Exploration Is Planned In WT Areas

Exploration has been planned for Sterling, Pecos and Mitchell sectors.

The Sterling Co., Midland, filed application to re-enter and deepen to 9,200 feet for tests of oil or gas pays at No. 1 Reynolds, Sterling County 7,510-foot failure, eight miles northwest of Sterling City.

Originally drilled by Fisher & Webb, it was plugged and abandoned Dec. 12, 1967.

It spots 467 feet from north and east lines of section 30, block 23, H&TC survey, abstract 2303, 1 1/2 mile south of the Credo, Southeast (Wolfcamp oil and gas) field.

Pecos Workover
C. F. Lawrence of Midland intends to re-enter and test at around 1,100 feet as a wildcat, at No. 1-D Yates, former Queen oil discovery in Pecos County, four miles south of Iraan.

It was drilled by Louis H. Yates as No. 1-A Yates, and drilled to pump 13 barrels of oil daily. Producing section was not available.

Location is 653 feet from south and 5,280 feet from west lines of section 544, H&GN survey, abstract 5629.

Mitchell Try
James P. Gordon, Eastland, will drill No. 1 Roy A. Wilson, a 3,200-foot test on the south side of the Westbrook (Clearfork) oil pool of Mitchell County, in attempt to open Clearfork gas pay in the field. It spots 2,050 feet from south and 2,173 feet from east lines of section 45, block 28, T-1-N, T&P survey, 1 1/2 miles southwest of Westbrook.

Morrow Yields Gas At Eddy Explorer

Morris R. Antwell, Fort Worth, continued drilling below 10,980 feet on an 11,000-foot Morrow contract at No. 1 Western Reserves-Federal, Eddy County wildcat, after taking a drillstem test in the Morrow.

Tool was open 1 1/2 hours on the test taken from 10,930-10,980 feet. Gas surfaced in five minutes at the rate of 2,800 million cubic feet per day. Recovery was 315 feet of drilling fluid and 240 feet of water.

Earlier, drillstem tests in the Strawn at 9,800-9,960 feet, and in the Morrow from 10,640-10,800 feet, failed to recover shows.

It is located one mile west of the proposed Avalon (Strawn) field and 2 1/4 miles northeast of Morrow production in the Catclaw Draw field, 3,200 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 4-21s-20e, five miles northwest of Carlsbad.

Shortage Of Water Predicted

CHICAGO (AP) - The United States will have a critical shortage of water by the turn of the century unless consumption and use patterns can be changed, an engineering executive predicts.

Except for some arid regions, the country now has an adequate supply, Brian Gallagher of Milwaukee, Wis., said. But he said that as the population, cities and industries grow, the increased demand soon will create a shortage at the present rate of consumption.

Gallagher, president of Linnetics Inc., is chairman of the organizing committee for a conference under way in Chicago (See WATER Page 7A)

Students Helping City In Land Use Survey

By GEORGE MASSEY
Four college students are helping City of Midland planners develop a "Land Use-Housing Survey" designed to aid the Planning and Zoning Commission in a future rewrite of Midland's land use ordinances.

The four students, interning with the city during the summer months, are making visual inspections of each piece of property within the city limits. They are carried to various districts of the city each day by motor vehicle, and are then dropped off to cover that day's survey area on foot.

Walter Ashby, the city's urban planner, said the primary reason for the project is to provide a planning instrument which would "change our thinking about zoning ordinances in Midland and across the country."

"There is going to be an obvious decline in the construction of single family detached units," Ashby said. "and as a reasonable alternative for persons of less than extraordinary income we are going to have to consider the use of duplexes and possibly even quadruplexes."

According to Ashby, the four interns have a ten-week period in which to complete their survey. He said three young men are working fulltime in the field portion of the survey while one female member of the survey team works parttime both in the field and in the office compiling the gathered information into a workable city planning instrument.

Members of the survey team, all Midlanders, include Sandra Mitchell, a student at Tarleton State College; Robert Keegan, senior at The University of Texas as of the Permian Basin; Jody Slagle, a student attending Texas Tech University at Lubbock; and George Hal Medley, an engineering student at Texas A&M University at College Station.

Ashby said the student interns are covering about one typical square mile of city property every 80 hours, or about eight working days. At this rate the survey should be wrapped up in another seven and a half weeks, the planner said.

Miss Mitchell said part of her job of compiling the survey information included the development of a color-coded map of the city. The map will be used as a ready source of reference (See COLLEGE Page 7A)

Jurors' Report Lists President As 'Unindicted'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair today confirmed published reports that a federal grand jury voted earlier this year to name President Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up.

St. Clair told newsmen he was informed of the grand jury's action three or four weeks ago by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Asked what the President's reaction was, St. Clair said, "his view, of course, is that they just don't have all the evidence... I think he felt it was quite inappropriate... He was confident that the true facts would come out in time and that he would be exonerated."

Unindicted co-conspirators are not charged with a crime and cannot be prosecuted under the indictment in which they are named.

The same grand jury returned indictments March 1 against seven former Nixon administration and campaign aides for allegedly conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

The grand jury also handed U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica a sealed report and a satchel filled with evidence it had accumulated on the President's alleged role in Watergate.

The Los Angeles Times reported today that the grand jury had voted 19 to 0 to include the President among the (See COVER-UP Page 7A)

102 Reading Sets Record

Summary heat appeared to be tightening its grip on much of Texas today despite still another night of occasionally heavy rains and sometimes severe thunderstorms.

The temperature Wednesday afternoon soared to 102 in Midland to set a new high mark for the date. It was 103 at Big Spring and 101 at Cotulla and Wink. Midland's previous record high temperature for a June 5 was 101, set in 1948.

National Weather Service forecasters say the high today again will hover around the 100-degree level. The low tonight should be in the 60s and the high Friday is expected to be near 90.

Again, there is a slight chance of thunderstorms in the Midland area tonight and Friday. Otherwise, skies should be partly cloudy and winds will be westerly to northwesterly at 20-30 m.p.h.

Although a weak cool front was due to push into the state during the day, forecasts held (See HOT Page 7A)

Omaha Sniper Killed

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - A man who shot a policeman and wounded eight other officers and two civilians before he emerged from a flaming rooming house and was shot to death early today, police said.

Police Chief Richard Andersen said Elza Carr Jr., 33, had held police at bay with an automatic shotgun for more than four hours before he came out of a flaming, tear gas-filled rooming house on Omaha's Near North Side.

The chief said Carr was firing the weapon at officers as he opened a door on the porch. Police returned the fire and Carr was killed, he said.

Andersen said Patrolman Paul Nields, about 26, died at a hospital of a head wound suffered about 12:45 a.m. when he entered the house as police urged the sniper to surrender.

Authorities said Nields, married and the father of two, was among officers who launched tear gas about 2 1/2 hours after Carr had fired from upstairs in the two-story frame structure. Flames engulfed the house in late stages of the incident, apparently ignited by tear gas canisters. Three persons in the house when the shooting started managed to escape uninjured.

Andersen said pellets from the man's weapon had hit eight other officers, a man who had been visiting Carr and a bystander.

Salesman's Goal: Straighten Out Tipping System

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) - Are you one of those people who never knows how much to tip, withers under the glare of waitresses or perfunctorily leaves 15 per cent?

If so, take a tip from John Schein, a traveling salesman from Oshkosh who has taken it upon himself to straighten out the world's convoluted tipping systems. "All we're trying to do is restore tipping to its original concept," said Schein, the founder two years ago of Tippers International, which he says now has a membership of 2,500.

"We want to give tips for good, prompt service, not because we are embarrassed or feel guilty," Schein recommends sticking to the usual 15 per cent for good service, with up to 20 per cent for exceptional service and down to nothing for rotten service.

"Things are out of hand when you're expected to tip 20 to 25 per cent for average or substandard service," said Schein, a nuts and bolts salesman.

He says a kind word often achieves the same result as money.

"Find out the name of your waitress, talk to the hostess, compliment the chef and bartender. You can actually leave smaller tips and get better service," he said.

Schein says the experienced tipper learns a few tricks of the "art," such as flipping silver dollars to the doorman and porter when checking into a hotel for a few days—"I never have any trouble getting a cab or help with my bags."

Schein's list of standard tips includes:

- Fifteen per cent for waitresses, bartenders, cabbies and room service; 10 to 25 cents for restroom attendants; 20 per cent for beauticians; 50 cents for barbers; $1 for wine stewards; 25 cents for grocery boys; 50 cents per bag for bellhops and skycaps, and 75 cents for errands by hotel personnel.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) - Chairman Herbert Stein of the President's Council of Economic Advisers joined other administration economic experts today in calling for reductions in federal spending.

AUSTIN (AP) - The delegates to the Texas Constitution Convention decided today that if bingo games are going to be allowed in churches then the word "bingo" must appear in the new state constitution.

AUSTIN (AP) - Rep. Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches, has asked Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas to help put a limit on beef imports.

War Vets, Officials Mark 30th Anniversary Of D-Day

ST. LAURENT, France (AP) - War veterans and officials from seven countries mark the 30th anniversary of D-Day today with a ceremony at the vast U.S. military cemetery near this Normandy village.

Almost 10,000 servicemen are buried in the cemetery on a cliff overlooking Omaha Beach, the bloodiest of five beaches the Allies stormed on June 6, 1944.

Gen. Omar Bradley, who commanded the Americans at Omaha and adjoining Utah Beach, heads the American delegation to the two-day celebration. About 1,500 Allied veterans of the landing are attending the observance, the biggest ever, of the invasion.

Bradley, at 81 the only living five-star general in the U.S. Army, attended a dinner Wednesday night and the dedication of a museum at Ranville but missed other events. Aides said he found the pace tiring and had to rest.

Ceremonies were held Wednesday at the eastern end of the 40-mile invasion front, where the British, Canadians and a French unit landed at 7:30 a.m. on D-Day.

Two other events were scheduled today to commemorate American feats of arms on D-Day.

A unit of U.S. Rangers stationed in Germany was to reenact the climb 225 Rangers make under withering fire up a 100-foot cliff to capture a German stronghold at Pointe du Hoc. The men of the 2nd Ranger Battalion used ropes and wooden ladders borrowed from the London Fire Brigade to scale the crags.

Some surviving Rangers were on hand to watch the re-enactment.

Some 120 civilian and military parachutists were to jump into the village of Ste. Mere l'Eglise, where the first American paratroopers, from the 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions, landed in France. They met with devastating fire in the square at Ste. Mere l'Eglise but regrouped and pushed on.

Astronaut Alan Shepard was to be a guest for the jump and later was to show a film of his moon landing.

Tape Dealing With Milk Price Affair Incomplete, Impeachment Probers Say

WASHINGTON (AP) - A ends abruptly with an exchange between Nixon and then Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

According to Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., Connally said, "I'd like to talk to you for a couple of minutes on another matter." Nixon replied, "Sit down," and the tape recording ended, Rangel said.

The recording was furnished voluntarily by the White House several months ago before it began resisting requests for subpoenas for additional recordings. White House lawyers have said that in such tapes it gave up only portions (See MILK FUND Page 7A)

Dried Flowers Are A Cleaning Puzzle

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I hope someone can tell me how to clean a dried flower arrangement now covered with dust and cobwebs. I do not want the flowers to break and fall off. — SANDRA.
DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with all those dozens and dozens of aluminum foil pans — pie pans and roaster, baking pans, tv dinner trays, etc., that absolutely no one will accept for recycling as they do beer cans. I have been told they have no way of shredding this type of aluminum and every housewife knows such pans pile up. It seems they should be recycled or something done. — NORA.

The following Polly's Pointer was submitted by Mrs. Mary Ann Stice, 4036 Monty Drive.
DEAR POLLY — M. M. wanted to know how to clean the arms on a velvet chair and the following has worked well for me. I use a steam iron and a brush with firm bristles such as an old toothbrush. Hold the steam iron several inches above the arm and move it slowly ABOVE the surface and gently scrub the velvet with the nap. Work slowly and carefully and do not allow the nap to become wet. The steam served to lift the nap while the brush lifts the dirt out. — MARY ANN.

DEAR POLLY — Some velvets are now washable and will or should be marked. No matter how one does it always be careful not to soak the fabric or allow moisture to get to the filler under the cover. When really dirty and spotted a velvet chair should really be cleaned by a professional. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Do not throw away those plastic or foam trays that meat comes in from the store but wash and save them to use in the bottoms of garbage bags. They fit perfectly and keep the moisture from going through the bottom of the bag. — KENNETH.

DEAR POLLY — I have several round tablecloths. When I would get one out to use for company I was always ashamed of the wrinkles and had to press the tablecloth again but I now have a solution. I iron them on the wrong side, fold down the center, bring both outside edges to the center fold — in other words I fold back then to the center and then hang each across a wooden coat hanger, put these in a closet. They are all ready to use and with no last minute touch-up ironing required. — DOROTHY.

DEAR POLLY — I have discovered that a certain rod is a perfect tool to use when turning such things as belts or other long pieces that are sewn into tubes and have to be turned to the right side. Works like a charm. — PATRICIA.

AT CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION—

Baptist-Catholic 'Compromise' On Gambling Loses

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention has rejected an attempt to combine Baptist sentiment against horse-race wagering with Catholic love of bingo.

Delegates also defeated four other proposals on gambling in a three-hour debate. More debate was scheduled today.

Sen. Jim Wallace, D-Houston, and Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Alvin, offered the convention the Baptist-Catholic "compromise" Wednesday after several close votes on the other proposals.

The Wallace-Caldwell amendment would outlaw lotteries, as does the present constitution, but submit church bingo and pari-mutuel wagering to the voters as separate issues. It was tabled, 96-68.

Rep. Billy Williamson, D-Tyler, spoke for the amendment, saying he and other Baptists lack the votes to put an outright ban on gambling in the constitution, and Catholics lack the votes to legalize bingo. "It's just that simple," he said.

The General Provisions Committee proposal on gambling tracks the language of the present constitution—which through silence on pari-mutuel wagering leaves it up to the legislature—but adds language allowing the legislature to legalize charitable lotteries such as church bingo.

Rep. James Kaster, D-El Paso, offered an amendment that eliminated any mention of gambling, leaving it up to the legislature. The amendment was defeated on an overwhelming non-record vote.

Wallace proposed to ban all gambling. It was tabled, 80-74.

Caldwell and Rep. R. E. Green, D-Houston, reoffered the Wallace amendment with the addition of legalizing church bingo. A motion to table this proposal failed on a tie vote, 75-75.

Sen. A. R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, proposed to amend the proposal by taking out pari-mu-tel wagering and expanding the church lotteries that could be legalized. A motion to table the Schwartz amendment failed, 75-75, but the proposal was defeated on a direct vote, 75-69.

The convention voted 99-32 for a banking provision that continues present law with one exception: bank holding companies would be given constitutional recognition through a statement that they shall be regulated by the legislature.

The first known Olympiad was held in 776 B.C.

The scholarship is named for James Mashburn's father, a longtime administrator at MHS.

Oil Lease Bids Rejected

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The federal government has rejected $30.5 million in bids on oil-rich gulf bottoms off the Texas Coast, saying the area's oil and gas potential make it worth $88.7 million.

Officers Raid Marijuana Farm

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies said they arrested a man Wednesday as he was irrigating marijuana plants on a farm in Nacogdoches County.

Authorities estimated there were 30,000 plants in seven different plots on the five-acre farm. They believed more plants would be found.

Officers said they also found a drying room and a packaging area in a shack.

The bids were on 21 of the submerged tracts put up for sale last week. Bids worth nearly $1.5 billion on 101 other tracts were accepted.

Bids were opened here May 29 in the government's 34th offshore oil leasing in the accelerated plan to increase oil production.

Oilmen say it will be three or four years before any of the tracts will be in production.

A total of 245 tracts in the Gulf of Mexico, most of them 50 to 100 miles at sea, were offered at the sale. There were no bids on 122 of them.

The money goes to the U.S. Treasury, along with a one-sixth royalty on any future production.

Oilmen complain that the Interior Department's estimates of value on gas-prone tracts were based on natural gas prices far above those now set by the Federal Power Commission.

FPC gas prices are around 25 cents a thousand cubic feet but a government official acknowledged that Interior, in estimating offshore tract values, was projecting that the price will be 55 to 75 cents an MCF within five years.

Ignorance Is A State Of Meaning

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the socially active university professor with a Ph.D. who wasn't sure of what R.S.V.P. meant until he saw it in your column: You replied "Ignorance is simply the absence of knowledge which is no crime. We are all ignorant, only on different subjects."

Abby, ignorance is "not knowing something we should know." Nescience is "not knowing something one would have no reasonable expectation of knowing."

Your not knowing the distinction between "ignorance" and "nescience" is nescience on your part. The professor's not knowing the meaning of R.S.V.P. is ignorance on his part. P.J.R.: WORD FREAK

DEAR ABBY: Since words are my tools, I felt ignorant not knowing the meaning of the word "nescience." Then I polled three newspaper editors, two lawyers, a psychiatrist, the heads of the English department in three of our leading universities, a world famous novelist, a United States Supreme Court Justice, and an expert who writes a syndicated column on words, and not ONE of them had ever heard of the word "nescience." So, now I feel more nescient than ignorant.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl, and my problem involves my psychiatrist. I trusted him completely and told him things I never in a million years would tell my mother, because he led me to believe that everything I told him would be held in the strictest of confidence.

Can you imagine how I felt when I overheard my mother telling a relative on the phone some of the things I had told my psychiatrist? I can't tell you how this upset me!

In high school I stayed away from counselors, teachers, shrinks, etc., in order to avoid this.

When I saw my psychiatrist, I asked him why he did this to me. At first he denied it, then he said that my mother had become "concerned" about me, so he told her everything. Abby, I thought I could trust him, and he betrayed me!

What is the law concerning a doctor's keeping information confidential? He said he had a right to talk to my mother without my permission. Did he? I am not a minor.

UPSET DEAR UPSET: Your doctor has committed a breach of ethics, and you would be perfectly justified in reporting him to the Ethics Committee of your local county medical society and/or psychiatric society. I suggest you do just that.

DEAR ABBY: How can I get a reply from a place of business when I write them requesting specific information?

I wrote to these people three times — and even then I was ignored. I didn't ask for any special favors; I inquired about buying something they sell. What is the matter with people these days? Please tell me how to get an answer out of them.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: To insure a reply — and usually a prompt one, enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. If you are ignored, give up. They probably don't need the business, and they certainly don't deserve it.

Toyah Loses School Fight

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — District Court Judge J. H. Starley ruled Wednesday that all records and funds of the former Toyah School District be turned over to its legal successor, the Pecos-Barstow district.

The Toyah school board has been fighting attempts to merge the district with Pecos-Barstow.

Pecos board members requested a temporary restraining order April 18 to prevent the Toyah district from spending any of the $15,637 it had in the First National Bank of Monahans.

Starley directed that these funds be transferred.

The lawyer for the Toyah board, A. R. Archer, said the judge's ruling would be appealed.

A Pecos spokesman, however, said the Toyah district could not file a suit because it no longer exists.

Archer replied an appeal might be made in the name of a private individual.

The last high school graduating class of the Toyah district had four members.

Chocolate Cream Pie In Face Settles Suit

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Faced with a choice between a libel suit or surrendering a reporter to be hit with a pie, the University of Washington Daily opted for pie.

At issue was a file photograph of Diane Cheap, a 1970 graduate, as she received a debating award. It was reprinted in the Daily's April 16 issue to illustrate John Snell's column poking fun at beauty contests.

Mrs. Cheap, a high school teacher in Snohomish, Wash., said through her attorney and former debate partner, Arthur D. McGarry, that the article was libelous, slanderous and made her the subject of ridicule among her students.

She threatened a $1,000 libel suit unless the Daily agreed to turn over the person responsible to be hit with a custard pie.

"My first idea was to dump a batch of Kool-Aid on his desk, but I was afraid he'd sue me," she said.

The Daily consulted with college lawyers who said her case looked pretty solid. So on Wednesday afternoon, Snell, McGarry and Mrs. Cheap held a brief ceremony outside the Communications Building.

Snell stood in a bathing suit, swimming flippers and a T-shirt emblazoned with the words "Daily Libel Team."

Mrs. Cheap, switching from custard to chocolate cream at the last minute, piled on a massive helping of whipped cream and let fly.

"If this makes her feel better, it's cool," said Snell, a sophomore from Walla Walla, Wash.

"I've had clients who have gotten more money out of a settlement but not more satisfaction," McGarry said. "If only all libel suits could be so easily settled."

Day Care Licensing Talked Here

By BO BASKIN
About 30-40 West Texans were in Midland Wednesday to discuss provisions for a new day care licensing statute for Texas.

The forum, held at the Rodeway Inn, was sponsored by the State Department of Public Welfare (DPW) and the Office of Early Childhood Development. It was one of four forums being held across the state to seek input from communities as to what should be included in the DPW's proposal for a new day care licensing statute.

Attending the forum were educators, public officials, interested citizens and parents. Number of Centers Rises
According to Dick Orton, assistant director of the Office of Early Childhood Development, the number of day care centers in Texas has "increased dramatically" over the last few years.

"Because of the growing number of women who are seeking to supplement family income or who are family heads, there has been an increasing number of women entering the labor force. This means that the children of these women will need some form of day care," Orton said.

Although there is presently a state statute dealing with day care licensing, it was written 25 years ago and is now obsolete, according to Orton. Therefore, the DPW and the Office of Early Childhood Development have joined together in an attempt to gather information from experts and interested citizens as to what form a new licensing law should take.

Work of Legislature
Merle Springer, deputy commissioner for program administration for the DPW, explained that any statutory change would, of course, be the work of the legislature, but that the two agencies are "strongly encouraging change."

There were four discussion groups in the forum, each of which considered an important issue concerning day care licensing. The issues being discussed were the statutory alternatives in the development of an effective legal framework for the licensing of day care facilities for children, alternatives for regulating family day homes, options in the regulation of preschool programs and fee charging in day care licensing.

Orton said, "Working with children is a precious thing. This forum demonstrates that the state is concerned with carrying out its responsibilities to those children. Through this forum, we hope to meet the need for a new social phenomena which would protect the interests of three types of consumers: the children, the parents, and the operators of day care centers."

Praise For Forum
Malcolm Host who runs several day care centers for the United Fund in Houston was on hand to lead one of the discussion groups. He had high praise for the forum and the way it was carried out. "I'm awfully appreciative of the opportunity for discussion which this forum affords," he said. "It's a step in the right direction in building a strong relationship with the department and the people who work closely with the department."

Forum officials commented on the large number of people attending the forum. They pointed out that there were more people on hand for the forum in Midland than there had been in the two previously held forums in Dallas and San Antonio.

Game Of Catch Puts Retriever In Ol' Dog House

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A playful game of catch really put Rusty, the Harold Krause's 7-year-old Chesapeake retriever, in the dog house.

"Here, catch," Krause said to his wife as he tossed her a wadded $100 bill.

But Rusty also was listening and he caught the bill in his mouth when it bounced off Mrs. Krause's knee.

Krause said when he tried to give Rusty a piece of bacon, the dog would take it and eat it both. A veterinarian's attempts to have the bill pulled out failed. The Krauses said they waited for nature to take its course. And after two days of patient attention, they said the bill was recovered—in usable condition.

Investors Becoming Independent

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — A fascinating change in the investment scene that might pose big problems for professional money managers, but which often is overlooked, is the tendency of investors today to exercise more independence of judgment.

In the 1960s, millions of Americans turned over their savings to money managers with only one request: "Make me some money." The money managers agreed to the arrangements, and sometimes they produced results, too.

Then the disillusionment. The stock market broke, and with it snapped the untested faith of customers in their advisers. So also did the myth of superior wisdom and insight.

Unlike the 1960s, when playing the game was easy, money managers now are being tested. Month after month the assets of mutual funds decline as customers redeem their shares, often at big losses.

To a much greater extent, it seems, small investors are relying on their own wits and knowledge, which in some instances is superior to the advice that was offered by the so-called experts.

Many brokerage houses also are having a tough time competing, even though competition is reduced by the demise of scores of firms.

Money managers can't seem to develop selling programs that have appeal — which is understandable, profit being the only story that all investors believe in. And profits can't be shown in today's market.

In a paper prepared for a Conference Board panel here today on "Portfolio Strategies for the Seventies," the vice president of a major fund group asked:

"Do any of you here really feel that you can set forth a definitive strategy today that you could leave unchanged for a year, much less four or five?"

If this is so, what program can the funds and the brokers sell to their customers? The fund vice president reached this conclusion:

"A soundly conceived and administered investment decision-making process is today's best bet for sound strategy in the 1970s. Our life style is too difficult for it to be otherwise."

Try selling that to the customer of the 1970s. Ten years ago he might not have hesitated before putting up his money, and might even have admired the appearance of wisdom.

Today he sees right through it.

Border Patrol Reports Record Marijuana Haul

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — More than six tons of marijuana seized Wednesday by Border Patrol officers was the largest amount of the weed ever confiscated along the U.S.-Mexican border, authorities said.

Officers charged Leonel Romero Moreno, 38, of Edinburg, Tex., with importing and possessing 12,300 pounds of marijuana.

He was jailed in lieu of $100,000 bond after arraignment before U.S. Magistrate William Mallet.

Officials said the marijuana had been compressed into bricks for shipment and was worth an estimated $3.38 million in illegal trade.

Part of the drug was found in a truck near Hidalgo, Tex., and the rest on the banks of the Rio Grande about 10 miles east of Hidalgo.

Authorities said the marijuana apparently was en route to Corpus Christi.

UT President's Condition Stable

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Texas at Austin President Dr. Stephen H. Spurr remained in satisfactory condition today in Texas Heart Institute following heart surgery.

A spokesman for the institute said Dr. Spurr's heart action and blood pressure were stable.

A team headed by famed heart surgeon Dr. Denton A. Cooley, performed the 90-minute operation. The team implanted a graft to bypass a blocked segment of a heart artery.

Spurr entered St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital Tuesday.

A New Nationalism!

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen said recently that what the people of this country need is a new sense of nationalism.

He was quick to explain, however, that it would be nationalism in the best connotation of the word.

This brand of nationalism would be pride renewed in the great accomplishments of the nation and confidence in what it is accomplishing and will accomplish in the future.

The Texas senator went on to say that Americans should start "thinking of our own self-interest, before tackling all the problems and injustices in the world at large."

Now, he didn't say that the United States should not aid nations in emergency or disaster situations.

He emphasized the fact that he was not suggesting that the nation withdraw into the shell of isolation, which it could not do, even if it tried.

"What I am suggesting," he said, "is that we concentrate on rebuilding the inner strength that we once radiated—a strength that we shared with others in time of need."

This sound policy should and undoubtedly does have the backing of most Texans and other Americans.

Many Americans in recent years have developed a habit of blaming and belittling themselves relative to the nation's ills and shortcomings.

It is fine, certainly, to be aware of any shortcomings and to try to correct them—but not to the point of self-defeatism.

The nation will survive its ills, despite the doom-spreaders, and it will be stronger and better than ever.

... Super Excellent!

"We had occasion to use the emergency room at Midland Memorial Hospital recently and the care we received was super-excellent," Mrs. Rodney Holley told The Reporter-Telegram editor in rapid-fire, enthusiastic conversation.

"The staff was most solicitous and prompt in every respect. A surgeon was on the job within 20 minutes. We just want others to know how fortunate we are in having such a fine, well-operated facility at our disposal."

Take a well-merited bow, MMH!

'I Guess We All Have Our Load To Carry!'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Congress buries reforms; pursues Watergate probe.

WASHINGTON — With a splendid show of indignation, the leaders of Congress are investigating the Watergate scandals. But they quietly have buried the reforms that would prevent future Watergates from happening.

The scandals have dramatized the need, above all, for campaign reforms to clean up the political process. Something also should be done to snap Congress out of its legislative lethargy.

These reforms have been waited around Capitol Hill on great gusts of hot air only to drift, inevitably, into some obscure and unattended corner.

Meanwhile, most congressmen solemnly declare their devotion to changes which, marvelously, never seem to occur.

The most urgent need is for a "Clean Elections Act," which Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., and Morris Udall, D-Ariz., have offered. It largely would eliminate the campaign fundraising abuses, which the Watergate prosecutors say have produced "the largest number of criminal investigations still pending."

Already, they have filed criminal charges against 16 individuals and 13 corporations. And of the 56 separate allegations of improper conduct originally lodged against President Nixon, more than 20 were related directly to the influence which campaign contributions had on governmental decisions.

An army of lobbyists, packing thick bankrolls, also swarm over Capitol Hill. They stay in the gray shadows, cool, convivial and, if possible, invisible. A few deliver cash in sealed envelopes or in brown paper bags. But the more sophisticated approach is through campaign contributions. It is becoming increasingly difficult to distinguish between a subtle bribe and a campaign donation.

Yet the "Clean Elections Act," which would help change all this, is languishing in the House Administration Committee.

A year ago, the Democratic leadership started to prod the committee by adopting a resolution calling for a campaign bill in time for the 1974 election. But chairman Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, persuaded the policymakers that he intended to act swiftly. So instead, the leadership commended his committee for its fine intentions.

The feisty, flamboyant Hays, meanwhile, found time to slip through an amendment, which abolished an earlier reform. His measure scraps the requirement that congressional travel expenses be printed in the Congressional Record for the constituents back home to read.

Hays has claimed his action has saved the taxpayers about $9,000 in printing expenses. There is no longer any public record, of course, of how much of the taxpayers' money has been squandered by globe-trotting congressmen.

Presiding over all this chicanery is a small clique of tired old men who have achieved

RAY CROMLEY More Paper, But Far Less Fuel For The Fire

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A secret meeting at the White House a few days ago called in key energy officials from the departments to discuss new conservation measures.

But there was no meaningful discussion. The head men at the Federal Energy Office had made up their minds; views of the government's top practicing energy experts were clearly not wanted.

Curiously enough, the White House plan as outlined in these sessions, will not attack the major problems. It will add to the paperwork, the costs and the complexities of operation for many companies through the United States for years ahead. And it will increase the number of federal bureaucrats. The plan, in the main, requires more inspections and more reports.

Specifically, the proposal would require any company receiving a government contract of $50,000 or more to meet the FEO standards for illumination, heating and air conditioning.

That is, the temperature of buildings, offices and plants could be raised no higher in the winter than government standards, or brought lower in the summer by air conditioning. The lighting would be no brighter than government specifications called for.

The companies concerned would be required to provide for regular inspections and make required reports to show they were making the inspections. They would have to be able to prove they had developed an accurate method of checking on these matters throughout their operations.

The hypocrisy of the Democrats, in condemning Nixon on corruption but killing reforms, has been compounded by a House Government Operations Committee measure that would write the specious Nixon doctrine of executive privilege into law.

An astonished Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., has warned: "The Constitution places no limits upon the kinds of information which the executive branch is to furnish to Congress."

The loss of energy through insufficient insulation, the failure to preheat sufficiently in industrial processes, the discarding of heat which could be recycled, the lack of automatic controls and the widespread failure to adjust furnaces regularly to make for more efficient fuel consumption — these are the problems which require attention.

There is a host of practical, already-developed methods for more efficiently using energy. Many of these are not costly; some are. Considerable numbers would more than pay for themselves over the long run in dollars saved from cutbacks in the amount of energy required.

In some companies abroad, production has been increased 25 per cent while cutting back energy use by 20 per cent through the use of computer controls. The payoffs are in this sort of imaginative improvements.

But when energy engineers at the White House meeting attempted to bring these arguments into the discussion, they were waived down.

This kind of conservation, is the major hope for handling this nation's energy crisis in the several years just ahead. Sizeable new production from Alaska's North Slope, from nuclear energy, from new oil wells and secondary and tertiary production from old wells, and other sources will not be so

A filibuster is a parliamentary device which allows a U.S. Senator to hold the floor by speaking continuously. A filibuster can delay legislation for weeks if a group of senators work together. In 1917, Senate adopted the "Cloture Rule" which could limit a senator to speak only one hour if two-thirds of the Senate voted to invoke the rule.

Meeds' sentiments are echoed by Rep. John Culver, D-Iowa, who has circulated a letter among the leadership, protesting: "Thus far we have managed only to bring a series of self-inflicted wounds upon ourselves — by treating committee reform as primarily an

Dear Editor: I see where another consumer protection agency is about to be set up by Congress to keep us from being rooked by big bad business.

Next we will be needing a CPA to protect us from previously established CPAs, and CPAs to protect us from the CPAs protecting us from CPAs.

But despite the lawmakers' rabid urge to save us from predatory business, they have never even considered setting up any highly-paid, luxuriously-officed agency to protect us from tax-happy congressmen.

DON OAKLEY Free (?) Postage: A Pandora's Box, Indeed!

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Rising postal costs are a threat to the free flow of public opinion, says Sharon Stark, editor of the consumer magazine, "Everybody's Money."

An editorial in the magazine's Summer 1974 issue urges its readers to support a bill introduced by Rep. Harold Froehlich, R-Wis., which would provide postage-free mail service for people writing to their elected representatives in Washington.

This would give the citizenry the same free postage rights that senators and congressmen have. It would, says the editorial, open the door to more "input" from the public and more responsibility on the part of our elected representatives "in this era of distrust in government at all levels."

The magazine notes that since first-class postage went up to 10 cents it has received much less mail and wonders if it could be that its readers have sworn off letters to the editors as one way of fighting inflation.

"Sooner or later," says the editorial, "consistent postage increases are bound to have an adverse effect on freedom of expression, and hence, our entire political process."

There's little doubt that free postage would encourage the sending of a lot more messages to Washington. The question is, how many of them would really be necessary and constructive? Despite inflation, if a person has a beef he thinks is important — or even a compliment — it would seem that he can still afford a dime for a stamp.

Anyway, nothing in this world is "free." To subsidize free mail to Washington, the Postal Service would probably just turn around and raise the rates on all other mail.

SOME WILL SAY IT'S part of the current "nostalgia" kick. Others will attribute it to the search for "relevance." Still others may suggest it's the result of the discovery in the 1950s that "Johnny can't read."

Whatever the reasons, the fact is that comic books are the craze on college campuses these days.

According to College and University Business Reports, "Comics are so popular that more than 50,000 students now pay a dollar each to belong to a comic book society with chapters on more than 100 campuses."

A number of colleges and universities offer noncredit courses using comic books, including Brown, Tufts, Indiana

Texas Tech, Bowling Green, Auburn, Hunter, Brigham-Young and Wisconsin.

The comic book industry, which was born about 40 years ago, hit its peak during World War II when sales were estimated at 600 million a year. Primarily due to television, circulation declined in the 1950s to an annual rate of less than 200 million. Growth resumed in the 1960s, and currently more than 300 million comic books are sold annually.

Some 25 per cent of young adults now read comic books or magazines, particularly at the college level. A trend toward topicality has captured the affections of sophisticated new generations of readers, says publisher Stan Lee, who puts out a number of comic books, including one called "Crazy," a satirical magazine ribbing the establishment.

Lee insists that besides being entertaining, comic books are educational. Studies have shown their value in teaching youngsters how to read and develop their skills at comprehension. Comic books utilize a vocabulary of 20,000 words, he says. The college graduate level is 30,000 words.

"Within the next decade," he predicts, "it is my belief that comic books will come into their own as an educational medium and be universally recognized as perfectly viable forms of communication, education and art."

Milk Fund Tape Said Inconclusive

The committee devoted the full day Wednesday to reviewing evidence in the milk fund affair. Today it was scheduled to review White House wiretapping of newsmen and administration officials; a plan that Nixon approved briefly to gather domestic intelligence through burglary and surveillance of mail, and activities of the White House plumbers unit that broke into the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Both Democrats and Republicans on the committee agreed generally that the milk fund tape is open to different interpretations. Harold V. Froehlich, R-Wis., said, "I think you can read into it what you want." Froehlich said he heard no evidence of wrongdoing by Nixon, although he said the tape shows the President raised milk prices for political reasons. Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., said: "I was of the opinion that milk prices were increased in response to a pledge of campaign contributions and nothing I heard has dissuaded me. It has only reinforced my opinion." There was some disagreement as to whether political contributions were discussed at the meeting. The recording is of a March 23, 1971, meeting among Nixon and seven advisers. The day before the largest co-op, Associated Milk Producers Inc., gave $10,000 to a Nixon committee. This was the first of what was then promised to be $2 million. A White Paper issued by The White House has said Nixon ordered the price increase during the afternoon meeting after being urged to do so by Connally. It said Nixon was influenced mainly by pressure for a price increase from Congress. It denies Nixon was influenced by the promise of money and says that although Nixon knew of the $2 million promise that nobody mentioned it at the meeting. After listening to the tape behind closed doors, Hamilton Fish, R-N.Y., said much of the talk dealt with efforts then under way in the House and Senate to raise milk prices through legislation. Froehlich said that toward the end of the meeting, after Nixon ordered Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin to reverse himself and raise prices. "They were talking about getting the best political mileage out of the decision." He said someone suggested contacting House Speaker Carl Albert and Ways and Means chairman Wilbur D. Mills—both of whom wanted a price increase—and using Nixon's decision to influence them to act favorably on the President's legislative program. The committee also reviewed evidence, details of which had leaked out earlier, showing that dairy cooperative officials tried to raise a quick $300,000 for Nixon within hours after his price support decision, and even before it was announced publicly. They also read a sworn allegation from former Nixon fund raiser Herbert W. Kalmbach who said the late Murray M. Chotiner asked a top dairy cooperative official on behalf of the White House to reaffirm the $2 million hours before the price increase was announced publicly.

Keene Residents Gather Reward For Grave Vandals

KEENE, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this predominantly Seventh Day Adventist town just outside Cleburne began gathering a reward today after a body was taken from its casket and stripped in the Keene Cemetery. The reward is offered for information leading to arrests and indictments. As the same time, 25 grave markers were overturned and some broken. A visitor to the cemetery Sunday morning found an open grave and called authorities. Police and sheriff's officers said the body of a 66-year-old woman had been removed from the casket and was lying mainly on half of the casket top. Her robe had been stripped away and left in the grave. Boards ripped from the wooden box containing the casket had been thrown aside.

Houston Newspaper Reports Smith Profited In Bank Stock

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Gov. Preston Smith has a paper profit of at least $83,000 on stock held in the First Bank of Houston and is the third largest individual stockholder, the Houston Post says. The bank received its charter Feb. 3, 1968, about one month after Smith became governor. The Post said the bank's latest stockholder list showed Smith owning 10,395 shares or almost 5 per cent of the bank's 217,000 shares. The bank's charter was obtained by J. Doug Toole Sr., chairman of the Texas Water Quality Board and J. Robert Howard. Toole headed Smith's Harris County campaigns in 1968, 1970 and 1972. Howard formerly resided in Lubbock, where Smith lived. A group headed by Ralph B. Lee Sr., board chairman and president of American Savings & Loan Association, purchased a 60 per cent interest in the bank in 1970 from the group headed by Toole and Howard. The Post said Smith's son, Preston Michael Smith, and son-in-law, Conrad Schmid, made at least a 100 per cent profit of $25,000 each when their stock in First Bank was among that acquired by Lee's group. Smith's stock ownership in the bank, the Post said, until this year was carried on the annual bank stockholder lists under the names of Toole and Howard as trustees. "It was originally purchased that way before I became governor and I've had little to do with it," Smith said. "The Internal Revenue Service looked into it and they could not find anything wrong with it." The newspaper quoted Smith as saying 4,000 shares originally were allotted to him but he assigned 1,000 each to his son and son-in-law, who were responsible for their own purchases. Smith said his 2,000 shares cost him $25 per share or $50,000 and "I believe I still owe $40,000 to another bank on the $50,000."

"I think Gov. Smith made a good investment the same as others who invested in the bank," Toole said. "I think that just because a man holds public office he should not be prohibited from making investments." Toole said the only reason his group got the charter was he proved a need for it. "Any implication that we got it because of politics is erroneous," he said.

Odessan Recalls Being First GI To Hit French Soil D-Day

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — It was 16 minutes before midnight 30 years ago, John G. McParfen recalls, when he jumped from a Douglas C47 and became the first Allied enlisted man to touch soil in France on D-Day. McParfen relates that he was one of 10 specialists in the Pathfinder paratroop unit which landed on the beach on June 6, 1944, for thousands of other paratroopers in the massive Normandy invasion. He was an Ableman, Tex., truck driver before World War II made him a private. What McParfen, now a 60-year-old Odessa contractor, recalls most about that day was the short distance from friendly England to hostile Europe. "We left England about 10 o'clock at night," the veteran recalled in an interview Wednesday with the Abilene Reporter-News. "We jumped in France just a little before 12. You can't imagine going from a peaceful country to one where they're shooting at you.

Dallas Church Announces Major Expansion Plans

DALLAS (AP) — The First Baptist Church of Dallas has announced it plans a major expansion in addition to its present four-block installation in downtown Dallas. The pastor, the Rev. W. A. Criswell, said the church will renovate and build around the Mayfair Hotel to house the Criswell Bible Institute and to construct a new building for its 2-year-old private school. The school will be expanded from the present 10th grade to the 12th grade. The 18,000-member congregation recently approved a plan to raise $1 million a year for five years beyond routine offerings to improve the church plant.

One project will include a bridge across a street to connect two buildings. Criswell said the school's first-year enrollment doubled the second year. St. Clair said the grand jury's action has "no legal effect." "It wouldn't be the first time a grand jury was wrong," he said. St. Clair made his comments as he entered a closed session of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry.

House Reaffirms Stand Against School Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House vote to reaffirm its firm stand against school busing would provide $21 billion in federal aid to elementary and secondary schools. Before agreeing to a conference to reconcile its bill with one passed in the Senate, the House voted 270 to 103 Wednesday to instruct its conferees to stick to the House language on busing. The House provision specifies a list of measures that must be taken against segregation before busing may be continued. It restricts the power of federal courts to order busing beyond the next-closest school and directs that all previous court orders may be reopened to conform with the new guidelines. The Senate version states its intent that the authority of federal courts to enforce the Constitution not be diminished and omits the provision for reopening past cases.

Judge Orders Airlines To Cut Security Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A judge has found that the surcharge collected by the nation's airlines for antijacking security is "unjust and unreasonable." Administrative Law Judge Robert Seaver of the Civil Aeronautics Board on Wednesday ordered the surcharge cut from 59 to 43 cents per passenger. He said the 43 cents represents how much it costs the airlines for the security measures. Seaver's ruling will become effective in 30 days unless the CAB decides to review it.

Water—

(Continued From Page 1A) sponsored by the International Water Resources Association. To temper his forecast, he cited during an interview Wednesday developments which he said offer some promise of preventing the shortage: While each American, on the average, uses 100 gallons of water a day for household purposes, such use is only a small fraction of the nation's daily water needs. Development of solar, geothermal and other energy systems, which do not require water, or only use small amounts of it, would result in big water savings. Population growth and industrialization have resulted in a doubling of energy consumption every 10 years in the United States, and at this rate, by present methods, energy production would require 800 billion gallons of water a day by the year 2000, Gallagher said.

The case was reopened after Giesick was arrested in San Antonio and charged with bigamy. Police said he never divorced his third wife before marrying Patricia Albanowski. The grand jury probe was halted last week while Mrs. Giesick's body was exhumed in New Jersey so that hair sam-

Woodcock Wins New Term As Head Of Auto Workers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Leonard Woodcock has been re-elected head of the 1.5 million-member Auto Workers Union by acclamation. A lone challenger, virtually unknown, threw in the towel during Wednesday's roll-call voting. The victory at the huge independent union's convention puts Woodcock at the helm during negotiations with Big Three automakers in 1976. An amendment earlier in the convention week had established three-year terms, instead of the old two-year, paving the way for Woodcock to head the next bargaining. He would have had to retire otherwise because the union's candidates must be younger than 65. Woodcock, 63, was challenged for a third term by Peter Kelly of Warren, Mich. But long before the roll was finished, Kelly and two independent candidates for the executive committee withdrew. The 3,000 delegates then elected Woodcock and his slate by acclamation.

Mrs. Harry Owens, who lives on the first floor of the house, said she had called McDonald to say Carr was ill and needed $10. She said McDonald was shot as he left the apartment. His condition was not reported. Two other patrolmen were wounded about the same time as Nields. There was no report on their conditions. Andersen said Carr, shooting from a window, wounded two sergeants and three other patrolmen. Three of the men were reported in serious condition, two others in fair condition. The bystander was not hurt seriously. Police started firing tear gas into the house at about midnight but Carr refused to surrender. The police chief, using a bullhorn, repeatedly urged Carr to "lay down your weapon and come out with your hands up and you will not be harmed." Reporters said the only response was jeering from many of the estimated 300 bystanders in the predominantly black area. Another patrolman was shot.

Vote Nearing On Troop Reductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration forces are rallying opposition as the Senate nears a vote on proposals to force major U.S. troop reductions overseas.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, Vice President Gerald R. Ford and Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger on Wednesday all argued against troop reductions.

The Senate votes today on an amendment by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield to force a reduction within 18 months of 125,000 U.S. ground troops and airmen stationed on foreign soil.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., was ready to propose a 100,000-man reduction if the Mansfield amendment failed.

Kissinger warned in a letter to Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee that a major troop reduction overseas could undermine negotiations with Russia for mutual reductions in Europe and could jeopardize efforts to achieve a permanent peace in Asia.

Kissinger said the U.S. already has cut its troops in Europe from 400,000 in the early 1960s to about 300,000.

In the same period, he said, Soviet forces in Eastern Europe increased from 475,000 in 1962 to 575,000 now.

One-sided reduction by the United States, he said, would remove Soviet incentives to agree to mutual and balanced reductions by NATO and Warsaw Pact nations in negotiations under way in Vienna.

In Columbus, Ohio, Ford told a Republican fund-raising dinner that defense cuts by Congress now would tie President Nixon's hands in his efforts to negotiate mutual U.S.-Soviet reductions in nuclear arms and forces in Europe.

Meanwhile, Schlesinger made personal appeals to senators on procurement bill. The bill would set an over-all ceiling of $21.8-billion military weapons per cent below the present military force. New major weapons systems would cost 2,103,100 on total military man-survived fund cutting efforts in amendments were offered to a power by July 1, 1975, about 3 the Senate Wednesday.

Thunderstorms Are Continuing To Hit Mid-U.S.

By The Associated Press
Thunderstorms extending from Minnesota to Kansas triggered heavy rains and scattered hail today. Parts of the Gulf states also were soaked.

The town of Franklin in southern Nebraska was swamped by 2½ inches of rain in 20 minutes. Ayr, in the same section, was hit by golf ball-size hail and winds up to 50 miles per hour.

Other storms centered over the South, and a tornado touched down at McAdam in Central Mississippi.

Flooding was forecast in Nebraska and Mississippi in the wake of the downpours.

Snow fell across some mountain passes in northern Colorado, closing at least one road.

Clouds shrouded parts of the Far West, but most other sections outside the midcontinent and South were fair to partly cloudy.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 89 at Carlsbad, N.M., to 40 at Evanston, Wyo.

Freedman, a 5-7, 145-pound distance swimmer, becomes the fourth prep standout to ink with the Bengals.

While attending Lee, Freedman recorded times of 31.7 in the 50-yard free, 50.1 in the 100-yard free, and 1:48.5 in the 200-yard free to go along with his 4:47.3 in the 500-yard free, which was second in the state meet.

Freedman, who also swam for the City of Midland Swim Team, plans to pursue a career in dentistry at LSU.

Gary Choice In Tournney

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gary Player's here. And, by his mere presence, the gritty little South African must be ranked high among the favorites for the $30,000 first prize in the Philadelphia Golf Classic.

But the diminutive golfer from Johannesburg is having trouble keeping his thoughts centered on this 72-hole test that began today on the Whitmarsh Valley Golf Club course. His thoughts keep straying to Winged Foot at Mamaroneck, N.Y., site of next week's United States Open Championship.

"It's very much on my mind," said Player, the current Masters champion who seeks a second leg on the unaccomplished Grand Slam of Golf.

"The Grand Slam can be accomplished," Player insisted. "You have to be playing very well, of course. And your putting has to be exceptional. Winged Foot will place a premium on putting."

"And you have to have the breaks. You have to have good luck in the draw, in the half of the field you're playing in, in the weather, in a lot of factors. But it can be done. Oh, yes, it can be done."

It hasn't been before. No one ever has won the Masters, U.S. and British opens and the PGA in a single season. Only Player, Jack Nicklaus, Ben Hogan and Gene Sarazen have won them all in a career. Player needs another U.S. Open title to join Nicklaus as the only man to win all four crowns twice.

He said he is playing here only because of a sense of responsibility to the sponsors, who gave his friend Vincent Tshabalala, a black South African golfer, an exemption.

Tshabalala, under Player's sponsorship, is completing a three-tournament swing through the United States as Winged Foot.

Others in the 1-man field chasing a total purse of $150,000 are defending champion Tom Weiskopf, U.S. Open king Johnny Miller and Buddy Allyn and Hubert Green.

Stan Smith Upset — PARIS (AP) — America's Stan Smith was upset in the first round of the French Open tennis tournament. Smith lost to Japan's Jun Kawamura, 3-6, 6-4, 9-8. The match was resumed today after being delayed by rain and darkness Wednesday.

NEW YORK (AP) — First was voted into the NFL in April, raised the NFL ranks to 26 teams. Both clubs are to begin play in 1976, although the timetable could be moved up a year, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle says.

As for the punt rule, last season, any player on the punting team could race downfield to cover the kick when the ball was snapped. In April, the NFL attempted to stimulate more punt returns by preventing any player from running downfield until the ball was kicked.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes, Ohio State University football coach, was admitted to University Hospital today and taken to the Coronary Care Unit.

Jack Back With New Grip, 5 Pounds

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus has returned to Winged Foot after a 1-year absence, with a new grip and five extra pounds to take into next week's bid for a 15th major golf championship.

Claude Harmon, the longtime resident pro. at the course where the U.S. Open starts June 13, was flabbergasted. "Can you imagine," said the panicky teacher of princes and kings. "Here's a guy who has won every major championship in the world, most of them two and three times over, and he's changing his grip a week before the Open."

Nicklaus flew in from his home in West Palm Beach, Fla., for a re-introduction to the famed Winged Foot course Wednesday and immediately began charting the layout like a surgeon preparing for a delicate operation.

He said, "I feel fine, although at 190 I'm about five pounds overweight." Nicklaus was a pudgy, crew-cut 19-year-old amateur when he played in the last U.S. Open at Winged Foot in 1959. He shot two 77s for 154 and missed by a shot making the cut. Billy Casper won it.

William Singer Opposes Daley Again, This Time For Mayor's Post

By F. RICHARD CIOCCONE
CHICAGO (AP) — William Singer didn't count on Mayor Richard Daley's health breaking down.

And he's still campaigning as if Daley hadn't suffered a mild stroke last May 5 — a stroke that might require surgery for the 73-year-old mayor.

Eight months ago, Singer, a Chicago alderman, announced that he would challenge Daley in the Democratic party mayoral primary next February.

Since that announcement, Singer's campaign has become the strongest challenge in years against the party organization which has kept Daley in charge of Cook County politics for two decades.

If he runs, Daley will be after a sixth four-year term.

"We'll have to assume that Daley will run," Singer says. And if he doesn't run? Then any candidate designated by the Democratic party organization controlled by Daley "would be strong."

It is not the first time that the 35-year-old Singer has taken on the mayor and the regular Democrats. In 1972, Daley and 59 of his delegates to the party's national convention in Miami Beach were denied their seats because they violated quota rules in selecting delegates.

The man whose delegation was seated in place of the Daley regulars was William Singer.

Daley's ouster from the convention, combined with the election defeats of candidates he backed in 1972 and the convictions on bribery charges of such longtime allies as former Gov. Otto Kerner and Cook County clerk Edward J. Barrett prompted observations that perhaps the Daley organization was crumbling.

"That's self-delusion," Singer scoffs. "I'm not running because I think the machine is falling apart. They're going to go out and knock on all the doors just like they've always done, but we're going to knock first."

What makes Singer, a Jewish lawyer with two aldermanic victories in partially liberal, affluent wards, believe he can break the organization grip on City Hall? Before Daley, two other mayors of Irish descent, Martin Knealy and Ed Kelly, ran the government for nearly half a century.

"This is not going to be an election about Vietnam or space or energy or anything else. This is an election the people can feel, can touch," Singer says.

North Side high rise apartment where a fresh advance man and driver are waiting.

Ten minutes later Singer is back in the car giving directions to a parent-teacher meeting in a mobile classroom on the West Side in a predominantly black area.

"I know the city, I know the neighborhoods," he says. "I've spent five years in the council learning about finances and now I'm in the schools. I have to show people that Singer can make this city work."

On a marathon schedule fulfilling his first campaign promise to visit each of the more than 600 schools in Chicago, Singer has been in more schools than Dick and Jane.

He jams in as many as eight school visits a day except for some time when he must attend a council meeting or committee session.

"There are one million people in this city directly affected by schools," he says. "When you visit schools, you learn about the neighborhoods and the impact the schools have on neighborhoods."

Singer, short and boyish-looking with a neat thicket of black hair, begins a routine day at 7:30 a.m. at Lane Tech, a massive high school with an enrollment of 6,000 pupils. He visits technical shops in the basement, climbs three flights to an art class, climbs two flights to the library, back up to the third floor biology lab and is still listening to teachers and administrators as he is whisked away to the next stop.

"You can't really meet many people in schools," Singer says. "But the next mayor has to be a leader in education."

By 5:30 p.m. he is in his downtown campaign office for a strategy meeting, mail check and a schedule of the night's activities. He hurries to his

Five Dallas County Deputies Suspended In Bond Case

DALLAS (AP) — Five deputies of Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones drew suspensions Wednesday night as a direct outgrowth of inquiries into bail bond operations of his office.

Jones disclosed he was relieving them of official duties at the end of a day in which former bail bondsman Wayne S. Parsons accused the sheriff's department of "bounty hunting." Parsons also asserted that his complaints of forged signatures on several bail bonds were not investigated.

In a statement distributed at an evening news conference, Jones said, "with the information that has been developed in the recent court of inquiry, I find that I have not been kept properly informed as to the practices and proceedings in the bond department."

Accordingly, the sheriff said he was suspending without pay five deputies in his bail bond department—L. C. C. McCoy, C. G. St. Clair, B. C. Demron and Harvey Dillon—and the head of his civil division—Capt. Ralph Walkers.

Their future status, Jones said, "will be subject to the completion of the findings of the several investigations currently in process."

The sheriff said in reorganizing that branch of his office, Capt. Rosemary Allen had been put in charge of the bail bond department.

Jones told newsmen that the lack of information given him by employees "has resulted in some bondsmen being permitted to make bail bonds during a period when they had outstanding bond forfeitures remaining unsatisfied."

All bond forfeitures henceforth will be followed as soon as his office receives a writ of execution on such forfeitures, the sheriff said.

Earlier in the day the district attorney's office brought suit against Parsons, seeking to recover $149,684 on bond forfeitures.

Parsons took the stand as Wednesday's state witness in a court of inquiry on bail bond procedures, which was reconvened before District Court Judge Dee Brown Walker. He had recessed the proceedings last Friday.

After asserting he had told the sheriff's office in February 1973 that his signatures as surety on several bail bonds had been forged, Parsons cited five such instances and said there would have been as many as 40.

Parsons testified he did not know who signed his name to the bonds but those in question were not signed by Dick Woodcox, who held power of attorney from him about a month in 1971.

When he complained to the sheriff's office about forgeries, Parsons said several persons warned that if he pressed the matter he might be prosecuted criminally because he shared in bond fees from prisoners whose release was effected.

His lawyer, Van Ballew, said a handwriting expert will be called in an effort to prove that forgeries occurred.

Parsons said he could pay off a legitimate forfeiture against him. Ballew said there are indications his client does not owe the $149,684 alleged in the county suit.

Parsons also testified he had contributed $130 to Sheriff Jones' 1973 election campaign.

Granted criminal immunity as a witness, Parsons said an assistant district attorney had examined but not approved a transfer of land from Parsons to Bobby Woods, his former partner.

Parsons testified previously that he also transferred property to a corporation in April 1972 after conferring with Sheriff Jones about "how to save my property from execution."

Judge Walker issued a bench warrant for Dallas lawyer John Coll, who is presumed to have knowledge of some of the transactions between Parsons and Woods.

Midland Men To Testify Today On Oil Depletion

Lloyd Whitley and Charles Freyer, representing the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, are in Washington, D.C., today to testify before the Senate Finance Committee concerning the oil depletion allowance and how it is utilized by the independent operator.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., is chairman of the Senate panel.

Ed Thompson, executive vice president of PBPA, said the hearing is a special one, called to hear testimony on this particular subject.

CAB Official Offers Solution

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Judge Ross Newmann of the Civil Aeronautics Board said Wednesday that one possible way to get commuter airlines to use the new $700-million Dallas-Fort Worth Airport would be to close Love Field.

However, the CAB official, here for a hearing on transatlantic co-terminals, told a reporter he was not advising that Love Field be closed.

"That is not my responsibility," he said. "I only listed that as the last possible alternative to the situation."

Governors Adopt Broad Ethics, Reform Resolution

SEATTLE (AP) — The nation's governors have endorsed a far-reaching ethics proposal calling for broad financial disclosure by public officials and reforms in campaign financing. The resolution, a bid by the 66th National Governors Conference to bolster the image of government amid the Watergate scandals, was passed unanimously on the meeting's closing day Wednesday, with two abstentions.

A move by New York's Republican Gov. Malcolm Wilson to scale down the measure, offered by Wisconsin's Democratic Gov. Patrick J. Lucey and Republican Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, was rejected 16 to 9. Although the conference ended without addressing itself directly to Watergate and the possibility of a presidential impeachment, the need for higher ethical standards in politics was a recurrent theme throughout the four-day session. Both the governors and many outside speakers said states have outpaced the federal government in the field of political reform and in providing measures to help the nation's consumers. The resolution declared that "a shadow has been cast across this land that can be best erased by the bright light of public scrutiny" and pledged vigorous efforts at all levels of government in four areas: —Campaign financing, including limits and disclosure for contributions and spending, "selected pilot projects to determine feasibility of public campaign financing," independent enforcement and strong penalties. —Strict ethical codes for government officials, including clear definitions of conflict of interest, "appropriate and timely disclosure of personal finances" by both public officials and candidates and independent enforcement. —Open meetings of public bodies except in "limited, specific circumstances," with penalties for noncompliance and requirements for advance public notice and written minutes. —Registration and full disclosure of lobbying activities by all special interest groups. The governors called on Congress to make permanent the five-year revenue-sharing program adopted in 1972, under which some $5 billion in federal funds is being returned each year to states and localities. They urged prompt enactment of a federal health insurance program without endorsing a specific plan. Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, a Utah Democrat, was elected to head the conference for the next year.

Ethiopian Guerrillas Free Pilot

HOUSTON (AP) — Tenneco Inc. board chairman N. W. Freeman says a Canadian helicopter pilot captured May 27 by Ethiopian guerrillas, has been released unharmed. Freeman said the pilot, Grant Wyatt, was piloting his craft at the direction of the Eritrean Liberation Front (ELF) to a point where he was supposed to pick up some or all of five Tenneco employees captured by the terrorist group March 26.

Freeman said the guerrillas instead kept the craft and captured Wyatt, killed Dutch nurse Anna Stickwerda, 54, and abducted nurse Deborah Dortzbach, 24, Freehold, N.J., in a raid on a missionary hospital the same day.

Rides Bus To Capital Wyatt reportedly was permitted to walk into the village of Ghinda, Freeman said. He then boarded a bus for the provincial capital of Asmara and reported his release to Robert Perry, the U.S. consul general in Asmara.

Following Wyatt's capture in May, Freeman broke off negotiations for the release of the five Tenneco employees.

The Tenneco official said Wednesday, however, "I hope this new development (Wyatt's release) is an indication that the remaining hostages will be released in the immediate future."

No Ransom Demanded Wyatt was reported in good condition following his ordeal, Freeman said, and considering the circumstances, he was treated well.

"Despite consistent rumors to the contrary, there was no ransom demanded for Wyatt's release and none was paid," Freeman said.

The five employees captured in March were members of an oil exploration project for Tenneco.

They are John W. Rogers and Powers W. Cayce, both of Childress, Tex.; and Don Wederford and Clint James, both of Canada, and Motta Tavela, a United Nations geologist working with Tenneco.

U.S. Eyes Regular Shuttle Orbital Flights

By HOWARD BENEDICT
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans only one manned space flight in the next five years. But starting in 1979, Americans will fly into orbit on an airline schedule, with 725 flights projected over a 12-year period.

That's more than one mission a week, with four to seven persons on each, including a crew of three.

Among the travelers will be men and women scientists and researchers of many lands. The flights will be for working personnel only, there will be no sightseeing trips into space.

A full passenger load of seven will mean a per-person cost of about $50,000.

Dr. Myron S. Malkin, director of the space shuttle program, said the cost of developing two shuttle vehicles by 1979 will be $5.15 billion—one-fifth the cost of the Apollo program.

He said NASA probably will need seven shuttles in the 1980s, with five extra craft being purchased from the contractor, Rockwell International, for about $250 million each.

To make this launch rate possible, and economical, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is developing the shuttle, a vehicle that will be launched like a rocket, fly like a spaceship and land on a concrete runway like an airliner.

The size of a DC9, an airplane that carries 90 to 110 passengers, it will be able to make 100 or more round trips into orbit.

NASA officials discussed the shuttle and its over-all space transportation plan for the 1980s at a briefing Wednesday.

NASA sees itself becoming a "trucking agency" to deliver people and payloads into space for commercial users, other government agencies and foreign governments.

In effect, passengers will buy seats on a shuttle to conduct experiments in orbit for periods up to 30 days, sharing the estimated $10.5 million cost of each mission. An Apollo space mission cost $450 million, and/noting was reusable.

John F. Yardley, associate administrator for manned space flight, said the shuttle and its two solid fuel launching rockets are reusable. The rockets will parachute back to earth for recovery.

Initially, the shuttle will be used to place communications, weather and scientific satellites into orbit, eliminating the need for conventional throwaway rockets. If a payload should have trouble, a shuttle crew could fly up to repair or retrieve it.

The recently-completed Skylab space missions demonstrated that a science can be developed for surveying earth's resources from space. Oil and mineral companies, farm, fishery and timber organizations and other industries have expressed an interest in having their own researchers on the shuttle.

Metals processing, electronic and pharmaceutical companies want to explore production possibilities in the unique weightlessness and vacuum of space.

The Defense Department plans to operate 20 per cent of the shuttle missions for military purposes such as reconnaissance.

Nine European nations—Belgium, Denmark, France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Spain, Switzerland and the United Kingdom—are developing a reusable small space station for $400 million, called a Spacelab, to be orbited by a shuttle in 1980.

Mayor Denies He Violated Meetings Law

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — El Paso Mayor Fred Hervey told a county court jury he did not violate the Texas open meeting law and has "worked diligently to follow the letter of the law."

Hervey, testifying before County Court Judge Jack Ferguson, said he closed a meeting to the press Jan. 4 because of a touchy situation between Mexican officials and U.S. officials.

One-Hour Session
Hervey said the meeting included himself, Alderman Ruben Schaeffer, federal transportation official Ed Foreman and other city and transportation officials.

"I figure the citizens of El Paso and the City of El Paso would not be best served by discussing those problems on the front page of a newspaper or on a television screen," the mayor said. The meeting, which began at 10 a.m., was to be opened to the news media at 11 a.m., he said.

Hervey and Schaeffer testified Wednesday during the second day of their trial on charges of conspiracy to violate the Texas open meetings law.

No Collusion Involved
Hervey said there was no collusion between himself and Schaeffer to close the meeting but that he "definitely intended to have a closed session all along."

"In my opinion, I did not violate the law and have not violated the law," Hervey said.

County Atty. George Rodriguez asked Hervey if the new law has hampered the work of the city council.

"Yes," Hervey said, "to the point where I can't even talk with aldermen."

Invasion Of Bugs From Mexico Poses South Texas Threat

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Ranchers and homeowners in South Texas may face an invader from Mexico this summer in the form of grass-eating spittle bugs, a Texas A&M researcher says.

Dr. Perry Atkinson said in a news story published Wednesday that the "mosca pinta," commonly known as the spittle bug, is approaching the Texas-Mexico border on a northward march.

The bugs are 50 miles from Texas.

"If they continue moving at their present rate, we expect them in South Texas before the end of the summer," said Atkinson.

In recounting Atkinson's prediction, one writer called the spittle bugs "deadly bugs that can destroy range grasses and lawns like a prairie fire."

The bugs also pose a threat to Lower Rio Grande Valley sugar cane fields.

Mystery Blast Injures Lubbock Postal Employee

LUBBOCK (AP) — A postal employee was injured Wednesday night by an explosion in Lubbock's main post office.

Investigators feel the blast may have been set off by a pipe bomb in a parcel post package.

The injured employee, Humberto Hernandez, 35, was operating a parcel dumper when the explosion occurred. He was treated at a hospital for cuts on his face and neck and released.

Parcel post supervisor Gerald Touchette said the blast knocked a hole in the ceiling, smashed several light fixtures, and started a small fire.

More Economic Advisers Now Favoring Reduction In Federal Spending

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — A consensus is building among administration economic advisers favoring major reductions in government spending in an effort to restrain inflation.

The latest to support a reduction in federal spending is Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board.

Burns told an international conference Wednesday he thinks the administration soon will make proposals to curb spending and "get better control over the budget."

"I expect some progress in the struggle against inflation," he said.

E. Simon and White House economic coordinator Kenneth Rush previously have advocated reductions in spending in the 1974 fiscal year and a balanced budget in 1975 as a way of controlling inflation.

Burns said the decline in the American economy in the first three months of the year was not as bad as the 6.5 per cent rate of decline as reflected in the index of the Gross National Product.

Burns said he favors economic growth in the months ahead but not at the frantic boom-like pace of 1973.

Jaworski Says Cover-Up Began Almost As Soon As Original Watergate Break-In Was Discovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski says the Watergate cover-up by former members of President Nixon's inner circle began almost from the moment the original break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters was discovered.

The prosecutor said Wednesday that John D. Ehrlichman and John N. Mitchell "not only falsely withheld their knowledge (of the break-in) from government investigators, but also made use of that superior knowledge in performing various criminal actions designed to frustrate the investigation."

In legal briefs filed with U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, Jaworski said that while former White House domestic adviser Ehrlichman and former Atty. Gen. Mitchell were fully aware of the details of the break-in, they told FBI agents all they knew came from the newspapers.

Mitchell was interviewed by the FBI July 5, 1972, 16 days after the break-in. Ehrlichman talked to agents July 21.

"The government is prepared to prove that at the time of their respective FBI interviews each defendant had extensive knowledge of the facts surrounding the Watergate break-in, knowledge which far exceeded that of the investigators themselves," Jaworski said.

He filed the briefs in preparation for the Sept. 9 trial of Mitchell, Ehrlichman and four others accused in the cover-up.

Among other accusations, Mitchell and Ehrlichman are charged with lying to the FBI agents who interviewed them.

Both say the law under which they were charged with lying does not cover investigations like the one into the original Watergate break-in.

In his brief, Jaworski argued that while there are a few cases in which lying to FBI agents has proven to be a non-convictable offense, this is not one of them.

Instead, he said the course of the investigation "provides an unfortunate example" of the way the Justice Department's job "can be perverted by the submission of false information to its investigators."

Sirica has scheduled hearings next week on various requests from the defendants, who are seeking dismissal of the charges, a different trial location and access to all evidence gathered by Jaworski's staff.

Also Wednesday, the President's two brothers, F. Donald and Edward Nixon, appeared before staff investigators of the Senate Watergate Committee.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., said the brothers declined to answer some questions put to them and failed to appear at a second session. An attorney for the brothers, Elmer Stone, said they were "in full compliance" with the committee's subpoena to testify in connection with an investigation of money given by billionaire Howard Hughes to C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo, the President's close friend.

Earlier this year, the committee reportedly received testimony from Herbert V. Kalbach, the President's former personal attorney, linking the brothers to gifts allegedly made from a $100,000 Hughes payment to Rebozo.

He said here he thinks the nation's economy will show slight growth in the second quarter of the year after the big first quarter decline.

Burns also made these other points during a news conference at the International Monetary Conference attended by leading government and financial leaders from about 20 countries:

—There probably will not be a tax reduction.

—There probably won't be a recession in the United States or in the world this year, though there will be more moderate growth in world economies.

—Plans for a formal reform of the international monetary system this year have been scrapped because of the rampant world inflation and the impact of the high cost of world

Free Will Baptists Holding State Meet In Midland Church

An annual meeting of the Texas State Association of Free Will Baptists opened here Wednesday night, to continue through Friday.

Hosting the conference is Midland's Westside Free Will Baptist Church, 4031 W. Illinois St.

The meeting opened with a state youth conference Wednesday night, at which the Rev. Thurman Murphy, pastor of Odessa's First Free Will Baptist Church, was the speaker. Special music was presented by the Winglers, gospel singing family ensemble from Bryan.

State competition in various Church Training Service contests began this morning, including Bible Tic Tac Toe, declamations, Bible Bowl and Lessons for Christ events. Winners in the contests will participate in National finals at Wichita, Kan., in mid-July.

Various national denominational officials from Nashville, Tenn., are participating in the state conference here. Speakers for the conclave include the Rev. Don Ellis of College Station, the Rev. Herbert Richards of Corpus Christi and the Rev. Thomas Marberry of Bryan, said the Rev. Glen Hood, host pastor.

Williamson Sheriff Dies Unexpectedly

HOUSTON (AP) — Williamson County Sheriff Henry G. Matyssek, 73, here for medical tests, died of an apparent heart attack shortly after entering Hermann Hospital.

Hospital officials said Matyssek was admitted at 1:10 a.m. Wednesday and died 26 minutes later.

The sheriff and his wife were here for medical tests at another hospital when the apparent heart attack occurred.

A funeral home director said the body would be transferred to Georgetown for burial services.

Deposed Beauty's Mother Explains

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The mother of deposed Miss World Marji Wallace says her daughter took an overdose of sleeping pills because "she may have felt it wasn't possible to go on."

Mrs. Alice Wallace said Wednesday told newsmen her daughter was responding to treatment but was still in critical condition from the overdose Monday.

Miss Wallace, 20, was a close friend of racing driver Peter Revson, who was killed recently in an accident. She was stripped of her beauty title because of publicity surrounding her relationship with English soccer star George Best.

Woman Loses 100 Pounds After Nine Months Of Dieting

By BRUCE CAMPBELL
When Mrs. Sue Christianson of Stanton went to Weight Watchers a year ago, little did she know that she would lose 100 pounds in nine months. "I didn't go to lose weight," said Mrs. Christianson who lost 100 pounds on the Weight Watchers diet from May 8 to February 7. "I got coned into going by my girls who wanted me to look better in their bikinis. When I got started it was easy to do and before I knew it, it was gone."
Mrs. Christianson's diet was not as desperate as the woman in England who decided the best way to lose weight was wiring her jaws together.

"The people who use only a diet are the ones that don't succeed," Mrs. Christianson added about Weight Watchers. "The whole program is going to meetings to learn how to eat properly. I lecture for the program in Stanton and the girls that stay for the meetings are the ones getting the weight off. The ones that just weigh in and leave aren't."
She regrets not losing the weight sooner.
"I wish I hadn't waited so long to join the program," Mrs. Christianson said. "There's no reason for being fat. If you're mentally ready, once you make up your mind to lose it, one can find an easy way to do it."
"But if you're not mentally ready, all the diets, health spas and the such won't help you."

She admits the Weight Watchers program is somewhat like Alcoholics Anonymous—that fatness is something a person doesn't get rid of completely.
"I'm just a thin fat person," Mrs. Christianson said. "Once you've been as fat as long as I was, you always think fat. I won't ever live as a thin person."
The Weight Watchers valedictorian does say, however, people see her in a different light now that she's 100 pounds thinner.
"People react a lot more differently now," said Mrs. Christianson, a florist for a Midland nursery. "People are paying a lot more attention than before. We definitely live in a thin world, and thin people have a lot more going for them than fat people do."
Her new figure almost got her husband in trouble once.
"Some of my friends who haven't seen me recently don't know me," she smiled. "Once my husband and I visited friends and they almost didn't let him in because they didn't think he was with me."
"I'm getting good reactions from everybody," Mrs. Christianson added. "When you're heavy most people act nice about it because they don't want to hurt your feelings."
Mrs. Christianson was almost in a dream world concerning her new wardrobe.
"When a person is heavy you can't comprehend anything less than a size 16," she said. "I was able to get into a size 16 by November and the next thing I bought was a size 10."
"It was just like a miracle," she added. "I never dreamed that I would be wearing a size 8 or a size 10. It just never seemed real. You feel it can't happen to you."
Mrs. Christianson didn't follow the lead of her daughters and purchase a bikini. "I'm too old for that nonsense," she laughed.

Her activities are mostly the same ones before she went on the Weight Watchers course. She likes to spend much of her free time attending children's little league games. "I never was reclusive," she said. "I was up and going. But you do reach a point when you start staying in. I hadn't reached that one yet but I was heading towards it."
She no longer eats fried foods and tries to stay away from vegetables with high content of fats. For snacks, it's fruits instead of cookies and Mrs. Christianson said she "hardly keeps carbonated drinks."
"The program is helping the whole family to be sensible in what to eat," she said.
She admits to having "three times as much energy" as she had before which she used in her Weight Watchers lectures for the students as it did for "You kind of feel like a teacher, comedians may run out of fat jokes."

State Of Illinois Seeks $1 Million In Damages From Five Milk Groups

CHICAGO (AP) — The state of Illinois is seeking $1 million in damages from five milk associations accused of illegal market rigging and price fixing.
Atty. Gen. William Scott said Wednesday the state will enter a suit being heard in U.S. district court at Kansas City.
He said it will demand triple damages for school boards and other public institutions that use public funds to purchase milk in 16 northern Illinois counties.
The petition for damages is an amendment to a pending antitrust suit which the state first filed against the associations in March 1972, Scott explained.
Among the defendants is the Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) a major political campaign contributor and the central focus of the Watergate milk fund investigations.
Scott's suit, which has been combined with 20 other private suits, accuses AMPI and the four other associations of an unlawful conspiracy over the past six years to control the supply of milk in the Chicago area.
He said overcharges to schools, hospitals and other institutions may have amounted to as much as 10 to 12 cents a gallon. Such institutions account for the purchase of more than 36 million pounds of milk and milk products a year, Scott said.
"In spite of recent national declines in raw milk prices, prices in the Chicago area have continued at the unreasonably high levels of previous months," Scott said.
The largest beneficiary of a favorable ruling would be the Chicago Board of Education, which school Supt. James Redmond said uses 250,000 units of milk a day.

Besides AMPI, three other dairy co-operatives named in the suit are Central Milk Producers Co-operatives of Chicago, Central Milk Sales Agency of St. Paul, Minn., and Associated Reserve Standby Pool Co-operative of Madison, Wis.
The fifth defendant is the Associated Milk Dealers Inc., a trade association whose membership consists of major dairies serving the Chicago market.

But Poage, House Agriculture said, "The bill finds out if there will be on this."
Poage, who drafted the bill without federal courage suggestion likely up prices.
Poage said resurrect the barring action, the bill been costing annually will

Sugar Program Dies In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has killed the 49-year-old federal sugar program, but opponents and supporters disagree over what effect the action will have on retail sugar prices.

The bill's chief supporter, Rep. W.R. Poage, D-Tex., said Wednesday's 209-175 vote will cause sugar prices to more than double.

However, a leading opponent, Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y., said the bill would have significantly raised the price to consumers.

Peyser and other opponents argued that the bill contained a formula that would have boosted the retail price of sugar by at least a half-cent per pound over the highest price allowed under the present Sugar Act. Peyser charged during debate that the sugar program, established during the Depression to help the industry survive, was now "making the taxpayer and the consumer damn unhappy."

The program sets domestic and foreign production quotas and provides subsidies to sugar producers.

Peyser said the object of the program was to stabilize domestic sugar prices, but that it had failed to do so.

But Poage, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said, "The House is going to find out it must have a sugar bill. By tomorrow morning, there will be second thoughts on this."

Poage, whose committee drafted the measure, said that without federal payments to encourage sugar production, production likely will fall, driving up prices.

Poage said he will not try to resurrect the legislation. And barring further congressional action, the program that has been costing about $60 million annually will end Dec. 31.

Two Midlanders Hurt In Accident

Charles Alan Lively, 37, of 2602 Kessler St. was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital shortly after a 4 a.m. traffic mishap today.

He was later listed in fair condition and is being treated for a fractured hip, fractured ribs and minor cuts.

Lively was driving the car and his passenger, Algie Blue Jr., 24, of 110 S. Marshall St., was treated at the hospital and released.

Patrolman Bill Morgan said the car was headed west in the 1400 block of East Front Street when the car went out of control, left the roadway and hit a speed zone sign and a utility pole.

Lively may have fallen asleep, the officer reported.

The car and the utility pole were heavily damaged.

Drive-In Funeral Parlor

A few years ago, an enterprising mortician opened the first U.S. drive-in funeral parlor in Atlanta.

POST OFFICE GRADUATE — Jose J. Martinez, center, is the first graduate of the Midland Post Office's Letter Sorting Machine Training Program. At left is Barbara Willingham, who has set a new record in qualifying on the Outgoing Distribution training phase, and at right is instructor James E. Carter Jr.

Trainee Becomes First Grad Of Letter-Sorter Program Here

Jose J. Martinez of 2206 W. Kentucky St. is the first trainee to graduate from the Midland Post Office Letter Sorting Machine Training Program.

The training program involved five phases and 34 lessons. Qualification on Outgoing Distribution, SCF Midland and SCF San Angelo phases required keying 60 items per minute. The Instant Recognition phase required converting Midland city street addresses to carrier routes at a rate of 55 per minute. The final phase, keying Midland city street addresses to carrier routes was accomplished at 50 items per minute. All phases required a minimum accuracy of 98 percent to qualify.

Martinez came to Midland after attending Draughan's College in Abilene. He has been employed by the Midland Post Office for approximately 6 1/2 years. He was trained by James E. Carter Jr., Tour One LSM instructor.

In another development, Barbara Willingham, a new employee at the Midland Post Office, has set a new record in qualifying on the Outgoing Distribution phase. She keyed her way through the 18-lesson plan in what her instructor called "a most remarkable time" of 18 clock hours, squeezing under the old Midland record of 19 clock hours.

Hoffa Says He Would Not Have Taken Pardon If He'd Known Of Restriction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Teamsters chief James R. Hoffa says he would have remained in prison had he been aware that President Nixon's pardon barred him from union activities until 1980.

"I would have stayed in prison for two more years, I would not have accepted the restriction," he told reporters Wednesday during a recess in arguments on his suit to eliminate the curb.

Hoffa's attorney, Leonard B. Boudin, contended—and the government conceded—that Hoffa was not told of the restriction until after his release from prison Dec. 23, 1971.

The former president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters had served nearly five years of a 13-year sentence for mail fraud and jury tampering when Nixon granted him executive clemency.

Nixon stipulated that Hoffa not engage in union affairs until March 5, 1980, the day his full sentence would have been completed.

Boudin, who defended Daniel Ellsberg in the Pentagon Papers case, argued that the provision added to Hoffa's punishment was an abuse of presidential power.

"The President can't determine what is good for the man when he gets out," Boudin told the court. "It is a probation problem, a problem for judges."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Michael Katz argued that the commutation was legal and resulted in lesser punishment for Hoffa. He said that while Hoffa was not told of the restriction until shortly after his release from the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., he accepted it and made no effort to contest it until last year. Katz also maintained that Hoffa, in applying for executive clemency, promised to refrain from union activities and limit himself to lecturing and education.

U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt is expected to rule this month.

Hoffa hopes to run for the presidency of his old Detroit local in November, then try to unseat incumbent Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons in 1976.

Brown Confirmed As Staff Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force Gen. George S. Brown has been confirmed by the Senate to be chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Confirmation came Wednesday for Brown, 55, currently Air Force chief of staff. He will succeed Adm. Thomas H. Moorer in a two-year term in the nation's top military post.

Roloff's Lawyers File $10-Million Libel Suits

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers for evangelist Lester Roloff have filed libel suits for $5 million each in federal court here against two news organizations, the New Times Communications Corp. and Field Enterprises Inc., which publishes the Chicago Daily News.

A spokesman for Roloff, who operates several child care facilities in Texas, said additional suits might be forthcoming in state or federal court.

"I'm tired of this kind of thing, so I'm just going to let them have it," Roloff said Thursday. "It's not right to grind a preacher's ministry to powder through the press. They'll have to give an answer. They'll have to prove what they've been saying."

The filings followed a ruling by the Texas Supreme Court May 29 that Roloff was not required to obtain state licenses to operate child care facilities because he did not house more than six children under the age of 16.

Roloff had previously been fined $5,000 by a state district court in Corpus Christi for failure to obtain licenses.

The lower court fine had been based on an Oct. 14, 1973 opinion from Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill that state licensing requires applied to homes housing children up to 18 years old. The Supreme Court ruling in effect reversed Hill's opinion, supporting the 18-year-old guideline the Department of Public Welfare had used in defining a "child."

GM Says Reported Defects Are Not 'Safety-Related'

DETROIT (AP) — For the third time in less than a month, General Motors has countered a federal report on some of its models with the claim that reported defects are not "safety-related."

The Department of Transportation said Wednesday it found defects that could cause engine fires in some older Chevrolets and Buicks.

The problem affects some 208,000 vehicles—1965 and 1966 Chevrolets and 1966—equipped with Rochester Quadrajel Carburetors.

The National Highway Traffic and Safety Administration said a metal plug can drop out of place on the carburetor, leaving a half-inch opening through which raw gasoline may spray onto the engine.

GM says the defect is not safety-related under provisions of the Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966.

A GM spokesman said the loose plugs pose only a small risk of fire. Even in event of a fire, the driver would have sufficient warning to stop the car and get out, he said.

Of the cars covered in the finding, GM said 973 hood fires have been reported involving 11 minor injuries.

On May 17, the NHTSA said the steering wheels of certain 1969 Camaros and 1969 and 1970 full-size Chevrolets can fall without warning. Last week, the NHTSA said 441,000 1965 through 1968 Buicks and 1970 Cadillacs might have a defect that could cause accelerators to jam open.

The NHTSA also reported Wednesday a defect it said could cause tire damage or blowouts on all 1972 Ford Pinto station wagons and 1973 models built through Oct. 25, 1972.

It said a metal projection extending over one-half inch into the rear wheel cavity could strike inside sidewalls of the tires.

Ford's director of automotive safety disputed the findings.

Nixon Welcomes Arab Delegation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is welcoming a high-level Arab delegation to the White House as he continues to stress improved U.S. relations with the Middle East. The group headed by Prince Fehd, Saudi Arabia's interior minister and second deputy prime minister, was invited to Nixon's Oval Office for mid-morning talks to be followed by a working luncheon.

A White House spokesman said the discussion would center on ways "to expand U.S.-Saudi Arabian cooperation in the economic, industrial, scientific and technological fields and in the area of the Kingdom's defense requirements." Prince Fehd's oil-rich countries will tour this month. The others are Egypt, Israel, Syria and Jordan.

In a major foreign policy address at Naval Academy commencement ceremonies, Nixon said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's negotiation of Israeli-Arab disengagement removed a roadblock to Middle East peace.

The President spoke, too, of his Soviet summit talks beginning June 27 as he cautioned that the United States should not seek to involve itself in the internal affairs of other countries.

In an obvious reference to the controversy over immigration of Soviet Jews, Nixon said, "We would not welcome the intervention of other countries in our domestic affairs and we cannot expect them to be cooperative when we seek to intervene directly in theirs."

Nixon is seeking congressional approval of most favored nation treatment for the Soviet Union, but a bloc led by Sen. Henry A. Jackson, D-Wash., has stalemated the trade bill in an effort to force relaxation of Soviet immigration policies.

Nixon met later Wednesday with seven U.S. Jewish leaders, who reported the President reaffirmed his concern "for the plight of Soviet Jewry" and implied he would raise the issue with Kremlin leaders in the summit talks.

Fine Arts Quartet Due At Tech

LUBBOCK — The Fine Arts Quartet, one of America's most distinguished string ensembles, will be heard in concert here Friday night.

Presented under auspices of Texas Tech University's Summer Artists Series, the four instrumentalists will begin their program at 8:15 p.m. in the University Center ballroom. Admission will be $3 for the general public, $2 for Lubbock and area students, Tech faculty and staff, and $1 for Tech students with validated ID cards. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the University Center box office or at the door Friday night.

Since its organization more than 25 years ago, the Fine Arts Quartet has become internationally recognized for its performances of the world's great string quartet literature, particularly the works of Haydn, Beethoven, Bartok, Mozart, Brahms and Schoenberg. In addition to concerts in the U.S. and abroad, the musicians have performed on tv and radio and have numerous recordings to their credit, including Karel Husa's "Quartet No. 3" which won the Pulitzer Prize in music in 1969. They have delighted audiences of all ages in performances for the National Educational Television network and in movies produced by Encyclopedia Britannica Films.

Members of the quartet are artists-in-residence at the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, where they also serve on the music faculty.

Leonard Sorkin, first violinist, studied at the American Conservatory, the Chicago Musical College and with Misha Mischakoff. He is a former member of the Saldenberg Symphony and the Chicago Symphony and a former concertmaster of the American Broadcasting Company Orchestra in Chicago.

Second violinist Abram Loff holds a Ph.D. in musicology from Columbia University and has taught at Columbia and the Manhattan School of Music. He also has served on the board of the U.S. section of the International Society for Contemporary Music and the executive council of the American Musicological Society.

Bernard Zaslav, viola, is a native New Yorker and a graduate of the Juilliard School. His musical career includes solo recitals, recordings and membership in a variety of ensembles, including the Kohon String Quartet, the Composer's String Quartet and the Carnegie String Quartet. George Sorkin, cellist, attended the Chicago Musical College and has studied with Daniel Saldenberg in Chicago and with Emanuel Feuerman in Switzerland. In addition to his work with the Fine Arts Quartet, he has performed with the Chicago Symphony and the Pro Arte Quartet.

The musicians play on superb examples of the violinmaker's art. Sorkin plays a Guarnerius del Gesu made in Cremona in 1731; Loff owns a Tommaso Balestrieri violin made in Mantua in 1773; Zaslav performs on a Carcassi viola made in Florence in 1748 and Sorkin's violoncello was made by Matteo Goffriller in Venice in 1731.

Biennial Exhibit Opens At Santa Fe

SANTA FE, N.M. — The Southwest Fine Arts Biennial of the Museum of New Mexico has opened in the Museum of Fine Arts here, to hang through Aug. 27.

Don O. Strel, curator-in-charge of the Museum of Fine Arts, who recently served as juror for the eighth annual Southwestern Area Art Show at Midland's Museum of the Southwest, said the 1974 biennial drew more entries than any previous exhibition. It was open to artists, sculptors and photographers living and working in Texas, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Oklahoma.

The current show has 154 entries. There are 94 works of art (selected out of more than 1,500 works submitted for judging) and 60 photographs (out of a total of 452 submitted).

All-media award winners are from Cedar Crest, Glorieta, Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Montezuma and El Valle, N.M. Photography awards went to persons residing in Boulder, Colo., Tempe, Ariz., and Taos and Albuquerque, N.M.

Ten awards of $250 were given in the all-media category, jurors

Funds provided by the Weatherhead Foundation of New York were used for juror expenses, cash awards and the expenses of preparing and printing the biennial exhibition catalog.

Museum Officials Attending Meeting

Ronald D. Deane, director of Midland's Museum of the Southwest, and Jerry L. Masfield, assistant director, currently are attending the annual American Association of Museums conference in Fort Worth. Hosts are the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art, the Fort Worth Art Center Museum, the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History, and Kimbell Art Museum.

The conference features a series of discussions, panels and workshops on all aspects of museum organization. Some of the subjects discussed will be the similarities and differences between large and small museums, the relationship between state, regional and national museum organizations, inter-museum cooperation and sessions on loans, volunteers, fund raising, membership drives and accreditation.

Artist Who Makes Gold Necklaces In Trouble Now

By HARRY KOUNDAKJIAN BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The artist who makes your Oriental gold necklaces is in trouble. With the price of gold zooming, nearly 70 per cent of Beirut's artist-goldsmiths are out of work because business has dropped off sharply. Tourists with money to spend seem to be buying less expensive silver handiwork and the wealthy Arab sheikhs from the Persian Gulf are buying gold, according to goldsmiths here. "Things have really come to a standstill," said one of them, Hagop Kahvejian. "In the old days, the gold souk (market) was a must for visitors to Beirut. They still come but they aren't buying gold items any more because the price has gone sky high." In Beirut, a free market for all kinds of precious stones and metals exists. Nearly 90 per cent of the goldsmiths do their own processing. Rich traders with imported electric machines account for the rest.

The Lebanese government maintains strict control of the karat markings on all gold jewelry and penalties are heavy if there is any shady dealing. Some traders have received jail sentences of five years and lost their licenses for trying to dilute their product. The Ministry of Finance controller in the market also lost his job when one case came to light. The bracelets on display in the dozens of shops in the old, covered souk may be 24 karat pure gold with no brass or silver added but they are soft to handle. Usually, the bracelet is graded anywhere from 18 to 21 karats and contains brass and silver so that it will stand up to daily use. But chains, small charms and crosses are graded 9 to 14 karats. Kahvejian, 32, the son and grandson of goldsmiths and one of the hundreds of Lebanese Armenians who work in the gold souks, says life is becoming difficult for him and his colleagues.

New Owners May Turn Ranch Into National Park

By LARRY CALLOWAY
SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — What has 400,000 acres of forest and grasslands with peaks rising to a snowy 13,000 feet, 60 high country lakes, 100 miles of cold trout streams, 40,000 deer, 5,000 elk and almost no people? That, a U.S. Forest Service inventory says, is the privately owned Vermejo Park Ranch in northeast New Mexico's famed Maxwell Land Grant country.

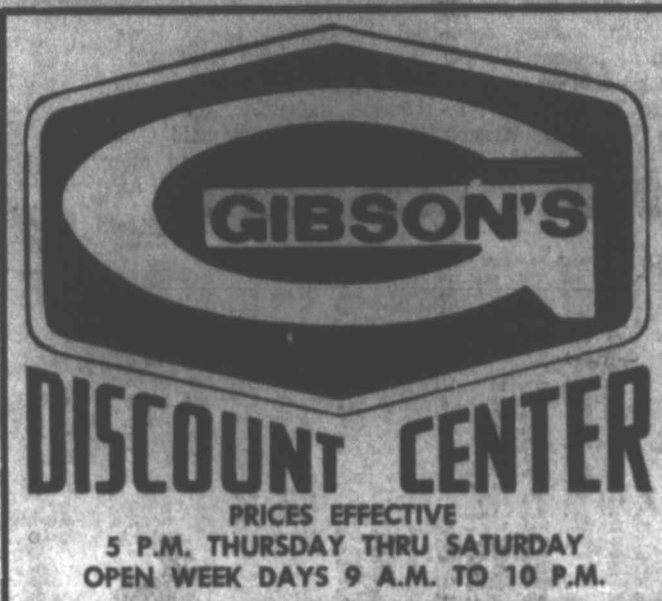

Its new owners are talking about turning it into sort of a private national park. It went on the market at $55 an acre in 1970 after Fort Worth, Tex., millionaire William Gourley died. The estate refused to subdivide for land developers and held out while looking for a buyer with $25.5 million. Some congressmen thought the government should buy it and protect it. Congress balked, then authorized it, studied it, and delayed action some more. The New Mexico legislature turned down the offer last year. Then, last August, Pennzoil Corp. bought the property, which also includes two huge stone mansions at the ranch headquarters, and hunting and fishing lodges. The president of a Pennzoil subsidiary, Hunter Martin Jr., said his group's corporate assignment is to preserve the ranch and open it to more general recreation. Another official, James Goss, told of following an old map of the Santa Fe Trail that passed through the ranch between Raton and Cimarron. He said he found a stone building where the map indicated a stage coach stop.

"The people on the ranch didn't even know about it." There are underground treasures too, which the giant energy corporation is sure to explore. Martin said drilling to 5,000 to 6,000 feet showed oil and gas, "but not commercial quantities." There also is coal, which Martin said the corporation has "no plans at this time to mine."

North Vietnam's Attack Smashed

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese forces 25 miles north of Saigon smashed a two-pronged North Vietnamese attack Wednesday night and killed 145 of the attackers, the Saigon military command reported today.

A communique said 13 other North Vietnamese were captured, while government casualties were 27 killed and 63 wounded.

The North Vietnamese were trying to recapture the village of An Dien, which the South Vietnamese had retaken late Tuesday.

It was the 21st day of fighting there.

North Vietnamese forces also attacked government positions in and around nearby Ben Cat, firing more than 200 artillery and mortar shells. Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 22 wounded, the command said.

More fighting was reported along the Cambodian border 50 miles west of Saigon, where military sources say the North Vietnamese are trying to secure a new infiltration route into the western Mekong Delta.

The command said South Vietnamese infantrymen and armored vehicles killed 51 North Vietnamese in the border clash. Five government soldiers were killed and 12 were wounded, the command said.

In Phnom Penh, about 100 Cambodian police continued to surround the March 18 High School where Education Minister Keo Sangkim and his deputy Thach Chea were killed Tuesday.

Police said they feared persons still inside might be armed.

They said they had no clues as to the identity of the killers of the two officials.

On Tuesday about 1,000 student demonstrators seized the two men and demanded the release of five students arrested by police earlier last week.

Police stormed the school, killing six students and wounding 15. Sources said 68 students were arrested.

Two rocket attacks today killed 12 persons and wounded 27.

In the first attack Khmer Rouge gunners shelled the southern outskirts of Phnom Penh, killing eight persons and wounding 20. Later rebel gunners fired four rockets into the heart of Phnom Penh, killing four civilians and wounding seven.

Paper Claims Shultz's Liaison Okayed Plan To Use Funds In Nixon Campaign

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Office of Management and Budget (OMB) director George P. Shultz's liaison with the White House reviewed and approved a secret political plan calling for use of almost $1.4 billion in government funds for President Nixon's re-election campaign, the Houston Post reported today in a copyrighted story.

The newspaper quoted documents and investigative sources as indicating Shultz gave tacit approval to the political plan and permitted his White House liaison, Bill Gifford, to play a central role in the plan's implementation.

Documents show, the Post said, that Gifford headed an operation to politicize government grant-making powers as part of that secret political plan and at intervals briefed and reviewed with Shultz the political impact of sensitive OMB actions.

The Post said according to documents and sources, Shultz

Bobby Fischer's Attorney Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — A lawyer for Bobby Fischer has asked to be relieved of a $3.2-million damage suit against the chess champion, saying Fischer has shown no interest in the case.

Attorney Peter Marshall described Fischer as "unresponsive, uncooperative and inaccessible."

The suit, filed in State Supreme Court in Manhattan, charges Fischer reneged on an agreement for filming and videotaping of his 1972 championship match against Russian Boris Spassky in Iceland.

TWO MEN SENTENCED—Federal Indictment Served On Odessan

One of two sealed indictments returned this week by the federal grand jury here was opened Wednesday afternoon and two men who pleaded guilty to indictments in April were sentenced in federal court.

This week's three-count indictment charged Clint A. Thomas, 19, of Odessa with possession of stolen mail and forgery and passing of a government check made out to Teddie B. Burrell.

The incident is alleged to have occurred on July 2, 1973, and the check was for $86.70.

Thomas was taken before U.S. Dist. Judge D. W. Suttie, who released him on a $5,000 personal recognizance bond.

Suttie told him to return at 4:45 p.m. Monday to let the court know whether he had hired an attorney to represent him or whether the court should appoint one.

The sentences were for David William White, 28, of 2406 W. College St., charged with two counts of violation of the National Bankruptcy Act; and Charles Davis Penny, 34, of Odessa, charged with making a false statement in acquisition of a firearm.

Although White was charged with two counts, concealing receipts of TCI Paint Center both before and after the filing of a bankruptcy petition, Asst. U.S. Atty. Wayne Speck asked the court to dismiss the first count.

White was found guilty on the second count and was given five years probation and ordered to make restitution of $1,864.57, the amount of money cited in the second count of the indictment.

White was represented by Midland attorney Bob Evans.

Penny was named in a one-count indictment which said that he swore on a government form that he had never been convicted of a crime punishable by imprisonment for more than one year at the time he bought a pistol in Odessa on Oct. 23, 1973.

However, he had twice been convicted of burglary in Odessa and had served time in prison on both the convictions.

Penny, who finished ninth in his graduating class at what was then Blackshear High School at Odessa, was given five years probation. A special condition of his probation was that he not possess any kind of prohibited weapon.

Penny was represented by Midland attorney Bob Freeman and Speck was the prosecutor.

DEMOLITION PLANS PROTESTED—

Bulldozer To Raze Historical House

ATHENS (AP) — The last remaining symbol of a family that played a major role in winning Greece's independence is destined to crumble under the blade of the bulldozer — and, in its place in the center of the capital, another cement structure or perhaps even a bank will be erected.

An impressive group of academicians has protested plans to demolish the house built in the early 1800s by Petros Mavromichalis, military commander of the Friendship Society. The Society, a Greek underground movement, instigated and helped bring to a close 400 years of Turkish occupation, which ended in 1832.

Mavromichalis' children and his children's children have been an integral part of the Greek fabric for the last 150 years.

The last remaining physical symbol of the Mavromichalis line is a rundown brownstone three-story residence across the street from the National Gardens. The impressive-looking structure continues to draw the curiosity of thousands who stroll by every day.

In its prime, the Mavromichalis mansion was used for royal receptions as far back as the time of Otto, first king of modern Greece, in 1831.

But now the plaster is cracked and chipped and the grillwork rusted and dirty from years of neglect.

Several years ago, a Greek insurance company acquired the valuable property by auction after it was put on the block for back taxes.

Supporters for the preservation of this "neoclassical" structure and lovers of history were assured by the past government that the building would be preserved and refurbished and remain as a physical reminder of the family that has contributed so much to the freedom of Greece.

The academicians, plus concerned Athenians, have petitioned the government, from the premier on down, in an attempt to stop "the demolition and destruction" of Greek heritage.

The citizens are so determined to save the building that they have pledged to raise whatever money is necessary to refurbish and repair the structure. The "Greek Society," a new organization dedicated to the advancement of Greek culture, has also pledged their full support to save the house.

Noted Athenian painter, Hadzikiakos Ghikas, has been fighting an uphill battle for years to preserve the Greek classical homes and prevent the urban sprawl that is enveloping most cities in Greece.

Sculptor Uses Match Sticks

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — the world." Charles Goldberger, 75, plays with matches but it doesn't alarm firemen. He's a matchstick sculptor whose works include a leaping horse carved from 2,357 matches. "The only reason I do this is to be unique, to do something different from any other carver," he said. "I have the dubious distinction of having the only collection of its kind in the world." Goldberger glues matches together to form three-inch-wide planks and presses a dozen or more planks on top of one another to produce a block. Then he carves, using a dentist's drill and fine chisels. "Most matchstick sculptors glue one match to another to form a bridge or a church or something," he said. "No one else is silly enough to waste their time gluing together a box of matches when they can go out and buy an exotic piece of wood like mahogany or walnut and start carving right away." But Goldberger said he's spent three months just preparing matches for some of his sculptures. And he said he's carved 130 pieces, insured for $100,000, since he retired 22 years ago as a paint brush manufacturer in Long Island.

The carvings include a count-oriental fishmonger from 1,826 matchsticks. One of his favorites is a five-inch-square replica of the raising of the flag at Iwo Jima. It took 1,200 matches. His 11-inch bust of John F. Kennedy, carved out of 1,500 matches, is on display at the Kennedy Library in Boston. Other items are enclosed in glass as a traveling exhibit for museums and universities.
