Harper Pool Oil Horizon Re-Opened

Fuselman production has been re-opened in the Harper field of Ector County with recompletion of Union Texas Petroleum Corp. No. 4 Moss, former deep oil producer, five miles northeast of Penwell.

It failed to flow 80 barrels of 46.9-gravity oil daily, plus 70 barrels of water, through a 48-64-inch choke and perforations at 11,021-11,026 feet, which had been acidized with 4,000 gallons, Gas-oil ratio measured 2,900-1.

Drilled to 12,261 feet, it has 7-inch casing set at 12,250 feet, and is plugged back to 11,930 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 34, block 44, T-2-S, T&P survey.

Andrews Re-Entry To Try Glorieta

Texaco Inc. has filed application to re-enter and plug back to 5,372 feet at No. 2-1 State of Texas, for recompletion attempt as a second producer and 2 1/4-mile southwest extension to the Clabberhill (Glorieta) field of Andrews County.

A former oil producer, it was drilled to 9,237 feet.

Project site is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 41, block 9, ULS, 15 miles south of Andrews.

Stonewall Draws Cisco Oil Strike

Texland-Rector & Schumacher of Fort Worth completed No. 1 Leon Anderson as a Cisco sand discovery in Stonewall County, five miles southwest of Aspermont.

It had a daily flowing potential of 172 barrels of 43-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 800-1, through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 4,572-4,634 feet. The section had been acidized with 1,700 gallons and fractured with 15,000 gallons and 18,500 pounds.

Fields In Eddy Gain Third Well

The third well has been completed in each of three Eddy County, N.M., fields.

Penroc Oil Corp. has announced a preliminary calculated, absolute open flow of 1.775 million cubic feet of gas daily, for No. 2-A Dero-Federal Communized, third Wolfcamp gas producer and location southeast extension to that pay in the Winchester field.

Flow was gauged through perforations at 9,131-9,263 feet.

Kissinger Trying To Close Gaps

Judge Orders Release Of Former Rep. Knapp

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A federal judge has ordered former state Rep. Walter Knapp released on a writ of habeas corpus and full release from custody if a new trial is not started within 90 days.

Knapp was convicted of stealing $1,200 in state stamps by applying them to his own use in buying a used pickup truck. U.S. District Court Judge Hal Woodward issued the order Wednesday.

The order was issued after a hearing before Magistrate Bill H. Brister in Lubbock.

One of the defense points was that the stamps were received in Amarillo, the legislator's home city before he received the stamps.

Said the magistrate in his report: "Had the state presented evidence of theft on any date after the $1,200 in stamps had been received by Knapp, the proof in this case would have sufficed for conviction. This evidence is totally lacking and there is no evidence to support a crucial element of the offense charged."

Potter County officers were in touch with prison officials in Huntsville regarding Knapp's release on the writ of habeas corpus.

Knapp had exhausted all his state court appeals.

Therefore the federal petition was on constitutional grounds that Knapp was denied due process of law.

Knapp is serving a four-year sentence in the state prison system.

A jury convicted Knapp May 25, 1972.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, highest state judicial body which can hear criminal cases, voted 3-2 to uphold the lower court order. It then heard the appeal again and again split 3-2.

Defense lawyers alleged that extraneous evidence admitted in the lower court trial caused Knapp to be tried not only for the crime charged but also for "being a criminal generally."

The defense also said the stamps were a reimbursement to Knapp for expenses as provided by law.

In the top state appeals court, Judge Truman Roberts vigorously dissented from the majority opinion, calling the decision a precedent for a presumption of guilt in cases where public officials are on trial.

One of the key defense points was that the pickup was purchased May 25, 1970 while the stamps were not mailed to Knapp until that same day. They arrived in two separate packages, one on May 27 and the other on May 28.

IMPOSING SCULPTURE — Gavin Diephraam, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Diephraam of Midland, seems to be in awe of "Milonautilus," a metal sculpture by Robert Venn of Lubbock. The sculpture is one of the top winners in the annual Southwestern Area Art Show, on exhibit through May 30 at the Museum of the Southwest.

Front May Touch Off Rain Here

A weather front stalled across the north edge of the Texas Panhandle was expected to start shoving cooler air slowly southward today and touch off scattered showers as it progressed.

There already were a few clouds in the Upper Panhandle, around El Paso in far West Texas and here and there over the coastal plains this morning. Skies were mostly clear elsewhere.

The front marks the dividing line between cool dry air and moist Gulf air, National Weather Service observers at Midland Air Terminal said.

Even if the front remains stationary there will be a 20 per cent chance of rain this afternoon, tonight and Friday.

The forecast for Midland calls for partly cloudy skies, warm afternoons and comfortable nights. The high this afternoon and Friday will be in the mid-90s.

10th Visit To Syria Set Today

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today goes to Damascus for the 10th time in his bid to close two wide gaps which remain before he can separate the warring armies of Israel and Syria.

Kissinger said Wednesday his wife, Nancy, would accompany him on his shuttle back to the Syrian capital, where he planned to give a luncheon for Syrian leaders involved in negotiations.

He leaves for Damascus after another morning session of talks with Israeli Premier Golda Meir and her negotiating team.

A senior American official said there remains a "pretty wide" gap between the hostile neighbors on two major issues: Syria's resistance to thinning out its forces defending Damascus, and the size of a United Nations team to man the proposed buffer zone.

Israel is also reported to be reluctant to limit its troops guarding Jewish settlements near the front and population centers in the Jordan River valley.

The United States official said Israel insists on a contingent of thousands of men in the buffer zone on the Golan Heights, where fighting has raged for more than two months. Syria is opposed to any sizable U.N. presence on what it considers its territory.

However, the official added that Kissinger has achieved significant agreement on three major issues: Where the Golan Heights line should be drawn, exchange of prisoners from last October's war and the status of the U.N. group.

Patty Hearst Now Faces Life In Prison

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Patricia Hearst faces the possibility of life in prison as she is hunted as kidnap suspect rather than kidnap victim.

In a further dramatic turnabout since her kidnapping by the Symbionese Liberation Army Feb. 4, Los Angeles County Dist. Atty. Joseph Busch lodged 19 felony charges against her Wednesday.

"She faces life imprisonment," Busch said. "In our opinion, Miss Hearst was acting on her own free will," he said in outlining the charges, which included four counts of robbery, five of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder and two of kidnaping. They were filed against Miss Hearst and William and Emily Harris.

Busch called again on the three to surrender, but expressed doubt that they would and said there would be "no deal." He said he believed it was the first time a kidnap victim had become a kidnap suspect.

Miss Hearst, 29-year-old coed and heiress to a publishing fortune, and the Harrises, a white couple who police say comprise the remnants of the SLA, were charged with 18 counts each. A 19th charge, of aiding and abetting assault, was filed against Miss Hearst, and it raised the possibility that police believe she may not be with the Harrises.

The assault charge accuses Miss Hearst of being with two black men who tried unsuccessfully to slash a Los Angeles landlady last Sunday when she denied the three a room. Some of the other alleged "sightings" of Miss Hearst have placed her with persons other than the Harrises, and an 18-year-old youth says he saw her leave a Los Angeles house last Thursday with two black men. It was that house where six SLA members died in a fiery shootout last Friday.

Meanwhile, in San Francisco, a grand jury prepared to hear testimony today about an SLA bank robbery there and the kid-

Nixon's Rejection Of Subpoena Seen As New Grounds For Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's refusal to comply with a House Judiciary Committee subpoena for 11 Watergate tapes is providing new grounds for impeachment in the view of some members.

"It means the cover-up continues," said Rep. George Danielson, D-Calif., after Nixon notified the committee Wednesday he would not comply with the subpoena or any other it issues for Watergate material.

"It's hurting him with the committee," said Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill., one of a number of Republicans who expressed disappointment at Nixon's action.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., calling Nixon's refusal "a very grave matter," scheduled a committee meeting for next week to deal with it.

There was some talk of citing Nixon for contempt of Congress and of seeking court enforcement of the subpoena, but a majority appeared to favor taking the President's action into account when considering whether he should be impeached.

The committee staff has advised that it is proper to infer that anyone possessing and refusing to provide subpoenaed evidence is withholding material that could be incriminating.

In a letter to Rodino saying he would not produce the tapes, Nixon said the committee's request, and others it is getting ready to make, amount to "a massive invasion into the confidentiality of presidential conversations."

"More fundamentally, continuing ad infinitum the process of yielding up additional conversations in response to an endless series of demands would fatally weaken this office, not only in this administration but for future presidencies as well," Nixon added.

Rodino rejected Nixon's argument, saying the committee's requests were narrowly drawn and related specifically to the impeachment inquiry.

"There is no way the presidency will be weakened by the constitutional process we are conducting. The republic will be strengthened."

Rodino said the committee will issue more subpoenas if it decides the White House is withholding evidence it needs. The next one likely will deal with the dairy funds and ITT controversies.

North Ireland Protestant Radicals Continue Strike

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Protestant extremists continued a paralyzing general strike today, rejecting an apparently major government concession as "a confidence trick."

The provincial executive — the British province's government headed by Brian Faulkner — announced Wednesday it would postpone for at least three years handing over any legislative powers to an all-Irish council.

The strikers fear a strong council would drive Ulster into union with the predominantly Roman Catholic Irish Republic. Faulkner announced a delay in other provisions of the agreement that set up the council.

Britain sent another 500 troops into the embattled province, bringing the strength of its garrison there to 16,500 men.

Four Explosions Heard
Four explosions resounded through Protestant areas during the night, and industry and commerce in Belfast continued at a virtual standstill as the strike went into its ninth day. New barricades went up in Protestant areas to replace those torn down by British soldiers.

An explosion wrecked a section of the Belfast-Bangor railroad, apparently the work of Protestant extremists determined to block all transportation except for emergency services.

Authorities warned that all electricity may be cut off in another four days. Supplies are already less than a third of usual, and many areas suffer power cuts of 15 hours a day.

Most gasoline stations were closed. Troughs with cudgels stood guard at others to decide whether or not drivers were "essential users."

A hushed provincial assembly heard Faulkner announce

Wednesday that immediate plans for the Council of Ireland were being scaled down to a purely advisory function in view of "continuing violence." The rest of the package, he said, would wait at least until after the Northern Irish elections due by 1978. A major demand of the Protestant extremists has been for a referendum on the council and the Sunningdale agreement, which established it.

VA HELP INCREASED— Veteran Decides To Try Leg Brace

JUPITER, Fla. (AP) — An unemployed veteran who wanted his injured leg amputated so he could support his family says he will try a leg brace now that his monthly disability payment has been raised from $77 to $548.

"They told me not to worry. They said they'd take care of me," Donald G. Dagenhart, 23, a Vietnam veteran, said Wednesday after a meeting with VA officials in Miami. He also had a job offer.

Dagenhart's case drew national attention after the former sailor said VA doctors refused to amputate his left leg, injured in a Navy football game in 1971.

He said seven knee operations did not end the pain and infections had made it impossible for him to hold a job. He said a disability rating of 30 per cent provided just $77 a month.

He said he had wanted the leg removed "because then I'd get 100 per cent disability, and at least my family wouldn't suffer." Dagenhart said he and his wife, Ann, faced eviction from their apartment and had even sold their infant son's crib for $10.

Dr. Phillip Kinman of the Miami VA hospital said a hip-to-ankle brace would be ready for Dagenhart in about two weeks.

"We just don't believe the amputation he wants is the answer," Kinman said.

Pat Hogan, a spokesman for the VA in Atlanta, Ga., said the 100 per cent temporary disability rating Dagenhart was granted after his release from the Navy would be reinstated.

The original agreement had envisaged a council with legislative powers, a ministerial executive, a permanent headquarters and a secretariat which in effect would have been an all-Ireland civil service.

The Rev. Ian Paisley, political voice of hard-line Protestants, said the strike would go on until negotiations are opened with Britain on the Council, new elections and sharing power with Catholics in Belfast.

PENDING VENUE CHANGE HEARING— One Of Currie Murder Defendants Now Held In Midland County Jail

Tommy Tisdale, one of five defendants in the 1970 robbery and murder of Glasscock County rancher Steve Currie, has been released from federal prison in a separate case and currently is in Midland County Jail.

Glasscock County Sheriff Royce "Booger" Pruitt picked up Tisdale when he was released last Friday and brought him to Midland to be held.

A change of venue hearing is expected to be held for Tisdale in connection with the robbery charge at Garden City next week. The date has not been set.

He already has been granted a change of venue motion in connection with the murder with malice complaint. That case is on the docket at San Angelo but no trial date has been set.

Justin Kever of San Antonio is Tisdale's court-appointed attorney for the murder case and an attorney to represent him in the robbery case is expected to be appointed in next week's hearing.

Tisdale is the only defendant still to be tried in the murder part of the case and none has been tried for the robbery counts against them.

Other persons who were involved in the robbery-murder are Wilmer Jean Ballard, whose death penalty given by an Alpine jury was commuted to life in prison after the death penalty was repealed; Orville "Pete" Davis, who was sentenced to life in prison by a Midland jury; Floyd Palmer, who was killed when he fell while trying to escape from a jail before being arrested in this case; and Mrs. Judy Dunham, who was given immunity from prosecution in exchange for her testimony in the trials of her co-defendants.

The Ballard and Davis convictions were appealed and oral arguments before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals are expected in the Ballard appeal within the next two weeks.

Ballard petitioned the 118th District Court for a speedy trial in the robbery case against him and a hearing on change of venue ended with that case being moved to Lamesa for trial. No trial date has been set.

The five were indicted in connection with the Dec. 2, 1970, slaying of Currie, a wealthy rancher.

Testimony in the Ballard and Davis trials showed that the defendants went to the ranch-house to rob the Curries, but plans went awry and Currie was killed with a blast from a shotgun.

Blast Rips Home Of Rivera's Widow

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A powerful explosion destroyed the ground floor of a house owned by the widow of leftist Mexican muralist Diego Rivera early today, police said.

Fast-Working Art Thieves Tap Dallas Man For $300,000

DALLAS (AP) — Belgian-born owner Raymond Verveccken figured Wednesday that it took thieves no more than 15 minutes to haul away sculpture and paintings worth $300,000 from his Gallery d'Arts.

City detectives said there were no signs of forced entry and this supported Verveccken's belief that the burglars were hiding in a display room when he closed the place Monday evening.

"They knew exactly what they wanted," said the owner. He had moved the gallery to a new location 10 days earlier and was waiting for a burglar alarm to be installed.

Verveccken said a bronze statuette by Italian sculptor Alberto Giacometti probably was the costliest item he lost, explaining that the artist did only six like it and the last to be auctioned brought $150,000 in London about two years ago.

Nader Blasts Power Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. energy companies are actively blocking developments on new forms of energy that threaten to cut into their profits, Ralph Nader says.

"The energy industry is more interested in an energy source it controls," Nader said. "Thus, it has marked disinterest in solar energy." Development of

Rockefeller Says Transcripts Raise Morality Doubts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller says the White House tape transcripts raise "very serious" questions about President Nixon's morality.

"They are disturbing to all of us," the former New York governor said of the transcripts. "And frankly, I have to say, we cannot—as individuals, or as a nation—condone what's reflected in those tapes. And I speak about the moral tone."

Rockefeller told a Republican legislative dinner he found the transcripts "a source of tremendous dismay and deep sorrow."

He called for the impeachment process to continue, saying it would be "a great avoidance of the Constitution to force the President out of office by resignation."

Manslaughter Jury Has Nine Women

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — A predominantly female jury has been sworn in for the trial of a Barstow couple charged with manslaughter. They allegedly threw their diabetic son's insulin away and declared him cured by a faith healer.

The selection of nine women and three men came Wednesday after three weeks of questioning of prospective jurors.

Lawrence Parker, 34, and his wife Alice, 29, are charged with the death last summer of their son Wesley, 11.

napping of Miss Hearst. Witnesses were said to include Tom Dean Matthews; Patty's mother, Catherine; and Steven Weed, the 27-year-old tutor she fell in love with in high school and was to marry this summer.

Matthews, 18, reportedly told FBI agents that Miss Hearst said she fired 30 rifle shots during a getaway from a sporting goods store last week. He said she and the Harrises kidnaped him, and said Miss Hearst told him she had willingly taken part in the bank robbery and had joined the SLA of her own free will.

The search for the three fugitives continued to center on Los Angeles, but FBI agents declined to be specific about leads.

Appeals mounted for them to surrender.

In the charges filed Wednesday, the FBI alleges it was Miss Hearst who sprayed automatic rifle fire into a Los Angeles sporting goods store last Thursday as the Harrises made a getaway from an abortive shoplifting attempt.

Bail on the district attorney's charges was set at $50,000 for each of the three. Bail is 10 times greater — $500,000 — on federal firearms charges filed against the three because of the sporting goods store episode.

In another development, Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley said the city would pay an estimated $50,000 in damage to houses near the scene of the shootout where the six SLA members died last Friday night.

The families of those six — four young white women, a white man and SLA leader Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze — continued their mourning Wednesday with indications that at least one parent was considering taking action against the authorities who killed them.

Dr. L. S. "Pete" Wolfe, father of William Wolfe, 23, said in an interview with the Allentown (Pa.) Call-Chronicle that he may sue the FBI for $100 million "for the John Wayne approach to law enforcement" that led to the death of his son.

Dr. Wolfe, who lives in Emmaus, Pa., said: "I want other parents to know that I don't believe police should kill everybody in five minutes so they can go home to supper. Nobody in authority ever came to me and said that he was a member of the SLA. He was slaughtered, yet on the bench they had no warrants for his arrest."

In Cleveland, about 1,000 persons paid their respects to DeFreeze, the SLA's self-styled General Field Marshal Clinque.

Delano DeFreeze, Donald's brother, said he was not sure the body was his brother's because the fingers and teeth were missing. But a spokesman for the Los Angeles County coroner's office said they had been kept as evidence and will be released to the family when the case is closed. The spokesman said the office has no doubt about its identification of the body.

Wednesday's high was 95 degrees and the low this morning was 68.

Wednesday afternoon's top marks went as high as 99 degrees at Del Rio on the Mexican border, the hottest spot in the nation for the day. Readings near dawn today ranged from 75 at Del Rio and Wink down to 54 at Dalhart in the Panhandle. The Associated Press reported.

Mediation Aide Sees Labor Peace

HOUSTON (AP) — William P. Hobgood, special assistant to the director of the Federal Mediation Service, says more than 10 per cent of the nation's work force will be involved in collective bargaining this year.

Hobgood said he sees 1974 as a year of stress but one of peace.

"We came out of 1973 with the lowest ratio of time lost due to strikes in the last decade," Hobgood said Wednesday in an address to an industrial and labor conference sponsored by the National Petroleum Refiners Association.

The federal official said top concerns of union negotiators this year will be job security and compensation for energy layoffs. Hobgood said there is evidence the energy crunch has prompted mutual cooperation and understanding between union and management negotiators.

Farah Says Profits Dip

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Farah Manufacturing Co. of El Paso announced today profits for the quarter ending April 30 were below those of the same quarter last year but said it expects a new sales surge now that a national boycott against Farah has been called off.

The company, which makes men's and boys' apparel, was the target of a nationwide boycott that resulted from a strike by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union of America and several religious and private groups.

The boycott's effects forced the company to shut down four plants in San Antonio and Victoria, Tex., and in Las Cruces, N.M.

The strike was settled early this year. Farah promised to rehire most of the almost 2,000 employees who had walked off their jobs in May 1972.

Jury Deliberates Foreman Verdict

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury was to decide today if famed Houston attorney Percy Foreman was intoxicated at the time of an automobile accident on a city freeway last New Year's Eve.

Both sides rested their cases Wednesday after a daylong session in which six judges testified as character witnesses for Foreman. The judges testified concerning Foreman's good reputation for truthfulness in the community.

Foreman testified during the trial, which started last Thursday, that he was not drunk at the time of the accident but was suffering with a diabetic condition.

LCRA City Mayors Okay Rate Boost

AUSTIN (AP) — Mayors of cities in the Lower Colorado River Authority agreed Wednesday to a 11.2 per cent increase in rates. LCRA general manager Charles Herring said today.

If the rate increase is finally approved by the LCRA board of directors it will become effective June 25 and show up for the first time on July 1 bills, Herring said.

Quadruplegic Gives Birth To Two Healthy Daughters

When doctors at Worthington Regional Hospital began to prepare for the birth of Mrs. Jongetjes' second child last winter, they could find no record of American quadruplegics who had given birth.

In their research, Dr. Edward Seisler and Dr. Kyoung Kim said they received information from the British Royal Society on Medicine covering 19 cases of quadruplegics who had children. Only two bore more than one child.

CYCLIST BADGE—Girl Scout Troop 434 concluded requirements for the Cyclist Badge with a recent bike-hike to Hogan Park. The ride started at Covenant Presbyterian Church. The girls, with their leaders, Mrs. John Alexander and Mrs. Robert Williams, were joined by a group of Scouts from Troop 466, with their leader, Mrs. Dwayne Van Schuyver. The girls combined their knowledge of bike maintenance and safety with outdoor experience by pitching tents and cooking meals at Hogan Park.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Nearly New Shag Won't Shape Up

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—Wow! Do I have a problem? Shortly before our baby was born we installed short-pile, synthetic-blend shag carpeting and since baby came I have not had time to fluff and brush it as I should. I only vacuumed and cleaned up spills when necessary. So now the pile is flat in certain areas, making paths where traffic is. About a month ago we steam cleaned this carpet hoping the pile would shape back up as now I have time to care for it properly. It has fallen back down in the same places so I wonder what can I do to restore the fluffiness to this less than year-old carpet. —ELAINE.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is used car lots that burn dozens of lights in spite of the energy crisis. One out of 10 of these lights they are now burning should be sufficient with the gasoline shortage reducing the number of car sales. —MRS. K. A. C.

DEAR POLLY—My answer to Mrs. L. W. who has trouble with her shower curtain blowing inward when the shower is used is to use magnets. Our interior decorator used a plastic shower curtain as a liner for the cloth one and magnets were included in the construction of the plastic liner. (Polly's note—Many readymade shower curtains come with magnets at the lower corners.) Recently I replaced the liner with a plastic one that had no magnets so I clipped off the magnets, leaving a border of the plastic from the old curtain, and stapled them to the new one. MRS. J. R. B.

DEAR POLLY—and Mrs. L. W.—To keep that shower curtain from blowing up and away from the tub while showering, just clip some clothespins to the edges of the curtain. Heavy buttons the same color as the curtain could also be sewed on but put on the inside so they will not scratch the tub. —MARTHA.

DEAR POLLY—Old piano benches, (those with music storage space under the lids) made wonderful plant-holders. Remove the lid and line the inside with a waterproof material. They are also great for displaying collections of rocks, shells, butterflies, etc. Have a glass cut to fit over the top and you will have a lovely coffee table that shows off your collection.

Hang tablecloths and other flat work on a strong curtain rod attached to the inside of a closet door. This saves on storage space and prevents crushing of the linens. —MRS. R. L. H.

DEAR POLLY—I cut an old tire in half and found one half makes a great sandbox for a small child and the other half holds water to use for sailing small boats. —MICHELLE.

AAUW Presents Awards To Two Senior Girls

Kimberly Floyd, daughter of Mrs. Mary Frances Floyd, and Becky Lambeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Lambeth, have been named recipients of the Frances Sidwell Creative Writing Awards by the American Association of University Women, Midland Branch.

Presented at the recent AAUW branch meeting, the awards commemorate the late Mrs. Sidwell, the high school English teacher who encouraged students to show creativity in writing.

English teachers in Midland and Lee High Schools select the award recipients on the basis of writing ability and creativity.

Miss Floyd is editor of the MHS literary magazine, "Candle in the Wind," and news editor of the school newspaper. She represented the school in the University Inter-scholastic League ready writing contest.

A prospective student at Trinity University, she also is listed in "Who's Who in American High Schools," Junior Rotarian, National Honor Society and three-year winner of Academic Letters.

Among Miss Floyd's activities are tutoring through the Human Relations Council, membership in the First Presbyterian Church and participation in plays presented by the Family Counseling Service.

LHS's recipient, Miss Lambeth, is a teacher's aide at Pease Elementary School through the high school's Teacher's Experience Program. She is vice president of the LHS Future Homemakers of America Chapter, an active member of the First Baptist Church and a part-time employee of Dunlap's Department Store.

She plans to attend Texas Tech University to major in special education.

PROMPTED HIGH INTEREST RATES—

Questions Being Raised About Financial System

NEW YORK (AP) — The spectacularly high interest rates now being paid by corporations, in some instances between 15 and 20 per cent, are raising some serious concerns about the operation of the nation's financial system.

The most obvious of these is whether or not rising interest rates can discourage companies from borrowing before an economic crisis is reached. It has always been assumed they could, but now the doubts are growing.

The prime lending rate for the most financially stable corporations is well over 11 per cent, the highest this century, and there seems to be little suggestion that industry is backing off from its big spending plans.

Meanwhile, fearful of runaway inflation, the Federal Reserve Board continues to adhere to a relatively restrictive monetary policy, raising the possibility of a credit crunch that might deny companies funds to meet obligations.

The role of commercial banks in restraining inflationary borrowing is likely to be subjected to increasing analysis, mainly because so many of them have abandoned fixed rate loans for the less risky flexible rates.

In theory, a tight money policy by the Federal Reserve has the effect of forcing commercial banks to be more choosy in lending funds. And so, in denying loan requests banks do their bit in turning back inflation and high interest rates.

Flexible rates seem to neutralize this impact. When a bank makes a loan it specifies that if interest rates continue to rise so also will the rate for outstanding loans.

The bank then is in a position to buy more money on the open market, knowing that although it must pay a high price it will be able to recover its costs when it reissues the funds.

The impact of tight money on the thrift institutions, mainly mutual savings banks, for instance, lost the huge sum of $650 million from deposits in April because of higher rates elsewhere.

Grover Ensley, executive vice president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, commented that the massive outflows are "bound to have an affect on the nation's already depressed housing industry."

Limited also in the rates they can charge for mortgages, some thrift institutions are declining to make home loans at all. As an alternative, some are said to be selling their available funds in the big city commercial money markets.

Flights To Alaska To Aid In Pipeline Construction

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Direct passenger and cargo air service between New Orleans and Alaska will begin June 1 to help supply the men and materials needed for the construction of the Alaskan pipeline.

Three round trips will be made daily between Alaska and the oil centers of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado, airline executives said here Wednesday.

Continental Airlines and Western Airlines are jointly involved in the project. "We recognize the chances of getting new route authority are practically non-existent, and we thought the only way to get needed service for the public was to join forces," Dominic P. Renda of Los Angeles, a Western executive, told newsmen.

Passengers and cargo will stay on the same plane for the entire trip but crews of the two companies will switch at Seattle, Wash.

As many as 20,000 persons will be working at one time on the 800-mile, $4.5 billion project and many will be from the South, Renda said.

The pipeline has been considered for several years but was held up by protests from environmentalists. Congress recently granted approval to begin construction.

A Boeing 727 will leave New Orleans early in the morning for Anchorage, with stops at Houston, Tex., Tulsa, Okla., Wichita, Kan., and Seattle. A return flight from Anchorage to New Orleans will stop in Denver, Oklahoma City and Houston.

A DC10 flight from Houston to Anchorage will stop a several points and a third flight, on a 727, will move between Dallas-Fort Worth with several stops.

Other flights will connect Anchorage with Prudhoe Bay, where the pipeline will originate.

Panel Approves Measure To Boost Educational Benefits For Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Veterans Affairs Committee has approved unanimously a bill to boost educational benefits for veterans by 18 per cent and extend the maximum duration of schooling from 36 to 45 months.

The measure, adopted Wednesday, also would provide a tuition payment of up to $720 a year directly to veterans so they can have more of a choice in deciding which schools to attend.

The 18 per cent cost-of-living increase is more than the 13 per cent voted by the House and the 8 per cent proposed by the Nixon administration, but less than the 25 per cent originally proposed in the Senate.

The Senate bill would raise monthly payments for a single veteran from the current $220 to $260, from $261 to $309 for a married veteran and from $298 to $352 for a veteran with two dependents. The rate for each additional child would go from $18 to $21.

Similar increases are provided for those covered under the war widows and orphans act.

Both the administration and the House Veterans Affairs Committee oppose the increase in schooling time and the provision for direct tuition payments to veterans.

They also oppose another provision in the Senate bill that would provide low-cost loans from the Veterans Administration up to $2,000 a year, with the VA administrator to set the interest rates.

In addition, the measure contains a provision to extend from eight years to 10 years after leaving service a veteran's eligibility for education benefits. It would immediately affect some four million veterans who served between 1955 and 1966, whose eligibility expires June 30.

Duke Ellington Now In Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Jazz great Duke Ellington is in Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital with a respiratory infection that a hospital spokesman describes as "a serious ailment for him."

But the 75-year-old band leader's manager, Cress Courtney, says: "He's getting restless being in the hospital."

THE GOSPEL OF CHRIST

Many well-meaning people feel that the gospel of Jesus Christ is more circumstantial than necessary. It is believed by not a few that if a person is sincere and believes that Jesus Christ the Son of God, all other aspects of the teachings of the gospel are of no real consequence. Such an attitude among the religious people of today is inevitable, but certainly not true.

Everything in the gospel of Jesus Christ that has to do with salvation from sin is most relevant. Paul declared that the gospel of Christ, "is the power of God unto salvation." (Rom. 1:16). This same gospel has been described by James as "the perfect law of liberty." (Jas. 1:25). This simply means, then, that whatever God has revealed to man for his good, the gospel is sufficient, and any claims for later revelations or doctrines should be regarded as superfluous, useless, damaging and should, therefore, be rejected.

When a person becomes cognizant of the claims that the gospel makes for itself, he cannot help but reverse its process, unless, of course, he has no respect for the author of the Book. The Bible claims to be inspired of God. "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." (2 Tim. 3:16, 17). This distinguishes the writings of God from the profane writings of man, and urges upon us that they are profitable for our spiritual needs. The passage before us also affirms that in whatever we are involved in in religious matters, the gospel furnishes us unto EVERY good work. Every "good work" is authorized by the scripture!

When we hear people say that the gospel is old fashioned, or that we need a new gospel for a new age, we are forced to conclude that such folks are void of understanding of the condition of fallen man, the nature of God, and the design of the gospel of Christ.

Dear reader, are you tired of hearing people minimize the power of the gospel? Are you concerned about this nonchalant attitude toward Bible authority? You can meet with people who do have a reverence for the Book of God. People who are mindful of the inspired language of the apostle Peter when he declared, "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracle of God." (1 Pet. 4:11). Meet with us at the Cuthbert and Austin Church of Christ.

Lawyer Says MC Bonds Must Be Approved By Attorney General

Pete Tart, bond lawyer for Midland College, said the $400,000 in tuition bonds issued by the college Tuesday must be approved by the state attorney general before they can be issued officially.

Tart, of the Fort Worth law firm of McCall, Parkes and Horton, said the attorney general's approval is a formality which will take about 30 days.

The bonds were purchased by The First National Bank, The Midland National Bank, The Commercial Bank and Trust Co. and Western State Bank. Proceeds from the bond sale will be used to finance construction of the Student Center Building, the Vocational-Technical Building and the Physical Education Building.

The support of Midland banks in the college bond issues has done much to make Midland College possible, Reagan H. Legg, college board president, said.

"I know of no other city in the country where banks have helped as much to establish a community college," he said. "The support of our banking institutions has been a great boon to Midland College."

Dr. Al Langford, college president, said he is proud of the support given Midland College by all four Midland banks.

"We are indeed fortunate to have the support of all our banks for Midland College," he said.

Extra Ballot At Big Spring May Force Runoff

BIG SPRING — John R. Coffey, district clerk pro-tem at Big Spring, Wednesday filed a suit in which District Clerk M. Fern Co. petitioned 118th District Court to count an extra ballot found in the county clerk's office Monday.

If counted, the ballot which was found among applications for absentee ballots, will tie the Democratic nomination race for district court and force a runoff election.

A recount by the Democratic Executive Committee gave Mrs. Peggy Crittenden the nomination by one vote. Cox said he did not believe there had been any wrong doing but said the matter is "just something I'd like cleared up."

Because Cox could not serve as district clerk in connection with his own suit, District Judge Ralph W. Caton appointed Coffey for the temporary position.

HAD IT WITH MOM

DEAR HAD IT: Don't bet the rent. If she sees it, she'll probably apply it to some of her friends.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

DEAR LONER: Plenty. Those "cool" characters usually end up in hot water up to their necks. In your case, square is smart.

DEAR ABBY: So many older people grumble about how "neglected" they are. I wonder if it ever occurred to them that if they made an effort to be good company, they might attract more people. I realize that nobody can be cheerful all the time, but people who talk of nothing but illness, death, hardships present and past, will find that even close relatives give up, and pay only an occasional "duty" visit, and never stay any longer than they have to.

Take my mother: My husband and I drove 300 miles to take her out for dinner on Mother's Day. My husband has a wonderful sense of humor and he tried so hard to entertain her, but he couldn't get her to brighten up no matter how hard he tried.

She spent the whole time talking about illness, and death, and everybody's bad luck, and all the depressing subjects in the world.

We could have spent much more time with her, but four hours of her company put us both so down in the dumps we couldn't wait to leave. I was depressed for two days afterwards.

Abby, she's so much better off than many others, but she complains constantly, throwing constant digs about how nobody ever comes to see her. The mother thought it was just wonderful, and she even bragged to all her friends about it.

I can't talk to my daughter-in-law because she thinks I'm an old fogey, but I'd like to know what you think about this. I'm so afraid that the child is headed for trouble. What can I do?

GRAM

DEAR GRAM: Nothing, unfortunately, since her mother thinks it's "wonderful." Let's hope your granddaughter doesn't have any rough sledding before she finds out there isn't any Santa Claus.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a senior in high school. Lots of the kids at this school get drunk, smoke grass and have sex. They think it's cool.

I don't do any of these things, and they call me a square. It's not that I'm better than the others; I just don't want to participate in unlawful or immoral activities. Are there many other kids who don't follow the crowd and try to be cool?

Dear Abby

Is Granddaughter Heading For Trouble?

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Maybe this is none of my business but I'm worried about my 14-year-old granddaughter. She's a beautiful child and very mature for her age. That's the trouble, I'm afraid. She's growing up too fast for her own good.

She turned 14 last Christmas and her boyfriend (he is 21) gave her a suede coat trimmed with real fur. He also gave her suede boots and a purse to match. That's not all. He gave her a portable tv and stereo set with maybe two dozen albums, plus a ten-pound box of candy.

I don't think a girl that age should be allowed to accept such expensive presents from a man, do you? The girl's father (my son) wasn't too pleased, but the mother thought it was just wonderful, and she even bragged to all her friends about it.

I can't talk to my daughter-in-law because she thinks I'm an old fogey, but I'd like to know what you think about this. I'm so afraid that the child is headed for trouble. What can I do?

DEAR GRAM: Nothing, unfortunately, since her mother thinks it's "wonderful." Let's hope your granddaughter doesn't have any rough sledding before she finds out there isn't any Santa Claus.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a senior in high school. Lots of the kids at this school get drunk, smoke grass and have sex. They think it's cool.

I don't do any of these things, and they call me a square. It's not that I'm better than the others; I just don't want to participate in unlawful or immoral activities. Are there many other kids who don't follow the crowd and try to be cool?

LONER AT S. H. S.

DEAR LONER: Plenty. Those "cool" characters usually end up in hot water up to their necks. In your case, square is smart.

DEAR ABBY: So many older people grumble about how "neglected" they are. I wonder if it ever occurred to them that if they made an effort to be good company, they might attract more people. I realize that nobody can be cheerful all the time, but people who talk of nothing but illness, death, hardships present and past, will find that even close relatives give up, and pay only an occasional "duty" visit, and never stay any longer than they have to.

Take my mother: My husband and I drove 300 miles to take her out for dinner on Mother's Day. My husband has a wonderful sense of humor and he tried so hard to entertain her, but he couldn't get her to brighten up no matter how hard he tried.

She spent the whole time talking about illness, and death, and everybody's bad luck, and all the depressing subjects in the world.

We could have spent much more time with her, but four hours of her company put us both so down in the dumps we couldn't wait to leave. I was depressed for two days afterwards.

Abby, she's so much better off than many others, but she complains constantly, throwing constant digs about how nobody ever comes to see her. The mother thought it was just wonderful, and she even bragged to all her friends about it.

I can't talk to my daughter-in-law because she thinks I'm an old fogey, but I'd like to know what you think about this. I'm so afraid that the child is headed for trouble. What can I do?

Some Of Nation's Utilities Running Into Serious Lack Of Funds Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Faced with rapidly increased costs for fuel and a continuing need for money to expand, some of the nation's major electric utilities have run into a serious lack of funds.

The weak financial position some face was dramatized recently when Consolidated Edison, New York City's power supplier, omitted its regular 45-cent quarterly dividend. Con Ed said it needed cash for escalating operating expenses and heavy capital spending this year, and so did not pay the normally guaranteed dividend which is the major attraction for buying utility stocks.

The incident, and fears of others like it, quickly focused attention on the industry's ailing finances. Stock prices and credit ratings plunged. Unless the securities market for utility issues quickly improves, the worst trouble may lie ahead, analysts say. And ultimately the consumer may have to pay even higher electric bills, or face potential brownouts.

The Dow-Jones average of the nation's largest publicly-held power companies has declined almost 30 per cent since January, to its lowest point in 15 years.

Energy problems and higher bills lowered expected sales by utilities by 5 per cent in the first quarter this year. Combined, they were enough to send first-quarter earnings plummeting, in some cases as much as 81 per cent below last year.

Although much of the inflation in fuel prices will be covered through increased bills to consumers, the first quarter figures were enough to shock investors into taking a hard look at the companies' financial positions.

Within the past week, the high interest costs and the coolness investors have shown some new utility bonds has caused several companies, including Detroit Edison and Cleveland Edison, to delay or scrap completely plans for new bond issues.

Detroit Edison canceled 18 per cent of its planned five-year capital expansion program, warning the action could "affect service within several years."

Australia's population stood at 13,195,000 last September.

Tower Says Texans Still Back Nixon But Not Like In '72 Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texans are continuing to support President Nixon, but not as strongly as they did in the 1972 election, Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Wednesday.

Over the past four weeks, a period taking in the release of the White House Watergate transcripts, 57.4 per cent of Tower's mail about Nixon has supported the President and 42.6 per cent has favored his resignation or impeachment, he said.

The President received 69 per cent of the vote in 1972.

Two and three weeks ago, Tower told a news conference, 213 of the letter writers opposed Nixon and 144 supported him. However, the trend was reversed last week, with 118 opposing him and 237 backing him.

The senator noted that not more than 15 per cent of the mail he has received recently dealt with Watergate and impeachment.

He said he was not shocked by the material in the transcripts. "But that is not to say I have any sense of gratification" from it.

"This illuminates a cynical side which is disquieting," he said. "The President delegated away authority inordinately and was not in touch with what was going on."

However, Tower said that overall, "the administration has been of positive achievement," praising Nixon's foreign policy record.

Tower predicted that if the House Judiciary Committee, considering impeachment, reports to the House by July 4, "the House couldn't finally act until the first of August."

If the House impeaches Nixon, sending the matter to the Senate, "we certainly would not have a recess," Tower said. "My guess is we'll go six days a week" until the matter is decided.

He refused to say when the Senate would begin deliberations or how long such a proceeding would last, but conceded that if it continues beyond Jan. 3, the date Congress begins a new session, the House may have to begin its impeachment consideration again.

"This is a matter that would ultimately be decided in the courts," said Tower, who taught constitutional law in a political science course.

Drug Abuse Said Leading To Trend For Unwise Curbs

HOUSTON (AP) — The director of the federal Special Action Office on Drug Abuse and Prevention and the National Institute of Drug Abuse says a trend that all drugs are bad is leading to dangerous restrictions.

Dr. Robert L. DuPont told a meeting on non-narcotic drug abuse here Wednesday the criterion for using drugs should be whether or not it helps the individual.

"If it does, it is a good thing and if it doesn't it's bad," DuPont said.

DuPont said the current attitude about drugs could impair or destroy methadone programs for drug addicts. "It is a very unhealthy trend," he said.

Pressure is being placed on doctors to withhold drugs which some patients may need to control illness, DuPont said.

"I think this is terribly unfortunate," he said. "We have made a lot of persons feel guilty about taking drugs they must need."

Pecan Casebearer Larvae Observed In Midland County

Small pecan nut casebearer larvae has been observed feeding on small pecan nutlet clusters in Midland County, reports Charles Green, Midland County agriculture agent.

Green said measures should be taken during the period from Friday through Tuesday to eliminate the larvae.

"We advise home owners to check their pecan trees for small holes in the tiny nutlets. A second application of chemicals should follow about seven days after the first," Green said.

"Our office recommends Sevin, malathion or zolone. We also would like to point out that one level tablespoon of 36 per cent zinc sulphate should be mixed into each gallon of spray solution," Green said.

Country Curate Topples Irish Bachelorhood Fortress

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
KNOCK, County Mayo, Ireland (AP) — "Romantic Ireland's dead and gone," the post wrote, but then he never met the likes of the Rev. Michael Keane, a country curate who successfully toppled the most formidable fortress in the land: Irish bachelorhood.

By comparison, the Siege of Limerick, and the Battle of the Boyne were only minor donny-brooks.

For the past century, Ireland has had the lowest marriage rate and the oldest marrying age in the world. Her bachelors hold out longer and marry later than any others out of known captivity.

"Irish men," wrote historian Ariand Usher, "have hardly enough sex to perpetuate their own cantankerous species." But he was a Protestant, born in the London-of-Ulster stock, and, besides, that was before the Knock Marriage Introductions Bureau happened on the scene.

The bureau, which Father Keane founded in 1968 in the wild west of Ireland, already has brought about 100 marriages in a rural area hard hit by the flight of colleens to the cities and to England in search of jobs and husbands. More amazingly, the Knock bureau has induced nearly 2,000 rural Irishmen to take the first faltering steps away from the pub and the race track in the direction of the altar.

"I don't look upon myself as a matchmaker," demurred Father Keane, drawing up to the fire in the parlor of his County Mayo presbytery. "All I do is introduce people, the way a pal would for you at a dance. After that, it's up to you."

A red cat named Larry dozed at his feet. Outside the winter wind keened across Lake Corow, and a winding brook babbled an Irish tune through the soft green fields. Round and cherubic, with only the trace of a brogue, the priest didn't look or sound a bit like Barry Fitzgerald, even through his country parish lies within jaunting car distance of where John Ford filmed "The Quiet Man," his classic comedy on Irish matchmaking.

"I was on tv the other night with a real old matchmaker still practicing in this part of the country," Father Keane related, "and the fellow said he'd been responsible for 30 marriages in his career. Well, at the bureau, we've just had our 100th in less than six years."

A survey just completed of 71 of the first marriages arranged by the bureau shows that two-thirds of the brides were under 40 years old, while the opposite was true of the grooms, 18 of whom were already in their 50s. Dublin, with 24, provided the largest contingent of brides. Galway, with 17, relinquished the most bachelors. Farmers and tradesmen accounted for more than half of the new husbands; shop clerks and nurses were the most frequent brides.

Father Keane hit on the idea for the marriage bureau one night while going through some government census reports. One statistic leaped from the page: Rural Ireland, where he was born and had spent all of his priestly life, had 70,000 more bachelors than spinsters. He thought of all the abandoned farm houses and "all the lonely old men going to pot around the pubs, while the girls were leaving the land in droves to find husbands in the cities."

He persuaded the bishops of western Ireland's six rural dioceses to send two delegates each to a conference at Knock, a famous shrine to Our-Lady in County Mayo, and from it emerged the Marriage Introductions Bureau. Since then the bureau has had nearly 7,000 inquiries and introduced 1,614 couples. Two out of every three applicants have been men.

"I was mortified and thought the bishops would hit the ceiling when a local paper wrote about a priest playing cupid," said Father Keane, "but I've learned since that every blast of publicity brings in reams of applications."

The bureau moves at the cautious pace of the Irish bachelor, who traditionally regards horses, dogs, tobacco and women as the good things of life, but as the latest joke has it, "not necessarily in that order since the government came out against smoking."

Applicants, both male and female, fill out a form detailing their background, education, hobbies, "income or size of farm" and enclose two recent photographs. Without revealing his priestly life, had 70,000 more bachelors than spinsters, the picture and basic questionnaire of a suitable girl and asks her if she would like to meet him. If he agrees, his picture and questionnaire are sent to the girl.

When she agrees to an introduction, the bureau requests the man write a letter to the girl, through the bureau, which then forwards it to the girl.

Then it's up to her to pursue it further by writing directly to the man and revealing her address.

"It's here we step out of the picture," Father Keane explained. "We never meet the couples and don't get invited to the weddings, which is just as well because secrecy and discretion, especially where men are concerned, are the major features of our success story."

If the bureau is in doubt about any applicant's intentions, it conducts its own private research through the local parish priests.

"We always check the bona-fides," Father Keane said cryptically which in Ireland beats a Wasserman any day.

The 49-year-old curate blamed the reluctance of Irish bachelors to face the wedding march on the old problem, now hopefully fading, of inheriting the land too late from aging parents who grow possessive of their unmarried sons, particularly the oldest, and selective and suspicious of prospective mates.

Factories moving to the west of Ireland have provided work to keep the girls at home, and television and modern appliances have made farm life more acceptable to them.

Father Keane thinks that shyness "and a fear of rejection" now account for much of the timidity displayed by rural Irish suitors. "A country lad has his pride and thinks that everyone around will know if he's been turned down, while a city lad can just go on to a different girl with no one being the wiser."

USDA Starts Campaign On Cattle Fever Ticks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department wants cattle producers to search their animals for ticks and then mail the little creatures to a laboratory in Texas.

Not that USDA is starting a new entomological zoo. It's because one kind of tick threatens to spread cattle tick fever over a large portion of the United States unless the pests are cornered and eliminated.

The department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service issued this advice Wednesday: "Go catch a cattle tick. Save your cattle . . . Look especially on the shoulder and flank areas. And send all ticks to the State-Federal Laboratory, 702 Colorado St., Austin, Tex. 78701."

Cattle fever ticks, which once cost producers $40 million a year in animal losses, were eradicated from the United States in 1943. Some small outbreaks occurred afterward, but the pests remained under control for the most part until August 1972.

At that time, a severe outbreak occurred in the Alice, Tex., area. A federal-state quarantine was imposed and control measures put into effect. No ticks have been found in the area since last February and officials are hopeful the quarantine can be lifted by next fall or sooner.

Although the southern areas are most susceptible to the spread of fever ticks, officials say the pests can be carried into other regions if precautions are not followed.

Doctor Convicted In 1961 Slaying Denied License

EL DORADO SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch says he is ready to give up his struggle to obtain a Missouri medical license, if he can practice medicine in another state.

"The people want me, but the board doesn't," Finch, 56, said of the Missouri Board of Registration for the Healing Arts, which has refused to issue him a license because he was convicted in 1961 of murdering his wife in California.

Finch, now an X-ray technician, said Wednesday he has written to licensing boards in three other states to find out if his conviction would prevent him from practicing medicine.

Ford Hopes Nixon Will Give Panel Materials Soon

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says he hopes President Nixon will give the House Judiciary Committee any additional material relevant to impeachment, and "the sooner the better."

The committee has said all the tapes and materials it has requested or subpoenaed are relevant to its investigation. The White House has said it already has given the panel all the material it needs to decide whether Nixon should be impeached.

Earlier Wednesday in New York, the vice president said he hoped "there will be some compromise with the White House" for any material needed by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski relating to criminal prosecutions. But again, the vice president didn't say who would decide what is relevant.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica has given the White House until May 31 to turn over 64 Watergate-related tapes Jaworski says he needs for the trials of top former Nixon aides accused of the Watergate cover-up. The White House has indicated it won't comply, but will appeal the case.

Ford's statements were coupled with repeated insistence that Nixon is innocent and won't be impeached.

Woman Intercedes For Man Who Hired Pair To Blind Her

NEW YORK (AP) — Linda Riss, blinded 15 years ago by men hired by rejected suitor Burton Pugach, now says she wants Pugach's right to practice law restored.

"I am informed he was disbarred from the practice of law as a result of his acts concerning me, and not concerning any client," said Miss Riss, 37, in a federal court affidavit.

"I respectfully join in any application by him to any court or otherwise that his order of disbarment be set aside and that he be permitted to practice law again."

Pugach, 47, hired two men to throw lye in Miss Riss' face in 1969.

He was released from prison March 21, after serving 14 years of a 30-year sentence.

Michigan Loser Will Try Again

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Republican James Sparling Jr., who lost a special election in Michigan's 8th Congressional District last month, says he will try again for the seat in November. Sparling was defeated by Democrat Bob Traxler for a seat Republicans had held since 1932.

Sparling conceded Wednesday for the first time that he felt a visit to the district by President Nixon shortly before the election may have hurt his chances.

Priest Who Defended Nixon's Profanity Called In For 'Prayer And Reflection'

By GUY DARST
BOSTON (AP) — The Rev. John McLaughlin, the Jesuit priest and presidential aide who recently defended President Nixon's use of profanity, has been called to Boston by his religious superior for "prayer and reflection."

The Rev. Richard T. Cleary, provincial of the Jesuit Fathers of New England, said Wednesday there was a possibility Father McLaughlin could be asked to leave his White House post, or be dismissed from the order, which would not necessarily affect his status as a priest. Father Cleary, who noted Father McLaughlin was living in the Watergate apartments in Washington, questioned whether the priest was living up to his vows of poverty and obedience.

Father McLaughlin recently spoke out in defense of Nixon, saying he was a great moral leader and that his use of curse words was a necessary release mechanism. Father Cleary, asked if he would agree with Father McLaughlin's defense of profanity, said, "I would be standing up against Moses if I did. 'Thou shalt not take the name of thy Lord and God in vain.' He said Father McLaughlin was not speaking for the church."

Father Cleary also said he had no record of Father McLaughlin being given permission to live in the exclusive Watergate apartments.

"Speaking for myself, I would not live there," he said, adding that Jesuits usually are required to live in Jesuit communities.

"I will be asking him to take a brief time away for prayer about his situation and reflection with me," Father Cleary said, adding he was asking Father McLaughlin to come to Boston as "soon as he can get time to do it."

Father Cleary said, "I do not intend to hurt him... I am not saying he is not in good standing as a Jesuit priest."

He said no actual permission had been given for McLaughlin to work in the White House, although he said some encouragement was given.

"I understood it as research writing and special assignments for the President," Father Cleary said. "He has made recent statements on his own. It is my understanding this is not what he was originally hired for..."

In Chicago, McLaughlin, told of Father Cleary's statements, said he did not intend to speak for the church. He said he had conducted a survey of 9 of the 10 Jesuit provinces in the United States and said he found only 36 letters and 6 telephone calls inquiring about his actions or protesting them.

Father Cleary said he is asking Father McLaughlin to make an eight-day retreat, required annually of all Jesuits. Regarding Father McLaughlin's attitude toward the controversy over his status at the White House, Father Cleary said, "He likes to feel it's a political question. I do not feel it is. The question at issue is a religious one."

In Chicago, Father McLaughlin urged Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., to disqualify himself from the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment investigation.

"Waldie quite clearly has convicted President Nixon in his head and in his heart, and has severely prejudiced the impartiality of the committee," McLaughlin said.

McLaughlin previously has urged two other Democratic members of the committee—Robert F. Drinan of Massachusetts, also a Jesuit priest, and John Conyers of Michigan—to disqualify themselves from the inquiry.

Matagorda Officers Seek Amnesia Victim's Identity

PALACIOS, Tex. (AP) — Matagorda County sheriff's office investigators have lodged an apparent amnesia victim at a motel as they waited results of a search for the man's identity in fingerprint records.

Deputies said the man approached officers in this southeast Texas town Monday saying he could remember only the names of Dallas, Denver and Portland.

A doctor's examination revealed no bruises or contusions normally associated with amnesia victims. He had $120 cash and no laundry marks on his clothing, investigators said.

Deputies described the man as 5-foot-4, 130 pounds and between 26 and 30 years old. He is clean-shaven with long sideburns, medium length blond hair and dressed in a light blue and white sports shirt, grey trousers, white buck shoes and blue socks.

The clothing apparently was of expensive make.

A reporter who interviewed the man said he does not have a Texas accent, appears to be from an upper middle class background and apparently is educated.

Deputies said arrangements were being made for the man to move into the sleeper facility at the Matagorda County jail.

A routine police check turned up nothing.

AS TOWN REJECTS ONASSIS REFINERY— Greek-American Land Promoters Hold Sack

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
CONCORD, N.H. (AP) —

When Olympic Refineries Inc. unveiled plans for a $600-million oil refinery, the man who did most of the talking for the company was Peter J. Booras, a Greek-American businessman who has dabbled in politics.

Various descriptions as a spokesman for Aristotle Onassis' refinery company, Booras has been among the most active supporters of the proposal to build the complex on the New Hampshire seacoast.

Both he and Olympic say he is not on the company payroll, has no financial interest in the project and is acting only as a citizen who believes the state would be well served by a refinery.

Heads Card Firm
Booras heads a greeting-card manufacturing company in Keene, N.H., but spends much of his time shuttling between Olympic's temporary offices in Concord and Dover.

In 1972, he organized a New Hampshire primary write-in campaign for then-Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to counter what Booras perceived as pressure on President Nixon to dump Agnew from the ticket.

Booras also ran in that primary as a candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate. Although he outspent his competitors by a substantial margin, he lost the race.

Campaign records show the Booras campaign was financed almost entirely by $30,000 of the candidate's personal funds and more than $15,000 in contributions from outside the state.

One Of Largest Donors
One of the largest individual contributors listed by Booras was William Hammerman of 10 Light St., Baltimore, Md. who gave $1,500. That address is the office of the Hammerman Organization Inc., headed by I. H. "Bud" Hammerman, identified by the Justice Department as an Agnew confidant who set up the cash payment scheme for illegal kickbacks.

A reporter telephoning the Hammerman Organization was told that no William Hammerman is associated with the mortgage banking firm.

New Hampshire Atty. Gen. Warren Rudman recently announced his office is investigating several apparent violations of the state campaign finance law in the Booras campaign.

Booras says he was responsible for getting Olympic President Constantine E. Gratos interested in New Hampshire as a potential site for a refinery.

Booras did not elaborate. Before Olympic announced publicly that it was looking at New Hampshire as a refinery site, several Greek-American real estate men began buying options for land on Durham Point and on the Isles of Shoals, small islands off the coast.

Eventually these options put together about 3,500 acres on the mainland, most of it farm and woodlands.

The options promised more than $5 million if the land is purchased. No firm estimate is available on the price paid for the land options, but from what is known, they probably cost several hundred thousands dollars.

Booras said the real estate men were acting "on my behalf" but that he was actually spending "Mr. Gratos' money."

Business associates of Onassis, however, say it is not his style to risk his own money so early in such a risky venture.

They suggest the option money came from other sources who hoped to gain if the Olympic proposal went through.

One source in New Hampshire's Greek-American community said "Papanicolaou told me that Onassis was paying for the promotion, nothing else."

Nicholas F. Papanicolaou is an Onassis protégé and listed in corporate records as vice president, treasurer and a director of Olympic Refineries Inc.

George Pappademas, a Nashua real estate broker, helped Booras buy the land options, and town records show he bought a few parcels of land bordering the refinery area for himself.

Olympic spokesmen say the company owns the options, but they remain in Pappademas' name in town records.

Since the town of Durham voted overwhelmingly against rezoning Durham Point, the options covered land on which the refinery cannot be built.

Olympic Refineries Inc. appeared to withdraw to Onassis' offices in New York after it lost the showdown in Durham. It announced the closing of its Concord, N.H., office, and refinery opponents began to drift back to their everyday lives.

Then, at a special town meeting in Newmarket just south of Durham, the townspeople voted in April to welcome a refinery proposal for their community.

Olympic sprang back to life. Engineers were summoned to redraw their plans, and meetings were scheduled with the governor.

"Of course we are going to make a proposal," announced Olympic President Gratos. "It would be ridiculous if we didn't."

Firemen Still Fighting Blaze

PLANNING AHEAD — Newly elected Midland High Student Council President Tim Blomkvist, seated, holds an informal summit conference with the other new MHS student leaders. From left are Holly Heard, recording secretary; Riley Barton, treasurer; Peter Scherer, vice president, and Vicki Throckmorton, corresponding secretary.

CHELSEA, Mass. (AP) — Businessmen and residents of this old industrial city just north of Boston are wondering if they will ever be free from the threat of raging fires.

Firefighters were still working today to extinguish Wednesday's blaze that virtually destroyed a four-block sector of industrial buildings.

"This latest fire is just a terrible thing," Joseph W. Downes, executive director of the city's chamber of commerce, said. "It means prohibitive insurance rates. It will be almost impossible for businessmen to cope with."

Damage estimates are still being compiled. Chelsea Mayor Philip Spelman, a former police officer, and Acting Fire Chief William Cepistran estimated the damage will exceed $1 million. Spelman said several hundred jobs will be lost and has asked for federal aid.

The fire was the third major blaze in Chelsea in eight months. It hardly compared to the mammoth $100 million fire last October which destroyed a 20-block area and left more than 1,000 persons homeless.

Wednesday's blaze destroyed firms that manufacture industrial supplies, barrels, rubber tires, stereo equipment and plastics.

And, only six weeks ago, a fire in the downtown Chelsea area destroyed several retail businesses.

Despite the loss of property and jobs, none of the three major fires have caused any deaths. Wednesday's fire resulted only in minor injuries to about half a dozen firefighters.

Chelsea Police Chief Abraham Burgin said Wednesday's fire may have started when sparks from a workman's torch ignited flammable materials. It raged out of control for nearly four hours after starting at the American Barrel Co., a maker of wooden and metal barrels.

The plant was scheduled to move to Connecticut in eight days.

Once again, as with the October blaze, poor water supply and low water pressure hampered efforts to contain the blaze.

Chelsea has had a reputation as a tinderbox ever since a famous conflagration in 1908 nearly wiped it off the map.

The U. S. Economic Development Administration has granted Chelsea $1.5 million as part of a $3 million plan to rebuild the city's ancient water system. But work on the project has not begun.

Ironically, the community — long the first stop for waves of immigrants — borders Boston Harbor.

Prosecutors Introduce Tapes In Raven's Trial

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Prosecutors tentatively rested after jurors heard Wednesday a voice said to be former Austin schools athletic director Travis Raven telling a 16-year-old Houston runaway he might get a job coaching "bedroom ethics."

Raven, 51, and Audrey Aynn McDonald, 28, are being tried on a charge of compelling prostitution by a minor.

Prosecutors introduced tape recordings alleged to be telephone conversations of the runaway, Raven, Ms. McDonald and other persons involved in the case.

Defense testimony was scheduled this morning.

At one point in the recording of a conversation between two persons—one alleged to be Mary Theresa Lindley and the other Raven—a female voice inquired jokingly about a job with the Austin schools athletics department.

"Can you coach?" responded the male voice. "How about bedroom ethics?"

Only fragments of some conversations could be heard in the packed and extremely quiet courtroom.

Often taped discussions concerned prices and names of men who have pleaded guilty to misdemeanor prostitution charges in connection with the case.

Much of the tape was scratchy sounding and barely audible. Defense lawyer Les Proctor complained of a headache after trying to hear the four hours of tapes.

Treatment Begins For Stolen Baby

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Radiation treatment for 16-month-old Keli York was to begin today, but doctors figure she has even less chance than when she disappeared 10 weeks ago on a tragic odyssey with her grandmother.

From that day in March, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. York of Tahleah, Okla., conducted a frantic search throughout the country. It ended Tuesday when police in Dallas arrested the grandmother, a full-blooded Creek Indian.

"She didn't want Keli to have radiation therapy," Mrs. York said in Keli's hospital room. "She decided to try Indian medicine, so she took her to the witch doctor at a Sioux reservation in South Dakota."

"When that didn't work, they said it was because we (the parents) weren't believers," the baby's father added.

The Yorks said they also discovered the grandmother had taken Keli to another reservation in New Mexico.

The grandmother moved continuously around the Fort Worth-Dallas area, and relatives refused to tell the Yorks where she was, the couple said.

"It was 10 weeks of hell," York said as the couple bitterly described their futile efforts to get help from federal and local law enforcement agencies, the FBI or the courts.

York told of repeated efforts to get help from police, but being shuffled from one department to the other, of being told the Yorks would need a court order, of being ignored.

The Yorks ran up a $600 telephone bill trying to trace their daughter.

York describes Keli's face now as "hideous."

"I nearly fainted when I saw her," he said. "My God, I don't see how that woman wouldn't have known there was something terribly wrong."

In March the malignancy on Keli's face and throat made only a small lump. During the week with her grandmother, the right side of the baby's face swelled to twice its normal size. Her right eye, already sightless from the disease, now is so swollen she cannot close it.

Her swollen nose makes breathing difficult, and her right cheek is discolored.

"The doctors won't say how much time they're giving her," York said Wednesday.

Even in March, he said, doctors would say that the radiation would do no more than stop the growth.

The episode began when the grandmother offered to take Keli to Dallas so relatives could see her before the radiation treatments began, the Yorks said. They said they gave her permission to keep the baby overnight.

Officials Resume Talks Of Trying To Identify Victims Of Bus Crashes

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The grim task of identifying nearly half of the 33 persons killed Tuesday in one of Mexico's worst bus crashes this year continued today at the coroner's office.

A chartered bus carrying Mexico City tourists on a spring vacation tour skidded off a road and plunged into the Carrizal River outside Villahermosa, in Tabasco state 930 miles southeast of Mexico City.

The bodies were brought back here Wednesday aboard Mexican air force planes supplied by the government. Coffins bearing the remains were lined up at the coroner's office.

About 15 still had not been identified late Wednesday.

Among those killed were Rafael Meneses Narvaez, 62, a substitute federal deputy, and his wife Victoria, 58, who ran a grocery and liquor store here.

Like many others on the bus, they were on their first trip to the Yucatan Peninsula.

"They weren't used to going on trips because they had the store to take care of," a friend of the couple said. "So their six children got together and paid the expenses so they could take a vacation."

"My brother had saved money for the trip for a long time. He was really looking forward to it," said Yonahi Ramirez de Esquivel, whose brother Cuauhtemoc Ramirez, 23, took the trip with his girl friend Sylvia Mendoza, 19. He was killed along with her family.

Miss Mendoza was one of eight survivors, including the driver, Mario Alvarez.

Some of the injured survivors blamed the accident on the driver.

BBB Starts Membership Drive Here

The Better Business Bureau today launched a two-week membership campaign, according to John E. Cooper, Midland BBB president. The goal is to enlist 100 new members.

Thirty young women have volunteered as special membership representatives for the drive. They will contact prospective members to explain the bureau's activities and to extend a membership invitation.

Cooper said the bureau's program of consumer education, business and consumer information, complaint services and self regulation are being expanded as quickly as bureau finances permit.

"Additional membership support is vital if the bureau is to continue to do his job effectively," he added.

OUTSTANDING TEACHERS — James R. Estes of Midland High School and Linda Kay Weikel of Lee High look over plaques they received after being honored by the Downtown Kiwanis Club as outstanding teachers in the public school system.

Outstanding Teachers Honors Given To Pair

James R. Estes of Midland High School and Linda Kay Weikel of Lee High School were recognized Wednesday by the Midland Downtown Kiwanis Club as outstanding teachers in the public school system.

The Downtown Kiwanis Club each year honors two teachers who have been selected by their colleagues.

The presentation Wednesday noon in the Downtown Motor Inn was made by Dr. James Matley, superintendent of schools.

Estes, 27, is finishing his fifth year at Midland High. He teaches Algebra 3 and 4, including honors classes. He sponsors slide rule participants in UIL competition and this year is sponsor of the MHS Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

He is a native of Mertzon and holds a B.S. degree in education from The University of Texas at Austin. He will receive his M.A. degree this summer.

Miss Weikel has 10 years teaching experience. She taught three at Lamesa, one year at Goddard Junior High in Midland and a year at Alamo Junior High before going to Lee High, where she has been the last five years. She is a physical education teacher and volleyball coach.

She has her B.S. degree and Master of Education degree from East Texas State University. She hopes to work on a doctorate degree in the future and would like to teach in college.

Judge Rules Youth's Statement Can Be Used In Corpus Murder Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — District Court Judge Lee Duggan has ruled that a statement by a teen-ager accused in the sniping death of a Corpus Christi policeman three years ago can be used in his trial.

Duggan's ruling came after three days of hearings Wednesday in the trial of Richard Ridolph, 19, charged in the sniping slaying of policeman John W. Sartin.

The defense contended that a recent ruling by the Texas First Court of Civil Appeals here barred the introduction of a statement given to officers by a juvenile unless he had a lawyer present.

Judge Duggan said the appeals court ruling now bars such statements in civil juvenile court proceedings. Duggan said such statements could be introduced in criminal proceedings however.

Ridolph was 16 at the time of the shooting but a juvenile court in Corpus Christi certified he could be tried as an adult.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals overturned Ridolph's conviction and 50-year prison sentence and the case was transferred here on a change of venue.

Sartin was shot to death as he stood on the back steps of the Corpus Christi police station.

Doug Tinker, Ridolph's attorney, said the Court of Criminal Appeals overturned Ridolph's conviction because police failed to disclose during the trial that the slain officer was standing in a dark area at the time of the late night shooting.

Tinker said the defense's contention is that the youth is guilty only of voluntary manslaughter. Tinker said Ridolph fired a rifle at the building and did not intend to hit anyone.

DA Says Grand Jury Ruling Won't Affect Henley Case

HOUSTON (AP) — A ruling in a separate case that a grand jury which also indicted Elmer Wayne Henley was improperly constituted will not affect Henley's indictment, Dist. Atty. Carol Vance says.

Henley is charged with the deaths of six of the 27 teen-agers victims of the Houston mass murders last August. Henley is scheduled for trial in San Antonio July 1.

Henley was indicted last year by a grand jury that also indicted five persons on charges of assaulting a policeman. District Court Judge Andrew Jefferson dismissed the charges against the five May 20 on grounds they were indicted by a grand jury that was not representative of the community.

Jefferson said there were no Mexican Americans on the grand jury. Three of the five indicted are Mexican Americans.

Will Gray, Henley's attorney, said he was preparing to file a motion to quash Henley's indictment for the same reason. Gray said he would not introduce the motion if the state obtains new indictments.

Vance said he did not plan to seek re-indictments.

"In my opinion, it will serve no useful purpose to seek re-indictment," Vance said. "I think the indictments we have are perfectly valid. We intend to proceed to trial."

In another development, the Texas Supreme Court Wednesday refused to order District Court Judge Preston Dial another chance of venue hearing.

Police Seeking Litter Worth $24,000

MILFORD, Tex. (AP) — State and local police worked late into the night on a special littering case. Four bank robbers may have tossed out $24,000 on a little-traveled roadside near here.

The money is part of more than $31,000 taken from the First State Bank of Milford, south of Dallas, during an early Wednesday afternoon robbery.

Within minutes of the holdup, state trooper Jimmy Mason assisted by Texas Ranger Bill Gunn of Waco had four men in custody after a chase in which speeds topped 120 miles per hour.

Officers charged Richard J. Hamilton, 28, George W. Cobb, 25; Charles L. Gibson, 30; and Rodney K. Burns, 20, all of Dallas, with aggravated robbery.

Justice of the Peace F. P. McClaman of Red Oak set bond at $35,000 each. All four remained at the Ellis County jail late Wednesday.

The foursome fled west on Farm Market 934 toward Itasca in two cars. Mason spotted one of the cars and stopped it until Gunn, who was in the area, arrived to help.

Then trooper Mason chased the other car about eight miles at speeds up to 130 miles per hour. The second car stopped as other officers closed in.

"When they saw the firearms coming out, their hands went up," Mason said.

However, a search of the two cars turned up only $7,000 stuffed in a pillowcase in the glove compartment of the first vehicle stopped.

Late Wednesday investigators and volunteers on horseback searched a 15-mile strip of road for the missing $24,000, apparently without success.

Officers said they did not know how the money possibly thrown from the vehicle would have been packaged. Police theorize occupants of the second car ditched the money sometime during the eight-mile chase.

Former Premier Being Urged To Take Back Job In Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thailand's National Assembly nominated Sanya Thammasak today as the country's new premier, urging him to return to the post from which he resigned two days ago.

Under the Thai constitution, a decision on a new premier will be made by King Bhumibol Adulyadej, but it was thought likely that the king, a long-time associate and personal friend of Sanya, would follow the assembly's recommendation and urge Sanya to form a new government.

Assembly Speaker M. R. Kukrit Pramoj, who had been mentioned as a candidate for the premiership, told newsmen that Sanya was the only seriously debated candidate in a two-hour closed assembly session.

Kukrit said he would see the 67-year-old acting premier today and persuade him to return. The speaker said he would go before the king on Friday to lobby for Sanya, who is staying on until the king chooses a new premier.

The decision to nominate Sanya came by consensus, not a formal vote, Kukrit said. Prior to the session, an informal poll by The Associated Press found that 174 of 211 legislators at the meeting wanted Sanya to come back. Sanya also has been endorsed by major newspapers and the country's powerful student organizations.

Sanya, a former university rector, has insisted strongly that his political life has ended and that he was tired and wants to return to private life.

Sanya's government came to power last October after a student-led revolution toppled the military rule of Premier Thanom Kittikachorn. Openness in Thai life bred by the country's release from a decade of military governments brought strong criticisms of government actions and policy, which the gentle, idealistic Sanya often found difficult to deal with.

SA Brewers Nip A-Giants By 3-2

By The Associated Press
 El Paso's Diablos came out on top 5-4 in a bedeviling 13-inning Texas League baseball duel with the Midland Cubs Wednesday night in a drive to catch west division leader San Antonio.
 Diablos batters tallied three runs in the bottom of the ninth to tie the score after Midland had led most of the contest.
 Dan Briggs led off the El Paso 13th with a triple of the right field wall and Midland strategists elected to load the bases with intentional walks to the next two batters. However, the play failed when the next batter—outfielder Jose Ortiz—slammed a line drive to send Briggs scurrying home.
 In other games, lowly Shreveport knocked off East Division leader Victoria 3-2 while San Antonio held onto its 1 1/2-game Division lead by belting Amarillo 3-2.

 San Antonio won its contest in the third inning when Mike Brooks drove across the decisive run with a ground ball. Amarillo scored two runs in the second, San Antonio plated three in the third and from there on out it was a stalemated.
 Shreveport grabbed its victory from East Division leader Victoria in the fifth inning when Sammy Mejias blasted his fourth homer in four straight home games. The Shreveport Captains picked up two runs in the third while Victoria added a run in each the first and fourth innings.
 However, after the fourth, Victoria never got a scoring drive going again.
 The same teams play in the same cities tonight.

MR. BASKETBALL RETIRES—

Burks Replaces Irish

NEW YORK (AP) — Edward "Ned" Irish, known to many people in New York as "Mr. Basketball," is retiring as head of the New York Knicks and will be replaced by a man known in the sports world for his work in baseball, Michael Burks.
 Madison Square Garden Corp. announced Wednesday that Burke, former president of the New York Yankees, will become president of the National Basketball Association team when Irish, 69, steps down July 1. Burke has been serving as president of Madison Square Garden Center since last July.
 "Ned Irish is and always will be 'Mr. Basketball' not only in New York but throughout the country," said Alan N. Cohen, president and chief executive officer of Madison Square Garden Corp.

 "We will miss him but we are convinced that Mike Burke will carry on his great tradition which has brought New York two NBA championships in the last five years."
 Irish will become honorary chairman of the Knicks.
 The former sports writer for the New York Telegraph became basketball director of Madison Square Garden in 1934.
 In 1946, he played a major role in the creation of the NBA and was founder of the Knicks team. He is a member of basketball's Hall of Fame.

BLONDE TRAILBLAZER READY— Indy 500 Next For Girls

By WILL GRIMSLEY
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Old Gasoline Alley might as well get used to the smell of perfume, insists Joy Wilkerson—the brickyard of the Indianapolis 500 is the next bastion to be stormed by the lady libbers.
 "Girls are playing Little League baseball, women are riding horses in the big races, why shouldn't they be driving these machines just like the men?" the 35-year-old housewife and race driver from North Hollywood, Calif., said today.
 "All we women need now is experience, but sponsors already see the way that the girls will be jockeying the formula cars in Indianapolis and similar races."
 Joy, blonde, curvy and controversial, leads a double life. As Mrs. Anthony Cardoza, she is the wife of a Hollywood producer and overseer of three children by previous marriages. As Joy Wilkerson, she hosts a talk show on cable television on the West Coast and races automobiles at every opportunity.
 "I've been racing two years. I am the first woman to be allowed in the pits. I am the only one to get a NASCAR liense, and I've had the laws changed," Joy said during a break in final rehearsals for Sunday's 500.

 "My husband calls me the trail blazer—he thinks I could be the first woman to crash Indy, but I figure I may be too old."
 Joy was invited to this granddaddy of automobile events by the head man, Tony Hulman. In her red fire-resistant suit and green hot pants, she has been a striking participant in all track activities—except the race itself.
 She started racing in Powder Puff Derbies but soon tired of this dilettante for women-only stuff and struck out on her own. J.C. Agajanian gave her her first chance to race against men.
 "In the last two years, I've raced everything except the big formula cars," she said. "I've raced midgets, stock cars and dune buggies and I've been taking lessons at the Bob Bondurant School in California for the formula cars."
 "Most of the time, I'm the only woman in a race. Three weeks ago at Terre Haute (Ind.) I finished second to Johnny Parsons Jr., in a USAC-sanctioned race. I don't like Powder Puff Derbies any more. It's like the roller derby. The girls just like to bend fenders and work out their frustrations."
 Joy said that contrary to popular belief, women are as good drivers as men. "They just don't get started in racing soon enough," she added. "Girls will have to start racing jalopies at 16 and work their way to the big ones. They have to be sponsored."

Horton Averages Shower Of Beer

Two-Run Homer Nips Milwaukee

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer
 Willie Horton gave Milwaukee fans mud in their eye Wednesday night because they got beer in his.
 The Detroit Tigers' slugging left fielder was the target of some naughty words the previous night when he hit two home runs. Wednesday night he was showered twice with beer after hitting a two-run homer that powered the Tigers to a 6-4 decision over the Brewers.
 Horton's seventh-inning homer, his 11th of the season, came off rookie Bill Travers and landed in the left field bleachers where, he said, the fans had cursed him a night earlier.
 Angels 6, Royals 1
 Frank Robinson and Joe Loughery hit home runs and a controversy over a call on a run-down paved the way for three first-inning runs as California's Bill Singer pitched a five-hitter.
 Robinson's homer in the fifth was the 560th of his career and raised his total of extra base hits to 1,132, tying Triis Speaker for seventh place on the all-time list.
 Orioles 1, Indians 0
 Paul Blair's run-scoring single after Boog Powell's double and an intentional walk to Brooks Robinson drove in the game's only run while Ross Grimsley blanked Cleveland on eight hits.
 A's 7, Twins 4
 Reggie Jackson drove in five runs with his 13th homer, a double and a single and Joe Rudi socked a tie-breaking two-run triple in the ninth inning.
 Red Sox 6, Yankees 3
 Cecil Cooper and Bernie Carbo drove in fifth-inning runs as the Red Sox posted their eighth consecutive home victory over the Yankees. Boston has won 17 of 18 Fenway meetings with New York since August 1972.

AFTER BEING HIT BY ORANGE—

Aaron Gets SF Guard

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
 There were a couple of extra men in blue in San Francisco and Atlanta Braves Manager Eddie Mathews said they gave his club a boost.
 Besides the traditional men in blue keeping law and order on the four bases, there was a Burns security guard stationed at each end of the Atlanta dugout, insuring the safety of the new crowned king—home run record holder Henry Aaron.
 "They did a good job today. It made a big difference, really helped us" Mathews said Wednesday after the Braves dropped the San Francisco Giants 6-2.
 The two guards posted on orders of Giants owner Horace Stoneham, were around to protect Aaron after he was hit on the head by an orange hurled into the Braves dugout Tuesday night.
 Cubs 9, Mets 6
 Jerry Morales, who drove in three earlier runs with a solo homer and a two-run single, crashed a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning, lifting Chicago over New York.
 Phillies 7, Cards 1
 Del Unser backed Ron Scheuler's two-hit pitching with three RBIs on a home run and a single, powering Philadelphia past St. Louis.
 Lou Brock opened the first with a double for St. Louis, then Scheuler retired the next 11 batters before Jose Cruz blasted a solo homer in the fifth.
 Scheuler struck out four and walked two.
 Dodgers 6, Reds 3
 Steve Garvey drove in four runs with a double and a single, giving Los Angeles the victory over Cincinnati and pulling the Dodgers nine games in front of the Reds and Giants in the NL West.

RANGERS SPLIT—

Fergy Unhappy But Nabs 7th

CHICAGO (AP) — It was a good homecoming for Ferguson Jenkins but a somewhat sour night for Texas Ranger Manager Billy Martin.
 Ex-Chicago Cub pitcher Jenkins struck out 10 in twirling the Rangers to an 8-2 victory salvaging the nightcap of Tuesday night's twin bill with the Chicago White Sox. The Sox took the opener 6-2.
 But Jenkins, now 7-4 in his first American League season, had a beef over umpiring and particularly the calls of plate umpire Joe Brinkman.
 "They haven't tried to call low pitches for us," said Jenkins, greeted by some jeering as he made his first Chicago appearance since the Cubs traded him to the Rangers last winter.
 Jenkins' complaint was mild compared with Martin's, who was ejected from the second game by Brinkman after a second-inning "hassle" over plate calls.
 A jawing match flared between Brinkman and Martin after Ranger slugger Jeff Burroughs was called out on strikes starting the second and Martin screamed his objection from the dugout.
 Brinkman accused Martin of "calling balls and strikes from the bench."
 Martin, ejected by Brinkman before an April 27 game in New York, told writers he only complained after Burroughs returned to the bench and told Martin he was called out on a

Four-Sport Star Battles Paraplegia

TARBORO, N.C. (AP) — Richard Hudson lettered in four sports at Tarboro High School. He went on to become a member of the track and football teams at North Carolina State University.

Now he has turned his enthusiasm to weight-lifting, and he works out every day—in his wheelchair or lying on the floor.

He can bench press more than 300 pounds into the air lying on his back.

Hudson's paraplegia began 10 months ago when he suffered a fractured spine in an automobile accident near his hometown of Tarboro. Instead of entering his junior year at State last September, he spent three months at Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville. Then he went to the Rehabilitation Hospital in Winston-Salem. His legs are paralyzed.

"Richard is a Vocational Rehabilitation worker's dream," his VR counselor, Horace Lawrence, said. "We expect persons severely limited by injury to go through a period of depression and even hostility. But if Richard ever did, we didn't know it. He just came out fighting, determined to go on and make something of himself."

"I knew my life wasn't ended," Hudson said.

While he was in the VR hospital he resumed lifting weights, a pastime he had enjoyed in high school and college as a means of increasing his strength for other sports.

He had excelled in football, basketball, baseball and track at Tarboro, and went to State on a football scholarship.

Hudson lettered in track, specializing in the shot put and the discus throw. He plans to compete in both later.

He has been taking correspondence courses from State, and plans to begin summer school next month at St. Andrews College in Laurinburg, which has courses in driver education and physical education for the handicapped, and no architectural barriers for his wheelchair. He says he wants to become a VR counselor.

Hudson has not withdrawn from competitive sports even during this first year after his accident. He finished first in the Virginia Regional Wheelchair Games middleweight bench press competition, lifting 280 pounds. He believes he can surpass 300 pounds at the National Wheelchair Finals in Cheney, Wash., next month, a feat he has accomplished many times in practice.

LAKE SPENCE BEAUTIES — This black bass is typical of the lunkers now being caught at Lake Spence near Robert Lee.

Bass Strike At Spence

Black bass fishing at Lake Spence has been tremendous during the past week and some fine catches of striped bass at the Lake County Lake have also been making headlines.

Blacks in the five to six pound class have been common. The successful fishermen say to look for them around the brushy points and in water about six feet deep.

Trotline fishermen continue to take strippers in the 14-pound class, and rod and reel fishermen have scored with strippers in the eight pound category.

Strippers are in deep water and the successful rod and reel fishermen have been getting them with spoons or slab-type lures.

Trotting with deep diving baits has also yielded some good strippers.

Pedernales Falls State Scenic Park is now open for overnight camping at campsites offering water, picnic tables and access to restrooms.

The park, located 14 miles east of Johnson City, has been open to primitive camping by reservation only, but the gates were closed at night to other visitors.

Formerly the Circle Bar Ranch, the area typifies the Edwards Plateau with its live oaks, deer, turkey and stone hills. Intermittent creeks and rivulets, some spring-fed the year-round, tumble over limestone on their way to the cypress-lined Pedernales River which winds through the park for six miles.

Farm pond owners who want channel catfish and sunfish for their tanks this year must get in their applications to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department no later than June 1.

Scratchpad

Former Midland High sprinter Jesse Kemp ran on the UTEP 440-yard relay team that took first in the Western Athletic Conference meet. The Miners won five firsts, but finished behind Brigham Young in the team standings.

Midland's Marvin Baker qualified in the 100, 220 and 440-relays as eight members of the South Plains College track team earned trips to the National JCAA meet in Houston this week.

First baseman Tommy Crain was overshadowed, understandably enough, at Houston Westchester by David Clyde, but he came into his own this season at TCU, winning the Dutch Meyer Most Valuable Player Award in baseball by leading the Frogs in 18 hitting and fielding categories. Crain batted .401, fielded .996, hit 16 homers and knocked in 72 runs.

Cincinnati's Reds will conduct trout camps at Sam Houston State U. in Huntsville for prospect 16 to 22 years of age.

Farold Jackson, Midland High's Black Lone Ranger of 1971, earned his basketball letter at Tarleton State. In high school, the 6-4 Jackson's specialty was coming off the bench and riding to the Bulldogs' rescue in come-from-behind victories.

NHL In Telephone Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League has decided to conduct its amateur player draft by telephone beginning May 28 and to make the drafting order of players secret.

NHL President Clarence Campbell said Wednesday the individual clubs will be allowed to make their own decisions on announcing the names of their draft choices.

Campbell said the league's Board of Governors had approved the regulation at a meeting.

Some NHL general managers have complained that making draft choices public hurts their teams when they compete for players with the rival World Hockey Association, which begins its draft May 31.

The two new franchises in Washington and Kansas City will have first picks. The California Seals will be next as the NHL clubs do their selecting on the basis of the reverse finish in the 1973-74 season.

The NHL switched its All-Star and awards dinner to June from January.

This season's All-Star selections and trophy award winners will be honored at the annual NHL luncheon in Montreal on June 11.

On the draft of juniors, Campbell said that when final selections are made they will be announced only in alphabetical order.

"There never has been a closed draft before in the NHL," he said.

Campbell said that all players who are at least 20 will be eligible for the draft. In addition, each team will be allowed to pick one 18 or 19-year-old in either the first or second round.

Campbell said the telephone draft will be strictly private. There will be no media coverage at league headquarters in Montreal, he said.

$12,000 In Cash

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — More than $12,000 in cash and merchandise will be awarded at tonight's annual Indianapolis 500 Mechanics Banquet at the Convention Center.

All 33 chief mechanics will be honored, with most of the tributes going to A. J. Foyt Sr.

Van Reenen Lost In Crowd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Van Reenen may be history's greatest discus thrower. Only two things are wrong: He hasn't done much to deserve that title and being from South Africa, he's generally forgotten when track buffs discuss the event.

"I'm sort of isolated down there," said the huge veteran of the event. "There's not much competition and I don't throw enough. So naturally, it's tough to remember what to do."

Van Reenen is perhaps the largest world-class track and field athlete competing today. He stands 6 feet 7 and weighs 285 pounds. There's almost no trace of fat and his size 16 hands are so massive they dwarf the nine-inch platter he throws so well.

Van Reenen is the world's leading thrower this year, achieving 223 feet 3 inches at Port Elizabeth, South Africa, last month. A resident of Stellenbosch, a suburb of Cape-town, he is in Los Angeles for three weeks to train with Dick Tomlinson, the coach at El Camino Junior College and the man Van Reenen says is the finest technical coach in the world.

"I'm trying to get it together," he says, "and perhaps get in a few good throws." His next U.S. meet this time around will be Saturday at the California Relays in Modesto.

A graduate of Washington State University, Van Reenen has surpassed the world record of 224-5 a number of times in practice "but I don't like talking about those because they don't count. Right now I just want to do some more weight training and get my technique back to where it was in 1972 and then I think I can really rip it."

Van Reenen, 27, was one of the world's finest discus throwers in 1972, rated fourth on the basis of his consistency. He had a best of 215-10 and says, "I think I could have won the Olympic gold medal because it was very calm, no wind at all, and I'm a good no-wind thrower."

High winds are often advantageous for discus throwers if they can get their four-pound, six-ounce platter up into the gale to carry it.

The problem with 1973 was that Van Reenen's nation was banned from the Olympic because of its apartheid racial policies. It was a terribly depressing year for Van Reenen, and the International Olympic Committee still hasn't made up its mind about the 1976 Games in Montreal.

"Personally, I'm pessimistic for '76," said the giant with a sad face. "The people in South Africa are trying very hard to integrate and I don't think they're getting the credit they deserve. They've got the ball rolling and they're really bending over backwards to gain international status again.

"But I'm not concerned that much about the Olympics. All I want to do is throw a good one, gain some cency and perhaps get the world record. Then at least in my mind I will know I could have won some medals."

Anderson Cops JC Decathlon

PASADENA, Tex. (AP) — Mike Anderson, Brevard, N.C., Junior College has collected his national decathlon trophy and the National Junior College Athletic Association track meet gets into full swing today.

Anderson, who entered Wednesday's second half of the national NJCAA decathlon in second place, rallied with victories in the discus and 400 meter dash to win the event with 6,224 points.

Mike Thompson, Florissant Valley Community College of St. Louis, Mo., held the first day lead but re-injured a groin muscle Wednesday and finished fourth in the overall competition.

Kevin Tarpenning, Lane Community College, Eugene, Ore., had the best overall marks in the pole vault and javelin and finished second with 6,005 points.

Matt Smith, Odessa, Tex., Junior College, finished third with 5,879 points.

It was Anderson's only decathlon competition this season. He had been recovering from a hamstring injury two months ago.

Ranger (Tex.) Junior College, Essex (N.J.) Community College, and defending champion Mesa (Ariz.) Junior College are among the team favorites for the meet, which includes preliminaries today and semi-final and final events Friday and Saturday.

There should be keen competition in today's preliminaries in the 120-yard high hurdles and 100-yard dash.

Rodney Price, Eastern Oklahoma Junior College, Floyd Cavitt, Cisco (Tex.) Junior College and Charles Rones, Lake City, Fla., Junior College, all have best times or 14.1 in the high hurdles.

Don Merrick, Seminole, Fla., Junior College, will be a favorite in the century with an NJCAA record equalling 9.2. Also entered is Ranger's J.T. Hollins at 9.4.

but about five of the 14 hours allotted for qualification runs this year.

Tabbert contended there was sufficient time for qualification attempts by only "about 38 or '39" of the 68 entrants.

Attorneys for the defendants, the Speedway and the U.S. Auto Club, tried for a "temporary mandatory injunction" to stop the race until reopening of qualifications. Judge Frank A. Symmes Jr. overruled the requests and a motion for a change of venue, which would have in effect killed the case also.

Regardless of the outcome, carburetion tests were scheduled today for the 33 cars in the field and two alternates.

Also planned was a five-mile bicycle race around the track teaming the drivers and guests.

Five Midlanders Will Travel In Europe In Summer

Four Midland High School juniors and one Lee High School junior will spend 38 days in Europe this summer as People-To-People Ambassadors.

The five, Bea Somerville, Mark Vasicek, Kathy French and John Hurt of Midland High and Steve Anguish of Lee High, will visit England, France, Austria, the Soviet Union, Denmark and the Netherlands.

The group will leave Midland June 9 and spend two days in Washington, D.C. for orientation by State Department officials. They will leave New York for London June 11 and will return to the United States about July 29.

Other cities on the itinerary include Paris, Vienna, Moscow, Kiev, Copenhagen and Amsterdam.

The People-To-People program was founded in 1956 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. "The program will establish lasting two-way relationships from which international friendship and understanding could grow," the late president said.

While in Europe the students will travel in groups of 10 to 12 and normally be supervised by a teacher from their hometown schools. The Midland students will travel with a group of Lubbock students and be chaperoned by a Lubbock teacher.

White House Gets New Subpoenas

WASHINGTON (AP) — New subpoenas for Watergate evidence have been filed at the White House, this time by two former members of President Nixon's inner circle.

The subpoenas were signed by U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell at the request of lawyers for John D. Ehrlichman, formerly Nixon's chief domestic adviser, and Charles W. Colson, ex-presidential counselor.

Gesell gave the White House until 2 p.m. Friday to respond and said he would grant no more time.

He added that the case might have to be dismissed if the government refuses to turn over evidence deemed necessary for the trial.

"If the court rules that material is relevant to the defense of anyone charged" in the case and are not produced, "the prosecution ends," Gesell said.

The subpoenas include a demand for top secret documents connected with the 1971 Pentagon papers case. They also ask for personal papers left at the White House by Colson and Ehrlichman.

The latest subpoenas were issued in connection with the plumbers case, scheduled for trial in Gesell's court Sept. 9.

Ehrlichman, Colson and three other defendants are charged in the break-in at the California offices of Dr. Lewis Fielding, psychiatrist of Daniel Ellsberg, who leaked the Pentagon papers on U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

Among the subpoenaed papers was a damage assessment submitted under seal to the Supreme Court in the Pentagon papers case. Top secret portions of these files have never been publicly disclosed.

Earlier Wednesday, Gesell had said he would not allow the government to withhold material from the trial on a claim of executive privilege.

The White House has retained some of the papers of staffers who left during the Watergate controversy and referred to them as presidential papers.

Ehrlichman and Colson had complained that preparation of their defense was hindered by the fact that access to their papers still at the White House was limited.

"I don't recognize any executive privilege," Gesell said in a hearing on pretrial motions in the case. "If anything is relevant and material, it is going to be produced by the United States."

"There is not going to be executive privilege or national security," the judge said. "We must proceed with what is relevant in this case. I am not going to start having a secret trial of public matters."

Nixon has under appeal an order that he turn over tapes subpoenaed by the Watergate special prosecutor's office for the Watergate cover-up trial scheduled to start in another court here Sept. 9.

The subpoena signed at Ehrlichman's request Wednesday asks for his personal papers from January 1971 through April 30, 1973, the date he resigned from the White House staff in the heat of rising Watergate scandals.

A separate subpoena requested by Colson asks for his handwritten notes covering conversations he had with Nixon June 14, 1971, and Sept. 15, 1971. The Fielding break-in occurred Sept. 4, 1971.

In another development at Wednesday's hearings, defense lawyer Daniel Schultz read into the record a memo written by David Young, a top lieutenant in the plumbers unit, in which he said Ehrlichman told him: "You don't want to address the question of whether I discussed this (the break-in) with the President."

The plumbers unit was created at the White House to end leaks of defense secrets.

Schultz, attorney for Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio A. Martinez, quoted the memo in arguing his right to plead his clients acted legally because the break-in was ordered by Nixon in the name of national security. Nixon has denied any prior knowledge of the break-in.

Gesell also denied motions by four of the defendants to have their trial separated from the others. The fifth defendant is G. Gordon Liddy, former White House and Nixon campaign official.

Man Given 52 Years In Slaying

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert Lacy Campbell of Milton, Fla., convicted of murder in the 1973 beating death of a Texas man, has been assessed a 52 year prison term.

A state district court jury deliberated only 40 minutes Wednesday on the punishment verdict after earlier finding the defendant guilty of the crime following about five hours of deliberations.

The defendant was convicted of the Oct. 18, 1973 fatal beating of Robert Ray Campbell, 50, a Houston used car salesman who was to have been a government witness in a mail fraud prosecution in Arkansas. The two men were not related.

The prosecution contended that Campbell was hired to kill the victim and killing him in a Houston motel he transported the body to Hattiesburg, Miss., where the body was buried in a shallow grave.

Prosecutor Bob Bennett praised the jury for its work in what he termed a highly complicated trial that lasted six days.

Robert Ray Campbell was one of three men named in a federal indictment accusing them of bankruptcy fraud stemming from the collapse of a mobile home factory in Arkansas.

The other two men named were Thomas Burke and Dwight Parks, both of Waco, Tex.

Convention Delegates Beat Down Judiciary Article

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Constitutional Convention delegates showed up for work today still mumbling "What happened?" over Wednesday's defeat of the Judiciary Article of the proposed new constitution.

Debate of the General Provision Article was scheduled to day, unless convention leaders decide to try for another vote on Judiciary.

The Judiciary Article fell by an 81-74 vote late Wednesday after long speeches of praise and protest. Earlier it escaped being sent back to committee by only eight votes.

Speaker Price Daniel Jr., convention president, said he was "disappointed and surprised" by the vote but did not "see it as a serious setback." He attributed the defeat to a "coalition that developed that felt so strongly about certain things that they couldn't support the article."

Here's How They Voted

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Here is the 74-81 vote by which legislators rejected the proposed judiciary article of a new state constitution Wednesday.

Dallas Per-Pupil Spending Below National Average

DALLAS (AP) — Teacher salaries and per-pupil expenditures in the Dallas Independent School District are well below the national average, an Education Commission of the States report shows.

The commission's 1972-73 report was published last week by the Dallas school district.

Dallas schools Supt. Nolan Estes said the difference lies in inadequate state funding and a lower cost of living in the Southwest.

National per-pupil expenditures averaged $1,034 while Dallas schools spent $878. Teacher salaries nationally averaged $10,643 while Dallas paid an average $9,000 during the period. Current teacher salaries average $9,700, officials said.

"Texas ranks 38th in the nation in the amount of money it puts into education despite the fact that it is ranked the 11th wealthiest," Estes said.

Rep. DeWitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, who guided the article through nine days of stormy debate, said his improvement in the state judiciary system since the days of the Republic." Hale said into committee and rewrite it.

Then it could be brought out for debate after work on the General Provision Article is finished. "This is the most significant improvement in the state judiciary system since the days of the Republic," Hale said just before the disastrous vote.

Most of the opposition centered on provisions that would let the legislature take away judicial powers of county judges and to specify how state prosecutors may appeal questions of law in criminal cases. The state may not appeal now. "We have made a mockery of this judicial article by chopping away at the constitutional rights of the people of the state," said Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas. "This has been a net gain for the people," said Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, speaking for the Judiciary Article as justice, not streamlines it," said Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, "I believe the faith of the people has been shaken in our judicial system by this hodge-podge." The Judiciary Article as voted upon called for unification of the state's court system that included merger of the Texas Supreme Court and Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to handle both civil and criminal matters. The 14 courts of civil appeals would be made regional appellate courts to handle both criminal and civil matters. The legislature would have been given the right to create circuit courts and give them jurisdiction of cases now tried by county courts and county courts at law. Only lawyer judges could sit on the circuit court benches.

Effort To Up Aid To South Vietnam Loses

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's effort to boost military aid to South Vietnam has lost what may be its last hope in Congress.

The House refused Wednesday either to raise or lower present Vietnam aid in a $22.6-billion weapons authorization bill it passed 358 to 37 and sent to the Senate.

A similar bill awaiting Senate action would cut the present $1.126 billion Vietnam aid to $900 million.

At the same time, House-Senate conferees reported out a separate $769 million supplemental military bill recommending rejection of the Pentagon's request to increase Vietnam aid by $266 million through a bookkeeping transfer.

The House also rejected amendments to phase out 100,000 U.S. troops overseas and to cut the $22.6 billion weapons bill by $733 million across the board.

An amendment by Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., to cut the Vietnam aid to $1 billion was rejected 211 to 190.

But Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., abandoned his House Armed Services Committee's proposal to boost the aid to $1.4 billion because of heavy House opposition and moved instead to keep the aid at the present level.

Hebert's motion was approved by voice vote.

The amendment to phase out 100,000 of the 435,000 U.S. ground troops overseas in 18 months was proposed by House Democratic leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. and rejected 240 to 163 after a debate that split Democratic leaders.

Opponents, including Speaker Carl Albert, said the House would not vote to cut 100,000 troops overseas without knowing where they would be withdrawn or what the consequences might be.

Opponents joined Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in saying that any U.S. troop cut in Europe would undercut present negotiations for a mutual reduction of U.S. troops in Europe and Soviet troops in Europe would be useful to one but the Soviets.

Firms Planning To Hike Oil Refining Capacity

WASHINGTON — Oil companies plan to add almost 1.9 million barrels to their daily refining capacity in the U.S. in the years 1974-77, according to an American Petroleum Institute survey just completed.

That would be an increase of 13 per cent above the 14.1 million barrels per day of operable capacity at the beginning of this year.

Of the total new capacity scheduled, 312,310 barrels a day are to be completed during 1974; 582,500 barrels in 1975; 393,000 barrels in 1976; and 575,000 barrels in 1977. The construction plans reflected in the new survey exceed by 138,510 barrels the total reported in a similar survey last August, before the Arab oil embargo.

The companies participating in the API survey represent 94.6 per cent of the total U.S. refining capacity.

In announcing the figures, API President Frank N. Ikard emphasized the need for building more refining facilities and the need for cutting back the growth rate in domestic petroleum demand.

"We hope this marks the beginning of an era of solid growth in our country's ability to process the petroleum products needed by the American people," Ikard said.

"In the past 10 years the daily refining capacity of the U.S. has grown by more than 3.8 million barrels, while the daily domestic demand for petroleum products increased by 6.5 million barrels. Consequently, we have witnessed an ever-widening gap between the petroleum needs of U.S. consumers and our ability to refine those products, and a sharp increase in imports of refined products. When U.S. refining capacity at the beginning of 1973 is compared with total domestic demand for that year, the refining gap exceeds 3.6 million barrels a day."

Ikard said these figures underscore the absolute necessity for the American people to take seriously the need for energy conservation on a long-term basis.

"All of us — industry, government and individual citizens — must do everything we can to reduce the rate at which we consume energy, through eliminating waste and increasing our efficiency. If we do not, the refining gap will continue to widen in spite of everything the oil companies do to expand refinery capacity."

The API president noted that the construction completed in the past decade included major new grass-roots refineries in California, Washington, Louisiana and Illinois, as well as numerous expansions of existing plants.

"The oil companies made these achievements in spite of profitability that was lower than the average of all manufacturing, uncertainty over sources of supply, changing government regulations affecting automotive fuel requirements, and environmentalist opposition to refinery construction in some areas," he said.

Ikard added that shortages of steel and other critical materials may be a delaying factor in future refinery construction.

The API survey shows that most of the increase in capacity scheduled for the next four years will be achieved through expanding existing facilities. The West Coast will get 541,500 barrels of new capacity, the Texas Gulf Coast 380,500, the East Coast 296,000, the Louisiana Gulf Coast 290,000, and the Indiana-Illinois-Kentucky Refining District 226,800 barrels. Smaller increases are planned in other areas.

Ikard pointed out that the cost of building a 150,000-barrel-a-day grass-roots refinery can run between $225 million and $375 million, depending on its complexity.

"Despite the high costs and the environmental problems involved in choosing refinery sites," Ikard said, "it is urgent that our country move ahead in its ability to process the products that are so vital to our economy."

New Gallup Poll To Reveal Rising Anti-Nixon Trend

SMITHFIELD, R.I. (AP) — Pollster George Gallup said Wednesday night the survey his organization will release Sunday shows a continued increase in the number of Americans who think President Nixon should be impeached or otherwise removed from office.

Gallup, questioned at a news conference before he spoke at a meeting at the annual dinner of the Pawtucket-Blackstone Valley Chamber of Commerce, refused to say whether the new poll shows that a majority now favors the President's removal from office. A Gallup poll released about 10 days ago reported a 5 to 4 majority opposed to Nixon's stepping down.

Gallup also said the top echelon of his firm is "weighing very carefully" whether to suspend the survey results regarding impeachment in view of discussion in the press as to whether such surveys unduly influence Congress during impending impeachment proceedings.

Sandhills Club To Hold Shoot

Sunday marks the beginning of a new era for Permian Basin handgunners. The Sandhills Pistol Club will hold its first 1800 match at their new 25-yard pistol range at Notres, located 22 miles west of Odessa on the Kermit Highway.

An 1800 match means a shooter expends 180 rounds valued at 10 points each. During the course of the match, the shooter must fire 60 rounds of 22 caliber, 60 rounds of centerfire (.32 caliber to .45 caliber), and 60 rounds of .45 caliber. A shooter may fire only one category or all three. Awards are given in each class plus a grand total winner.

Matches will be approved by the NRA National Rifle Association and the shooter can build points for national shooting awards.

The NRA shooter classifications and their percentage levels are as follows: marksman — 85 or less; sharpshooter — 85 to 90; expert — 90 to 95; master — 95 to 100.

The theft occurred sometime since Sunday, Patrolmen Shirley Young and Bill Boyd were told.

The burglar broke a window to get inside the church.

Kennedy Sees Hope For Early Health Program Passage

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says there are broad areas of agreement between the Nixon administration and Congress on the essentials of a national health insurance plan.

He told the nation in a radio address Wednesday "a new spirit of compromise and progress is in the air" that may make it possible to enact such a program this year.

Kennedy, D-Mass., said the health insurance bill he is sponsoring with Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., is better in many respects than the Nixon proposal.

Kennedy's speech was delivered as the Democratic congressional majority's reply to an address on the same subject by Nixon Monday.

The President spoke of compromise, too, but said he would not yield on the basic principles of his plan.

One of the principles, he said, was that the program must operate through private insurance companies and not "a costly, federal-dominated structure."

The Kennedy-Mills plan would be financed through and operated by the Social Security system.

The senator said among its advantages, including elimination of what he described as large profits made by the private companies, coverage of the individual from job to job or between jobs or when he was retired, and a tax that would be higher for persons well-off and lower for the poor.

Kennedy said the basic coverage of hospitalization and physician services in the two bills was about the same.

But his measure contains benefits lacking in the Nixon bill, such as medical care for pregnant women and small children and greater protection against catastrophic illness.

One major hurdle to enactment of a far-reaching national health insurance plan this year is the jammed schedule of the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance committees, which must act on it.

Each panel is holding public hearings on the subject, but they also must consider this year such important measures as tax reform, international trade, tax increases for oil companies and an increase in the national debt limit.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., a Finance Committee member, says he sees no chance for enactment of health insurance in 1974 if the House votes to impeach President Nixon and the Senate conducts a trial on the charges.

In testimony prepared for the House Ways and Means Committee today, a spokesman for the the nation's private health insurers said his industry supported a government-private partnership but strongly opposed an all-government insurance plan.

"We are not quarreling about goals. We are arguing about means," said Fredrick E. Rathgeber, executive vice president of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, who was representing the Health Insurance Association of America, the American Life Insurance Association and the Life Insurers Conference.

He said a partial or total government takeover of health insurance would be "inefficient, inflexible and an unnecessary use of taxes urgently needed to deal with other domestic needs."

Student Loan Fraud Probe In Progress

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A federal official says evidence is being gathered "to determine whether fraud or unlawful action under fair trade laws has occurred" in federally insured student loan programs.

Gene Miller of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare regional office in Dallas was quoted in an interview published Wednesday.

Miller, senior program officer for student financial aid at the Dallas HEW office, also said his office has evidence some educational institutions misrepresented loans, telling students the loans were grants.

Banks May Be Involved

And, said Miller, "We think some banks may have taken a fee from the educational institutions to make the loans."

Miller was in San Antonio this week to meet with college officials and bankers on legislation concerning federally insured loans to students.

Miller said 20,000 borrowers in the federally insured loan programs have defaulted on their notes in Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma, the five states in his region.

Nationwide, defaults total $100 million, he said.

Miller said many students who have defaulted attended private business schools. Some students felt "they had been hood" by the schools and decided not to pay back the loans, he said.

He said there has been an abnormally high dropout rate and default rate among the private business school students in the student loan program.

No Limitation Statute

Begun in 1965, the program has facilitated loans of $6 billion nationwide.

Miller said students who have defaulted "will be tracked the rest of their lives." He said there is no statute of limitations on those unpaid loans.

Miller said borrowers in default in Texas and its four neighboring states may face lawsuits.

"We have employed professional collectors to attempt to recover the funds and determine which students to take to court," said Miller.

He said a large number of cases will be referred to the U.S. attorney's office "to file suits in federal courts."

"Some cases will go to court within 90 days," said Miller.

Chamber Backs D-FW-Europe Direct Flights

Midland Chamber of Commerce directors passed a resolution urging direct air travel between Dallas-Fort Worth Airport and Europe Wednesday at their regular monthly board meeting at the Midland Petroleum Club.

The chamber resolution will be presented at a June hearing in Phoenix. Twenty-six airports are seeking the direct-flight status from the Civil Aeronautics Board.

City Attorney Joe Nuesse will appear at the hearing in support of the request.

Two new board members from Student Involvement Through Community Action (SITCA) were introduced. Paul Lucas from Midland High School and Steve Seay from Lee High School will represent the student on the chamber board next year. They will replace Robin Yeager and Kathy Cook, who received certificates of appreciation from chamber president Ken Jastrow. Committee reports were also presented.

Lowly Penny Creating Major Problem

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, THURS., MAY 23, 1974-5C

Balloon Trips Set Here This Weekend

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — If you begin your day's activities with a pocketful of pennies, you soon will have none—thanks to sales taxes, those 89-cent bargains and an array of former 10-cent items that now sell for 11 and 12 cents.

shape for the next day's transaction. You should be, but you probably won't be. The pennies that you gathered yesterday and which could be used today quite likely ended up in a coffee jar or a desk drawer, retired from circulation as a nuisance that wears through trouser pockets or handbags.

And so, while currency of all sorts declines in value at a steady pace, the demand for the lowly penny is rising. The U.S. Mint claims there is a lost lode of copper made up of billions of these lowliest coins in the realm.

—Just because Americans in the past few years have taken to saving almost any kind of solid object—medals, commemorative plates, gold coins, barbed wire. Presumably they present stability in an unstable world.

—Fears exist that a less expensive metal will be substituted for the copper in pennies. Aluminum is most commonly referred to as a substitute.

The Permian Aeronautics Balloon Club will host 20 to 25 balloon groups Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with ascent sites to be announced later. The headquarters will be the Downtowner Motor Inn and numerous races have been planned.

Mike Choucalas, president, and Eddie Kerley, vice president, have attended various out of state meets and think that the Midland-Odessa area is a natural for a ballooning center.

Each brightly colored, propane-fueled balloon will carry two or three passengers. They can go as far as the prevailing wind cares to take them. Ascents are not ordinarily made if the wind is over 10 knots per hour.

Balloons may be launched from any clear spot as the lift comes from the fuel burner. Although these balloons may go up to 12,000 feet, they are usually kept below 500 feet for a better view of the countryside.

The bag is 50 feet in diameter at the top and its height is 70 feet. Its volume is 56,000 pounds and flights average 2 1/2 to three hours on a warm day and around four hours with a lighter load on a cold day.

The envelope fabric is made of reinforced, ripstop nylon which is very light but very strong and treated so that it will not support a flame. Little holes of up to one foot square are of no consequence in maneuverability.

Persons interested in joining the balloon club are urged to contact the Downtowner Motor Inn.

Coast Said In Danger

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane escape routes from Galveston Island would be cut off by a six-foot surge in tides because of sinking land, a National Weather Service spokesman says.

Tides of five feet would isolate the Bolivar Peninsula. Dave Benton, Galveston Weather Service office chief, made the estimations Wednesday while saying land subsidence, or land sinking, has made the Upper Texas Coast "one of the most vulnerable parts of the United States to hurricanes."

Area Dropping Fast
Texas Coastal Plain areas have dropped three to seven feet, Benton said. Some areas dropped as much as four feet since the last major hurricane to rip the Texas coast, Carla, came inland in 1961.

Benton said many of the 2.5-million persons subject to damaging hurricanes along the Upper Texas Coast are new residents of the area who never have experienced a major hurricane.

"Along the coast you've got to make up your mind early about getting out before the approach of a hurricane," he warned.

Tides of eight feet would cover parts of Interstate 45, the major escape route for Galveston Bay area residents. Tides of 10 feet would "virtually cover" Galveston Island and could result in tidal effect of 20 feet in the Baytown area, he added.

Hurricane strength winds cause water to stack up in upper bay regions and aggravate flooding conditions.

16-Year Cycles
Storms causing tides of 10 to 15 feet strike about every decade and the last such storm to hit the Galveston area blasted inland 14 years ago, Benton said.

Residents along the upper Galveston Bay area will experience tidal effects of five to 10 feet greater than residents of Galveston Island from a hurricane, he added.

Benton made the remarks at a briefing attended by government and Civil Defense officials in preparation for the 1974 hurricane season.

The weather service official spent much of the briefing emphasizing that the hurricane danger has been heightened by land subsidence.

Housing Recovery Projected For '74 'Dies In Its Cradle'

NEW YORK (AP) — While the future of housing may already seem as forlorn as an abandoned cellar excavation, still another dismal report has been issued by an important mortgage banker.
The almost impossible situation faced by the industry is exemplified by a massive outflow of funds from mortgage lenders, by rising mortgage rates, and by materials costs that are rising at an unpredictable rate.

But a report by Advance Mortgage Corp. of Detroit suggests that still another factor adds to the pummeling being administered to housing. In spite of pay increases, that is, customers are literally unable to buy.
Advance Mortgage summarized the predicament this way: "Home-buying costs have been rising some 3 1/2 times as fast as their customers' income." This indicates that, even if they can borrow, many customers won't do so.

"In the past 12 months," the report continues, "average new home prices have increased at least 18 per cent, and mortgage interest rates on a 90 per cent mortgage are now in the range of 9 1/2 per cent where usury laws permit, compared to 8 1/4 per cent a year ago.
That adds up to a 28 per cent increase in the monthly payments on a typical home mortgage — compared to an 8 per cent increase in average personal income."

And the sales prices might go higher still, Irving Rose, president of Advance Mortgage, a subsidiary of the First National City Corp., notes that while raw land costs have leveled off, total development costs have risen. Cost increases are said to be especially severe in petroleum-based components such as asphalt paving and shingles and plastic pipe, and metal items such as sewer pipes and reinforcing bars.
"Builders are complaining they don't know what their houses will cost," Rose relates.

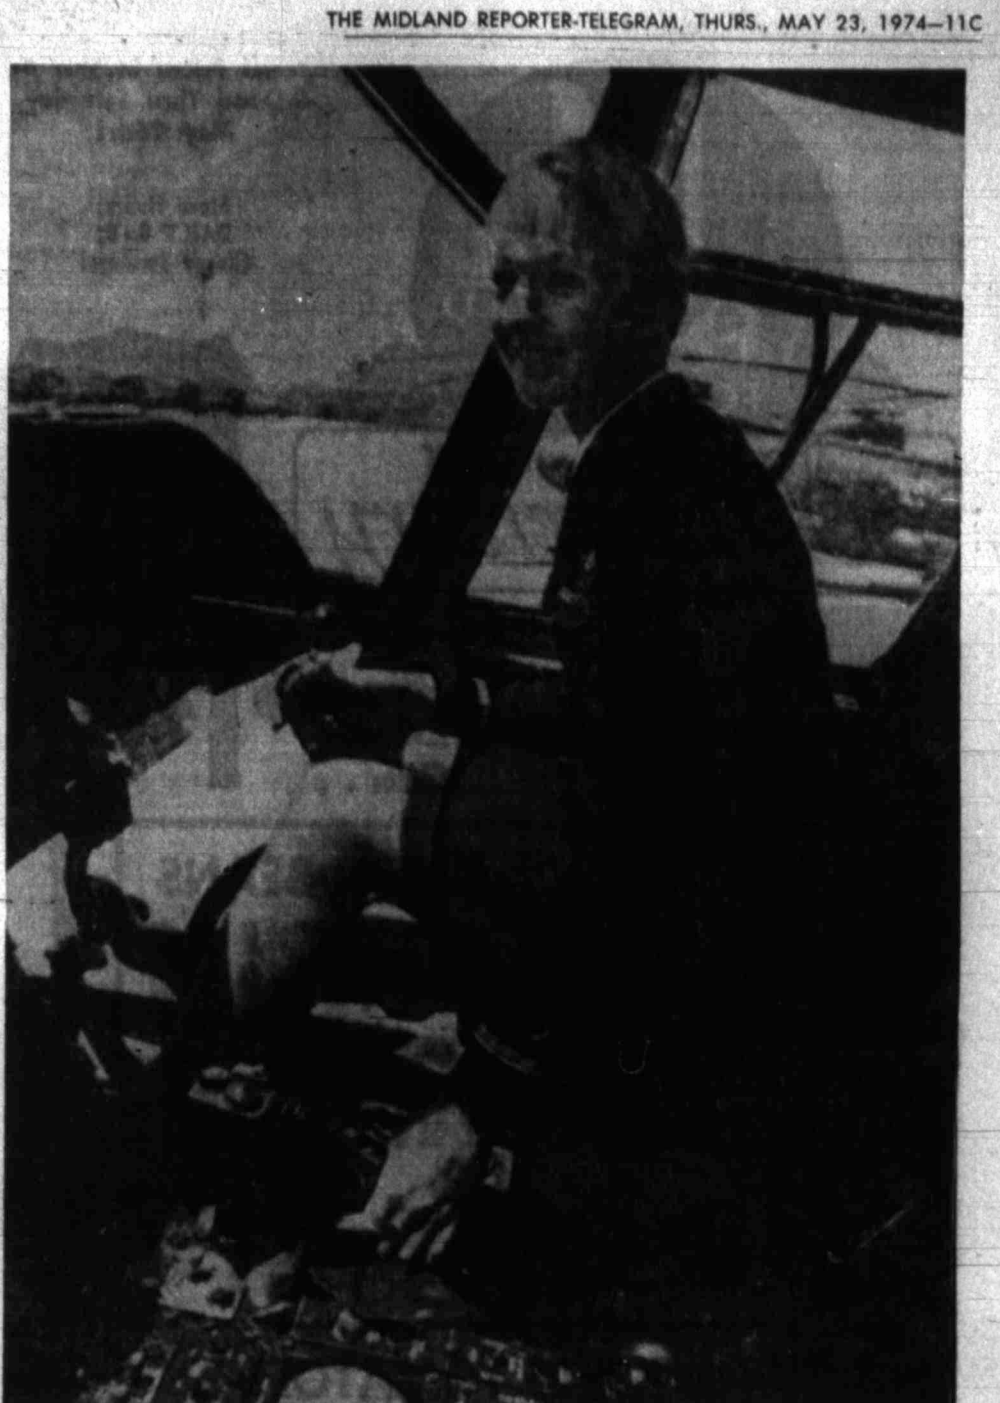

In Florida, some single-family home builders are completing entire tracts in advance of any attempt to sell so they will know their complete costs before setting a price. Others are pre-selling but with escalation clauses.
Advance Mortgage concludes: "The housing recovery projected for this year has died in its cradle."

Pope Paul VI Proclaims World Holy Year In '75
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today solemnly proclaimed 1975 a Holy Year and urged world governments to consider granting amnesty to all prisoners, especially political prisoners.
In a papal bull — the most authoritative form of papal message — the pontiff also called on the Roman Catholic Church to bring all movements started in the wake of the 1965 Ecumenical Council, called Vatican II, under the discipline of the church hierarchy.
The proclamation came one year after the announcement of the Holy Year. Pope Paul declared that the theme of the Holy Year would be "renewal and reconciliation."

The bull strictly followed practices observed by the Holy See since Boniface VIII ordered Rome's first Holy Year in 1300. According to tradition, the bull was issued on Ascension Day.
A similar appeal for amnesty in the 1950 Holy Year by Pius XII was heeded by several states, including Spain, Brazil and Chile.
The Pope called on Roman Catholics the world over to seek a "just and proper balance" of the trends that have sprouted in the Catholic Church in the decade since Vatican II.
The pontiff called for "balance between tradition and renewal," between "free and spontaneous activity... and fidelity to laws based on the command of Christ and of the pastors of the church."

Deputies Bringing Robbery Suspects Back To Tall City
Sheriff's officers are due here today with two robbery suspects arrested at Bossier City, La., this week.
Deputies Bill Cornell and Kirven Roper left Wednesday to pick up William Rosenbalm, 48, of Odessa and Fred Sullivan, 27, of Louisiana.
The men are charged with robbery with serious bodily injury in connection with the May 12 beating and robbery in Midland County of R. D. Abbot of Odessa.
The Midland County Grand Jury considered the robbery case against Sullivan and Rosenbalm Tuesday but passed it for consideration at a future session.
They were arrested Monday about three hours after Bossier City police received the teletyped message they were wanted.
A hearing was held there Tuesday and Rosenbalm and Sullivan agreed to extradition to Midland.

Pollster Says Government Secrecy Kills Confidence
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pollster Louis Harris says a key requirement for restoring confidence in government is to "let the people observe in fact how it operates and, indeed, to involve the people in to help make decisions."
Harris told a Senate Government Operations subcommittee Wednesday the public no longer accepts traditional arguments for preserving secrecy in Congress and other segments of the federal government. The panel is considering legislation to curtail government secrecy.
He said it is "no happenstance that less than a third of the American people can express any degree of high confidence in any branch of the federal government today."
Harris said the public generally suspects that those elected or appointed to high federal posts "are using their power for their own rather than the country's benefit."

Pork Producers In Texas Approve Research Program
AUSTIN (AP) — Texas pork producers have approved a new research, education, promotion and control program, Agriculture Commissioner John White said today.
The referendum was approved by a vote of 1,163 to 156. Assessments to finance the various programs will be administered by a board of 15 members elected at the same time the issue was approved. They will hold their organizational meeting at Texas Tech University May 30.
Board members will decide at the first meeting of the amount of the assessment to be made at the point of the first sale of slaughter hogs.
Board members elected are: Donald Peters, Sunray; Elmer McLaughlin, Pampa; T. Euel Limer, Lubbock; Floyd Carl Borchardt, Crowell; Harold M. Fritts, Stephenville; Sam Sparger, Grapevine; Parker George, Brownwood; Donald J. Osburn, Llano; Don Gray, Snyder; Calvin Rinn, Thrall; Harvey Smith, La Grange; Fred Woodley, Sabinola; Oscar Hahn, New Braunfels; Mack Norris, Robstown, and John S. Carroll Jr., Palestine.

House Panel Postpones Convention Fund Action
AUSTIN (AP) — Committee action on requests for more money to finance the remaining days of the Texas Constitutional Convention has been postponed until Monday.
The postponement came after Rep. Joe Allen, D-Baytown, head of the House Administration Committee, told the convention committee Wednesday that the House was due $1.5 million as "reimbursement" of convention expenses the House had incurred. He did not detail the expenses.
Allen sought to add the $1.5 million to a resolution that would appropriate $1.1 million from general revenue funds for convention operations through July 30, the deadline for the convention to adjourn.
"“We have been picking up the tab for a lot of things the convention should be paying for,” Allen told the committee.
Later Convention President Price Daniel Jr., a sponsor of the $1.1-million resolution, said "the authors are not going to go along with any reimbursement" as part of their budget plan. "If the Senate or House spent over and above (its appropriation) they did so at their own risk," he said.
Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel said the Senate had no plans to seek reimbursement.
The convention needs more money after May 31 because the original $1.8-million appropriation will be gone by that date. Convention officials first predicted the convention would be over by the end of May.

Parr's Half-Sister Named Water District Manager

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) — The Duval County water district, which played a prominent part in the trial of Duval County Judge Archer Parr, has a new general manager today—Parr's half-sister.

Appointed to the post was Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Ellis, who testified in behalf of Parr at his recent trial. She had been a clerk in the office.

Leo Sepulveda, the former district office manager who testified against Parr, now carries the title of bookkeeper.

Parr, 48, was convicted of lying to a grand jury when he

Duval 'Duke' Delinquent In Bar Dues

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Duval County political boss George Parr has not paid his annual dues to the State Bar of Texas, which under state law lawyers must do to practice in Texas, The San Antonio Express reports.

The newspaper said in its today's edition that Parr had not been in good standing with the State bar for the last 10 years.

However, Parr has received a retainer for legal services to the Duval County Reclamation and Conservation District.

The 73-year-old Parr has been convicted of federal income tax evasion. He was assessed a five-year prison sentence, five years probation and fined $14,000.

No Payment Since 1964

Although licensed as an attorney in March 1926, he did not join the legal association until Jan. 23, 1964, State Bar records show.

He was retained by the water district in 1966.

The bar association shows that Parr has been "delinquent" in paying his dues since 1964.

Parr's nephew, Archer Parr, who has been convicted in federal court of lying to a grand jury, became a licensed attorney in 1956 and joined the state bar at that time. He has paid his dues annually, the Express said.

George Parr would have to either pay his back dues or submit a written statement he has not practiced law since 1964 in order to be reinstated with the bar.

Memphis Elevator Explosion, Blaze Hurts 11 Workmen

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An explosion and flash fire in a grain elevator injured 11 workmen Wednesday, trapping four of the men on top of the 15-story structure for an hour and a half, authorities said.

All 11 suffered burns. Authorities said three of the men were in critical condition, two had been seriously hurt, and the other six were in fair condition.

The force of the explosion went upward through the concrete structure, owned by the Pillsbury Co. and located on President's Island in the Mississippi River.

The blast blew off a metal equipment building on top and scattered corrugated metal about the area. Windows in an office building about 100 feet away were shattered.

The explosion, believed caused by a fire in the basement, firemen said, could have occurred when dust particles ignited. But they said the cause was not known.

Motorman Blamed In Chicago Crash

CHICAGO (AP) — A motorman was blamed Wednesday by the Chicago Transit Authority for the crash of two elevated trains that injured 224 passengers May 10.

The CTA said the motorman, Ronald J. Walton, 28, has been fired. He had been a motorman since 1969.

Walton failed "to keep a safe distance and to operate his train within a speed which would have enabled him to stop safely when the train ahead made a stop at an unexpected place," the CTA report said.

said $121,500 in payments to him from the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation district in the late 1960s were for private legal work he performed.

The water district's board secretary, F. H. Canales of Benevides, confirmed by telephone Wednesday that Mrs. Ellis was appointed to the post. The board set her salary Friday at $1,200 monthly.

Canales and Sepulveda of San Diego both confirmed Mrs. Ellis also will be purchasing agent and collections coordinator for the district.

Parr was sentenced to six five-year prison terms, two of which run consecutively, and ordered to pay $63,810.80 in fines and court costs.

At the time of his sentencing Monday, he reiterated to U.S. District Court Judge D. W. Suttle his trial testimony that he did the legal work.

The government, which has been investigating the water district for two years claimed

Both Parrs are appealing their convictions.

Sepulveda, a small bespectacled man, testified at Archer Parr and Parr's trial he was unaware of any legal work Parr performed.

George Parr, Archer's uncle, who has been convicted of informing the defense sought to charac-terize Sepulveda, despite his title of office manager, as merely as bookkeeper at the water district offices here.

Canales and Sepulveda confirmed officially made Sepulveda's title to bookkeeper on Friday. His salary remains the same.

Mrs. Ellis testified she saw legal pads containing Archer Parr's handwriting stored at the office. Some of the notes on the pads were citations of law cases having to do with water, she said.

Attempts to reach Mrs. Ellis Wednesday were unsuccessful.

'Texas' Rehearsals Set This Weekend

CANYON — Cast and crew of "Texas," the widely-acclaimed musical drama of Texas Panhandle history, will gather here this weekend to begin rehearsals for the ninth annual edition of the colorful show.

"Texas" will open June 19 in Pioneer Amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon State Park and will play nightly except Sundays through Aug. 24. The box office has opened to accept mail orders of tickets for all performances.

Members of the cast and crew and hospitality staff (in all, approximately 140 people) will gather Sunday in the Branding Iron Theatre on the West Texas State University campus here to meet the production staff and directors of "Texas," and to receive their schedules for the intensive rehearsal period prior to the June 19 opening—a schedule calling for an eight-hour-a-day, six-day-a-week rehearsal period leading up to opening night.

Joining the cast of dancers, singers and actors in the production are seven actors and actresses who will be filling the principal roles in the production. Four will be in the production for the first time this season, the other three are veterans of past seasons.

Uncle Henry will be played by Dennis Sook, of Minnesota and New York, who comes directly from a tour with the National Shakespeare Company which covered 30,000 miles in eight months. His early theatrical experience was in Minneapolis and St. Paul and he has B.A. degrees in speech and theater from Mankato College in Minnesota, and

Horst Best Speaker For Tall Town Club

George Horst was judged best speaker by members of the Tall Town Toastmasters club at their weekly meeting in Sambo's Restaurant.

Most improved speaker was Bob Pillehay, best evaluator was Bob Vernon and best tabletopics speaker was Jon Untiedt.

Line of Descent

Modern domesticated dogs developed from Tomarctus, a wild, wolf-like mammal that lived 15 million years ago.

Augustana College in Illinois. He has had advance study at Southern Illinois University.

The role of Calvin Armstrong will be played this year by Don Washburn. A student at West Texas State University, Washburn's major credits include "A Man for All Seasons," "A Company of Wayward Saints," "Camelot," "A Train Going Somewhere," "The Marriage" and "Macbeth." At the recent WTSU "Awards Night" for 1973-74 in the Branding Iron Theater, he received awards for his roles of Tesman in "Hedda Gabler" and the deaf mute in "Madwoman of Chailot" and for his direction of Noel Coward's "Private Lives."

Always a favorite with "Texas" audiences is the strong-willed young woman, Kate, who this season will be played by Robin McKenzie Goodhue. In private life Mrs. James Goodhue of Amarillo, she has made numerous stage appearances in the Amarillo area, being particularly well-known for her work with the Diamond Horseshoe Supper Theater and the High Plains Center for Performing Arts. Other credits include performances at the Okoboji Summer Theater at Spirit Lake, Iowa, the Front Street Theater in Memphis, Tenn., and Colony Catherine near Amarillo. While working toward an advanced degree at WTSU this year, she appeared as "Z" in "Village Wooming" and as Hedda Gabler in the Ibsen drama of the same title.

For the seventh season, Jerry Williams will be appearing as Tuck to match wits with Kate. He has whetted his comic skills to a fine point with stage work in West Texas State University and with community theaters. During the day, Williams owns and manages a shop of antiques and specialties; he also serves as a clinician in speech pathology, a field in which he has professional certification.

The fourth featured role in "Texas," Dave Newberry, will be played by newcomer Dwayne Hood. Hood holds a degree in music from Texas Tech University and is choral director at the Denver City High School. He is also director of the Denver City Community Chorus and has produced and directed: "The Sound of Music," "The Music Man," "Brigadoon," and "Lil Abner," while acting credits include roles in most of the above plus the Devil in "The Devil and Daniel Webster" and the Old Man in "Androcles and the Lion."

Another "Texas" character,

Elsie, comes on stage in the show shortly after Dave. For the sixth year, after an absence of two seasons, Neva Chowning will appear in the role. She trained for her responsibility as leading lady with many appearances in important roles during her years at West Texas State University; where she received a B.S. degree. She has returned for graduate work at WTSU after becoming a licensed real estate saleswoman in Austin. Her major field is business and communications and combines work in speech and finance. During this year at WTSU, she directed "Hedda Gabler," played the lead in Noel Coward's "Private Lives," and was elected best actress for the year for her portrayal of Countess Aurelia in the "Madwoman of Chailot."

The seventh featured role in-produced in the "Texas" script is that of Aunt Anna. For the fifth season, Jane Lipscomb will be in the part. As a member of two pioneer ranching families, she knows her role from the experiences of her own grandmother. She received her B.A. degree from Texas Women's university and did graduate work at Columbia University. While in New York, she was a member of the Daltrey Opera Company. During the past year, she has given much time to the Amarillo Little Theater, appearing in the musical "Mame" and working diligently to arrange and publicize the ALT Costume Shop in downtown Amarillo.

Information on tickets is available by mail from the "Texas" box office, P.O. Box 268, Canyon 79015. The box office telephone number is (806) 655-2182.

Dallas Symphony Season Concluding

DALLAS — The Dallas Symphony Orchestra will bring its 1973-74 subscription season to a close with concerts tonight and Friday night.

The second concert of this final pair of subscription concerts was changed from Saturday night to Friday night to accommodate the tight schedule of the guest soloist, violinist Isaac Stern, who could not remain in Dallas through Saturday.

Stern will be heard with the DSO in performances of the Brahms Violin Concerto. The orchestra, under the baton of guest conductor Stanislaw Skrowaczewski of the Minnesota Symphony will perform the Symphony No. 3 of Anton Bruckner.

The name of Isaac Stern is familiar not only to the world's concert goers by virtue of his extensive personal appearances and through the dozens of LP recordings he has made, but also as a tireless champion for preservation of America's cultural landmarks and its musical heritage. His leadership in the fight to save New York's historic Carnegie Hall from demolition in 1960 was instrumental in a New York City government decision to preserve the structure as a national historic landmark. He is a founder-member of the National Council on the Arts, board chairman of the America-Israel Cultural Foundation and a member of numerous musical and cultural organizations.

Dance Workshop Slated At Tech May 27-June 14

LUBBOCK — A dance workshop to be held on the Texas Tech University campus May 27-June 14 will offer non-credit courses in ballet, jazz, tap and modern dance.

Chamber Fetes End For Summer

The Midland Chamber of Commerce Early Bird Breakfast series closed for the summer following an event this morning in Rowdey Inn sponsored by Roberts Realtors.

The hour of nonsense and entertainment featured music by The Origin, a group of Lee High School singers. The breakfast group also voted to give $25 to the Lee choir for its trip this summer to Vienna, Austria.

Among prizes handed out were a "free house" from Roberts Realtors that turned out to be a bird house, and a "trip by air" which was a flight on a hot-air balloon, destination unknown, donated by the Permian Basin Balloon Club.

Evening classes for teens and adults also are being planned. There will be sessions for beginner, intermediate and advanced levels in jazz and modern dance May 27-31, and in ballet and jazz June 3-14.

Tap is being offered in addition to regular classes, with fee to be extra.

A noteworthy professional staff has been assembled for the workshop, including:

Igor Schewzoff, former solo artist with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo and the Original Ballet Russe; Karen Steele and Manzell Senter, both members of the Repertory Dance Theater of Utah; Betty Ferguson, assistant professor of dance at Southern Methodist University; Sheila Hart, solo artist with the Marietta Cobb Ballet company of Georgia, and Diana Love and Peggy Willis, both members of the Texas Tech University dance faculty.

Registration for the workshop will be this coming Sunday afternoon in the dance studios in the Women's Gym on the TTU campus. Ballet auditions are scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. with modern and jazz auditions to begin at 3 p.m. Additional information on the workshop and registration procedures may be obtained from the Department of Physical Education for Women at Texas Tech University.

Big Spring Senior Wins Kris Brown Scholarship

Miss Pierce will study piano with Mary Skalicky, head of the Howard College fine arts department.

The Kris Brown Scholarship is awarded annually by the Big Spring Music Study Club of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs, and the Big Spring Piano Teachers Forum in memory of Mrs. Rene Brown of Big Spring.

streamlining of punishable offenses.

"We have shut up too many in the past," Viktor Pickl, department head in the ministry's penal administration section, told The Associated Press. "In fact, Austria, a country of about 7 1/2 million people, tops the European list with 117 prisoners per 100,000 citizens."

The official said the penal administration reform would "depopulate" Austrian prisons, introducing a system of fines up to 30,000 Schilling — $1,500 dollars — or more, for sentences that have so far carried a six-month term or less.

As to the absence of prison riots, Pickl explained "our system and the Austrian mentality — which hesitates taking drastic action even as far as criminals are concerned — have mostly ruled out major disturbances."

Under Austrian penal administration, there are no exclusive "maximum security" prisons, and the really tough cases are spread evenly over the country, apart from mentally disturbed or sexually abnormal convicts, who are given special treatment.

VIENNA (AP) — Prisoners are entitled to an annual ten-day vacation as of next year in Austria, a country where jailbreaks are rare and occasional escapes are nearly always motivated by jealousy.

While not all of the 8,400 pre-trial and convicted inmates in Austria's 63 penitentiaries will automatically benefit from the new law, officials said an overall maximum two-week holiday can be obtained by those whose term is at least two years, with one quarter already served.

Life-term convicts will also get home leave if their conduct is satisfactory and they have been jailed for seven years.

Essential Precondition

But officials in the Justice Ministry made it clear the essential precondition for a prisoner to don civilian clothes for a five-day furlough twice a year would be the certainty that he return on time without committing further offenses.

"It is hardly conceivable to re-integrate offenders into society by totally excluding them from their human environment. This is why we are trying to provide more contacts with the family and the outside world," Heinrich Keller of the Justice Ministry, a state prosecutor, said.

Red Cross Offers Safety Rules For Backyard Swimming Pools

If you have a swimming pool in your backyard, the American Red Cross has some safety advice for you.

"With more than a million home pools in operation this year, many of them in Midland, several million people will be using them," says Mrs. Glen Carnett, water safety chairman of the Midland Red Cross chapter.

"The first safety measure a home pool owner should take is to make sure every adult user of the pool knows how to swim and that they swim only under responsible supervision," she said. "Insist on this, and see that every child at the pool—your children and their friends—learns how to swim. Most Red Cross chapters give swimming courses."

The Red Cross publication "Teaching Johnny to Swim," is a manual for parents and is designed to assist them in teaching their own children to swim. This booklet is available through local Red Cross chapters.

The Red Cross gives these other home pool safety tips:

1. Install a safety post, four feet high, to hold simple equipment for quick rescue of persons in danger of drowning. The post should hold a long pole for reaching to the victim, a heaving line and emergency telephone numbers. A poster (ARC 1021) giving safety instructions, can be obtained from Red Cross chapters.
2. Pool owners should forbid the use of television sets, record players and radios at the poolside unless they are battery operated. Electric lighting by the pool should be installed only by a competent licensed electrician. Electrical outlets should not be installed near a pool. A ground fault circuit interrupter can be bought to protect all electrical lines to pumping, filtering and lighting system.
3. Never permit swimming alone. Never leave a child alone near a pool, even for a few seconds.

4. Enclose the pool with a fence and gate with a lock to prevent unauthorized use.
5. Make sure that at least one person at hand knows artificial respiration, rescue methods and basic first aid techniques.
6. Use a buoyed line to separate shallow and deep water areas, and keep non-swimmers in the shallow area.
7. Allow no running, pushing or boisterous play around the pool.

8. Keep the poolside area clear of bottles, glasses and other sharp objects.
9. Maintain clean, clear water. Consult the local health department for pool sanitation rules.
10. Consult the city or county attorney about your responsibilities for other persons' safety, with respect to insurance and other protection.
11. Do not let people swim when overheated or during electrical storms. Do not let non-swimmers use inflated toys—they may slip away. Do not permit diving into unsafe depths.

12. Learn proper rescue techniques for victims of diving injuries and have a backboard available for transportation of such victims.
13. Cover the pool if you are going away or if pool is to be unused for a long period.

Thundershowers Dampen East U.S.

By The Associated Press
Thundershowers dampened the East today, while fair skies brought relief to much of the nation's waterlogged midsection.

Rain washed an area from the Ohio Valley to the Middle Atlantic Coast and the coastal sections of New England. Thundershower activity also extended from the Ohio Valley to the Gulf Coast, dumping nearly 2 inches of rain at Knoxville, Tenn., and about 1 inch at Atlanta, Ga.

In the wake of floods that forced hundreds from their homes Wednesday in North Central Illinois, Gov. Daniel Walker asked President Nixon to declare the state a disaster area.

During the night, hail the size of ping pong balls pounded an area in North Central Oklahoma. A tornado was sighted in the same area, but there were no reports of damage or injuries. Elsewhere, light rain developed in the Pacific Northwest and in Southern California.

Generally skies were clear over the central portion of the nation, partly cloudy in the West and cloudy in the East.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 85 at Blythe, Calif., to 37 at Lewistown, Mont. Ex-Rangers To Honor Capt. Sterling

SAN ANTONIO — The Former Texas Rangers Association will hold "Capt. W. W. 'Bill' Sterling Day" at San Antonio June 2 in honor of the late Ranger.

Sterling was one of only two Texas Rangers to serve as Adjutant General of Texas. He joined the Rangers in 1915 and during his career captured border bandits, bank robbers and smugglers and kept the peace in lawless oil boom towns.

After retiring from the Rangers, Sterling wrote a book entitled "Trails and Trials of the Texas Rangers." His widow, Mrs. Zora Sterling of Corpus Christi, will autograph copies of the book during the festivities June 2.

The autograph party will be held at the Texas Ranger Museum in San Antonio's Brackenridge Park.

In-Home Tornado Shelters Best

LUBBOCK — Threatening clouds form, the sky darkens and weather reports say a tornado watch is in effect and caution to "stay tuned for further developments."

"Each year, more than three billion man hours are spent under tornado watches in the United States," said Dr. Ernst W. Kiesling, chairman of the Department of Civil Engineering at Texas Tech University. "In about half these watches a tornado is reported."

"It is no wonder that people become uneasy or scared when a watch is changed to a tornado warning, especially when they live in high tornado frequency areas and they have no place to go," Kiesling told some $3 million inspections of some two dozen cities stuck by tornadoes. The inspections revealed that a small room in the central portion of a house frequently remained standing, even when the rest of the house was severely damaged or destroyed by tornadoes in a significant number of instances.

A bathroom, closet or interior hallway can economically be bolstered to provide occupant protection and still be used for other purposes," he said.

"In areas where tornadoes occur frequently, people cannot be expected to move to a cellar or community shelter each time a weather watch or warning is issued," Kiesling said.

The alternative is to wait until a tornado is sighted and then seek shelter. The greatest possible risk is encountered in moving from the house to a separate shelter.

Basements usually offer protection from severe winds, and are accessible, but construction costs are prohibitive for many home owners.

"If a basement room is to be useful for purposes other than a shelter, it must be of a reasonable size, say 150 square feet. Underground, such a room is likely to cost $2,000 or more to build," said the professor.

In-residence shelters can be built in new or existing houses for under $1,000 using conventional materials and construction techniques.

The shelters should be designed to provide protection from wind pressures, changes in atmospheric pressures and protection from missiles or flying debris.

Cast-in-place lightweight concrete wall sections, reinforced concrete block walls or reinforced masonry panels and reinforced metal and plywood doors securely connected to a reinforced cast-in-place ceiling and attached to the floor can be designed to provide effective in-residence shelters.

"As experience is gained in constructing shelters, techniques will be found for reducing costs so that, eventually, occupant protection should be available for less than $500 in residences," Kiesling said.

Trouble With Watergate Prosecutors Haunts Nixon

By WALTER R. MEARS (An AP News Analysis)
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon always has had trouble getting along with Watergate special prosecutors.

He didn't want one hired in the first place, yielding reluctantly after the scandals forced a staff and Cabinet shakeup.

His firing of Archibald Cox stirred the first serious moves for impeachment.

Now the White House is feuding with Leon Jaworski over who is boss.

During the House impeachment inquiry the President cannot afford any renewal of the crisis that came when Cox went.

Central Issue Simple
Nixon's spokesmen and lawyer say there has been no consideration of firing Jaworski, although circumstances now are similar to those that led the President to get rid of Cox.

The central issue now, as then, is simple: Can the special prosecutor take the President to court when the President tells him not to?

In each case, the controversy flared over the demands of the prosecutor for access to White House tape recordings the President said he would not yield.

Cox was fired after vowing to press in court for recordings of nine presidential conversations, in defiance of Nixon's instructions to drop the case and settle instead for summaries for the tapes.

But three days later, on Oct. 23, 1973, facing a wave of impeachment demands and an adverse public reaction, the President yielded and agreed to turn over the tapes.

Study Seeks Waste Data

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Water Quality Board has initiated a one-year scientific and engineering study to help it decide controversies over the disposal of toxic industrial wastes.

It awarded The University of Texas a $25,000 one-year contract to develop the data necessary for determining whether various disposal pits might leak and contaminate fresh water supplies.

Suspension Stirs Issue
The decision came shortly after the board suspended the permit of South Texas Industrial Services, Inc., to dispose of toxic wastes in a series of clay-lined pits near Three Rivers.

Corpus Christi had opposed the permit, contending the pits might leak and eventually contaminate the city's drinking water.

A public hearing on the Three Rivers permit will be held in Corpus Christi June 21.

Other current controversies over burial of industrial wastes concern landfills proposed in the Cleburne and Groesbeck areas.

Many Answers Sought

The University of Texas study is supposed to answer such questions as: How thick and impervious must geological formations under a pit be to protect ground water from wastes? What chemical reactions occur between various types of soils and the acids, caustics, heavy metals, solvents, pesticides and herbicides that might be buried?

Bob Kemp, representing the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, suggested with a grin that another approach "might be a sociological study to find out where these things might be accepted."

Hugh Yantis, the board's executive director, obtained permission to seek funds for the UT study from industrial firms and associations.

"I wouldn't take any from South Texas (Industrial Services)," cracked board Chairman Douglass Toole.

Grant To Finance Corruption Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration approved a $305,000 grant Wednesday to Pennsylvania to help set up a special prosecutor's office to investigate corruption in the Philadelphia police department.

The grant was approved by Donald E. Santarelli, head of LEAA, after a request from the office of Pennsylvania Atty. Gen. Israel Packer in late March.

had been made for a special prosecutor.

Now, up against another tapes controversy with Jaworski, Nixon's lawyers say he is prepared to contest to the Supreme Court a subpoena for recordings of 64 conversations.

Jaworski already has won in U.S. District Court.

Jaworski complained there, and to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which backed him, about the contention of the White House that he could not properly pursue the subpoena case in court because it involves a dispute between two officials of the executive branch.

Jaworski said that interpretation of his standing would make a farce out of the special prosecutor's office.

Federal courts have held that by voluntary agreement and Justice Department regulations, the administration has given the office of the special prosecutor a unique measure of independence with the force of law behind it.

The edited Watergate transcripts recount early discussions of a special prosecutor, and Nixon's opposition to do that.

the idea. "Now the difficulty with the special prosecutor — it gets a guy into the (explosive deleted) thing," Nixon said on April 15, 1973. "First it's a reflection — it's sort of admitting mea culpa for our whole system of justice. I don't want to do that."

But 15 days later, shuffling the Cabinet to install Elliot L. Richardson as attorney general, Nixon authorized him to appoint a special prosecutor. Congress was pressing for one. Richardson chose Cox.

The White House always viewed Democrat Cox with suspicion, aides there contending that he was a partisan out to get Nixon.

Jaworski is a Democrat, too, but from Houston, not Harvard. His prosecution of the case has led him, like Cox, to demand in court material the President does not want to provide.
