our daughter is soon to marry another man, and this one is a prince.

I just had to tell you that I got a wonderful laugh out of that column. I'm only sorry we didn't know such announcements were available two years ago. We'd have sent some.

N. Y. POST READER

DEAR READER: Thanks, I needed that. Not everyone saw the humor in that column, and to those who did not, I apologize.

Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Recently you published some formal divorce announcements:

"Mr. and Mrs. John Jones take pleasure in announcing the divorce of their daughter Alice from that slob she married in 1963, etc."

Was that supposed to be funny?

Perhaps I failed to see the humor of it because I am going through a heartbreaking divorce right now.

Only last week I was in court when my husband walked in. I had all I could do to keep from going over to straighten his tie, and tell him he should have worn his pale blue shirt with that suit. We had been married for 26 years. I've lived more years with him than without him and this divorce still seems so unreal to me. (He asked for it. He has somebody else.)

Anyway, I fail to see anything funny about divorce. At the bottom of your column it says, "You'll feel better if you get it off your chest." Well, I did, and I do. Thanks for listening.

We had been married for 26 years. I've lived more years with him than without him and this divorce still seems so unreal to me. (He asked for it. He has somebody else.)

Anyway, I fail to see anything funny about divorce. At the bottom of your column it says, "You'll feel better if you get it off your chest." Well, I did, and I do. Thanks for listening.

Families Needed To Host Teen-Age Exchange Students

Youth for Understanding International Teen-Age Exchange Programs is looking for families to host high school exchange students for the next school year. Approximately 2,000 students from Europe, Asia, and Africa will arrive in August.

They are between the ages of 16-18, speak English, attend high school and live as a member of an American family. The families provide room and board.

The students are selected by YFU committees overseas on the basis of their scholarship, leadership, interest in international affairs, as well as on the basis of recommendations provided by their teachers, minister, and family friends.

The purpose of the program is to create better international understanding among people of different countries through a people-to-people approach. YFU is the largest of three high school exchange programs in the United States which cooperates with the State Department in Washington for international teen-age exchange.

Families interested in possibly hosting a student can contact Mrs. Guy Saunders, P.O. Box 914, Midland, or telephone 694-6509.

'That's One Of Those Unnamed News Sources'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: More Postal back-scratching revealed. WASHINGTON—As part of our continuing investigation of the Postal Service, we have uncovered a secret, back-scratching relationship between postal authorities and the giant Ernst and Ernst accounting firm.

Postmaster General James Hargrove, now retired, ignored six lower bidders and overrode the recommendations of the professional staff to give the contract to Ernst and Ernst.

As added evidence of the President's vindictiveness, transcripts show he also instructed Dean: "I want the most comprehensive notes on all those who tried to do us in... We have not used the Bureau (the FBI) and we have not used the Justice Department but things are going to change now."

BRUCE BLOSSAT Indecisiveness Fand In The Oval Office

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A seriously adverse spinoff for President Nixon from his released transcripts of White House Watergate conversation is the impression he has given many Americans of a man who is inept, indecisive and highly vulnerable to the pressure judgments of his key aides.

Let's take the second-hand item first. My source says a top cabinet officer, the secretary of a sprawling department, emerged from a private conversation with the President totally convinced that Mr. Nixon had just made a major decision affecting an important program in the man's department.

Now the other matter. My informant said he spoke to a presidential aide to make one crucial point: He felt he needed very badly to see Mr. Nixon personally to get some decisions quickly so he could get on with his own work with a clear understanding of how and where to proceed.

It is that portion of the transcript evidence which puts a new public measurement on Mr. Nixon as president. And this new measurement shows up strongly in many of the mounting editorial calls for the President's removal, which are dropping like incendiaries from major newspapers nationwide.

And my associate Les Whitten was arrested on the street by eight FBI agents who had been expecting me. His notes were ripped out of his hands while he was covering a story for this column and he was clapped in jail. A grand jury subsequently refused to indict him for any crime and the Justice Department was compelled to drop all charges.

QUOTE/UNQUOTE— Selected Comments From Persons Here And There

NEWYORK (NEA) — "We cannot be loud in condemning abortion after being silent about napalm and Vietnamese children, or seemingly unconscious of the horrible present fact that 60 per cent of the children already born in the poorest countries die before the age of five."

"He's a complex man. At times he is abrasive and reserved. He has a personal bond with his people. Underneath all the wit and charm, the humor and relaxed fun, he really gives himself very reluctantly to human relationships."

"The age when you could put up some monkey bars and a set of swings and call it a playground is gone."

"The best and most effective federal program, regardless of how big the appropriation, could be in by one person and a part-time secretary."

On Feb. 7, 1973, we reported bluntly: "The word has gone out from the White House to 'nail' Jack Anderson and the Washington Post. This language was used, according to the sources who heard it, by President Nixon's crew chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman..."

The Ernst and Ernst contract reached $460,000 in 1973. Perhaps out of gratitude, the company's employees contributed $88,000 to President Nixon's re-

Early Christmas Assured Next Year

Christmas almost surely will come early again next year.

The Christmas in April Housing Repair Committee, in a meeting Tuesday night, discussed the project not in terms of "will we do it again?" but when.

Plans for the future did not jell completely, but most members of the committee felt a year should elapse before asking the community to donate several thousand dollars for a repeat performance.

The Christmas in April project this year saw scores of volunteers from churches, businesses and civic groups repair homes of needy elderly residents. Jobs ranged from simple house painting to a major home addition where an extra room was added.

The April project followed a successful Christmas in October program last year, which received such support that some money was left over. These funds helped initiate the Christmas in April project, but this time all reserves of money were depleted.

The committee discussed a number of items which would enhance future projects. One area concerned the houses that could not be reached by the project because the homes were so deteriorated as to make repairs unpractical.

Since these occupants could not afford rental in a home where they might relocate, it was felt that new homes could be constructed inexpensively if the Christmas in April committee could have city authority to tear down existing vacant and condemned structures.

Under the present system, the city requires removal of all existing structures of a dwelling, including the concrete foundation. Committee spokesmen pointed out that the expense of this removal would seldom, if ever, be defrayed by the value of salvageable building materials.

It was proposed that resolution be drawn up requesting the city council to participate in future projects by means of waiving the requirement of the removal of the entire structure of vacant homes.

The resolution will be sent to all organizations that participated in the last two projects for ratification. Then it will be forwarded to the city council.

Other ideas for the future included:

- Creation of an emergency fund to handle situations such as a home fire where the occupant has no resources for rebuilding.
- "Adoption" by some groups of an elderly couple whose house they had worked on, for a year or more.
- Obtaining a warehouse in which to store all physical donations received, such as furniture and bathroom appliances.

Lawyers' Group Asks Invalidation Of '72 Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawyers' organization has asked a federal court to set aside the 1972 presidential election as "an utter fraud" and to order the ouster of President Nixon and Vice President Gerald R. Ford.

The 207-page suit, filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court by the National Lawyers Guild, contends the election was invalid because of "numerous criminal and otherwise unlawful acts" committed in Nixon's re-election campaign.

These acts, the suit charged, amounted to a conspiracy that violated the American people's "fundamental right to a republican form of government and their right to democratic self-government through meaningful and full participation in the political process."

The suit said Ford should be ousted along with Nixon, because if the election is deemed invalid then Nixon's action in naming Ford as a successor to Spiro T. Agnew is also invalid.

The National Lawyers Guild, claiming 4,000 members, describes itself as "an association dedicated to the need for basic change in the structure of our political and economic system."

Bringing the suit along with the guild was a group calling itself the Committee to Set Aside the 1972 Election.

Plaintiffs in the suit included "8,000 American citizens," among them Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., Dr. Benjamin Spock, The United Farmworkers of America, the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, the Southern Conference Educational Fund and the Black Panther party also were among the plaintiffs.

Kelly Slayer's Conviction Upheld

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed today the conviction and 101-year prison sentence assessed Johnny Eduardo Swift in the stabbing death of Hearne bank president H. C. "Jack" Kelly in May 1972.

The case was transferred to McLennan County from Robertson County, and Swift, a black man, protested that no blacks had served on the grand jury commission which selected the grand jury that indicted him.

A lawyer testified that to his knowledge no blacks had ever served on the commission although the county is one-third black.

But the appeals court said this was not sufficient to show racial discrimination.

Kelly, his wife Reo and 19-year-old daughter, Nancy Kelly Stovall, were found slain in separate bedrooms at Kelly's house in Hearne after he failed to show up for work May 17, 1972. He was president of the Planters' and Merchants' State Bank.

Kelly died from two stab wounds in the back, according to court records, and his wife had been stabbed numerous times and an electric cord was wrapped around her neck. Death was attributed to strangulation.

The daughter had been stabbed 16 times, and an electric cord also was knotted around her neck, which was broken.

Two witnesses testified that Swift and others had sought their aid in holding Kelly's wife hostage at the house while they looked Kelly to the bank and robbed it, but they refused.

Swift and three others were arrested in Oklahoma City, and one of those arrested, Lee Murray Jurdoe, gave police Lt. N. A. Maxwell a key to the apartment where they were staying.

Police seized at least two credit cards belonging to Kelly and a mink stole with his wife's name embroidered on the collar.

Swift protested that it was an illegal search and seizure, but the appeals court overruled him.

The appeals court said it was well established in law that "third parties have authority to consent to a search when they have equal control over and equal use of the premises being searched."

There was no evidence that Jurdoe was forced to hand over the apartment key, the court added.

Jacobsen Gets Immunity From Watergate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate Committee today voted 5 to 0 to grant immunity from prosecution in return for testimony from Texas lawyer Jake Jacobsen about an alleged bribe to John B. Connally, committee sources said.

Jacobsen has offered to drop his previous denials and swear that Connally took $10,000 from a dairy-farmer cooperative, according to informed sources.

Connally, a former secretary of the treasury in the Nixon administration, has consistently denied taking the money.

It is unlikely that Jacobsen will be called to testify immediately. The normal process for confirming an immunity grant of this kind takes 30 days.

Jacobsen's lawyer, Charles McNelis, had told committee investigators that Jacobsen would invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to testify about the $10,000. But under a grant of immunity, Jacobsen could be forced to testify or face the possibility of being held in contempt of Congress.

The committee stopped short of granting Jacobsen complete immunity from any prosecution in the matter.

Instead, it authorized so-called use immunity, which would prevent prosecutors from using any of Jacobsen's immunity testimony against him in court. This is the same type of immunity the committee once granted to former White House Counsel John W. Dean III.

Jacobsen once swore that he drew $10,000 from his client, Associated Milk Producers Inc., and offered it to Connally for political use shortly after President Nixon to raise federal milk price supports in 1971.

Jacobsen also testified that Connally refused the money, and that the $10,000 in cash stayed in a Texas bank vault for 2½ years, until an FBI agent inventoried the money last November as part of a Watergate grand jury's investigation. The grand jury said that part of Jacobsen's story was a lie, and indicted him for perjury.

News then leaked out through informed sources that Jacobsen was offering to switch his testimony and to say that Connally took the money and replaced it later after arranging a cover story with Jacobsen.

In return, Jacobsen demanded that the government reduce the perjury charge, and a separate seven-count felony

Humorist Speaks To Lions Today

A self-styled spokesman for "the large majority — fat persons" addressed the Midland Downtown Lions Club today at its meeting in the American Legion Hall.

The speaker was Mrs. Joy Culwell, Colorado City, well-known radio-tv personality, and humorist, who has addressed numerous meetings of all kinds over West Texas the last several years.

Her daily talk show over KVMC, Colorado City, is titled "Joy to the World."

Mrs. Culwell's Midland talk was of a humorous nature, relating her experiences with people in the areas of newspaper reporting, broadcasting and civic and church affairs.

Mrs. Culwell was introduced by Duke Jimerson, the club's program chairman for May.

him she had nothing to do with her kidnaping, but decided to join forces with her abductors because of dissatisfaction with her father's sponsoring of a $2 million food giveaway that was to win her release.

Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Joseph Busch said Miss Hearst and the Harrises would be charged today in a shooting incident at a suburban sporting goods store, the commandeering of several vehicles and a kidnaping of two men. They already are charged with unlawful use and possession of automatic weapons.

Authorities allege that the kidnapings followed an abortive attempt by Harris, 29, to shoplift a pair of 49-cent socks last Thursday. That episode, in which police allege Miss Hearst sprayed the store with automatic rifle fire, started police on an intensive manhunt in Los Angeles, Friday, six SLA members died in a fiery shootout.

A spokesman for Catherine and Randolph Hearst said the parents feel "it's going to be resolved soon, that it's going to be resolved imminently."

Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis said the trio could surrender to either the local Press Club or the Los Angeles County Bar Association acting as go-betweens. Bates said any sincere surrender attempt would be honored, but warned that FBI agents had no intentions of walking into an ambush.

Fish Bone Case Taken To Governor

AUSTIN (AP) — The case of the questionable fish bones was dropped into the lap of Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Atty. Gen. John Hill today by an irate citizen.

The crime, if it was one, apparently started at Lake Palestine, moved into Bruce Dyess' Bruce's Restaurant at Tyler, then to Noonday and now to Austin.

The date was May 1 and Roy G. Daniel in his letter to the state officials, noted that Bruce's Restaurant has been a haven for hungry people for years.

Show Of Force

He said he and a neighbor, not identified, went to the cafe "and little did we know that the man drinking coffee at the counter when we entered actually was an undercover agent for the law enforcement division of the Parks and Wildlife Department—commonly known as a fur, feathers and fish warden."

He said the man departed and returned with his badge and four agents in uniform with a total of six guns "and proceeded to the tables of those eating fish where they demanded to see drivers licenses for identification." They were told they would be contacted later.

Gather Up Bones, Leave

"They gathered up the remains of the bones and departed."

Seems there is a law against selling freshwater game fish, and the official contention was that the fish had been caught in the lake and then served at the restaurant.

Daniel said about 9:30 p.m. an agent from the P&W office appeared at his neighbor's home with an arrest warrant and took him to the office of Justice of the Peace H. M. Shelton Jr. at Noonday near the lake.

Citizens Aroused

The letter said some of the six brought there paid $32.50 in fines and some put up $35 appeal bonds. Dyess paid $438 on a charge of selling freshwater fish.

Observers at Tyler said some citizens are aroused because they didn't know it was against the law to eat freshwater fish in a restaurant and because of the massive manpower used in the arrests.

Wrote Daniel: "I alert you that you better be able to distinguish the difference between legal and illegal meals or you may wind up in the hands of Executive Director Clayton Garrison of the Parks and Wildlife Department."

Daniel said he had "been around a long time and eaten meals everywhere, including a lot of fish that were cooked and could not identify themselves."

VAN Project Reviewed For Morning Optimists

The Visual Aids Newsmobile (VAN) project started here recently was reviewed for members of the Morning Optimist Club today by Mrs. Mayme Martin, founder and director.

She explained that the strictly local, non-profit program is a concept of people helping people.

The motorized van, which Mrs. Martin proposes to obtain, would be used to take various items of merchandise to handicapped persons here and in neighboring communities, to be used personally, and in making and processing items which they then could offer for sale, as a partial means of support, as well as for therapy benefits.

Mrs. Martin, who founded and for years operated Midland's non-profit Free Tape Lending Library, displayed items being offered in the program. They include pocket brailier, cards, clothing markers in braille, and tape measure and other items with braille symbols.

Mrs. Martin made it clear that she received no recompense for her long years of service in the Free Tape Lending Library and will accept none in this project.

She said she has spent five years in researching this particular program "from San Francisco to Austin, New York, Chicago, Boston and Hartford."

She said VAN is recognized as a very practical approach to a needed program.

"Let's start the program now," Mrs. Martin said, "using voluntary help and a private car."

She explained how service club members and others can help in the program, which Mrs. Martin said she much prefers over any kind of a government-subsidized project.

"Memorial contributions and cash donations are accepted and appreciated," she said.

Nixon Again Nixes Tapes Release

had been given a tape by the Watergate grand jury that records a conversation between Nixon and Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler on June 4, 1973, after Nixon had spent several hours listening to tapes of other meetings.

Rodino said one of the meetings they discussed was on March 17, between Nixon and then-White House counsel John W. Dean III. According to Rodino, it included "a discussion of the Watergate matter and the possible involvement of White House personnel and others."

The White House released transcript of the March 17 meeting does not mention Watergate.

The committee heard on Tuesday a tape of the March 21 talk between Nixon and Dean. It convinced some Democrats that Nixon ordered Dean to pay Hunt $120,000 in hush money.

"It was a command. It was said very positively," said Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., after the closed committee hearing.

"He was clearly ordering Dean to pay the money," said another Democrat. "I don't think there is any question."

Few Republican members would comment, and none of those who did found anything helpful for Nixon in the tape.

"This is certainly the most damning of the stuff we've had so far," said Rep. Hamilton Fish, R-N.Y.

In the key section of the tape, Nixon suggests that Dean has no choice but to come up with the money Hunt allegedly demanded to keep silent.

"Would you agree that that's the prime thing, that you damn well better get that done?" Nixon asked.

"Obviously he ought to be given some signal," Dean replied.

The White House transcript has Nixon saying "(expensive deleted), get it." Waldie said the committee tape has him saying, "Jesus Christ, get it."

In all, there are 10 references by Nixon during the one hour, 43 minute conversation to the importance of keeping Hunt quiet and that there would be no problem in getting the $1 million Dean estimated the continuing blackmail would cost.

In his April 29 television address when he released the edited transcripts, Nixon said he was "thinking out loud" in the March 21 conversation about various courses of action and had considered meeting Hunt's demand as a way to prevent disclosure of another matter that might damage national security.

The March 21 transcript shows that Nixon was worried thing coming out the whole thing was national security.

Dean: I think we could get by on that.

Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, D-Iowa, said the tape "gives us a much clearer picture of the involvement not only of the President but of the men around him."

Asked by newsmen whether Nixon's involvement amounted to an impeachable offense, Mezvinsky said that was what each member had to decide for himself.

No member reported finding any significant material added to the White House transcript as a result of the committee's better recording equipment, which fills in many blanks in the White House versions.

"I would say the transcripts and tapes are almost identical," said Rep. Charles Sandman, R-N.J. "The transcripts are ugly and so are the tapes."

that Hunt would disclose the break-in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office, Hunt participated in the break-in as part of the "plumbers' effort to plug the Pentagon Papers leak. This exchange takes place: Nixon—What is the answer on this? How you keep it out, I don't know. You can't keep it out if Hunt talks.

Dean—You might put it on a national securities grounds basis.

H. R. Haldeman, who had joined the conversation: It absolutely was.

Dean says that would lead to questions why the CIA or FBI had not conducted the operation.

Nixon: Because we had to do it on a confidential basis.

Haldeman: Because we were checking them.

Soaring Hospital Costs Are Feared By Officials

DALLAS (AP) — Texas and national hospital officials fear that pending federal legislation allowing unionization of non-profit hospitals will cause hospital charges to soar.

Officials attending the Texas Hospital Association meeting charged Tuesday unionization would cause extreme jurisdictional problems with employees and may endanger the care of patients.

"The Texas Hospital Association is encouraging its hospitals to take a hard look at the budget and keep those charges down as much as possible," said O. Ray Hurst, president of the THA.

However, he said some increase is inevitable with in-

House Rejects Emergency Standby Energy Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has rejected and probably killed standby emergency energy legislation that would have given President Nixon gasoline rationing powers in the event of a renewed crisis.

The action coincided Tuesday with a warning by the Federal Power Commission that "even a slight disruption of fuel supply could produce power shortages" this summer. The American Automobile Association reported that there appeared to be no serious gasoline supply problems and that pump prices are holding steady.

In New York, the head of a petroleum industry research group said high prices for oil have reduced demand and the world is moving rapidly towards an oil surplus.

John H. Lichtblau, executive director of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation, said "... I would say if

Hawaii Now Requires Temperature-Corrected Gallon Of Gas

HONOLULU (AP) — You can drive farther on a cold gallon of gasoline than on a warm gallon, but Hawaii has imposed rules to insure that every gallon sold contains the same amount of energy.

Hawaii is the only state to require temperature-corrected gallons, and in times of energy shortages, this makes a real difference, the state's director of weights and measures said Tuesday.

"Somebody is being ripped off—whether the retailer or the consumer—if you don't correct for temperature," said George H. Mattimoe.

A standard gallon of gasoline is defined as 231 cubic inches at 60 degrees Fahrenheit, he said. In this balmy city, though the average temperature of the product is about 80 degrees.

For every 10 degrees of temperature increase or decrease, gasoline expands or contracts six-tenths of one per cent in volume.

"Before we corrected for temperature, consumers were losing half a pint of gasoline in a five-gallon purchase," Mattimoe said. "That amounted to about $1.5 million lost by consumers each year in Hawaii."

The state requires Honolulu dealers to pump 233.8 cubic inches for a one-gallon delivery. The size of a gallon varies from area to area and from summer to winter, Mattimoe said, but the result is that every Hawaii driver buys the same amount of energy.

Temperature correction here is the rule on petroleum "from the time it clears customs until it flows into your tank," Mattimoe said.

When the energy crisis hit, "we had the same number of gallons from the Federal Energy Office," he said, "but we had more gallons than we would have had without temperature correction."

An admitted crusader for temperature correction, Mattimoe said he has urged the National Conference on Weights and Measures to allow all

Cancer-Stricken Baby Back In Oklahoma City

DALLAS (AP) — A cancer-stricken baby brought here from Oklahoma City by her distraught grandmother in hopes of gaining better care has been returned.

The grandmother, identified by police as Willie Mae Scott, was arrested Tuesday but released on her own recognizance after welfare officials took from her the 16-month-old baby, identified as Kelly Danielle York.

Dallas police acted on a warrant filed in Oklahoma City by the child's mother.

"Her mother could just see the child about one day a week," the grandmother tearfully explained. She said she felt she could give it the love it needed.

Early in May the Senate passed a bill that would remove the existing exemptions of non-profit hospitals from the National Labor Relations Act allowing unions to be formed within employe groups.

face is swollen from a large tumor.

Mrs. Scott said she had checked the girl out of the University of Oklahoma Medical Center in Oklahoma City March 9 on a weekend pass. She brought her to Dallas where she said she had heard about a doctor who "has done wonders curing cancer."

The mother filed kidnap charges but Sheriff Hewey Askew of Latimer County, Okla., home of the child's parents, said the warrant was not filed until May 13. He said he learned Monday the grandmother and baby were in Dallas and alerted Dallas police.

The baby was driven to Durant, Okla., Tuesday afternoon by an aunt and a welfare case worker, and the child was readmitted to the hospital in Oklahoma City.

"She just wanted to give the child some love," one Dallas detective said of the grandmother.

FED BY REVOLUTIONARY DREAMS— SLA Left Signs Of Squalid And Spartan Existence

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — In a trail of cluttered nesting places, the Symbionese Liberation Army left behind signs of a squalid and increasingly spartan existence fed by revolutionary dreams.

For six SLA members, the trail of their hideouts began, and ended, in flames.

The search began after two alleged SLA "soldiers" were arrested Jan. 10 for the murder of a school superintendent. Police say the small terrorist group tried unsuccessfully to burn down a nearby bungalow in suburban Concord that night.

In the smoke-damaged rooms, authorities found a cache of clues about the mysterious group which had claimed responsibility for killing Oakland Schools Supt. Marcus Foster last Nov. 6.

Surveillance Reports

Judging by documents in the house, police say, the SLA had kept busy making surveillance reports on Foster, writing communiques and compiling dossiers on prominent local businessmen for kidnaping warrants. One name found on papers there was that of Patricia Hearst, a college sophomore in nearby Berkeley.

Doors and windows in the house were reinforced with plywood, and baled newspapers were kept nearby for quick barricading. Revolutionary posters adorned many walls.

Beneath a mantel full of books on guerrilla warfare, weaponry and Marxism, the occupants evidently constructed pipebombs and practiced shooting a wall target with an air pistol. Gas masks were kept next to their beds; heavier ammunition was scattered all around.

Rock Music, Wine

For recreation, they apparently played rock music on the stereo, and sipped beer or wine. An empty case of plum wine, which the SLA's late leader Donald DeFreeze reportedly favored, was found along with several Molotov cocktails made with the empties.

The cupboards and refrigerator were well stocked with staples and health foods from a Berkeley store. But stacks of dirty dishes overflowed the sink, and bags of garbage spilled across the floor.

Their clothing — mainly Levis, Army fatigue jackets and other military surplus — was haphazardly stored in drawers and closets, or tossed in a corner. "They didn't seem to care much about their material possessions," said Oakland homicide Sgt. John Agler.

Secret Hideout

Six days later, on Jan. 16, police reported discovery of a second SLA hideout. The third story Oakland apartment was rented from September through November by a woman calling herself Lynn Ledworth. Police believed her to be the late SLA member Nancy Ling Perry.

Less than six blocks from the Foster assassination site, the apartment was an ideal spot to plot and launch the murder, as well as a good sanctuary later, police said.

The SLA vanished after the Feb. 4 kidnaping of Miss Hearst, reappearing into known public view with the newspaper heiress on April 15 during a $10,690 bank robbery.

During that period, police say SLA members had moved into a rundown apartment building on the edge of San Francisco's Western Addition, a predominantly black neighborhood about 1 1/2 miles from the FBI office here.

During that two-month span, there is evidence that SLA members regularly walked or drove several blocks in the neighborhood to shop at the New Laguna Grocery store.

"Practically all of them were in and out of here, but I didn't know who they were," said Mrs. E. G. Jamerson, the owner of the store.

"The girl I thought was Patty" but she just smiled and said, "A lot of folks think that." "They all were very warm and friendly, even the man who asked me for plum wine," she said. "I said, 'Plum wine? I never heard of such a thing.' So he just walked away."

Neighbors, who had been bothered by loud noises from the apartment, said the young occupants departed at the end of April, carrying boxes and clothing on hangers to a station wagon.

In the cockroach-infested apartment, the SLA's seven-headed cobra was emblazoned on the walls along with a revolutionary slogan signed "Tan-ia," Miss Hearst's adopted SLA name.

Documents and a key to the bank robbery getaway car soaked in acid in the bathtub, while piles of clothing, wigs, dresses, women's underwear, gallon wine bottles and a bicycle were strewn about.

Again, the FBI was one step behind.

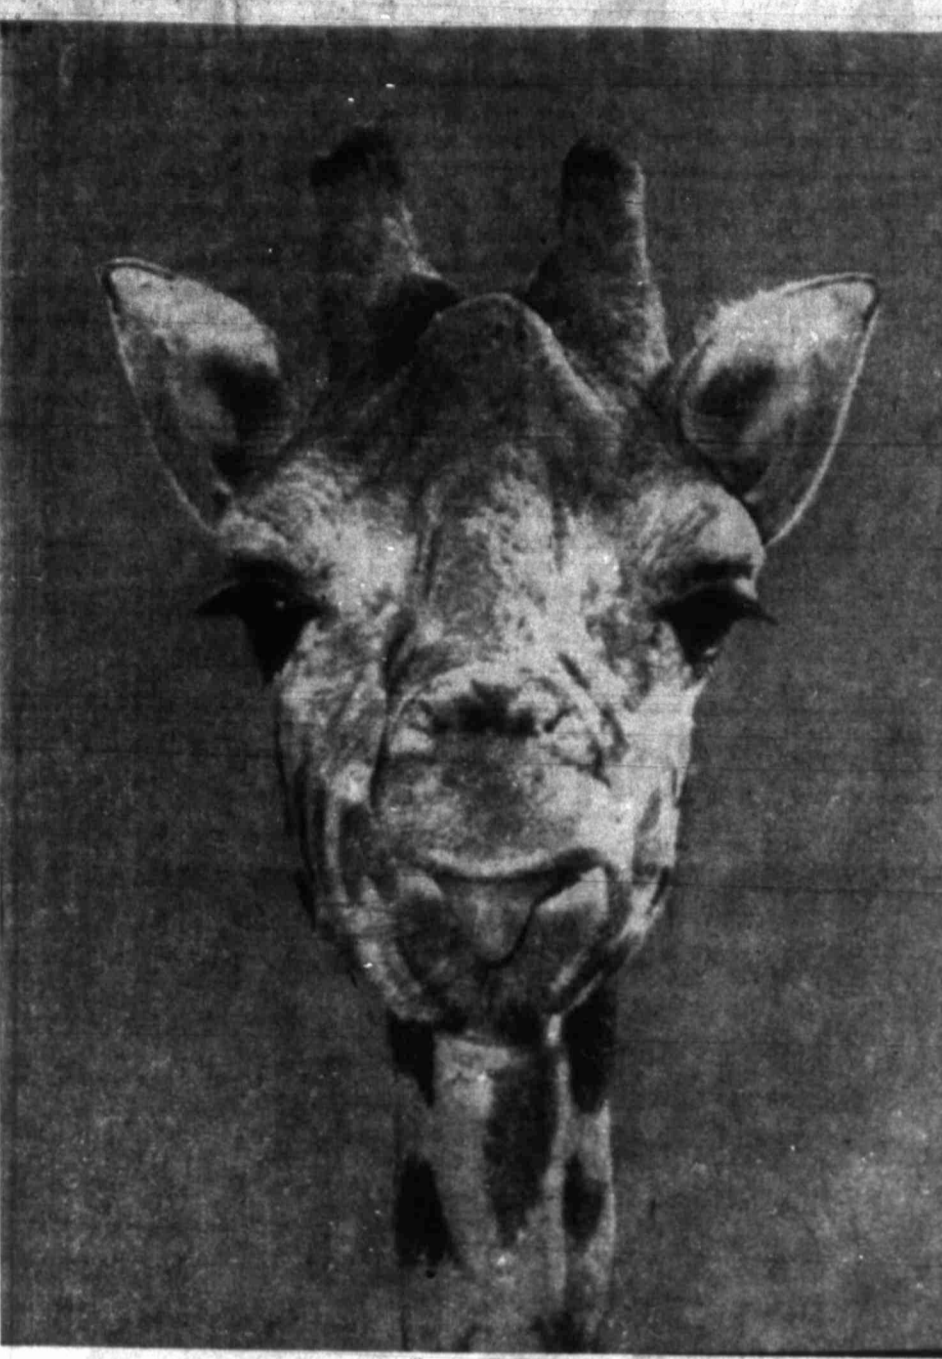

Two days later, in the largely black Bayview District, authorities say the SLA next took shelter in a faded brown stucco building near industrial yards. It was just one block from one of the distribution sites for a $2 million food program set up to help secure Miss Hearst's release.

On May 1, a black woman using the name "M. Jackson" paid $375 cash to rent the place. Neighbors said, however, that three black men in Army jackets also were seen entering.

When FBI agents kicked in the door on Monday, they found five dirty mattresses, plum wine bottles, clothing, wigs and beauty aids.

Old newspapers indicated at least some persons had stayed until last Friday, the day six members died in a fiery Los Angeles gun battle.

Nuclear Blast Sets Off Repercussions India May Find Difficult To Control

By MYRON L. BELKIND (An AP News Analysis) NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The blast boosted her prestige at home, but it altered the position has set off a chain of international repercussions that angered key Western aid donors. It posed an immediate danger to détente between India and Pakistan that had only recently begun after the strains imposed by their 1971 war.

After learning of the blast, Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan vowed never to succumb to Indian "nuclear blackmail or hegemony" and indicated he would go slow in normalizing relations.

The chairman of Pakistan's Atomic Energy Commission, Dr. Munir Ahmad Khan, hinted Tuesday that his country might have to push for its own nuclear capability in light of the Indian test.

India told Pakistan, as it told other critics abroad, that the blast was meant only for peaceful purposes.

Most world reaction to the test has been unfavorable, like severe criticism aired Tuesday by delegates to the Geneva disarmament conference. The United States and Canada, two countries on which India relies heavily for aid, said any nuclear blast furthers world nuclear instability.

"There is no difference at all between a nuclear device and a bomb," said one Western diplomat here. "You can take the device exploded Saturday, put it in an airplane, fly it over a city and drop it. That's a bomb."

"What really burns us up is the timing of this test," said another top Western diplomat. "It came just when the Indians were appealing to us to understand their special economic problems."

For two months, India has been pleading with Western aid donors, who meet in Paris early next month, to reschedule debt repayments and pledge more economic assistance.

"There is no question that in the long run governments will probably hold back some aid because they feel that India has diverted money and resources from more important economic priorities," one diplomat observed.

The most crucial assistance in nuclear technology came from Canada, which trained Indian scientists in the 1960s in the techniques of building a nuclear reactor and using it to produce plutonium.

Plutonium used to trigger the explosion is presumed to have come from a Canadian-aided reactor at Trombay, near Bombay.

CARLEN SPECIAL SPEAKER—

C. Of C. Honors Top Lee, MHS Athletes

Texas Tech football coach Jim Carlen was on hand Tuesday at the American Legion Hall to help pay tribute to the top high school athletes from Midland and Midland Lee in the third annual Midland Chamber of Commerce Sports Awards Luncheon before more than 200 people.

Carlen, who led the Red Raiders to an 11-1 record including the big victory over Tennessee in the Gator Bowl, gave a short talk and plugged the June 22 Coaches All-America Game which will be played in Jones Stadium. "We are shooting for a 40,000-plus crowd again and Joe Barnes, who quarterbacked us to a fine season, will play for the West along with teammate Kenneth Wallace," said Carlen.

The successful coach was wearing the gold Kodak Coach of the Year jacket and handed out special certificates to Rebel and Bulldog athletes who came up with top honors during the 1973-74 sports year.

Midland Lee's District 5-4A basketball champions were honored with special certificates handed out to Terry Allen, Brett Blackwell, David Boyce, David Clingman, Sammy Cox, Ronnie Farish, Willard Floyd, Melvin Jackson, Mike Hill, Jeff Jackson, Junior Miller, Gary Parson, Joe Wilbanks and Steve Hankinson. Blackwell and Melvin Jackson were all-district selections.

NL ROUNDUP—

Pirates Topple Montreal, 8-4

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

If Ken Brett were ever traded to the American League, the land of the designated hitter where pitchers don't hit and hitters don't pitch, he might have a problem.

Brett is one of those hitting pitchers who enjoys making life miserable for opposing batters... and opposing pitchers.

He pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-4 victory over the Montreal Expos Tuesday night, and en route, collected a long double in the eighth inning.

Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Mets pounded the Chicago Cubs 10-5; the Philadelphia Phillies trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2; the Houston Astros nipped the San Diego Padres 5-4; the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Cincinnati Reds 3-2; and the Atlanta Braves downed the San Francisco Giants 4-1 before dropping the second game of their two-night doubleheader 5-4.

Brett sports a 444 batting average on eight-for-18 with two homers and five RBI.

Phillies 4, Cardinals 2

Ed Farmer, making only his second National League start after American League stops in Detroit and Cleveland and bus stops in Wichita, Monroe, Waterbury, Reno and Sarasota in the minors, checked the Cardinals on four hits before leaving in the seventh inning.

Astros 5, Padres 4

All bad things come to an end and Houston's losing streak ended at 10.

Milt May unloaded his first home run as an Astro and Tom Griffin gave up six hits before needing eighth-inning relief help, to give Houston a long-awaited taste of victory.

Mets 10, Cubs 5

Pitcher George Stone drove in four runs with a pair of singles while Ted Martinez' two-run triple capped the Mets' biggest outburst of the season, a six-run explosion in the third inning that carried them to the victory over Chicago.

Dodgers 3, Reds 2

Pinch-hitter Joe Ferguson lofted a sacrifice fly with one out in the ninth inning that scored the winning run and gave Los Angeles an eight-game lead over San Francisco and Cincinnati in the NL West.

Braves 4-4, Giants 1-5

San Francisco's Ron Bryant, the majors' winningest pitcher with 24 victories last season, posted his first triumph this year in the second game of a two-night doubleheader with the offensive support of Garry Maddox, who hit a two-run, inside-the-park homer.

In the opener, Norm Miller's pinch-hit home run triggered a four-run rally in the eighth inning of the opener that enabled the Braves to beat the Giants.

Cowboys Sign Two Draftees

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys announced Wednesday they have signed Cal Peterson, their third round draft choice.

Peterson, 6-3, 218 pounds, was a linebacker for UCLA and the Cowboys said they will use him in that position.

The Cowboys announced Tuesday the signing of Gene Killian, a 6-4, 225-pound tackle from Tennessee. He was the Cowboy's 16th round draft choice. Scouts said he would have been chosen earlier had he not suffered a knee injury that caused him to miss most of his senior year.

San Antonio tops Amarillo By 5-4

By The Associated Press

Eleventh-hour scoring made the difference for West Division leaders San Antonio and El Paso in Texas League baseball Tuesday.

East Division teams never stepped on a diamond, meanwhile, as rains postponed the Victoria at Shreveport and Arkansas at Alexandria games.

San Antonio's Brewers collected four runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to defeat West Division cellar dweller Amarillo 5-4.

Will Aaron blasted a two-run triple to tie the score just before David Oliver singled in the winning San Antonio run. Pitcher Larry Anderson claimed the deciding, striking out six batters and walking four in tossing a seven-hitter.

El Paso's Dablos capitalized on a Rocky Jordan hit in the bottom of the eighth inning to score Frankie George and break at 5-5 tie in beating Midland 6-5.

Reliever Louis Quintana retired the last four Midland batters after a Cub threat in the eighth. The victory upped Quintana's record for the year to 3-2.

In tonight's games, Midland is at El Paso, Amarillo at San Antonio, Victoria at Shreveport and Arkansas is at Alexandria.

Indy 500 To Run Despite Suit

By KEVIN FOLEY
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — There will be a 500-mile auto race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Sunday, a top Speedway official says, despite a $1 million lawsuit to keep it from going off on schedule.

"We will have a race Sunday," Chief Steward Tom Binford promised. "The only person who can stop it is God, and we haven't talked to Him."

Suit was filed Tuesday in Marion County Superior Court in Indianapolis by attorneys Wright Hugas Jr., and Don A.

Tabbert on behalf of seven angry car owners.

The suit also seeks a temporary restraining order halting further activity at the track until the case is heard.

Judge Frank Symmes set a hearing for early today.

The action stems from last Saturday's rain-shortened time trials that left 11 cars at the line when the track closed for racing. That deadline, speedway officials say, was set down in the Speedway entry blank signed by each of the 61 entrants who actually brought cars to the track.

The car owners who did not get an attempt to qualify contended the deadline should have been extended to give all of the 50 cars that had been certified an opportunity to make the 33-car field.

The pleas were denied. And Speedway officials turned down further requests for a reopening of qualifications.

Speedway officials hope the court hearings won't delay Thursday's carburetion tests. Binford, who succeeded controversial Harlan Flegler this year, said, "Of course we will do whatever the judge says we should do."

Plaintiffs are Roy Woods Racing, Carl Gehlhausen, Larry McCoy Sr., K&L Racing, Webster Racing, Rasmussen Racing Products Inc. and Grant King Racing.

King said later he had not given permission to use his drivers were wronged.

name in connection with the suit. King, whose No. 1 driver, Tom Sneva, already holds a third-row starting spot, said, "I don't need to go to court to tell the Speedway people what I have already told them in person. They didn't treat these people right."

Sneva and driver Jim Hurtubise, who also qualified, and Parnelli Jones, 1963 Indy 500 winner and owner of the cars of starters Mario Andretti, Al Unser and rookie Jan Opperman, were among those who said the drivers were wronged.

AMERICAN LEAGUE BASEBALL ROUNDUP— Red Sox Hammer Yankees

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Manager Darrell Johnson of the Boston Red Sox flashed a big grin. That's what happens when your team is hitting.

Manager Bobby Winkles of the California Angels threw a pair of shoes against the wall. That's what happens when your team isn't hitting.

Johnson's Red Sox have a four-game winning streak during which they've pounded out 41 runs on 61 hits and moved into second place in the American League's East Division, one game behind the Milwaukee Brewers. Eighteen of the hits came in Tuesday night's 14-6 romp over the New York Yankees.

Winkles' Angels managed seven hits in a 4-2 loss to the Kansas City Royals. It was their 11th defeat in the last 14 games, during which they've scored as many as four runs only three times. The Angels are last in the AL West, four games behind the Oakland A's.

Elsewhere in the American League, Milwaukee edged the Detroit Tigers 6-5, Oakland shelled the Minnesota Twins 8-1 and the Baltimore Orioles trounced the Cleveland Indians 7-1. The Texas Rangers and Chicago White Sox were rained out.

Brewers 6, Tigers 5

A double steal and Johnny Briggs' triple produced two decisive runs in the seventh inning. Tim Johnson opened the seventh with a single to chase Detroit starter Lerrin LaGrow. Don Money bunted and reliever John Hiller's wild throw put runners on first and second.

A's 8, Twins 1

Home runs by Gene Tenace and Reggie Jackson highlighted a six-run outburst in the seventh inning that broke a tie. Tenace opened the seventh against Joe Decker with his fifth home run of the season.

Ted Kubiak singled, went all the way to third on an error and Sal Bando greeted reliever Tom Burgmeier with a pinch single. Joe Rudi's sacrifice fly made it 4-1 and Jackson followed with his 12th home run, giving him the American League lead.

Orioles 7, Indians 1

Paul Blair hit a grand-slam homer off Steve Kline in a five-run second inning and Mike Cuellar tossed a seven-hitter as the Orioles snapped a three-game losing streak.

Bama Star Will Play In Lubbock

LUBBOCK (AP) — Alabama's premier runningback Wilbur Jackson heads a list of 14 players signing Tuesday to play in the 14th annual Coaches All-America Football game here June 22.

The latest group of signings brings to 33 the number of players who have accepted bids to this summer's contest. Each squad will have 30 players when it assembles for training sessions.

Jackson will play on the East squad, to be coached by Johnny Majors of Pittsburgh, along with Henry Lawrence, offensive lineman, Florida A&M; Pete Wessell, offensive lineman, Northwestern; Willie Burden, runningback, North Carolina State; and Roscoe Word, defensive back, Jackson (Ala.) State.

Latest signees for the West squad are Keith Fahnhorst, tight end, Minnesota; Claude Minor, offensive lineman, San Diego State; Scott Anderson, center, Missouri; Ken Grandberry, runningback, Washington State; Ric Dvorak, defensive lineman, Wichita State; David Smith, linebacker, Oklahoma; Steve Nelson, linebacker, North Dakota State; Clyde Powers, defensive back, Oklahoma; and Danny Colbert, defensive back, Tulsa. Oklahoma's Barry Switzer will be head coach of the West team.

The 6-2, 215-pound Jackson was Alabama's leading rusher for the past two seasons, and in 1973, he led the Southeastern Conference in rushing. He averaged 7.2 yards per carry during his career and totaled 1,529 yards on 212 carries during his three-year stay in Alabama. He scored 17 touchdowns.

The past two years, he was an all-SEC selection. The players are selected by the American Football Coaches Association, which, with the Lions Club of District and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce sponsored the contest. AFCA officials hope to complete the team rosters within the next few days.

Astros End Losing Streak Milt May's Homer Does It, 5-4

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros catcher Milt May says maybe the Astros now can get back to "playing like we're capable of playing."

May contributed a two-run home run Tuesday night to help the Astros to a 5-4 victory over the San Diego Padres which snapped a Houston 10-game losing streak.

May's homer off rookie Dan Spillner capped a four-run first inning for the Astros. A run scoring single by Bob Watson and Lee May's RBI grounder accounted for the other run in the first inning.

Tom Griffin pitched a six-hitter before needing help in the eighth. He now has posted six straight victories and has not lost since the season-opening series at San Francisco when the Giants nipped him 3-2. He has recorded the last two victories for the Astros.

"It's nice for a change," said Griffin. "I've lived with myself in the bad times. Certainly, I can accept the good things that are happening to me now."

Milt May's home run was his first of the season. "The first one is the toughest to get," he said. "I always struggle to get the first home although I'm not a home runner. I struggle to get my first hit. Then I struggle to get my first homer. I'm glad our losing streak is over. Maybe now we can get back to playing like we're capable of playing."

The Astros added a fifth run in the second when Griffin doubled and Roger Metzger singled him home.

Nate Colbert hit a two-run home run for the Padres in the first inning and they added two in the eighth on consecutive doubles by Bobby Toian, Dan Winfield and Colbert.

Griffin allowed just one hit from the second through the seventh. After the three doubles in the eighth, Fred Scherman relieved Griffin and notched his second save.

The Astros' 10-game losing streak tied a record accomplished by the team twice in 1965 and once in 1967.

Wildcat Star To Bypass Senior Year

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Clint Longley, the 6-foot-1, 190-pound quarterback who led the Abilene Christian College Wildcats to the NAIA football title last year, announced Tuesday he will give up his last year of eligibility and seek a professional contract.

Longley's decision to quit college football was announced by head Coach Wally Bullington who said Longley, a junior last season, was already very close to graduation.

Bullington said Longley did not mention which teams he had contacted.

The Wildcat quarterback collected a host of records last year in leading ACC to an 11-1 record and the national NAIA championship. He completed 195 out of 360 passes for 3,167 yards and three 28 touchdown passes. His total offense came to 3,418 yards.

He was first-team NAIA All-American and second team Associated Press All-American. He was also NAIA all-district and all-Lone Star Conference and was named national back of the week once and Lone Star offensive player of the week three times.

Cole Park Zoo Popular Weekend 'Babysitting' Spot

By BRUCE CAMPBELL
Cole Park Zoo supervisor Robert Cooper said behavior problems are minimal at the zoo but admits the place where one can talk with the animals "is doing an awful lot of babysitting," particularly on weekends. Cooper said many families go on picnics in the park but then send their children without adult supervision to the zoo. "That does get hectic," said Cooper on the zoo's unofficial babysitting service. "Some children can get overexcited and sometimes this gets the animals excited. But on the whole, people have been pretty well managed so far." Despite the large influx of small fry, the zoo has not had the problem of lost children. "They generally come in groups of 10-15," said Cooper, the former curator of the El Paso Zoo. "They seem to take care of each other. If El Paso we ran across one or two lost children every weekend but we don't here." With the zoo going to summer opening hours from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily with the exception of Mondays on June 1, Cooper requests that visitors obey the zoo rules that are posted at the main gate. Particularly important to Cooper are the regulations concerning no bicycles, petting or feeding animals, and no pets. Cooper said the anti-bicycle regulation is a safety factor because of the large number of children attending the zoo. "We have a lot of little kids and small children who dart out in any direction. We're afraid if the big kids were riding their bikes somebody might get hurt," he said. He added the zoo hasn't had any problem in enforcing the rule. "I haven't seen any bikes," Cooper said. The feeding of animals, a problem that confronts all zoos, is prevalent in Midland as well. Cooper said he understands that people like to feed the animals, but he would like to see visitors obey the rule for financial dietary and safety reasons. He estimates the zoo spends up to $7,000 to feed the animals and when people throw things like popcorn and peanuts he said it tends to spoil their appetites. Because of a small security force, "We don't have enough people to watch everybody," said Cooper. The zoo supervisor worries that an animal might digest more than some harmless peanuts. "Little kids and adults will feed an elephant anything and that might include apples with razor blades or poisonous leaves," he said. "In El Paso we had a monkey that was given some drugs and almost died as a result. The zoo has too many valuable animals. We have to be careful," he added. Another problem with unauthorized feeding is the problem of jealousy among the animals about who gets what goodies. "Animals are like small kids," Cooper said. "You give one something and the others want the same thing. Fights can result from this." Cooper said he doesn't know of anyone who's been hurt from trying to pet an animal but he warns that the zoo animals can't be treated like cats or dogs. "An animal like the coyote is usually friendly but at times they're liable to bite. They're wild and not nice ole pets." Cooper said pets are not allowed in the zoo for health reasons. "Domesticated animals build up many immunities animals here don't have," Cooper explained about the no-pet rule. "A dog could have built up an immunity to a virus or a bacteria that doesn't bother him but could kill a full grown tiger in a couple of days or even a couple of hours." He said visitors occasionally do bring pets to the zoo but he and his staff have not had any problems when they've asked visitors to leave their pets outside.

Unwelcome Visitors Buzzily Swarm Over Service Station

Business is good at Halley Brown's Texaco Service Station at 3700 Wall St. in Midland. Customers are coming in swarms — swarms of bees that Monday. Brown discovered a swarm of bees had decided to congregate on a fence behind his station. That surprised him, but it wasn't as big a shock to him as what happened later in the day. Brown thought he was stuck with the bees, but he decided to call a radio station to see if he could get rid of his visitors. Before he did this, however, he took a picture of them —

Aw Shucks—Tv Hero's Just Plain Folks

By JERRY BUCK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "The $6 Million Man" isn't to be taken seriously — except as a television phenomenon. In the hit midseason show on ABC, Lee Majors plays a test pilot and astronaut whose artificial, atomic-powered limbs give him superhuman power — he was "rebuilt" after a plane crash in a blend of aerospace biology and cybernetics.

Despite the Superman element of the half-man, half-robot hero, Majors and executive producer Harvey Bennett say it is just "a good old-fashioned action-adventure show." In other words, brain is sacrificed for brawn.

They try to give the hero, Steve Austin, a khaki-clad, "aw shucks," dirt-kicking air. Bennett took that path when asked to develop the once-a-month 90-minute show into a weekly series.

He wanted it away from the James Bond-Watergate plumber overtones of the longer show in which Steve Austin was a super-sleuth taking orders from a power-mad boss at the President's right hand.

"I said the only way I'd do it was to make him credible within the incredibility of having bionic limbs," said Bennett, one-time coproducer of "The Mod Squad."

"I had a clear-cut image of Lee Majors in the year of Watergate as a bonafide American hero. He's the man in the white hat. It was a case of the actor and the role coming together, providing I thought of him as the traditional outdoors Western hero.

The show is also science fiction's answer to Superman. And because it is aimed at the same audience — children — it has created a few of the same headaches.

Just as a generation ago youngsters leaped off rooftops to imitate Superman, some kids today try to make themselves like the $6 million man. Mostly the things they do are harmless, like running in slow motion to emulate the show's camera tricks.

But in Philadelphia, a worried mother wrote the inquirer's Action Line for help. Her 7-year-old son swallowed pennies to "get iron" in his body and dragged his foot to try to stop an automobile. The newspaper contacted Universal Studios. Majors wrote a letter to the boy explaining it was all make-believe.

When "The $6 Million Man" was a once-a-month show, Majors bicycled back and forth between it and his costarring role in "Owen Marshall." Majors, 33, previously in "Big Valley" and "The Men from Shiloh," was itching for a starring role in a series. He had learned the "co" in costarring means you stay in the background.

In January, when the show became a series, he bowed out of "Owen Marshall."

Majors said he likes the new format because it gives him less to say and more to do. "I want to stay away from anything deep," he said. "If it gets too talky you're going to lose the kids." Says Bennett: "Lee's bright but shy. He's not inclined to say three words when one will do. He smiles instead of chuckles. He's a physical man. So as Steve Austin he's capable of many things besides super spying."

Adds Majors: "The main thing is that there's more action. We use the bionic limbs as much as possible, but still keeps the human element. I've heard a lot of comment that it's like 'Batman,' but you really believe the guy. He still has feelings."

Bennett said he worries that the show is gimmicky, like "Batman." Gimmick shows have a history of going up like a rocket and coming down like a bomb.

"How do we keep from burning out?" he asked himself. "I don't know, to tell the truth. The only thing I know is we have to keep surprising the audience."

Achieving all that action, and giving it a look of superhuman power, isn't easy. Some of the camera tricks tried came out looking like a Charlie Chaplin move.

Once they put Majors on a treadmill on the back of a truck and drove at 60 miles an hour to make it appear he was running that fast. Instead it looked preposterous.

Another problem is coming up with legitimate situations for the show. "We spend more time in story conferences trying to get him into trouble than anything else," he said. "To put him into impossible jeopardy."

Bennett shook his head and added, "Grown men, sitting around discussing this."

Mart Ekes Out Thin Advance With Bargain Hunters' Help

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market eked out a thin advance today with the help of some scattered bargain hunting and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills' call for liberalized capital-gains taxes.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.64 at 811.17, and gainers slightly outnumbered losers on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading remained relatively light.

Mills, an Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, indicated to committee members Tuesday he would push for lower capital-gains taxes to stimulate conditions under which "every American can get back into the stock market."

United Gas Pipeline was the most-active stock on the Big Board, down 1/4 at 5 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .04 at 80.72.

Other Big Board issues on the active list included Motorola, up a point at 59 1/2. The Justice Department indicated it probably would give the go-ahead to Motorola's plan to sell its television set business to Japan's Matsushita Electric.

CI Mortgage Group was down 1/2 at 6 1/4, after the real estate investment trust reported lower earnings per share for the quarter ended April 30.

Cordura Corp., a diversified business services concern, was up 1/4 at 3 1/4. The company offered to buy 500,000 of its own shares at $3.50 apiece.

The Amex volume leader was Research-Cottrell, down 1/4 at 6 1/4.

The NYSE's noon index of some 1,500 common stocks showed a .07 gain at 46.44.

Fourth First Annual Armadillo Confab In Victoria

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

The annual insanity has enveloped Victoria again and the only individuals retaining any clear view of what is going on or went on—depending on when you read this—are meek little beasts that never hurt anything larger than a bug.

What do you think, for instance, of an affair called the fourth first annual?

This is the fourth first annual International Armadillo Confab and Exposition May 24-26.

If you are not particularly fond of armadillos there is plenty of reason to celebrate the dates anyway, particularly May 26.

For, do you know, like Fred Armstrong knows, that May 26 is the 106th anniversary of the acquittal of President Andy Johnson?

Johnson's Acquittal Date
His second acquittal, that is. Apparently the Senate felt compelled to clear him twice at his impeachment trial.

One of the big features of the Armadillo Exposition is the selection of Miss Vacant Lot of the World, says Armstrong, who is acting as spokesman.

This was won last year by a 19-year-old with the unusual name of Modine Gunch.

The prize was a weekend at Jesse's Bull Ranch at Pearl City. Unfortunately that was not much of a vacation, since that is where she resides.

Armstrong, in seeking to lure visitors, says Modine stood on her head, "twirling a hoola hoop on her right leg, occasionally kicking it in the air and passing it to the left, and vice versa."

Under severe interrogation, Armstrong finally admitted that maybe she didn't really do the hoola hoop act, but she "wore real snippy clothes."

Modine Disappeared
Armstrong said Modine disappeared back on the ranch and he hasn't seen her since but had hope she would appear at this year's affair.

Pearl City, you ask?
If you were a beer drinker shortly after Prohibition died a painful death, you'd know.

Seems Seadrift was dry. So the Pearl Brewing Co. of San Antonio shipped a huge amount of beer to a nearby wet precinct and it got the name of Pearl City. It does not appear on maps any more. Probably washed away in a sea of beer foam.

The biggie, however, is what Armstrong calls the World Champion Armadillo Races where people watch the little animals "race at death defying speeds."

It is a people-armadillo team.

Bring Own Beast
Each people contestant brings his own beast. They are put in an enclosed space with a raceway of about 60 feet.

The race course is 60 feet, but armadillos actually run a lot farther. Armstrong says it's more zigzag route.

The people—guess you would call them coaches—run behind their start and shout "Shoo! Shoo!"

But they're not allowed to touch the armadillo although there is no rule against a contestant turning around and butting his coach which sometimes happens.

Armadillos don't shoo very well, Armstrong says.

There were 87 contestants last year which made a pretty good free-for-all. A hundred or more were expected this year.

'Best' Name Draws
A contest has been added. It is called "Best All-around Person in the World."

You drop a name in a box along with a 10-cent entry fee. How is the winner judged?
Just draw a name.

"That's just as well as the Nobel and Pulitzer Prizes are picked," said Armstrong.

Armstrong says the armadillo committee once thought of giving the proceeds of "Best All-around, etc." to a society Armstrong says exists in Houston. This organization wants to put clothes on all animals to cover

All Kid Rodeo, Horse Show Set

RANKIN — The 25th Upton County 4-H All Kid Rodeo and Horse Show will be held May 31 and June 1 at the Dub Day Arena.

A parade is scheduled at 6 p.m. Friday May 31 and rodeo events will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. The horse show begins at 9 a.m. Saturday, June 1.

Roger Moore of Midland will judge the horse show, and Tom Owens and Alfred Helmers will judge the rodeo.

Advertise Or Be Forgotten!

up their indecent nakedness, he says.

"We decided to keep the money, though," Armstrong recounted.

The exposition makes a considerable amount for civic enterprises. Last year the net profit was $30,000. Members of 43 organizations do the work free. Beer sells for two bits for a 12-ounce cup. Even at that, the sponsors profit $21 a keg.

Armadillos are nice little animals of 10 to 15 pounds covered with armor. They range from Argentina to Oklahoma. They have very strong, short legs for digging for insects but cannot bite very well since they have a small lower jaw.

They don't cause anyone harm, although they might dig up a flower garden hunting for bugs. Sometimes horses step in their burrows.

Some people have seen the funny sight of a coyote or dog trying to bite an armadillo which has curled up for protection. There is no way it can be done. Very frustrating.

The encyclopedia says curling is not the beast's favorite protective maneuver. If it has a few seconds, it can dig a foxhole faster than a soldier under artillery fire.

Banned from the races are

Argentine armadillos and those of 50,000,000 years of age or so.

Armstrong says Argentine armadillos grow to 500 pounds. That may be just another Victoria tall tale, but Armstrong relates it with a straight face.

He even knows about the giant armadillos of millions of years ago. They were called glyptodonts, he says.

Armstrong, who has seen their fossils in museums, says they were about four feet tall, three feet across and 12 feet long.

They may have weighed 2,500 pounds, Armstrong says, which would crowd the race enclosure considerably.

One contest was dropped.

A year ago, there was a First Tango in Victoria competition.

But no one entered, so it became the Last Tango in Victoria. The local censor board was about to give it the "Last Tango in Paris" treatment until it found out there wasn't anyone to arrest.
