Nixon Schedules Mideast Tour

Journey Starts June 12

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will tour five Middle East countries June 12-18 "to consolidate what has been achieved on the road to peace," the White House said today.

Simultaneous announcements were made by the White House and each of the five Middle East governments involved in Nixon's plans for the most extensive tour of the region ever undertaken by a U.S. president.

A White House spokesman said Nixon would depart Monday morning for Salzburg, Austria, where he will spend two nights before heading to the Middle East.

Countries Listed

Nixon's Middle East itinerary: June 12-14, Egypt; June 14-15, Saudi Arabia; June 15-16, Syria; June 16-17, Israel; and June 17-18, Jordan.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, who made the White House announcement, said the President will be accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Administration sources said the trip is intended also to underscore administration belief that Nixon remains a world leader despite impeachment moves at home.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said that despite Watergate, Nixon has bipartisan congressional support on foreign policy.

Successes Applauded

Mansfield said in Helena, Mont., that he applauded Kissinger's successes in the Middle East.

Not since Franklin D. Roosevelt's journeys to Cairo in 1943 and 1945 has an American president visited the region.

Kissinger, secretary of state as well as Nixon's national security adviser, paved the way for the trip when he negotiated a Syrian-Israeli disengagement agreement last week. He had negotiated a similar Israeli-Egyptian disengagement after a cease-fire in the October war.

Plainview Area Hit By Flooding

Flooding rains hit parts of Texas' Panhandle-Plains sector, forcing evacuation of some homes at Plainview, as violent thunderstorms and several tornadoes raged from west to east over a broad area.

The wild weather broke out during the night and persisted into this morning.

Police Chief H. P. Pelphrey said Running Water Draw surged out of banks and sent water up to one foot deep into at least several homes in two neighborhoods on the city's south side, plus several business places along U.S. 70.

Ex-Texas Justice Meade Griffin Dies

AUSTIN (AP) — Former State Supreme Court Justice Meade Griffin died in his home here late Monday night. He was 80.

Chief Justice Joe Greenhill said Griffin had suffered from an extended illness.

Griffin, a sprightly, fast-talking judge with a military bearing, had the distinction of serving on both Texas' highest courts, Greenhill said.

After retiring Dec. 31, 1968, from the Supreme Court, Griffin served in 1969 as a special judge to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Griffin was born 1894 in Cottonwood and moved to Tulsa on the High Plains in 1914. He received an academic degree from The University of Texas in 1915 and graduated from the law school in 1917. He was a graduate of the first officers training camp at Leon Springs (See GRIFFIN Page 2A)

Tom Green Gains Caddo Oil Strike

Clifton Thomas of San Angelo completed No. 1 Brewer as a Caddo oil discovery in Tom Green County, nine miles northeast of San Angelo.

It finished to pump 19.72 barrels of 41-gravity oil and 36 barrels of water, through perforations at 6,163-6,190 feet, which had been acidized with 4,000 gallons.

Operator set 4 1/2-inch casing at 6,253 feet, total depth.

The following tops were picked under ground elevation of 2,112.4 feet: Swartika, 3,965; Palo Pinto, 5,078; Strawn, 5,413; Goss, 5,670 and Caddo, 6,157 feet.

'Death Mission' Terrorists Held

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Security forces captured two young Arab terrorists on a death mission into Israel and seized a cache of hand grenades and Kalashnikov submachine guns hidden near the Lebanese border, the police reported today.

"We were ordered to kill," the police said the 19-year-olds told them. They said they were ordered to murder people at random in Haifa, Israel's chief port.

The Israeli military command said the terrorists were Israeli citizens who left their villages near Acre, in northern Galilee, a year ago to join the Fatah guerrillas. The youths slipped across the Lebanese border before dawn Monday, the command reported, but it said three other gunmen with them abandoned the mission and escaped back into Lebanon.

The teen-agers ate in a restaurant near the heavily guarded border, hailed a taxi, asked the fare to a nearby village and offered to overpay, the driver by $2.50. The driver—an Arab—became suspicious, drove the pair to a security roadblock and winked frantically to tip off the police.

The command said security troops have killed nine terrorists and captured five in the three weeks since frontier patrols were strengthened after terrorists killed 22 children in the Maalot schoolhouse.

The police also reported that somebody sent a booby-trapped package to Israel's chief rabbi, Shlomo Goren, and explosives were planted under the car of the high priest of the Samaritans.

Both attempts were discovered and the explosives defused.

The police said the rabbi's wife became suspicious Monday while opening a bulky envelope. It was found to contain an explosive charge with a note saying the religious leader would be "gathered unto his fathers."

Goren frequently has been threatened with violence by Jewish fanatics who charge he is too moderate in ritual matters.

In the Israeli-occupied Jordanian town of Nablus, army experts defused a bomb left beneath the car of Amram Ben-Ner, religious leader of the tiny Samaritan community, an ancient sect with a religion similar to Judaism.

Baling Wire Shortage To Send Beef, Milk Prices Up

By ROD DAVIS

DALLAS (AP) — The baling wire that holds the hay that feeds the cow that provides the milk and hamburger that feed an already shortage-weary nation isn't there anymore.

So an acute shortage of a mundane item like baling wire, when combined with scarcities of fuel, fertilizer and grain, will send beef and milk prices spiraling upward by winter, ranchers say.

Housewives will growl while small farmers and ranchers wonder if it's worth it again next year.

The baling wire shortage began about a year ago, when the price freeze, holding baling wire to $11-14 for a standard 96-pound roll, prompted an almost total cessation of baling wire production in the United States. Steel companies turned to more profitable ventures.

Still, there was a backlog and farmers in the big hay producing areas of Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and other parts of the Southwest and Midwest made it through 1973.

But by this year, the back inventory was gone, and prices doubled and tripled, now reaching about $55 per roll.

If the wire can be found, the U.S. House Agriculture Committee estimates nearly one-third of the hay grown to feed cattle this year won't be baled because of lack of wire. Twine is an alternative, but it also is in shortage and is generally used only in the Northeast.

Without baling, hay left in open fields soon rots. A farmer who does not have hay to feed his cattle in winter must either dump them on the market at a loss or find more expensive feed, which also causes a financial loss.

That in turn affects families in Boston and Cleveland and Los Angeles, because the farmer's financial burden will be passed along, multiplied by middlemen.

Federal and state governments have tried, with only marginal success, to fix the problem.

The price freeze on baling wire was lifted and a handful of companies are back in production.

About 55 per cent of all baling wire now produced comes from the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co. (CFI) in Pueblo, Colo.

The company since Feb. 1 has been in round-the-clock production but it still won't catch up for this season.

The rest of the baling wire comes from an Armo plant in Kansas City and two small facilities in Illinois and Wisconsin. There is also some imported wire from Belgium and Japan.

And there is the black market.

"Some of the guys are black marketing the wire around here for as much as $65 a roll. They say bring cash," said L.J. Breitkreutz, a dairy farmer in Falls County of Central Texas.

He is trying to get his hay (See WIRE Page 2A)

BALING WIRE SHORTAGE FOR FARMERS—Charles Barfknecht of Lewisville, Tex., has a problem that is common to farmers all over the country, a shortage of baling wire. He ordered a large quantity from an overseas firm, but by the time it arrived the price had doubled. Farmers will probably accept the doubling in price as U.S. blackmarket prices have increased more than 400 per cent. (AP Wirephoto.)

New Ulster Trouble Expected After Hunger Striker's Death

LONDON (AP) — The Irish Republican Army charged the British government with "calculus, brutal and premeditated murder" today after an IRA member on a hunger strike in a British prison died.

Convicted bank robber Michael Gaughan, 24, died Monday night in the top-security Parkhurst Prison on the Isle of Wight after developing pneumonia. He had been fasting since March 31, demanding political prisoner status and transfer to a prison in Northern Ireland.

Gaughan was the first hunger striker to die in Britain since Terence McSwiney, the lord mayor of Cork and an Irish republican leader, in 1920.

Security forces in Northern Ireland braced for new trouble after Gaughan's death but an army spokesman reported no immediate incidents in retaliation. An unidentified man was found shot to death on a roadside on the edge of Belfast, but officials said he apparently had been assassinated by sectarian guerrillas. He was the 1,026th confirmed fatality in nearly five years of the religious war in Ulster.

face simply had no flesh left. I saw him a week ago and I knew then he would die if he was not sent back to Ireland."

The Home Office said Gaughan had been fed artificially since April 22 "whenever medical officers considered it safe to do so."

At least four other Irish prisoners in British prisons are on hunger strikes demanding classification as political prisoners and transfer to prisons in Northern Ireland.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., made public today confidential White House memoranda that he said document a campaign to reward friends and punish enemies in the awarding of federal grants.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A 45-year-old self-employed oil field supplier, Freddie D. Smith, was arrested by FBI agents today in the kidnaping of millionaire Tulsa businessman Walter H. Helmerich.

The action came on a 123-21 vote which technically refused to kill a proposal which would continue a prohibition against using the homestead as collateral.

Sterling Area Strike Finals

I. W. Lovelady, Midland, completed No. 1 Humble to re-open the Crandell (San Angelo) field of Sterling County, 9 1/2 miles southeast of Sterling City, for a daily pumping potential of 21 barrels of oil.

Production was through perforations at 1,486-1,472 feet. No treatment has been reported. Gravity and gas-oil ratio were not available.

Drilled to 1,650 feet, it is plugged back to 1,582 feet, in 4 1/2 inch casing seated at 1,646 feet.

Earlier, tests were made through perforations at 1,613-1,632 feet, and it swabbed dry after the section was acidized with 500 gallons.

Location is 2,310 feet from south and 900 feet from east lines of section 30, block 11, SPRR survey.

The original discovery, P. L. Crandell No. 1, H. Humble was completed April 28, 1963, for 72-barrels of oil and 30 barrels of water per day, through perforations at 1,469-1,473 feet.

Governors Hear Political Housecleaning Call

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
SEATTLE (AP) — A leading advocate of political reform told the nation's governors today that amidst the Watergate scandals "the states have been far more responsive than Congress to the citizen's concern for a housecleaning in politics."

John W. Gardner said in a speech prepared for a discussion of governmental ethics at the National Governors' Conference that governors "have provided state leadership at a time when leadership has been totally absent at the national level."

Gardner, president of the self-styled citizens' lobby, Common Cause, said that in the last 18 months at least 40 states have passed political reform measures, while on the federal level "the executive branch has been totally unresponsive and the Congress equally so."

He urged all states to enact measures providing for campaign financing reform and broader disclosure by public officials and lobbyists, the central points in a Common Cause-backed resolution sponsored here by Govs. William G. Milliken, R-Mich., and Patrick J. Lucey, D-Wis.

Milliken, in remarks prepared for the same discussion, said, "One of the primary tasks facing all of us in public life today is to assure that there is an ethical compass not only for the nation—but also for every state."

Lucey, moderator of the discussion, said each governor "has a personal stake in restoring the confidence of the American people in our institutions and our system of government."

Approved unanimously by the conference's executive committee Sunday, the resolution is scheduled for action Wednesday when the conference adopts policy positions for the coming year.

The governors also will consider recommendations calling for an end to year-round Daylight Saving Time, congressional action next year to make the revenue-sharing program permanent and stepped-up federal efforts against inflation, including "wage and price controls as appropriate."

Though the ethics proposal is the closest the governors are likely to come to tackling the problems related to Watergate, the scandal afflicting the Nixon administration and its impact on government has been an underlying theme at conference sessions.

At a panel discussion Monday, Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., said "it will be essential" for congressional Democrats to fill the void caused by a breakdown in White House leadership.

Brademas' prediction that the November elections will produce a veto-proof Congress drew statements of alarm from House GOP leaders.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said in another discussion he sees "a new sense of enthusiasm" for passing national health insurance legislation, but Gov. Ronald Reagan, R-Cal., agreed with Dr. Russell M. Roth, president of the American Medical Association, who declared "there is no current enthusiasm in Congress" for a major health insurance program.

Winkler Grand Jury Indicts Kneeland In Woman's Slaying

KERMIT — A Kermit man, indicted in Fort Worth last month on two counts of murder and one of abduction, was indicted here Monday for murder in the death of Mrs. Nancy Siler Mitchell, who disappeared from her Kermit home in 1970.

He is Tommy Ray Kneeland, a former neighbor of the Mitchells.

In Mrs. Mitchell's death during the early investigation but no new evidence had come up until last month, when Bell learned that he was being held in the Fort Worth cases and went there to talk to him.

Bell and his chief deputy, Earl Hill, talked to Kneeland in the Tarrant County Jail on May 7 and returned to Kermit with him two days later.

He has been in jail here since that time.

The Fort Worth cases involved the abduction of a 16-year-old Arlington girl and the slayings of two Oklahoma City teen-agers killed in Fort Worth two years ago.

Bell said no trial dates have been set in any of the cases, but he hopes the Winkler County case will be tried first.

Kneeland is in Winkler County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond. Bonds were denied in the two Tarrant County murder cases and none has been set in the abduction case here.

Mrs. Mitchell disappeared from her home Sept. 15, 1970, and her body was found nine months later — three years ago today — on an oil lease about five miles east of here.

She was one of several women who disappeared within a short time and later were found murdered. An Odessa man, Johnny Meadows, was charged in connection with the deaths of three women there.

Winkler County Sheriff Jerry Bell said that Kneeland was questioned and was a suspect in the abduction case here.

Mrs. Mitchell disappeared from her home Sept. 15, 1970, and her body was found nine months later — three years ago today — on an oil lease about five miles east of here.

Bomb In Package Kills Judge, 50

PASCO, Wash. (AP) — Court administrator Jim Boldt says he knows of no controversial cases handled by a judge who was killed when a mailed package he was opening exploded in his office.

The blast killed Superior Court Judge James J. Lawless, 50, late Monday.

Officials here said they did not know why the judge was the target. He had served on the bench for 17 years.

Police would not say whether they suspected any connection between the blast and the bombing of a police car and a deliberately set fire in mid-April in the Prosser area 35 miles from here.

But Acting Mayor Donald Linton said, "It was probably just a fluke that it didn't happen in Prosser. It was apparently aimed at the judge and not the community."

Survivors include his widow. Funeral services were pending.

In 1917. He served in the infantry during World War I and rose to the rank of major.

After the war he returned to Tulsa and served as mayor of Tulsa and as Swisher County attorney in 1919 and 1920. He moved to Plainview and practiced law there from 1920 to 1923. He also served two terms as Hale County judge. In the 1927-34 period he was district attorney. He returned to private practice in 1935.

Gov. Beauford Jester appointed him to the State Supreme Court in 1949 and he was re-elected to the position several times.

Survivors include his widow. Funeral services were pending.

Man Accidentally Shot In His Home

David L. Hickey, who reportedly accidentally shot himself at his home about 3:20 p.m. Monday, was reported in satisfactory condition this morning at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Hickey, 24, of 705 S. Dallas St., told Det. Sgts. Les Fine and Ronnie Bryant that he was checking his gun in his bedroom. He had loaded it with one live round and had intended to fire it out the back door to make sure it was in working order.

However, the pistol discharged when he put it down. The bullet struck him in the abdomen.

Accident Injures Midland Man, 26

Jimmie Lee Mullins, 26, of 514 Holmesley St., Apartment B, was dragged about 10 feet Monday under the pickup truck he and his wife were trying to get started.

He received multiple scrapes and bruises and was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital and released.

Mullins was under the truck, working on the starter, when the accident occurred about 6:45 p.m. in front of his home. His wife Connie was in the driver's seat.

Patrolman Clint Lovejoy said Mullins hit the starter and the truck started and rolled backwards, dragging Mullins under it.

development pattern, predictions of where rain might fall is difficult.

Temperatures in Midland are predicted to hit the mid-80s this afternoon with winds from the south at 10-20 miles per hour. Winds will slow to approximately 8-18 m.p.h. during the night while temperatures will drop to near the 70 mark. High temperature Monday reached 95 while the overnight low dipped to 65.

SIMULATED CASUALTY—SFC. John Lujan, left, and M-Sgt. Dan Cotton render first aid to Robert Barton of Boy Scout Troop 233, a "victim" of a simulated emergency created to test the efficiency of Midland-based units of the Texas State Guard.

General forecast for Midland and vicinity calls for partly cloudy to clear skies with little change of temperature through Wednesday.

At one time 41 Northwest Texas counties and an adjoining slice of the Oklahoma Panhandle were under a tornado alert. Authorities said trailer homes were upset in some other localities, according to The Associated Press.

Midland Units Participate In Areawide Surprise Drill

Midland-based units of the Texas State Guard participated in an areawide surprise alert and drill Sunday morning.

Local members of the State Guard were called out of their beds at 6:45 a.m. The unannounced drill was staged to test the efficiency of the Texas State Guard in an emergency condition.

The exercise simulated a heavy thunderstorm with damaging winds and large hail that had struck the city. The mission of the Guard was to evacuate damaged and flooded areas.

The guardsmen were assisted by members of Boy Scout Troop 233 who played the roles of evacuees and casualties.

Participating in the drill were units from Midland, Andrews, Lamesa and Odessa.

The Texas State Guard is an all volunteer military organization created by the state legislature to assist local law enforcement agencies in time of emergency.

Oklahoma Oilman Kidnaped, Released When Ransom Paid

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — "I put myself in the hands of the Lord, and I was never afraid," Tulsa businessman Walter H. Helmerich said after his eight-hour kidnaping ended with payment of a ransom unofficially reported at $700,000.

Helmerich said before he was freed the kidnaper stopped the car and taped his hands to his ankles, but left him blindfolded. He said he managed to remove the blindfold, then flagged down a truck, whose occupants called his wife.

The FBI said no arrests have been made.

Helmerich, 51, millionaire president of Helmerich and Payne, Inc., a worldwide oil drilling company, and director in numerous other firms, was released unharmed Monday by what he called a "very thoughtful" kidnaper.

William Clyde Baugh, 71, of 5106 Thomson St. died Monday afternoon in a Midland hospital following a short illness.

On Way To Work

A lone man stopped Helmerich's car while he was on his way to work. He said it was his normal route to the office and the kidnaper evidently knew it.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Bellview Baptist Church with the pastor, the Rev. Elbert Smithen, officiating. Interment will follow in Resthaven Memorial Park under direction of the Newmie W. Ellis Chapel.

Helmerich said he was blindfolded, bound and forced to ride on the floor of a car until his release near a tank farm at Jenks, a small town five miles south of Tulsa. Helmerich said the abductor stopped frequently, apparently making telephone calls.

Palbearers will be Forsell Sanders, Don Bass, Jimmie Holmes, Jim Cobb, Arthur Hunsinger and Dewey Thornton.

The FBI said a ransom demand sent to the Utica National Bank, partly owned by Helmerich family members, was met by Walter H. Helmerich Jr. Details were not disclosed.

Helmerich in an interview at his home shortly after his release, said the kidnaper "never harmed me, never threatened me. Really, I suppose the whole thing was pretty uneventful. . . ."

Survivors include the widow of the home; three sons, William C. Baugh Jr. of Albuquerque, N.M., Carl Lee Baugh of Houston and Robert Don Baugh of Arlington; two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Mayes of Falls and Mrs. Vivian Erwin of Modesto, Calif.; six grandchildren, and eight nieces and nephews.

Textron Inc. Offers Capital To Rescue Lockheed Aircraft

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — G. William Miller, who would take the controls at Lockheed Aircraft under a massive refinancing plan, says he foresees the nation's largest defense contractor moving into nongovernmental areas in the next decade.

Edwin Harwell, 70, Dies; Rites Slated

Miller, 49, is board chairman at Textron Inc., a Rhode Island-based conglomerate with products ranging from zippers to missiles.

It offers to bring in $85 million in new capital in exchange for 45 per cent of the debt-ridden aerospace firm under the tentative plan announced here Monday.

Edwin Harwell, 70, of 286 Delano St. died Monday night in an Odessa hospital.

Remove the impediments—cut (Lockheed) loose to fly," said Miller, who would replace Lockheed board chairman Daniel J. Haughton this fall.

Services will be held at p.m. Thursday at the Brandt Cemetery in Hillsboro. Local arrangements were under the direction of Newmie W. Ellis Chapel. Marshall & Marshall Funeral Home in Hillsboro will handle services there.

Lockheed now has a balance of U.S. government, foreign government and commercial projects, but during the next decade, Miller said he would "expect to see more offshore drilling for oil and we'll be moving farther out to sea. I think we can use Lockheed's tremendous knowledge of satellites" as exploration tools, said Miller, who was graduated from the Coast Guard academy

Harwell was born Sept. 13 1903 at Abbott. He was reared in the Hill Country near Bynum. He later moved to Fort Worth and then to Midland in 1953. He was employed with Wilco Hardware in Midland for 1 year, and later operated his own lawn mower service and repair establishment in Midland.

Lockheed's lending banks would convert $275 million of the present $620 million bank debt into a new preferred stock, and would confirm a bank credit of $375 million to Lockheed under the plan.

Survivors include his widow Mrs. Edwin Harwell of Midland a sister, Mrs. Mildred Godwin of Dallas; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Lockheed shareholders would be asked to pick up the remaining $15 million.

Santarelli Quits Enforcement Post

The firms would not merge or consolidate, spokesmen for Lockheed and Textron emphasized.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald E. Santarelli has resigned as head of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the resignation has been accepted by the White House, Justice Department source said today.

The plan would free the federal government from its guarantee of $250 million in commercial loans.

The source said Santarelli submitted a letter of resignation to President Nixon on Saturday and that Nixon accepted it in a reply letter Monday.

Wire Shortage May Push Beef, Milk Prices Higher

cut and baled right now, but can't. He has 34 rolls of wire but needs 90.

"Until I get in an absolute bind, I can't pay no $40 or $50 a roll."

"I may have to, though. We feed 35,000 hays of hay a year. I have to have that much hay to feed my dairy cows and beef cattle. Before I can let that hay go to waste, I'll have to pay that price."

Many farmers who do not own baling machines rely on what are known as "custom bal-ers"—farmers who hire out their machines.

But the custom balers can't find wire this year either.

"Last year we were going every day and half the night and this year we're not going at all," laments Mrs. Henry Sanders of Clifton, Tex., a custom baler, whose volume will be only about 40,000 bales this year, compared to 100,000 bales in 1973.

In Texas last year, a custom baler charged about 27 cents per bale, wire included.

This year there's a triple-tier price schedule: 28 cents if the farmer supplies the wire, 38 cents if the baler supplies cheap wire, and up to 50 cents if the baler supplies top quality wire.

That means the total cost of a bale of hay from planting to stacking in the barn which was $1 last year will be $3 or more this year.

A cow could eat a 70-80 pound bale in two or three days.

Farm services, such as custom baling, really feel the pinch.

Burford Lackey Jr., a 21-year-old senior at Baylor University, has paid his way through school by baling hay each year—until now.

He paid $13 a roll for 250 rolls of wire last year and turned a profit. The cheapest wire he found so far is $50 and he only has 10 rolls allotted at the local feed store. His asking price has multiplied from 28 cents a bale to 50 cents, and he hates to even ask that much.

"He's baled so long for these people, he's hesitant about telling them. He'd rather not do it than tell them. He's been a farmer himself," his mother said.

"The boy wants to stay on the farm, but at this rate they're driving him off and what we'll do if all these boys are driven off the farm I don't know."

Breitkreutz has similar fears: "I could sell out, I guess, and invest my money in a savings and loan and make more profit off the interest than this way. But I don't want to do that. That's not my life."

Dear Abby

Granddaughter Needs Grandma's Help - Now

-By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old granddaughter is pregnant. The boy is a high school kid with no way of supporting himself, let alone a wife and child, so marriage is out of the question. His folks have thrown him out, and a neighbor has taken him in.

My son and daughter-in-law are going to see their daughter through this, and they're keeping the baby.

My problem: How should a 75-year-old grandmother act? Should I act like nothing out of the ordinary has happened, and accept the baby as a legitimate great-grandchild? Or should I show my contempt and disgust and turn away? I guess I was born 75 years too soon because I don't seem able to accept this situation.

So far I've managed to keep my mouth shut, but I'll have to take a stand soon. I've always had a good relationship with my son and his wife and don't want to spoil it now.

Please help me set my thinking straight.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: If your family ever needed your compassion and understanding, it's now! You can accept the new baby without condoning the unfortunate circumstances. The last thing your granddaughter needs now is a show of contempt and disgust. (She's suffered enough.)

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet you've never run into a problem like mine: I am being married in a formal church wedding. My fiancée and I have known each other for two years, and the only name I've ever known him by is "Beaver." His parents have called him "Beaver" ever since they brought him home from the hospital, and everyone has called him "Beaver" ever since.

His real name is Steven, but hardly anyone knows it. When we say our marriage vows, it will seem so unnatural for me to say: "I, Mona, take thee, Steven," because I've never in all my life called him Steven. But I'm afraid it would sound funny if I were to say: "I, Mona, take thee, Beaver!" So, what do you advise?

MONA

DEAR MONA: Say: "I, Mona, take thee, Steven." Nicknames are a no-no in a traditional marriage ceremony.

DEAR ABBY: I don't want to brag, but I would be very good-looking if it weren't for the bags under my eyes. I'm only 27, and I've had these miserable pouches since I was in high school, but they've gotten much more noticeable in the last few years.

I work in a large office and I'm constantly being accused of having been up all night or hung over because I always look so disheveled.

Abby, I get plenty of sleep and I am no big drinker. I'm too young for a face-lift. Can you help me?

BAGGY

DEAR BAGGY: My consultants advise me that the condition you describe is called "Blepharochalasis." It's fairly common, and tends to run in families. (Some children have it.)

It's not necessary to have a complete face lift to get rid of the bags.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FRENCHIE": Please don't call all those escapades "love." Nothing plays a smaller part in philandering than love. (Credit another Frenchman, La Rouchefoucauld, with that.)

Bride-Elect Feted

A pre-nuptial party Saturday at El Rancho Club feted Mary Ann Tarango, who will be married Saturday to Bob Salgado. Hostesses were Mrs. Gus Reyes, matron of honor, and other bridal attendants selected for the marriage ceremony. There were 45 guests.

Spring Theme Used For Ball

A spring theme was used when the Fashionette Civic and Social Club held its first annual benefit ball recently in the American Legion Hall.

Greenery and wrought iron furniture decorated the foyer. An arch of pink and green carnations, club colors, ornamented the main entrance. The hors d'oeuvres table, laid with white over green, had a centerpiece of pink mums, carnations and gladiolus. Pink and green candles and carnations were on the individual tables.

Music was provided by "United Soul" of Abilene for some 250 guests attending the event. Proceeds from the ball are marked for the club's annual scholarship fund and other community projects.

Shower Fetes Mrs. Giacobbe

Mrs. Kelly Hamilton, 2002 Country Club Drive, was the hostess for a recent bridal shower honoring Mrs. Allen Giacobbe, the former Joyce Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Jones, Santa Fe Trail.

Sally Coleman was the co-hostess. Spring flowers formed the centerpiece for the refreshment table.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Use Shoe Polish On Dingy Purses

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Can some reader tell me how to keep shoes from squeaking?

My helpful Pointer is that when a plastic or leather purse becomes marked on the corners and worn I use liquid shoe polish, the same color, dab it on once, let dry and then repeat. This really can make a dingy purse look like new. — Mrs. P. J. W.

DEAR POLLY — Turn your panty hose inside out every other time you wear them and the wear is put on different places so they last longer. No one can detect the difference.

My Pet Peeve is manufacturers who do not put pockets in slacks and pants suits made for women. They are most necessary on jeans that women wear to work. We need a place to put a handkerchief, coin purse and other sundries just as much as the men do. Look how amply their needs are provided for. Women pay as much for their slacks, as men do, too. Discrimination! — MRS. G. B.

DEAR POLLY — Mary Beth who has glue on her suede vest might try using nail polish remover on it. Dab, wipe off and then brush. I did this to my suede purse and it removed a glue spot. — LUANN.

DEAR GIRLS — Be sure the nail polish remover will not affect the color. It worked on a pair of brown suede shoes with no ill effect and acetone is generally recommended as a remover for some glues. On washable fabrics warm water will sometimes remove it. White vinegar also is used in many cases. Now there are so many synthetics and suede-looking fabrics that it is always smart to test and proceed with caution. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Necessity being the mother of invention, brought about the following Pointer that I hope will help someone else cope with a similar emergency. Recently my 96-year-old father got up in the middle of the night and fell to the floor. He was too feeble to get up himself and I could not lift him and did not want to call neighbors for help at such an hour. I put a large scatter rug under him and pulled him to his bed where he had something sturdy to pull up by along with my help. Of course, I first made sure he had no broken bones. — N. G. S.

Kidnaped California Woman Freed Unharmful In Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Lora Joan Hinkel, 20, of Oakland, Calif., "slept like a baby" at police headquarters Monday night after a knife-wielding man forced her to drive him 1,800 miles from Stockton, Calif., to Haltom City, a Fort Worth suburb.

Meanwhile, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said they were holding a 27-year-old Vietnam veteran on a California charge of assault and to await the filing of kidnaping charges against him. Gordon Shanklin, FBI agent in charge for the Dallas area, said the U.S. attorney's office in Sacramento authorized the filing of a kidnaping complaint against Gerald Allen Martin, who gave up to police Monday afternoon.

Shortly before Martin surrendered, Miss Hinkel went to Fort Worth police and told them she had escaped unharmful from her abductor.

"I am tired. I had my tonsils out last week and I haven't eaten or slept for two days," she told officers.

She related that her 38-hour ordeal started outside a Stockton restaurant Sunday afternoon when a man approached her and a companion, Mona Kay Ellington, 19, also of Oakland, and asked for a ride to Los Angeles.

Miss Hinkel said she told him they were going to Lake Tahoe, Nev., and had no plans to go to Los Angeles. She said the man pulled out a knife and told them "I'm sorry—you're going to L.A."

She gave these details: He stepped into the back seat and directed her to drive south. About 15 miles out of town he told them he was going to Fort Worth and he needed a traveling companion.

He gave the young women a choice of which was to stay with him and Miss Hinkel volunteered because it was her car.

She said the man told Miss Ellington he would kill Miss Hinkel if she notified police. After he let her out of the car, she hitchhiked and then notified police. California authorities said the man in custody, described as "quiet and nice" by acquaintances, lives near Stockton and has relatives in the Fort Worth area.

Miss Hinkel said when they arrived in Fort Worth the man directed her to an address in Haltom City, alighted from the car and let her drive away. Shanklin said police went to the address and talked with a woman who said Martin was a friend of her daughter and had gone to visit her in nearby Euless, Tex.

While police and FBI agents were searching for Martin in Euless, Martin walked into police headquarters and asked dispatcher Imogene Wise if officers were looking for him.

"I asked him what for?" the dispatcher said. "He said, 'kidnaping.'"

Martin said he had not kidnaped anyone and that he had hitchhiked from California. Authorities in California said Martin lived in a house boat on Whiskey Slough near Stockton. They said he did odd jobs for his rent while awaiting arrival of government money so he could enroll in school. They said he served nine years in the Army with two tours of duty in Vietnam.

Police at Stockton said Daisy Hollman of Stockton told them a hitchhiker pulled a knife on officers said.

her Sunday, but said he got out of the car when she refused to take him any farther. This was only minutes before the Oakland women were abducted, of-

California Election Draws Most Attention

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, TUES., JUNE 4, 1974-5A

By The Associated Press
The primary election for governor seeking to replace Ronald Reagan as governor and a stern campaign reform measure focused election attention today on California, one of eight states holding primaries.

In the featured contest on the longest ballot in California history, 18 Democrats and six Republicans sought their party nominations to succeed Reagan, the GOP governor who has dominated California politics the past eight years. Reagan is not seeking re-election.

Other primaries are being held in Alabama, Iowa, Mississippi, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico and South Dakota.

In California, opinion polls say the front-runner for the GOP nomination is state Controller Houston I. Flournoy, 44, an Ivy League-educated political scientist and former college professor.

LA. Gov. Ed Reinecke also is seeking the nomination despite perjury indictments brought against him by Watergate prosecutors. Reinecke, once favored for the GOP nomination, was indicted for testimony regarding International Telephone and Telegraph.

Leading Democratic candidate is Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., 38, son of the former governor defeated by Reagan in 1966.

Also on the ballot is Proposition 9, a 22,000-word long measure put before the voters by petition and sponsored by Common Cause as a model for national reform controlling campaign fund-raising, spending and lobbyists' activities.

In other states:

ALABAMA — Gov. George C.

To Receive Degree

LOGAN, Utah — Barbara June Ralph of Midland, Tex., will receive a bachelor's degree in education Saturday from Utah State University.

Wallace is remaining neutral in a run-off election for lieutenant governor, where LA. Gov. Jerry Brown faces millionaire businessman Charles Woods.

IOWA — Harold E. Hughes is vacating his seat in the U.S.

Summer Work Program Begins

The summer program for economically disadvantaged youth began Monday.

The program is designed to provide work experience for economically disadvantaged youth between the ages of 14 and 21. Work sites will be provided by local agencies. Anyone between 14 and 21 who meets a certain income level may be eligible.

The program will last about 11 weeks. More information can be obtained by contacting Midland County Judge Barbara Culver, City Mgr. James Brown or the Texas Employment Commission.

Senate. U.S. Rep. John C. Culver is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Hughes' seat while a state senator and a state representative are seeking the GOP nomination. Republican Gov. Robert D. Ray is unopposed in his party. Three Democrats seek nomination to oppose him in November.

MISSISSIPPI — Nominations for three congressional seats and numerous local offices are at stake today. The congressional campaigns drew little interest and were overshadowed in some areas by the judicial races.

MONTANA — The state's two congressmen are unopposed within their parties but there are primaries to elect opponents for the general election.

NEW JERSEY — The primary campaigns to pick major party candidates for 15 congressional seats attracted an unusually large field of candidates but stirred little voter interest. No incumbent seeking renomination anticipated serious problems.

NEW MEXICO — Four Republicans and six Democrats are seeking nominations for the governorship being vacated by Democrat Bruce King, who cannot succeed himself.

SOUTH DAKOTA — The gubernatorial primary pits Gov. Richard Kneip against his former running mate, Lt. Gov. William Dougherty. Three Republicans are seeking to run against Sen. George McGovern, who is unopposed. One is Leo Thorsness, a former Vietnam prisoner of war.

Cowden Graduates

FORT WORTH — Ellis Price Cowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Cowden of Midland, was among the 30 members of the 1973-74 Ranch Management Program class at Texas Christian University honored at a recent banquet and graduation ceremony.

NEW HEADMASTER—Mel Bishop, the new headmaster for Trinity School, discusses school programs with Mrs. Earl Craig, Trinity School board president.

AT TRINITY SCHOOL— Bishop Assumes Headmaster Duties

Mel Bishop has assumed duties as Trinity School's new headmaster. He succeeds J. B. Lawrence, who resigned the position to enter private business in Texas.

Bishop recently received his Ph.D. in education administration from Columbia University. He comes to Midland from Pembroke Country Day School in Kansas City, Mo., where he was director of admissions.

He received his B.A. degree from the University of Missouri at Kansas City and his M.A. from Columbia.

After 10 years of teaching vocal music in Kansas and Kansas City public schools, Bishop joined the Pembroke staff as an instructor in psychology and vocal music. He was named director of admissions at Pembroke in 1972. Bishop taught vocal music in two other Kansas City private schools for a number of years.

He organized — and administered for five years — Camellot Academy, a fine arts summer camp in Kansas City.

Bishop has been the music director for St. Andrew's and Grace and Holy Trinity Episcopal churches in Kansas City. He was chorus master of the Kansas City Lyric Opera Company, on the board of directors of the Kansas City Modern Dance Company and a member of the Professional Services Committee for the Independent School Association's central states' division.

Since 1972, Pembroke has presented a trophy annually to "the boy who best exemplifies Mel Bishop's concern and love for his fellow man."

16 Members Of House Judiciary Committee Given Milk Unit Funds

By BROOKS JACKSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 16 members of the House Judiciary Committee accepted political donations ranging from $100 to $11,000 from the same three dairy farmer cooperatives the panel is investigating as part of its impeachment probe.

Two members, Democrat Charles B. Rangel of New York and Republican Thomas F. Ricksback of Illinois, decided to return the money after being questioned about it by The Associated Press.

Rangel got $100 from Associated Milk Producers, Inc., last March, and sent it back Monday with a letter saying it would be improper for him to accept it.

An aide to Ricksback said he would give back $500 that he received from the same group in 1972 "because he wants to be free of any conflict of interest."

The others, including committee chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., who got $4,100, said they saw no conflict.

Biggest Donation
The biggest recorded donation went to Rep. Edward Metzvinzky, a first-term Democrat from Iowa, who got $11,000.

According to public records going back to April 7, 1972, these committee members were given money by one or more of the co-ops, Associated Milk Producers, Inc., Dairyman, Inc., and Mid-America Dairyman, Inc.

M. Caldwell Butler, R-Va., $1,500; William S. Cohen, R-Maine, $3,000; John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., $100; David W. Dennis, R-Ind., $500; Walter Flowers, D-Ala., $1,000; Harold V. Froehlich, R-Wis., $100; William L. Hungate, D-Mo., $2,300; Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., $2,650; Trent Lott, R-Miss., $2,500; Robert McClory, R-Ill., $500; Metzvinzky, $11,000; Wayne Owens, D-Utah, $2,600; Ricksback, $500; Rangel, $100; Rodino, $4,100 and Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., $300.

Kastenmeier, Hungate and Flowers were among sponsors of legislation to raise the federal support price for milk in 1971. The White House has cited this legislation, sponsored eventually by 121 House members, as a key reason President Nixon overruled the Agriculture Department and raised milk price supports in March 1971.

The Judiciary Committee is scheduled to begin soon a formal inquiry into allegations that Nixon raised prices because of a promise of $2 million in political donations from the dairy cooperatives. The White House has said Nixon knew about the promise of money but wasn't influenced by it.

Public records show that members of the Judiciary Committee received $32,650 after April 7, 1972, $34,050 of it to nine Democrats, $8,600 to seven Republicans. Records of congressional donations before that date are no longer available for public view.

Rep. Hungate summed up what many of his colleagues said:

"If Mr. Nixon received and reported a legitimate campaign donation, as I did, he's in no trouble. If he sought and received a bribe, as I did not, he is in deep trouble."

Teen Activities Summer Schedule Told By Council

The schedule of coming attractions for teen-agers this summer has been announced by Wes Perry, head of Midland's recreational youth council for the parks and recreation department.

Perry and the other council members are teen-agers and were chosen to serve on the council by the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

Other council members include Ann Holden, LHS junior; Pat Powers, MHS May graduate, and Charles Priddy, MHS sophomore.

Golf Day activities will be held Thursday at three Midland miniature golf courses, Green Acres, Playland and the D&C indoor course. The $5-cent charge will entice golfers to play from 2-10 p.m.

Movie Day will begin at dusk June 28 in Wadley Barron Park. The five film classics will be shown free of charge.

Other summer activities tentatively planned include: a bicycle race at Midland College July 4, a band concert featuring a name group July 18, a skating and bowling party July 30 and an end-of-summer dance Aug. 16.

Voters Oust Two Collin Incumbents

McKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — A county judge and a county commissioner who were the target of a campaign by two Collin County women residents angered by what they termed wasteful government have been toppled from office in runoff elections.

The two, County Judge W. G. Proctor and Precinct 2 Commissioner Raymond Jenkins, lost to candidates who stressed "better roads and better government" and a "business approach" to county government.

The winners were A. B. Dabney, 55, a restaurant owner from McKinney who defeated Proctor, 1,974 to 1,191, and W. C. Sellers, who toppled Jenkins by a vote of 869 to 578.

Proctor and Jenkins were the two county officers whose names came up first when Mrs. Jo Copmann and Mrs. Betty Dillingham first started raising their voices before the county government asking for a better accounting of county funds.

What upset them was the conditions of the county roads and what they considered negligence on the part of officials.

Others soon joined in the protest and charges and allegations were made early this year involving the use of government funds.

Charges also were made claiming that county officials had awarded contracts to private firms without taking bids on the projects.

As a result of the charges made public, an audit of the county books was ordered by a grand jury. The commissioners court said it would conduct a survey audit.

On Monday, Mrs. Copmann said she and other residents of the county will insist on an outside audit.

Speaker Says Penal Change Needed Badly

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A one-time California convict who later became a prosecuting attorney Monday urged a change in correctional institutions to reduce the crime rate.

"We have to find different ways to make corrections work. Seventy per cent of men and women released from penal institutions go back within five years," said John K. Ardmore, a current director of the National Alliance of Businessmen.

Speaking at an interagency workshop on prison reform at Sam Houston State University, Ardmore said more convicts should be allowed to participate in work-release programs. He added more money should be allocated for convict education.

Ardmore said the purpose of the NAB is to assist the disadvantaged and ex-offenders to find jobs.

"Corrections has always been a business with the doors closed to the public. We want to sensitize the business world. If we are going to cut down on crime we have to improve conditions within the corrections units," he said.

Earlier in the workshop, Sheriff William Lucas of Wayne County, Mich., called upon law enforcement officials to grasp both sides of a situation.

The first black sheriff in the Detroit area, Lucas is also an attorney.

The workshop will continue through June 14.

El Paso Poultry Quarantine Lifted

DALLAS (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture Monday said a poultry quarantine on an 80-square-mile area in El Paso County has been lifted.

The quarantine had been imposed because of outbreaks of the highly contagious Newcastle disease. USDA officials said there have been no reports of new outbreaks of the disease in 30 days.

The disease hit the area in February causing the deaths of almost 190,000 fowl, valued at $400,000.

Quarantines will remain in effect for at least 90 days on individual premises where infected or exposed flocks have been destroyed.

Congratulations to all of you that made it through exams and finally got out of school, especially to all the seniors. Hope all seniors have gotten their eyes open again after the All-Night Party. Congratulations to Steve Hamilton and Eldon Schoolcraft for doing a great job of leading the class of '74 and for arranging an All-Night Party to remember.
Good Luck to Mr. Chapman in his new job in the administration office. He will be assistant superintendent for administrative services, Midland Independent School District. We really are proud of him, and we thank him for all he has done for Lee High School.

We are looking forward to seeing Dr. Glen Newick around next year, and even though he comes from Bulldog Territory, we want to extend to him a hearty welcome to Rebelland. Congratulations, Dr. Newick, and we are all looking forward to working with you next year.
A lot of time and hard work, not to mention money, have gone into sending our No. 1 ranked Lee Choir to The Youth and Music Festival in Vienna, Austria. On June 22, the choir will be seen on national television. It is performing at halftime activities at the Coaches All-America Game in Lubbock. The game will not be televised here, and the choir receives a percentage of each ticket sold in Midland, so everyone is sure to get your tickets at the Chamber of Commerce and support our choir.

Flying is in your future if you attend the organizational meeting of the new Explorer Aviation Post. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the Lee Youth Center. It's not too late to join.

All of you junior and senior (remember, you're a year older than last week) girls should turn in your Rebelette applications and dues to the officers TODAY! The officers are Linda Ewan, Wendy Mae, Pat Swihart, Melissa McRea and D'Jean Holcomb.

Hats and shoes need to be ordered, so please get in touch before July 20. The officers will be out of the city July 21-22, trying to learn new routines for next year's Rebelette. They will be at Austin in drill camp, so if you have any ideas for them to take to Austin, tell them.

Of the 122 new members at the Y.C., only a few have visited the Center. The hours this summer will be Monday through Friday, 2 until 5 p.m. and 7:30 until 10 p.m. On Saturday, it will be open from 7:30 until 10 p.m., and Sundays, 2 until 5 p.m. It will not be open Saturday afternoons or Sunday nights. We want to see all of you new sophomores in there playing air hockey, and pool, and eating goodies. If you haven't gotten your membership card, go by the Y.C., and get one.

We won't be writing again until August 13, so guess we'll see you then.
Hope to see you all around the Y.C.
Tanya, Linda, and Becky (P.S. Please, everyone plan to be at L.H.S. on Aug. 15 for orientation.)

Rain, Hail, Winds Prowl Vast Areas Of Plains States

By The Associated Press
Thunderstorms prowled the Plains today after unleashing high winds, hail and tornadoes from Texas to Dakota.
Numerous funnel clouds were sighted late Monday, but twisters reportedly touched down only in portions of Texas, apparently causing no damage, and near Clifford, N.D.; Chromont, Minn.; Aberdeen, S.D., and Liberal, Kan.
More than 4 inches of rain deluged an area near Paducah, Tex., in two hours and up to 3 inches during the similar period caused flooding throughout the Texas South Plains.
Scattered storms also hit areas of Florida and the central and Northern Rockies early today, and parts of the Pacific Northwest were damped by showers.
Skies were clear over most of the Ohio Valley, the middle and northern Atlantic Coast states, South Texas, and the western Plains.
Temperatures before dawn ranged from 87 at Needles, Calif., to 43 at Laramie, Wyo.

'His Best Performance'

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has done it again... achieving what some persons considered to be an impossible goal.

Dr. Kissinger, after long days and nights of grueling travel, tense negotiations and dramatic incidents, finally gained a disengagement agreement between Israel and Syria, whose hatred and distrust, one for the other, long had prevailed.

The significance of his impressive achievement was revealed Saturday as Israel and Syria began the exchange of war prisoners in Damascus and Tel Aviv.

This was the initial, dramatic result of the Kissinger mission of recent weeks and months.

It very well could be the start of a lasting peace in the Middle East. Hopefully, this will be the case. But be that as it may, Henry Kissinger through tireless effort, sheer determination and a knack of diplomacy which few men have—or show—has performed a service of boundless benefit to a troubled world.

It wasn't easy, of course, and disappointments would have caused others less determined to tag the effort as a lost cause... but not Dr. Kissinger who kept going back and fourth between the leaders of the two nations in a shuttling operation never before witnessed in international diplomacy. And his patience, his convincing manner finally won out.

"How does he do it?" is a question asked by many persons around the world. An even more significant question is, "How does he hold up to it?" Different persons have far different answers, but results are far more important.

Kissinger is due the praise of a grateful nation and the world at large for his successful efforts, which perhaps prevented a far-reaching conflagration which could have involved the major world powers.

This, in addition to his prior spectacular successes including the Vietnam disengagement and the opening to China, certainly assure him of honorable position in history.

He really has earned the title of a great man of peace in the 20th Century.

It must not be overlooked, however, that he was selected for his assignments and sent on his missions of peace by President Nixon, who shares the honors.

The Wall Street Journal, in lauding Kissinger's success in the Middle East, said:

"In terms of drama, personal effort, and aplomb in the face of apparently insurmountable surprises, it's his best performance yet."

This well put, meaningful expression, undoubtedly will attract nods of approval from interested persons at home and abroad.

'Wonderful, Henry—Now If We Could Just Stop This War'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Politics of impeachment determine legislative support.

WASHINGTON — White House aides have taken pains to remind members of Congress that they are sitting on the impeachment jury and, therefore, that it is improper for them to discuss the case against President Nixon.

It would seem to be even more improper, however, for Nixon as the defendant to court members of the jury. Yet he has taken key senators and representatives on dinner cruises down the Potomac. He has made White House planes, limousines and other privileges available to them. He has pampered them with sudden attention.

The President is even tailoring his legislative program, at least in part, to appeal to the conservatives whose votes he is counting upon to keep him in office. The politics of impeachment, rather than the merits of the legislation, now seems to determine what bills he will support.

For example, the President had halted the construction of a cross-Florida barge canal to preserve the beauty of northern Florida's Oklawaha River. As recently as six weeks ago, the White House reassured Florida conservationists of the President's support.

But the promises were forgotten after a contingent of conservative congressmen called upon the White House to go ahead with the barge canal. The President hastily withdrew his opposition.

The same thing happened to a federal land-use bill, which the President had described as his "number one environmental priority" in his State of the Union message last January. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., working closely with the Interior Department, drew up a bill to accomplish the President's objective.

Private Ownership — But conservatives were afraid the bill would allow the federal government, for the sake of the environment, to infringe on private ownership. House Republican leader John Rhodes and Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., arranged a private visit with the President and urged him to abandon the Udall bill.

Although the bill simply codified his own proposals, Nixon accepted the suggestion of the two powerful conservatives. Steiger helpfully provided a substitute bill, which the President quickly endorsed.

This killed the Udall bill. It was a victim, snorted Udall, of "Watergate politics." The President also has shifted his stand against other consumer, environmental and social programs, which the conservatives despise. And he has showered them with other White House blessings.

When Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., called from Paris to complain about a second-rate Air Force plane that had been provided to fly a congressional contingent home from Europe, the White House hastily dispatched Vice President Gerald Ford's plane across the Atlantic to pick up the Sparkman group.

Another time, the President gave Sparkman and Sen. James Allen, R-Ala., a lift home from Alabama and provided them at the White House 10 days before he asked Nixon to resign. He hasn't been invited back.

Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, admitted to us that his requests "were put on the back burner" in the Haldeman-Ehrlichman days. But this year "things have opened up," he said, and White House aides "are more receptive to my inquiries."

A spokesman for conservative Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., put it even more candidly. "The White House is wooing Johnston. Nixon has been doing favors for Southern senators... (for) anyone who's a swing vote on impeachment."

Footnote: A White House spokesman denied that the President's environmental shift had anything to do with impeachment politics. The President simply is trying to safeguard the environment and, at the same time, to provide an adequate energy supply, said the spokesman. He claimed that the President accepted the substitute land-use bill "because it was a better bill."

BRUCE BLOSSAT Please Pay Attention To Our Commonwealth

WASHINGTON (NEA)—When the so-called Ad Hoc Committee on improving United States-Puerto Rico status relationship meets here for three days starting June 10, the American mainland members will need to repair some serious damage done to the sensitive islanders a month ago.

Of the seven mainlanders of the group, five are members of Congress. Yet when they last met in Puerto Rico April 27, only one of these, Sen. Marlow Cook of Kentucky, the group's chairman, was present. Since Puerto Rico's Gov. Rafael Hernandez Colon was then making the basic Puerto Rican case, this heavy absenteeism was a gross affront.

Whether the distractions of Watergate or some other reasons kept the other four members of Congress away does not really matter. Illness aside, there can be no legitimate excuse for such absences.

Even though two other mainland committee members showed up (former Illinois Gov. Richard Ogilvie and a Texas businessman), Puerto Rican leaders and their people were not assuaged.

Indeed, the whole April 27 episode was read by them as troubling evidence of mainland American indifference toward the island's needs at a quite critical turn in its history. Some hard-nosed types may contend that, weighed on the scale of magnitude with Watergate, the Middle East negotiations, detente, arms control talks, the problems of Puerto Rico are minor.

But we are talking about crucial matters pertaining to the freedom and well-being of three million people, numerically equivalent to such nations as Lebanon, Somalia, Uruguay, Paraguay, New Zealand and Laos. And we have a very special bond with these particular three million.

For more than two decades, Puerto Rico has held what is called commonwealth status, a relationship unique in America. It was intended to recognize the island's special cultural position as an Hispanic Caribbean entity, to take account of its geographic and hence economic separation from the mainland, to accept that such considerations required latitude in self-government not bestowed upon the several states.

Fundamentally the relationship has worked well, is still endorsed by mainland leaders, and in key vote tests has won overwhelming support from Puerto Ricans themselves.

But time has shown "commonwealth," as originally defined by Congress, to be damagingly vague, flawed by misplaced emphasis, with U.S. law as applied to the island often working accidentally to its detriment.

The Ad Hoc committee now at work is bent, therefore toward mending and more sharply defining the relationship — to widen Puerto Ricans' freedom of choice, to prevent new inequities and, hopefully, wipe out those which have accumulated over the years.

In his basic testimony on April 27, the young governor, Hernandez, suggested a vital reversal in the legal presumption which has always underlined commonwealth status. Under the original enabling act, virtually all U.S. law was made to apply automatically to Puerto Rico unless it is specifically exempted. Laws governing shipping, communications, federal grants for social programs, even new environmental protection regulation, have worked either with hardship or foolish distortion as applied to this crowded, unique island.

Hernandez proposes that the thing be simply turned around; that it be understood that a new U.S. law NOT cover Puerto

Dear Editor: I see where William Scott of Virginia does not feel honored because a poll of congressional 'aids' named him the dumbest member of Congress.

The senator probably feels this is an undeserved crown because he believes there are other lawmakers who are better qualified for the award.

But he should accept the decision gracefully, realizing that it is always hard for judges to make a decision in contests where practically all of the entrants are highly qualified for first place.

DON OAKLEY Did He Say He Was Sorry To Eat And Run?

NEW YORK (NEA)—Thanks to the U.S. Supreme Court, American men are pretty well protected against the pernicious effects of X-rated movies, never mind the absence of any proof of a relationship between pornography and antisocial behavior.

Strangely, however, the eminent justices seem unconcerned about the equally mischievous influence of X-rated clothing worn by some female members of the population, even though here cause and effect are abundantly clearer.

It may be that no case of this nature has ever come to the attention of the high tribunal. If a recent episode that took place in a drug store in Falladage, O., is typical, one may hope that this oversight eventually will be corrected.

The facts may be briefly stated: The party of the first part, a matron described as wearing "tight pants and a halter" was waiting in line at the checkout counter of said drug store. Behind her was the party of the second part, described as a male of about 25 years.

Evidently seized by an overpowering urge, said party of the second part did then and there, wholly without warning, bite said party of the first part upon a prominent portion of her posterior.

An altercation thereupon ensued between the party of the second part and the husband of the party of the first part. The police were called, but said party of the second part had fled by the time they arrived.

According to the victim, her assailant was clad in T-shirt and jeans, stood approximately 5 feet, 9 inches tall, weighed about 180 pounds and had a good set of teeth.

"Res ipsa loquitur," as the lawyers said. The thing speaks for itself.

IN ALL THE COMMENT ON the White House Watergate tape transcripts, no one has remarked on another aspect of them: their atrocious grammar. No one, that is, except the assistant editor of the Stamford (Conn.) Weekly Mail.

"Grammar may seem like a minor point at this time," writes Felicity Hofferker in a letter to the New York Times, "but it is something of a shock to realize that a man who not only is a graduate of college and of law school but who has managed to become President of the United States does not know the difference between such verbs as 'lie' and 'lay' ('the men were laying in the bushes' he says), when to use 'who' or whom, 'like' or 'as' or the tenses of verbs."

Technically, of course, Miss Hofferker is correct. The White House transcripts would rate a "D" in any high school English class, quite apart from their content. She's offbase, however, if she expects Americans to be upset by bad grammar. In fact, the case is just the opposite.

It's almost positively un-American to know the difference between lie and lay, who and whom, like and as, etc. Anyone who does is immediately suspected of undemocratic, elitist tendencies.

As for communication, the whole point of language as used by everyone from presidents to public relations people is not to inform or "make perfectly clear" but to persuade. You can't do that if you don't speak the language of the common man.

If Americans wanted a President who could use the king's English correctly, why, they'd have elected a king.

Inmate's Lobotomy Is Causing Protests

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Prison officials are fielding protests over the lobotomy ordered for an inmate who spent more than seven years in isolation and went blind before his release after 33 years behind bars.

But Warden Ed Pogue of the Nevada State Prison said Monday the treatment given Eugene Austin, now in a convalescent home, is no longer in issue, as many of the objectors believe.

Pogue said one person wrote "What kind of animal are you?" Then the warden added, "We had been concerned about Austin, too. We had been trying for a couple of years to get him released."

Austin, 51, was sentenced to life in prison in 1941 at age 18 for killing a woman during a shooting spree.

Records show he was constantly involved in fights with both inmates and prison guards and underwent a prefrontal lobotomy in 1963 in an effort to control his violence. Prison officials said the surgery was completed with Austin's acquiescence.

By the time he was released

May 28, Austin had spent more time in the state prison than any other inmate. More than seven years of that time was in a darkened isolation cell.

Austin's blindness was brought on by the time spent in isolation and by injuries suffered in prison brawls, officials have said.

"He was rough. He was the strongest man I have ever seen," said Art Bernard, the warden when surgeons performed the lobotomy that left Austin subdued and docile.

Asked whether he had any reservations about the medical decision to give Austin a lobotomy, Bernard replied, "None at all. It was done in his best interests."

Pogue said he has received about eight letters and 19 phone calls from "people expressing concern as to why Austin is here so long and why he had a prefrontal lobotomy...."

He said it was unfortunate that Austin received a lobotomy, "but that was the state of things at the time. Mental hospitals and prisons were using them. This was an acceptable thing at the time it occurred."

Magruder Says He Was Told Nixon Okayed 'Dirty Trick'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jeb Stuart Magruder says he was told that President Nixon approved at least one campaign dirty trick in 1972—a phony write-in campaign for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in the New Hampshire Democratic primary.

Magruder, who goes to prison today for his part in the Watergate scandal, recounts the incident in his book, "An American Life—One Man's Road to Watergate," scheduled for publication June 26.

McKinney Said 'Resting Better' Following Mishap

Burns McKinney, longtime Midlander and former Southwest Conference football referee, is reported to be "resting better" in a San Antonio hospital where he is recovering from serious burns.

McKinney suffered third degree burns over 20 per cent of his body in an accident at Lake Amistad on May 25.

He is in Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio, where he is likely to remain for the next two months, according to his doctors.

Magruder implicated former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell in the decision approving the break-in and bugging of Democratic headquarters in the Watergate complex and recounted the careful plans to cover up high-level involvement in the abortive scheme.

He wrote that shortly after the June 17, 1972, break-in, he played tennis with then-Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who asked: "Jeb, what the hell is going on?"

"It was our operation," I said. "It got screwed up. We're trying to take care of it," Magruder said he replied. "Agnew frowned and looked away. 'I don't think we ought to discuss it again, in that case.'"

WHERE FLOOR COLLAPSED—The gaping hole in this downtown Miami hotel shows where a section of the second level collapsed Monday afternoon as concrete was being poured. Miami police said seven workmen were injured. (AP Wirephoto.)

Man Up To His Neck In Cement As Miami Hotel Floor Falls

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — There was one loud pop before tons of concrete came down around Eddie Weaver, trapping him and five other workers at a downtown Miami construction site.

"He was up to his neck in cement," said Weaver's uncle, Norman Warren. "I had to dig him out with my hands."

Warren, owner of the General Concrete Co., said Weaver was below a section of the second floor that collapsed Monday as cement was being poured.

"I was on the top and there was just a crack. The whole second floor gave way," said Warren. He said he was not hurt because "I'm fast."

Weaver and another worker were listed in serious condition at Jackson Memorial Hospital. Seven workers were treated for injuries from the accident at the site of a new motor lodge.

At least 14 men were working on the planned 14-story building when the flooring gave way.

City Building Inspector R. E. Ferencik said the collapse of wood shoring apparently caused the accident, although an investigation was continuing.

Mutscher's Wife Seeking Divorce

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Donna Axum Mutscher, Miss America of 1964, has filed for divorce, saying her marriage to convicted ex-House Speaker Gus Mutscher had become "insupportable because of discord or conflict of personalities."

State District Court Judge Jim Meyers set a hearing for Friday on temporary child custody and support and conservation of the couple's property while the divorce is pending.

He also issued a temporary restraining order Monday, commanding Mutscher not to dispose of any property.

Mutscher currently is appealing his March 15, 1972, conviction on charges he conspired to accept a bribe from Houston promoter Frank Sharp in the form of a lucrative stock deal.

Mrs. Mutscher moved into an Austin apartment last fall and worked as a research associate at the University of Texas School of Communications.

She seeks permanent custody of the couple's son, Gus Hurley Mutscher, 3, whom she said is now living with his father in Brenham.

Mrs. Mutscher, 32, also has a daughter by a previous marriage. Her last name was changed to Mutscher after the former House speaker became her stepfather.

The hearing set for Friday will be for the judge to receive evidence on temporary custody of the couple's son, temporary support for Mrs. Mutscher and her children, an inventory and appraisal of property and a temporary injunction to preserve the property intact.

In the suit filed by her lawyer, University of Texas law Prof. Joseph Witherspoon III, Mrs. Mutscher said her husband was "in possession of much property, some of which is unknown" to her. She said she fears he "will dispose of or encumber this property and dissipate the proceeds" and deprive her of her share.

She said she had an "incomplete knowledge" of this property and sought a sworn accounting of both property and debts.

'Insufficient Income'
Mrs. Mutscher said her husband should continue supporting her and her children while the divorce suit is pending. She said they have "insufficient income for support while" Mutscher "has an annual income much in excess of any amount" she is capable of earning.

The temporary restraining order issued by Meyers forbids Mutscher to sell, transfer, assign, mortgage or encumber any property or incur any indebtedness on account of their community property except in the normal course of business or for necessary living expenses.

Mutscher was a 36-year-old bachelor in his first year as House speaker when he was introduced by a legislative colleague to the pretty former Miss America, who was teaching speech at Texas Tech University.

Their courtship led to a June 7, 1969, wedding in the Lutheran church that Mutscher had attended while a University of Texas business student. At the time there was talk that Mutscher might eventually run for Congress.

But his political hopes collapsed when the Sharpstown stock scandal broke in January 1971, a few days after Mutscher was sworn in as speaker for a second term.

Mutscher was tried in Abilene a little more than a year later and was convicted of accepting a bribe in return for his efforts to pass a bill that allegedly would have enabled Sharpstown State Bank to evade scrutiny by federal banking authorities.

Pair Of Zoning Changes Pleas Denied, Two Others Ok'd

By GEORGE MASSEY

A two hour meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission Monday resulted in negative votes by commissioners concerning two zoning change applications while two others received approval. One item on the agenda was tabled because the applicant was not present.

Several Midlanders appeared to voice opposition to items three and four on the agenda, both of which were denied by the commission.

Item three brought the heaviest turnout of opposition with consideration of a request by Amy Patricia Goff Wettstein for a zone change from LR2 to SU (specific use) on property on the northeast corner of Illinois and Upland Streets in the area known as "The Strip."

In discussion before the commission Mrs. Wettstein noted that although her application for a zoning change had listed the proposed use of the property in question as a lounge, she had no definite plans for the property. She said that there was a possibility for a retail dress shop or even a restaurant, serving drinks to complement its food, to be built there. It was also noted by Mrs. Wettstein that when she filed her application it was not her intention to threaten the food establishments already doing business in the area.

Midland attorney Jim Boldrick represented the Wettstein interest at the meeting explaining that his client had owned and developed the area known as "The Strip" for a number of years. Boldrick said there was no reason for involving moral issues in the question of gaining approval for a SU zoning of the property because an "on premises consumption" permit carried with it "certain legal restrictions."

In answering questions posed by the commission concerning traffic, Boldrick replied, "no retail outlet would create the traffic jams on Illinois as the service station did." The property in question is a vacant service station.

Zoning commissioner Charles Tigue fired back at Boldrick's argument by saying that he was not interested in having his kids around an area where drinks were available, and noted that he was not satisfied to issue a permit for a "lounge."

Boldrick brought it to the commission's attention that beer already was available in the same general location of his client's zoning request.

Mrs. Wettstein spoke in behalf of her own cause telling the commission that her idea had been only to improve and upgrade the property. She said that her interest was one of an economic standpoint and that she did not wish to contribute to the juvenile problem now present in the area.

The commission then heard nine area residents and church leaders protesting the zoning change, and received two lengthy petitions of names listing those others not in attendance who were opposed to the zoning change. The citizens arguments against the zoning request ranged from the moral implications on Midland youth to the extreme traffic hazards which would be compounded by the presence of another alcoholic beverage outlet in the area.

The commission then voted to not give approval for the zoning request and notified Mrs. Wettstein, that her request could still be carried on to the City Council for consideration.

Item four on the agenda, a request by developer Paul Noel, drew fire from several residents living in the vicinity of the 2600 block of Hodges Street. Noel requested that the commission give approval for a zone change from IF1 (one family dwelling) to IF2 on three lots in the 2600 block of Hodges Street. Noel told commissioners he needed the zone change in order to build four townhouses on the three lots without having a 30-40 foot gap between the homes. He said that if the zoning was not changed he could only put three houses on the lots with large empty spaces between them.

Opposition to Noel's request came in the form of a petition signed by all of the residents living in the 2600 block of Hodges Street, plus several of the neighborhood residents. They cited property devaluation, heavier traffic, and Noel's purely economic reason for not wanting to conform to the present building restrictions of the area.

The commission voted not to approve Noel's application. Two items that gained approval of commissioners drew no opposition. They included a request by Miss Dean Lackey for a zone change from IF2 to SU at 609 Raymond St. so she can obtain a state license to operate a 10-child day nursery on the property.

The other request approved was by Norwood W. Jones for a zone change from IF2 to LR in the 2500 block of Kansas Street. Jones told commissioners the property would be used for a cafeteria parking lot.

Item six on the agenda, a request by Troy E. Jones for closing of an alley in the Casa Loma Annex, was tabled by the commission because Jones was not able to attend the meeting.

The next scheduled meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission will be June 17.

St. Clair Says He Would Welcome Colson's Testimony In Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House lawyer James St. Clair said today he would welcome testimony by former White House counsel Charles W. Colson in the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry.

"In my view it would be highly supportive of the President," St. Clair told newsmen, as he entered the committee room for the start of another week of closed-door hearings.

The committee planned a look into White House dealings with the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. today and then will take up political contributions by the dairy industry late in the week.

Colson played a leading role in White House dealings with ITT and dairy groups, as well as activities of the White House plumbers.

Colson pleaded guilty to a single count of obstruction of justice Monday, saying he wants "to tell everything I know."

Colson's conversations with Nixon on a number of subjects involved in the committee inquiry are among tapes the committee has subpoenaed and Nixon has refused to provide.

Colson pleaded guilty Monday to a single count of obstructing justice in the trial of Daniel Ellsberg, accused of leaking the Pentagon papers. Under an arrangement with special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, Colson will not be prosecuted on three other charges in the Ellsberg case and in the Watergate cover-up.

Colson said he agreed to the arrangement so he would be free "to tell everything I know about the Watergate and Watergate-related matters."

The 43-year-old lawyer will be sentenced June 21 on a charge that he carried out a plan to "defame and destroy the public image and credibility" of Ellsberg. A felony, it carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

His arrangement with Jaworski is designed to make him available as a prosecution witness in the various trials the special prosecutor is preparing. But William Merrill, assistant special prosecutor, said Colson would be free to testify before the Judiciary Committee if he wants to.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who hopes to speed up the inquiry by limiting the number of witnesses, would not comment about the possibility that Colson would be called. No decision will be made on witnesses, he said, until all documentary evidence has been presented in about three weeks.

Other committee members, however, said they hoped Colson would be called.

Earlier Monday, Robert McClory of Illinois became the first Republican on the committee to speak in favor of finding Nixon in contempt of Congress, if that would result in getting the tapes the committee has subpoenaed.

The Senate Watergate Committee also may call Colson. His importance as a potential witness in the impeachment inquiry is underscored in a Judiciary Committee staff memorandum to members just

Cambodian Education Minister, Deputy Slain By Students Holding Pair Hostage

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian education minister and his deputy were slain today when government riot troops stormed a high school where students were holding the two men hostage, doctors reported.

Witnesses said both were killed by students. Education Minister Keo Sangkim was shot once in the chest and stabbed in the stomach with the broken leg of a table, doctors at the military hospital told newsmen. They said Thach Chea, undersecretary for education, was shot twice in the chest and died in Monivong Hospital.

Fire Razes Barn East Of Midland

A barn and its contents, which included a car, shop and 75 bundles of hay were destroyed by fire Monday night.

The barn and car shed, owned by Bart Evans of 2507 Harvard St., was located about 15 miles east of Midland on County Road 1050 South. Alonzo Galindo resides on the property.

The fire department received the call at 4:09 p.m. and the barn was blazing when firemen arrived. Five firefighters went to the scene and pumped water for two hours.

They remained at the scene, however, for five hours to be sure that the fire did not rekindle.

The cause of the fire was unknown.

Rome... Teen-Agers Tennis Delight

ROME (AP) — Winning titles at the Rome tennis open turned out to be child's play. Or at least the work of teen-agers.

Chris Evert, 19, won the women's crown for her first major international triumph and Bjorn Borg, 17-year-old Swedish star, breezed past Ilie Nastase to take the men's title.

Borg was the youngest player ever to win a major tournament.

Miss Evert, from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Borg have both won bigger prize money than in Rome—$16,000 for Borg and $5,000 for Miss Evert—but their performances here were cornerstones in their careers.

Miss Evert beat another teenage star, Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia, 6-3, 6-3 in the women's final. Miss Evert was a finalist in Wimbledon, Paris and Rome last year and a semifinalist for three years running at Forest Hills.

Borg beat the top-seeded Nastase, considered one of the best players in the world, in straight sets 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 in Monday's final.

It took Borg just an hour and a half to upset the Romanian, who won here in 1970 and last year.

Raul Ramirez of Mexico and Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale won the men's doubles defeating Nastase and Juan Gisbert of Spain 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

The tournament was marred by two controversies.

Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., who shares the No. 1 ranking in the United States, was banned from the tournament because he had played for World Team Tennis in the United States. The dispute over relations with the WTT has led to a feud within the International Lawn Tennis Federation. Many European countries have banned WTT players.

Wimbledon champion Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia was thrown out of the tournament for pushing several officials during a second-round match against Tomino Zugarelli of Italy.

Judy Crashes Win Column To End Slump

Judy Rankin finally cracked the win column over the weekend for the first time in 1974, which makes it sound like the deceptively fragile-looking 29-year-old Midlander had been off her game.

While it's true she hasn't been going at the clip that won $72,989 for her on the Ladies Professional Golf Assn. tour a year ago, leaving her second in money earnings and first in scoring average for the year, she really hasn't been that far away from the top.

Going into last week's Lady Carling at Baltimore, Judy had banked $25,474, which was good for sixth, and her average per round is fifth, which isn't bad either.

A year ago, Judy won four firsts on the tour. Right now, she's just one off her pace of 1973. She won the Raleigh a year ago, but didn't this year. The Lady Carling win was a repeat.

Sunday's $5,700 first place prize brings her earnings to more than $30,000 and if she could improve her finish by just one little ol' place in this week's tournament, she'd have a bigger bankroll than she earned all last year.

The tour moves to Las Vegas this week for the $100,000 Desert Inn Classic, an event Judy lost to Kathy Cornelius on the third hole of a playoff last year. First prize is $50,000.

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

After Los Angeles Laker Bill Bridges had one of his shots jammed back at him by 6-4 Donnie Thompson in a pick up scrimmage at Hobbs recently, he said, "From what I've seen of him, I think Thompson can be just as good as he wants to be. He seems to have all the necessary tools." Last year Thompson was on the Hobbs JV . . . Incidentally, a couple of other former Hobbs players went in the recent pro draft, Larry Robinson (UT-Austin) going to Houston and Larry Williams (Kansas State) to Milwaukee . . .

"It sounds like a tempest in a teapot to me," said Texas League President Bobby Bragan. "There's been nothing in writing and nothing that would warrant any kind of response from us (the league office)."

Bobby's reference was to "complaints" about El Paso Diablos P.A. announcer Paul Strezlin, who some feel is carried away by his enthusiasm. One complaint came on a call from San Antonio manager Woody Smith.

"I gather," said Bragan, "from talking to different people that the guy's a bigger plus than he is a minus. The way I look at it, it's one thing to have an organ in the ball park, but it's more important to have an organist."

Nebraska legislators raised the roof when it was revealed the Cornhuskers' new field house would seat only 15,000. By raising the roof four feet, it will allow for future expansion to 19,000.

Bowa Picks Carl Morton's Motion

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

While public enemy Pete Rose was under heavy surveillance in New York Monday night, Larry Bowa had Carl Morton all staked out in Philadelphia.

Rose returned to the scene of the crime—i.e., his playoff scrap with New York's Bud Harrelson last season—for the first time and was serenaded with a chorus of boos during the Cincinnati Reds' 5-2 triumph over the Mets.

Meanwhile in the only other National League game, Bowa learned something while watching Atlanta pitcher Morton and turned his knowledge into a stolen base that set up the tie-breaking run in the Philadelphia Phillies' 5-2 victory over the Braves.

In the only American League game, the Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 5-4 in 12 innings and the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Kansas City Royals 4-3.

The Mets had extra security guards on hand at Shea Stadium and they didn't sell any seats in the left field stands, so left fielder Rose had a quiet evening except for the boos and a first-inning, first-pitch single off Jon Matlack.

"Oh, I heard a few remarks," Rose said. "You know, the stuff like, 'Ya bum, ya.' But I hear the same stuff around the rest of the league."

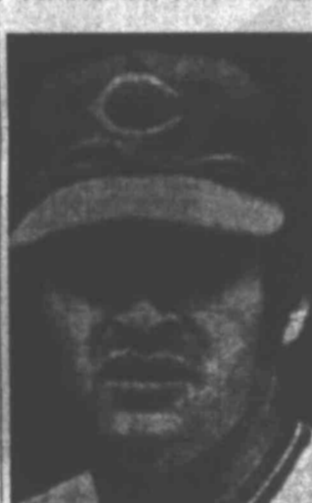

"Those were good fans out there tonight. I didn't hear one bad thing out there and not a single thing was thrown. They were noisy, but that's their privilege."

Center fielder Foster doubled and singled, driving in one run and scoring another, and made a run-saving throw from center field to support Clay Kirby's seven-hit pitching.

Phillies 5, Braves 2
Del Unser squeezed Bowa home from third base with the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning and Willie Montanez followed with a two-run double. Meanwhile, Steve Carlton held the Braves to six hits and struck out 11.

Bowa opened the eighth with a single off Morton and went to second on Greg Luzinski's one-out single. Having run a make on Morton's nodus operandi, Bowa then stole third—his 16th consecutive theft and 17th in 18 attempts this season—and beat Morton's desperate throw to the plate on Unser's bunt.

Twins 5, Red Sox 4
Larry Hise singled home the winning run with the bases loaded in the 12th inning and Bill Hands contributed a brilliant relief stint to notch his 100th major league victory.

Rose Returns

Pete Rose returned to New York's Shea Stadium, scene of last fall's 'riots,' but all was peaceful. Mets just didn't sell any seats in left field stands.

Orleans 4, Royals 2
Grant Jackson, Baltimore's third pitcher of the seventh inning, choked off a Kansas City rally and preserved Baltimore's victory. Doyle Alexander, making only his third start, entered the inning with a 4-1 lead but was replaced by Bob Reynolds with two on and two out.

In Saturday's Major League tv game of the week, former Midland Cub Matt Alexander received good camera exposure at third, Ray Burris was seen in relief, Chris Ward pinch hit and Dom Gaudioso, who was with Midland at the start of the season, was seen warming up pitchers in the bullpen.

As batting practice catcher, Dom is furnished an apartment and $1,000, not a bad setup at all . . .

'First Round' Strafacci Comes Through Again

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Dick Siderowf and Frank Strafacci did just what the fans expected in the British Amateur Golf championship. Siderowf, the defending champion from Westport, Conn., shrugged off the wind and cold to reach today's second round with ruthless ease.

Little Strafacci, white haired and smiling, lost as usual in the first round. The 58-year-old veteran from Miami promised to come back next year and probably lose again—for the 24th straight time.

"I have always been beaten right away," the cheery American said after going down to England's Peter Holt over Muirfield's 6,862-yard, par 71 links.

Known by players and caddies alike as "first-round" Strafacci, he revealed he had not felt too confident before the start this time.

The 36-year-old Wall Street stockbroker was able to shrug off the gale-force winds and biting cold which left many other players with sky-high scores. He beat Ireland's Perry Malone 5-and-3 after picking off two birdies against the wind on the outward nine.

LITTLE ROCK — There was a silver-lining along with the black cloud Monday night as the Midland Cubs lost a 2-0 decision to the Arkansas Travelers...

It was the Midland Cubs' 13th loss in their last 16 Texas League games, which squared the series with the St. Louis Cardinal farmhands at 2-2.

The silver-lining? First baseman Jerry Tabb, who was 0-for-33, got a base hit. It was the former Tulsa University All-American's first safety since May 23 and still left him 4-for-51 over the last 15 games, which is indicative that Jerry is the heart-and-soul of the Midland attack. When he doesn't hit, there's not much to hang a win on for Midland.

Bill Huisman and Ken Szotkiewicz have been getting on base with sufficient regularity in recent games but have been pining away from neglect.

Tabb's importance to Midland is illustrated by his runs-batted-in total. He hasn't knocked in a run in 12 games, yet still leads the team with 36 rbi.

Monday, lefthanders Luis Gonzalez, 4-3, and Joe Proffitt combined to stop the Cubs on five hits.

Francisco (Pancho) Lopez, 0-2, went the route for the second time in a row, yielding seven hits, but wound up a loser. Bill Bright singled and doubled to pace the Midland attack. Arkansas scored both of its runs in the fourth when J. W. Mumphy doubled, Doug Clark singled to short right-center, scoring Mumphy from third, Mike Ford then singled down the left field line to score Clark.

In tonight's fifth game of the six games series, Gary Jung, 2-4, will pitch for Midland while Larry Volkering will hurl for the Cardinals.

FOR EGO, NOT MONEY— Chi Chi Pines For Open Win

By The Associated Press After 19 years on the pro golf tour and $620,000 in prizes, Chi Chi Rodriguez still is looking forward to this year's U.S. Open.

It isn't that he needs the money. "I want to do more than serve my own ego," the veteran Rodriguez said after taking one of the 120 qualifying spots being contested by 600 golfers trying to make the prestigious event, to be played at the Winged Foot Golf Club in Mamaroneck N. Y. June 13-16.

"I'd like to adopt five or six Puerto Rican kids, give them golf lessons and teach them how not to be poor," Rodriguez said. "If they grew up to be good citizens, that would be worth more to me than winning the Masters."

Rodriguez Monday shot rounds of 69 and 67 at Charlotte, N.C., to go six-under-par at 136 to lead qualifiers in his region on the first day of qualifying play.

Not far behind was 62-year-old Sammy Snead, who continued to pursue the only major tournament title that has evaded him.

He carded two rounds of 70 to become one of 45 golfers—most of them touring pros—who qualified at Charlotte.

Thirty golfers in the field of 150 are exempt, including Johnny Miller—the defending champion who wasn't even born when Snead won his first pro tournament—and Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino and Gary Player.

Others who qualified at Charlotte included former Open champs Ken Venturi and Gene Littler, both with 74-145; former PGA titleholders Bobby Nichols, 69-69—138, and Lionel Hebert, 70-70—140; and former

HOROSCOPE

(June 4)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Daytime, especially early morning, is excellent for putting in motion some special talent you have through an unusual opportunity. Later, the good aspects gradually decrease in force, so do everyday things then.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan some amusement that will be pleasing, or something unusual with a partner. Then get busy on important routine work.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Keep promises made with more speed than before. Talk over practical affairs with mate and come to a better understanding.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Partners will clarify them and then carry through with whatever was a necessary.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although not a bad time, you should be careful. You may be a bit more than usual. You may be a bit more than usual.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Keep out of any argument between a fellow worker and an associate, or you become the fall guy. Avoid a quarrel. Don't fall for tricks of troublemakers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) You may be a bit more than usual. You may be a bit more than usual.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Clear the decks for some important activity. You will be doing so in a very quiet way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Help good people who come to you for assistance. You lead some special life in 1974. Get right into it. Be poised when others are excited.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get out of those close matters that are over. You lead some special life in 1974. Get right into it. Be poised when others are excited.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 23) Instead of fretting about those home tasks, get up your sleeves and get them done. Not a bad time, you should be careful. You may be a bit more than usual.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21) Try to be more willing to go along with the best of good friends where recreation is concerned. More courtesy with mate brings finer rapport.
